COUNCIL WARS ON LOITERERS, PESTS, CRIME

Curfew Ordinance To Curb Teen-Age Night Activities

The Prestonsburg City Council moved this week to rid the town of nuisances, a health hazard and a crime wave.

Its three-fold front, established at Monday evening's Council meeting, consists of invocation of an old curfew ordinance providing that all children under 16 must be off the streets by 10 p.m., unless accompanied by their parents; work instituted to kill the hordes of mosquitoes infesting the town; and an ordinance forbidding loitering on the streets after midnight.

The curfew and loitering ordinances are being invoked, it was said, as a result of recent burglaries here and after citizens who must arise for work by War Time had been disturbed at night.

A fine of from $2 to $5 was announced for those violating this regulation.

To fight the health menace the Council Monday evening voted to buy kerosene which will be poured into sewer breeding-places of mosquitoes. At the same time, 300 gallons of oil were made available for pouring on outlying swamps in the fight on mosquitoes.

Day after the mosquito-killing oil was spread, the match was set to it. And city policemen are seeking the person who struck the match.

DR. E. N. BURKE HEART VICTIM

Native of Floyd Dies Suddenly At Lockwood

A heart attack suffered while working on his farm at Lockwood, Boyd county, resulted in the death at 12:15 p.m., Tuesday of Dr. Estill Nelson Burke, a native of Bonanza, this county, and a brother of Harry R. Burke, Prestonsburg attorney.

Dr. Burke was a son of Mrs. Lula Webb Burke and the late Dr. Isaac Burke. He was born Nov. 9, 1898. After completing his early schooling in Floyd county, Dr. Burke was graduated from Berea, Ky., high school and entered the University of Louisville Medical College where he held the highest scholastic rating of any member of the Louisville Medical School's 1926 graduating class, and gained additional honors by attaining the highest rating of medical students taking the state board examination in that year.

Dr. Burke moved to Catlettsburg to establish his medical practice in 1928 after completing his internship in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Covington, Ky. In 1930 he enrolled at New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital for advanced studies in urology. Studies in this particular field of medicine later led to work at Johns Hopkins Hospital. During his medical school career Dr. Burke was a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical fraternity, and Kappa Phi, social

POLL TAX PAY HELD 'UNFAIR'

As Majority Fail To Pay For 1941, Court Told

Only six bills from the 1941 poll tax book were collected in Prestonsburg, County Auditor R. R. Allen said Monday after he and W. J. May, County Treasurer, had completed a settlement with Dial Sallsbury, tax collector.

This figure did not include taxes paid by taxpayers who were billed for poll taxes on the regular tax book.

Of $16,339.50 certified by County Clerk A. B. Meade as due for 1941 poll taxes, only $5,452 was collected, the statement filed by May and Allen said.

Collections of poll taxes from the relatively few, said the statement, "is unfair to the people... discriminative and might cause revenue to fall short of anticipations for budget purposes."

COUNTY, CITY BOARDS SELECT TEACHERS

Floyd Board Unafraid Of Teacher-Tenure Act, Says Hall

Floyd county's teacher-organization for the 1942-43 school year was complete this week, barring resignations and the work of filling vacancies, after both the Floyd County and Prestonsburg Boards of Education had made their teacher selections.

The county board met last Thursday and named approximately 375 teachers for the rural and consolidated schools. Tuesday night, the City Board of Education named its faculty. The two boards concurred in the employment of high school teachers here, with the exception of an athletic coach for Prestonsburg high school.

In announcing the county school teacher list last week, County Superintendent Town Hall said the County Board fears "no consequences of the teacher-tenure bill." Mr. Hall said that "As long as teachers are satisfactory, we are glad to have them hold their jobs." Mr. Hall also said there is no shortage of qualified teachers in Floyd county, despite the war and war production jobs. He added that the county board will co-operate with other counties where there is a teacher-shortage.

Approximately 90 per cent of the teachers named are women.

In a regular meeting of the county board Tuesday, date of the opening of rural schools was set at July 20, two weeks later than usual so that school boys and girls may assist with crops before opening of the term. High schools will open August 31, one week earlier than heretofore, so that the term will end in the spring in time for students to assist in early farm work.

Both school boards met in joint-session Tuesday, this week, and agreed to share the expense of making improvements at the high school here at a cost of $1,000. These improvements include a roof "built up" over the present roof, plaster patching and interior painting.

With new school bus purchases doubtful for the duration of the war, the county school board Tuesday employed Dewey Sammons as full-time mechanic at the board's Allen garage, to keep the buses on hand running "for the duration." His salary was set at $150 a month. He was expected to begin work this week, himself supplying small tool equipment needed.

Salary of school bus drivers was increased at Tuesday's meeting from $50 to $60 a month. Drivers employed at the meeting are:

GARRETT VET DEAD AT 51

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fatal May 28th To Mineworker

Alvin Napier, World War I veteran and former miner for the Goose Creek Mining Company, died Thursday, last week, at his home at West Garrett of a cerebral hemorrhage following an illness of two months. He was 51 years old.

Mr. Napier had received treatment at the Veterans' hospital, Huntington, W. Va., and was returned to his home only a few days before his death.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Rhoda Moore Napier, three daughters and one son, Delcie, Ruby, Bertha Mae and Clarence Edward; one brother, Alonzo Napier, Garrett; and five sisters—Mrs. Canzella Perkins, Hindman; Mrs. Farlina Moore, Handshoe; Mrs. Malvie Mullins, Handshoe; Mrs. Elza Coburn, Handshoe, and Mrs. Rebecca Bingham, Prestonsburg.

The funeral was conducted on Memorial Day from the home, the Revs. Ed Howard, E. H. Howard and Alex Coburn officiating. Burial was made under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home in the Martin cemetery, West Garrett.

Palbearers were Crit Conley, Arlin Moore, Dewey Huffman, Kennel Martin, O. K. Wallace, Henry Layne, Reece Oney, Clarence E. Napier, Harry Campbell, James Wallace and Ezra Laferty.

Alvin Taylor; Betsy Layne-Allen—Melvin Frasure and Alonzo Herald; Martin—Jack Allen; Maytown—Lafayette Gearheart Wayland-Garrett—Homer Salyers.

Driver of the Wheelwright-McDowell bus was not named. Bus drivers were employed on a month-to-month basis, their continued employment depending upon satisfactory service, Superintendent Hall said.

Teachers named at Thursday's board meeting follow, number or name of the district preceding that of the teacher:

Dwale Consolidated School: Raymond Cooley, Lady M. Lavens (1st semester), Lottie McGuire (2nd semester).

Bosco Consolidated School: Elsie Hicks, Leona Owens, Evelyn Osborne, Lola P. Ousley, Mildred S. Osborne.

Harold Consolidated School: A. J. Martin, principal, Pearl Smith, Cora Perry, Jo Allyn Howell, Paul Hamilton.

Drift Consolidated School: Moses Hall, principal, Dorothy T. Martin, Joyce Beverley, Ruby Akers, Flotine Elam, Orpha Akers, Edythe Allen, Eugene Hopkins (Sizemore), Love Clark (Sizemore).

City Board Refuses To Hire Longer Than One Year

Teachers for the Prestonsburg high and grade schools were employed by the City Board of Education Tuesday evening, on the condition that they are hired for the 1942-43 school year only.

The board made its teacher-selections for one year only, because it held that the present teacher-tenure law "is discriminatory."

"No continuing contract is to be given any teacher by... Board of Education, and all teachers are employed with this understanding," the employment order read.

The employment of teachers and the objections to the teacher-tenure act were voted unanimously.

High school instructors named are the same as those employed by the Floyd County Board of Education, with the exception of the position of athletic coach here. Walter Price was named for the position by the county board, but Estill Branham was named in his stead by the city board. Mr. Price was last year's coach of Wheelwright.

KIWANIANS HERE TO PLAY 'SWING OUT' FOR BENEFIT OF BOY SCOUT TROOP

"Swing Out," a hilarious three-act comedy with musical specialties, will be presented in the Prestonsburg grade school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, June 11-12, at 8:33 p.m. (sharp) under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club and directed by Miss Anna Marie Penna, for the benefit of the Prestonsburg Boy Scouts.

Miss Penna and the various committees have started working on plans for this big community affair.

"Swing Out" will feature an all-male cast. There will be a kiddies' popularity contest in connection with the play, contestants to be between the ages of 2 and 6. The contest opens Friday, June 5, and closes on Friday, June 12, at 2 p.m. Pictures of the contestants will be in drug store windows and vote boxes will be in the drug stores. Prizes will be awarded winners at the Friday night performance.

LIEUTENANT MAY GRADUATES, WEDS AT WEST POINT

Lt. David D. May

A few hours after his graduation from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., and receiving his commission as a Lieutenant in the U. S. army, David D. May, son of Mrs. Byrd C. May, Prestonsburg, was united in marriage at West Point Friday, May 29, to Miss Virginia Pauline Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Franklin Thompson, Taylorsville, Ky.

The ceremony was one of 32 weddings solemnized in the Cadet Chapel by the Military Academy chaplain in 36 hours after the Cadets were graduated. An Academy ruling forbids marriage previous to graduation.

Attending the graduation-marriage of Lieutenant May were the groom's mother and his uncle, Dr. G. D. Callihan, Prestonsburg. Lieut. May was a sergeant in the Corps of Cadets, a member of the Cadet Chapel Choir, Glee Club and Camera Club and took part in the 100th Night shows. He graduated from Prestonsburg high school in 1932 and the University of Kentucky in 1937 after attending Berea College for three years.

Lieutenant May and bride are honeymooning in New York City and Niagara Falls, and will arrive here Friday for a visit with his mother and other relatives. He has been assigned to duty at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Dock Woman Succumbs As Result of Injuries Suffered Recently

A broken hip and other injuries suffered May 24 in a fall at her home at Dock, on the Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, resulted in the death of Mrs. Mary Robinson, 87 years old, at the Martin General hospital Friday. Hospital attaches informed THE TIMES that Mrs. Robinson developed pneumonia following her injuries.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jim Tussey, on Spurlock by the Rev. G. R. Fannin at 10:30 o'clock a.m., Saturday and burial took place in the Haywood cemetery nearby under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

She is survived by five sons, Johnie, of Martin; Wilson, in Greenup county; Lee, Dick and Olive, all of Dock; and two daughters, Mrs. Sissie Dixon and Mrs. Jim Tussey, both of Dock.

SOLUTION SEEN TO BURGLARIES

As Two Arrested At Betsy Layne, Fingerprinted

Two men arrested at Betsy Layne Sunday may hold the key to solution of several burglaries here, it was said Tuesday by State Patrolman Dick Layne, who arrested the pair.

In jail at Pikeville are Harold Charles Goings, Beaver, Pa., and Floyd Ratliff, Jr., of Ivel. Their raids on filling stations and other places of business may be traced to other states, Patrolman Layne said. He bases this belief on the confession of two Lima, O., girls, Garnett Imajean Green and Evonda Cowan, who said they accompanied the young men on their motor trip to this county.

The girls told of the theft of cars and eight tires. Goings admitted, Patrolman Layne said, stealing three automobiles and of deserting a Mississippi army post. The girls said their male escorts told of breaking into garages here where they netted cash and three pairs of men's pants as loot.

Ratliff was quoted by the highway patrolman as saying he "went over the hill" from the Canadian army. The car in which the four were driving had been stolen, it was claimed.

Their fingerprints were being checked this week with prints photographed by an F.B.I. agent at the Howard Motor Company here which was burglarized Saturday night. A clear set of fingerprints was found on the window lock and cash register at the Ford agency here, it was said.

Patrolman Layne said he recovered six of the eight tires said to have been stolen. Four of the tires had been sold to Jack Cooley, of Allen, he said.

In addition to the breaking and entering of the Howard Motor Company, looting of Carl Riffe's auto and an ineffectual entrance of the Cash Hardware on Third avenue are listed as recent crime outbreaks here.

Cash approximating $15 was taken in the motor company burglary.

MISS FRANCIS TO BE FREED

By Japanese Exchange Of Legation Staffs With U. S.

