

'Totally Shocked and Amazed'..

Grigsby, State Differ On Clarity of Demands

For Schools Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. last week's action by members of the state Board of Education—who warned they might seek a state takeover of Floyd schools unless Grigsby and the Floyd board could persuade them otherwise—was just one more example of the state's apparently insatiable need to find fault with Floyd school administrators.

And the worst of it, Grigsby said, is that neither he nor the Floyd board members understand what it is the state board is asking of them.

"We were totally shocked and amazed at the board's action and at the way we were treated," Grigsby said in an interview Friday. While he, assistant superintendents Ray Brackett and Ron Hager, and board chairman Dr. J.D. Adams attended Tuesday's meeting of the state panel, "they didn't recognize us, they didn't speak to us, they didn't even read the report (on Floyd county) in open meeting," Grigsby said. "We still don't know what's in the report. No one has contacted us. No one has told us what was wrong or what is left for us to do."

Told of Grigsby's reaction, Barbara McDaniel, a spokeswoman for the state Department of Education, said Monday that "it underscores what the (state) board is saying."

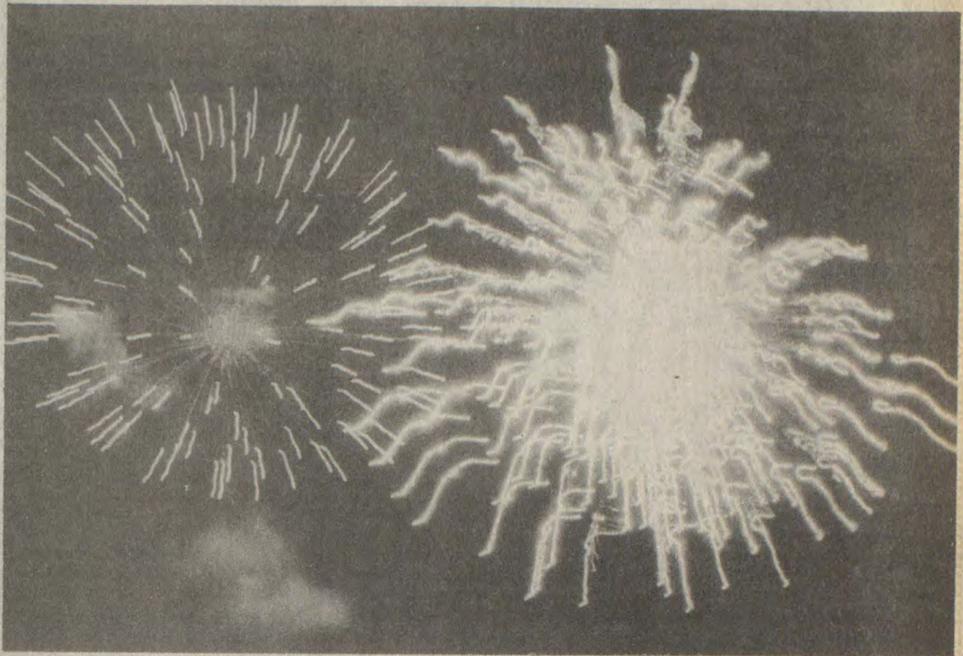

"How many times do we have to come down there and take them by the hand and say, 'We need you to do this, we need you to do that?'" she asked. "They only do things in reaction to specifics cited by the state. There is no real effort on their part to take charge. There is no long-range plan—there is not even a short-range plan—to improve the current conditions of the schools."

"We have tried to communicate with everybody," the state official continued. "We've said, 'You've got a problem; this is what we suggest; we are ready to help.' But, when there is no initiative at the other end, there comes a time when the state board feels that this is a hopeless situation and that it won't be corrected unless firm action is taken."

In fact, while the state's "show cause" order was "the strongest directive we have ever issued to date" and "the farthest we have ever gone with any school system" under new powers given the state by virtue of last year's Senate Bill 202, it was hardly decisive. Choosing its words cautiously, the state board said Floyd authorities must show cause by August 15 why the state "should not proceed with consideration of possible removal" of Grigsby or local board members and why the Floyd board should not be declared academically deficient under the 1984 "academic bankruptcy" law.

McDaniel conceded that the state is not anxious to take over a local school (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

'Bottom Line—No Evidence'..

Attorney for Clerk Says No Favor Given

If individuals were "playing politics" with the investigation and subsequent exoneration of County Clerk Carla Boyd, they were not her allies but her political opponents, her attorney said this week.

Jerry Patton said he and his client held back until now from making any public comment on reports that state police turned up evidence that Boyd had a hand in forging 174 auto registration receipts between 1980 and 1982 in order to check the record for themselves.

"The bottom line is they didn't have any evidence" of criminal conduct on the clerk's part, Patton said. Of the allegedly forged receipts, Boyd's initials appear on only five and—like the initials of the half-dozen other deputy clerks which appear on the receipts—were typewritten, not handwritten, the attorney said. "Anybody who used a typewriter could have done it," he added.

Of a report that Boyd had admitted preparing the false receipts, Patton said his client admitted only that she had prepared some of them and acknowledged that she was not aware that any other deputy clerks had prepared any. That was erroneously taken by some as an admission that she had prepared all 174 of the receipts when in fact she did not know at the time that so large a number of receipts were in question, the attorney said.

Patton scoffed at suggestions that Attorney-General David Armstrong had favored Boyd in declining to turn over evidence against her to a grand jury that indicted 16 other Floyd countyans last December. The attorney-general had no political reason to favor Boyd and, in any case, the clerk was more damaged by the investigation than she would have been by an indictment, Patton said.

Patton cited a June 19 letter to the attorney-general written by County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., one of those who initially raised questions about Armstrong's handling of the indictments. Turner wrote that "it was not my intention to heighten speculation about our clerk or the performance of your duties" and added, "My experience with Carla Boyd has been good and I have long felt there was no substance to the long-circulated rumors of her connection with misconduct."

Patton suggested that the attention given recently to the state police investigation of the clerk was prompted by "someone interested in running (for clerk) four years from now." The attorney noted that Floyd Republicans are in the process of choosing a new can-

ONE YOUNG WOMAN WAS KILLED and nine others injured in two collisions which occurred within a few hundred yards of each other between 11:30 and noon, last Wednesday. Drivers of the cars above, Shirley Lewis, of Prestonsburg, and Tammy L. Houston, of East Point, were both hospitalized when their cars collided near the south entrance to Archer Park. The other accident, at the intersection of Rt. 114 and US 23 near the Western Sizzlin', claimed the life of Kimberly Robbins, 22, of Warsaw, Ind., and resulted in injury to several others.

Mt. Comp Care Granted Month For a Response

The board of the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center was last week given 30 days to respond to a series of recommendations contained in a report on the agency by the state Cabinet for Human Resources. Parts of the report have also been turned over to the state attorney-general for review.

The state recommendations, which concern the agency's "fiscal and personnel management," were made in a closed meeting of the board last Tuesday night and the board scheduled another closed session Monday this week to consider its response.

Dennis Boyd, commissioner of Human Resources' department of mental health and mental retardation services, said state investigators found no budgetary reasons for the firings, layoffs and demotions that have brought complaints

THE MISSING FLOWER

Circulated a bit more than the usual from home to office last week-end, and somebody in the party got us to keeping an eye out for hollyhocks. The result was downright discouraging. We saw very few.

Why flower-growers have neglected the hollyhock, with its old-fashion beauty, is a bit hard to understand. Think I'll launch a hollyhock campaign. Even might stage a drive to get Kentucky to correct that monumental mistake made when the goldenrod—a-choo!—was named the state flower and get the hollyhock named, instead.

One Dead, 7 Injured In 2-Car Crash Here

An Indiana woman died and seven others were injured in a two-car collision at the junction of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway on the outskirts of Prestonsburg last Wednesday. The accident occurred while traffic lights at the intersection were being worked on and were temporarily out of action.

Kimberly Robbins, 22, of Warsaw, died at 12:20 p.m. when the driver of the car in which she was a passenger tried to turn onto the Mountain Parkway extension and drove into the path of another car, said state trooper Todd Henson.

According to a police report, the victim was a passenger in a car driven by Franklin D. Hale, 30, also of Warsaw, who attempted to turn left off U.S. 23 onto KY 114 and was struck by a car driven by Evelyn Taliver, 51, of Wakeman, Ohio.

Robbins was pronounced dead at the scene by Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson. Both drivers and six passengers—four from the Hale car, two from the Taliver vehicle—were taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center for treatment. Two boys, one from each vehicle, were later transferred to out-of-town hospitals.

Robert DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, one of the first on the scene, criticized a state highway crew for posting no flagman while the traffic lights were down. "People from out of state don't know these roads; they just go by the lights," he said.

But Kirby Ison, chief district engineer at the Pikeville office of the state Bureau of Highways, said regulations do not require that a flagman be used unless a highway crew is working on the roadway itself. Highway workers, who were modifying the traffic signals in anticipation of the opening of a new shopping center beside the Western Sizzlin' restaurant, were "completely out of the roadway," he said.

If traffic signals fail, through a power cutoff or other reason, it is the responsibility of drivers to use conventional signals and, when making a turn, to see that oncoming traffic is clear, Ison said.

In response to a report by Trooper Henson that both drivers told him they had green lights, Ison said that "in no way possible at all" and attributed the statements to "the normal reaction of people who have been involved in an accident." Power to the signals had been cut off for more than an hour before the accident occurred and, even if the power were on, it is "mechanically impossible" for opposing sets of green lights to be on at the same time, the engineer said.

Ison said he was puzzled by reports that Prestonsburg Police Chief Stan Fletcher had called for a state survey team to check on traffic conditions on U.S. 23 at the Mountain Parkway and in Prestonsburg. The area has only recently been studied, said Ison, who added that traffic safety in Prestonsburg is largely "an enforcement problem."

Of those injured in Wednesday's wreck, those in the Hale car included

Outcry Results In the Reversal Of Hiring Action

The hiring of school personnel for the new academic year generated protests in at least two instances and in one case the outcry caused the Board of Education to reverse its initial decision.

Paul David Tackett, who has been coach of the girls' basketball team at Betsy Layne High School for the past four years and was coach at the John M. Stumbo school for five years prior to that, said he was first told that his coaching services would no longer be needed, was then briefly reinstated, and now has again been informed that he is being replaced.

A 30-year-old physical education teacher at Stumbo, Tackett cites politics as the reason for his removal as coach, noting that it was no secret that he supported Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen in his primary bid to unseat Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. A longtime member of the board of education, Stumbo is still reckoned by many to have a strong influence on its decisions.

A small group of Betsy Layne parents who attended the school board's July 26 meeting acknowledged they were seeking the ouster of Tackett as coach, saying that he showed favoritism in selecting starting players and noting that his niece was among the starting five. But Tackett said, "You have 24 players; you can only start five," and added that his niece is among them only because "she's good."

