

Candidates Air Views On Issues For Board Race

This week, in an effort to provide information to Floyd County voters, the Times is publishing results of a questionnaire sent to all candidates in the Nov. 8 school board races.

Certified letters explaining the venture — the first for the Times — and the questionnaire were sent to candidates Oct. 12.

Only three candidates did not participate: Judy Breeding, Bartley and Klein D. Stumbo of District 4, and incumbent James Arville Duff of District 5.

The candidates' responses are included in Section 1 of this week's issue.

KSP Awarded

Sherman Hansford, US Marshal for the Eastern District, presents Capt. Gary Rose of the Pikeville Post, Kentucky State Police, a check for almost $5,000 as its portion of money seized during a drug search last year.

Pikeville KSP Post Receives Cash, Car

by L.J. Cooley

Almost $5,000 and a 1987 Corvette which were part of the assets confiscated during a 1987 drug search in Pikeville were given to the Kentucky State Police at a press conference at the KSP Post in Pikeville Friday.

Sherman Hansford, United States Marshal for the Eastern District, presented Capt. Gary Rose of the KSP a check for $4,885, following the seizure of $5,428 from Jeff Varney of Pikeville on April 23, 1987.

The seizure resulted when the KSP, Drug Enforcement/Special Investigation Section-East and the Drug Enforcement Administration searched Varney's residence, according to Trooper Ken Frost, public affairs officer for the Pikeville KSP. During the search, authorities found 4.5 ounces of cocaine, five weapons, the cash and the Corvette.

Varney pleaded guilty to distributing cocaine in US District Court in Lexington and was sentenced to five years in prison, Frost said.

The weapons, cash and Corvette were given to the Kentucky State Police to be used for law enforcement purposes as a result of the federal Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, which allows authorities to seize money and property in drug-related cases, according to Louis G. DeFalaize, US Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky.

The presentation, DeFalaize said, is "representative of a useful law enforcement tool."

It takes two things to win the war on drugs, he said — one is to take the profit out of it, and the other is to make people aware that drugs are not acceptable.

In jointly-investigated cases, the assets seized are shared between local investigators and the DEA in proportion to the involvement, DeFalaize said. The KSP received 50 percent of the assets.

The money will be used statewide by the KSP for the purchase of equipment and personnel, DeFalaize said.

Seizing the assets is one deterrent used to get people out of the drug business, he added. "One thing that drives the drug machine is money. The purpose of the property seizure is to have nothing to come back to," he explained.

Hopefuls Address Issues As Nov. 8 Election Nears

By Anne Chaney
Editor

Tension appeared to ease slightly in Floyd County this week, as educators and residents turned their attention from volatile Board of Education meetings to major school board campaign issues prior to the Nov. 8 general election.

Candidates for offices representing board districts 3, 4 and 5 were asked to participate in at least three major public forums, with mixed results.

District 3 candidates Ricky Joe Roberts and Tommy Boyd joined District 4 candidate Ricky Hamilton and District 5 hopefuls Hattie Owens, Roger Jones and Paul Branham at question-and-answer sessions and interviews conducted by the Floyd County Education Association.

Two other candidates — Judy Breeding Bartley and Dr. Brent Clark, both of District 3 — submitted answers to an FCEA questionnaire, but were not available for interviews.

According to Betty Rowland, Kentucky Education Association representative, and Roberta Luxmore, president of FCEA, all candidates were asked to participate. Those who did not were incumbents Dr. Mary Hall and James Arville Duff and Klein D. Stumbo.

FCEA questioned candidates on the relationship between school board members and the superintendent; whether a state take-over of the local district would be beneficial; their feelings on the "buying and selling" of administrative and other positions, and "behind-the-scenes political wheeling and dealing"; teachers' salary indexing; increased teacher salaries; cuts in existing personnel; and support of a local tax increase.

According to Rowland, FCEA's Political Action Committee endorsed only one candidate, Ricky D. Hamilton, in District 4. She said the other candidates' responses did not provide sufficient information for a "clear-cut choice." In a letter to FCEA members, organization officials noted the endorsement, and added that the group decided not to endorse candidates in the other two districts. Information indicating each candidates' position and cooperation with interviews and meetings was included.