Miss Lydia Mae Francis, a member of the U.S. diplomatic corps in "protective custody" of the Japanese at Shanghai, China, is expected to leave for the United States June 14 in the mutual exchange of diplomats and their staffs to be made between this country and Japan.

This is the information given Mrs. H. C. Francis, Prestonsburg, mother of Miss Francis, this week by the State Department.

The exchange of prisoners, it was stated, will be made in a Portuguese African colony, off the coast of Madagascar, Mrs. Francis was told. Simultaneously with the departure from New York with a ship bearing Japanese diplomats and their staffs, it was said, another ship will leave Japan to bring American diplomats and their staffs from Japan, occupied China, Indo-China and Thailand to the United States.

DENTIST HERE UNDER $5,000 PEACE BOND

Dr. Leete Threatened 2 On Draft Board, Is Allegation

Dr. M. J. Leete, prominent Prestonsburg dentist, was required to execute $5,000 peace bond Friday, last week, after County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., had held that he had, as charged, threatened the lives of two members of Floyd County Draft Board No. 44 if "anything happens" to his son, Martin Leete, Jr., who is scheduled for army induction Friday.

The peace warrant was sworn out by J. Bascom Clarke, Prestonsburg attorney, a member of the draft board, and it was alleged that Dr. Leete had not only threatened the life of Mr. Clarke but also that of Carl H. Corbin, another member.

After hearing evidence in the case, County Judge Hill demanded $25,000 bond; later reduced the bond to the legal maximum of $5,000. He also asked the court reporter to send a copy of the evidence to Louisville Selective Service headquarters.

"These men are serving without pay as members of a draft board," Judge Hill said, "and are entitled to the protection of the law." Continuing, he told the defendant that in many counties, "a man would be in danger of losing his life for such conduct."

Dr. Leete himself said he had not been a "gun-carrier" and did not propose to carry one. He eschewed services of an attorney, himself querying witnesses in the case. Although Judge Hill admonished them that such evidence was not within his jurisdiction, both Dr. Leete and Mrs. Leete testified that their son had sought to join the Air Corps at the Lexington recruiting office but had been rejected because he was supporting the child of his divorced wife. "I had rather see my child in

ERRONEOUSLY LISTED DELINQUENT YOUTH IN AUSTRALIA

Foster Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Mitchell, of Beaver, this county, recently was erroneously listed as a "suspected delinquent." Draft Board No. 44 has asked THE TIMES to emphasize that this was the result of an oversight and to state the facts concerning young Mr. Mitchell.

Instead of being delinquent, Mr. Mitchell volunteered at Langley Field, Va., Feb. 6, 1941—and is now with MacArthur in Australia.

NO BLACKOUT HERE

The smudge pots were lit, along with others, downtown Saturday night. Don't be silly—there was no danger of frost. The smoke was intended to drive the mosquitoes away.

BRAVO!

Motto of the RAF apparently is—Leave not a Rhinestone unturned.

MIGHT PERSUADE MYSELF

When the Rev. W. B. Garriott asked me, the other day, to write something about the pitifully low church attendance in Prestonsburg, I made an honest confession and admitted that I was ashamed to chide others who are no more guilty than I. The man has a splendid tact and did not remind me that I should be ashamed of myself. He simply indicated that it wouldn't hurt me to think about writing such an editorial, anyway.

THE COMPLETE ANSWER

George Snodgrass tells about the half-wit who staggered or stammered into a bit of wisdom. The numbskull was listening while some of the "smart" boys were discussing insurance. Wonder if it'll be any good after the war is over? And War Bonds, will they be any good after the war is over?

Whereupon up spoke the alleged addressee:

"Yeah, yeah—shore will be, if you buy enough of 'em."

FIGURES DON'T LIE

Hitler is the Beast mentioned in the Book of Revelations. "Uncle" Reuben Taylor can prove it by figures.

It's simple. Start with the letter "a" and number it 100; "b" is 101; "c," 102 and so on. So:

H equals 107
I equals 108
T equals 119
L equals 111
E equals 104
R equals 117

Add that up and if it doesn't make six hundred three score and six, the number of the Beast, we'll prove it was two other fellows we were talking about.

NAME-CALLING

A visitor in these parts who looked to be more of a "furriner" than usual was talking about the "hill-billies." His hearer, being in melior mood than usual, wasn't insulted; so he merely countered with the remark that "I wouldn't be talkin' about hillbillies if I was in your place. They call fellers like you around here damned Hunks."

"You're wrong, my friend," the visitor replied. Trouble was probably averted when the "furriner" added with naive sincerity, "They call us WOPSI!"

COLLINS DIES OF INJURIES

Prestonsburg Man First 1942 Wreck Victim in Floyd

Willie Collins, 32-year-old Prestonsburg man, is Floyd county's first automobile fatality of the year.

He was fatally injured Sunday morning at 3 o'clock when the automobile which he was driving from Wheelwright toward Prestonsburg wrecked near the mouth of Clear Creek. He died at the Martin General hospital, a few hours later, of a broken neck and skull injuries.

His wife, Mrs. Vada Goble Collins, was severely but not dangerously injured. The other occupants of the auto, Mrs. Mousie Burchett and C. C. (Buck) Goble, father of Mrs. Collins, escaped with minor hurts. Mr. Goble said the car, which was owned by Mrs. Burchett, turned over and rolled down the highway after Collins applied the brakes on a curve. Collins was thrown clear of the car.

Mr. Collins had been employed here as a taxi driver and had many friends in this section. Besides his widow, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Dan Collins, and Mr. Collins, his step-father, and by five children: Otis Lee, Emma Jane, Letcher, Ronald and Bonnie Jean. He also leaves 15 half-brothers and two half-sisters.

The funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Collins residence here, the Revs. Isaac Stratton and B. W. Craft officiating. Burial was made in West Prestonsburg cemetery, the Arnold Funeral Home directing.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Joan Allen, who has been seriously ill for some time, underwent an operation at the Prestonsburg General hospital Tuesday morning. Latest reports indicate that Miss Allen's condition is as well as could be expected.

Bombers 'Speak';

The American airmen finally delivered a message which Tokyo understands. Not from an inkwell, but from a bomb rack.

The American fliers reminded Japan that the open city of Manila was not a closed grave—but an open wound.

London, Warsaw, Shanghai and Nanking are avenged because the burning sea of Pearl Harbor is still burning in American hearts. Japan is entitled to receive what she gave. Japs gave no warning at Hawaii and she gave no mercy at Bataan. These are cruel words, but these are cruel times. The blazing cities of the Axis nations are the only lighthouses to civilization. The way to bring peace to our cities is to bring war to theirs. The foundation for international justice must be dug with 2,000-pound bombs.

This is the lesson they have asked for and we must drive it home with bayonets: Where our planes can fly, our armies will march. And where our armies can march, their dictators will kneel.

Who are the legislators holding up passage of the bill that would raise the pay of soldiers and sailors? . . . Ha, Ha Dep't: The Japs can now join the other saps who thought the oceans could protect them.

This Is New York:

The old-fashioned private houses on West 52nd Street between 5th and 6th Avenues—where the veteran New Yorkers pull down the blinds every eventide to shut out "Swing Street" . . . The J. P. Morgan mansion covering an entire block of Madison Avenue real estate. Boasting one of the most sordid facades this side of a "Dead End" movie . . . The emergency case interned at Bellevue Hospital, who read detective stories between life-and-death assignments . . . Times Square—the "glamorous street"—where the corners are occupied by a drug store, a braubhaus, a cigar shop and a hot dog stand.

The pure-white Squibb Bldg. on Fifth Avenue, a well-manicured finger-tip pointing at a star . . . The Riverside Drive jitterwhacky set that dance on the grass to the rhythm from nearby Claremont Inn . . . The hundreds of heads that pop out of as many windows in the Wall Street sector whenever two cars bump noisily . . . The noonday hoss players making their wagers—willing to put more across a nag's nose than on their wives' backs . . . The walling of the zoo tenants in the dead of night—a nuisance to the midtown (near the park) dwellers . . . E. Cantor's $2.98 hat.

The Floy Apartments in mid-Harlem. Birthplace of the Flat-Foot Floogie (with the F-F) . . . Alf Lunt, the star, washing dishes at the Stage Door Canteen . . . The Woolworth edifice, which no longer has a 5-and-Dimery on the site . . . Hotel America, where most of the circus performers tepee . . . The famed showman supping with two midgets—several of whom helped him keep the wolf from the door with their talent . . . The two live penguins, that serve as ass't headwaiters at the Penguin on E. 51 St. . . New Street, one of the oldest.

Park Avenue's sore spot at 59th Street, where the swanky sector suddenly goes Brooklyn—with a large garage, a pet shop, a butcher store and a cigar store . . . Mrs. Katzenberg, the affable first-nighter, who rarely misses a premiere. They'd hold the curtain if she were tardy . . . George S. Kaufman, one of the town's wittiest, who wears a melancholy look . . . The big bows on Moss Hart's neckties . . . Lucy Monroe, the Star-Spangled Soprano, who is also ready to sing the Chinese National Anthem or the Jewish anthem, Katikvah . . . Popular Danny Kay's giggle.

Scrambled Eggs:

Vox poppers have to be good to get their letters printed. Too many professionals are crashing the dailies, discussing the country's welfare. The smallest reporting the first robin didn't have a look-in . . . The public has overruled the reviewers on "The Moon Is Down." It is buying it big . . . Wonder how harsh and tin-panny your voice has to be before you can get a job as a commentator in the newsreels. Some of the femmes could saw their way out of a jail with those pipes . . . It's a snide trick to quote part of a guy's remarks to make him look silly, take it from one who's done it.

Sounds in the Night: At Bill Bertolotti's: "He's on the road to success—just another of Broadway's clicking heels" . . . At Roseland: "Broadway is where celebrities meet each other—but never half way" . . . In the Century Room: "Can you keep a secret—because I can't!" . . . At the Bowman Room: "Did you read what our bombers did to Yokoha-ha-ha-ha!" . . . At Spivy's: "Some times he gets a little irksome with a japtail J" . . . In the Hickory House: "Original? The crook walks around with a bit of carbon paper in each ear!"

THE UNIONIZED MILK INDUSTRY

John L. Lewis is now trying to unionize the milk industry throughout the country. If he succeeds every bottle of milk delivered will have a union label certifying that there has been no non-union contact from the cow pasture to the doorstep.

The idea is to have milk from hands and delivered by union milkmen. The new slogan may be "Milk From Union Cows, Contented or Not!"

We can imagine a union cow, chewing its union cud in a union meadow, swishing a unionized tail and lowing in tones approved by the Musicians Union.

We can picture union clover, union brooks, union hillsides and union hay.

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea,
The plowman homeward plods his weary way—
All unionized and happy as can be.

Whoever thought the cowbarn would some day become a closed shop.

What would grandpa have thought if somebody had predicted that the walking delegate would wind slowly o'er the lea, that the cow would jump over the moon only if it had a union permit and that the milkmaid's answer to "May I go with you" would have been "Not unless you are a member of the union in good standing, mister."

Somehow we find it hard to gaze over the rolling country these spring days and take in the bucolic scene without feeling that, although he is not there in person, the spirit-form of John L. Lewis flits through the meadows, looks disapprovingly on the gusto of the rushing brook and, wielding an invisible rubber stamp, puts an "Okay J. L. L." on the flank of every moo.

Whispering into the ear of every cow the wonders of the five-day week and warning the bull to take orders only from its local board.

To revise Anne Emillie Poulsson's old verse:

At five o'clock he milks the cow,
The busy farmer's man.
At six o'clock he strains the milk
And pours it in the can.

At seven there's a clamor and
A merry little row,
It's found the cow that gave the milk
Was not a union cow.

The busy farmer's man is called—
With him it goes quite hard;
It's charged that when he strained the milk
He lacked a union card.

At eight o'clock John L. appears,
A frown upon his pan—
And there will be no milk today—
"T'WAS NOT A UNION CAN!"

