

State's Sportsmen To Meet at Park

Slate Nunn, Ex-Governor On Program

League's Convention At Lodge, June 7-9, First for This Area

Housing accommodations in the Prestonsburg vicinity will be severely taxed when an expected 50 sportsmen converge on May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, next Friday for the opening of the three-day state convention of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen.

It will be the first state meet for the league in this section of Kentucky.

Besides accommodations reserved at the lodge as long as a year ago, the facilities of practically all motels have been reserved for those who will attend the convention, and a few will be sent to nearby towns.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn will be the speaker at the Governor's Awards Banquet at 7 p.m., Friday, and Ex-Governor Edward T. Breathitt will take part, the following evening at the same hour, in the Sportsmen's Banquet. He will make the Sportsman-of-the-Year presentation. Luther Lester, sales executive, will be the banquet speaker.

Registration for the convention will begin at 2 p.m. Friday. Saturday's program preceding the Sportsmen's Banquet will include reports on every phase of fish, wildlife and conservation work undertaken during the year in the state. Among those reporting will be Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources.

The keynote address at the 1:30 p.m. Saturday business session will be delivered by Thomas Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation. Election of officers will follow.

A meeting of the board of directors at 9 o'clock Sunday morning is the last item on the well-filled program of activities.

The official welcome to visiting sportsmen will be given by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley at (See Story No. 5, Page 5)

Left Beaver Council To Meet Wednesday

The regular meeting of the Left Beaver Community Action Program will be held Wednesday evening, June 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Reports will be made on the chicken dinner and plans for future events to include a dance with live band, also plans to extend clearing of creeks from Drift to Martin, and from McDowell on up stream. All residents of Left Beaver are urged to attend.

HERO MEDAL FOR WALDEN

Lockmaster Recognized For Rescue of 2 Men In 1967 River Disaster

Dale B. Walden, 57, of Lexington, has received the Carnegie Medal for heroism displayed in the rescue of two Morgan county men in a Kentucky River disaster last year.

(Mr. Walden's wife is the former Caroline Powers, daughter of Mrs. M. D. Powers, of Prestonsburg, and the late Mr. Powers.)

In addition to the medal recognizing his act, Walden received $750 in cash from the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. He, another Kentuckian and 26 others from various parts of the nation were so honored this year.

Walden, lockmaster at the Kentucky River's Lock No. 9 about 14 miles from Lexington, was cited for saving the lives of two men May 21, 1967, when a 32-foot cabin cruiser was swept over the 15-foot dam there.

Six persons drowned and four survived.

Walden entered the turbulent waters in a leaky wooden boat and pulled out two West Liberty men—William Miller, manager of the Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative Corp., and J. Blaine Nickell, an attorney for the cooperative.

"I hope this alerts the boating public to the dangers that lurk around dams," Walden said on receiving the Carnegie award.

Given Break in Weather, Parks Pools Open Today

Given a break in the weather, two parks here will open their swimming pools today (Thursday).

S. R. Hatcher, manager at Jenny Wiley State Park, said the park's $310,000 community-size pool will open for the first time at 10 a.m., weather permitting. The pool was completed only a few days ago by the contractors, Akers & Akers, and is considered the finest in Eastern Kentucky.

The Archer Park pool, as well as all other facilities of the park, also will open today. Edward Patton, who has been employed as park manager, is scheduled to arrive today and to start work toward planning a comprehensive recreation program for the summer.

The pool at Jenny Wiley State Park is designed to accommodate as many as 500 persons at one time. The main pool is 93 feet long by 43 feet in width, with a 35x35-foot diving well and a 16x20-foot wading pool for smaller children. The construction job there includes a new bath-house. Lighting will permit the pool to be open during the summer as late as 9 or 10 p.m., Mr. Hatcher said.

All other attractions at the park—golf course, Skyline, riding stables, and camping area—are already open.

Floyd County Man Pickets Pentagon

The Poor People Marchers camping in Resurrection City, in the nation's capital, have their grievances but no complaint is more personal than that of a Floyd countyman who is in Washington this week picketing the Pentagon.

The Floyd county man is James D. Stephens, who is renewing his long-standing fight with the military top brass in contending for disability and retirement pay after service with the U. S. Army.

Stephens is wearing his wartime Army lieutenant colonel's uniform in his peaceable demonstration against what he is convinced is an obvious injustice. His fellow-picket is his strapping 23-year-old son, James, Jr.

The Prestonsburg man is battling for disability and retirement pay which could mean as much as $75,000 to him. He has sought through Congressman Carl D. Perkins a brief White House hearing. He and his son will appear at sessions of both the House and Senate.

The former Army officer contends that his disability dates back to 1947 when he suffered a heart attack at Ft. George G. Meade, Md. He also contends that he still is legally in the Army. This argument is based on the fact that he was issued an Honorable discharge in April, 1960, but Army regulations at that time required that he apply in writing for relief from duty before a legal discharge could be granted. No such request was ever made, Stephens says.

The former lieutenant colonel served with General Patton's forces in Europe, figured in the release of prisoners from a German prison camp, and was photographed with a Russian general who had been ticketed for a gas chamber. He has in his possession Patton's commendation for his service, a Bronze Star and the photograph.

Yet, at one point in the long proceedings, the Army denied Stephens had had overseas service.

RENT UNITS NEAR OKEH

Rent-Subsidy Work Tentatively Approved For $844,341 Grant

The Prestonsburg Ministerial Association may be within a matter of two weeks of final approval of its rent-subsidy housing project.

Tentative approval has been given of a $844,341 FHA grant to finance construction of the 75 housing units planned for the Goble-Roberts Addition vicinity. Final application is slated to be submitted in Louisville next Wednesday, and almost immediate action is expected to be taken.

Lexington architects, McLoney & Tane, will provide plans for the housing complex. Financing of the project will be handled by the Lincoln Mortgage Co., Louisville.

The ministerial association has tentatively contracted with D. H. Holbrook, National Homes representative, for the construction work.

The 75 housing units will be built in the vicinity of the new U. S. Shoe Company plant.

Kin of Shot Victim Held as Perjurer

Ballard Cable, 57-year-old Toler Creek man who has been accused of the slaying of Howard Tackett, was held to $8,000 bail at the conclusion of his examining trial here Friday afternoon, and a brother of Tackett was jailed at the same time on a charge of perjury after he had told varying versions of the May 20 shooting.

Neither has been able to execute bond set by County Judge Henry Stumbo.

William Tackett, officials said, changed his story on different occasions. When first questioned after the death of his brother, he claimed Cable was not at the scene and that he came to the car where Howard Tackett lay wounded, only in response to his call for help. Later, he said he saw Cable fire the shot which killed his brother. At the examining trial he reverted to much of his original story—that Cable was not present and came to the scene only after he had been called to help him. He claimed that he, Cable and Cable's brother, Chester, took the wounded man to a Martin hospital without knowledge his brother had been shot.

Tackett was jailed on the perjury count on motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo. Earlier in the day, he and the two Cables were given polygraph (lie detector) tests. Officials declined to divulge results of these tests but quoted more than one of those given the test as branding the polygraph "a lyin' machine."

The defendant did not testify at the hearing.

The Commonwealth's case rested mainly on the testimony of Mrs. Virginia Stephens, 26, wife of Earl Stephens, who said she saw the shooting. She testified that she lives near Howard Tackett's mother and that her home was in plain view of the shooting scene. Mrs. Stephens told of standing at a window after returning to her home with a bucket of water and saw Howard Tackett sitting in the front seat of the car, the door open and his feet outside. She added that Ballard Cable stood near Tackett, with a pistol pointed at him. She said she saw Tackett then start to rise and pitch forward onto the ground.

Mrs. Stephens was questioned closely by both County Attorney Barkley J. Shurtell and Albert A. Burchett, court-appointed attorney for Cable. She said she did not hear a shot or any conversation between the two men. There apparently was no excitement at the scene, she added.

Chester Cable and the defendant's wife claimed Ballard Cable had come off the hill, near his home, after attempting to fix a flat tire and was in the house when William Tackett called to him for help.

This Town... That World

BULLETIN: Promptly at 4:25 p.m. today (Wednesday) a drought of several hours, was broken.

Wonder if the supply of votes will exceed the demand at the November election, since so few went on the market at the primary?

QUESTION: Is it necessary for candidates to beat their breasts, tear their hair, view with alarm, berate their opponents, generally make jackasses of themselves, and wind up by shelling out scads of hard cash before free citizens get interested enough to vote? We're not going to say all these are required to get the electorate to take time out and go vote; we only remind one and all that there was so little interest in Tuesday's election that you would have had to go to considerable pains to get a decent dog fight started.

GAME CLUBS YET TO VOTE

Report of Floyd Club Approval of Seining Reservoir Erroneous

Neither the Floyd County Fish & Game Club nor the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club has yet voted its approval of continuance of the seining of Dewey Lake for rough fish.

The Floyd County Fish & Game Club pointed out that a statement in The Times last week to the effect that it had approved further seining was erroneous. The Seventh District Wildlife Federation at its meeting May 12 voted to leave the decision to biologists of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources.

Both clubs are expected to take official action soon. Seining of the lake was done a few weeks ago by a commercial fisherman who has a contract with the state. Only carp and catfish were removed. The same arrangement is in effect at several other Kentucky lakes. Troutline fishermen have been vocal in their opposition to seining catfish at Dewey Lake. But if seining were restricted to carp, the operation would not be profitable to the contractor.