A Teaberry resident, the former coach said he has a record of 174 wins to only 55 losses and for the past three years has been named Floyd county Coach of the Year. "That speaks for itself," he added.

Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. declined to give a reason for the board's failure to rehire Tackett as coach and noted Monday that the coaching position at Betsy Layne is still open. (Grigsby said he was unaware of a Sunday meeting at which some parents and players supposedly "elected" Tackett's successor and added that that would be a "very unusual" method for hiring a coach.) Tackett's temporary designation as coach on a listing of Stumbo school faculty in June resulted from a clerical error, the superintendent said.

Neeleys Say Unusual Home Here A Dream That Was Put To Work

One of the most distinctive landmarks in Prestonsburg is located at 683 University Drive. Situated between WQHY radio on one side and, further down, the Archer Clinic on the other, is the home of Carlos and Norma Neeley.

The Neeleys have lived at the same address for the 22 years they have taught at Prestonsburg High School. He teaches art; she, English. Though the address has remained the same, the look of their home has altered a great deal during that time.

Most people are content to live in a fairly constant home environment. An occasional paint job or new carpeting is enough to keep them happy and content. Not so with the Neeleys.

For Carlos Neeley, his home, and the continuous re-modeling he does on it, are the stuff dreams are made of.

The house which he and Mrs. Neeley share was built in 1928 by his father, Tom E. Neeley, for Lonnie and Dora May, parents of the well-known artist, Russell May. It was re-acquired years later, and, once the creative bug bit the current residents, the look of the place began to change dramatically. Where once stood an ordinary house, now stands a villa. Two doors down is a mill, also owned by the Neeleys. Out back is, quite literally, a houseboat.

It was the houseboat, known as Neeley's Folly, which was first constructed. The Neeleys started with a couple of pontoons back in the mid-60's and had the boat built on Dewey Lake. It remained afloat for about six years before they decided to bring it home to use as a rental apartment.

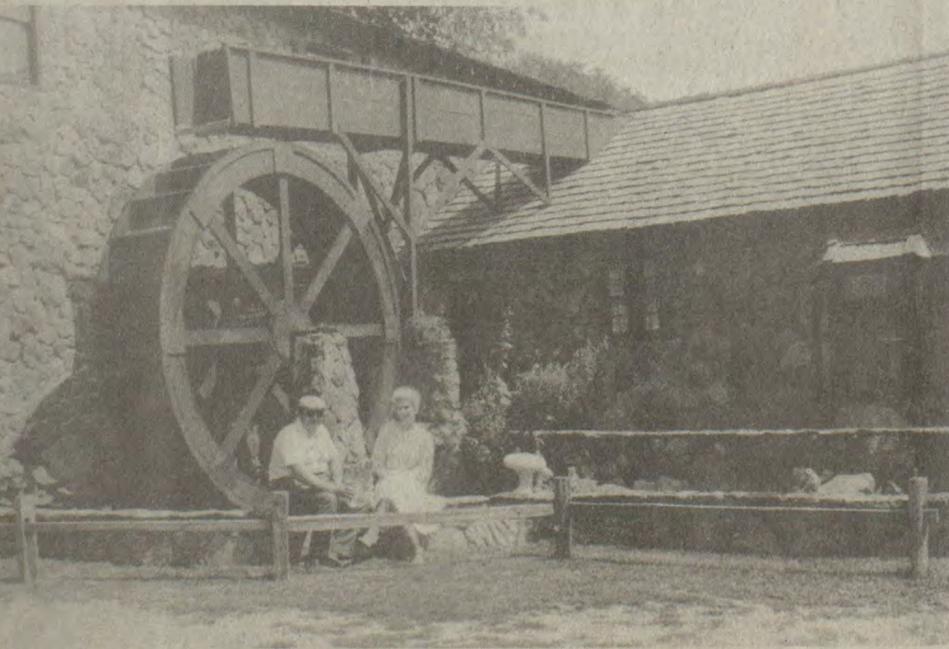

Before they could get it on their property, however, the smokestack and pilot house had to be removed to accommodate obstructing telephone lines. After that, it was anything goes.

"It was Everett Patton who really gave me the idea for remodeling the main house," said Neeley. "He was into architecture, and he made me a sketch, and that got my wheels turning. First an addition, then walls. I still have things I want to do."

Some of those future plans include another upstairs room complete with a circular staircase. The Neeleys, however, disagree on the nature of this room. He envisions a lot of arches, while she wants windows to dominate, making it into a solarium.

All of the improvements on the proper-

Federal Jury Convicts Yates

A Honaker man was convicted last week on three charges of making false statements to the U.S. Department of Labor regarding a claim for federal black lung benefits. But his attorney said it was a case of the government pursuing the miner who works "off the books" rather than the operators who employ him.

U.S. Attorney Louis DeFalaise said that Hershell Yates, 40, falsely stated in affidavits that he had worked for the C & H Coal Co., of Printer, from 1969 to 1973, when in fact he worked only one day for the firm. A federal district court jury in Pikeville deliberated for about 20 minutes last Tuesday before finding Yates guilty.

Sentencing was set for August 16 for the former miner, who faces a possible sentence of 15 years in prison and a $30,000 fine.

Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf did not deny Yates had made false claims but said his client had worked "off the books" for various operators who wished to avoid paying social security taxes on their employees. "I think that if one is prosecuted, all should be prosecuted, but who do they go after?" the lawyer asked rhetorically. "Do they go after the operator?"

Pillersdorf said a ruling by U.S. District Judge G. Wix Unthank prevented his putting to the jury his principal argument, which was that Yates' false statements did not affect the validity of his claim for black lung benefits. While he could not document his entire work record, Yates had been a miner for 12 years and had been told by five doctors that he was suffering from pneumoconiosis, the defense attorney said. But Judge Unthank instructed the jury to consider only the truth or falsity of the sworn statements Yates made in applying for benefits.

Depending on the sentence meted out on Aug. 16, Yates would consider appealing the verdict, Pillersdorf said.

Floyd County sheriff's deputies arrested Charles Robert Hensley, of Middle Creek, Monday on charges of cultivating marijuana.

A total of 152 plants, with a street value estimated at $151,600, were recovered from six patches of marijuana found growing in a hollow behind Hensley's home. The arrest was made following a tip received by the sheriff's office. Hensley was later released on $5,000 bond.

According to deputies, the sheriff's office has recovered about $620,000 worth of marijuana during this year's crop season. Sheriff Henry C. Hale said his drug enforcement rate is high because of information supplied by citizens, and urged anyone having information on drug trafficking to contact the sheriff's department.

Police Report Points to More Case Solutions

Police Chief Stan Fletcher released a report this week indicating that crimes committed in Prestonsburg are more likely than not to be solved.

Of 131 cases opened by the police department between August 1, 1984 and June 30, 1985, 96 were cleared. This means that arrests were made or the case was considered unfounded, as when the complainant dropped charges. Those cases listed as not cleared are either still under investigation, or don't have enough "solvability factors," according to Fletcher. If a case is not cleared it stays in an open file until an arrest is made or the statute of limitations on the crime expires.

At Monday's City Council meeting, Councilman Bill Ray Collins commended Fletcher, saying "you keep showing us stuff like this. It lets council and the public know you're doing a job." And Councilman Paul Hunt Thompson agreed, saying he was especially pleased with the police department's perfect record in drug investigations. "I think they're all important, but 13 of 13 on drug cases is pretty good."

Of the 18 offense categories listed by the report, 14 had a 100% clearance rate. Those categories with cases still not cleared include theft, with 23 of 65 cases still open; burglary, with 5 of 15 open; assault, with one of two open; and criminal mischief, with all six cases still open.

There were 595 arrests made by the police department during the months listed.

Fletcher said his department was more efficient this year than last. In 1983-'84, he said, there was an average of seven or eight burglaries per month. In 1984-'85, there were only 15 for the entire year. The lower figure comes from "people doing their job, (having) more saturated patrols, and getting the people who commit these offenses off the street," said Fletcher.

In June, the police department issued 196 citations, investigated 27 accidents, made 22 DUI arrests and opened 15 criminal cases. Of the criminal cases, nine were cleared by arrest and six are still under investigation.

In other police department business, Fletcher asked City Council to approve the purchase of 12 vehicles, one for each officer on the force, from the Kentucky State Police auction to be held in September. According to Fletcher, this would in the long run be cheaper than the city's present policy of purchasing two new cruisers each year. As things stand now, the city has already set aside $20,000 for the purchase of two new cruisers this year. Under Fletcher's request, approximately $1,400 to $1,700 would be spent to purchase each of the 12 vehicles, from the KSP auction with another estimated $1,400 being spent to recondition each one.

The City Council was wary of making a decision on the matter until further study had been done on the cost effectiveness of the proposal. City manager David Evans said a decision would probably be reached sometime this month.

McCauley Awarded Grants For Research in Norway

Joseph L. McCauley, Jr., UH-University Park assistant professor of physics, has won a grant from NORDITA to continue his research in modern nonlinear dynamics and chaos theory at the Norwegian Energy Institute (NEI) in support of his faculty development leave beginning next fall. He will also teach a course on the subject at the University of Oslo. In addition, McCauley has won a second grant from the American-Scandinavian Foundation for statistical and nonlinear dynamics research at NEI.

Mr. and Mrs. McCauley and daughters, Katie and Marianne, will leave for Oslo the latter part of August and will remain there until January. His mother, Mrs. Joseph L. McCauley, Sr., of Prestonsburg, plans to visit them in September.

Two Drivers Injured In Wednesday Crash

A collision of vehicles driven by Shirley A. Lewis, 66, of Riverside Drive here, and Tammy L. Houston, 17, of East Point, last Wednesday left both drivers hospitalized, according to Police Chief Stan Fletcher.

The accident, which occurred at 11:58 a.m., resulted when the Lewis vehicle attempted to enter U.S. 23 from the southern entrance of Archer Park and failed to yield the right-of-way to Houston, said Fletcher. About 15 minutes earlier, an Indiana woman had been killed and seven others injured at an intersection a few hundred yards away.

Both drivers were taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center. Mr. Lewis was transferred the same day to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Lexington, where he remained until Tuesday. Miss Houston was released Friday from HRMC.

Fletcher theorized a contributing factor to the accident may have been vehicles parked along the roadside near Shepherd's Gulf station, which possibly obstructed Lewis's view of oncoming traffic. The police department has since installed "no parking" signs there.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

The Law Should Work Both Ways

The Times is glad that at long last the state's highest court has ruled that no precinct or any other part of a county (outside cities of the first four classes) which has in a local option election voted dry may at a later date defeat the original purpose of the election by voting itself wet.