"I'm short of food but long on stair carpet and paper treads, wheelbarrow, snath, flag 46 by 56, 12-foot staff, hose, iron wash tub, vanner, crowbar, jigsaw puzzles, dust mop and kitchen utensils. A609."— Yankee Magazine.

And a man must live.

YOU'LL FIND OUT
Little grains of sugar,
Little ration books
Tend to cramp the style of
Many pastry cooks.

One-half pound of sugar per person per week will be the new federal sugar ration. "But I can't wait a week! I use it every day," complains Ima Dodo.

The race tracks of America will donate two million dollars to army and navy relief funds this year. The chart writer would perhaps describe the belated decision thusly: "Slow to get off, appeared out of it at first turn, responded to urging in stretch and came through under a hard drive."

Mahatma Gandhi must be one man who is moved somewhat unusually by the prospect of losing his shirt.

Elmer Twitchell, the old horseshoe pitcher and chess champion, is quite sore. He says Mr. McNutt abolished those bureaus before he got his games co-ordinated.

How Long Will Your Tires Last?

IT'S UP TO YOU

Add 25 to 50 percent to your tire mileage—HERE'S HOW!

Don't neglect or misuse your tires! Watch out for under-inflation . . . check air pressure frequently. Don't bump or park too close to curbs. Slow down! High speeds burn up your rubber. Avoid "jack rabbit starts" and quick stops. Get your wheels aligned and your brakes adjusted to insure even tread-wear. Shift tires occasionally . . . front to rear left to right. And be sure to have your tires taken off the rims for THOROUGH INSPECTION, inside and out, REGULARLY.

Watch your tires carefully, have that hole or break fixed immediately. The longer you wait, the shorter the life of your tire. Do not put a boot in that tire—have it VULCANIZED.

Slip-shod Tire Repairs are NO GOOD Now!

Cheap, carelessly-done tire repairs never were worth buying . . . and NOW, it's worse than foolish to risk the life of your tires. Now, more than ever before, high-class tire repairing and re-capping service is the most necessary and dependable motoring asset you can buy.

We are proud to offer this high-class service to the people of Eastern Kentucky, with the most modern tire repair and re-capping shop in the state.

SALAD BALLAD

Leafy greens atoss in a bowl take to almost any kind of dressing but fruit salads like a special touch of their own. From Florida, where fruits abound, comes a favorite recipe for Fruit Salad Dressing. If you want to toss in the yolk of an egg and beat it well, all right; otherwise, leave it out.

Fruit Salad Dressing: Mix together ½ teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, one-fourth cup Florida orange juice, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ cup mazola, and 4 tablespoons heavy cream. Beat with rotary egg beater, or shake well in covered fruit jar until well blended. Just before serving add one and one-third cups dressing.

WIN OVER POP WITH POPOVERS THAT POP

A really popped-up popover, crusty as an old gentleman banker, is one of nature's nobler gifts. You can serve them with creamed ham, with crisp bacon, with—well, what have you got? To be sure they stand up in pride, use an all-phosphate baking powder and remember that there's valuable calcium and phosphorus in that baking powder.

POP'S POPOVERS: Sift together 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons all-phosphate baking powder, and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 2 well-beaten eggs and 1 cup milk. Beat hard with rotary egg beater for 2 minutes. Pour at once into very hot gem pans or heavy muffin tins. Bake 30 to 35 minutes, beginning with a hot oven (450 F.) and reducing to moderate (350 F.) as popovers rise and begin to brown. Makes six to eight popovers.

A SNACKEROO!

Want a knack with a slick snack—to go along with that glass of milk, that tumbler of grapefruit juice or whatever? Here's a dandy: you cut dark bread into strips 2½ inches long and ½ inch wide. Spread with prepared mustard. Mix together ½ cup ground ham, 1 tablespoon chili sauce and ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts. Spread on bread strips. Toast and serve hot. Makes enough to spread 36 bread strips.

REDUCING? DON'T MISS YOUR VITAMIN C!

If you're losing weight (or even trying to gain it, for that matter) you must not omit your daily share of vitamin C. This is the vitamin that must be replaced every day (for the body does not store it) and the one that prolongs youth, buoyancy and gives added vitality. many people suffering from this vitamin C deficiency. When your bones ache, your flesh turns black and blue easily, if your gums are soft, if wounds and cuts don't heal quickly, or your complexion doesn't clear up properly, you are probably very low in vitamin C. Best and cheapest source of vitamin C is in grapefruit juice, and the markets are full of fresh Florida grapefruit right now! Calcium and minerals abound in this juicy golden fruit and it's a tongue-refresher besides!

Quick Chocolate Sauce: Melt two squares chocolate over hot water; add ½ cup boiling water and stir until smooth. Stir in ½ cup evaporated milk. Combine ½ cups sugar, 3-4 cup white karo, 1-8 teaspoon cinnamon and 1-8 teaspoon salt and add to chocolate mixture. Cook over hot water for 12 to 15 minutes. Sauce is thin when hot, thickens on cooling; 2 cups sauce.

READING and WRITING

GOOD book news today! In "The Moon Is Down,"

John Steinbeck has written just the story that is needed in this crucial hour, a story to bolster the faith of free men everywhere and renew their confidence in ultimate victory.

Steinbeck's message can be stated simply in the calm, courageous words of the Mayor of the little town that has been conquered by the Nazis.

"The Moon Is Down" is so perfect in itself and apparently a village in Norway, although the author never says so—and what happened there after the Nazis had "occupied" it.

How the New Order Limiting Telephone Installations May Affect You

To turn out more and more weapons for our fighting men, our Government has called upon the telephone industry and the telephone-using public to limit new telephone installations to an extent that will divert annually thousands of tons of vital metals and rubber to war production.

If you are a new applicant for service or a business or residential subscriber, the limitations of the War Production Board order may affect you, depending upon how much equipment is now available to serve the future requirements of essential individuals or agencies in your community.

Specifically, this is how the order may affect you: NON-SUBSCRIBERS, business or residential, may not be able to obtain telephones in some instances.

BUSINESS CUSTOMERS, particularly those with private branch exchanges and other large service installations who move to new locations or who wish other changes, may not be able to obtain the desired arrangements.

RESIDENTIAL SUBSCRIBERS who move may not be able to obtain telephones or may be asked to accept a different class of service.

We shall observe the order to the letter, confident of the public's full cooperation. We look forward to the day when we shall again be able to give you the kind of service you want, when and where you want it—but now, and for the duration, the one big task of winning the war comes first . . . with us, as with you.

Anti-Prostitution Act Becomes Effective

Upon the urgent request of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy and the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, the American Social Hygiene Association and its affiliates are assuming responsibility for stimulating adequate state and local enforcement of the recently enacted law, relating to prostitution, lewdness and assignation, which became effective in Kentucky Tuesday.

The law is designed to close segregated districts and eliminate such other vice conditions as endanger the health and welfare of the armed forces, industrial workers and the civilian population in general.

Governor Keen Johnson has issued a statement calling on state and local health officials, all courts and law enforcement officers, all welfare agencies and every citizen in the Commonwealth to inform themselves on this important measure and lend every assistance to prevent prostitution in Kentucky.

The help of every citizen, it is pointed out, is needed to keep each community clean and safe, not only for the armies in the field and factory, but for the protection of the young men and women at home.

J. C. McNeil, C.P.A. E. R. Allen

THESE seem to be the proper days to study the basic foundations of winning competition. You can get one answer in the New York Yankees' dressing room from such fellows as Bill Dickey, Joe Gordon, Red Ruffing, Spud Chandler, Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller and several others.

Opening their 1942 home campaign, the Yankees are facing the prospect of winning their sixth pennant in seven starts. It might not happen that way. But that is how it looks.

The Yankees have the bulge in hitting, pitching and fielding. That's a fair start. But they have something more. Something just as important.

In addition to their physical margin, which can't be overlooked, McCarthy's hired men are a team together. They spend 100 per cent of their time fighting the enemy—not fighting each other. Or fighting umpires.

You'll find no individual jealousy, no bickering, no squabbles, no high hats, no stars. I've picked up the true lesson of team play from the Yankee dressing room for seven years.

Joe McCarthy stands for no bad actor—no individual who stands for himself above the good of the team. McCarthy simply passes this type on to some other unhappy manager, while he goes for team spirit.

More About the Yankees The Yankees have been charged with being colorless—just a group of young business men handling a job.

They keep in condition. They start no rows. They are all friends in a bunch. They are just out to win, and to be ready to win. They are a quiet lot. They are a team of stars who refuse to be accepted as stars. Just ball players. Their business has been playing baseball, and they play it better than any other team.

You'd get a better understanding of this if you could mix a while with such fellows as Dickey, Gordon, Keller, DiMaggio, Chandler, Ruffing, Priddy, Levy, Hassett, Henrich, Gomez, Rizzuto, and the rest.

I asked Bill Dickey about the Yankees' lack of color. The tall catcher from Arkansas, who has been around a slight matter of 17 seasons, here and there, mostly with the Yankees, was mildly indignant. The Arkansas quail shooter gets only mildly indignant.

Bill Dickey

"Color?" he said. What is color? Is it getting drunk and getting in fights? I don't think so.

"Color to me is standing back of the plate and watching that Joe Gordon make plays that I know can't be made. I've seen him kill off more sure base hits than anyone I ever saw. On one play you'll find him back of second base handling a hot grounder. On the next you'll see him somewhere in short right field killing another hit.

"If they want color why don't they watch Joe DiMaggio play center field and make hard plays look easy? Or watch DiMaggio and Keller at bat when the chips are down?"

Dickey on Color

I don't believe quiet, easy-going Dickey knows how much true color he has. But Bill knows the main details of color, especially when he is talking about the Yankees.

"Who has had the most color in American sport?" he asked me. "I'll tell you—Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis, Bobby Jones, Ty Cobb, Walter Haben and Bill Tilden. But did you ever stop to think each one of these was a star performer—one who had greater skill than the other fellows had?"

"You can't have color—true color—without exceptional skill. I still say the Yankees are packed with color on account of the different things they can do as hitters, fielders and pitchers. I believe the true baseball fan appreciates this. He likes to see a job well done game after game, better than anyone else can do it."

I'll string with Dickey in this respect. A big part of color must be based upon performance under fire. I've never seen a colorful punk in any game. There are no colorful duffers in golf, no colorful dubs in tennis, no colorful third-raters in boxing.

It may be we have stressed color, that was not directly hooked up with outstanding ability, too much.

The Main Contest

There is now one highly interesting sporting scramble under way that has nothing to do with titles, pennants or championships. It concerns a form of inner rivalry as to which sport will contribute most in the matter of winning the war.

Will needed war funds get greater help from boxing, baseball, golf, tennis, racing, football or what? Joe Louis and Mike Jacobs sent boxing spinning well ahead in their army and navy relief shows—and they are only warming up.

THE HOME FRONT

HERE IS A RESUME OF IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS

- Rent ceilings ordered. ODT appeals to farmers. OPA warns meat men. Rug manufacturers captioned. Auto salvage looking up. WPA cracks down on scrap owner. Kiddies to "get in scrap." Gas ration violators indicted. Sporting arms ban eased. Consumer Division visits Kentucky. Army gets "first helping" of salmon.

The battle lines of the nation's two-front war—the fighting front and the home front—are being more clearly drawn every day.

While military leaders calculate the possibility of opening a second fighting front in Europe, the three main sectors on the home front are more and more active.

The last week brought new proof that America is growing leaner and harder in the struggle on all fronts and sectors. On the economic flank of the home front, the attack against inflation becomes fiercer with the beginning of rent control in 20 populous defense rental areas.

More than 1,900,000 retail merchants are working to comply with the new General Maximum Price Regulation, which became effective for the retail trade on May 18.

The War Production Board, streamlining its system of priorities and allocations, continues to throw vaster amounts of materials of war into the battle of production beneath factory roofs. This is the mobilization of materials and plant facilities for victory output.

The week saw the opening of the home front struggle on a new sector when the War Manpower Commission began its campaign for the complete mobilization of the nation's manpower.