Those who favor continuance of the seining argue that the seining does not remove more catfish than the use of rotenone in the lake has killed in the past, and that if the rough fish population of the impoundment is not reduced by seining there is a danger rotenone again will be used, killing fish of all varieties.

Summer Stock Group Turns to Area 'Angels' For Financial Backing

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater, Kentucky Parks' first summer stock musical company, is looking for angels—on earth.

Actually, the task is not as difficult as it seems. The term, "angel," in theater parlance, merely means a backer or a patron, and that is what the Summer Music Theater, located in Jenny Wiley State Park, needs.

What's in it for you besides the wings? A patron ticket that invites you to attend all performances throughout the season. A scroll which will have your name printed in it. A great deal of (See Story No. 6, Page 5)

Raids Net Three As Beer Is Found

One liquor raid Saturday and two, the preceding week, resulted in three arrests after beer was found in defendants' vehicles or on their premises.

Carl Jones was arrested last Friday night by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and deputies at Grethel when 30 quarts of beer were found in his car and home.

Raids last week resulted in the arrest of Elmer Clifton in Prestonsburg after a search of his car uncovered 124 bottles of beer. Forrest D. Hall was arrested at Galveston when 62 cans of beer were found in his auto.

GABLE PICKS FLOYD MAN

Hatcher Is Manager At Jenny Wiley Park, Succeeding Mosley

Samuel R. Hatcher, of Allen, Prestonsburg insurance man, became manager last Thursday of Jenny Wiley State Park.

He succeeds Hugh Mosley, who was discharged early this month. His appointment was confirmed late last Wednesday by Robert Gable, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Parks.

Mr. Hatcher has been in the insurance business here, the last 10 years. At one time he was manager of the Hatcher Hotel which was founded at Pikeville by his relative, Col. James Hatcher, coal operator and landowner. A registered Democrat, he is a brother-in-law of Lawrence Keathley, of Martin, who was Governor Nunn's campaign manager in this county last year.

The new park manager was graduated from the high school department of the old Kentucky Normal College at Louisa at the age of 14. His class was the last conducted by the school's founder, Prof. Walter M. Blyington. He also was graduated from Centre College, Danville, majoring in English and education.

The new park manager is a veteran of World War II, serving (See Story No. 3, Page 5)

Light Vote Ends Dull Campaign

Both Parties Vote Only 4,015 Ballots In Floyd Primary

Kentucky belied its reputation as a hotbed of politics at Tuesday's primary election when one of the nation's dulltest political campaigns ended in what may have been the lightest vote recorded in the state in modern times.

The vote-count gave Katherine Peden, former Kentucky commissioner of commerce, the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, and Marlow W. Cook, Jefferson county judge, the Republican nomination for the Senate post.

Miss Peden easily won over 10 male opponents and one other woman seeking the Democratic nomination. Cook surprised political observers with his strength in rural sections and piled up a bid lead in Louisville to defeat Ex-Congressman Eugene Siler for the G.O.P. nomination.

Although he apparently was running fourth in the Democratic Senate race over the state, native-son Ted Osborn polled an almost 2 to 1 lead over his nearest opponent in Floyd county. In the statewide returns John Y. Brown was runnerup to Miss Peden, with Foster Ockerman in the third spot. Osborn, Brown and Ockerman are all residents of Lexington.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. (See Story No. 1, Page 5)

TWO KILLED IN COLLISION

Kin of Allen Couple Die in Texas Wreck, One Seriously Hurt

A fiery, head-on collision of two automobiles near McKinney, Texas, May 17, cost the lives of two members of an Allen family and resulted in the serious injury of a third.

The dead are George Coffman, 30, Tulsa, Okla., son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Stapleton, of Allen, and his nine-year-old daughter, Michelle Denise.

Mrs. Coffman, the former Linda Stapleton, was seriously injured but is believed recovering at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington.

Mr. Coffman was instantly killed. His daughter was trapped in the flaming wreckage of the family car.

Mr. Coffman was a quality controller for American Airlines at Tulsa. Michelle Denise was the couple's only child. Besides his widow, he is survived by three brothers.

Burial of the father and daughter was made in Lexington cemetery.

Folk Festival To Bring Early Christmas Here

They're going to celebrate Christmas here in June this year.

The people of Prestonsburg exchange gifts on Dec. 25 like most others. But some retain a fondness for Old Christmas, the holiday as it existed hundreds of years ago.

And that is what Prestonsburg will re-create on June 21, the first day of the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival.

Singers will perform Old Christmas carols that the rest of the world has forgotten. Visitors will see Old Christmas dances and hear quaint Old Christmas tales.

Purists may say Old Christmas should be celebrated on Jan. 6, date of the traditional feast of the Epiphany. But festival planners are unconvinced, in the words of one, "as long as Bing Crosby can sing 'White Christmas' year-round."

The Highlands Festival is a platform for mountain folk artists. Their songs, dances and stories reflect a "dead" Anglo-Saxon culture that still thrives in the traditionalist hills and hollows of Appalachia.

Old Christmas is but one example of that heritage. Festival artists also will perform old English, Scotch and Irish dances and songs on June 21. The next day will bring an exhibition of music and dancing indigenous to Appalachia, but based on ancient forms.

The Highlands Festival will conclude June 23 (Sunday) by offering a religious folk drama and an Appalachian version of the Gregorian chant.

All sessions of the festival are to be in the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheater. Friday and Saturday nights, the entertainment begins at 8 p.m. The Sunday session will start at 5 p.m.

Admission will be charged on Friday and Saturday nights, but (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

Former Floyd Woman Is Reported Detained After Child Is Slain

Luranie Prater Johnson, a former resident of the Blue River section of Middle Creek, has been held under observation in a mental institution at Baltimore, Md., since the slaying, a few weeks ago, of her month-old baby, according to a report received here.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of two and expecting a third, reportedly stabbed the child at her home while her husband and an older child watched television in an adjoining room.

ROBINSON RETURNS $4,196.79 IN EXCESS FEES TO COUNTY

County Court Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson this week made his sixth return of excess fees since his election to the office in 1962. He returned $4,196.79, which, he said, brings the total of excess fees returned by him in the last six years to more than $30,000. These fees go directly to the county treasury and not to the state.

Few Industrial Sites?—Allen Area Has Three

When Paul Grubbs, Kentucky commissioner of commerce, commented during a tour of Eastern Kentucky recently that the region is long on desire for new industry but short on industrial sites, he hadn't visited the town of Allen and vicinity.

So when Grubbs later came here for the dedication of the new U. S. Shoe Company plant Slate Representative W. J. Reynolds, a resident of Allen, took the commissioner to look at "new territory."

And he found it—three tracts, level and high and dry, as much as 40 acres in one. Two of the potential sites are at New Allen. The third is on the railroad side of the river, a short distance above Allen.

Since then Grubbs' office has been showing interest in the vicinity. And the Allen Lions Club and others are exploring the possibility of developing through private financing an industrial park there to lure new industry.

Junior Woman's Club Installs New Officers

The Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club held its installation dinner meeting at the Plantation Motel Monday evening.

Mrs. John F. Brown, who has accepted the post of club president for another year, presided.

Guests for the evening were: Mrs. C. C. Lowry, immediate past K.P.W.C. president; Mrs. Joseph Justice, governor of the Seventh district; Mrs. Mary Hene Riffe, sponsor, Prestonsburg Woman's Club, and Patty Marshall, Miss Floyd County, 1968.

Prior to the installation service, which Mrs. Lowry conducted, she spoke on leadership. During the short business meeting Mrs. Brown announced committee chairmen for the new year and presented the Clubwoman of the Year award to Mrs. Marvin E. Music, Jr.

New officers are:

President, Mrs. John F. Brown; first vice-president, Mrs. Jack Stumbo; second vice-president, Mrs. William Rowe; third vice-president, Mrs. Estill L. Carter; recording secretary, Mrs. Tom Herford III; treasurer, Mrs. Ted Hicks.

Mrs. Brown thanked retiring officers for their service this year. The dinner was arranged by Mrs. Richard E. Martin.

The next club event will be the horse show, August 31.

W.D.C. MEETS

Mrs. Rachel Starr was hostess to Greenville Davidson Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, May 24 at the home of her sister, Mrs. F. L. Heinze.

Mrs. Starr, the chaplain, conducted the ritualistic service. Correspondence was read from Susan Jett asking for a report on books given to libraries. Mrs. Sally L. Clark told of the need of wool crecheted or wool squares to be made of bright colors and given to hospitals for amputees. Several made contributions of material and yarn for this project.

Mrs. Tom Fields was instructed to purchase one U.D.C. grave marker. The marker fund is $22.45. Another will be ordered soon.

The president requested members to display flags on Memorial Day, May 30, and Confederate Memorial Day, June 3.

Mrs. Everett Sowards read about the death of George R. Gregg, builder of the Jefferson Davis memorial obelisk at Fairview, Ky., the second tallest concrete monument in the United States under a contract from the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The chapter was informed of the last-known surviving Confederate widow, Mrs. Rachael Lunceford, in Rockcastle county, who receives $50.00 a month. She was married to Mr. Lunceford when she was 16 and he was 62. Another article read was of the unknown Confederate soldier buried at Gray, Maine. The hostess served a dessert course to Mesdames Roy Perry, Tom Fields, George T. Roberts, F. L. Heinze, Everett H. Sowards, Sally L. Clark, Laura S. Nichols, Luther H. Shivel, and a guest, Mrs. G. R. Allen. There will be no further meetings until September.

