

Opinion Says '72 Officers To Act

Poll Commission Split on Naming Of Pct. Officials

To name new election officers or not to name—that is the unpoetic question that may or not be answered to everybody's satisfaction within the week.

Two assistants in the office of Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock have rendered oral opinions, transmitted to members of the Floyd election commission by telephone, to the effect that the new state election law prevails and that the precinct officers appointed for last year's November general election will serve at the May 29 primary.

Both Assistant Atty. Gen. Herdman and Asst. Atty. Gen. Runyon said on separate occasions that although the new law did not become effective till Dec. 1, 1972, precinct officers appointed last September or October for the 1972 general election are legally constituted to serve at this year's primary.

Gorman Collins, Republican member of the county election commission, contends, however, that this is legalizing appointment of officers for a term of one year, despite the fact that their appointment was made prior to the effective date of the law. "You can't make a law that is retroactive," Collins contends.

The 1972 general election officer list was submitted last Sept. 20, and that, incidentally, is the deadline for the naming of election officers each year under the new election law.

Mr. Collins said late last week that he has submitted his (the Republican) list of election officers to Sheriff Frank Leslie, ex-officio member of the commission, and that he will insist the Republican officers be selected from that list.

The county has the required four members of the election commission (See Story 2, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Hit-Run Counts Name Williams

Two hit-run charges were lodged against Edgar "Blackie" Williams, early last week, after he allegedly had struck as many automobiles with his truck on Little Mud Creek and left the scene of the accidents.

Williams was jailed by State Troopers Phillip Tucker and Danny Stumbo. He was accused of hitting the autos of Ernel Hunter and Cleodas Hall.

Harold Bruce was jailed Friday by Deputy Sheriff Howell on a charge of possessing alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale. He was booked in Magistrate Eddie Caudill's court.

Gaynell McKenzie, who had been sentenced to a one-year jail term by the Johnson circuit court, was brought to the county jail here Friday to stay her term. Others booked at the jail within the week, charges against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Charlie Bee Hanson, drunk driving, by State Trooper Estep; Bill Howell, Army desertion, by FBI Agent Sheets; Charlie Jarrell, assault and battery with an automobile, by Trooper Williams; Ernest Boyd, violation of KRS 477.110 (accused by Charley Jarrell of banding with two others to inflict injury on him), by State Trooper Williams; Carvel Brewer, improper registration plates, by State Trooper Dannie Williamson; Jackie D. Endicott, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Trooper Leeman Bevins; Benjamin Berardi, drunk driving, by State Trooper Newsome; Carlos Hall and Ted Keathley, each charged with drunk driving and no operator's license, both arrested by Troopers Bevins and Tucker; Elzie M. Harless, drunk driving and no operator's license, by Trooper Bevins; Ronald Elliott, drunk driving, by Trooper Estep; Ray Clifton and Elzie W. Harless, drunk driving, both arrested by Policemen Woods and Potter of Prestonsburg.

Two Judges Resign Patronage Positions

County Judge Henry Stumbo said last week that he and Circuit Judge Hollie Conley have resigned the responsibility of handling patronage in this county for the state administration.

Judge Stumbo said he and Judge Conley accepted the patronage responsibility early in the Ford administration but only temporarily.

County Attorney James R. Allen was recommended for the post, and State Democratic Chairman J. R. Miller later indicated that Allen is acceptable.

One Paragraph—Two Errors

Two errors were made in one paragraph of last week's Times.

One mistake was made when we listed Irvin Shepherd as having been fined in circuit court for drunk driving. The name should have been Irvin Slone. The other was made when Martin Frasure was listed as having been convicted of shooting and wounding. He was convicted of striking and wounding with intent to kill.

City Allocates 'Sharing' Funds

The city of Prestonsburg has prepared for filing with the Office of Revenue Sharing the allocations it has made during the six-month period, Jan. 1 to June 30, of the $50,236 in revenue sharing funds recently allotted the city.

Largest single expenditure will be made for a refuse packer for the sanitation department. The amount allocated for this equipment is $13,480.

For environmental control (cleaning of lots, etc.) $10,000 has been earmarked, and the same amount has been assigned toward construction of a new municipal building.

Archer Park will get $5,755 of the total. This will be divided into $2,840 for resurfacing tennis and basketball courts, $508 for a chain link fence around the new training pool, $1,426 for camping area landscaping, and $891 for a large space slide for the playground area.

Miss Godsey Crowned Floyd Music Fest Queen

This Town . . . That World

It doesn't look to be any worse at this time Tuesday than at the same hour last week. We don't seem to be losing any ground, and in my book that's progress, these days. Hang on, you-all.

BELATED INFORMATION

It was something of a shock to read in the morning paper the scientific report that huge solar flares bombarded the earth during the first week of last August. Now they tell me that what I saw last summer was a flare from the sun. And I thought my doctor was right when he said it was my liver.

JEWEL OF CONSISTENCY

There is a bit of constancy left in the world. Spring may be out of joint; men who won't walk a block on earth will fly to the moon to bounce along in cumbersome gear; you may see, any day now, a rabbit in hot pursuit of a dog. But not everything is changed. "Snooks" Crutcher, editor of The Morehead News, hunches there at his desk, unchanged—still confidently predicting the Derby winner each year, and each year coming a cropper. Last week, with the help of a computer and chicken entrails, he assured all and sundry that Sham would win the Derby.

The weather cooperated beautifully Saturday for the annual staging of the Floyd County Music Festival, and the event was witnessed by a crowd which lined streets along the 10-block line of march.

The festival culminated on the grounds of the Floyd County Board of Education building in the coronation of Miss Linda L. Godsey, Prestonsburg high school junior, as Festival Queen for 1973. Miss Godsey is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Garland L. Godsey, of Prestonsburg. First attendant was Miss Gwen Clark, Betsy Layne high school senior, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Clark, Jr.

These two and other individual school queens toured the parade route in convertibles and each was followed by her school band. Others competing were Teresa Lynn Osborne, of Hueysville, Allen Central senior; Jill Newsome, of Ligon, McDowell senior, and Karen Hamby, Wheelwright high school junior.

Miss Cathy Lynn Whittaker, Prestonsburg high school senior, as 1972 Festival Queen participated in the coronation of the new queen. Ray Brackett, of Allen, was master of ceremonies; James W. Salisbury, of Martin, parade marshal, and Blanche Dingus, of Martin, festival coordinator.

Coal, Debris, Clog Water Plant Average of Every Eight Days

The Prestonsburg water plant has had its water intake mechanism clogged with coal, sand and other debris from upstream Big Sandy river sources an average of every eight days since March 9.

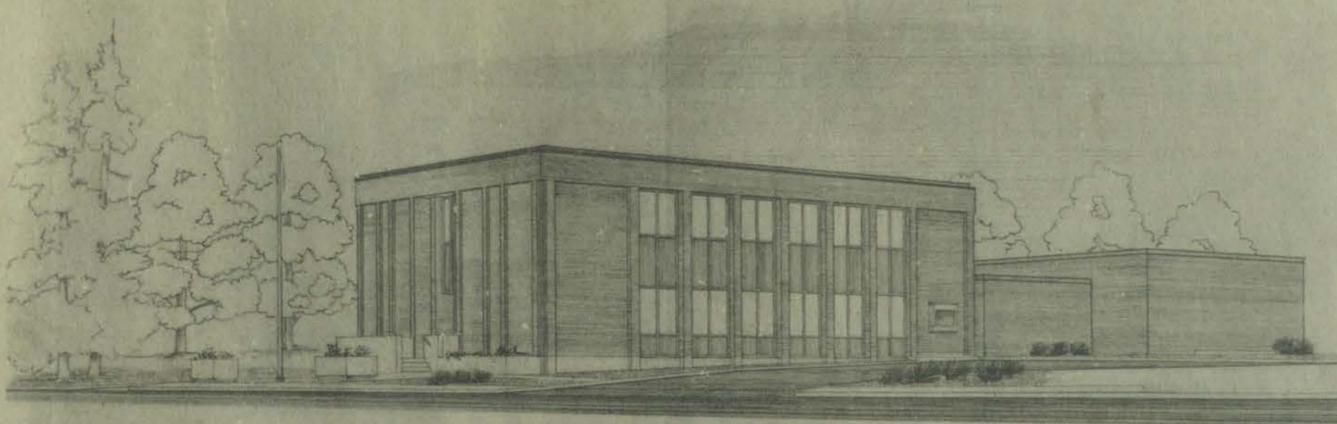

The last foul-up of the intake was last Friday, and as on previous occasions two workmen were required to go to the bottom of the intake shaft, based below the river bottom, and load the debris into a large bucket by shovel. From there the waste is winched to the surface and dumped. The cleanup operation required from six to eight hours, each time the intake is blocked, Dick David, superintendent of the water system, said.

Foreseeing the possibility that such a situation might at some time cause a critical water shortage here, Davis and water system employees have devised an ingenious emergency pumping device. The mechanism consists of a pump mounted on a platform over wheel rims of an old car and pipes extending from the top of the river bank down to the river. The "pump car" can be winched down the pipe-tracks to get the pump into

Council OKs Building Plans

Architect's concept of proposed Prestonsburg Municipal Building.

Plans for the proposed municipal building here were accepted last Thursday by the Prestonsburg City Council and advertising for construction bids was authorized.

Dr. George P. Archer, mayor, later said it is not certain that the city will be able to build the 12,209-square-foot structure. That will be definitely known when all bids are in, he said. July has been set for the advertisement date.

The complete structure, according to plans prepared by George Lee Shannon Associates, will be composed of two individual buildings tied together by an entry offering access to both. The portion located to the front of the site (the Anna Stephens heirs property on North Lake Drive which was purchased by the city about three years ago) will have two floors. The first floor of 4,400 square feet area will be rented as private offices.

The second part of the building, at the rear of the two-story section, is designed to house the police and fire departments. It will have space for three fire trucks and communications facilities, with sleeping and lounge areas.

Parking for 34 vehicles will be provided around the perimeter of the building, with fire and traffic lanes.

The two-story portion will be a steel structure packaged in brick with curtain-wall panels between columns on the right and left sides of the building. The police-fire departments section will be of masonry construction.

Estimated cost of the entire building is $360,165. The city has $90,000 in a special fund for the building project, and $10,000 of its last revenue sharing check was allocated to the building fund.

Construction of the one-story unit to house the fire and police departments is given priority, and bids on it will be received separately.

At last Thursday's meeting the Council employed Richard E. Martin, Prestonsburg engineer, to prepare a new tax-base map. The work will involve mapping the footage of every lot in Prestonsburg for tax purposes.

June 7 was the date set for a hearing on an application to rezone property on Riverside from "residential medium density" to "neighborhood commercial." Council has received from the Planning Commission its recommendation of the change.

Reconstruction of the drainage system on Arnold avenue was authorized at the meeting, and installation of speed "bumps" in the Trimble Branch section was approved. The Council also authorized advertising for bids on a diesel farm tractor for use with mowing equipment, the cost to be paid from revenue sharing funds.