To win the war, we are already moving to raise a possible fighting force of 8,000,000 soldiers, sailors and marines. In addition, it is estimated that a labor force of 20,000,000 men and women and an agricultural force of 12,000,000 will be needed. Here, then, are three gigantic "armies" that must be recruited—the military army, and the two home front armies.

The War Manpower Commission has been casting about for recruits for these home front armies. It is estimated that between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 will come from suspended civilian industries; 500,000 to 600,000 from the farms; 400,000 from professions; 1,500,000 from the temporarily unemployed, and 2,000,000 from the home.

If you fall into any of these three groups and want to do your part, get in touch with the nearest office of the U.S. Employment Service, and see if they have a war job which you fit. If you have the aptitude but lack the necessary training, there are 2,400 vocational schools and 10,000 public school shops throughout the nation which offer technical courses. Or, you may be able to get a job in one of the 3,195 factories providing "in-plant" training for their employees, teaching them while they work.

The Manpower Commission is devising ways and means to apply the first rule of total war: not to waste manpower by putting square pegs into round holes.

Rent ceilings which push back rents in 20 of the nation's designated defense rental areas as far back as levels of January, April and July, 1941, went into effect Monday. In Ohio, the rent ceiling orders cover Akron, Cleveland, Canton, Ravenna and the Youngstown-Warren areas, where newly-appointed rent directors are now in charge. Defense rental areas are spreading. With 19 additional area designations during the past week, including Chillicothe and Disney, O., the number is now up to 342, populated by 86 of the nation's 131,000,000 people.

The Office of Defense Transportation and the Department of Agriculture are appealing to farmers to cooperate in a comprehensive program for conservation by more efficient use of farm trucks and automobiles. This is to save rubber and repair parts which are scarce. The two government agencies recommend that farmers not only eliminate unnecessary driving, but also form transportation pools both for hauling their produce to market, but also for transporting supplies back to the farm. ODT is asking city drivers, truck and delivery organizations to do essentially the same thing.

The number of special orders, interpretations and warnings issued by OPA during the last week indicate that in certain line of products, manufacturers and dealers are trying to beat price control. Administrator Leon Henderson had to caution the nation's meat industry against manipulation of trade differentials of various kinds to evade the General Maximum Price Regulation.

Mr. Henderson threatened sellers, particularly packers of beef, and veal, with a system of fixed differentials and a revision of the price level downward to correct such practices.

He also warns meat men not to try to get out from under the price ceilings. "Ignorance, professed or actual, will not be accepted as an excuse," Mr. Henderson asserted.

OPA likewise warned distributors of floor rugs that refusing to accept orders for 9x12 rugs and offering slightly different sizes was an evasion of the price regulation on floor coverings. He told distributors to stick by their low basis key sizes.

The Bureau of Industrial Conservation's Auto Graveyard section is getting results. During April, it salvaged 350,000 tons of this jalopy scrap, which is 200,000 tons more than the 1941 monthly average.

Allan J. Dick, farmer scrap machinery collector near Little London, O., felt the steel determination of the BIC to move scrap into war production. After more than two months of opposition to BIC, the War Production Board issued a requisition and sent a U.S. Marshal down to his place. His 300 tons is being trucked away this week to the mills in Mansfield.

Now that school is about out, the boys and girls and their juvenile organizations may join the great nationwide program of salvage. The youngsters can "get in the scrap" by collecting old rubber, tin, steel, copper, paper and rags.

Two South Carolina gasoline dealers are under criminal indictment for violating gas rationing regulations. The indictment, first of its kind, charges the two service station men with selling gasoline without asking for a look at the purchaser's ration card.

WHO'S STRIKING NOW?

A WASHINGTON news dispatch tells a story of legislative sabotage.

To a nation weary and bitter under the onus and burden of "sitdown strikes" now comes news that certain New Deal Senators are so indignant because Price Administrator Henderson is effecting a nation-wide price control organization without consulting them about who is to be hired that they are almost momentarily expected to go on a "sitdown strike" of their own on price subsidy legislation.

This price subsidy bill threatened by the disgruntled "pork barrelers" is a measure designed to authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to spend up to $250,000,000,000 to keep price control ceilings intact by aiding producers and distributors who otherwise cannot continue in business at a profit under the fixed price level regulations.

These Senators, we are told, are not opposing the legislation because they think it is unsound or because they oppose the price ceiling plan to curb a ruinous inflation. On the contrary, they have at least been allied with those favoring both.

It is not a question, mind you, of what the country needs. It is a matter of what these Senators want for themselves and their political henchmen.

They are indignant because Leon Henderson, given a job to do, is doing it—and letting them and their politics go hang. They are rebelling because politics, their brand of "business as usual," is forgotten by the man charged with a job such as the minds of little men cannot comprehend.

Now, talk and talk of men in the shops on sitdown strike and talk of the need of kicking them up again. Talk about them as Communists, call them traitors to the common cause. Curse and revile them. But don't forget the august Senator in Washington who would sabotage legislation necessary, or deemed necessary, to prevent the chaos of inflation, simply because Leon Henderson did not ask them who to hire for this job or that.

The Washington news dispatch, THE TIMES regrets to state, failed to mention the names of these wearers of the Senatorial toga who are serving the ends of Togo. The people of the United States deserve that information for a free press.

If Alben Barkley and "Happy" Chandler are the astute men they should be, and are themselves guiltless, they will let the people of Kentucky know the names of the guilty Senators.

For there is coming a day of reckoning for those who would build political machines on the sacrificial altar of the people's devotion to flag and country.

How We Got "One of the Best"

THE Prestonsburg NYA defense shop is classed as one of the state's best.

Which should be good news to Floyd county, particularly Prestonsburg. For Prestonsburg needs some "bests."

Had not County Judge Hill and the fiscal court strained a point and bought the site for the shop on the county's credit, even this asset to the community and to the country's war production would not be here.

Deserving as much credit as anybody are T. M. Hereford, Jr., J. O. Webb and Joe Hobson, who co-operated to the extent of selling the plant site and waiting for payment.

Less hoarding of real estate is needed here, and this is one rare example of property-owners giving the encouragement needed to make the community more self-supporting.

Points By Other Editors

U. S. INDUSTRY AT WAR

"THE battle of production has been won," wrote Paul Mallon recently. "American industry went over the top in April, out of the preparatory organizing phase, and into the great American stride of mass production which no one can equal anywhere. From now on the production line on our charts will go nearly straight up."

That is an incredible achievement, and it takes incredible statistics to describe it. In April, our war production was at the rate of $40,000,000,000 a year. The June rate will be about 25 per cent greater. And by the end of this year, the economists confidently predict we will be producing at the rate of $70,000,000,000 a year.

In time to come, many a learned book will be written telling just how private industry did this job—a job which is unprecedented in world history. Two years ago we were totally unprepared for war. Today we are outproducing nations which devoted most of their resources to getting ready for war, for a decade or more. In Mein Kampf, Hitler says time and time again that the democracies are weak, spineless, unwilling and unable to fight. The Japanese also pinned abundant faith on that supposition. This country along with the other United Nations, is showing Hitler how tremendously wrong he was.

American industry has done far more than turn its plants from the production of the necessities and luxuries of peace to the production of the instruments of war. It has boldly pioneered new techniques. It has thrown old production prejudices to the four winds. It has worked on the basis that nothing is impossible. The skeptics said, for instance, that the assembly line principle could never be successfully applied to the manufacture of fighting airplanes. Ford, Boeing, Consolidated and other plants have proved otherwise—in Seattle, San Diego, Willow Run and elsewhere some of the finest military airplanes the world has ever seen are being made almost as swiftly as automobiles were made in the old days. Skeptics were certain forecasts of tank production were fantastically high. Chrysler and other makers, to the contrary, are today well ahead of the forecasts and are going farther steadily.

All over the country plants, little as well as big, are setting new production records in a hundred war-material fields. Delays still occasionally occur because of lack of materials, labor difficulties, etc. But those delays grow fewer.

There is only one dark spot—merchant ship output. The ship-builders have done an excellent job in the face of staggering technical difficulties, but the fact remains that United Nations' losses are somewhat ahead of replacements. For some time delivery of steel plate was behind schedule. However, existing yards are steadily upping their output, and some gigantic new yards, on both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard, will shortly go into operation. In this as in other war fields, some revolutionary changes are taking place in production methods. In the last war, it took close to a year to make the 8,000-ton Liberty ships we used then. A Portland, Oregon, yard recently produced a 10,800-ton freighter of the standard type we are building now in 60 days. And it is believed certain that still faster production will soon become commonplace.

The warship building program is ahead of schedule. Special emphasis is laid on the production of the destroyers which are needed for convoy duties, and for protecting ships-of-the-line in naval squadrons. And the U.S. submarine fleet is growing satisfactorily.

Not until the war is over and the information is of no use to the enemy will it be possible to tell the whole story of America's production effort. What can be said now is that no nation or group of nations ever did so much in so short a period of time. At the end of the last war, Von Ludendorff wrote, in bitter admiration, that the United States understood how to wage war. The cold production figures show that the United States understands it better still today.

KILL SHEEP-KILLERS TO "KEEP 'EM FLYING"

IT is bad news for "Old Ring" that the nation is looking to sheep growers to produce more lambs for their pelts, from which the warm clothing of the air force is made.

The State Department of Agriculture and 120 Sheriffs may now for the first time in more than twenty years seriously undertake the enforcement of the dog law since wool importations are cut off at a time of such grave necessity. According to College of Agriculture statistics, Kentucky dogs annually kill 10,000 sheep. Lambs or ewes, the kill amounts to the loss of 1,000 aviators' suits, and it's cold up there where the Doolittle boys have to go.

Richard C. Miller, animal husbandry field agent, told a meeting of sheep men at the Experiment Station, Lexington, that the War Department desires late lamb pelts enough to make 1,333,333 suits, eight or ten pelts to the suit. The normal production for the country is about a third of requirements. Kentucky's late lamb crop is above the average and, of course, farmers are being urged to increase their flocks and raise more lambs for this purpose.

The situation puts "Old Ring" and enforcement officers on the spot. "Old Ring" personified the sentimental issue of the 1919 State campaign to repeal the new dog tax imposed for sheep protection. The campaign was lost, but it defeated enforcement. Some of the sheep owners didn't secure licenses for their own hounds. Others didn't want to offend neighbors, and the Sheriffs didn't want to offend anybody.

But sentiment has shifted to the other side. "Old Ring's" depredations have become sabotage, his owner an accomplice; the delinquent Sheriff is to assume the role of a minor Quisling co-operating with the enemy. And this isn't extravagant fantasy or said all in fun. Warm clothing is about as necessary for bombing the enemy as the bombs themselves are. And we repeat the suggestion made by Mr. Miller in an agricultural bulletin that all sheep-raisers set an example by licensing their own dogs.—The Courier-Journal.

SAVING TIRE WEAR
"Anybody who drives more than 40 miles an hour is a slacker."—Mr. Henderson in his appeal for rubber saving.

True, but the average man has become so accustomed to moving fast that he unconsciously gets into the upper speedometer brackets. Only today we were riding to town with Elmer Twitchell, a fiery exponent of cutting down speed to save tires.

"Mr. Henderson is dead right," snapped Mr. Twitchell. "This is no joking matter. Tires must be saved and it can only be done by driving with more care."

(He was doing about 28 now.)

"I can't understand the mental processes of the American who reads all about the rubber situation, knows how speed shortens the life of tires and yet keeps on driving as he always did. It is shameful."

(We noticed the speedometer now showed 32.)

"We're in a great war. Our country needs every ounce of rubber it can get. There are no more new tires to be had. Everybody ought to know without being told, that it is impossible to conserve tires and not reduce driving speed at all times. Yet we find ignorant, stupid fellows driving as if nothing had happened."

(He has now got the old bus up to 36.)

"Why do people take these warnings from government agencies so lightly? Something should be done to make them obey the suggestions. There is no place in American life today for the speed nut who just won't change his habits."

(He was now doing about 42.)