Nunn Commends KSP For Water Patrol Work

Frankfort, Ky. — The Department of Public Safety and the Division of Kentucky State Police have received the commendation of Gov. Louie B. Nunn for their prompt action on Commissioner W. O. Newman's request that the Division of Boating be abolished.

"The additional responsibilities given to the Kentucky State Police have been accepted and the men who are doing this job are utilizing all their efforts both on highways and waterways of Kentucky to prevent death and tragedy," the Governor said.

During the past three weeks, since the Boating Division was absorbed by KSP, troopers have inspected some 314 boats, of which 78 failed to meet minimum requirements. Items required by Coast Guard regulation include life saving equipment, fire extinguishers, anchors and lights.

A number of arrests have been made on our larger lakes and rivers for violations including speeding, and excessive wake in fishing areas, Commissioner Newman said.

On the state's highways the death rate is no greater than it was one year ago, with 328 fatalities through May 20.

Newman said the effectiveness and efficiency with which enforcement of boating and traffic laws is being done in Kentucky is at an all-time high. Last year, during the month of May, 285 troopers patrolled the highways. This year, even with the 17 men diverted to patrol waterways, 317 troopers are patrolling highways.

The Kentucky State Police will begin to flex their muscles during the month of June when 39 men, who are riding with other troopers because of a shortage of equipment, are issued cruisers. This will bring the number of men patrolling Kentucky highways to an all-time high of 356.

Tentative plans call for strengthening this number by beginning a new cadet class of 45 men on July 1.

Kentucky State Police now have 17 boats in operation on Kentucky waterways, with two more boats used for rescue and dragging operations.

Jennings To Retire, Charles To Assume Power Firm Duties

F. M. Jennings, purchasing and stores director for Kentucky Power Company, will retire in June and will be succeeded by H. F. Charles, assistant purchasing and stores director.

Announcement of the changes was made by Waldo S. La Fon, executive vice-president of Kentucky Power Company.

A native of Huntington, Mr. Jennings attended Marshall University. A veteran of 37 years of continuous service with Kentucky Power, he had seven years' service with Appalachian Power in Huntington, Charleston and Roanoke.

He joined Kentucky Power in 1931 as a storekeeper in the company's Pikeville district. In 1940 he became stores supervisor in Pikeville. He was promoted to purchasing agent for Kentucky Power in June, 1952, when he transferred to Ashland. He was named to his present position of purchasing and stores director in June, 1964.

Mr. Charles is a native of Pike county and a graduate of Phelps high school. After attending Pikeville Junior College, he graduated from Bowling Green Business University, majoring in business administration.

He joined Kentucky Power in Pikeville in 1946 as a clerk in the engineering department. In 1949 he became senior engineering record clerk, and in 1951 was promoted and transferred to Hazard as records supervisor in the engineering department. In August, 1966 he was promoted to assistant purchasing and stores director for the company with offices in Ashland.

Miss Wright Named To Youth Committee

Miss Jane Ellen Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wright, of Prestonsburg, is one of 15 young Kentuckians who have been named to the 1968 Youth Advisory Committee of the Kentucky State Fair.

Members of the committee will work as state employees during the fair, Aug. 15-24. They will meet, earlier in the summer, to consider ideas and suggestions for the fair.

Miss Wright, who recently received the John Graham Chapter, D.A.R., Good Citizenship Award, is valedictorian of the graduating class of Prestonsburg high school.

VISIT IN INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Joe Prater and daughters, Sharon and Tena, drove to Warsaw, Ind. over the week-end to be in a family reunion and enjoy a birthday dinner for Bill and Sharon at the home of Ted Prater. Guests were Billie Joe, Thelma, Sharon, Tena, Ted, Helen, Laura Sue, Ruth Ann, Teddy, Freddie, Eddie, Paul, Loretta, Margie and Delilah Prater. Delilah Prater, who has spent the past eight-months in Indiana, returned home with her son.

CARD OF THANKS

We would express our appreciation to all of our friends, neighbors and relatives who in any way expressed their sympathy upon the passing of Douglas Spurlock. We also would thank the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church and a special thanks to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Breckenridge Frowns on Pay to Ousted Workers

Frankfort, Ky., May 23—Kentucky's treasurer was advised yesterday not to issue checks to some 100 merit system employees who accepted offers of two weeks' pay if they would drop their appeals challenging Highway Commissioner William B. Hazelrigg's right to fire them.

Atty. Gen. John B. Breckenridge, replying to a question from State Treasurer Thelma L. Stovall, asserted:

"If, as it appears, the payments do not represent compensation for legitimate public services actually rendered, they are forbidden by three sections of the Constitution and constitute a specific criminal offense under our statutes."

Declaring that his office "finds no specific authority" for such payments, Breckenridge added, "We earnestly advise you not to honor any warrants for such payments unless and until their legality is established."

Breckenridge and Mrs. Stovall are Democrats. Hazelrigg is a Republican.

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen, a Republican, said he is holding up issuance of warrants for such pay until he can determine if it is legal.

Pay claims must first be approved by the finance commissioner, whose agency prepares warrants directing the state treasurer to issue checks in payment. Both officials are under bond and each is held accountable for any improper expenditure of state funds.

Two weeks ago, Hazelrigg said the offer to give fired state highway workers 10 days' pay if they would drop their merit system appeals would save the state money.

The average worker's payment would be less than $200, Hazelrigg contended, while the costs of legal hearings on appeals before the state Personnel Board could run as high as $750 per case.

Of some 1,700 employees fired since Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn took office last Dec. 12, more than 1,000 were in the Highway Department. About 470 of these were covered by the merit system and could be fired only for stated cause.

Charges were preferred against these, and some 275 appealed their dismissals. Later, the Highway Department sent letters to the fired merit system workers offering to let them resign and draw two weeks' pay, for which the state would drop its charges—provided they withdrew their appeals.

In her letter to the attorney general, Mrs. Stovall said the Personnel Department reported to her that it had processed 100 such signed agreements.

Breckenridge said the arrangement was formalized into a contract in writing between the dismissed employee and Commissioner Hazelrigg.

"The contract form also provides for the tendered resignation of the employee effective 10 working days after the date of his original suspension," Breckenridge noted.

In advising Mrs. Stovall not to honor any warrants for these payments, Breckenridge cited this portion of Section 3 of the Kentucky Constitution:

"... No grant of exclusive, separate public emoluments or privileges shall be made to any man or set of men, except in consideration of public services."

The attorney general said he failed to see how the act of resigning, or relinquishing the legal right to appeal dismissal, is a "public service" in the constitutional sense.

Kathy Bullen, standing, gives some pointers on table-setting to waitresses at May Lodge during a workshop held last week at Jenny Wiley State Park. Sponsored by the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce, the workshop was designed to help motel operators, service station personnel and waitresses give better service to tourists. Miss Bullen is a resource development specialist in family economics for the University of Kentucky's Eastern Kentucky Resource Development Project.

CC-Sponsored Workshop Teaches Tourist Service

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD

Tourists coming into Eastern Kentucky this summer and fall may find accommodations just a little bit better and service people a bit more alert, courteous and informed.

Reason for this speculation? A two-day workshop held here last week at Jenny Wiley State Park. Sponsored by the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, the workshop was for restaurant and motel operators, waitresses, and service station personnel.

Instruction was furnished by Miss Kathy Bullen and Jack Baxter, of the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development team stationed at Quicksand, and included everything from how to meet and greet customer to bed-making and table-setting.

Approximately 40 persons from Floyd and Johnson counties who are engaged in the business of catering to the traveling public were on hand for the two-day event. Using facilities of May Lodge, they participated in various demonstrations and were coached in all the little amenities which are so important in making tourists welcome and in keeping them happy and contented.

Catering to tourists is an art, the service people were told, and little favors and courtesies often mean the difference between business and expanding business. They were also urged to become better acquainted with their communities and areas so as to be able to give short, concise directions on how to get from here to there and to provide information when questioned about the attractions of the area and region.

Mr. Baxter and Miss Bullen, specialists in tourism and family living, plan to do follow-up work on this workshop and will be around frequently to lend further assistance and give advice on problems relative to tourism which is becoming East Kentucky's largest and most interesting industry.

Coal Mining Institute Ladies Night Banquet To Be Held Saturday

The annual Ladies Night banquet of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria.

Lloyd McGarey, secretary of the Institute, announces that the usual custom of awarding door prizes will be continued. These substantial prizes are donated by business men and mine supply companies which serve the Big Sandy area. The dinner will be served by the Prestonsburg Band Parents.

H. C. Mercer, president of the Institute, announced that election of officers for the ensuing year will be held, and urged all members to attend the meeting.

Miss Myrtle Bailey Dies at Age of 40 At Eastern Residence

Miss Myrtle Bailey, 40, died Sunday at her home at Eastern after an illness of several months.

A member of the United Baptist Church for 16 years, she was a daughter of Bill and Lula Patton Bailey, of Eastern.

Survivors, other than her parents, are two brothers, Frank Bailey, address unknown, and Fred Bailey, of Swanton, Ohio, and two sisters, Mrs. Susan Hill, of Hippo, and Mrs. Nellie Parsons, of Holland, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, ministers of the United Baptist Church officiating. Burial was made in the Cooley cemetery at Eastern.

Mrs. Ann Garrett Dies In 65th Year; Funeral Held Monday

Mrs. Ann Banks Garrett, 64, of Water Gap, died Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital. She had been in failing health for some time.