New Scale May Permit Garth Work

Board Asks Change Of Allen Central's Plans for Phase II

Results of the wage hearing held here recently gives the Floyd County Board of Education hope that contractors' bids on the proposed Garth Vocational School addition will fall within architects' estimates, and the board has authorized re-advertising of the work.

Two major wage decreases were authorized last week as a result of the hearing held here at the request of the Board of Education. The hourly wage of electricians was set at $4.095, as compared with the rate of almost $10 an hour that existed prior to the hearing. Class A operators (operators of heavy machinery), who have been paid a rate of almost $9 an hour, were reduced to $4.073.

The original boost in wages resulted from a hearing held earlier at Pikeville.

The board at its meeting Saturday voted unanimously to direct Forrest McCloskey & Associates to delete plans for a separate auditorium in Phase II of the construction program at Allen Central high school and in lieu of that to plan an indoor swimming pool. Auditorium needs will be met by the addition of a stage to the school gymnasium. Phase II will cost an estimated $100,000.

The board announced that it has completed its purchase of 5.36 acres of (See Story 4, Back Page, Sec. 1)

City of Allen Receives Funds For Resurfacing

Governor Wendell H. Ford and Transportation Secretary Elijah M. Hogge last week announced the 1973-'74 Municipal Aid Program for the City of Allen, based on an allotment of $3,275.39 for the coming fiscal year.

Commissioner James E. Gray, head of the newly established Bureau of Highways, explained that the Municipal Aid Program provides for blacktop resurfacing of Back Street, Main Street and Slone Street, and drainage and blacktop resurfacing for Depot Street.

The activities authorized will be accomplished by the city, with Bureau of Highways financing all or a portion of the work in accordance with the Municipal Aid agreement.

The appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is $9,330,000. This sum is distributed among the incorporated and unincorporated areas according to the terms of a formula chosen by the General Assembly in 1972.

Amos Akers, 73 Gunshot Victim

Amos Akers, 73, well-known Grethel man, died Sunday afternoon at Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, shortly after suffering a revolver bullet head wound.

Circumstances of the shooting were not learned. It was said Mr. Akers was alone at his barn when the shot was fired.

A native of Grethel, the victim was a son of the late Solomon and Stella Hall Akers. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Stella Hall Akers; three sons, Carmel L. and Donald Akers, both of Galveston, Ky., and Iggilan Akers, of Catlettsburg; two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Case, New London, O., and Mrs. Nickie Carol Hall, of Galveston; three brothers and six sisters, Daniel Akers, of Harold, Lee Akers, of Grethel, Andy Akers, Jackson, O., Mrs. Lizzie Alley, of Galveston, Mrs. Sally Frasure, Cannonsburg, Ky., Mrs. Frances Hamilton, Greenwich, O., Mrs. Annie Keathley and Mrs. Laura Akers, both of Harold, and Mrs. Victoria Davis, Westgate, Michigan. He also leaves 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) from the residence, ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial in the Lee Alley cemetery at Grethel was under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

One Charge Against Accused Slayer Dropped

A charge of sodomy against accused slayer Timothy Papp of Sheffield Lake, Ind., has been dropped. Papp, 21, also is charged with first-degree murder, felonious murder and rape in the March 12 slaying of Roxie Anne Keathley, 9, of Sheffield Lake, formerly of the Mud Creek section of this county.

Columbia Seeks Rate Increase

Columbia Gas of Kentucky, Inc., asked the Kentucky Public Service Commission Friday for permission to increase its natural gas rates to retail and intra-state wholesale customers in Kentucky, effective June 1.

Michael Barna, Jr., Lexington, gas company manager, said the new rates, which would mean an increase of about 41 cents a month in the gas bill of the average residential customer served by Columbia Gas of Kentucky in the Lexington-Ashland area, was requested to offset increased operating costs since the company's last increase which became effective in 1970.

This is the first general rate increase that has been requested by Columbia Gas of Kentucky since 1969, Barna pointed out, explaining that changes in rates since then have reflected only increases or decreases in the cost of gas to Columbia Gas of Kentucky from its suppliers, which are permitted under a purchased gas adjustment clause in the present tariff.

The new rate includes a similar clause providing for an upward or downward adjustment in the cost of gas to customers whenever Columbia Gas of Kentucky receives an increase or decrease in the cost of gas from its supplier.

Specific reasons cited by Barna for requesting the new rate include increases in the cost of labor, supplies, construction, taxes, other operations and increased costs to Columbia Gas of Kentucky in obtaining capital for construction.

Columbia serves some 116,000 residential customers in 35 communities and sells gas to seven other customers for resale in Kentucky.

The present residential rate in the area is:

$2.4144 for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas used; $9464 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 49,000 cubic feet; $8874 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 50,000 cubic feet; $8544 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 100,000 cubic feet; $8344 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 800,000 cubic feet; $8144 per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 1,000,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge is $2.30.

The proposed rate would be:

$2.50 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; $975 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 49,000 cubic feet; $916 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 50,000 cubic feet; $890 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 100,000 cubic feet; $870 per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 800,000 cubic feet; $850 per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 1,000,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge would be $2.50.

Stacy Plan Would Ease Cost Of Compensation for Coal Miners

Relief for the small underground coal operator is the aim claimed by State Senator Joe D. Stacy (D-Morgan county) for legislation which he says he will propose to the 1974 General Assembly.

Senator Stacy said of the proposal that he seeks something to relieve the small underground coal operators of heavy workmen's compensation costs which threaten to "run them out of business."

He said the answer apparently has been found in an overlooked provision of the Social Security Code.

The result would be to have the federal program pay a larger share of benefits to disabled workers who qualify for both Social Security and workmen's compensation.

Less expensive compensation insurance would result because premium rates are based on the amount that insurers must pay to disability claimants under industrial policies.

The savings to employers could amount to as much as 20 per cent of the $60 million they now pay yearly for compensation insurance, according to a preliminary projection made by the Legislative Research Commission (LRC).

Discovery of the federal provision—printed in the Social Security Health and Welfare Benefit Code in 1968 and upheld by the Supreme Court as constitutional in 1971—was a "surprise" to those concerned with compensation insurance.

The prospect that parts of black lung payments might be shifted from workmen's compensation to social security, thereby promising substantial cuts in miners' compensation insurance rates, was especially pleasing to coal interests.

Anthony Gripps, an official of the National Council on Compensation Insurance, said attorneys have studied the social security provision and "decided it can be done" in the matter of states shifting some of their compensation liabilities to the social security program.

"It's a real shocker," Fred W. Luigart Jr., president of the Kentucky Coal Association, said in Lexington. "My guess is that it is something that nobody in the coal industry knew about. I would guess, too, that we will strongly support the legislation in the legislature."

"I am embarrassed to admit that I didn't know a thing about it," J. Keller Whitaker, director of the state Workmen's Compensation Board, said. "It's a thing that you'd think we normally ought to know about."

Ronald May, a Pikeville attorney specializing in compensation cases, helped test the provision's constitutionality before the Supreme Court. He said he looked on it "hopefully" as a way to reduce coal's compensation insurance rates.

"If compensation insurance rates are raised to the point that employers can't pay them, it's the employees who will suffer," he said.

S. Rayburn Watkins, president of Associated Industries of Kentucky (AIK), said in Louisville his organization has known of the possible relief in compensation insurance through Social Security.

"It isn't a surprise," he said. "We have had our attorneys looking into it. Actually, though, we have been reluctant to press for a plan involving general revenue (tax) money. We felt that every employer group should pay its own way."

At the same time, Watkins added, employers would "welcome any relief" in compensation insurance premiums. And he said AIK probably would lobby in the legislature for a measure to achieve that relief.

TEACHER WINS SUIT

A teacher won a favorable decision in Nicholas circuit court in a suit filed against the Nicholas County Board of Education. The suit arose after the sixth grade teacher asked to be considered for the 1972 Head Start Program, a program formerly operated only in the summer months in Nicholas County. The teacher was assigned to Head Start teaching during the school year and was paid $3200, which was $2970 lower than her salary on the teacher's salary scale. The judge said the teacher's letter seeking Head Start employment did not constitute a letter of resignation from her regular teaching position and ordered the board to pay her an additional $2970 in salary plus benefit of a year toward tenure.

What the 'Showcase' Shows

The Jenny Wiley boat dock is an example of the problems long-continued neglect will do. The other dock on Dewey Lake—Terry's—supplies, by way of contrast, emphasis to the Jenny Wiley dock situation.

Park Manager Barker is interested in building a good boat dock at Jenny Wiley, there where every visitor to May Lodge, the amphitheatre, golf course and other attractions can't miss seeing it. While he was at Buckhorn State Park one of the finest docks found at any small impoundment was built. Since he has been at Jenny Wiley he has had dreams of achieving something of the sort here.

Work at the Jenny Wileydock has been dragging along for weeks. But the results are barely visible. A strong wind which wrenched it apart figured in the slowdown of improvements.

But the main trouble lies in the fact that, as one official admitted, "the dock has been let go too long."

General deterioration is far advanced. The dock has far to go to be brought back to normal status. Any improvements would come later.

By way of contrast, the privately operated Terry Boat Dock in the lower section of the lake is spic-and-span, not only basically sound (although a section of it was blown several hundred yards uplake last year), every locker shining with new paint, every slip already occupied.

We don't like what the "showcase" shows. If the Department of Parks is to continue its operation of the Jenny Wiley dock it should "get with it" and give its employees the funds necessary to do the job...especially, since it is now charging $18 a month for a boat slip and locker.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Says Ratcliff Should Be Retained at PCC

Editor, The Times:

This community has been alerted to the fact that James B. Ratcliff, who has served as coordinator in the Adult Education classes at Prestonsburg Community College, has been notified his services at the college will not be needed this fall, because of fiscal depletions. Mr. Ratcliff has contributed immeasurably to the molding of the college and the community. Concerned citizens of this community should notify at once Dr. Henry Campbell, director of P.C.C., that they feel it is a most regrettable action on the part of the college to let this talented community worker leave and so probably terminate the adult program at the college. Do not, delay. Write Dr. Campbell today.

A most concerned citizen,

Where Safer?

Several years ago I was trapped between trains at Pikeville, Ky. At that time trains were the only means of transportation in that section, and to kill time I went to the courthouse because I had read that the judge was the greatest jurist in the state. His name may have been Fields, I've forgotten, and his home may have been at Whitesburg.

Two men were on trial for transporting whiskey in dry territory and to prove it the jugs of whiskey were brought into court. The arresting officers stated they arrested the men on a Pike county road and confiscated the whiskey from their truck. It looked like a plain case for the jury to decide.

The judge kept silent all along and the men seemed to have no plea. Finally the judge asked the arresting officers if they had obtained a search warrant. They stated they had no search warrant. "Why did you arrest these men?" the judge asked.

"We were of the opinion they had whiskey in the truck."

"Is that the only reason you arrested them?" asked the judge.

"Well, they have the name of being bootleggers."

"That is not a legal reason for an arrest," declared the judge. "This case is dismissed, and I want no more cases brought before this court where property has been seized without a search warrant."

When I left the courtroom the whiskey was still beside the judge's bench.