That was what happened in neighboring Magoffin county. After the sale of intoxicating beverages there was forbidden by countywide vote, an election was held in the Royalton section of the county, and the voters in that one locality overturned the majority rule of the entire county and installed liquor sales.

Now, the state Supreme Court rules that the wet status of that one locality is unconstitutional.

Strangely enough, however, the court does not give the same unit power to a wet vote. The court holds that a precinct or other division of a wet county may be legally voted dry.

We are opposed to the entire concept of legalized liquor sales, but this unilateral interpretation of the law does not coincide with our concept of fair play. If a dry county may not be cut up into a patchwork of dry and wet spots, we fail to understand how a wet county can give itself the polka dot effect of one or more dry spots sprinkled among the wet.

The effects of liquor sales cannot be confined to one precinct. It is an issue that, pro or con, should be settled on a countywide basis—and we would not exempt the municipalities which are now privileged areas.

district. "Superintendent (Alice) McDonald has said over and over that we hope this will never have to happen," she said, "because in the long run it really benefits no one. It is up to the local system to manage its own schools."

"But there comes a time when we have to say we're tired of fooling around," the state spokeswoman added.

State officials said Floyd administrators had exhibited "willful neglect of duty" in three areas—in their failure to provide for the safety and welfare of Floyd children; failure to follow "required and minimally acceptable" business and spending practices, and failure to maintain a quality program of instruction.

The state board also rescinded a 1986 schedule it had approved for Floyd county to make fire-safety improvements, ordering immediate compliance. The state board said it had been "mistakenly advised" by Floyd officials that the state fire marshal had granted an extension for compliance.

Floyd administrators' failure to comply with the state fire marshal's timeline and their failure to carry out proper maintenance of Floyd schools were the basis of the charge that they have neglected the safety and welfare of schoolchildren here, McDaniel explained. Failure to comply with state bidding laws was one of the reasons prompting the charge that Floyd fell short of minimal business and spending practices, she added.

"The whole problem the state board has with Floyd county is lack of good faith effort," McDaniel said. "In the (state) board's opinion, they have failed to take charge and manage. Poor management is the disease, of which all these other things are symptoms."

Citing a 1979 agreed order between Floyd officials and the state fire marshal, Grigsby said he did "not know how the state board could have been misled" on the timeline for making fire-safety improvements. "They have a copy of it. It's in black and white," he said.

"I felt that the reports I received from my department heads (on state-mandated improvements) were sound, were satisfactory. I felt we had a good report," Grigsby said. "Apparently we didn't."

Asked whether he felt Floyd administrators would be able to show cause why the state board should not consider their removal from office, Grigsby said, "I don't know. I wish I could say yea or nay but I don't know. I don't think anyone can argue that we haven't tried."

Auxier D.A.V. Slates Annual Picnic, July 20

Members of Andy J. Blanton Chapter 18, Disabled American Veterans and their families will hold their annual picnic, Saturday, July 20, at the shelter below the spillway at Dewey Dam from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

There will be speeches on issues of concern to all veterans, and the Powers Family and other groups will sing.

Those who can be asked to bring a covered dish. Commander Paul Connors, on behalf of the D.A.V., Chapter 18, expressed appreciation to members of the D.A.V. Auxiliary who will prepare and serve food for the picnic.

ty come from Neeley's own ideas, he said. Much of the construction is then carried out by wood craftsman Bruce Hackworth, and Neeley's father, Tom, and son, Charlie. In this way construction costs are cut to a minimum.

A case in point is the tower which rises from his roof.

"I got estimates on the tower at $15,000," said Neeley, who then drew up the plans himself and cut the 26 pieces of wood needed to build it. His father and son put it together and attached it to the roof. Total cost: $1,500.

Perhaps the most unusual thing on the Neeleys' property, however, is the mill. Based on the Wayside Inn grist mill in Sudbury, Mass., a structure built in 1929 by Henry Ford, the Neeley mill fronts on a four-dwelling apartment house and is actually turned by running water supplied by an underground tank. Inside, the apartments feature hardwood floors. Two are of peg wood, while the others retain the oak floors of the original structure, a small, frame house built in 1933 by Neeley's father. All the apartments have worm-eaten wood kitchen cabinets, made from wood rescued from an old barn in Magoffin county, and each has a fireplace.

Neeley admittedly has "a thing about mills." To complete the last three hours for his M.A. at Morehead State University, he prepared, with the aid of Mrs. Neeley, an audio-visual slide show, entitled "Water Mills," focusing on mills in the United States.

He also has a thing about bartering. He traded a highly valued Russell May print in exchange for the concrete work on the mill-stream. And, inside the house, he was able to haggle $3,000 from the price of a baby grand piano because of a small blemish on the backside of the casing.

The Neeleys have no idea how much they have spent on remodeling. "It's just continuous," said Mrs. Neeley, "and we do a lot of the work ourselves."

Neeley said he hopes to build, someday, a log cabin and an underground dwelling. That wouldn't be on this land, however. He wants to do that "back into a hillside."

Through it all, he continues to dream. "I get a big kick out of dreaming," he said. "That's a large part of life. If you don't dream, you might as well just sit down and forget it. Of course, if you don't do anything about the dream, you're wasting your time."

Carlos and Norma Neeley are people who do something about their dreams.

from former staff members and citizens at the agency's last two board meetings. MCCC Executive-Director David Bell, Jr. and some members of the board had cited fiscal restraints as a major reason for the cuts that critics say have seriously impaired programs and employee morale.

No one was speaking publicly this week about the specifics of the state report, which began as a routine review of the agency and was expanded in response to complaints by some staff members. Brad Hughes, a spokesman for the Human Resources Cabinet, said state officials would not make the report public because some parts deal with individual personnel and other parts could become grounds for litigation. But there was nothing to prevent the agency board from releasing the report, he said.

A member of the board, who asked not to be identified, said board members had agreed among themselves not to disclose the report at this time.

note of hypocrisy with the declaration that "we care."

Now the quality of caring, like mercy, is great, and, goodness knows, we need more of it. A caring parent, for example, may be the greatest gift a child will ever have. The knowledge that somebody really cares may be the one thing that will rescue an individual from the despair of that desperate unwanted-unloved syndrome.

But does somebody trying to sell an extra can of peas, or another car, or win a new customer really care?

Caring is a blessing from one individual to another, and the one who truly cares doesn't waste time talking about his or her concern for the well-being of another or others—he or she does something.

The following turned up on the overloaded desk this week:

SIGNS OF AGING

Everything hurts, and what doesn't hurt doesn't work.

The gleam in your eye is from the sun hitting your bifocals.

You feel like the morning after and you haven't been anywhere.

Your "little black book" contains only names ending in "MD".

Your children start to look middle-aged.

You get winded playing chess.

You know all the answers, but no one asks you the questions.

You look forward to a dull evening.

You walk with your head high, trying to see through your trifocals.

Your favorite part of the paper is "Fifty Years Ago Today".

You turn out the lights for economic reasons rather than for romantic ones.

You sit in a rocking chair but can't get it going.

Your knees buckle, but your belt won't.

Dialing long distance wears you out.

The best part of your day is over when the alarm goes off.

You burn the midnight oil at 9 p.m.

Your back goes out more often than you do.

You regret all those mistakes trying to resist temptation.

The fortune teller offers to read the lines in your face.

Your pacemaker makes the garage door go up when a member of the opposite sex goes by.

The little gray-haired person you help across the street is your spouse.

You have too much room in the house and not enough room in the medicine cabinet.

But Tackett said he was "upset at the way (his removal as coach) has been handled," claiming that Grigsby had earlier assured him he had "not a thing to worry about" and that board member Fred Newsome had promised he would be given an opportunity to present his case before a final decision was made. "That never happened," Tackett said. "All this has taken place behind closed doors for the benefit of a special group."

"This definitely will not be the last of this matter," said the ousted coach, who explained that he intends to hire an attorney to press his claim on the coaching job.

In another case involving a Betsy Layne High School appointment, Kay Halbert will succeed Billie Jean Osborne as band director although Sandy Cole was originally tapped for that position. Supt. Grigsby acknowledged that "some people got excited" when Cole was initially preferred to Halbert, who has been assistant to Osborne for several years. A group of parents who attended the school board's June 26 meeting said they were angry that Halbert, who enjoyed their confidence, had been bypassed initially in favor of a newcomer.

James Hale, 10, who was transferred to Cabell-Huntington Hospital, in Huntington, W. Va., where he remained Monday, still in critical condition; Debbie Adkins, 25, who underwent surgery here and was later transferred to UK Medical Center in Lexington, where she was listed Monday as in critical but stable condition; and Kathy Adkins, 3, who was admitted to Highlands and later released. The driver was admitted here overnight and then discharged.

From the Taliver car, Wayne Taliver, 13, was transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington with head injuries. Mrs. Taliver was listed in fair condition here, while Ray Taliver, 13, was admitted and since discharged.

Police said none of the accident victims was wearing a seat belt.

The Break-Up Threat To Community Colleges

Your recent editorial concerning the actions and recommendations of the Council on Higher Education concerning the University and the Community Colleges was timely and well put. The threat of the break up of the Community College System has occurred every two years as a legislative session approaches. The strength of our community college education lies in great part in the fact that we have a united system with our own senate and council. We develop our own courses in response to requests and needs of our respective areas. The quality of these courses remains very close state-wide. Each Community College has articulation agreements with the four-year institutions in the state to which its students transfer.

Each time the break up issue surfaces, someone proposes that Jefferson Community College be given to the University of Louisville. It somehow seems to bother people that community colleges exist in the same community as a four-year institution. Let me point out that community colleges exist in cities all over the United States and Canada in which four-year institutions are also located. They have different missions and there is little logic in ever proposing that Jefferson become a part of the University of Louisville. However, opponents of the Community College System know that if they can separate the largest of the Community Colleges, then the rest of us would become easy targets for other divisions of the total Community College System. We would indeed become the flotsam that your article suggests.

On behalf of Prestonsburg Community College and the total Community College System, I wish to thank you for your article.

HENRY A. CAMPBELL, JR., Director, Prestonsburg Community College

Grouping in Schools

The children are separated into four groups. The top groups won't even associate with the lower groups. This is discrimination against our children.

If this grouping system is not stopped I'm going to the State Board of Education and explain what's going on in our schools. Governor Martha Layne Collins said children from every district in our state should have the same opportunities.

If we go back to our old school days, when our kids were all in one room, the slower children learned from our smarter children.

Let's go back this year to self-maintained classrooms and put the grouping system behind us.

Tour of Zoos Returns To KET

Lions, tigers, bears and their associates in the animal kingdom are featured weekly on "Great Zoos of the World," which encodes Wednesday, July 31, at 7:00 p.m. on KET. Each Wednesday evening viewers will have the opportunity to tour zoos in North America and Europe with renowned zoologist Anthony Smith. His knowledgeable commentary and visits stress a new concept in zoo management.