A native of Floyd county, Mrs. Garrett was born Sept. 23, 1903, the daughter of the late Alex and Lou Branham Banks. Her husband, Arthur Garrett, survives.

Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Monday from the Free Will Baptist Church here, the Revs. Jack DeRossett, Charley Rowe and Clifford Austin officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery under the direction of Floyd Funeral Home.

Eastern Biologists In Strip-Mining Study Of Breathitt-Co. Area

Richmond, Ky.—The effects of strip mining on native plants and animals in two watershed areas of Breathitt county are under study by a trio of biologists from Eastern Kentucky University.

Begun this week, the five-year study is being conducted with the permission of the United States Forest Service. Sites of the study are the Leatherwood Creek and Bear Branch watersheds.

Drs. Branley Branson, Donald Batch and Ward Rudersdorf intend to determine which fishes and bottom fauna and what terrestrial flora and fauna exist in the areas, the effect of strip mining on these organisms, the rate and type of recovery.

They will study organisms on the site and back at the Eastern laboratories. They will be aided by graduate students and a few senior students of biology. "Some aspects of this study could be developed into a fine master's thesis," Dr. Branson says.

If bottom fauna is destroyed, Dr. Batch points out, then other forms of wildlife die.

If proper forms of restoration and recovery are employed, says Dr. Rudersdorf, game animals may exist after strip mining in greater numbers than before.

The Breathitt county project is one aspect of Eastern's new program in Wildlife Management, in which a BS is now offered.

Herald-Lawrence

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Herald announce the marriage of their daughter, Dianne, at Coco Beach, Fla., on May 25 to Robert Edward Lawrence II.

The bride is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and she attended Prestonsburg Community College and Eastern Kentucky University. She later trained at the Computer Application Corporation, John P. Kennedy Missile Base, and is now employed by General Electric at Coco Beach.

Mr. Lawrence is a son of Robert Edward Lawrence, Jr., of Austin, Texas. He is a graduate of Florida Institute of Technology. He is employed as a computer programmer at Kennedy Station.

After their return from their honeymoon in Nassau, they will reside at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

Webb-Howell

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Webb, of Risner, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lilian Sue, to Mr. William Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howell, of David, Ky.

The bride-elect is a 1967 graduate of Prestonsburg high school. Mr. Howell attended Mayo State Vocational School, and is now employed at Reynolds Body Shop at Allen.

A June wedding is planned.

No Need To Worry About College Loans, Hunt Tells Students

If Kentucky college students have difficulty in getting loans approved in the next few weeks under the state's Guaranteed Student Loan program, there is no need for worry.

This was the advice given loan applicants last week by Billy F. Hunt, executive secretary of the loan program, who noted the fund is nearly exhausted for this fiscal year.

Hunt said, however, $110,000 in new state money, $10,000 more than was available for this fiscal year, will become available July 1. This alone will guarantee nearly $1 million in loans, Hunt said, in addition to a yet undetermined amount of federal money to be made available.

Since September, 1966, some $4.8 million in loans have been made to 7,264 Kentucky college students. For vocational education purposes, there are 354 loans totaling $267,249. These became available in June, 1967.

The loan program guarantees repayment of loans obtained through private banks and credit unions.

Drunk Driving Test Delay Ruled Out by Governor

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky's "implied consent" law will be implemented without delay, on June 13, Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced last week.

Nunn said he told Public Safety Commissioner William Newman that the law will go into effect to the extent that personnel and breath-testing equipment are available.

Only Jefferson and Fayette counties are expected to be in a position to implement the law until funds are received for additional equipment and personnel.

It had been reported previously that the program would not be implemented immediately because of inadequate funds.

Nunn estimated that $426,360 would be needed for the additional equipment and training personnel to implement the program fully. Half of that cost is being sought in federal matching funds.

The funds being sought will cover the project from June, 1968, to May, 1969.

Under the new law, anyone applying for a driver's license will be deemed to have given his consent to a test to determine the amount of alcohol in his system if he is arrested and charged with drunken driving.

If a motorist refuses to permit a chemical analysis of his blood, breath, urine, or saliva, he would be subject to loss of his driver's license for a maximum of six months.

'We Are In Our 29th Year as a General Motors Dealership in Floyd County'

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(May 18, 1938)

Luther Harris, of Brandy Keg, was electrocuted and killed instantly last Saturday when a battery box cable he was using for blasting dynamite became charged with power from an overhead high tension line... A $2,500 appropriation for the health department, a county audit, license fees for retail liquor dealers and the recommendation of three road projects for construction were voted by the Floyd county fiscal court at its meeting here last Wednesday... Auxier high school students' brief strike, called when they learned the Board of Education had not re-hired John Stewart as teacher, was ended last Thursday as they returned to school after a student committee had conferred here with Superintendent Town Hall... A Floyd county man, wanted here in connection with the slaying of McDowell's police chief, Levi Hall, was captured at Boulder, Colorado, after he was reportedly identified through a photograph published in a national detective magazine... Henry Stambaugh, 19, of Allen, died last week at the Paintsville hospital after his motorcycle collided with an automobile on the Caledonia Pike... The first no-hit softball game of the local season was tossed here Sunday by pitcher Bill Davis, who almost singlehandedly enabled Prestonsburg to defeat Emma, 7-0... Married: Miss Hildred Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Allen, Prestonsburg, and Mr. William H. Shirmacher, Huntington, were married at Ashland Saturday, May 14, by the Rev. Armand Currie in the First Presbyterian Church; Mr. and Mrs. John Ira Gray, of Cynthiana, announce the marriage of their daughter, Martha, to Astor K. Akers, of Harold, April 9, at Berea.

Twenty Years Ago

(May 20, 1948)

Negotiations toward a new soft coal contract broke down completely Wednesday over the issue of Southern mine owners having representation at the parley which started Tuesday in Washington, D. C... Three-year-old Nancy Caudill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Caudill, of Martin, was fatally injured Sunday when a timber struck her in the collapse of the porch of an old building... The long discussed prospect of a county library began taking shape this week as the Mrs. C. R. Stone building was leased by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club and work begun on the building's interior for receiving books sometime this week... Governor Earle Clements announced this week there would be no more reductions in grants to old people, indigent children and the needy blind... Officers throughout the county over the week-end arrested and lodged in the county jail 40 persons on drunk charges... The home of Tandy Spurlock at Printer was destroyed by fire, with all its contents except kitchen furnishings, last week, it was learned here Monday... The Prestonsburg City Council Monday night took its first step toward its announced plan of revising tax assessments upward with the appointment of a tax assessor, Clyde Spurlock... Two Hindman men were killed near Newport News, Va., Saturday when the motorcycle on which they were riding crashed into an automobile at a highway intersection... Among the 94 Kentucky war dead en route to New York from temporary military cemeteries near the battlefields of North Africa, two Floyd countians—Pvt. Adron Justice, of Osborne, and Pvt. Malcolm B. Layne, of Langley—will be received by their next of kin within the next 10 days... Married: The marriage of Miss Joy Sturgill, of Prestonsburg and Hindman, and Mr. Daniel W. Terhune, Westfield, N. J., was solemnized on Saturday, May 8, at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. Cato, New Albany, Indiana... Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allen at the Paintsville hospital, Thursday, a son—Paul Neil... There died: Mrs. Anna Hall, 35 years old, wife of Hasadore Hall, succumbed Thursday, last week, at her home on Dry Creek, to a heart ailment; The Rev. Daniel M. Rowland, of Dingus, Morgan county, died Monday evening at the home of his son, Hugh Rowland, at Dwale; Sylvester Vance, 67 years old, Beaver farmer, died Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital.

Homecoming Notes

By MRS. EDGAR R. MAY

To date, Homecoming news has been without name. Anonymity was preferred because other persons were doing more and harder work. The byline appears today because there was a misunderstanding over last week's Homecoming item, which was written in the colloquial language of the deep south, my former home. Both writers and speakers often employ colloquialisms, for effect. One columnist in the Rowan County News used it for years. The article last week was written in the vernacular to increase interest in Homecoming. It did. The writer herself was the only person to whom its bad grammar could be attributed. It had just one direct quotation, and that was written in English as perfect as one of my limited education could make it. My sincere apologies are hereby extended if anyone was offended.

Someone thought the use of the colloquialisms was intended to reflect on the speech of local people. The Elizabethan speech, purest Anglo-Saxon in existence, of the Scottish and British hills was used here by ancient forebears, centuries ago. But my article last week had in it only one Elizabethan word, and that by accident. My files contain published articles I have written in defense of the people of Eastern Kentucky, time and again, also correspondence last summer

MAYTOWN

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Maytown Woman's Club held its May meeting at Adkins Steak House with Miss Clara Bradley and Miss Billy Joe Patton as hostesses. Mrs. Kenneth Blevins, president, presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Patton read the many responses from colleges and organizations that the club had contributed to this year. Mrs. Blevins assigned club members to different streets in Maytown to assist the workers who will be here for clean-up and beautification week, June 10-14. She asked that anyone having debris to be hauled away to move it beside the street and a truck would be by to get it within the four days. Anyone with any suggestions or problems about their streets should contact Mrs. Blevins or any club member. Flower seeds may be obtained from Mrs. E. R. May, of Warco.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Kenneth Blevins, Mrs. Roland Theodore Gibson, Mrs. Keith Burchett, Mrs. Roy May, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Ed Stewart, Mrs. David Reed, Miss Shirley Bradley, Miss Clara Bradley.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies Aid of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ will have a rummage sale on Saturday and Monday, June 1 and 3, at the old Abigail Theater building, here.