I mention this because of reports reaching me. I am located at one of the busiest crossroads in the state and, apparently without knowing it, tourists have made my place a bureau of information. For the last several seasons I have had many inquiries about how to get to the Breaks Park on the head of Big Sandy River.

Many tourists tell me they have been advised to keep off road 80 east of Manchester and also to stay out of Floyd and Pike counties because of cars being stopped and searched on the highways. One lady told me her father, a minister, was held up near a place called Harold till he missed his daughter's funeral in Virginia. Because of my memory of the Pikeville case, I tell them I doubt this and I also have information that a judge from Floyd county became a judge of the World Court at the Hague.

Sometime ago I was with a party in the Yellowstone National Park. The Harlan county mine trouble was nationwide news. A woman drove up behind our car and when she saw our Kentucky license she said to her party, "Hold up your hands, there's a gang from Kentucky."

It's an easy thing for a state or any part of it to get a bad name. If I can get proof that it is safe for a car to travel through your part of the state, I'll certainly pass it on to tourists that ask me about it. I should also like to know the best way to get from western Kentucky to the Breaks Park.

As it is, I'm like the boy near Shelbyville who was trying to tell a fellow how to get to a certain point. After mentioning several roads he finally said, "Well, sir, it's impossible to get there from here." When I mention 119 they say a mountain is falling on it and that they are afraid of it.

(Editor's note: If there's any place on earth where a traveller can be guaranteed safety, we have learned where it is. But travel in Eastern Kentucky certainly is no more hazardous than elsewhere. As a former Kentucky attorney general, the late Bailly P. Wootch, wrote an out-of-state inquirer who asked the same question now posed by Mr. Mathews: "You're as safe in Eastern Kentucky; and the farther you get away from the main highways, the safer you'll be." As Mr. Robers doubtless knows, a lot of people have travelled this area for a lot of years and are still around "to tell the tale.")

ARH Group To Get Foundation Grant

Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc. will receive a grant of $34,000 from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Mich., that will result in ARH's innovative approaches in health education being shared with the entire health care field.

The project is part of an international program funded by the Kellogg Foundation for the purpose of studying a variety of organizational models in hospital education and training.

The ARH health care system was one of only 30 hospitals, hospital groups, and educational institutions throughout the United States and Canada chosen to participate in the program.

It is being administered by the Hospital Research and Educational Trust, an affiliate of the American Hospital Association, Chicago (Ill.). During the course of the project the Trust will monitor and analyze data from each of the demonstration projects and the findings will be disseminated to the entire health care field.

T. P. Hipkens, president of ARH, stated that ARH education efforts will be studied over the next three years. Dr. Carl Slater heads ARH's Office of Education, which is based in Middlesboro.

Journalism Students Recognized

The Kentucky High School Press Association conferred upon Robert Lowe Tackett, left, and Tim Martin, right, seniors at Prestonsburg high school, the Enoch Grehan Memorial Award for outstanding service in scholastic journalism, good citizenship, high scholarship and intelligent leadership. ONE COUPON PER BUCKET OR BARREL

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK

(Attorney General of Kentucky)

"I just happen to be paying a few drives in your neighborhood and have a little blacktop left over on which I'll give you a real bargain."

Once again the fly-by-night operator plies his trade. Although the products vary, the sales method is the same—the salesman claims he has enough of his product left to do one more job that afternoon, and rather than waste it, he is willing to sacrifice it to you at an "unbelievably low price." Many homeowners have responded to these offers only to discover a very poor job or one very unsatisfactory.

Even though many people have had costly, unfortunate experiences with various types of itinerant salesmen and workers—furnace repairmen, roof inspectors, etc.—The fly-by-night operations have not been destroyed. They will continue to exist as long as they find people looking for "bargains."

Bargains are great as long as they represent good, quality merchandise being sold at a price below what you would normally expect to pay. To avoid being taken in by a "bargain offer" you should know the salesman and the quality of the goods he is selling. The surest way of knowing this is to deal with established businessmen in your community.

If you have a consumer complaint or problem, you are invited to call the Consumer Hotline, toll-free, at 1-800-372-2960.

Gov. Wendell Ford has called for appointment of a special federal prosecutor to head the Watergate investigation. The Governor, speaking at the Democratic Governors' Caucus, said he would be willing to have a special prosecutor named by Chief Justice Warren Burger or to ask the American Bar Association to nominate an impartial prosecutor.

Council Recognizes Retired Educator

In its last meeting of the 1972-'73 school year the Jenny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association will give special recognition to Clem Martin, retired Floyd educator. The meeting, which included a covered-dish dinner as well as the annual election of officers, was held in the Martin school lunchroom Tuesday evening.

Mr. Martin earned his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Morehead State University. He devoted 33 years to education in Floyd county, serving in positions from classroom teacher to director of public instruction. In this county Mr. Martin was instrumental in the development of modern teaching techniques, especially in the area of reading, emphasizing the need for meeting individual differences.

The first honorary membership in the Jenny Wiley Council will be given to Mr. Martin. Key educators and officials in the Floyd county schools system joined with the council to honor the retired educator.

Stream Classification Hearing Slated at Frankfort, June 4

By MARVA GAY

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's long awaited stream classification system has started its final steps toward reality.

At a recent meeting of the state's Environmental Quality Commission, Thomas O. Harris, commissioner of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, announced that a public hearing on the proposed stream classification would be held June 4 in Frankfort.

The proposal is designed to bring Kentucky's 14,000 miles of streams - more miles than any other state except Alaska - in line with the 1972 federal water quality requirements. All waters shown on the 1973 "Streams of Kentucky" map, prepared by the Kentucky Department of Commerce, will be classified for all uses.

Excepted are waters otherwise designated by law. The exceptions include streams and portions of streams designated as wild rivers. According to a law passed by the last session of the general assembly, streams classified as wild rivers must be preserved in their free-flowing condition.

According to the stream classification proposal, all "point" sources of pollution discharging into Kentucky's waters will be required to apply the best practicable control technology to treatment facilities by July 1, 1977. They must apply the best available technology economically achievable by July 1, 1983.

If no major objections are raised at the hearing, the proposal will be forwarded to the state's Legislative Research Commission to become an enforceable regulation. A copy of the proposal will be sent to the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency for its approval.

After adoption of the proposal, facilities holding a permit from the Division of Water (but not already in compliance with the new requirements) will be given six months to submit a letter of intent stating they will comply.

According to Harris, there is still one thing missing from efforts to reach the 1983 goal—money. Harris pointed out that Kentucky's share of federal construction grants to build municipal water treatment facilities is $13.2 million in 1973 and $19.8 million in 1974. Harris said, while that sounds like a tremendous sum, some 70 applications on file in the Division of Water would require an outlay of $155 million, of which $100 million is eligible for federal grants if the federal money ever becomes available.

In addition, Harris said the expenditure of the $100 million in grant funds would not insure that the waters of Kentucky would be in compliance with the proposal. Based on $950 million estimate for 34 percent of Kentucky's population in the Jefferson county, Northern Kentucky and the Lexington areas, Harris said the total cost for complying with the master plan for the state would be $2 and one-half billion.

Five from Floyd On All-Stars

Five Floyd county high school seniors are members of the 12-man squad selected to represent the 15th region in the All-Star basketball game to be played at Hazard June 1 against all-stars representing the neighboring 14th region.

The 15th region all-star team, announced last week by its coach, Pete Grigsby, Jr., of McDowell high school, includes Neil Turner and Neil Moore, of McDowell; Kent Gibson and Darryl Prater, of Allen Central; Tippy Moscript, of Wheelwright; Joey Osborne and Ricky Johnson, of Virgie; Jim Kerr, of Elkhorn City; Ray Haley, of Pikeville; Mike Hunt, of Fed's Creek; Roger Pigg, of Millard, and Rudy Hammonds, of Sheldon Clark at Inez.

Only high school seniors are eligible to play. Coach Grigsby described the 15th region all-stars as "outstanding players." He said practice for the June 1 encounter will begin, a week to 10 days prior to the game.

Next year's All-Star game will be played, somewhere in the 15th region.

WASTE TO INCREASE

Five pounds of solid waste per person is produced daily in the United States. By 1980, this will increase to eight pounds per person, predicts Charlie Dixon, Extension development specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Examples of waste materials produced in the United States each year are 53 million tons of packaging, seven million old cars, 100 million tires, 28 billion bottles, 48 billion cans, and 60 million tons of metals.

Own a Cadillac? Of course you can!

Right now, you could be very, very close to the special pleasures of Cadillac ownership.

Because right now there exists a very special set of circumstances favoring the person who longs to be a Cadillac owner.

It begins with the beautiful new 1973 Cadillacs themselves. These cars are the finest ever built by Cadillac—reflected by the fact that the '73 Sedan deVille, shown above, has already established itself as the single most popular luxury car in automotive history.

There are nine great '73 Cadillacs from which to choose. And right now, your Cadillac dealer can probably supply just the model you want . . . just the way you want it!

If a new Cadillac is not yet in your plans, consider the pleasure of driving a Cadillac of another year. The great demand for new Cadillacs has made a number of beautiful previously-owned cars available. Like the 1971 Eldorado or 1969 Coupe deVille, shown above.

It's true. A Cadillac of any recent year will likely have more luxury, more convenience features, more power equipment than you'll find on many of today's new cars.

For a lot of reasons, there couldn't be a better time to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer than right now.

First choose Cadillac . . . then choose the year.

White Ash Coal
Named In Third
Strip Blast Suit

The third in a series of civil cases against White Ash Coal Co. was filed recently in the Johnson circuit court charging the company's blasting operations caused damages to personal property.

Corbit Castle, of Whittensville, filed a suit last week asking $5,000 from the company for damages he alleges were caused when White Ash's strip mine blasting caused cracks in the masonry work and foundation to his frame home.

Castle's home is located between 200 and 300 feet from the operation on Meade Cabin Branch of Rush Fork of Tom's Creek. White Ash stopped blasting at this site six to eight months ago, according to Castle's lawyer, J. K. Wells, who reported the company has since begun strip mine operations across the ridge on Teay's Branch.

Wells also is representing Richard Castle, who filed a civil case in January seeking $7,500 from White Ash Coal Co. for damages to his brick home.

Eight families of the Northgate subdivision are seeking $200,000 damages from the company for alleged damages to their homes.

Voted Outstanding Ky. Board Manager

In statewide competition, Mrs. Martha Johnson, of Prestonsburg, is the winner of the Kentucky Selective Service Outstanding Local Board Manager of the Year, Class II. This category is composed of personnel assigned at a "draft" board location serving 1,001 to 10,600 registrants.

The winner receives a quality step increase and a suitable citation certificate signed by the state director.

Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, state director, said, "Mrs. Johnson is outstanding among all nominees in her category and has distinguished herself by unusual qualities of service demonstrating a high degree of personal integrity, sound judgment, leadership and sustained high level of individual performance as a local board executive secretary."

Mrs. Johnson began her career with Selective Service on May 18, 1964, as a clerk of the now deactivated Local Board No. 166. When this local board was consolidated with Local Board No. 25 in January, 1972, she, as the senior employee, assumed the executive secretarial duties of the centralized local board in Prestonsburg.