In the early days of zoos, animals were brutally torn from their environment and confined to a cage for public viewing. Enlightened zoo curators now espouse the philosophy of creating a natural habitat to make the animal's stay in captivity as comfortable as possible. Comfortable animals produce healthy-off-spring which, according to Smith, enhance zoo profits thereby insuring a future for animals threatened by extinction.

Highlights from London, West Berlin, Antwerp, and the oldest zoo of the world, the Basel Zoo, in Switzerland, are presented along with North American zoos. Competing zoo directors freely acknowledge the San Diego Zoo, in California, as the world's greatest zoo; a zoo from Tucson, Arizona, is also featured.

"Great Zoos of the World" was acquired from Lionheart Television International.

Academic All-American

The National Secondary Education Council announced today that Amy E. Mayo has been named an Academic All-American.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The Academic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average.

Miss Mayo, who attends Allen Central High, was nominated for this award by Joyce Watson, German II and Advanced Math teacher. Her biography will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The Council selects Academic All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the NSEC for other honors.

Miss Mayo is the daughter of Don and Ruby Mayo, and her grandparents are John and Dolly Mayo, of Martin, and Nan Robinson, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Keller To Compete In Miss Ky. Pageant

Laurie Janine Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Keller, of Nippa, will be competing in the Miss Ky. Scholarship Pageant, July 11, 12, and 13, at Spalding College in Louisville.

She is the reigning Miss Floyd County, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, and will be competing in talent, swimsuit, evening gown and private interview competitions.

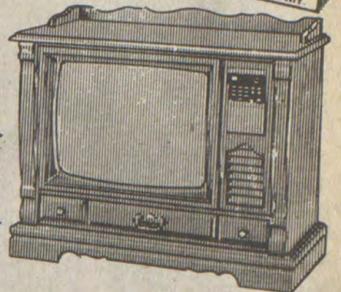

The winner of the Miss Ky. Pageant will go on to Atlantic City, N.J. to compete for the title of Miss America.

WHETHER LEARNING, PLAYING, or just relaxing, those enrolled in Prestonsburg Community College's Summer Day Camp seem to enjoy it all. The group above was photographed at Archer Park shortly before the first session ended.

DELIGHT OF EVERY YOUNGSTER, bane of most parents, the carnival was in town last week. The James Drew Show's annual appearance here has come to signal the beginning of the Fourth of July celebration almost as much as the fireworks display signals its conclusion.

The 4th—a Quiet Week-End

For accidents and arrests, it was a pretty slow holiday weekend in Floyd county.

Officials of the Prestonsburg city police, fire department, Kentucky State Police, and Highlands Regional Medical Center all report business as usual, with no increased problems arising from the July 4 celebration. The holiday weekend lasted officially from 6 p.m. Wednesday through midnight Sunday. (Two collisions here in which one was killed and nine were injured took place a few hours before the holiday period began.)

Police Chief Stan Fletcher reported that his department had made five DUI and six public intoxication arrests in what he considered to be a normal week. He also said the police had been called to the scene of four traffic accidents, three of which occurred on the Bert T. Combs bridge on U.S. 23 here. The other was on South Lake Drive at Richmond Street. All were said to have been minor, with no injuries reported.

Fletcher said that, with the number of people in town over the weekend, things were pretty quiet. Things were pretty quiet for the Prestonsburg fire department, too. The firefighters responded to a grease fire at the home of Donald Colvin of Lancer on Friday. Only minor damage was reported. On Saturday, the fire department was called to the softball field at Archer Park for emergency treatment of Roy Kidd, a coach who had been struck on the leg by a line drive. Kidd was treated for a possible fracture and taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center. On Sunday, the fire department answered a call on Central Avenue where power lines were arcing with trees. The situation was handled by the firefighters and Kentucky Power, who temporarily shut off the electricity.

The only unusual occurrence reported by the fire department came during the annual fireworks display at Archer Park. The firefighters had decided to try something new this year. They were shooting the fireworks from different locations, with the display criss-crossing in mid-air. Everything worked smoothly until the last two rolls of fireworks overturned and discharged some 20 fireballs on the ground. Nobody was struck by the fireworks.

According to Trooper Kenneth Frost, of Post 9 in Pikeville, the Kentucky State Police made 11 DUI arrests in Floyd county and 36 in the post's five-county patrol area of Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin. Frost said that on an average weekend there might be 12 to 15 DUI arrests in the area but that the higher number was normal for the holiday period. He also said the KSP was involved in a push against drunk drivers, and that more often troopers are seeing drunks as passengers in cars rather than as drivers "and that's what we want."

Frost said that only one traffic fatality occurred in Post Nine's area, that of Magoffin county coroner Jerry Dunn on Saturday. Dunn was killed in a freak accident while attempting to start his motorcycle in the parking lot of Continental Conveyor off U.S. 460 in Salyersville. After failing in several attempts to start the motorcycle, Dunn attached it by a chain to the back of a pick-up truck, and was being pulled around the parking lot in circles. The chain became entangled, causing the motorcycle to overturn and pin him underneath. The accident occurred at 8:10 p.m. Dunn was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center where he was pronounced dead at 9:35 p.m. by Floyd Coroner Roger Nelson.

According to Kurt Pickering at the medical center, Dunn's was the only traffic accident requiring emergency room treatment over the period. Pickering said that on a normal weekend there are usually no more than one or two traffic accident victims brought into the hospital's emergency room. Pickering also said that no fireworks-related injuries were brought to HRMC.

Sheriff Henry C. Hale said his office made no arrests over the weekend.

CARS WERE BUMPER TO BUMPER at Archer Park here on the Fourth when the twin attraction of James Drew carnival and a fireworks display beckoned young and old.

GOBLE FAMILY REUNION SLATED HERE, JULY 20

The Goble family reunion will be held at Archer Park, here, Saturday, July 20, beginning at 10 a.m. Relatives of Clyde and Florence Goble are invited to attend bringing food and drinks.

Glass is one of the most versatile products manufactured by man. It can be made lighter than cork or as massive as cast iron, as strong as steel or as fragile as a spider web, cotton soft or diamond hard.

Van Lear To Mark 75-Year Heritage

King Coal may reign supreme in this section but some towns refuse to die when its economic ruler abdicates. Van Lear is one of these. It has been some 30 years since the last commercial shipment of coal left its mines, but the people have remained. They have kept their homes, some small businesses, and although most work elsewhere, they return to Van Lear at the end of the day. Those who had to move away come back home whenever they can from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, wherever.

And many of these will be back when the Van Lear Historical Society holds the Van Lear Town Celebration, August 2, 3 and 4, marking the 75th anniversary of the first commercial movement of coal from its mines.

The celebration will begin at 10 a.m., Friday, August 2, with registration and an historical display and video film of the history of Van Lear at the Historical Society building. Opening ceremonies including flag raising, welcome by Doug Kretzer, president of the society. Tentatively scheduled to speak are Dr. Paul B. Hall, Congressman Chris Perkins, State Senator David LeMaster, State Representative Ray Preston, and a number of Van Lear residents who are a part of its history. The day will conclude with a music festival in which Dave Kretzer's Southern Sound and other bands will perform.

Saturday morning there will be competitive games for children and teenagers including croquet, horseshoes, sack races, foot races, ball throwing, greasy pole climb with prizes for all. While Liz Claiborne might not be interested, a used clothing fashion show promises to be fun for both models and audience. Many items for a striking ensemble are said to be available now at the historical society's Jot 'em Down Store.

A turkey shoot will be held at 11 a.m. at the head of Possum Holler, and that night a music show will be hosted by Roger and Russell Wells and Sylvester Creek Band with various bands performing. There will be an open stage for musical talent, and a dance floor will be available for those who want to kick up their heels.

Sunday, an all-day Gospel sing will be held with dinner on the grounds. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish to share, but drinks, ham and turkey will be provided by the Van Lear Historical Society. Historical memorabilia will be on display, and throughout the celebration, the Kentucky History Mobile will be at the Caboose Lot for viewing by the public. James "Tedo" Vaughn has invited any Van Lear golfers who can join him for a round of golf at Jenny Wiley golf course to contact him at May Lodge.

The townspeople of Van Lear have known tragedy when their mines were struck by one of the worst disasters in the area's history; triumph when they had the largest mining operation in Eastern Kentucky; pride in their football team, the famed Bankmules, and their baseball teams. No doubt, they knew despair when the mines closed and many faced an uncertain future, but now they say, "This is a time to celebrate our heritage"—and they're going to have a good time doing it.

First Birthday

Amber D. (Bambi) celebrated her first birthday Friday, July 5, with a Care Bear cake, friends and gifts. She is the daughter of Kim Martin Burke, of Allen, and granddaughter of Angie Prater, of Allen, and Wendell Martin, of Price. Her guests included Jennifer Bagus, Matthew Martin, Jonathon Moore, Terra Childers, Jeremy Childers, Wendi Martin, and Madonna Prater.

David School Shares Goals At ARC Meet

The David School was selected by the Appalachian Regional Commission to present its program of academic-vocational training at its June 25-27 Regional Workshop on Dropout Prevention. The workshop was held in Atlanta and brought together educators and business people from all 13 Appalachian states.

The school was asked to participate in the panel, "Successful School Related Dropout Prevention Programs". It was the only Kentucky school, and one of three in the entire Appalachian region chosen to share its program, goals, and results.

The pioneering program at David for students who have been unable to succeed in the regular school system was the reason for the ARC selection. Principal Jean Ford explained that the 11-year experience of David School has confirmed the view that there are three essential features in the education of the student who returns to school. They are basic skills training, improved self-confidence, and socialization-communication development.

Local business and community involvement was seen to be an important factor in keeping young people in school. This participation, especially through JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act), has been the way many schools and districts have financed their dropout prevention programs. David School, in its outreach program, operates the only JTPA education project in Floyd county. Last year, 15 persons participated in it, with 20 expected to take part next year.

Annual Meet Slated For So. States Co-op

Election of local Advisory Board members, Farm Home Advisory Committee members, and the reading of operations reports, will be among the highlights of the Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting in Prestonsburg, Thursday, July 18, at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Prestonsburg Farm & Home Store.

The theme of the meeting will be, "Teamwork: always in season."

Bill Hicks, of Prestonsburg, will serve as chairman of the local meeting. John McCallister, of Huntington, WV, a member of the Southern States Cooperative's regional staff, will report on Southern States supply and marketing operations for the 1984-85 fiscal year.

Local operations and services rendered to agriculture in the community will be discussed by Kenneth Meade, manager of Prestonsburg Farm & Home Store, and there will be a special recognition ceremony for local board and Farm Home Advisory Committee members who retire this year.