Cox, Musical Director For Jenny Wiley Plays

Paul Cox, music instructor at Meade Memorial and Oil Springs high schools, has been selected for the post of musical director for the three musicals to be performed at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre here.

A native of Paintsville, Cox earned his bachelor's degree at Georgetown College, and his master of music degree from Indiana University, where he also completed much of his work toward a doctorate in music.

Eastern Kentucky audiences will remember him in his portrayal of Bell in Prestonsburg Community College's production of THE FANTASTICKS in the fall of 1967. Since his return from Indiana, Mr. Cox has done solo work with the Big Sandy Community Chorus' presentations of Bach's Christmas Oratorio and, more recently, Brahms' "Requiem." Mr. Cox is also a charter member of the Choral Arts Ensemble, first organized in the spring of 1968, under the direction of John V. Mochnick, music instructor at PCC.

Mr. Cox will be directing the music for FANTASTICKS, THE BOY FRIEND, and HIGH BUTT-TON SHOES.

Tickets for these productions are now on sale. All inquiries should be addressed to Jenny Wiley Drama Association, Box 186, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Martin Helps Unit In Vietnam Service Win Air Force Award

With U. S. Combat Air Forces, Vietnam—Staff Sgt. William J. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berlin Martin, of Dema, Ky., has helped his Air Force Communications Service (AFCS) organization in Vietnam earn the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

A communications specialist, he will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration to mark his affiliation with the 1964th Communications Group that has won the award for a third consecutive year in Vietnam.

The major AFCS unit in Vietnam, the 1964th is headquartered at Tan Son Nhut Air Base and has 10 subordinate squadrons operating throughout the country.

The organization was nominated for the award by General William W. Mormyer, commander of the U. S. Seventh Air Force, Vietnam, for its "Yankee ingenuity" and outstanding proficiency in providing direct communications, navigational aids and air traffic control in the combat zone during a period of greatly expanding tactical operations.

Sgt. Martin has been serving on AFCS duty at Cam Ranh Bay Air Base, Vietnam. He is a graduate of McDowell high school and is married to the former Martha Peth, of Germany.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to thank all our friends and neighbors who assisted us in any way during the extended illness and upon the death of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Byrd Fitch. We especially wish to thank friends for all the beautiful flowers, the food and the acts of kindness that are too numerous to mention, the Merion Funeral Home and the ministers who helped.

Nature Trails By RUFUS M. REED

The 'Cha-Dee-Ling' Bird

James Whitcomb Riley, the poet, once wrote these lines:

There's the song of the lark when the skies are clear, And the song of the thrush when the skies are gray. The wood thrush now often builds its nest in lawn trees, near the dwelling places of man. I believe it is becoming more domesticated than its ancestors were and is adjusting its living habits to the advance of modern civilization.

The fact that the wood thrush has changed its habits and ranging grounds to a great extent over the past 50 years does show that this bird is resourceful, able to adjust its life habits to civilization's advance. It is a good sign that it will not become extinct in the future. Many birds that have been unable to adjust to the encroachment of man on their range have almost become extinct, or at least are exceedingly scarce.

The wood thrush builds its nest usually high up in trees, and uses grass, paper and mud to make it solid and compact when dry. Its eggs are precisely the same color as those of the robin—"robin's egg blue."

NEW MOREHEAD REGENT—Jerry F. Howell (right), Jackson businessman and native of this county, is welcomed to the Morehead State University board of regents by Dr. Adron Doran, president of the University, center, and Dr. William Cartmell, vice-chairman and a member of the board since 1956. Howell, who replaces Paintsville banker D. H. Doran whose term expired, and Cartmell, who was re-appointed to the board for a fourth term by Governor Louie B. Nunn, were sworn in as board members May 1 at the board's regular quarterly meeting.

McDowell Hi Wins Meet in 13 Innings

McDowell high school's Daredevils won the 88th district baseball tournament May 17 by defeating Martin high in a sensational 13-inning contest, 6-5. The winners represented the district in the regional tourney at Morehead, Wednesday of this week.

The two teams had played fine ball in their advance to the finals. McDowell opened against Wheelwright with a 5-1 victory behind the strong pitching of fast-baller Jerry Moore. The Daredevils and Tom Martin picked up an 8-3 victory over the Black Cats of Prestonsburg in the semi-finals. Martin reached the finals by defeating Wayland, 8-6 in a clincher and romped over Betsy Layne, 10-5, in the semi-finals. These games set the stage for one of the greatest high school baseball games ever played in the district tournament.

McDowell went with Jerry Moore on the mound and Martin countered with their ace pitcher, Mike Reitz. Martin led most of the first seven innings but the Daredevils managed to tie the game in the bottom of the seventh (high school baseball goes only seven innings), after having two out and no one on base. With two outs Mike Reitz hit Barry Hall with a pitch. Hall stole second and scored on Jerry Moore's single to right.

Martin took the lead in the top of the ninth after Glennard Pelphrey was safe on a fielder's choice and scored on back-to-back hits by Joe Stumbo and Jackie Crisp.

With one out in the bottom of the ninth Barry Hall was once again hit by a pitch. He stole second and went to third on Jerry Moore's roller toward first. Tom Martin was given an intentional pass, his second of the game, but Sam Meade also made it to first on a walk. With a 0-2 count on Mickey Newsome and two outs, Barry Hall stole home to tie the game in the ninth.

This ended the scoring until the thirteenth when Martin took the lead, 5-4, when leadoff man David Bilster singled and went to third on Mike Lawson's single and an error on the center-fielder. Bilster scored on Pelphrey's grounder which forced Mike Lawson for the first out at second. Then with one out and the bases loaded Crisp flew to shallow right and Steve Anderson grounded to third to end the inning.

Behind 5-4, McDowell's Barry Hall walked to lead off the inning. Mike Lawson came from second base to relieve starter Mike Reitz. Lawson walked Jerry Moore with no outs and Barry Hall on third after he had stolen second and a wild pitch. Moore stole second and Tom Martin was walked by Martin's third pitcher, Jackie Hampton, to load the bases. Barry Hall scored on Sam Meade's grounder which forced Tom Martin at second for the tying run and the first out of the inning. Mickey Newsome, the team's leading batter, walked to put runners on the corners with one out. Stan Ward flew to right field but the runners were forced to hold. Barry Hopkins hit a sharp grounder to the shortstop's left which he knocked down but bobbled, allowing the winning run to cross the plate.

This was an amazing game in that both starters pitched nearly the whole game. Mike Reitz pitched twelve and one-third innings with Jackie Hampton getting credit for 2/3 inning. Reitz left the game as pitcher but came back from centerfield to pitch to the last batter. In 13 1/3 innings Reitz struck out 20 batters for a tournament record. Jerry Moore, McDowell's starter, pitched all 13 innings and struck out 10 batters. The win was Moore's fifth against no losses.

TIDITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Sense and Sentiment

In the many years that I have talked about Fidelity and its citizens I am sure that many of you have concluded that outwardly my neighbors were a hard-hearted set. And if you had known them only superficially, you would have thought so, too. As a child, when I read of the kindness and gentleness of people in the books, I wondered why some of this goodness could not find its way into our little neighborhood. We lacked many of the social graces that seemed to have dignified the age of Queen Victoria, in England and in America. We were rather gruff, we were not especially good-looking, we were somewhat stiff when we tried to be cultured and good-mannered. By the side of the story book people we just were plain rude. No obvious sacrifice of time or health or life itself seemed possible among us. The cold-blooded attempt to live and let live was what we seemed to labor to achieve. And, strange as it seems now, I grew up actually believing this nonsense, actually believing that my neighbors and even my relatives were in no sense sentimental or soft-hearted. It took years of perspective for me to see that even Fidelity, outwardly stolid and harsh, was inwardly warm and kind and lovable.

On Sundays we were challenged to outdo the very apostles in deeds of self-sacrifice, but I cannot remember just now what we were to do. What ever it was, nobody around us ever attained to such self-sacrifice that he was used as an example. All of us were evil, we were cold, far short of what was expected of us. And yet, viewed calmly a half-century later, my own father was literally killing himself right then by riding over a large territory in all sorts of weather as a county doctor, killing himself by overwork and getting no earthly or tangible reward. And every small house in our area contained one or more who were submerging their own selfishness for others. An afflicted child, an aged parent, a bad boy, poverty, misunderstanding on the part of neighbors—what the inconsequential homes must have held of suffering, calm, noiseless suffering that did not speak out because it had no suitable language:

"An infant crying in the night,
An infant crying for the light,
And with no language but a cry."

All of us had enough to eat, enough clothes to warm or cover us. All of us could rest assured that we did not suffer beyond our strength. No man was too poor to be slighted by his neighbors when he was sick and his crops needed working or when his house had burned and he and his family were homeless. These same stolid people, who outwardly looked down on sentimentality as a species of weakness, rose to the occasion when some one lacked. Food, clothes, medical aid, care of the sick, even the tending and rearing of orphaned children—these were of such common occurrence that we failed to see how heroic they were.