"I favor backing up Henderson," went on Mr. Twitchell, with deep agitation. "Every community should back him up. The police should be more vigorous. No halfway measures should be shown. I am for the arrest and punishment of every short-sighted, pig-headed, self-satisfied son of a sea cook who is too blankly blind to see his responsibilities to do his full duty."

(He was now doing 50.)

"There oughta be a law! Why should anybody be unwilling to cooperate with the government? Why should—"

We nudged him and pointed to the speedometer which had begun climbing toward 55.

Elmer reddened and took his foot off the accelerator.

"Stunty!" he said guiltily. "Just a habit, I guess. Now, as I was saying . . ."

THE COMMUNIQUE

A terrific crash was heard . . . it was followed by a sound of woodwork crashing . . . presently the whole window came out of the house, as the form of Elmer Twitchell was flung through it.

"What's the matter?" we asked, picking Elmer up.

"It's okay," explained Elmer. "I'm fighting a delaying action."

THOUGHTS ON THE WOMEN'S ARMY

Mother is a colonel,
"Sis" wears major's bars;
Auntie is a sergeant,
Grandma wears some stars;
Jennie's a lieutenant—
So are Nell and Liz;
Johnny's quite dejected—
A private's all HE IS!

"Give me 100 U. S. air fighters to 200 Japs and we will lick them every time."—Lieutenant General Brett.

Shucks! Our boys are just practicing now. When they really get down to real fighting they will think it poor sportsmanship to take on less than three at a time.

The government has indicted 114 cheese makers as price fixers. It ought to be easy, thinks P. L. T., to find the holes in this case.

Elmer Twitchell is in a dither over the ban on quarter and pinball machines. "I just about had it figured out when the jackpot was due to drop," he squawked, "and in another couple of months I would have had the right momentum on the marbles all figured out."

Ad smiles: As worried as a man with an automobile.

THIS may be disturbing news for Larry MacPhail, who doesn't disturb easily or softly. Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, says this 1942 collection might be the best Cardinal team of all time.

"We had a great team in 1926—the year we trimmed the Yankees," Sam remarked. "We had another great team in 1931, and still another in 1934 when the Gashouse Gang with Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin were riding high. But it wouldn't surprise me to see this bunch we are looking at now turn out to be our all-time top. This is certainly the best pitching staff we ever had, and one of the best all-around teams in every department."

"MacPhail says his Dodgers are much stronger than last year and after a few early flurries should never be headed," we told Breadon.

"His Dodgers had better not have too many early flurries," Sam said. "Brooklyn has a good ball club, but we have a better one. We have better pitching and more speed. And if our club had any more spirit it might explode. Billy Southworth has the entire squad hustling to the limit—and I can tell you now those Dodgers will be seeing Red Wings in their broken dreams this summer. They'll be after those Dodgers from the first game to the finish."

Everything Necessary

"Look this ball club over," Breadon said. "We have all the catching any team needs, and the best pitching staff in either league, so far as both quality and quantity go."

"You'll be hearing from this kid Pollet all season. He isn't 21 yet, but he works like a ten year veteran. He hasn't blinding speed, and he hasn't any back-breaking curve ball. But he is smart, cool, cunning and a tough fellow to beat."

"And Pollet isn't the only one. We have at least ten high-grade pitchers, although one or two could use a little more experience. Mun-ger has a world of stuff. You know about Warneke, White, Cooper, Lanier, Shoun and Krist, who won all the ten games he pitched last year.

"Trade our infield for the Dodgers? Nothing doing. Hopp and Sanders are both good first basemen. Crespi, Marion and Brown are ball players of top rank. They give us one of the best infields we ever had."

"In my opinion, Terry Moore defensively is the finest outfielder I ever saw. He can cover all the ground that Speaker or DiMaggio or anyone else ever covered—and may be a few yards more. And Moore is also a .300 hitter. He is a ball player who has never received the publicity he deserved. If Terry hadn't been hurt in the stretch last fall we'd have been going away from Brooklyn at the finish."

"Enos Slaughter is another fine outfielder. And keep your eye on a kid called Musial. Hopp can play the outfield as well as first base. And Hopp can hit and run."

These are the disturbing items we think Larry MacPhail should know about. Sam Breadon gives MacPhail credit for being one of the smartest showmen, promoters and handy guys baseball has seen. But Breadon has an idea that MacPhail has underrated this Cardinal team, and the Dodger chief with Leo Durocher may be in for a number of nervous shocks.

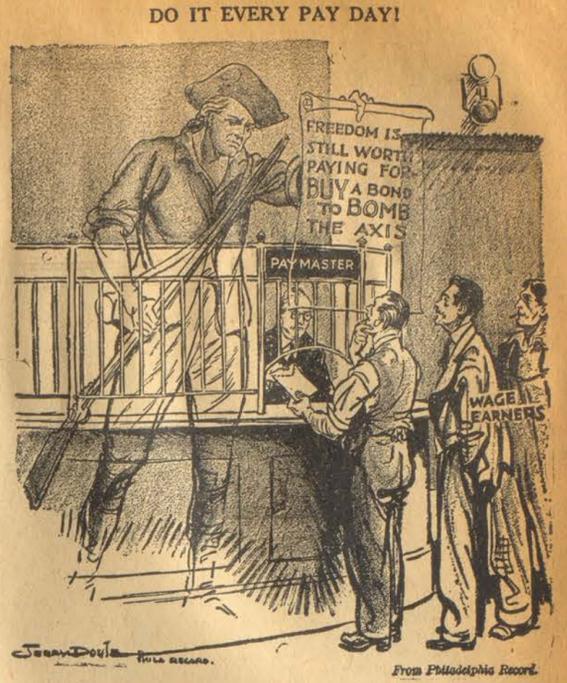

It Might Have Been

"I don't think they quite understand just what would have happened to the Dodgers if we had had as many of our regulars in action as they had last year. It might have been distressing—quite distressing. It might not even have been close."

From here we turned to the spirit of Cardinal players through the years. They have been the Notre Dame of baseball.

"We've looked for two things," Breadon said, "speed and spirit. We want ball players who love to play baseball, who like to hustle and who are out to win. Last year the Cardinals were crashing into fences, dugouts, anything in the road, to win a ball game."

"In that Southwest country from where many of the great ball players come, baseball is the greatest game in the world. Football is next. Most of them, like Dean and Martin and many more, come up the hard way. They know how to take a beating and come tearing back."

LOCAL NAMES

BESIDES the local names that become official there are many others that are so local they never attain any wide use. It has always been a source of great joy to me to hear what places are called by the local populace, regardless of what the serious, official names are. Nearly every town or village has another name besides the one listed in the geography or on the automobile maps. When I used to teach in Hickman county, the village of Crutchfield, just across the line in Fulton county, had three names. Alexander was one of its names, the one given by the railroad, while Crutchfield was the name of the postoffice. But to everybody, of all social stations, the place was Slapout; to have it called by any other name would have been to acknowledge that you were trying to impress or were talking to strangers. My own little Fidelity was known by the name of Leavenport among the negroes; its official name of New Concord was practically never used, for it had been just Concord at first, or, rather, after it had ceased to be known as Fidelity. Then there were all sorts of ways of designating places by calling them the Burg or the Town or the City. Smith's Grove, in Warren county, was always the Grove to the people in Edmonson; Chalybeate Springs was the Chalybeate, up until a few years ago, and may still be, for all I know. These local designations gave a flavor that I feel makes the village or the town more than a mere collection of houses.

While naming farms is not practiced much in Kentucky outside the Bluegrass, nearly every farm has a name that is used locally. Though some one owned a farm a century ago, his name still adheres to it; that is the easiest way to tell a noid-timer where you live. Some people have names for every field, very confusing to the stranger but valuable to the owner and his family. Again this is better done in old-settled areas, especially in the Old World, where a ditch or wall may have marked off an area for a thousand years. With the changing nature of our fences this naming of a certain field becomes difficult. Many a field that we used to have names for has been so united with other fields that I cannot now find where the old boundaries were.

Everywhere it was a custom and still is to name every cow and horse and mule, but mere beef cattle were rarely named. The other stock had a long enough tenure on life to become almost like members of the family. Occasionally I have known people to name sheep, but this strains one's ability to recognize and distinguish the animals, unless they are very much out of the ordinary, like the black sheep that is in every flock. In the Old World, I have read, sheep are named as commonly as larger and more distinctive animals or as expensive ones here.

Now pet chickens are of another type, for they just have to have a name. Anything so badly spoiled as a pet chicken can or should be named Beelzebub, or some such good old Bible name, but I do not recall having heard any derogatory names for these pets. Oddly-marked hens and roosters sometimes acquired a separate name; the rabble had to be just fowls. Somehow it never seemed necessary to name a chicken that was soon to furnish drumsticks for Sunday dinner. Such a fowl was just potential food, anyway, and could not be the object of sentimentality. If and when our pet chicken got big enough to eat, sometimes he fell a prey to the axe just like his unnamed brethren, but it always seemed like a species of cannibalism to eat him.

Just how common the habit of giving names now is I do not know, but I suspect that every family has a whole dictionary full of them that only the family recognizes.

MONEY TALKS
By FREDERICK W. STAMM
Economist and Director of Adult Education
University of Louisville

THE task of winning a war usually calls for as much cooperation on the home front as on the war fronts in distant lands. The other day I heard of a cooperative effort on the part of a number of farmers in an eastern community which interested me and which I thought should be passed along to the farmers in every community.

These eastern farmers found out that since farm implement manufacturers were producing tanks, trucks, etc., for the army, they couldn't secure new tractors, plows, binders, and other machinery so badly needed. Therefore, they canvassed their neighborhood and found there was a considerable amount of farm machinery in usable condition remaining idle on their farms. This machinery was brought together to a central point and an auction held.

The results of their effort were twofold: first, farmers needing machinery were able to buy used equipment at moderate prices without contributing to a shortage of new machinery; and second, farmers were able to realize some money on their machinery not in use.

I am sure farmers in every locality would welcome the opportunity to cooperate in such a plan. If there is a scarcity of farm machinery in your community, why not organize an auction and not only help yourselves but also help your government?

Cooperation is the key to winning a war.

IS SULLINS COLLEGE GRAD AT AGE OF SEVENTEEN

BETTY JEAN MAY

Miss Betty Jean May, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. May, Prestonsburg, was graduated from Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia, June 1.

Miss May graduated from Prestonsburg high school at the age of 15, being valedictorian of her class.

The following letter from Mrs. Janie McTyeire Baskerville, of Sullins College, addressed to Miss May's mother, expresses the pride of the institution in the Prestonsburg student:

"Whenever a girl distinguishes herself, I always wish her mother was there to witness her triumph! This was how I felt last evening when 'our' Betty Jean presented the enclosed program for her graduation recital. To begin with, she looked lovely and played throughout with fluency of style and brilliant interpretation—the whole proving a choice program, superbly rendered and which proved one of the most elaborate in theme and musicianship of any of the graduate student programs which have been featured at Sullins this season. "The personal pride and interest felt in her by her many Sullins friends was evidenced by the generous applause that greeted the young artist throughout.

"The stage setting with its colorful decorations formed a beautiful background, as you will notice, in the pictures taken of Betty Jean and her chosen ushers. It was a stimulating and inspiring experience to everyone who heard the recital. Evidently Betty Jean has worked hard and efficiently—appreciating her great teacher, Clifford Loomis. As Edwin Hughes, the famous teacher once remarked to me, 'There is no better than Clifford Loomis.'"

Dr. Hyden Joins Army At Lexington

Washington, D. C. IMPORTING COTTON?

For years the United States has had a huge surplus of cotton. The idea of importing cotton seemed fantastic. Yet that is exactly what is about to be done, as the latest development in the Good Neighbor policy.

Oscar Johnson, leading Mississippi cotton planter and former official of the AAA, will go to South America to buy surplus cotton from Peru and Brazil. He carries a checkbook of the Commodity Credit Corporation, whose funds for domestic and foreign crop purchases amount to $4,000,000.