Nominees for the local board are Mark Green, of East Point, Arnold Lowe, of Eastern, and Palmer Martin and Rondel Prater, of Hueysville.

Women nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are Mrs. Ernestine Hicks, of Blue River, Mrs. Grace Conley, Mrs. Virginia Goble, and Mrs. Gay Hatfield, all of Prestonsburg.

Another feature of the meeting will be a "Share-A-Craft" display arranged by the Farm Home Advisory Committee. Members are being urged to bring their handmade crafts for display. Committee chairmen assisting with the meeting are Donald Hicks, chairman of the Greeting and Ribbons Committee, and Mrs. Kenneth Meade, chairman of the Decorating Committee.

Overseas jobs with American employers are sometimes listed at local offices of state Job Service or employment security agencies, especially in large cities where home offices of major corporations are based. Check your telephone directory, under state government listing, for "Job Service," "employment service," or "employment security," according to a U.S. Department of Labor fact sheet.

★ Kentucky Fishing Report ★

Frankfort, Ky., July 8—Heavy rains and thunderstorms combined to keep some anglers off the lakes this past week although during the July 6-7 period covered by this report, sunny weather and seasonal water conditions prevailed. Night fishing continued to be productive with scattered catches of rainbow trout and bass reported, while bluegill and sauger fishing were best during the daylight hours. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake, is as follows:

KENTUCKY: Officer Willard Browning reported light fishing activity with sauger being taken by trolling deep running crankbaits over main channel flats in 15-18 feet of water. Catfish were being caught in both the lake and tailwater area around rocks and rip-rap on worms and cut bait. Clear, falling slowly, at summer pool and 85°.

BARKLEY: Light to moderate fishing activity was reported by creel clerk Norman Brantley with white bass being caught by trolling and casting slab spoons. Bass were being taken by flip-pin plastic worms and jig and eel combinations in buck brush and flooded treetops. Clear to murky, stable at pool and 85°.

BARREN: Officer Donald Depp reported light fishing activity with bass located on dropoffs in 15-20 feet of water by casting plastic worms and jig and rind combinations early and late, and on spinnerbaits at night. Bluegill were being caught on crickets along channel bluffs. White bass were being caught on minnows at night, and in the scattered jumps. Clear to murky, rising slowly, 6 3/4 feet below pool and 85°.

NOLIN: Moderate fishing activity was reported by officer James Shipp. Bass were best on plastic worms at night over rocky points. Crappie were in 8-12 feet of water in timbered coves. Clear to murky to muddy, rising, 2 feet below pool and 84°.

ROUGH RIVER: Officer Harold Belt reported light fishing activity with crappie in 12-14 feet of water over stump beds. Scattered white bass jumps were reported and a few bass were being caught on plastic worms at night on points. Clear, stable at pool and 84°.

TAYLORSVILLE: Officer Joe Bland reported moderate fishing activity. Bass were being caught casting crankbaits in the treeline edges, plastic worms on rocky points, and buzzbaits at dawn. Bluegill were hitting worms and crickets over stickups and submerged treetops at about 8 feet. Clear, stable at pool and 85°.

HERRINGTON: Moderate fishing activity was reported by creel clerk Bill Pinkston. Bass were taking plastic worms on shallow to moderate banks, and white bass were being taken by casting plunker and fly combinations in the jumps and by trolling. A few hybrid white bass/rockfish were also taken on sinking spoons. Clear, stable, one foot below pool and 79°.

GREEN RIVER: Officer Clem Feese reported moderate fishing activity with bluegill located over submerged brush in 14 feet of water. Bass were best at night on plastic worms. Clear to murky, stable, one foot above pool and 82°.

CUMBERLAND: Light to moderate fishing activity was reported by officer Randy Wilson. White bass were being taken on plunker and fly in the jumps during dawn hours. Some nice catches of walleye, bass and rockfish were being caught trolling deep running crankbaits, and bass were being caught by casting plastic worms and spinnerbaits at night over points and stump beds. Clear, falling, 10 feet below pool and 78°.

DALE HOLLOW: Officer Mike Bowman reported light to moderate fishing activity. Bass were being taken on spinnerbaits and plastic worms off deep banks and rocky points. Crappie were around submerged cover 15-20 feet deep. Clear, stable at pool and 84°.

LAUREL: Moderate fishing activity was reported by officer Ken Mobley. Trout were hitting at night in 20-25 feet of water on corn, red worms and minnows off channel points. White bass were being taken in the jumps on spoons and spinners. Clear, stable, 2 feet below pool and 80°.

CAVE RUN: Creel clerk Tim Sloan and officer Mike Gilliam reported light fishing activity with muskies being taken by trolling and casting deep running crankbaits along main channel dropoffs. Bluegill activity very light with fish being taken on worms along steep rock banks. A few nice strings of crappie were being caught drift fishing with jigs 10-15 feet deep. Clear, stable at pool and 80°.

BUCKHORN: Officer Billy Joe Napier reported light fishing activity for crappie and white bass at night on minnows in 20-30 feet of water. In the tailwaters, some bass and muskie were caught casting crankbaits. Clear, stable at pool and 78°.

GRAYSON: Light fishing activity was reported by officer Kenny Skaggs. Bass were being taken on plastic worms off shoreline cover and rocky points in 10-15 feet of water. Crappie were in 10 feet of water around stickups. Clear to murky, rising, at pool and 78°.

DEWEY: Officer Dalton Conley reported light fishing activity. Crappie were being taken still fishing minnows over stickups and flooded brush in 10 feet of water. Clear to murky, stable at pool and 78°.

FISHTRAP: Light fishing activity was reported by officer Don Bevins. Bass were being caught at night on plastic worms in 15-20 feet of water. Catfish were being taken on cut bait and trotlines. Clear, stable at pool and 80°.

Columbia To Cut Natural Gas Rates

Natural gas rates for many Eastern Kentucky customers will fall this week to their lowest level since 1982, Columbia Gas of Kentucky has announced.

Columbia Gas is cutting the typical residential customer's monthly bill by $4.30, or about 7 percent, effective Thursday, District Manager Robert Ames said.

The average monthly bill is about $56, based on 9,000 cubic feet of gas. With the rate reduction, it will fall to about $52 a month.

"The decrease puts the average gas bill lower than it was in December of 1982," Ames said.

The last time Columbia Gas reduced its rates was in March, when they dropped 2.8 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky serves 113,000 customers in 20 counties in Central and Eastern Kentucky.

Ames said that the decrease was a result of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's approval of an agreement in April between Columbia Gas System Inc., the parent company of Columbia Gas of Kentucky and Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., and its 70 wholesale customers to reduce the rate that determines what the company pays for gas. That rate makes up 82 percent of customers' bills.

Columbia Gas buys its gas from Columbia Gas Transmission. Both are subsidiaries of Columbia Gas Systems Inc. of Wilmington, Del.

The negotiated agreement ended four years of challenges before the Energy Regulatory Commission and in federal court over Columbia Gas' practices in the early 1980s of buying high-priced supplies in some instances from its own affiliate companies while cutting back on purchases from producers charging less.

The states of New York and Ohio, about 70 of the utilities that distribute Columbia Gas and several public interest groups filed suit in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington challenging the Energy Regulatory Commission's reluctance to order a refund.

The agreement, which is expected to cost the parent company $1 billion, will affect customers of the Columbia Gas distribution system in the District of Columbia and eight states: Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

According to the agreement, the rates are effective until 1987.

To Head Bike-a-Thons

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced that Gorman Collins has agreed to chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in David, while Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne hall will share that position at Grethel.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

QUESTION

What should I do when I'm given a second opinion that differs from the first doctor's? I know that I'm not the only one this has happened to because I've heard of others with the same problem. It is an unsettling position to be in.

ANSWER

Second opinions are useful in determining the most appropriate treatment. But, it can be confusing when the opinions differ.

In this case it is important for the patient to obtain as much information as possible about the two opinions and why they differ. Ask each doctor to explain his or her opinion and how and why it differs from the other. It may be helpful to have these answers written by each doctor in language you can understand. When possible, it is helpful to have the doctors consult with each other. Often this discussion will result in an agreement on treatment or at least a better understanding of each opinion.

One other possibility is to obtain a third opinion. The patient then has the option of accepting the majority decision (two out of three) if there is one. But it is important to be prepared that in some cases the third opinion may differ from both of the first two.

In most cases, a second opinion will confirm the advised course of treatment. But, when doctors don't agree, it can be a difficult time for the patient and family. So, it is important to be as informed as possible about the treatment opinions when they differ so that you can make the best choice.

Owsley Reunion Held in Ohio

The 22nd Isaac N. and Millie Jane Owsley family reunion was held at Miamisburg Mound Park in Miamisburg, Ohio, Saturday, June 22, with 126 family members and 10 guests in attendance.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Owsley lived for many years at Estill. They are entombed in the DeRossett cemetery near here. Mrs. Owsley was a member of the DeRossett family. A large floral arrangement was placed by Bill Owsley on their grave site in memory of them by the family as is the custom each year.

The president, Bill Owsley opened the reunion by greeting the family and guests. The events of the day included fellowship, dinner, games, and the business meeting, and the Rev. Dencil Owsley led the group in prayer.

Balloons were given to all children, and Bill Owsley donated all of the game prizes.

Bingo winners were Kristi Owsley, Earl Graves, Robin Owsley, Lori Peyton, Jennifer Lafferty, Margaret Gibson and Nickolette Neff. Horseshoe contest winners were Larry VanHoose and Carl Gibson in the play-off against Kevin Jones and Neil Owsley. Winners of the name in-a-box drawing were Jerry Pay, Bob Edwards, Seymore Sizemore, Jeff Cole, and Margaret Edwards.

Arnie (Arnold) Owsley, Jr., was winner of the greased pig and the Arnold Owsley family's car had an extra passenger back to Rittman, Ohio.

Mrs. Nannie Pennington, Mrs. Opal Jean Nance, and Taulby Owsley each received a silver dollar as an award for being the children of the late Owsleys. Mrs. Martha Owsley received a silver dollar for being the eldest member present.

Ryan Keith Bradshaw, three-month-old son of Michelle Bradshaw and the grandson of Harold and Ruby Gaye Jones, received a silver dollar for being the youngest member present.

Kevin Jones, who serves in the military, received a nice round of applause for coming from Korea.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Bill Owsley. It was approved to retain the same officers for next year. They are: President, Bill Owsley, Franklin, Ohio; vice president, Cecil Edwards, Middletown, Ohio; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Bennie (Lillie) A. Terry, Sr., Huron, Ohio.

The site of the next reunion, which will be held June 21, 1986, will be again at Miamisburg Mound park.

IN APPRECIATION

The Paul Hunter family wishes to thank everyone for the donations and prayers by those from Wayland and Estill, the Zion Church in Detroit, Michigan during his illness.

May God bless all of you.