Elsewhere I have told, and truthfully, how the old Watson girls were kept up by the neighborhood as long as they lived rather than allow them to go to the poorhouse. For years they lived up the creek after their old father died, in the little house where the three old maids had been born and reared. Neighbors saw that they had food and wood and medical attention until the very last one died of old age. And no one dreamed that this was anything but the most ordinary occurrence. And the sternest father of the neighborhood, and my own could have qualified for this unenviable position, could lumber up at Christmas and see that his own and other children felt for a day or more the strange, mysterious call to the spirit that every Christmas brings. People may have been hard and cold on the surface, but within they had warm hearts, even warmer than they or others suspected.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this means of thanking every one who helped in any way upon the passing of Ollie Hall. We would give special thanks to all the friends and neighbors who brought food and flowers; to the minister, Rev. William Burke, and to the Merion Funeral Home.

Honorary Degrees Slated For Perkins, Ex-Governor At June 2 Commencement

Former Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt will be Pikeville College's commencement speaker Sunday, June 2, at 3 p.m. in the college gymnasium.

Breathitt, whose family has a long record of public service in Kentucky, received one of the Lincoln Key Awards for his leadership in passage of the state Civil Rights Bill; received for Kentucky the top award of the Society of Industrial Investors for having the best 1964 industrial development program; received the Midwest Travel Writers Association's top national award for 1965's best job of travel promotion; and in 1964 at the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City, he was accorded wide recognition for his spirited speech in seconding the nomination of Lyndon B. Johnson for President of the United States.

Breathitt will be awarded the honorary Doctor-of-Letters degree during commencement exercises.

Seventh district Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who is chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, and the Rev. Joseph P. Bishop, pastor of the Rye Presbyterian Church of New York, will also be awarded honorary degrees.

Last year, Congressman Perkins became chairman of the important House Education and Labor Committee. He has been instrumental in the passage of bills in Congress which provides for loans, grants, and other forms of financial aid to students and school systems, and is responsible in large measure for such programs as the National Defense Student Loan program, the Educational Opportunity Grant Program, the Work-Study Program and others.

In 1967, he was designated as Kentucky's "Man of the Year" and was cited for his work and service in the field of education and aid to under developed areas.

Perkins will receive the honorary Doctor-of-Humane Letters degree.

The Rev. Bishop, who will receive the honorary Doctor-of-Divinity degree, was graduated

The youngsters here shown are pupils of the Prestonsburg and Clark elementary schools who have participated this year in a new string music program initiated by the Fine Arts department of the Prestonsburg Community College. The photo was taken during the group's last concert of the season, given at the Clark school.

The program was begun in the two schools with the hope of eventually having an orchestra composed of high school pupils of the area. Instructors from the college have been going to the two schools to instruct and train the pupils. Twenty-six grade schoolers participated.

The college hopes to expand the program to reach other schools, even some outside the county. The new music venture was spearheaded by Gus Kalos, chairman of the college Fine Arts department.

He commended parents for their cooperation in the music program and their investment in instruments. When the parents of pupils were not financially able to provide instruments for their children, the college bore the expense.

Island Creek Working On Virginia Development

Island Creek Coal Company announced recently that it has begun development work necessary for construction of a fourth mine in its large reserves of metallurgical quality Pocahontas coal located in Buchanan county, Va. The plant site has been cleared and drilling for shaft grouting has begun.

The new mine, to be called Virginia Pocahontas No. 3, will have a planned capacity of two million tons annually, the same as the other three mines working in these reserves.

Island Creek has more than a half billion tons of superior quality Pocahontas No. 3 seam metallurgical coal in its Virginia holdings, sufficient to support six two-million ton annual capacity mines. The first mine to tap these reserves is a joint venture with Republic Steel Corporation and is known as the Beatrice Mine, production from which began in 1964. The coal found ready acceptance by steel companies here and abroad and the second mine, Virginia Pocahontas No. 1, was started in 1965, with initial production beginning in 1967. The third mine, Virginia Pocahontas No. 2, is a joint venture with Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation. It will begin producing late this year, achieving full capacity in 1971.

Coal from all four mines will be identical in mineral and carbonizing characteristics and is marketed under the trade name VIRGINIA POCOHONTAS. It is extremely low in ash and sulphur, which makes it valuable for use in by-product coke ovens of steel producing plants.

MARTIN

By BETTY PREFLATISH

Ottie Lester and his sister, Etta Martin, and fiancée, Howard Hobbs, of Dayton, Ohio, were at home this week for the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Byrd Fitch.

Most Rev. Richard Ackerman, bishop of Covington, administered the Sacrament of Confirmation on the following children: Maria Bradley, Kathy Everage, Sharon Gayle Preflatish and Teresa Louise Preflatish. He was assisted by Rev. Leo Frankrone, pastor of St. Juliana Church, Rev. William Poole, pastor of St. Michael Mission Center, Rev. John Rolf, of Covington, Rev. Roger Chunta, of Pikeville, and Father Ferrell, of Hazard. Mrs. James Lewis, of Drift, was Teresa's sponsor, Mrs. Helen Bradley was Sharon's, Duna Combs was Kathy's and Mrs. R. S. Bernardi was Maria's. After confirmation the bishop and all present were served punch and cake in the parish hall, Bill Ackerman, of Prestonsburg, and Jerry Herrman, of Paintsville, were among the out-of-town people who attended and the altar boys were from Paintsville, assisted by the boys from Martin, Joe and Robert Dermont and Steven Lee Preflatish.

Mrs. David Marrs, Sr., of Martin, has returned home after spending her vacation in Florida with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Marrs. Prof. Jerry Krister, of Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, who attends Mass here, had as a guest Sunday his brother, Bob Krister.

Harry Preflatish and sons, Steven Lee and Mark Joseph, visited Robert Ramier's Gun Shop in Prestonsburg, Sunday. Steven Lee had spent the preceding night with his friend, Kenneth Manns, near Allen.

The Church of God on Old Postoffice Street is holding a revival.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Music and son Tony, of Frankfort, spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. C. Dingus. Mr. Music also visited relatives in Prestonsburg.

HONORED AT DINNER

Warsaw, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Justice and children, Chuckie and Tracy, of Warsaw, Ind., formerly of Martin, were honored recently at a carry-in dinner held at the home of Mr. Justice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Justice. Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lawshe and Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. David Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Justice and children, Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hughes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Delano Ousley and children, Miss June Lemler and Mrs. Lavina Dykes. Mr. and Mrs. Justice and children will be moving, June 1, to Evansville, Ind., where he is being transferred by his company.

Howell-Jenkins

The open church wedding of Miss Anna Rose Howell, daughter of Mrs. Kinnel Mosley, of Wheelwright, to Mr. William Lester Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walker E. Jenkins, Detroit, Michigan, will be solemnized Saturday, June 1 at 7 p.m., from the Lambert Baptist Church at Hi Hat. The pastor, the Rev. Harve Johnson will officiate.

A reception will be held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

Three Floyd Students Recognized Recently At ALC Convocation

Three students from Floyd county—Robert Damron, of Ivel, Shannon Bailey, of Orkney, and Miss Nadine Keathley, of Galveston—were among Alice Lloyd College students singled out for honors at a special convocation last Thursday.

Damron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Damron, was awarded special recognition for his backstage work with the college drama productions. In presenting the award, ALC drama instructor John Callahan said Damron's work with props, sets, costumes, sound effects, lightning, and makeup was invaluable to both plays presented during the year, "Oberley's Aunt" and "Antique."

Miss Nadine Keathley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Keathley, of Galveston, and Shannon Bailey, son of Mrs. Viola Bailey, of Orkney, were recognized for their exceptional work on the college yearbook, "The Torch."

The Arthur Haywood family of Wayland wish to express their sincere gratitude to all the neighbors and friends for the sympathy they expressed during our time of bereavement. The many kind deeds expressed by friends will linger forever in our memories.

How Many Winters?

Winter, as identified on the calendar, is past, but Kentucky—particularly, our section of the state—has a whole passel of other cool periods which are identified as "winters." How many there are of these may not be definitely known, but two have passed—Redbud and Dogwood winters. Yet to come are the others—Blackberry, Elderberry, and so on, you name 'em.

Such is the infinite variety of Kentucky weather. Build to meet the changing seasons and all their demands for protection from cold and heat, rain and snow.

The Slaughter of the Innocent

Now that the wild animals have come out of their winter quarters and many are venturing onto the highways, the great slaughter has begun. It will continue unabated all during the spring and summer and late fall, when they will return to some safe place to spend the winter. The slaughter of so much wild life by speeding cars is appalling; it is a serious waste of life. It is destined to grow worse as more super-highways and faster cars are built.

There seems not much solution to the problem. Cars speed through rural areas and wooded sections where there is wild life venturing across the highways and there is a heavy toll of dead, maimed, crippled animals. Many are left cruelly maimed and must lie in agony in the hot sun until merciful death comes.

It seems the most frequent victims of speeding cars are young rabbits, young opossums, toads, box turtles, deer, birds and often coons and squirrels.

It is to be regretted that cars are killing so many toads. We need all the toads to help in our fight against insect pests. It has been estimated that each toad is worth on the average of $25 per season to the farmer and gardener. It is a bad loss to find so many of them crushed to death on the highways. They are too slow to dodge the wheels. Many are crippled and left to die in agony. The other day, I found a large brown hoptoad sitting on a concrete bridge in the lane of traffic. I knew he would soon be crushed by a car, so I took a stick and tried to make him hop off the bridge. But he wouldn't move and blinked his gold eyes at me as if in great pain. When I examined him, I saw that one of his hind legs had been hopelessly crushed by a car and he couldn't hop. I picked him up gently and carried him to a safe place. Yet I knew he was doomed to die of starvation, because with a crushed hind leg he couldn't hop about to find insects to eat. I racked my brain to think of some way to help the injured toad, but I couldn't see any. After about two hours, I went back to see about the toad, and he had crawled a distance of about six feet. But how could he find enough food to survive with one leg dragging?