At the FCEA meeting last week, Luxmore told the 375 educators attending that the salary issue in the county "is an issue of public concern, as well as our own personal concern. It affects the quality of instruction in our schools, our ability to attract and keep good teachers to replace those of us who retire or are forced to leave the classroom because we cannot afford to teach."

Luxmore also addressed the district's proposed "blue ribbon" committee to review salary increases and revenue sources. (According to education officials asked that their names not be used, letters were sent to prospective committee members late last week.)

Luxmore likewise addressed the educators' "sick out" earlier this month, noting that the board took no action to close schools either to guarantee the safety of children or protect public policy.

"Instead, they chose to try to intimidate us. Monday, we all experienced total change in the procedure for reporting and submitting sick leave cards," Luxmore said. "We all were shown and had to sign — a letter? a memo? — whatever, dealing with threats of 'disciplinary action.'"

"How much was our school program affected because some of our colleagues were directed not to perform their assigned administrative duties Monday? The children lost instructional time. We lost teaching time. What else did we lose?" Luxmore asked.

In a related issue, the Floyd County Education Forum held a panel question-and-answer session Monday night, open to all candidates.

Although more than half the candidates had said they would participate, only three — Ricky Hamilton, Ricky Joe Roberts and Roger Jones — showed up at Allen Central High School.

More than 75 Floyd County residents attended the forum, which

Fiscal Court Hears Complaints, Sets Precinct Pay, Annual Taxes

Beginning as another routine business meeting Friday, Oct. 21, the Floyd County Fiscal Court quickly became a verbal arena.

Joe Roberts, representing Stumbo Hollow residents at Drift, expressed dissatisfaction with what he called the county's inability to provide a county roadway to the eight homes in the area.

Roberts said residents must use railroad tracks as a road, but the C&O Railway Co. told them to "stay off the tracks." Roberts told the court that school children had to walk down the tracks and cross a trestle to ride a school bus.

"It's a dangerous situation: somebody is going to get hurt before anything gets done," Roberts said.

Judge John M. Stumbo agreed that the situation was bad, but told Roberts, "It's a circuit court matter." Julie Paxton, assistant county attorney, also told Roberts he must first go through the circuit court to determine ownership of the property. (See related story, this issue.)

In a separate matter, Eugene Lyons of West Garrett told court members he has a lot of water standing in his yard because the county has not completed a drainage project in the area. Stumbo explained the county had tried to put in a drain to a pond in West Garrett, but had to stop because "nobody would give the property."

Lyons said he knew it hadn't been drained to a pond since "it's ponded at my house."

Stumbo also said the drainage pipes had been smashed by overweight trucks hauling about 10 tons of red dog, but that problem had been solved earlier by putting a 3-ton weight limit on the trucks. Lyons told the court nothing had been done to fix the damaged drainage pipe.

"Another thing," Lyons said, "residents are tired of being used for campaign purposes." He said the main road had been blacktopped, but not theirs. Stumbo explained that the road could not be paved with water standing on it.

Stumbo said magistrate Jackie Owens told Lyons they would look into the problem. Owens added that only 465 miles of county roads were dirt, and the court's goal is to eventually blacktop all county roads.

Oakie Sparks of Emma asked the Council Grants 10-Year Garbage Fee Waiver As Economic Incentive

The Prestonsburg City Council Monday night voted to annex the Holiday Inn after a new agreement was reached about economic incentives for the hotel.

At the second reading of the two ordinances, Prestonsburg Inn, Inc., Attorney Greg Stumbo proposed an amendment to delete a 5-year waiver of property taxes in order to recoup $78,000 the corporation spent to extend the water and sewer lines to the hotel.

In its place, the corporation asked the city to set aside the garbage rate of $300 a month and that the council waive the collection of that fee until the $78,000 is recouped.

Stumbo then presented the council with their estimates of yearly tax income for the city, which totaled over $55,000, and told the council that although the hotel will be exempt

McGuire Named Chair Of Bank Directors' Board; Blankenship Is Named CEO

At a meeting Wednesday, Oct. 19, the Board of Directors of The Bank Josephine appointed O. Sam Blankenship president and chief executive officer of the Prestonsburg bank.

The board also elected E.E. McGuire as chairman of the board.