She is a member of the select group of local board secretaries in Kentucky who have successfully completed all 10 correspondence courses formerly offered by national headquarters. Currently, she represents her area on the Kentucky Executive Secretary Advisory Committee.

"Consistently courteous, ever considerate, tactful, loyal, well-groomed and the person I would rather have in an emergency than anyone I know" are the 1972 21-word evaluation of her supervisor.

The Class II winner is married to Charles Johnson. They have one son, Charles Randall, a second grade student. Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Prestonsburg elementary school PTA, and serves on the International Affairs committee of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club. Governor Ford has asked Washington to provide supplementary federal assistance to Western Kentucky residents affected by the flooding Mississippi. In a letter to President Nixon and the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the Governor said the estimate of public, private and agricultural damage in seven Western Kentucky counties exceeds $6.6 million.

Members of one of the boys' advanced physical education classes at Prestonsburg high school receive proper casting instruction from John Adams and Bill Bell of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Governor Ford has named two additions to his staff. Mortimer Stamm, Frankfort, joins the legal section, and Paul Eugene Peter, Louisville, fills an administrative assistant post vacancy created when Ron Johnson became Commissioner of the Department of Public Safety.

The state attorney general's Consumer Protection Division has filed suit against Holiday Magic, Inc., a Nevada cosmetics firm. The suit contends that the cosmetics company and its officers operated in violation of the Kentucky Consumer Protection Act and the state's referral selling law.

Some of the few remaining laws governing women's working hours were removed in 1972 by repeal in Maryland, Missouri and South Carolina and by attorney generals' opinions in Kentucky and New York.

In 1972, there were 33.3 million women in the work force, compared with 55.6 million men. By 1980, the number of women will be 39.2 million, compared with 62.5 million men, and in 1990 about 43.6 million compared with 68.9 million.

It is more apparent than ever that good citizens of Floyd County should demand and have answered these questions from the candidates for Sheriff in May primary:

1. What will be the qualifications and character of deputies?
2. Do they propose to have deputies that have been indicted by grand jury or have a police record?
3. Fiscal Court determines the amount of money to be paid for law enforcement, so, how will active deputies be paid?
4. How will patrol cars be purchased?
5. Should or shouldn't more State Police be called to Floyd for better law enforcement?
6. Shouldn't the important post of Chief deputy as picked by each candidate be made known before election?

Fishing, Boating Added To Curriculum; 142 Boys Involved at High School Here

Bill Bell (right), of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, shows Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark and Coach Eddie Radjunas one of the many types of new fishing reels. Bell and John Adams were here to conduct a fishing "clinic" in the Physical Education department of Prestonsburg high school.

Prestonsburg high school and the Floyd county school system have added another "first in Kentucky" by launching new programs in fishing and boating, according to Charles Clark, superintendent of schools.

One hundred forty-two boys enrolled in advanced physical education classes at Prestonsburg high have just completed a one-month unit in fishing and related techniques and this week switched to a month-long unit in boating.

"We feel that a program of this nature provides the student with an opportunity to acquire the basic skills to be successful in the use of his leisure time in later life," Mr. Clark said.

"If our boating safety program results in the saving of one life, it will be worth the time and effort we have put into this project," he said. "We plan to extend the program in the near future to our other high schools that offer advanced physical education."

Assisting instructor Eddie Radjunas in some phases of the new offering were Bill Bell, John Adams, and Don Ison, of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources; Jim Osborne and Don Adams, two of Morehead's top bass fishermen.

They gave lectures and demonstrations of the various makes and types of fishing equipment, how to select and use each type and also conducted a casting tournament among the students.

Members of the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association and the Sports Fishing Institute Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association and the Sports Fishing Institute provided the group with various materials, pamphlets, films, film-strips and knot-tying equipment.

Ron Hager, principal of the high school, who attended many of the classes, commented: "This has been one of the most rewarding experiences our students have undertaken at the school here and the boys really looked forward to going to phys ed class, except in one instance when two boys skipped other classes to go bass-fishing after seeing an exciting fishing film."

required by the new law. Since County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson is a candidate himself, he is disqualified, and the state election commission named Jim Hammond, Prestonsburg attorney, in his stead. The appointed members of the commission are Mrs. Yvonne S. Jones and Collins.

The attorney general's office also has held that, since County Clerk Robinson was the chairman of the commission, his successor, Hammond, shall serve as chairman.

The inquiry addressed to the Attorney General's office by Mrs. Jones and Mr. Hammond also asked about the correct procedure in filling vacancies that may have occurred in the list of election officers since last November. They were told that the vacancies should be filled from the lists filed with them by precinct or county party chairmen and that if these lists are no longer available to have new lists submitted.

A written opinion is awaited. It is expected this week.

Apparently only a court action could conceivably upset the opinion from the Attorney General's office. But if there are those who contend the old law prevails and that new officers must be named, they're going to have to move in a hurry. For the old law provides for the naming of precinct officers 20 days prior to the election—and that would be today (Wednesday).

action to provide a flow of water into the plant if the sediment cuts off the normal method.

The source of this coal, gravel, sand and wastes? Water plant employees aren't certain, but they suspect upriver strip-mining is supplying the coal and perhaps gravel and sand. Some have contended that road-building is responsible for the coal as coal veins have been cut by construction machinery. But it is pointed out that work on new US 23 has been under way for two years or longer and that it wasn't till March 9, this year, that the water plant operation was affected oftener than every three or four months.

Forrest Lewis, plant manager, said the last 1972 stoppage was on Dec. 20 and that the normal time elapsed before the next occurred on March 9. But after that the intake was clogged on March 26, March 29, April 4, April 13, April 16 and May 4.

The river is often black with coal dust or washings, but this does not affect water plant operation.

THE SASSER MEN

Russ Metz's recent piece about the last of the saucermen revives memories. He told of the newspaperman who insisted on pouring his coffee from teacup to saucer and then cooling it off by great whooshes before drinking the brew from the aforementioned saucer.

This, I am told, is frowned on in some circles to this day.

The fond recollection it has revived with yrs. truly is the story of "Uncle" Can Estep, the old Confederate veteran, and the drummer. Uncle Can kept roomers at his Garrett home, and this knight of the road, being on the prissy side, didn't impress the old veteran when he first caught sight of him. But what the man did at the breakfast table, next morning, was the last straw.

The salesman sat there, in the presence of God and man, and spooned his coffee, little finger extended, so, from the spoon. Uncle Can eyed the proceedings with a bit of choler but continued to eat. Finally, he stopped, bent a piercing gaze on his guest, and, speaking for the first time during the meal, roared:

"I said—confound it, I said sasser that coffee!"

OLD ACQUAINTANCES

Faries Nelson, the former Floyd countian who wrote me one of the nice letters received after our February fire, came in this week from Westland, Michigan. Said he was home, as usual, in time to see the dogwoods in bloom. Mr. Nelson asked about Watt Hale, and when asked if he was acquainted with our West Prestonsburg standby replied that he had never seen the man but felt that he knew him well after reading this column... It's people like this Mr. Nelson that makes the humdrum of this desk more hum than drum.

PROTECTION WANTED

Another visitor from Michigan expressed the wish last week to see poke in its mature glory, berries and all. A day or so later, Mrs. Tom James informed me that she has a stalk of poke in her yard that will be ripe for seeing later—if, she said, I can prevail on Poke Warden Hale to offer a bit of protection.

WANTED DECISION, NOT PREDICTION

The political dynasties that in other years reigned in just about every Kentucky county are on their way out, it would appear. Only a few—one or two—remain. But they are full-fledged in their power and influence, and so the query made of two of these political heavyweights may not have been so unreasonable at that.

The two were outside a basketball gymnasium, and the game inside was hot and furious. Up ran a constituent to inquire:

"Say, fellows, have you ever decided who'll win this ball game?"

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

Due to serious natural disasters, a dire crop shortage looms on the horizon. So it behooves us to protect all those insects which are necessary to producing good crops, such as the pollinators and the predators. For almost every insect pest, there is a predator provided by nature to control it. A few years ago, alfalfa weevils threatened to virtually destroy the crops of alfalfa, which western farmers produced for a seed supply. They got their heads together and ordered some small wasps from Europe which they nurtured and turned loose in their alfalfa. In a year's time these small predators had destroyed the weevils, thus helping alfalfa to make a strong comeback.

We are all too prone to abhor the insect pests and not give enough thought to protecting the highly beneficial ones. Without the help of the insect pollinators, we could not long survive. The good done by the beneficial insects far outweighs the harm done by the pests. Many insects which we abhor eat weeds that are pests and thus help to keep these in control.

Among the most beneficial insects, I list the following as worthy of our best protection at all times:

The dragonflies. These are predators of mosquitoes and many other pests. We should never kill a dragonfly.

The Praying Mantises (mantids). These large predators destroy many insect pests.

The Water Bugs. These big bugs live in water and their larvae devour the "wrigglers" of mosquitoes.

The Lacewings. These are pretty bugs with lacy wings; their larvae destroy plant lice by the millions.

The Antlions. These drab, hairy little creatures build pits to trap ants and centipedes; thus they help to control the ant populations.

The Tiger Beetles. These green, swift-running beetles prey on many different insect pests.

The Ladybird Beetles. These red or brown beetles with spots devour scale insects, including the cotton cushiony scale. They are classified as to the number of spots each species has; some have only two, others 8 or 10.

The Braconid Wasps. These tiny wasps destroy the obnoxious hornworms found eating on tobacco and tomato plants.

The Ichneumon Wasps. These wasps have a long, curving drill with which they drill holes in wood to reach the larvae of the pigeon horntail, which destroys timber.

The Chalcid Wasps. These tiny wasps form the "oak apple galls," seen on the branches of oaks. These galls furnish food to squirrels; they are also a source of tannic acid for making fine inks.

The Insect Pollinators. All the fruit and vegetable crops depend upon the pollination of insects. The hymenoptera. This order of insects includes the bees and bumblebees, which pollinate beans and corn. Wasps also help in the work of pollination; they also destroy caterpillars, which they chew up and feed to their young. The diptera—in this order are found the flower-visiting flies, which help to pollinate flowers. The Syrphid fly, known locally as the "news bee," as it looks like a bee and hovers in the air like a helicopter, its wings making a keen buzzing; people who see it doing this say "it is telling the news." This fly is

As all of you know the election is drawing near. It is in your hands to choose the one that will be your next Magistrate. I am a democrat candidate for reelection to the office.

I have worked very hard and tried to make your tax money do as much good as I could for you people.

If re-elected my only promise is to do all the good I can to help everyone.

I have been informed that there's a rumor going around that if I am elected I will give the office to some one else. That is not true. That never did enter my mind. If elected I will be your Magistrate.

So if I don't get to see you between now and election day I hope you will come out and vote for me.

Again, I want to thank you for your vote of confidence you have had in me in the past.

I state plain facts. In our last Magistrate's race our present Magistrate defeated me by only 41 votes, including absentee votes.