Many birds are struck and killed by speeding cars. A man lifted the hood of his car and found an indigo bunting stuck to the engine. He didn't even know he had killed the bird. Another man found a warbler under the hood. Many birds are killed outright.

Quails seem to be smarter than other birds about crossing a busy highway. They run across it as fast as they can, and if there is a culvert or drain pipe handy, they will go through it to escape the cars.

Perhaps there is in man a sadistic streak that delights in the killing of innocent creatures. But when they are all killed, where will man find his pleasure in killing life?

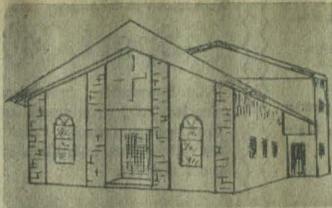

Young opossums, slow-moving animals, seem to be the worst victims. Many young rabbits are also killed. Sometimes at night, coons are killed by cars; skunks are also frequent victims. Where there are herds of deer, they often venture on the highways and many are injured or killed. In some areas of abundant wild life, the conservation departments put up reflectors, which keep the glare of the headlights out of the animals' eyes. Light blinds animals, often causing them to jump in front of speeding cars.

Our wild life is fast dwindling and, unless we take strenuous measures to save it from slaughter on the highways, there'll soon be little left to see and enjoy. The highway departments should put up signs in wooded areas where animals often cross highways, to warn the motorists to slow down and keep an eye open for animals. Also, fences should be built in many areas heavily populated by animals, to keep them off the highways.

The slaughter of domestic animals leads the list, of course, with dogs at the top. Motorists seldom stop after hitting a dog, and never realize they may have killed someone's pet. Many never know about the tragedy they leave behind. The other day, I saw a three-legged dog; one of its legs had been so badly crushed by a car, it had to be amputated. But there is no vet to amputate the crushed legs of the wild animals struck and mangled by cars.

I appeal to the motorist to drive carefully and watch out for wildlife venturing on highways. Many deaths could be avoided by using care. Some motorists do not seem to care how many things they kill. Once I was riding in a car with a man when we saw a young groundhog on the highway. Instead of giving it a chance to get across safely, he did his best to kill it with the car wheels.

Martin News Notes

By Betty Preflatish

Rev. Richard Ackerman, bishop of the Diocese of Covington, and Rev. John Roly spent Tuesday night in Martin. Wednesday afternoon, Bishop Ackerman administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to several young people and a few adults at Our Lady of the Mountains Academy in Paintsville. He was assisted by Rev. John Roly, Rev. William Peole, pastor of St. Michael Mission Center, and Rev. H. Bergerson. Among the adults to be confirmed was Mrs. Mary Belle Caudill, of Orkney. Betty Preflatish was her sponsor.

Charles William Hunter, of Cincinnati, is the guest here this week of his aunt, Mrs. Joyce Dermont.

Mrs. Annette Vannucci and Mrs. Peggy Rector attended a bridal shower honoring Brenda Combs at Wayland, Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Sharon Combs.

Dr. Joe Taylor Hyden has moved his offices from Main street to a suite of offices on the second floor of the Beaver Valley hospital.

Mrs. Jennie Osborne, of Circleville, Ohio, is the guest here of her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Adams.

Several friends gave a shower for Mrs. Rita Sue Jenkins at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Cea Blitter, last week. Friends enjoyed refreshments and played games. Mrs. Jenkins received many useful gifts. She is the former Rita Sue Osborne.

Ira Willard Eden and wife, of Columbus, Ohio, are the guests here of his cousin, Mrs. Joan McCallister, and family.

The trend is clear!

More than 3 million American homes are heated electrically. The Federal Power Commission forecasts 19 million families will convert to or build electrically heated homes within just 12 years! Why?

Ben Franklin's stoves sold like hotcakes because they were more efficient than an open fire. The pot bellied stove was replaced by central heating systems. Today's big home-heating trend is another vast improvement... flameless electric... because it offers such a wide choice of systems and so many more advantages that it makes other methods of heating seem clumsy and old-fashioned. More convenient, more comfortable, more versatile, electric heat gives you more for your money. And you can enjoy it now, in your present house. Any home can be converted to clean electric heat, easily and economically. Let us prove it. Call us... or mail this coupon.

Family Not Enough Indian To Share in Tribal Gold

By HENRY P. SCALF

The Sizemore families of America may or may not be descendants of an Indian progenitor but the tradition that they are has persisted for two centuries, perhaps longer.

The various families, scattered over many states, believed they were to the extent that 2,000 Sizemores filed claims in the 1890's for themselves and for a total of 5,000 individuals for a share in Eastern Cherokee money in Oklahoma. Their claims seemed valid enough for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to send an investigator into four states to determine their eligibility to be admitted to the Cherokee rolls.

The tradition, vocal and affirmative since the days of the Revolutionary War, had its origin back in the mountain country of Eastern Tennessee and Western North Carolina. Down through the years it passed until today it is persistent as ever.

Family historians have noted it, and present-day researchers are devoting long hours to probing the past to find, if possible, some tangible evidence of Indian blood. One of these is a prominent Florida attorney, who after years of research writes that "I am hot on the trail of the Sizemore Indian matter and expect concrete results in the near future."

Jackson Begley, Floyd county genealogist, notes the tradition in his book, "The Allens, Mays, and Begleys." Begley's version of the tradition is romantic. Let him tell it in his own words:

"Bill Begley, born sometime between 1770 and 1780, married Winnie Sizemore, who, it was said, was the daughter of a pure-blood Cherokee Indian . . . In the early years when Kentucky was being settled by immigrants from Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, a crowd of immigrants from either North Carolina or Tennessee headed by a man named Cornett reached the Tennessee River on evening, late. They decided to wait until morning to cross the river, so they made camp. They had all of their equipment, wives, and children, and cooked and ate supper. While sitting around, not expecting any trouble, Indians dashed into their camps and seized two white girls and took them off before the whites could retaliate but three of the white men saddled their mounts and went after them, following the trail until late in the night before they spied the light of the Indian campfire.

"The Indians had not expected the whites to follow them, so the three white men advanced as near the Indians' camp as they could without making any disturbance. They got near enough for each to make a dash and pick up a girl and get away. They got away without a fight but when they got back to camp they discovered they had not only the two white girls but they also had a little Indian girl. The next morning they crossed the river and had a discussion as to what they were going to do with the Indian girl. They decided that Cornett should take and raise her and he did raise her to womanhood and she married a man by name of Sizemore. There is no doubt but this is the way the Begleys and many other families got their Indian blood."

The chronicler, Begley, failed to state why the rescuing whites were so obtuse as to not notice that they had three instead of two girls. However, the tradition as he relates it, was merely an obscure one, garnished and interwoven by pioneers around their firesides and it has no historical significance. The actual genesis of the Sizemore Indian blood was much earlier than Begley states. It was current 50 years earlier, perhaps earlier than that.

One of the most difficult of historical research chores is to run down a tradition but the Bureau of Indian Affairs tried in the 1890's. The Eastern Cherokee Indians, having been driven from their homes in Tennessee, North Carolina and Alabama by the enforced treaty of 1835, were being allotted desirable lands and money in Indian Territory. The Sizemores of several states, agitated by a few leaders, wanted a share.

The Sizemores claimed that they descended from Dr. Johnny Gourd Sizemore, an herbalist, who lived on Blackwater Creek on the Clinch River near the Lee county, Va., line. He was a full-blood Indian, they said. He dug herbs, concocted bitters and other medicines for the pioneer settlers. He acted more like an Indian than he looked. He let his hair grow down to the shoulders and his whiskers down on his breast. The only time he had his hair cut or changed his clothes was when he visited some of the other Sizemores. They cut his hair, shaved off his whiskers and beard. Water and new clothes made a new man of him. "You don't look like an Indian," they said, observing his white skin and physiognomy. "I belong to the white-complexioned Indians," he would reply.

We are indebted to the report of Quoin Miller, investigator for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, for an exposition of the Sizemore tradition of Indian blood. Miller travelled to North Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia, trying his best to find some concrete basis for the tradition. Dr. Johnny Gourd had been dead for decades when Miller interviewed the elderly Sizemores. So had his brothers, Ned and Joseph. Dr. Johnny Gourd had died at the home of Isom Sizemore at Pilot Mountain, Stokes county, N. C. All three had been born in Halifax county, Va., between 1740 and 1760. All three were of Indian blood, the claimants said, but to what degree nobody knew. It was believed they were one-half. All three, Dr. Johnny Gourd, Ned (Edward) and Joseph, seemed to have been in South Carolina for a while. Ned may have been born in that state.

One claimant testified to Miller that Ned Sizemore had been "duly enrolled upon the rolls of the Cherokee Nation, taken and made in the year 1748 in the Catawba Reservation." William H. Blevins, prominent among the claimants and who was credited with initiating the Sizemore claims, testified, "I remember one Elisha Blevins who said that old Ned Sizemore came from the Catawba River or the Catawba Reservation, as he called it." This was getting Ned Sizemore too far away to make him Cherokee, Miller surmised, granting that he was of Indian blood.