The board's actions follow the sale of stock on Oct. 14, by H. D. Fitzpatrick Jr., the bank's past chairman, chief executive officer and major stockholder to E. E. McGuire. McGuire then placed the stock into a voting trust. As part of this transaction, Fitzpatrick, his son, Frank Fitzpatrick, and William Lee Wells, submitted their resignations as directors of the bank.

E. E. McGuire, along with his wife, his children and his company, combined with stock in a voting trust of which McGuire is sole trustee, now maintain holdings of 51 percent of the bank's shares of stock.

McGuire, 57, is an Ashland, businessman who has owned stock in The Bank Josephine for more than 15 years and has served on its board since 1975. O. Sam Blankenship has been employed by the bank in senior management since April 1987.

In a statement issued by the bank, McGuire stated, "I am proud of my association with The Bank Josephine and the Prestonsburg community. I pledge to work with O. Sam Blankenship and other employees to maintain a high level of excellence in banking and to help lead the bank to greater prosperity."

O. Sam Blankenship stated "This bank has traditionally been strong and profitable. These management changes will allow the bank to remain an independently owned community bank and to better focus on its service to the bank's customers and the community."

Rotary, Holiday Inn To Offer Alternative To Trick-Or-Treating

A safe alternative to the traditional door-to-door trick or treating for children is going to be provided by a hotel, a club and about everyone in between.

The Holiday Inn and the Prestonsburg Rotary Club are sponsoring the Halloween alternative for children 11 and younger on Sunday, Oct. 30, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., according to Greg Crum, president of the Rotary Club.

The safety of the evening is one of the best aspects, according to Ruby Pennington, Holiday Inn coordinator of the project.

"Parents can bring the kids and feel really relaxed and don't have to worry," Pennington said.

"We want to promote a safe Halloween night — a place where kids can get off the streets and away from the needles and razor blades, and so the parents know that their kids will be safe," Crum said.

The Holiday Inn is opening about 30 rooms in which local businesses and organizations will be handing out candy, he said.

"It is unique — the way of the future," Crum said.

Other groups and organizations will be giving prizes and have free video games set up for the children there, and special guests, such as Freddie the Fire Hydrant from the Prestonsburg Fire Department and Smokey the Bear from the Kentucky Division of Forestry will be there too, he said.

One of the events during the evening will be a costume contest for children and adults, he said. The first place prize in the children's division will be a $50 savings bond and first place prize in the adult's division is a getaway weekend in Lexington.

court when the road there would be blacktopped. "The magistrate has prepared the road," Sparks said. Magistrate Gerald Derossett reported the railroad had given the court permission to blacktop. Stumbo told Sparks the road would be blacktopped by the end of November.

At last month's meeting, Arnold Prater was awarded the storage and removal of voting machines, pending an inspection by Carla R. Bolton, county court clerk. Bolton told the court she had no objection to the building, but it had no electricity. She also said Prater planned to transport the machines in a pickup truck.

"It cannot be done in a pickup truck," Bolton said. "The county tried to move the machines and wrecked two machines using pickup trucks."

Voting machines weigh approximately 850 pounds each, Bolton said, and a lift truck must be used to transport them.

Magistrate Owens questioned Bolton's last-minute inspection of the premises, stating that if Prater had known sooner, he could have had electricity installed and obtained a lift truck. Owens also pointed out that magistrates Ermal Tackett and Gerald Derossett had left the room, saying, "their coat tails must be on fire." The magistrates returned shortly during the discussion.

According to Bolton, regulations state she may accept the lowest or best bid. "Neither Prater's facility nor that of the second bidder, Jeff Shepherd, is exactly what the county needs, but Shepherd's building has electricity," she added.

Derossett said bid orders should specify what the building must have and what is involved in the storage and removal of the machines. Bolton replied that if someone was bidding, she assumed he or she would know what they were doing.

Bolton said, "I will not approve delivering in a pickup truck and no electricity in the building." She suggested the court award the bid at the next meeting, Friday, Oct. 28, to give Prater time to find out the expense involved, and if electricity can be installed within the next three weeks.

In other business, the court agreed to pay the November general election expenses; to pay the annual KACo Conference at Louisville; to void a duplicate check written to Kentucky Election for $824.48; and to transfer $500 from one fund to another due to an emergency in paying monthly bills.