YOU HAVE BUT ONE CHOICE. This race for Magistrate is between Edward Caudill and TED H. SALISBURY. All the candidates for this office are my friends, and this race won't change that.

YOU ARE FOR ME OR FOR EDWARD C. CAUDILL. A vote for the other candidates is a vote to keep Eddie Caudill in office as Magistrate. He has had the office for years—let me serve you, just once.

To the Voters in Floyd County Voting
For Representative in the 94th District

After talking to numerous people in Floyd County, I have found much resentment because six of your precincts have been added to Pike County. I can understand your concern about this situation, and the fear that you will not be represented.

I would like for the people to know that if I am elected I will do everything I possibly can for them as we are both Eastern Kentucky counties in which I am greatly interested. I further promise to make every effort to have their precincts returned to Floyd county as under the law it is now possible and should be done.

If my opponent is elected, he will not want to see this happen as he is expecting his largest number of votes from them and will do nothing to have it changed back for the people.

So I hope you will give this matter some serious thought and decide how you want your precincts to remain.

Again let me reassure you that you will not be let down in representation if I am elected.

Thank you,

JOHN M. PHILLIPS

FLOYD SHERIFF (BACK TO CAMERA) TALKS TO PICKETS Henry Hale Asked Men To Break Up Line At Garth (AP)

The above photo was taken at Garth Hollow in the year 1963. Our Hospital Cards had been taken, the health, the wealth, and welfare of our children and loved ones had been destroyed. We struggled and pleaded in vain, we were overpowered and treated unfair by well-armed men and MR. HENRY C. HALE.

Go to the polls and cast your vote for some one you know and for a better Floyd County.

To The Voters in District 3:

In last week's Floyd County Times our present Magistrate said he wanted to apologize to the voters in District 3 for not having time to campaign. He said he was too busy keeping our rural roads in shape. He also said we had a bad winter. From the looks of the rural roads in District 3 I would say we have had four years of winter. I am sure the good voters of Dofy Creek, Fraziers Creek, Stumbo Hollow, Hunters Branch, Royal Hollow and all the other hollows in District 3 will agree with me.

WANT ADS DO THE JOB FAST

To the Voters of District 3:

I would like to take this opportunity to apologize to my good friends of Magisterial District 3.

As we all know, we have had more than our share of bad weather this year, which in turn has caused the rural roads to be in very bad shape.

I have tried to take every opportunity to help restore our roads to satisfactory condition. While trying to fix the roads, I have left myself short of time, instead of trying to talk to the people of District 3 concerning the upcoming election. But I think and I hope that you, the voters of District 3 think that it is more important to repair our roads and help the people of Floyd County than to campaign.

Let me continue to work for you.

ENDORSEMENT
GEORGE L. MOORE
During my thirty-odd years as a high school principal in Floyd County I came in contact with many bright boys. Lovel Hall was the most brilliant of the lot. As principal of McDowell High School, I was closely associated with Lovel and his father and mother for four years. He was not only an excellent student but a kind and courteous boy as well. I first knew him as a small child in a rural school on Mud Creek. I followed his progress until he graduated from our high school at McDowell. I know him as well as anyone. No candidate in Floyd County deserves more to be nominated and elected than does Lovel Hall.
Since ill health prevents my taking an active part in working for his nomination, I urge all my friends in Floyd County, and especially those on Left Beaver, Ligon, and the Mud Creek sections, to work and vote for Lovel Hall for Tax Commissioner. You will never regret it.

JOE W. LEWIS AND HIS RECORD
(The following is a copy of a Page 1 news-story published in The Floyd County Times on Jan. 8, 1970)
Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, in his instructions to the grand jury empaneled Monday for the first court term of the new year, called for strict enforcement of the "dry" law in this county.
He pointed to the overwhelming dry vote cast at last year's local option election and told the jury it should work to see that the people have what they obviously want.
"For the past three or four years," Judge Conley remarked, "our county has been in pretty good shape." He commended outgoing sheriff, Joe W. Lewis, for a job well-done. "I'm sure the new sheriff will do an equally good job," he added.
"Whiskey violations," the judge told the jury, "are not the worst crimes to be brought before you, but many times when there is a murder, a breaking and entering, a child desertion or a broken home, whiskey is involved."
For four years of honest, impartial enforcement of the law, vote for Joe W. Lewis for Sheriff

Over the years, the age-old sport of frog hunting has been gaining in popularity. This is partly due to the fact that the entire family may join in the harvest and the treat at the table afterwards.

Frogs abound throughout the entire state, but some areas afford better results for the froggers. Prime hunting areas are farm ponds, which number in the tens of thousands in Kentucky. Small rivers, streams and over-flow lakes are also top hunting grounds.

Methods for harvesting the ole green jumper are wide and varied. Possibly the most popular is the gig technique, but some choose to use a .22 caliber rifle. For those who are not afraid of snakes, hand grabbing is an effective method. The bow and arrow artist can be quite successful in taking frogs.

Still others choose "fishing" for frogs—fishing in a sense that an artificial lure, pole and line are used. Fishing for frogs is a day-time sport. The fisherman walks along the shoreline, especially along farm ponds, and seeks his game resting upon moss or close to the water's edge. Once the frog has been located, a small wet or dry fly suspended from the pole is passed close to the frog's head. With each pass the lure is brought closer to the frog, then in a flash the frog will flip out its tongue to take a quick tid-bit. From there on it's like fighting a fine bass tht has risen to take a surface lure.

The following are rules and regulations governing the taking of frogs:

The open season on frogs shall be 12:01 A.M., May 15 through 12:00 P.M., October 31. The daily creel limit shall be 15 frogs with a possession limit of 30 frogs after two or more days frogging. Each day for taking frogs shall begin at 12 o'clock noon and end at 12 o'clock noon. No person may have more than 15 frogs in his possession while in the field.

Frogs may be taken with a gig, by hand, bow and arrow, firearm, or hook and line from public and private waters, and an appropriate license is required. If frogs are taken with firearm or bow and arrow, a hunting license is required. If frogs are taken by use of a pole and line, a fishing license is required. If frogs are taken with hand or by use of a gig, then either a fishing license or a hunting license is valid.

Hunting and fishing are privileges. Be sure to ask the farmer for permission before hunting or fishing, or entering upon his land.

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. Leadership—Or Crony-Ship—It's Not Helping Floyd County

Bill Reynolds brags of ten years of service in the State Legislature and his close ties "with our leaders." He certainly has those, and is quite proud of being the "Frankfort roommate" of Democratic Party Chairman J. R. Miller.

What he does not explain is that he got those close ties by rubber-stamping every piece of legislation that administration officials have run past him in the last 10 years—at your expense. It's pretty nice to have a legislator who approves of everything you want to do, regardless of whether or not it is good for his own county.

Like a crippling tax on coal—one of Floyd County's most important industries—but not on oil or gas, which might hurt Daviess County, in Western Kentucky, where Chairman Miller and Governor Ford come from.

Like a Reapportionment bill, which the Administration wanted, but which took away six precincts in the upper end of Floyd County in the State Representative's District, and took away two precincts in the lower end of Floyd County in the State Senator's District. Nearly 2,900 voters in Floyd County lost their Floyd County vote by that bill, which Bill Reynolds voted "YES" on. Their choices now come from Pike County, Johnson County, Lawrence County and Boyd County.

After ten years in Frankfort, Bill Reynolds can only come up with four points for "His Record on Legislation Affecting Floyd County." Take an honest look at that record:

1. He claims the "best record in the House on Education bills." Yet, he refused to appear before an audience of Floyd County teachers and discuss that very record in his last election. There is only his own stated word, with no facts to back that word up.

2. Claims to have "co-sponsored the coal miners' Black Lung Benefits Act and voted to improve the Workmen's Compensation Benefits for the working man in the coal mines. He was one of 15 men in 1970 to sponsor a bill making it easier to claim black lung benefits, but in 1972 Bill Reynolds' name does not appear on a single piece of legislation pertaining to black lung or workmen's compensation. He did vote YES on the omnibus workman's compensation bill of 1972, which improved benefits for black lung sufferers. In truth, that bill was sponsored by his Senate friend from Pike County who made over a million dollars last year in handling black lung cases as an attorney. That same bill sets attorney's fees and also increased workmen's compensation rates to the coal industry to such a high point that dozens of small mines in Eastern Kentucky are closing down every week. One would almost question how much the "working man in the coal mines" was helped.

3. "Voted to remove the tax from medicine and food." This was an Administration Bill, rubber-stamped by Bill Reynolds. Part of this bill was good for the people but the very same bill added a tax of 30 cents per ton to all coal mined in Kentucky. Some of this burden could have been put on oil and gas but that might have hurt Bill Reynolds' friends in Western Kentucky and his own employers in West Virginia.

4. Worked for the "Homestead Exemption Bill, which gives a $6,500 tax exemption to our senior citizens." Agreed. After 10 years, he should have accomplished something for somebody.

Do you want another two years of representation in Frankfort by a man who can list only one legitimate accomplishment for Floyd County over the past ten years? James "Jitter" Allen is nobody's crony and nobody's tool. He only wants what is best for Floyd County. His record is as a young man working for this county and its people.

Vote for James "Jitter" Allen for State Representative.

(Committee to Elect James "Jitter" Allen; Richard "Dick" Allen, chm.)

Ky. Auditor Challenges Voters To Watch Dig into Their Pockets

"The voter has to understand that electing good citizens to public office is only part of the battle. Even more important is making them stay honest," says Mary Louise Foust, Kentucky state auditor.

Miss Foust was emphasizing the continuous role of the citizen as she spoke at Memphis, Tenn. recently to Kentucky and Tennessee women accountants.

"The citizen-voters should be alert to remove from public office those who always want to dig deeper into the taxpayers' pocket," the State Auditor said.

In her talk, Miss Foust quoted from a recent Warner and Sweazy Company ad titled, "You Can Start Working for Yourself, Not the Government," which emphasized that those who have been gainfully employed since January 1 have in those four months earned enough to pay their taxes for 1973.

Miss Foust also mentioned that she had written to all Kentucky representatives and senators urging them to vote against any further increase in pay for themselves. "It was the doubling of these public servants' salaries in 1969 that started the spiral of inflation," says Miss Foust.

"Not a one of us can do much toward curbing inflation as long as Congress continues to authorize spending," for which, she said, "funds must be obtained by federal borrowing or the issuing of more currency. The key to stopping inflation is in Washington."

Miss Foust urged those at the gathering to keep in touch with the members of Congress "who are supposed to be in Washington representing you and not special interests."