Several other family claimants besides the Sizemores, tried to prove their Indian blood through a Sizemore progenitor. These were Kings, Bennetts, Lockwoods, Harrises, Porters, Pettys and others. Tandy Bennett was interviewed by Miller at Pilot Mountain, and said:

"I am 67 years old and have Indian blood in me through my mother, who was a Sizemore. My mother died in 1898 at the age of 82. She was born in Halifax county and she got her Indian blood through her father, Joseph Sizemore. He must have come to Stokes county about 1821 or 1823 but Dr. Johnny Gourd came out here several years before he did. Dr. Johnny Gourd died and was buried in Stokes county. I have seen him thousands of times, when he was a very old man. He resembled an Indian, right smart. Joseph Sizemore was pretty dark-skinned but he passed as a white man. I know that they have been called Cherokees. When people would get mad they would call them Cherokee Indians. They would not like it very well. I have been called a Cherokee myself."

Quoin Miller kept trying to pin down this will-o-wisp tradition. He went to Wilkesboro, Yadkinville, East Bend, N. C., and numerous other places. Always, he heard the same story: Yes, the Sizemore descendants were part Indian but to what degree nobody knew. The deponents had heard it all their lives. Miller went into Alabama, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia. He heard the same vague, obscure traditions he had heard in North Carolina. He went back to North Carolina, interviewed David Tucker, at Weasels. Tucker said he was not a claimant but that he knew Ned Sizemore. He was an old man when he knew him, Tucker said. Ned Sizemore always claimed to be a Cherokee Indian. Ned was a preacher and spoke English "very well." He did not "show any signs of white blood."

The Bureau's investigator, having interviewed eighty of witnesses, wrote a report at Saratoga, Wyoming.

"While it seems certain that there has been a tradition in this family that they had a certain degree of Indian blood the testimony is entirely too indefinite to establish a connection with the Eastern Cherokee Indian at the time of the Treaty of 1835. The locality where these claimants and their ancestors are shown to have been living from a period considerably prior to 1800 up to the present time is a territory that, during this time, had not been frequented by Cherokee Indians. It is a region much more likely to have been occupied by Indians from Virginia or by the Catawba Indians who ranged from South Carolina up through North Carolina into Virginia. It is also significant that the name of Sizemore does not appear upon any of the Cherokee rolls. For the foregoing reasons all of these Sizemore claims have been rejected."

However, the conclusion of Quoin Miller, to the contrary, did not affect the Sizemore Indian blood tradition one bit. There are thousands of Sizemores today who will affirm that they are part Indian. Thousands of Sizemore family descendants in the states of North Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, claimed in the 1890's they were part Indian through Dr. Johnny Gourd, Ned and Joseph Sizemore. There are hundreds in Eastern Kentucky who claim they are part Indian through Golden (or Gouldin) Hawk Sizemore, Floyd-Knott county settler.

Whether Dr. Johnny Gourd, Gouldin Hawk or whoever is named as the Indian progenitor of the clan, it proves nothing unless it is that a romantic tradition will always refuse to die.

Heilsberg To Play Leading Roles in 3 Amphitheater Plays

Gary Joe Heilsberg, formerly of the Carriage House Players in Louisville, and now instructor of drama at Lees Junior College, Jackson, Ky., has been hired by the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater to do principal roles in the three musicals slated for this season's production schedule.

Mr. Heilsberg, who is originally from Spokane, Wash., has acted professionally for several years in St. Louis, Kansas City, and Baltimore. He has toured with the American Repertory Theater of Burbank, California.

Mr. Heilsberg will play the role of Hucklebee in THE PANTASTICKS, the part of Percival Browne in THE BOY FRIEND, and Harrison Floy in HIGH BUT-TON SHOES.

Tickets for all shows are now available and may be procured by writing to the Jenny Wiley Drama Association, Box 136, Prestonsburg. Also available are season passes and patron tickets which entitle the holder and his family to attend all performances during the season.

The scheduled opening is Thursday night, June 27, with a performance of THE PANTASTICKS. The shows will be directed by Sam Bittman, instructor at Prestonsburg Community College.

There are 68 parks comprising approximately 7,500 acres of publicly-owned parkland in the Louisville metropolitan area.

13 Floyd County Students Among 44 Honored at ALC

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Forty-four of its students, who are completing the academic year with an average of B or better, were honored by Alice Lloyd College at a banquet May 22 at the college dining hall.

Included in those recognized for their superior records were 13 from Floyd county.

ALC instructor in music Abner H. Greider saluted the students' achievement, and commended them for the maturity they demonstrated in putting good scholarship above other activities and interests.

Special speaker for the banquet was James L. O'Sullivan, a member of the U. S. State Department, and a visiting professor at the University of Louisville.

ALC honor students from Floyd county are Gary Adkins, Ponzo Akers, Jane Burke, Claude Conway, Jeffery Frazier, Carolyn Gearheart, Glenda McCown, Jane Mosley, Deanna Newsome, Nickey Ray Osborne, Chuck Smallwood, Rhonda T. Smith, and Lorene Vanderpool.

The wedding will be in June.

Luke P. Blackburn was the only physician to ever hold the office of governor of Kentucky. He served from 1879-83.

Now. A car with a computer in it.

Every Volkswagen Squareback now comes with a computer.

It looks like a box, about a foot wide, and is connected to the engine in 9 places. Let us explain. (Or try to.)

The Volkswagen Squareback is one of the few cars in the world with a fuel injection system.

A computer was designed to control this system. To think for it.

For instance, the computer can actually figure engine speed, engine load and engine temperature.

Then send precise amounts of fuel and air to each cylinder.

Fuel waste decreases; mileage increases. And you'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.

What you won't get are carburetor problems. There is no carburetor. Nothing to adjust, nothing to clean, nothing to ice.

Only the VW Squareback (and its sister car, the Fastback) has a fuel injection system and a thinking computer.

Volkswagens always made sense. Now they have sense.

KEA Strike Policy Adopted by Board

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) board of directors has adopted a position statement on work stoppages and strikes "for guidance of the KEA staff when crises develop in school districts."

"This is the position of the board only and is adopted for staff guidance," Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, explained. "It is the board's intent to present it to the KEA membership and the Delegate Assembly (KEA policy-making body) as a possible basis for an official KEA policy that will be binding on all KEA members."

"In the interim, however, the members of the board hope that the policy will serve as a guide in the event that conflicts arise in a school district," Dodson said.

The policy, developed by a four-member committee from the KEA board.

The teaching profession has as its ultimate aim providing the best education for all the children of the Commonwealth. It is a professional commitment and a public trust. Boards of education have the same aim and share the same trust.

The KEA calls upon local boards of education in all school districts to recognize their identity of interest with the teaching profession. The KEA further calls upon local boards and members of the profession to comply with KRS 161.760: (1) Each board of education shall cause notice to be given annually not later than July 1 to each teacher who holds a contract valid for the succeeding school year, stating the best estimate as to the salary to be paid such teacher during each year . . . All teachers who refuse assignment shall notify the superintendent in writing not later than July 15.

The KEA insists on the right of professional associations, through their representatives, using professional channels, to participate with boards of education in the formulation of policies of common concern, including salary and other conditions of professional service.

The KEA reaffirms its commitment to professional employment practices as stated in Principle IV of the Code of Ethics of the Education Profession: "We regard the employment agreement as a solemn pledge to be executed both in spirit and in fact in a manner consistent with the highest ideals of professional service. . . . In fulfilling our obligations to professional employment practices, . . . we adhere

Alice Lloyd College Trustees Vote Record Budget for Two Years

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Trustees of Alice Lloyd College approved the largest budget in the two-year college's 44-year history at their semi-annual meeting May 18 in Lexington.

A total of $955,300 was voted as operating expenses for the 1968-69 academic year. This is an increase of $185,300 over the previous year's budgeted expenditures. Significant increases were approved in the areas of library operation, plant operation and maintenance, and classroom instruction. Spending for classroom instruction, which includes guidance counseling and student activities, was expanded from $275,000 to a record $311,500.

Alice Lloyd President William S. Hayes said the major cost of the college's expanding program of education for leadership and service will be provided by private citizens, businesses, and foundations. "With their generous support," he said, "ALC will continue to make a quality program available to the dedicated youth of Appalachia."

to the conditions of a contract or to the terms of an appointment until either has been terminated legally or by mutual consent."

The KEA discourages the withholding of services, work stoppages, and strikes when all the terms of the individuals' contracts are being honored by the parties concerned. However, under conditions of severe stress causing deterioration in an educational program, the association should follow procedures such as mediation, fact finding, arbitration, and political action.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED
Mr. and Mrs. Reese Terry, Jr., of Miami, Fla., announce the birth of a daughter, Angela Elaine, May 10, at the North Miami General hospital. She is the couple's first child. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Maggard, of Lexington, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Reese Terry, Sr., of Mt. Sterling. Mrs. Terry is the former Linda Maggard, of Maytown.

Day Camping Offered At Park This Summer

Girl Scouts of Prestonsburg, Allen and David will be given an opportunity to camp by the day this summer at Archer Park here.

Mrs. Robert Blackledge, director of the camp, said the event slated for the week of June 24-28 will be open to girls who are not Scouts as well as for Girl Scouts. Mrs. Blackledge said, "We hope the camp experience will encourage girls who are not Scouts to want to join our organization."

Girls who attend the day camp will participate in all camp activities other than overnight camping.

Registration for the event is set for Saturday, May 25, at the First Presbyterian Church here, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon.