Americans love pets! According to National Wildlife magazine, Americans bring 364,000 live wild animals into the country each day. Of these, 337,000 are ornamental fish and 2,000 are exotic birds. One-fourth of the birds are dead when they arrive, or die before they find an owner.

In Memoriam

CHIPPED FRONT TOOTH

Q. Can a chipped front tooth be repaired?

A. The tooth CAN be repaired, and without any filing or capping, either.

A relatively new technique called "bonding" can restore chipped or broken teeth, teeth with too-wide spaces between them, teeth turned dark by a dead nerve, or those greyed out by fluorides or antibiotics.

It's done with a composite material which adheres to flawed teeth to make them look new and perfect again. Another big plus: this process can usually be completed in just one office visit. It is inexpensive, and will usually hold up for at least 3 to 5 years, perhaps longer.

At Jenny Wiley Theatre...

Musical 'Pippin' Swings Back All the Way to Charlemagne

The title character in PIPPIN, the musical extravaganza that will begin playing at the Jenny Wiley Theatre and run through August 16, is based on an actual historical character. He was Pepin, the first-born son of Charlemagne, emperor of the Holy Roman Empire in the eighth century. He is accorded only the smallest paragraph in history books that are of the most comprehensive sort.

What attracted its authors to use this little-known figure from the past as the basis for a spectacular, swinging, modern musical? Stephen Schwartz, composer and lyricist, takes credit for coming up with the idea. He and a classmate at college stumbled on the minuscule mention of the forgotten prince. They were interested because, in the scant information, there was the imputation of a fight between Pepin and his magnificent father. It suggested a generation gap between the pair that intrigued the two collegians. They worked on it, and the following year came up with it as the annual college musical.

It was with the music for this show in hand that Schwartz began knocking on doors in New York. The promise shown by his score gained Schwartz several impressive employments, leading to his writing the score for the fabled GODSPELL. Eventually, a collaborator was found to work on the book of PIPPIN, and the show was launched into the annals of Broadway musical history, outrunning such hits as SOUTH PACIFIC and MAME.

What little is known about the emperor's prodigal son doesn't figure too strongly in the fanciful story concocted by Roger O. Hirson. The jaunty master of ceremonies character played by Ted Brady in the Jenny Wiley Theatre's production of the show warns the audience from the outset that they won't be given a history lesson. PIPPIN has as much relation to events of the Middle Ages as Schwartz's GODSPELL has to a factual reading of the gospels. Both shows use their inspiration as a jumping-off place to make a point for today.

In the case of PIPPIN, the authors were looking to tell the story of a young man's search for significance. The events are described as happening in 780 A.D. "or thereabouts," and the program describes the setting as "the Holy Roman Empire and thereabouts." But Thom Sweeney (Pippin), who will play the title role, will be seen as a completely recognizable young man of today who is impatient to find his place in the world.

Dan Boden (Charlemagne) will be seen as the zesty, authoritative king who wants his son to learn the family business his way, and Barbara Wygal (Berthe), as grandma, will be playing a swinging old lady who knows the score—sexually as well as musically. Desiree Sheridan (Fastrada) and Ruth Rome (Catherine) may be dressed in fanciful costumes but they will be portraying women very much of today.

It has been the job of Denise Warner to create a wardrobe that suggests the eighth century but moves to the rock beat of the music. For the dancing girls she will create armor that still shows their legs and outlines their figures. The makeup that the actors put on and the half masks they occasionally wear will suggest commedia dell'arte figures. Set designer C.L. Hundley has put together a stage plan that he calls a cross between Restoration Stage and a Circus Tent.

The real Pepin of history was named after his grandfather, Pepin the Short, who was king of the Franks from 751 to 768. At his death he was succeeded by his son, Charles, who extended his rule over most of Europe as Holy Roman Emperor. This was the Charlemagne who vowed to make all the world Christian if he had to kill everybody in it.

His eldest son, Pepin, was crowned King of Italy by Pope Adrian in 781. He is said to have fought against the Avars, Slavs and Saxons, no mention being made whether he won or lost. The musical's Pippin tries his hand at war and finds it not the glorious occupation his father had led him to believe. The real Pepin is credited with driving the Saracens out of Corsica and conquering Venice.

Some accounts list Pepin as Charlemagne's second son who lived from 777 to 810 A.D. This would make Pepin all of 4 years old when named King of Italy and three years old in the musical, when he was embarking on his first excursions into war, revolution, sex and marriage. But this Pepin did come from a remarkable family. His great-grandfather was the revered Charles Martel. His own father, the mightiest ruler in the Western world, lived to be 72 years old at a time when the average life span was 30.

At his death in 814, Charlemagne was succeeded by Pepin's brother, Louis the Pious. The empire began to fall into decline under the rule of his descendants, Charles the Bald, then Charles the Fat, suffering inroads from the barbarians and the Saracens. It wasn't until 962 that another great figure, Otto I, re-established the power of the Holy Roman Empire in Europe.

None of this information is required to enjoy the musical that the Jenny Wiley Theatre will present this summer. All of "Pippin's" events relate to modern experience and are told in Razzmatazz style. Charlemagne's council of war is conducted as a minstrel show, with the Leading Player acting as interlocutor. Pippin's induction into the world of hedonist pleasure will be a dance number created by Director/Choreographer Nina Denton, that owes a debt to burlesque. She sees the entire production exploding in carnival, magic show fireworks, a feudal follies with a touch of burlesque song and dance.

This colorful, professional Broadway musical will be seen at the Jenny Wiley Theatre, Tuesdays through Sundays at 8:30 p.m. For information and reservations call (606) 886-9274.

Child Support Group To Meet Here Today

The only meeting of the Child Support Commission to be held in Eastern Kentucky will be held today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College. Two of the commission's members are Earlene Newsome, of Prestonsburg, who represents the custodial parents group, and Gary Johnson, Pike County Attorney.

This and other meetings throughout the state, are being held to hear citizens' views on the issues surrounding child support enforcement. Governor Martha Layne Collins appointed the commission to recommend state legislation necessary to improve the system and to comply with recently enacted federal child support laws.

Anyone who is interested in child support enforcement is urged to attend this meeting.

GUARANTEED WEIGHT LOSS

Heard about the newest discovery in the war against fat? It is absolutely amazing. Believe it or not, this great discovery allows you to eat your favorite foods and still lose weight! It's called FULL 'N FREE DietPlan, a natural dietary food fiber from the Oriental Konjac root. Simply take 2 capsules at least 30 minutes before each meal. The capsule absorbs up to 60 times its weight in water ... turning from powder to gel. With the expanding gel in your stomach, you experience a naturally FULL feeling without even picking up your fork. Imagine how you'd look carving up to 7" off your hips or waist ... up to 5" off your thighs or buttocks. FULL 'N FREE is safe to use and FREE from any harmful chemicals ... and it's so effective it is being sold with an unconditional money back guarantee.

AVAILABLE AT:

ROSE DRUG CO., 124 W Court Street—Prestonsburg; HERRIN-JOHNSON PHARMACY, 721 University Drive—Prestonsburg; FOUNTAIN KORNER DRUG, 2 Court Street—Prestonsburg.

IN SUMMER ENRICHMENT PROGRAM...Michael J. Rosenberg, of Prestonsburg, is taking part in Eastern Kentucky University's Summer Enrichment Program for Gifted and Talented Students. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rosenberg and attends Prestonsburg High School. Eastern's program challenges academically talented students in such subjects as microcomputers, foreign food cooking, solar energy and poetry writing. Around 100 students from the fifth to the ninth grades are participating in this summer program.

EASTERN KENTUCKY NATIVE RETURNS HOME TO OPEN ORAL SURGERY PRACTICE

Dr. William R. (Randy) Anderson, of Dorton, is proud to announce the opening of his Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery practice on July 1, 1985. Dr. Anderson's office will be located in the Mayo Professional Park on the South Mayo Trail, Pikeville.

Dr. Anderson is a 1970 graduate of Dorton High School, a 1974 graduate of Pikeville College, and a 1978 graduate of the University of Ky. College of Dentistry.

Following Dental School, Dr. Anderson served four years in the United States Army Dental Corps as a Captain stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C. Upon completion of his military service, he returned to the Bluegrass to receive his Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery training from the University of Kentucky.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson, the former Marsha Ann Bradford, of Robinson Creek, have two sons, Jeremy, age 6, and Jason, age 3. They will be residing at Cedar Creek, Pikeville.

MCDOWELL

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY MEETS The McDowell ARH Auxiliary attended a banquet at the Carriage House in Paintsville, June 7. Those present were Inzie Moore, Brooksie Gayheart, Celia Little, Violet Hall, Anna Moore, Melva Tackett, Anna Sue Stumbo, Ruby Akers, Alma Mosley, Helen Stumbo, Christine Stewart, and Katherine Youmans. Special music by Libby Hall and Joan Chaffins was enjoyed. Flower arrangements were donated by several florists.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Inzie Moore. Katherine Youmans was elected as the new president and Inzie Moore as vice-president. Helen Stumbo won the prize for the highest number of hours volunteered. Brooksie Gayheart won the door prize.

Elizabeth S. Burton, Melva S. Tackett, and Violet S. Hall went to Oak Hill, O., recently to a Stumbo-Stambaugh reunion. Mrs. Tackett, widow of Richard Tackett, has returned to McDowell, her home town, after an absence of 38 years.

WHEN IS IT PROPER TO DISPOSE OF THE DECEASED'S PERSONAL PROPERTY?
Wait until you feel comfortable re-living the memories which these personal items will evoke. We suggest you ask a trusted friend or relative to help you begin this task and to make the decisions.
A basic question to consider: Have any of these personal items been covered in the will? If so, then naturally the disposition on these is clear and should be handled first. Some items may be considered of "heritage" value and you may want to entrust them to certain members of the family for safekeeping.
Other items, such as personal clothing and equipment, may give years of service to others. Clothing, walkers, wheel chairs, etc. can often be used by health-care facilities. Tools, musical instruments and specialized items may be used by service-giving organizations such as the Salvation Army or Good Will. Or finally, there may be relatives or friends to whom you think the deceased would have wanted you to give certain items.
Call us. We may be able to offer some suggestions.

WHY SUNTAN LOTION?

Here is some advice to take along on your vacation this year: Studies at the Frederick Cancer Research Institute in Maryland show that ultraviolet rays can suppress the body's immune system. Normally, the body's T-lymphocytes, a type of white blood cell, destroy cancerous cells before they cause any problem. Ultraviolet light, however, causes special "suppressor cells" to be produced. These cells prevent the T-cells from doing their job. As a result, the next time you debate whether to use a sun-blocking lotion, think of it as helping the body's immune system, not as hurting the chances of getting a tan.