To The Voters Of District 4:

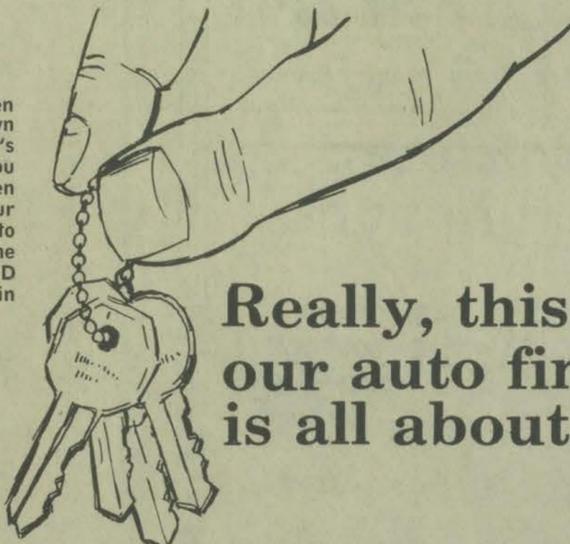

I am in favor of Hollie Hamilton for Magistrate of District 4. He is a young man and knows our needs. So, I believe he will fully support what he has promised the people. We all know the background of the other men who are running. I am a disabled coal miner and all you people know what I stand for. It is time for the young people to speak out for the best of our District. Hollie is a working man and the people should know that he labors for what he earns. Some say it takes money to win a race but I would say all Hollie Hamilton needs is your vote. So go out and support Hamilton for Magistrate. We're going to try very hard to win this race. Plan 'Walk for Little League' To Save Boys' Baseball Program

The Prestonsburg Little League, Farm Team and Babe Ruth Leagues are in danger of dissolving this year, it was said here Monday. If this happens, 175 boys, ages 6 through 15, will lose the opportunity to compete in an organized baseball program this year.

To raise some of the funds necessary to keep the baseball program functioning, a "Walk for Little League" will be staged Saturday at Jenny Wiley State Park. Each participant in the 15-mile walk will be paid by his or her sponsor a specified amount for each mile walked and the money then turned over to the committee in charge of the event.

Registration for the walk will be held at 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. (EDT) at the Jenny Wiley boat dock. Sponsor lists may be picked up at Prestonsburg high school and the Prestonsburg, Clark and Auxier elementary schools.

Plans for Pancake Day, May 26, to raise funds for the Little League will be discussed at a league meeting tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the courthouse.

Eastern Ky. History By Scaif Reprinted, College Announces

"Kentucky's Last Frontier," by Henry P. Scaif, of Stanville, has just been reprinted by the Pikeville College Press, according to Dr. Leonard Roberts, director.

Mr. Scaif authored the volume in 1966 after 25 years of writing and research and issued it from the Adams Press, of Chicago, with a foreword by Dr. Thomas D. Clark, then chairman of the History Department of the University of Kentucky. The original printing of 2000 copies was sold within two years, leaving a strong demand for the book unsatisfied.

"Kentucky's Last Frontier" has been hailed as the most complete history of Eastern Kentucky that has been published.

For the present reprint the editor Dr. Roberts has improved the usefulness of the book in many ways, including a new dust jacket, many corrections and revisions in the text, a frontispiece and other photos, and a full index of more than 700 entries.

The book has 565 pages and has been issued in two bindings for the convenience of libraries and historians, annalists and genealogists.

The total number of beef cattle and calves in Kentucky has reached a record high of over three million head, according to Nelson Gay, Extension beef specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. In fact, Kentucky now ranks tenth in the nation in the number of beef cows on the farm.

Coal Miner's Son Struck It Rich

By GEORGE L. MOORE
(In The Olive Hill Times)

One of the most pleasant and rewarding experiences that can come to a school principal is to see one of his students become an outstanding success. For the past few months I have been receiving a religious magazine called, "Sword of the Lord." It is unique in one respect, practically all the contributors of articles to the magazine hold D. D. degrees.

It was a pleasant surprise to see the photograph of one of my favorite high school students appear on the front page. He had written a lengthy and intelligent article for the magazine called, "What Is a Layman Going to do With a Doctor's Degree?" He proceeded to tell what he was doing and what to do with the D. D. he had recently received.

His name is Russell Anderson but all the school children called him "Cotton." Cotton was the type of boy that makes a principal's job a lot easier to perform. He is also the type you like to remember and hear from.

I have mentioned in many previous articles about the sons and daughters of Appalachia, leaving their mountain homes to seek greener pastures. Russell Anderson was in this group. After he graduated from McDowell high school he migrated to Michigan and began work as a day laborer for a drywalling firm. He saved his money and in time went into business for himself. He made rapid advances in the business world and today owns four different companies. Last year his business grossed over five million dollars. He manages 300 apartments and has 100 new apartments under construction. This is not bad for a sawdust boy from Doug Hays' sawmill from the head of Turkey Creek.

Although he has prospered beyond his wildest dreams in the world of business, he does not consider this his greatest achievement. His financial success is more or less a sideline with him.

He is perhaps the most outstanding lay preacher in the United States. One week he will be preaching in a church in California, the next week in New York. He calls himself a soul winner and I agree. He devotes two nights each week to this work. He goes from house to house knocking on doors and talking with people. He persuades them to turn from a life of sin and accept Jesus as their Saviour. His article in the magazine would indicate that he is quite successful. He visits churches all over the United States to preach the gospel. He is a dedicated worker who gives his time and energy without any thought of compensation for himself. His only compensation is the satisfaction that he derives from the knowledge that he is performing a needed service for his fellow man.

BETSY LAYNE

The Betsy Layne mothers league will have a lawn sale at the home of Mrs. Inez Taylor, Red Town, in Betsy Layne, beginning Friday morning at 10 and lasting for two days. The club also will hold two garage sales—one on Toler Creek, at Roberts' Store, May 13 at 10 o'clock; the other, at the home of Mrs. Thelma Conn, at the end of the Tram bridge, beginning at the same time. Proceeds from the sales will be used to help underprivileged children.

The May meeting of the Betsy Layne P. T. A. will meet May 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the grade school auditorium.

Among Vanishing Covered Bridges Are Two at Fallsburg, Lawrence Co.

There are those who believe Kentucky's covered bridges are just as endangered as the rarest form of wildlife. Although from 400 to 500 used to dot the Kentucky countryside, the bridges have been disappearing since the turn of the century.

In 1945, there were 45 public covered bridges spanning Kentucky streams. By 1951, there were 42. Eighteen remained in 1968. Only 16 are left today.

The ravages of weather, progress and arsonists have led to the disappearance of many of the bridges. Boubron county's Ruddles Mills Bridge was burned in 1964, while its See Pike Bridge was demolished in 1968. A Nelson county covered bridge over Chaplin River was burned by arsonists in 1971.

"Due to the age of the bridges, they're all due to fall, sooner or later," said Lynn Vaughn of Frankfort, member of the Kentucky Covered Bridge Association. "Most of them are nearly 100 years old, or more."

State building projects, which provided farmers with better roads to go to market, replaced many of the bridges in the 1950's.

Vaughn called from 1950 to 1960 the "dark ages" for covered bridges.

"During those ten years of apathy, fire, flood, and an ever expanding road building program took a heavy toll," said Vaughn, manager of the mapping section in the Bureau of Highways, Division of Planning.

L. K. Patton was among the concerned citizens. After the Ruddles Mills Bridge burned in August, 1964, he decided to form a Kentucky Covered Bridge Association. Only two bridges—Chaplin River and See Pike Bridge—have been destroyed since the association was formed in December of 1964.

"It is our purpose to stimulate public interest in covered bridges, past and present, primarily in Kentucky," Patton explained. "We collect historical data about the bridges and do everything within our power to encourage their preservation."

The Kentucky Bureau of Highways lists covered bridges in 10 counties: Bourbon, Bracken, Fleming, Franklin, Greenup, Lawrence, Lewis, Mason, Robertson and Washington.

The Colville Road Covered Bridge in Bourbon County received a $2,223 renovation in 1966, paid for by the Bourbon fiscal court. However, the bridge has been damaged by a truck and is closed.

The Walcott Covered Bridge, built in 1880, was closed to traffic in 1954 after being bypassed by a concrete structure. It is off KY 1159, five miles northwest of Brooksville in Bracken county.

One of Fleming county's four covered bridges, the Sherburne bridge on KY 11 at Licking River, has cable suspension and steel beams. With a posted limit of 10 tons, it can carry bigger loads than any other Kentucky covered bridge. Wooden pegs, rare in the remaining bridges, are used in the Goddard (White) Bridge on Maddox road in Fleming county. The county's Hillsboro Bridge, three miles south of Hillsboro on KY 111, has an 84-ft. span. The bridge was bypassed and closed to traffic when a $356,700 concrete bridge was completed in 1969. Ringo's Mill Bridge, adjacent to KY 158, is also in Fleming county.

Franklin county's Switzer Bridge, now a tourist attraction, was bypassed by a concrete structure in 1953.

Greenup county has two covered bridges, Bennett's Mill and Old Town. One of the state's longest wooden one-span covered bridges, Bennett's Mill is 195 feet in length. A senior citizens' Green Thumb Club restored the Old Town (Frasure) Bridge last year. The club replaced the roof and siding with more than 10,000 new rived boards.

The Trinity School (Fallsburg) Covered Bridge, the youngest of Kentucky's covered spans, was built in 1924 over the East Fork of Little Sandy River, near Lawrence county's one-room Trinity school. The county's other covered bridge at Yatesville is on a county road across Blaine Creek.

Lewis county's Cabin Creek Bridge, which can carry a six-ton load, has the wooden arches and beams which commonly support covered bridges.

Sources say Lee's Creek (Dover) Bridge, thought to be constructed in 1835, is probably the oldest in the state. The bridge is in Mason county.

The Johnson Creek Bridge on Blue Licks road in Robertson county is closed to traffic.

CRIDER BRANCH

Mary Stambaugh had as her guest through the Easter holidays Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stambaugh and son from Lincoln Park, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Marshall and daughter, Cheryl, of Salyersville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Imbergambo, and children, of New York, Mrs. Florence Stambaugh, of Paintsville, Mr. and Mrs. James Stambaugh and daughter Kim, of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Bob Stambaugh and sons, of Newark, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Branham and children, Columbus Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stambaugh, of Prestonsburg.

Jack Music and family, of Brookville, Ohio, visited his parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Music and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Crider, at Easter.

COMPLETES BASIC

Ft. Knox, Ky.—Pvt. George R. Kestel, 18, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kestel, and his wife, Bonnie, live at Dema, Ky., recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Armor, here.

Washington county has two covered bridges. The Sharpville Bridge across Chaplin River has been condemned, while the Beach Fork Bridge on KY 458 still carries loads of up to four tons.

Eight of the 16 bridges are closed to vehicular traffic.

Four of the remaining spans—the Sharpville, Johnson, Cabin Creek and Fallsburg bridges—are on the verge of collapse, according to L. S. Bower, president of the Fleming County Covered Bridge Association. Although not agreeing that the four are near collapse, Patton said the bridges are badly in need of repair.

"Our association is doing everything it can to keep the four bridges Fleming County has," said Bower, a covered bridge builder and restorer. With four bridges, Fleming County has twice as many covered spans as any county in Kentucky, Bower pointed out.

He supervised the restoration of the Goddard Bridge in 1968-69. Three years ago the association also repaired the roof of the Hillsboro and Ringo's Mill bridges.

"Both of these bridges need new roofs now," Bower said. "If they aren't put in, the whole structures will rot down. We received private donations to repair the roofs and to rebuild Goddard. The bridges need painting now, but we have no funds."