Both Peru and Brazil are suffering severely from loss of foreign markets. Brazil's cotton was sold in Europe, Peru's to Japan. Both Latin American countries wholeheartedly backed the United States at the Rio conference and now Uncle Sam is returning the favor.

For some time, department of agriculture officials, fearful of outcries from the cotton belt, were timid about buying foreign cotton. They thought they might get away with purchases for storage in South America—but not for imports into the U. S.

But two agriculture officials—John B. Hudson, president of Commodity Credit, and Sam Bledsoe, aide to Secretary Claude Wickard—conceived the smart idea of putting the plan squarely up to southern congressmen, with Oscar Johnson as the choice for buyer.

This worked like a charm. Cotton congressmen have full confidence in Johnson, and they even approved importing some cotton, especially the long staple variety from Peru, which does not directly compete with U. S. cotton.

Meantime, plans are being made to purchase other Latin American agricultural surpluses, including beef and vegetable oils. But Argentina, which is suffering more than any other country, will get no U. S. help while President Castillo remains on the neutrality fence.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

President Roosevelt has indicated to Democratic chiefs who urged him to tour the country, that he may take a transcontinental trip this summer—if the war permits. Democratic candidates facing tough election battles are eager to have him visit their states. Also the President long has wanted to inspect several army camps and war production centers.

HOPKINS LOOKS AT WAR
Following his trip to England, Harry Hopkins is giving close friends a very optimistic picture about the war situation.

He is convinced that Hitler is really alarmed at the tough resistance of the Russians, the growing war strength of the United States, and the fear of an invasion on the European continent.

One of Hitler's greatest weaknesses, Hopkins believes, is manpower. German industry has done a great job hitherto. But now with an increasing drain on both industry and the German army, the tremendous losses at the Russian front are having a definite effect.

To his close friends, Harry Hopkins is known as one of the most optimistic men in the administration. But even discounting this natural optimism, other war chiefs in a position to know seem to have a fairly bright look in their eyes recently.

It will be a long time before we can begin to do any real crowing, for the situation in the Near East is almost as sour as the very, very sour situation in India. It does look, however, as if the spring had definitely brightened the war picture.

MUSSOLINI'S DOTAGE
Inside word brought back from Italy by those in the know gives a desolate picture of Benito Mussolini. He has been pretty well isolated from the war command and from direction of the government, both of which are dictated, directly or indirectly, by Nazis.

Mussolini has gone in for reminiscing on his younger days when he was a militant young socialist, part of the time exiled in Switzerland.

He has even sent for his old socialist friends, including some previously exiled to France. And they have sat around talking about the good old days when they were young.

Maybe this is insanity. Maybe it is just getting back to sanity after 20 long years of delusions of grandeur.

POWER PROBE

A powerful lobby is again back on the Washington scene.

Driven out of the capital a few years ago by the blasting investigation of Justice Hugo Black, then U. S. senator from Alabama, the utility forces have quietly resumed their undercover pressure operations.

Inquiries at this office elicited the explanation that the purpose of the power interests was to "facilitate co-operation with the government in the war effort."

fraternity.

While still a medical student, he was united in marriage to Miss Vida Criswell, of Leitchfield, Ky. Four years ago, Dr. Burke acquired several hundred acres of the old Lockwood farm at Lockwood, and divided his time between this interest and his profession.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Barbara Jean and Betty Jo, both at home; his mother, Mrs. Lula Webb Burke, of the Cannonsburg road, Boyd county; a sister, Miss Mabel Burke, of the Cannonsburg road, and his brother here.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m., today from the Missionary Baptist Church, Catlettsburg. The Rev. Sam Sloan was in charge of the services, assisted by the Rev. D. H. Matherly. Burial was in the Catlettsburg cemetery.

CLEAR CREEK SCREENINGS

By SAND DAD

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

Ye Old Sand Dad is a bewhiskered old gentleman who perambulates around Clear Creek Junction and picks up a spot of news now and then, the same to be reported in this column hereafter.

The many friends of Henry (Draft Board) Campbell and his side-kick Sterill Castle, both formerly of the metropolis of Right Beaver, will be proud to know that both gentlemen are huge successes hereabouts and just now are proving themselves to be social lions in the vicinity of Wheelwright—or, maybe, up where the ozone meets the sky.

Boyd (What a Man) Nuckles, late of Prestonsburg, is proving himself a terrific salesman in the Payne-Baber store where they sell dry goods and notions. However, Mr. Nuckles prefers to sell notions. The other day, a young lady entered the store to buy certain dry goods. "What for you, lady?" Boyd inquired. And when the lady called for certain unmentionables, Boyd colored and hemmed and hawed and finally called Hannah over to make the sale.

"Uncle" Bud Newman had better take out baseball insurance on his bath-house. If you happen to see the roof take to the air at 2 o'clock in the morning it will be caused by his son, "Big" George Newman and "Blackey" Moore replaying the game that Cincinnati lost that day.

Orchids to Barber J. A. Brown who tells the tallest tale we have heard in many a day. Barber had a nice con dog. He and his dog were standing beside the railroad one day when a fast train passed by. The wind from the train was so terrific that it caught the dog in the draft and the last Barber saw of his dog it was being pulled round and round, about a hundred yards behind the train, riding the tail of a cyclone created by the train.

Side Glances: Johnnie Caudill always starts his night shift off with "Go Devils"... Chester (Red) Hamilton sets the style of something or other when he goes to the barber shop and gets the works, including a mud massage and then puts on his brand new bank cap and struts off. A youngster had his nose turned up the other day, by another lad. He was home arguing with his mother that he wasn't whipped because he hadn't cried. Of such stuff America is made.

If you suffer MONTHLY FEMALE PAIN which makes you WEAK, CRANKY Nervous—

If at such times you're annoyed by cramps, headaches, backache, distress of "irregularities," a bloated feeling, periods of the blues—due to functional monthly disturbances—try Lydia E. THE GARDEN

THE "WARM" VEGETABLES

By JOHN S. GARDNER
Kentucky College of Agriculture

Despite the season's lagging, by the calendar it is high time the "warm" vegetables were in. These are tomatoes, peppers, egg-plants, okra and lima beans.

The fertilizing for all should be about average, that is, with high-grade complete fertilizer or with manure reinforced with superphosphate. In fact, these five show un- phosphorus, by low fruiting, when phosphorus is lacking.

Tomatoes — Doubtless the early plants are set, but the reminder is timely now to start a pinch or two of Marglobe, Rutgers or Greater Baltimore for plants set in cabbage-row gaps or to follow early greens or radishes to make first-class fruit with which to end the season. By the way, wanting tomato plants may be made to take a new lease on life by side-dressing with sulphate of ammonia, two teaspoons spread over a two-foot square about the plant.

Peppers — The old-time favorite Ruby King is still good, but more shapely, better to use for "stuffing," is California Wonder.

Eggplants — To insure carrying egg-plants to harvest, it is almost essential to spray with Bordeaux mixture or with "yellow" copper oxide, to ward off the black flea beetle and the blight. Black Beauty and the New York Improved are both good varieties.

Okra — To guarantee a perfect stand of okra, the seed should be pre-soaked and sown in pairs, the extra seedlings removed, and the favorite sorts are White and Green Velvet.

Lima Beans — Kentucky's dry atmosphere makes it difficult to grow well the fancy sort, Fordhook, but Burpee's Bush does passably. More reliable, however, are the small-seeded Henderson Bush and the slightly larger Yopp's Bush. Of the large-seeded pole sorts, King of the Garden is the most dependable, but the smaller Yopp's Pole and Florida Speckled are more sure of yielding bountifully. It is of decided advantage to plant all lima beans with the "eye" down.

In the Matter of David Voting Precinct:

Whereas, in voting precinct No. 53 known as Jack Allen precinct, a mining camp has been established, and the voting population therein has increased so that at this time more than three hundred fifty voters reside therein, and

Whereas, the convenience and public good require that a new precinct be created and said precinct as heretofore existing be divided.

THEREFORE, it is ordered by the Court, that from Jack Allen, No. 53, there be carved a new precinct, with the following boundary: Commencing at the branch, at the lower end of the Black Hawk Shepherd farm, thence running up the right hand side of the hill, to the top of the ridge; thence running around the ridge to the Magoffin county line; thence with the county line to the top of the ridge between Lick Fork of Middle Creek and main Left Middle Creek; thence down the ridge to the lower end of the Black Hawk Shepherd line, and with the same down the hill, to the place of beginning.

The voting place shall be located near the old home residence of Jake Shepherd.

Said voting precinct herein established shall be named and known as DAVID PRECINCT No. 54.

Mine Executive Says Operators Fear Federal Inspection May Work Hardships

Lexington, Ky., May 27—A coal company executive today said mine operators had become alarmed at the possibility of the U. S. Bureau of Mines saddling "old controversial musts" on the coal industry through its new mine inspection service.

The executive, Harry M. Moses, president of H. C. Frick Coke Company, Pittsburgh, in a paper read at the Mine Inspectors Institute of America convention, asserted "Early reports of inspection indicate... the inspection service intends to expand beyond the scope of the law... to an extent... that will make us non-competitive with other fields."

But at the same time Moses predicted the mining industry could "bless the day" the law creating the inspection service was enacted if the agency adopted a policy of tolerance "without over rigid rules."

The inspection service began operations five months ago under the Federal Bureau of Mines. Moses, explaining he presented views of a limited number of operators, said "without an equitable tribunal to settle controversies," coal operators would be forced into non-compliance with recommendations of the service and "consequently into non-operation," resulting in "destruction" either for the service or the coal industry.

Another operating executive, P. C. Thomas, vice-president of the Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates, Koppers Coal Division, Pittsburgh, said the attitude of the operators with whom he had talked was that "anything this service can add to the reduction of accidents is not only beneficial to the men, but will repay the companies for the money put into federal taxes."

The purpose of the inspection service, as explained in another paper, by J. J. Forbes, Pittsburgh, chief of the federal coal mine inspection division, is to bring about a substantial reduction in health hazards and the number of fatalities and injuries due to accidents in the coal mining industry.

He said the service already had aided in improvement of a number of major and minor safety conditions and practices, and expressed hope it would not be necessary to close down any mining operation as a result of the "discovery of serious immediate dangers."

Forbes added that several mines had been closed temporarily "pending the removal of immediate dangers" and that the federal service was in close co-operation with state inspection departments.

N. P. Rinehart, chief of the West Virginia department of mines and minerals, told the group federal inspections had not interfered with state inspections and had helped them.

Kentucky's mines and minerals department chief, G. Moss Patterson, offered several suggestions for improvement in the present method of federal inspections, including reduction of time devoted to each inspection in order that more mines might be inspected during the first year of the federal service.

"The present federal inspection force spend so much time at each mine," he said, "that they will be well over two years visiting all mines in this state with 25 or more employees."

"Our records show conclusively," he said, "that mines with well-taught and well-attended safety classes have a much better accident record than comparable mines which have not provided safety education."

"A ruling of the wage-hour administration compels companies to pay overtime for attendance at safety classes unless attendance is voluntary. Because of this ruling, many companies hesitate to let any of their officials organize safety meetings and classes in first aid training or urge employees to attend these meetings."

Patterson observed that safety education, especially organization of classes, is largely dependent on the efforts of the state inspection force and of the safety directors of the operators' associations. These groups have done "excellent work in the safety education field, but there is much left to be done."

He suggested that federal mine inspectors could make a "definite contribution to this important phase of safety work" by devoting some of their time to organization and instruction of safety classes.

Rinehart was elevated to the presidency of the institute, succeeding Thomas Moses, Pittsburgh. Patrick A. Grady, superintendent of the Carrs Fork Coal Company at Alcock, Ky., was elected first vice-president. Columbus, O., was chosen for next year's convention.

A series of barley variety tests are being conducted in Christian county. Mason county farmers sheared their sheep early this year to catch the premium prices offered.

Three Are Graduated At Berea From Floyd

Berea, Ky., June 1 (Spl.)—Three students from Floyd county were graduated at Commencement exercises at Berea College Saturday and today. Miss Minnie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Martin, Eastern, received the B.S. degree in Home Economics; Miss Ruby Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Milton Allen, Langley, received the A. B. degree in Chemistry, and William Monroe Henkel, Betsy Layne, received a high school diploma from the Secondary school.