If you haven't tried COOLEY APOTHECARY for over the counter remedies and sun block lotions as well as prescription products, chances are your neighbor probably has. Once you become familiar with our reliable service and hometown friendliness we can assure you that you will never go elsewhere. Our pharmacists are proud to be part of an important team whose main goal is to keep you healthy. Whether your physician prescribes a generic or brand name drug for you or a member of your family have him call us. You'll find us located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments.

HANDY HINT:
When selecting a suntan lotion, select one with the SPF number that is best for your skin type.

David Crafts Exhibits At Berea Craft Fair

David Appalachian Crafts will exhibit at the fourth annual Berea Craft Festival July 12-14 in Berea College's Indian Fort Theatre. Over 100 craftspeople from 20 states will gather for a three-day festival of handcrafts, music and dance. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Sunday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is $2.50 for adults, $1 for children six to 12. Food booths and free parking are provided. The Indian Fort Theatre includes picnic areas, hiking trails and restroom facilities.

The Berea Craft Festival, run by and for craft professionals, puts emphasis on craftspeople who earn a livelihood from sales of their work. Excellent quality, variety and creativity make this a lively marketplace; customers buy direct from the potter, weaver, or woodworker whose skilled hand created the object.

Wayland Kindergarten Graduates

Friends and relatives were entertained as the Wayland kindergarten class performed many songs, nursery rhymes and fingerplays during the recent graduation exercises, May 29, in the school auditorium.

Diplomas, memory books and trophies were presented to the graduates as the parents were asked to stand. Perfect attendance trophies, banners certificates and a dollar were presented to Tiffany Conn Allen, Katie King Fultz, Eric Vanderpool and Rebecca Clark by Johnny Case, principal, and Vickie King Prater, teacher. Refreshments were served afterwards.

Pianist was Jeanie Hicks and hostesses were Renai and Angela Crase. All flowers and banners were donated by Chafins Florist. The picture is with compliments of Steve Porter.

5 Generations Gather at Reunion

The Burchfield, Grant families celebrated their 60th annual reunion with five generations present, June 30, at Camden Park.

Pictured above, at right, seated are Mrs. Ethel Burchfield, and her daughter, Nellie Wright. Standing is her granddaughter, Barbara, at left, and great-granddaughter, Rebecca, Mrs. Burchfield holds her great-great-grandson, Evan.

Others present were from various states with approximately 100 people present. The reunion is held each year at Camden Park on the last Sunday in June. All people related to the family or good friends are invited to attend this annual event.

ATTEND CHURCH RECEPTION

Here from the First United Methodist Church of Pikeville to attend the reception for the Rev. Harold Hunter, superintendent of the Ashland Methodist District, and Mrs. Hunter, at the First United Methodist Church were the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Stratton, and Mrs. Stratton, the assistant pastor, the Rev. Charles Elswick, and Mrs. Elswick, and Miss Lena T. Porter, who formerly resided in Prestonsburg.

ENDS RECRUIT TRAINING

Navy Seaman Ben Hoover, son of Johnnie and Maudie Hoover, of Hueysville, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego, California. A 1981 graduate of Allen Central High School, he joined the Navy in April, 1985.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Meta Sizemore has returned to her home at Catlettsburg following a visit of two weeks here as the houseguest of Mrs. Carrie Hubbard, and also visiting other friends and relatives. Members of her family came here to accompany her home.

VISIT IN NASHVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Grant spent several days, including the 4th of July holidays, visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henry, and children and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bolling, in Nashville, Tennessee.

Outgoing administrator of Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Sr. James Edward Roach (standing), welcomed her successor, Sr. Monica Justinger (seated, center) at a prayer service and reception, June 13. The new administrator served most recently as head of a Colorado Springs hospital which, like Our Lady of the Way, is operated by the Sisters of Charity Health Care Systems, Inc. of Cincinnati. Sr. James Edward's administration was marked by the computerization of the hospital's central office, extensive remodeling, and the acquisition of a nearby building for use as doctors' offices.

HRMC Centralizes Its Vending

Highlands Regional Medical Center has opened a centralized vending area on its ground floor, complete with microwave oven, several food items, various brands and types of cold drinks and booth seating. "This arrangement should prove much more convenient to the general public during visits to the Medical Center," said Associate Administrator Russell Briggs. "Previously, we had vending machines with different products in different areas. Now, we will be more centralized."

The new vending area is located on the ground floor, one quick right turn and a quick left after leaving the front door of either of the main visitor elevators. The vending area is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. A machine that will return coins for a one or five dollar bill is also provided. All vending machines in the room are coin-operated.

The only exception to this centralization of vending machines is in the public entrance to the Emergency Department/Admissions area on the first floor of the expansion. Machines will also be located there for the convenience of registering outpatients and families of emergency patients.

Magoffin Precinct Loses Wet Status, Court Rules

By LEE MUELLER
(In The Lexington Herald-Leader)
Once a Kentucky county votes itself dry, no part of it—except certain classes of cities—can vote itself wet, the Kentucky Supreme Court ruled last Wednesday.

In so doing, the court overturned an appeals court ruling and voided a 1981 election in which voters approved liquor sales in a Magoffin county magisterial district.

The 5-2 ruling means, among other things, that five package liquor stores in Magoffin county and three in Nicholas county will be closing in about 60 days, barring other legal developments.

The ruling also has ramifications in three other dry counties—Pulaski, Barren and Simpson—where officials had put off precinct elections pending the outcome of the Magoffin county case.

Legal liquor advocates across the state had hoped the case would clear the way for the sale of alcoholic beverages in at least one precinct of most Kentucky counties.

But the court said, in effect, that any precinct, magisterial district or other unit of a wet county can vote itself dry. But under the so-called county unit rule, once countywide prohibition has been in effect, no part of the county can vote itself wet, except for cities of the first four classes, the court said.

Dissenting justices, however, said the decision perpetuated "different rules for wet and dry elections at the expense of the (Kentucky) constitution."

In Salyersville, a store owner said yesterday that his lawyers would ask the state's high court to rehear the case. If that fails, Don Bailey said, his lawyers will attempt to take their case to the U.S. Supreme Court "because we feel it's a constitutional issue that the Kentucky Supreme Court decided to ignore."

The majority opinion, written by Justice James B. Stephenson, of Pikeville, reversed rulings by Special Judge F. Byrd Hogg and the Court of Appeals that the county unit rule, created by legislation in 1936, was repealed in 1948 when local-option statutes amended it to exempt cities of the first four classes. Under the rule, counties had dominance over their government subdivisions in local option matters.

But Stephenson's opinion said Kentucky courts had consistently found it "unmistakably plain that the legislature intended to change the effect of the county unit rule as to cities of the first four classes, but only in that respect" with its 1948 amendment.

"We are of the opinion that the legislature has retained the essential element of the county unit rule," Stephenson wrote. "The thrust of legislation in this area is to give a means to the voters to impose prohibition."

So, because Magoffin county voted itself dry in 1936, Magoffin county Judge-Executive Paul Salyer had no authority in 1981 to call a local-option election in the county's third magisterial district, Stephenson wrote.

In the dissenting opinion, Justice Charles M. Leibson called Kentucky's wet-dry statutes "confusing, at best."

"Perhaps they are intentionally so, in order to permit this court to continue to perpetuate different rules for wet and dry elections at the expense of the constitution, as it has done historically," he wrote.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Prater Creek Water District has submitted a request to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for approval of a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and the establishment of rates. The purpose of the establishment of rates is to provide revenue sufficient for the operation of the Water District. The proposed rates are as follows: First 2000 gallons, $12.00 minimum. All over 2000 gallons, 5.00 per 1000 gallons. Rates will not be charged to customers until the system is constructed and operational. The rates contained in this notice are the rates proposed by the Prater Creek Water District. However, the Public Service Commission may, after evidentiary hearings, order rates to be charged that differ from these proposed rates. The proposed rates are on file for public inspection at the Big Sandy Area Development District Office, Municipal Bldg., 2nd Floor, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Office hours 8:00-4:00. Telephone number is 606/886-2374. ERVIN AKERS Chairman Prater Creek Water District 7-3-3t.

KET Series To Discuss Area Issues of Import

"Headwaters," a series dealing with concerns of Eastern Kentuckians, encores on KET on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. The topics discussed in August are the problems of women miners, implications of violence, the Frontier Nursing Service, and the importance of the arts in community schools. Topic for the August 7 program is "Women's Miners Conference," a special which was derived from the women's miners conference held in Charleston, West Virginia several years ago. Issues discussed range from sexual and racial discrimination to the union movement, unemployment, and acid rain. "Five Conversations About Violence," airing August 15, features a panel of prominent Eastern Kentucky educators, politicians, and community leaders who reflect on personal experiences and causes of violence. Violence in relation to drugs, gun control, and children's role-playing of what they see on television is discussed. On the following Wednesday, August 21, the segment "Frontier Nursing" presents a look at the first nurse-midwives in our country as well as this landscape which is no longer seen. The documentary is narrated by Mary Marvin Breckenridge Patterson, producer of a 1929 silent black and white film on frontier nursing and nurse-midwife, Betty Lester. Finally, on August 28, "Dance Registry" addresses the relatively new (1983) implementation of the arts in eastern Kentucky community schools. "Headwaters" is a production of Appalshop/Whitesburg, Ky.

Older workers who participate in the Senior Community Service Employment Program receive annual physical examinations, personal and job-related counseling, job training if necessary, and in some cases, help in finding a regular unsubsidized job. Participants may work up to 1,300 hours a year, 20-25 hours a week, according to a U.S. Department of Labor fact sheet.

COCOON (PG-13-20th Century-Fox) Starring Don Ameche, Wilford Brimley, Hume Cronyn. ★ ★ ★ 1/2 ★

By J.T. YURKO

In "Cocoon," a trio of elderly gentlemen sneak out of their retirement home and go swimming in the indoor pool at the deserted house next door. That would be fine, if it weren't for the fact that the renters of the house happen to be from another planet and happen to be using the pool to revive some of their comrades, who were left behind centuries ago.

Since the pool is full of their special elixir of life force, it becomes a fountain of youth for the three geriatric musketeers. Illnesses go into remission, slow dancing at the old folks' home turns into late nights at a disco, and sexual appetites long thought dormant spring to life.

Aliens and the underwater world are no strangers to director Ron Howard. His last film, "Splash," dealt with a mermaid who falls in love with a mortal. But "Cocoon" is

VIDEO SCENE

Byrne and Talking Heads are in top form

By Barton Weiss

Byrne's best

This week brings a sizzling array of new clips. David Byrne, chief Talking Head, has directed another brilliant video — "Road to Nowhere."