At least one person in the state, Herby Moore of Cynthiana, is building a new covered bridge. The bridge will be similar to a covered bridge over Licking River which was torn down in 1946, Moore said. The new replica will be part of a reconstruction of a typical cross-roads country village, Tranquil Valley, to open about June 1 near Mammoth Cave National Park.

A privately-owned covered bridge in Mason County was discovered by the Covered Bridge Association last year. The Valley Pike Bridge is owned by Mrs. R. W. Bouldin.

Both the private bridge and the 16 publicly-owned bridges are "fine examples of early engineering and building," Patton said. "They will offer to tomorrow's generation examples of the rich history which is Kentucky's heritage. Bridges offer a rich mecca to photographers seeking picturesque nostalgia and attract many tourists to our Commonwealth."

MEDICARE-MEDICAID SPECIAL

Legislation passed by Congress in 1972 has affected Medicare-Medicaid health care in Kentucky. To explain the new legislation, and to give older people particularly a better idea about how to utilize these programs, Kentucky Educational Television will broadcast live on Thursday, May 10, at 7 p.m. a call-in discussion among six experts in the field.

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory of Mrs. Bessie Daniels who passed away April 20, 1971:

ONLY A MOTHER

There are times when only a mother's love
Can understand our tears,
Our bitter disappointments
And all our childish fears.
There are times when only a mother's heart
Can share the joy we feel
When something that we've dreamed about
Quite suddenly is real!
There are times when only a mother's faith
Can help us on life's way
And inspire in us the confidence
For a mother's heart and a mother's faith
And a mother's steadfast love
Were fashioned by the angels
And sent from God above.

Missed and loved by her
Husband, Children and Grandchildren
11.

Residents Oppose 'Half-Way House'

Residents of the College Street area of Pikeville turned out en masse at a recent city commission meeting to protest the Volunteers of America Half-Way House for alcoholics. A few weeks ago, however, city commissioners discovered the street was zoned commercial and said the matter was out of their hands. The College Street residents say they will take their complaint to the planning commission and ask the street be zoned residential only. CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Welfare Rights Organization Saturday challenged state Welfare Commission Edwin Flowers to an open debate. The organization charged the department is "unresponsive, unfeeling and inhuman" in handling welfare recipients.

For
MAGISTRATE,
DIST. 1

May Democratic Primary.
THE MAN YOU NEED.

THE WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE AND WHY OF YOUR TAX MONEY:

- ★ Who decides where your tax money is spent? The Fiscal Court. Your Judge and the four Magistrates allocate the money to be spent and decide where the work is to be done.
- ★ What do you get for your tax dollars? You should get roads maintained and you should have roads built if you need them. Cemeteries should be accessible at all times. Roads to churches should be taken care of all year round.
- ★ Where are your tax dollars being spent? Are you getting the good of all the money that should be spent in your community? Does your Magistrate visit your neighborhood? Has your Magistrate visited your family except at election time? Does he know how your road is holding up or falling apart? Every chug hole is his responsibility. Some of you are still driving in the creek.
- ★ Why don't you the voter do something about all the problems you have? Your children, your family comes first, your neighbor next. So, if you voters in the precinct want what you have coming, go out and vote—vote for Harold Baldrige for your Magistrate and be proud of your community, your roads, and the progress in the next four years. You'll be glad you did!

Thank you,

Development Club Celebrates Birthday With New Work Plans

The East Point Area Development Club has celebrated its first birthday by planning many activities for the coming year.

First, upon the recommendations of a majority of members of the club, a constitution has been written and papers have been filed for its corporate charter. Projects presently under way are:

1. A mini-park, near the community center, on land owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warden Auxier. This area has been leveled and reseeded. A picnic table, made by a club member, and a swing set have been placed there. Club members have provided all the labor in this project.
2. The exterior of the community center located in the Masonic Temple is being painted, and flower boxes are being built in front of the center.
3. Perhaps one of the most worthwhile projects to the younger generation is the establishment of a $100 scholarship to be awarded to a deserving 1973 high school graduate to attend Mayo State

Vocational School. A scholarship committee consisting of Calvin Gray, Landon Tackett, and Danny J. Daniels has been appointed to judge the applicants. Any area student desiring to be an applicant may contact a member of the committee.

Work is also planned for the playground on the Bear Hollow road, sampling of the area water supply, renovation of old and the construction of new side road signs, and a general cleanup of the entire area.

We, the undersigned coal miners who participated in the picketing at Garth, Kentucky, would like to set the record straight, since B. J. Jones has distorted the facts against Henry C. Hale.

Both sides were well armed, and the situation was very dangerous. Henry C. Hale, then sheriff of Floyd County, and in conjunction with the Kentucky State Police, came to the picketing to do their lawful duty to insure that the union had the right to picket without interference from any person or group and without fear of their life and to insure that there was free access and flow of traffic to the mining site and the neighboring communities, so that local residents could get to and from their homes without being harmed or put in fear of being harmed. At no time did Henry C. Hale order us to stop picketing or to break-up our picket line.

In doing his lawful duty, Henry C. Hale prevented someone from losing their life or from being seriously injured.

Sub-Leasing of KAI Plant Stirs Hope for New Industry

Exterior view of vacant KAI building.

With the agreement of Irvin Industries, Lexington, to sub-lease the long-vacant Kentucky Appalachian Industries building at West Prestonsburg, the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce has embarked on an effort to attract a brand-new occupant to the site.

The decision to sub-lease the 30,000-square-foot building was made at a meeting here April 6 at A. H. Jackson, Irvin Industries vice-president and comptroller, with Mayor George P. Archer and other representatives of the Prestonsburg Development Corporation.

Now, the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce hopes to rekindle interest and inform numerous industries of the availability of the building. A "notebook" describing the facility and listing the various advantages of locating in the area is being compiled and will be sent, along with color photographs of the structure, to several prospective firms.

Besides stressing such factors as the location's excellent access to rail and major highway transportation, educational, recreational and service facilities and the general "livability" of the community, the aspect of the large labor pool of the area will also be emphasized.

Figures released by the unemployment office here for area unemployment during the month of January showed a total of 3,760 able-bodied men and women without work in the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Pike. In Floyd, 950 such persons were unemployed in the month of January. This excess of available workers provides an ideal situation for manufacturers who locate in the area, the Chamber argues.

The KAI building provides 30,000 square feet of ready-to-be used industrial space, plus adjoining administrative and office area.

The building became vacant after "phasing out" of the war in Vietnam drastically reduced the demand for the military related goods being produced by Kentucky Appalachian Industries more than two years ago.

In addition to the obvious boon to local economy that a new industry would impart, community leaders are even more excited by the likelihood that the industry's location would ultimately lead to the building of an access road to two large industrial sites owned by the city at Cliff.

As the situation stands, industry won't locate at Cliff because of the unsuitability of the existing road, and the Department of Highways won't agree to construct an adequate access road until some industry promises to locate at Cliff.

A solution to this dilemma may lie in making the KAI facility available to an industry until a more "custom made" and permanent building could be constructed by the city at Cliff. Hopefully, this would win highway construction approval for the access road.

JONES-KELLEY

The marriage of Mr. Tilden Howard Jones, Jr., of Bevinville, and Miss Barbara Sue Kelley, of Wheelwright, was solemnized Monday at Clintwood, Virginia. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jo Ann Kelley.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Miss Barbara Sue Goble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goble, of Highland avenue, returned to school this week. She recently underwent surgery at Highlands Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The percentage of women in the work force rose from 33.6 to 37.4 percent from 1964 to 1972, but will reach only 38.8 percent in 1990, assuming birth rates remain moderate by comparison with the post World War II baby boom.

Grain Program Pays Highest; REAP Second

The federal farm program which aided Floyd agriculture most in cash benefits last year was the Feed Grain Program which earned for 192 participating farms a total of $31,389, according to the recently released annual report for 1972 of the Floyd County ASCS office here.

To what extent an unfavorable crop season and the demand for greater production of foodstuffs will affect this program this year is not fully known.

The Feed Grain Set-Aside Program is designed to maintain feed grain production and prices at levels which would provide current market needs and an ample reserve for years of short supply. Last year, the Secretary of Agriculture gave farmers an opportunity to divert as much as 45 percent of their feed grain bases.

The No. 2 cash producer among these federal programs, the report shows, was REAP (Rural Environmental Assistance Program), and REAP has had bitter harvest—it is no more. Funds allocated this program in the county last year totalled $21,668. The REAP funds went for these practices:

Permanent pasture, 265 acres, $9,734; trees for forestry purposes, 15 acres, $541; improving vegetative cover on 48 acres, $1,107; farm ponds, 59 acres served, $5,219; sediment retention and water control structures, 50 acres, $2,434; sod waterways, 36 acres, $240; problem areas, 7 acres, $2,031; winter cover crops, 7 acres, $13; limestone, 165 acres, $325; underground drainage system, 2 acres, $24.

The report shows that two producers in 1972 received $217.99 for wool sold during the preceding year. The same two have filed for payment of shorn wool and unshorn lambs sold in 1972.

Thirty-one of the 35 persons who signed contracts to participate in the pilot Appalachian Land Stabilization and Conservation Project on Middle Creek have since the beginning of the project in 1966 earned a total of $52,815 by completing their contracts. The ASCS committee is urging the other four to complete their contracts soon before the expiration date.

The Floyd ASCS committee is composed of Harry T. Hill, Cliff, chairman; W. V. Woods, Emma, vice-chairman; Wayne Cox, Garrett, regular member, and Will Boggs, Garrett, alternate member.

Day Camp Slated For Girl Scouts

The week of June 11-15 is the official date set for Girl Scout day camp at Camp Chatterawha, it was announced last week.

A varied program is developing for Scouts planning to attend. The girls can look forward to a swimming day, a fishing day, two visits from forest rangers, and a possible Cycling Unit for Cadette-age Scouts (girls who have finished sixth, seventh, and eighth grades).

The last date to register for Day Camp is May 18. The girls will give their registration forms and their $5 fee to their Troop leaders, who in turn are to give these to the business manager, Mrs. Jerry Frost, Allen, (874-2783) or to the camp director, Mrs. Paul C. Patton, Langley (285-3012).

Bus service for girls living on Right Beaver, at Martin, Allen, Prestonsburg and points between will be furnished. Transportation arrangements for Paintsville and Salyersville are incomplete.

Volunteer adults will serve as staff members and fill the various jobs necessary to have a successful camp. Some staff members are yet needed, and any interested in donating one week to the Girl Scouts are asked to contact the camp director.

Homestead Exemption May Not Be Raised, Says New Opinion

There is no constitutional authority to increase the $6,500 homestead exemption for those 65 and over to compensate for inflation, the attorney general's office said Monday.

It told Rep. Frank Quickert, D-Louisville, the only way that could be done is by amending the state constitution.

It was through a constitutional amendment approved in a 1971 referendum that the $6,500 exemption was granted to elderly homeowners. Quickert said a week ago he had asked for the opinion in view of the dwindling value of the exemption because of widespread reassessments in many counties recently.