Miss Martin has been a member of the Home Economics and Agriculture-Home Economics Clubs during her junior and senior years. She was president of the Home Economics Club during the past year. She has been a member of the College YWCA, and the Association of Upper Division Women.

Miss Allen has been a member of the Delta Phi Alpha Honorary German Society, and the Association of Upper Division Women.

in back of every Yank!

THEY said America was "soft"—that our easy living would make us easy licking.

But cocky American fighting men proved them painfully wrong at Wake, Midway, Bataan. And the same factories that produced our peacetime comforts are geared today into the greatest war industry the world has ever seen!

Production is military power. And electric power is production. America can produce the planes, tanks, ships and guns to win this war because America has five times the electric power it had in the last war—more electric power than all the Axis and conquered countries combined.

For that you can thank the quiet, competent men who manage America's electric companies. They were ready when war came—and their practical, proved experience will help keep America's war machine humming on the high road to Victory!

Children's Bible Camp In Pike County Offers Recreation, Training

Since October, 1941 work has gone forward on developing Camp Evangel, the Children's Bible Camp located on Levisa fork of Big Sandy river. This is between Big Creek and Fed's Creek, near Nigh, Pike county, Ky. The 375-acre lease obtained from the Kentland Coal & Coke Company fronts on the river for about a mile and affords an ideal camp site that permits swimming and some fishing.

The project is sponsored by the Southern Highland Evangel, an interdenominational Home Mission group organized in 1930. Approximately 45 Christian workers who are connected give full-time to Sunday School and community work. These are in five Southern mountain states, the majority in Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia.

Some thousands of boys and girls have been regularly contacted through school chapel periods during the school term. Many have memorized 130 selected Bible verses and received as reward a New Testament and Bible. Those completing the work are entitled to spend a week at Camp Evangel without cost. The expense for carrying on this work is being received as voluntary gifts from interested friends, some from the local territory and also from other sections of the country.

A somewhat limited camp season will be carried on this summer. It is planned to have three camps, beginning July 3, 17 and 31 with about 50 children at each, some coming from 100 miles away. Interesting Bible study classes will be conducted and in afternoons there will be recreation and hand-work. At all times the boys and girls are under the care and supervision of an experienced staff of workers. It is expected these young people will return to their home communities and churches to become leaders in Christian life and service.

The director of this work is Elmer C. Wagler, Grundy, Va. Others who share in the responsibility are Fred H. McGinnis, Prestonsburg; Thomas C. Swanson, Meta, Ky., and Fred Morningstar, Merrimac, W. Va. The resident care-takers at Camp Evangel are Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stauffer and Miss Christine Stauffer.

Eighteen buildings have been or are being erected, including 12 cabins. A kitchen and dining-room unique in arrangement are at the center of the camp layout. A Delco plant has been provided which furnishes lights for the principal buildings. Entrance to the camp is permitted by a cable foot bridge that connects with the Pikeville-Grundy highway.

The general public is invited to visit this Bible Camp at any time, but particularly during the month of July when full operations are being carried on. A number of young people from Floyd county are making plans to attend Camp Evangel this summer.

Washington, D. C. RR'S VS. SHIPS

It hasn't made headlines, but a battle royal has been raging between WPB Czar Donald Nelson and Transportation Czar Joe Eastman over the freezing of steel for the construction of railroad cars.

With less and less shipping moving along the coast, and more and more traffic by rail, the question is one of the most important facing the country.

What happened was that the War Production board froze all construction materials already on hand in railroad construction shops. The intention was to transfer these materials for use in building other types of cars.

However, Joe Eastman claims that these materials, chiefly steel, already had been bought and cut out for certain cars, in certain shapes, so the order merely will make the materials go unused, with car shops closing down.

Already, Eastman argues, certain plants of Pullman Standard are idle, at a time when all plants should be used to capacity.

Meanwhile railroads are groaning with traffic. Sugar is now being hauled by rail as much as possible from Florida to avoid submarines. Oil is clogged up in the producing fields for lack of railroad transportation. And with the sinkings of several Chilean ore ships, more iron ore U. S. iron mines.

In view of all this, Eastman complains bitterly that Nelson won't release the steel and let the car foundries do the job.

INFLUENCING EUROPEAN LABOR

Here is one inside reason why Roosevelt leans toward labor. Basically, the President always has been pro-labor, and continues to be, even though he has become fed up with some labor activities in the past year.

But in addition, U. S. war strategists are convinced that the chief hope of revolution in Europe comes from labor. And most of the psychological warfare strategy being devised here is aimed at influencing labor in Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria and the occupied countries.

Although not generally known, the nucleus of the old Social Democratic party which tried to create a real republic in Germany is still intact. When Hitler came into power, they moved to Czechoslovakia. After the Sudetenland seizure, they moved to Paris. After the downfall of Paris, they moved to the U. S. A.

Fifty Social Democrats from the old Reichstag are now in this country co-operating with U. S. officials.

Furthermore, it is labor in the European occupied countries which is able to assemble or make radios. German labor listens to the radio far more than other classes. Some labor groups even have published very small "underground" newspapers on hand presses and these are distributed by hand.

German labor resents the long hours in munitions factories, the small pay and the lack of food, more than any other group. Also labor is about the only group which was not taken over completely by Hitler. The Communists, his chief opponents, now have long been underground, but secretly active.

To European labor Roosevelt always has been one of the world's greatest leaders. And one thought in the minds of war strategists is to show Europe that the rights of labor here will not be thrown completely overboard during war.

WALLACE'S FAVORITES

The men who came to Washington with Henry Wallace in the early days of the New Deal realize now that they picked a winning horse. Almost to a man, they have moved up to important posts in the government.

Claude Wickard was head of the corn-hog section in Wallace's AAA. Now he is secretary of agriculture.

Milo Perkins was a lowly assistant to Wallace, holding down a desk in the outer office. Today, he runs the Board of Economic Warfare, as important as a cabinet post.

Paul Appleby was an assistant in the inner office. Now he is under-secretary of agriculture at $10,000 a year.

Chester Davis was head of the AAA. Now he is director of the Federal Reserve bank in St. Louis.

R. M. ("Spike") Evans was an aide to Wallace; now head of AAA. Sam Bledsoe, Roy Hendrickson, and Whitney Tharin were newsmen covering agriculture. Bledsoe is now an assistant to the secretary.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Secretary of War Stimson is held in the warmest personal esteem by army commanders. Hard-working and open-minded he never meddles in military operations and backs up his subordinates 100 per cent. Stimson is always at his desk by 8 a. m., and rarely leaves until evening, when he always takes home with him a big bundle of papers that he works over after dinner.

Prestonsburg Loses As Patton Is Wild Against Wayland

Facing his old teammates, Prestonsburg's pitching mainstay, Ray Patton, turned in his worst mound performance of the season at Wayland Sunday, and the Beaver Creek team won, 15 to 9.

Patton was wilder than a hawk. Wayland scored twice in the first inning without a hit. Prestonsburg scored one run off Stephens, of Wayland, in the first inning but was unable to solve his baffling slow curve thereafter until the game was beyond recovery.

Patton retired in the fifth after Adkins hit a tremendous homer over the right centerfield fence. The second ball pitched by his successor, May, to Martin was smashed over the left-field fence. May, who started at first base, hit an inside-the-park homer, early in the game. E. Branham hit Wayland's third roundtripper of the game.

At Wheelwright, Drift succumbed, 5-4, in a 12-inning thriller which was featured by five homers, two by Magistrate Henry Shumbo. Buck Shumbo relieved Price for Drift in the eighth when Drift was ahead, 4-3, and was the losing pitcher. Wheelwright played errorless ball, while the losers were making two miscues.

Scores of the Thealka-Van Lear game were not available.

ON THE OFFENSIVE AMERICA!

Wars are won by attacking, not by sitting in a fort! And today America is taking the offensive against the Axis with hard-fighting, non-stopable men and materials!

We're taking the offensive, too, against the enemy at home—the inflationary 6th column that blows prices sky high.

You can help in both fights by saving at least 10% of your money in U. S. War Bonds every pay day. Attack the Axis with your dollars today.

You can start with as little as a 10c War Stamp and you can get a $25.00 War Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75—at your local post office, bank or other convenient sales agency. U. S. Treasury Department

REWARD

I hereby offer a reward of $25 for each arrest and conviction of any person or persons giving or selling whiskey, wine, beer or gin to my son, Edgar Stephens, on credit or otherwise. It is a severe penalty to give or sell liquor to another, who has been convicted for drunkenness more than three times. Liquor sold on credit, the account is illegal and cannot be collected.

I have had so much trouble along this line, I will appreciate the help of anyone. I think, if we women and others who are interested in doing an everlasting good for our county and children, would go to work and circulate a petition and get the required number of legal voters to sign it, and submit the liquor question to the people of this county, we could vote this county dry, if the election was not stolen as has been done in Harlan county. The elimination of intoxicants would to a large extent eliminate road-houses and save the life of many a boy and prevent ruining the character of many a poor girl and thereby save her from disgrace and shame. It also would prevent and stop a lot of cheap constables and deputies from holding up and robbing people of a few dollars and also be a great saving to the county in jail fees which the taxpayers are compelled to pay. This would save thousands of dollars to the county alone, not counting the loss in time in preventing laborers from their work, and furnishing things in their homes, which they need.

I will take the time and secure the number of petitioners and we will submit this question to the people of this county, if I can get the co-operation and assistance of the citizens and different organizations of our county interested in this move. I hope I may have an encouraging word from people who are interested in the disgraceful calamity now existing in our county and state. This letter and request is written by a heart-broken mother, brought about by the liquor business.

I am yours for a better, healthier, Floyd county and state.

LETTERS TO STRANGERS

Fearing the spreading of information that might be coveted by the enemy, the War Department recently issued an order forbidding soldiers to write letters to, or receive such communications from, strangers.

That is all right. But a letter such as that which follows was altogether harmless, providing the Camp Robinson, Ark., soldier-writer with an interesting pastime and the Floyd county girl-recipient with considerable amusement. The letter: "Good afternoon, M—. Don't let this floor you. I think it's just an old army game. Boy gives name of girl to roommate, me. I write letter to you—and, whether you like it or not, you get letter.

Now, the army is the only place this is being done, so you aren't supposed to get mad.

"You can see by my address that we live in the home state of Lum and Abner, Bob Burns and, from the looks of things, it may be the home of Abner Yokum. A very cultural place. We, the boys, are just as bad. You may think we go native, too, if you were to know the natural freedoms we are allowed.

"One instance is the rude letter you are reading now. The conditions it is written under: I am lying flat on the floor, in a prone position, my shoes and socks are off, and my toes are wiggling back and forth, helping me to think of something to say.

"Now this is just a pastime for me. If you should answer this, everybody in the tent would have to read it, so protect yourself with a very mild answer or silence.

"Roommate tells me in different words that you are simply the 'Cream of Kentucky,' a lady of good manners and reputation. Now, that is no kind of a person for a soldier and one of adventure to write to, but for three days—has been asking me to write. Persistence sometimes gets results, even when they pick on strong men like me and Sampson.

"I'm sure crazy about his girl there, but just cannot find the things to tell her. We slipped a fast action letter to her one day, but she guessed as much. He had a few sad days, but the last letter he received from her has made him very happy.

EF "DE WUST" COMES

The Union County Advocate tells the one about two gentlemen of color discussing the post-war period, if and when.

"Ise wuz den?" "Times got so hard," replied this ex-professional man, "dat I started out preachin'." And, if the wust comes to the wust, I ain't none too good to try preachin' again."

"What wuz dat?"

"Times got so hard," replied this ex-professional man, "dat I started out preachin'." And, if the wust comes to the wust, I ain't none too good to try preachin' again."