Each band member (we're back to the original four again) is featured here. In rapid-fire cuts, Tina Weymouth and Cris Frantz (who are married in real life) get married, have a kid, and grow old — all in 26 seconds. Jerry Harrison dresses as a white knight and rides a tractor. And Byrne, one of the most videogenic performers ever, places himself in a small box in the bottom right corner of the screen and runs aimlessly. He also climbs a mountain with an accordion, chases a runaway shopping cart, sings underwater and sings with a cube around his head.

The clip starts with a group of people (old and young) singing a capella, in a church-like building, and ends with the same group singing on that ever-present road to nowhere. This video portrays it better than any pop vehicle I've ever seen.

Glory days

Bruce Springsteen has come up with a real winner. "Glory Days" combines a good performance, which we've seen on his live clips, with the well-acted blue-collar drama of his more recent "I'm on Fire."

David Byrne

Bruce daydreams about baseball at his construction-type job, then pitches a few in an empty ball park. Finally, we see the real Bruce on stage, singing about a ball player he knew.

This may be Springsteen's glory video.

Looking good

Tina Turner's new video, "We Don't Need Another Hero," comes from the latest "Mad Max" film. Tina sports a quasi-mohawk doo, and wears a low-cut road-warrior dress. The film elements, including shots of Mel Gibson, are nice, but they take back seat to Tina singing her heart out.

A chiller from Bradbury

By Amanda Bruce

Nick Mancuso

Ray Bradbury's "The Crowd," airing July 17 on HBO, is a chilling finale to the three-part series "Ray Bradbury Theatre."
It stars Nick Mancuso as Joe Spallner, an artist who leaves a party one night and has a car accident a few minutes later. As he crawls out of the wreckage, a crowd gathers around him. Their faces move closer and closer to his own, take on a sinister appearance, and haunt him long after the accident is over.
Spallner begins to watch the crowds at other accidents and notices that some of the same faces keep appearing at different accident sites. He becomes obsessed with searching out those people. And when he tracks them down, he learns a horrible, supernatural truth about them — the hard way.
If you like tales that send shivers down your spine, "The Crowd" is as good as they come. Bradbury manipulates us into believing one thing and then — wham! — he gives us something else.

and will air four of his films.
In "People Will Talk" (July 14 and 19), Grant plays a dedicated physician who falls in love with an unmarried pregnant woman (Jeanne Crain). Also this week, on July 15, Grant plays a diplomat looking for the perfect wife in "Dream Wife," with Deborah Kerr and Walter Pidgeon.
"Crisis" and "The Bishop's Wife" will air later this month, on July 22 and July 29 respectively.
This week, athletes will be featured on Lifetime's talk shows. The highlight has to be Dr. Ruth Westheimer's "Good Sex!" on July 15. The good doctor and former Yankee Jim Bouton (the author of "Ball Four") discuss the negative effects baseball has had on his life.

In Global Shield Exercise

Second Lt. Darrell W. Woods, son of Darwin and Sarah E. Woods, of Prestonsburg, has participated in Global Shield 85, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces.

The exercise, coordinated by the Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC), was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of SAC to carry out orders, should deterrence fail.

Woods is a missile combat crew officer with the 91st Strategic Missile Wing at Minot Air Force Base, N.D. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Minnie Allen, of Dwaile. He is a 1984 graduate of the University of Kentucky.

Observe 50th Anniversary

Doffie and Delphia Vance, of Bevensville, celebrated their 50th anniversary, June 30. They attended the Regular Baptist Church, at Minnie and had dinner with friends at the Bonanza Steak House.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Webb, Keith and Brett Akers spent several days last week in Gatlinburg, Tenn. and other points of interest in Smoky Mountains National Park.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Adkins during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Morton Adkins, Jr., Chrissie and Melissa, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ford, of Hepzabah, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Mart Adkins and daughter and a friend from Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Adkins from Ohio. July 4th, Mrs. Adkins celebrated her birthday and her son honored her and her houseguests with a dinner at The Bonanza in Paintsville, a paddleboat ride at Dewey Lake and a ride on the skylift. They also presented Mrs. Adkins with a nice gift. Others calling at her home to wish her a happy birthday were Rev. and Mrs. Harold Coleman, of Allen, Mrs. Dallas Allen Reynolds, of Sorrento, Fla., and several neighbors.

Mrs. Minnie Irizarry and Mrs. Meredith Flake, of Bay Shore, N.Y., and Mrs. Dallas Allen Reynolds, of Sorrento, Fla., have been here visiting friends and relatives. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Irizarry were the houseguests of Mrs. Minnie Howell and Mrs. Flake was the houseguest of Mrs. Mary Jo York at Martin.

David Skeans, Jr., of Belleville, Mich., has been the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Skeans. He also visited Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Skeans and relatives in Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Skeans and Brandon are spending several days in Springfield, Ohio visiting her father, James Dingeldein, and Mrs. Dingeldein, of California, and her grandparents, of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Taulby Tussey, and other relatives in Springfield.

HERE LAST WEEK

Mae H. Hinchman, of Huntington, W. Va., stopped in town last week on her way to visit her sister, Belle H. Ferrell, of Harold and Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Hatcher, of Pikeville. They attended the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. Campbell Slemp, of Big Stone Gap, Va.

Mr. Gene R. Prater and Mrs. Janice A. Prater, of Prestonsburg, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Gail Prater, to Mr. Timothy Craig Cooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincel Cooley, of the Abbott Road.

Miss Prater is a student at Prestonsburg Community College, where she is majoring in pre-nursing. She is currently employed at the Pontiki Coal Corporation for the summer.

Mr. Cooley is a sales representative for Abacus Computer Store, Inc., in Prestonsburg.

The wedding will be solemnized at 6 p.m., Saturday, July 13, at the Community United Methodist Church, in Prestonsburg. The gracious custom of open church will be observed, and a reception will immediately follow at the church.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of John C. Henry, wish to express our gratitude to all who showed kindness to us during this time of sorrow. Special thanks are given to all who sent flowers, prepared food, sent cards and came to comfort us. We especially wish to thank Pastor and Mrs. Ron Kinzel, of the McDowell First Baptist Church, and Rev. Ted Shannon and the singers from the Drift Pentecostal Church. Also, we deeply appreciate the care given by Dr. Francisco Rivera, Dr. Clarita Vicher and the nursing staff of the McDowell Hospital. We also wish to thank the staff of the Hall Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS
Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble.

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals... call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest "Bulldog" Preston celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, June 12. Many friends and relatives attended and shared the occasion with them.

To Compete in L'ville

Yvette Martin, Miss Southeastern Kentucky, will represent this area at the Miss Kentucky Scholarship Pageant to be held July 11, 12, and 13 at Spaulding Auditorium, University of Louisville.

Preliminary competition will be conducted Thursday and Friday. The pageant will close Saturday night, with the finals and a queen's reception for the contestants, parents, and friends following the coronation of the new Miss Kentucky.

Competitive judging consists of four phases: Swimsuit, evening gown, talent, and a judge's interview. For her talent presentation, Miss Martin will be performing a humorous skit from "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

She is the daughter of Marie F. Martin and the late Clem Martin, of Eastern. She is sponsored by the Delta Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in Hazard.

ATTEND CONVENTION

The Rev. Jerry Smith, pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, of West Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Smith attended the 70th state convention of the church at the Capital Plaza in Frankfort, July 4-7. Mesdames Mabel Wiley, Geneva Carter and Nell Rose Caudill attended the convention, July 6 and 7.

ATTENDS WEDDING

Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne, of Betsy Layne, was here Saturday to attend the Spears-Herrick wedding at the First United Methodist Church.

Newman Attends Meet At Montreal, Quebec

Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. Newman, of the Newman General Agency, Lexington, recently returned from the Midland National Life Insurance Company sales convention held at the Hotel Regency Hyatt, Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

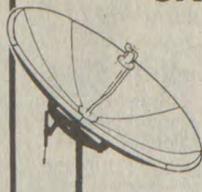

Newman qualified for the convention by meeting Midland National's production, persistency and lives requirements during a twenty-four month qualification period.

Highlight of the convention was the President's Awards Banquet where Newman was honored as a 10-year member of the President's Club. Newman was also a speaker at the convention. He is now involved in a new qualification period for Midland's next convention, to be held at the Hilton Hawaiian Village, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Newman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Newman, of Grethel.

Emotions Anonymous Opens New Chapter

Emotions Anonymous is opening a new chapter which will start with an open meeting tomorrow (Thursday) July 11, at 8 p.m. at the CAP Martin Youth Center (old Hall Funeral Home) on Main Street in Martin. Each week thereafter regular meetings will be held at the same time and location.

Emotions Anonymous does for the person seeking emotional health what Alcoholics Anonymous does for the alcoholic. EA follows the Twelve-Step Program of Alcoholics Anonymous, adapted by their permission for persons with emotional (or living) problems.

There are no dues or fees for EA membership. EA is a non-profit fellowship, supported entirely by the voluntary contributions of its members.

Emotions Anonymous is a spiritual program—not a religious program—and is helpful to people of all faiths or of no recognized faith. Members share their experience, strength and hope with each other while practicing the Twelve Steps to this New Way of Life one day at a time.

If you have gone the whole route of other methods of treatment and have not achieved inner peace and serenity, if your life is "like a shoe that pinches," if you are not as happy as you would like to be or if your emotions interfere with or curtail your daily activities and your wholesome relationships with others, you are invited to discover as others have, that the EA fellowship of weekly meetings is warm and friendly, and that it is also important in achieving and maintaining emotional health.

For more information, please call Elizabeth at 285-9059 after 3 p.m.

Hughes Decorated, Discharged

William M. Hughes, son of William R. Hughes, of Martin, and Betty J. Hughes, of Columbus, Ohio, was discharged from the U. S. Army on June 11 with the rank of SP4. He was awarded the Army Good Conduct Medal and the Army Commendation Medal for outstanding performance of duty. He had earlier been awarded the Overseas Ribbon, the Army Service Ribbon, and the Army Achievement Medal.

Agronomy Field Day To Feature Sorghum

The 1985 Agronomy Field Day will feature sweet sorghum as an alternative crop for central Kentucky farmers.

The field day is scheduled July 18 beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the University of Kentucky's Spindletop research farm on Iron Works Pike at Newton Road.

Morris Bitzer, UK Extension agronomist, said this year's field day will include a section on sweet sorghum, from which sorghum molasses is made, as an alternative crop for area farmers. Bitzer said the crop can produce a net profit of $2,000 an acre.

The section about sweet sorghum will be included in Corn Tour 1. The field day will include two tours of corn, one each for soybeans, tobacco, forages and weed science, and two for turf. The tours last from 60 to 80 minutes and will be repeated throughout the day, making it possible for individuals to make at least one tour in five of the six areas.

John Hartman, Extension plant pathologist, who will be part of the turf tours, said that while the turf tours are aimed at professional turf managers such as golf course groundkeepers and residential lawn service contractors, they will include information useful to homeowners.

The field day is free and open to the public.