Quickert implied the homestead perhaps could be increased through the same "rubber dollar" concept applied by the court of appeals almost a decade ago.

At that time the appellate court said public officials could obtain salary increases to equate their pay with rising living costs despite the constitutional limitations.

But Asst. Atty. Gen William Riley said: "There is no relationship either directly or indirectly with the compensation provisions covering salaries of public officials...and the exemption provisions from taxation...in the Kentucky constitution."

He said it is the general policy of the law to make all taxable property share the burden of taxation.

Potter Clinic Near Lackey Is First Of Knott County Health Services

Privately operated medical and diagnostic services in Knott county are hailed as the answer to many of the county's health problems. The first of two such clinics was established near Lackey, across the county line in Knott, 18 months ago by Dr. Ira B. Potter and Maurice Minix. The Potter Clinic maintains a complete laboratory, with X-ray equipment, and its 35-capacity waiting room is more often than not completely filled.

Dr. Bailey, Others Address Counselors At Area Meeting

Guidance counselors from a 13-county area of Eastern Kentucky concluded recently a two-day meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park.

About 65 counselors attended the Regional Counselors Conference. Dr. Lena Bailey, of Ohio State University, former Pike county resident and teacher, set the tone of the meeting with her speech, "Planning to Evaluate."

Dr. Bailey, who earned her doctorate from Ohio State and did master's degree work at Morehead State University, told the counselors from Region 11 and 12 to "stand up and be professionals." She indicated the reason for planning to evaluate is "accountability. The legislators are going to say to us: 'Account for what you are doing with the taxpayers money.'"

Dr. Lola Doane, of Eastern Kentucky University, told the group to "make education applicable and useful through instruction in career education."

Dr. Robert Peters, of Morehead State University, spoke on how to conduct group activities and his guest, Dr. Ward, outlined MSU's new Appalachian Technical School associate degree program which opens this fall.

Dr. Bill Braden, assistant director of the division of guidance services at Frankfort, gave an overview of a career guide being prepared by the division to aid counselors in career guidance programs.

Don Burchett, area supervisor for the state Department of Education, said the workshop session on needs assessment and evaluation was especially helpful.

Sawfly Defoliation Recorded in Area

The Virginia pine sawfly, a defoliating insect which attacks Virginia, shortleaf and pitch pines during the spring, has caused moderate-to-severe damage in eastern and south-central Kentucky during the last five years.

This insect does its damage during the larvae (immature) stage. The larvae are usually light green, with four gray-to-black stripes running the length of their bodies. Their heads are shiny black.

According to surveys made last winter by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection's Division of Forestry, Insect and Disease Section, defoliation by the Virginia pine sawflies is expected to be light this spring.

The sawfly larvae feed entirely on old pine needles and usually complete their development before the new needles come out in the spring. This allows the trees to put out enough foliage to survive if other conditions are favorable.

But trees under attack are often severely weakened to the point where they are highly susceptible to attack by other insects or diseases.

In the forest, natural controls such as parasites, predators, disease and unfavorable weather conditions limit Virginia pine sawfly populations. Direct control may be necessary, however, on ornamental and shade pines.

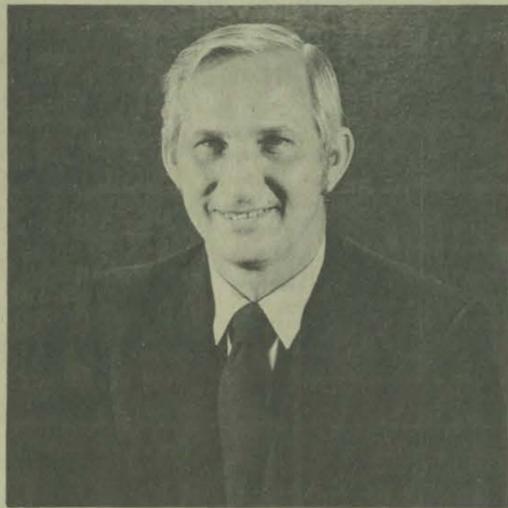

For information concerning the control of this insect (or any other insect or disease problem), contact the District Forester, Kentucky Division of Forestry office, Prestonsburg.

Ehrlich Warns Of Cataclysm

Richmond, Ky.—“Industrial civilization as we know it today will disappear from the earth in a great cataclysm” if present trends in environmental damage continue, Dr. Paul Ehrlich, population and environment expert, said at Eastern Kentucky University recently.

Ehrlich, professor of biology at Stanford University and author of the book, “Population Bomb,” said, “Nothing at all is being done about our environmental crisis, as far as changes that are really needed, except a lot of talking. He called measures taken so far “cosmetic.”

Ehrlich said the world food situation is “marginal” and that all food surpluses have disappeared. He suggested that a bad crop year could cause disaster. “If you think food prices are high now...” “We’ve waited so long to take action that global society now depends, not upon our action but upon the weather,” he added. To ease the “continuing assault upon our life support system,” Ehrlich called for a complete change in the industrial world view of society. But he said he did not recommend more governmental control except possible constraints upon depletion of certain resources.

Proven Leadership Means Continued Progress For Floyd County

W. J. “BILL” REYNOLDS has served Floyd County in the Kentucky Legislature for 10 years. During this period of time he has served with distinction and has risen to be House Caucus Chairman, one of the five leadership positions in the 100-member House of Representatives. This is not an appointive position, but is filled through an election by House members. Bill Reynolds’ colleagues in the House of Representatives, have honored him three times in electing him to this position of leadership. He is the senior House member on the Legislative Research Commission and serves on various interim committees between sessions.

HIS RECORD ON LEGISLATION AFFECTING FLOYD COUNTY:

1. He has the best record in the House on Education Bills.
2. He co-sponsored the coal miners’ Black Lung Benefits Act and voted to improve the Workmen’s Compensation Benefits for the working man in the coal mines.
3. He voted to remove the tax from medicine and food.
4. He co-sponsored the bill, and led the fight to pass the Homestead Exemption Bill, which gives a $6,500 tax exemption to our senior citizens.

It has been shown, that to get things done effectively at a local level, one must have a good working relationship with our leaders on the state and national level. Bill Reynolds has, through his years of service, developed this type of working relationship. Bill Reynolds knows our local, state, and national leaders. His experience of working with these leaders will be most beneficial as he continues to work toward a better Floyd County.

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK (Attorney General of Kentucky)

Have you ever purchased a household appliance or a piece of family entertainment equipment which was guaranteed for a specified amount of time, only to discover later that the guarantee or warranty was limited in liability?

Many items carry some type of warranty or guarantee, but it is the responsibility of the buyer to understand exactly what the warranty or guarantee promises.

Many manufacturers are becoming more aware of their responsibilities to you, the consumer, because consumers are demanding more accurate information regarding products they purchase.

Today, as never before, manufacturers are issuing and strongly promoting long-term guarantees to regain your confidence in their product or service. Still, a manufacturer's guarantee is only as good as his reliability and reputation for making his promise good.

Many manufacturers or distributors limit their liability when writing guarantees. A guarantee can disclaim certain responsibilities as well as state the repairs it will provide. Under the provisions of some, the original warranty can be cancelled if you take the product to an unauthorized repairman for servicing or repairs.

A guarantee means nothing unless it states how long it will be in effect and what it is intended to do.

A service means very little if there is no authorized service outlet within your vicinity or if the item needing repair must be shipped to a far-away factory. The cost of shipping may equal the cost of the item.

There are certain steps you should take when purchasing a "guaranteed" item. Insist on seeing a copy of the guarantee before making the purchase. Read it and ask questions until you thoroughly understand all parts of the guarantee. If the salesman offers additional guarantees, get them in writing.

If you have a consumer complaint or problem, you are invited to call the Attorney General's Consumer Hotline, toll-free, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday at 1-800-372-2960.

The total labor force is expected to expand by nearly 13 million between 1972 and 1980, from 89.0 to 101.8 million, according to latest projections of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Floyd Man Has Part In Skylab Mission

Cocoa Beach, Fla.—Airman First Class Burton Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Conley, of Wheelwright, Ky., has helped provide downrange communications for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Skylab I mission scheduled for launch in mid-May at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

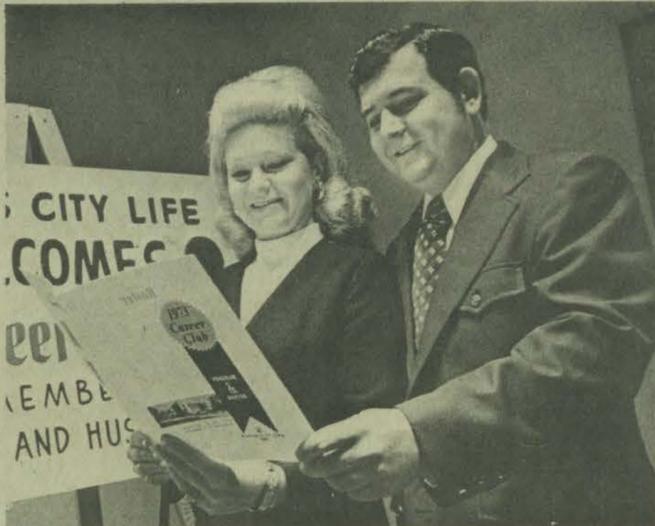

Airman Conley is a communications wiring specialist with the 1830th Electronics Installation Squadron, which is headquartered at Patrick AFB, Fla., but has offices and working quarters at the Kennedy Space Center complex.

The Skylab I schedule rocketing the Skylab workshop, airlock module, multiple docking adapter and Apollo telescope mount into space in the first of two launches from Cape Kennedy. Approximately 24 hours later, the second launch will send the Skylab I team of three astronauts—Charles "Pete" Conrad, commander, and Dr. Joseph Kerwin and Paul Weitz—in a modified Apollo command-service module to a rendezvous 270 miles above the earth with their combination home-laboratory-workshop in which they will orbit earth 28 days.

Follow-on missions—Skylabs II and III—call for three-man teams each to spend a maximum of 56 days in the orbiting Skylab cluster. Original plans indicate that approximately one month will lapse between one team's return to earth and the succeeding launch.

Airman Conley is a 1971 graduate of Wheelwright High School, Bypro, Ky. His wife, Eloie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ali Collins, of Weeksbury.

JOE WHEELER LEWIS

DEMOCRAT FOR SHERIFF

No. 2 on Ballot

Since I have served as deputy sheriff for ten years and a sheriff for four years, I do not feel it necessary for me to give a long story about who I am and what I stand for. I feel like we all will be judged by our past record. My greatest desire to be sheriff is to make Floyd County a better place in which to live. I am one hundred percent against the sale of alcoholic beverages and will do my best to stop bootlegging and dope peddling. I will work, day and night, to stop breaking and entering. All deputies will be sober, honest and respectful and will be in uniform when patrolling roads. Two deputies will work day and two will work at night. I will have one person in the office to receive calls at night.

I want to thank all my opponents for their kindness in the race. I believe this has been the cleanest sheriff's race I have ever seen in Floyd County.

I am running my own race and ask the support from all candidates in other races.

Your Vote and Support Appreciated.