IMPORTANT PROOF

Some of these days, if we ever learn how, we will write an article telling, in detail, just how to go about getting a birth certificate. Reports reaching us indicate that one of the hardest things to prove, except your innocence when friend wife has you on the griddle, is that you were born, and when and where and who played the leading role, if you didn't.

Some folks have been complaining about how slow the office of J. F. Blackerby, state registrar, is about this all-important matter of getting yourself properly on record as having been born. But not Camillus Scutchfield, of Prestonsburg, Mr. Scutchfield says it's all a matter of getting started off on the right foot. With the assistance of F. C. (Crit) Hall, he prepared his application on May 13, next day got the affidavits of a relative and a non-relative. His "papers" were filed in Louisville May 21, certified May 22, and were returned to him May 28.

Johns Creek Man Called by Death

Clyde Endicott, 32 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Endicott, died Monday at German following an illness of six months.

Surviving are his parents, his widow, four children and the following brothers and sisters: Josh, Samuel, Fanny and Minnie Endicott. The body was taken to Daniels Creek where burial was made Tuesday in the Lewis cemetery. Funeral rites were conducted by the Revs. Wallace Louis and James Roark. The Arnold Funeral Home directed the rites.

Betsy Layne Alumni, Friends, Teachers, In Annual Meet

Approximately 65 alumni, their friends and teachers, past and present, from six states attended the annual banquet of the Betsy Layne Alumni Association, held Sunday evening in the gymnasium of Betsy Layne high school.

Association members from Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and New Jersey, as well as Kentucky, attended. Among the guests were six former teachers.

Miss Mae Akers presided as toastmaster, and F. A. Maggard, former principal of the school, now a representative of a textbook company, was the principal speaker. The music program included a vocal duet, "Any Bonds Today?" by Billy Jean Blackburn and Betty Jo May, with Miss Jackie Williams as accompanist; a patriotic melody by Prof. Jesse Elliott, trombone soloist, accompanied by Miss Mary Ruth House.

The class of 1928 was represented "one hundred per cent" with its full roll of two. Only the classes of 1932 and 1936 were not represented.

An interested and interesting spectator at the re-union of old friends and classmates was "Uncle" Joe Slater, of Ashland, general manager of the Pike Floyd Coal Company in Betsy Layne's industrial hey-day.

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club served the banquet.

City Board Refuses

"Nobody is officially hired for the job, the County Board stands by its selection of a coach for Prestonsburg," County Superintendent Town Hall said Wednesday. He added that Mr. Branham, the City Board's selection for the job, had not filed an application with the County Board of Education.

The City Board of Education teacher employment list follows, as nominated by City Superintendent I. H. Triplett:

High school—Claybourne Stephens, principal, Estill Branham, coach, Jane R. Combs, May K. Roberts, Minnie Grace Harris Sutherland, Norcie T. Brown, Naomi Goble, Gerald Leslie, Kathryn Frazier, Margaret Pezarossi.

Grade school—Eula Mae Brock, Kitty S. Sandige, Freda Bunting, Anna Laura May, Frances Jones, Anna Mae Mellon, Jessie Fitzpatrick, Margaret D. Collins, Evelyn J. Salisbury, Edna N. Collins, Fanny S. Jarrell, Marguerite Jones, Pauline A. Burchett, Ethel C. Powers, Anna Martin, Irene Stephens, Victoria Spradlin.

Barbara A. Carter was employed to take the place of Irene P. Stephens in the grade school, should Mrs. Stephens be transferred to the high school.

Court Term Extended To June 30th

The May civil term of circuit court has been extended to June 30, but jury cases will be heard only till June 8, Circuit Clerk W. W. Cooley said Tuesday. Thereafter, equity cases will be heard.

Sam H. Brown, Frankfort, is presiding as special judge this week in the trial of 15 cases in which Judge Stephens is disqualified.

Approximately 75 ordinary cases have been disposed of during the term to date for the busiest civil session in some time. Disposal of a large portion of the equity docket is foreseen by month's end, Circuit Clerk Cooley said.

Wayland Hi Wins 3rd Regional Meet On Baseball Field

The Wayland high school baseball team won its third consecutive regional baseball tournament by defeating Garrett, 4-3, Friday, and Prestonsburg in the final round, 5-4, Saturday.

DeCoursey, Wayland pitcher, held Prestonsburg to five well-scattered hits while the Wayland boys collected eight off D. Weddington in the final game.

Box score follows:

An ad in the Paintsville Herald of recent vintage reads as follows: "W. J. WARD STILL FURNISHES FREE DRINKING WATER

"To all who want a drink of cold water:

"When you come to Paintsville call at my office where I always keep a drink of cold water for you.

Your friend, W. J. WARD."

Recent happenings down in Johnson county indicate that Ward, who is also the county judge, knows his business when it comes to tossing cold water. Some of his magistrates attempted to take some official action without his approval, 'tis said, and the judge doused their plans in the proverbial "cold water" by sentencing them to the calaboose and fining 'em! 'Tis also said that his honor did same in a very cool, officious manner.

State Youths, Trained In NYA Shops, Earn $40,000 a Week

Eleven hundred Kentucky youths trained in NYA War Production shops and sent to war jobs in eastern states area are earning a total of more than $40,000 a week. The youths were transferred to Connecticut, Maryland, New Jersey, and Rhode Island under the National Youth Administration's interstate transfer plan of training war workers and sending them to war production areas where there is urgent need of trained workers. The youths are working in airplane factories, machine tool industries, shipyards, and gun plants. Their average weekly pay is $40.

Seventy of the youths are from Floyd county. They were trained in the NYA shops at Prestonsburg, Vine Grove and Richmond.

In addition to those sent to the eastern states, more than 3,000 youths trained in Kentucky NYA shops have, during the past five months, been placed in war jobs or in jobs essential to the war effort.

Heart Disease Claims James Clifton, 63, At Home Here

James Clifton, 63 years old, succumbed to his heart disease here Wednesday afternoon to heart disease from which he had suffered for months.

He was well-known here and had many friends. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Bowling Clifton, one adopted son, Darwin Clifton, and six brothers: George, John, Frank, Jasper and Tom Clifton, all of Prestonsburg, and Judge Clifton, Van Lear.

Funeral rites were conducted Thursday afternoon from the home of Mr. Clifton's niece, Mrs. Sadie Clifton, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating, and burial was made in the Ford cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Herald Is Promoted Hospital Apprentice

Great Lakes, Ill., May 29 (Spl.)—Ballard Clinton Herald, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Herald, West Prestonsburg, Ky., was appointed a hospital apprentice, second class, when he was graduated today from the Hospital Corps school at the U.S. Naval Training Station here.

He was one of a class of 442 sailors from 30 states to complete a course in anatomy, physiology, hygiene and sanitation, first aid, weights and measures and material-medicine.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Nancy Cole, and three foster children, Malcolm and Fred McCarty and Monroe Cole.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday, the Rev. Eli Miller officiating. Burial was made at Justell under direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Floyd AAA Moves To Sizemore Building

The Floyd County Agricultural Adjustment Administration office was moved last week from the post-office building to the Sizemore building on Third avenue.

The AAA's first work in this county was begun about nine years ago with the corn-hog program, James Stephens, Cliff, Floyd county chairman of the organization, said. Since that time the office has been associated with that of County Agent S. L. Isbell. Mr. Isbell's office remains in the postoffice building.

Mr. Corbin and Mayor E. P. Arnold, third member of the draft board, joined in testifying that Dr. Leete while in the draft board office told Corbin and Clarke that they had "better be certain that they are not at the bus station when the boys leave."

J. W. Howard, Prestonsburg attorney, told of hearing Dr. Leete threaten the two draft board members two or three days after he had threatened them upon his visit to the draft board office.

Testifying in the case, and corroborating testimony accusing Dr. Leete of threats against the draft board members, were Harry T. Hill, Draft Board 44 clerk, and Mrs. Lyda M. Porter, secretary.

Will Not Prosecute Would-Be Assassin, Merchant Says

Dow Cook, well-known Buckingham merchant, said here Thursday that he will not prosecute Clyde Bates, his neighbor who is accused of firing a shotgun charge at him from ambush Monday morning.

"He is subject to the draft, and the army needs his services," Mr. Cook said in explaining his decision not to prosecute.

The merchant, who was struck by only one small pellet fired from a distance of approximately 100 yards, said he did not see the man who fired at him. Hassell Boggs, 12-year-old Buckingham boy who was struck by two of the shot, identified Bates as the gunman.

Floyd Men Called For Jury Service In Martin Case

Twelve jurors, seven of them chosen from a panel of 75 from Floyd county, were qualified Wednesday to hear the trial of Wallace Bailey and Amos Jarrell, accused of the slaying of Bailey's wife.

None was accepted finally, however, and with the 13th juror still to be chosen, there was some doubt that the trial would start before today (Thursday).

The Floyd county panel was called on instructions by Special Judge Joseph D. Harkins, Prestonsburg, after the exhaustion of a panel of approximately 30 Martin county veniremen from which only five jurors were selected Tuesday.

Bailey, Jarrell, Elsie McCoy and Jarrell's brother, Elmer, were among eight persons arrested after the body of Bailey's young wife, an expectant mother, was found on the Tug river bank opposite Kermit, W. Va., in April, 1941. The others were released.

Commonwealth's Attorney J. H. Cooper chose to try Bailey and Amos Jarrell first.

Bus Officials, Drivers Submit Differences To Arbitration

Claude B. Ruth, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union local, representing employees of the Kentucky-Virginia Stages, announced Saturday that the employees had voted to submit their grievances with the management of the bus line to arbitration by the War Labor Board.

A recent strike left patrons of the line, which covers 247 miles of highway and links most of Eastern Kentucky's largest cities, without service. The employees later returned to their jobs pending attempts to adjust the dispute.

However, both the employees and the management rejected at a meeting in Lexington this week an out-of-state arbitrator named by the Labor Relations Board. The arbitrator's identity was not disclosed.

Ruth said that the vote to turn the dispute over the War Labor Board came at a meeting Friday night. He added that a decision probably would not be forthcoming for "five or six months."

Meanwhile, the employees will continue at work under the present wage scale, which includes $125 a month for drivers, and 40 cents an hour for ticket agents and mechanics.

The drivers struck for a flat rate of four cents a mile. The ticket agents asked 75 cents an hour, and the mechanics 85c, he said.

Will Not Prosecute Would-Be Assassin, Merchant Says

Dow Cook, well-known Buckingham merchant, said here Thursday that he will not prosecute Clyde Bates, his neighbor who is accused of firing a shotgun charge at him from ambush Monday morning.

"He is subject to the draft, and the army needs his services," Mr. Cook said in explaining his decision not to prosecute.

The merchant, who was struck by only one small pellet fired from a distance of approximately 100 yards, said he did not see the man who fired at him. Hassell Boggs, 12-year-old Buckingham boy who was struck by two of the shot, identified Bates as the gunman.

Sugar Application Supply Temporarily Exhausted

The Floyd County Rationing Board this week announced that it is temporarily out of application blanks for sugar for canning purposes. A supply is expected soon.

The board also said it is seeking to establish branch agencies at all important points in the county to assist consumers in preparing applications, thus saving consumers the time and expense of coming to Prestonsburg to make application.

Present regulations permit consumers to file applications at any time for sugar needed for canning.

Deputy Constable Hurt Seeking Arrest

By JAMES BLEVINS
Boidman, Ky., May 30—Deputy Constable Harrison Hunley was seriously injured at a point near the Oscar Bush Grocery Store at Boidman near midnight Saturday night after chasing two unidentified men who, he said, resisted arrest at the Hill Top Inn here. The men escaped from Hunley at the Inn, then tried to get by the place in a car. Hunley saw them, deputized James Miller, borrowed an automobile and pursued the men.

The fleeing car stalled and Hunley jumped from his car onto the running board of the car as it picked up speed. Hunley was pushed off the car, and sustained a broken collar bone, a fractured left shoulder and bruises. He was taken to the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, where he had not regained consciousness Sunday morning.

Twenty-two Green county farmers set 52,000 black locust seedlings and 5,000 short-leaf pines during one recent month.