The Fiscal Court also accepted the Floyd County Sheriff's tax settlement, and agreed to pay for the audit by Stephen R. Allen. Members also passed a resolution to defease 1979 housing bonds.

The court received a petition from residents of the intersection of US 23 and Rt. 80, across from South Central Bell, requesting their road be taken into the county system. The court agreed, and at Derossett's request named the area Cooley Village.

Tax rates for 1988 were approved. This year's rates are similar to those of 1987. They are (with last year's rate, if different, listed in parenthesis): State, real 20.7 (21.4); tangible, 45.0; county, real 17.8 (17.7); personal 19.7; motor vehicles 19.7; CET, real 1.2; library, real 2.0 (1.9); personal 2.1; health, real 2.5; personal 3.1; school, real 33.4 (33.9); personal 33.4 (33.9); motor vehicles 3.1; soil conservation, one-tenth of a mill on real; bank shares, 23.05.

Owens, in a separate matter, discussed new election laws, stating campaignes cannot be within 500 feet of a polling place. He also said the state will reimburse the county $255 per precinct instead of $85. The county currently has 48 precincts.

Owens said precinct workers receive $30 for working approximately 13 hours. He made a motion to increase workers' pay to $50 and $10 for election school.

Stumbo was hesitant, saying the court should wait until the next election so it would know exactly how much reimbursement the county would receive. Stumbo also said election expenses covered machine storage and removal, and building rent.

Bolton explained the state pays 50 cents per voter to the county clerk's office. A report must first be filed listing staff hours, expenses, etc. "It is at the state's discretion whether we receive it," she said.

The motion failed to pass for lack of support. Ermal Tackett made a motion to raise workers' pay to $40 and $10 for school, but it also failed to pass.

Hattie Owens, wife of magistrate Jackie Owens, called Frankfort during the discussion. She reported a representative of the state said the money would be available for the November election, and would be reimbursed to the county within two weeks after the election.

Derossett made a motion to pay $50 per precinct worker and $10 for election school. Stumbo told the magistrates the motion must stipulate what fund the money would be taken from in case the state's reimbursement was not enough to cover election expenses.

Derossett added to the motion that the money would come out of the road fund. The court unanimously agreed, and the meeting concluded.

(Editor's Note: Fiscal court records indicate this year's budget included appropriations for election of officers at $5,000; election commissioners at $1,200; election board of supervisors, $500; voting machines, $12,000; polling places, $1,000.)

Allen Fire Department Purchases New Radio System; Faster Response Expected

The Allen Volunteer Fire Department can now respond to calls easier with its new radio system purchased recently, according to Todd Gray of the Allen Volunteer Fire Department.

The $13,000 system has a longer range and allows firefighters to answer the phone over the radio, Gray said.

"It's the biggest asset to us," he said.

Before the system was installed, the department had five fire phones to respond to calls, but with the radio system, two or three can be taken out, cutting phone costs, Gray said.

Now, when someone phones the fire department, the first ring is heard in the firehouse, and the second ring goes over the radio, which is heard by eight people who are available to answer, he said. This way, the department can respond more effectively to a call, Gray added.

The radio system was purchased through fire tax funds in the Allen community.

Eastern Kentucky To Get New Bankruptcy Judge

Kentucky Senators Wendell Ford and Mitch McConnell recently announced the Senate's passage of a bill which will authorize a new bankruptcy judgeship for the Eastern District of Kentucky.

"Currently, there is only one judge to handle the thousands of cases that are filed each year in the Eastern District," McConnell said. "A lot of us have worked a long time to change this situation, and I am pleased that our efforts, together with Congressman Mazzoli's work in getting this bill through the House, have delivered a new bankruptcy judgeship for Eastern Kentucky."

"With the changes that have evolved in the bankruptcy courts during the last few years, especially relating to the alternatives provided in 1986 for family farmers under chapter 12, the consistent application of our bankruptcy statutes has become more important than ever before," Ford said. "This additional judgeship will assure that adequate resources are available to address the caseload in Eastern Kentucky."

In 1987, several senators, including McConnell, offered an amendment to an end-of-the-year budget bill, which would have created additional bankruptcy judgeships in states facing an overload of filings. The amendment met with resistance, however, because the judgeships had not officially been approved by the Administration. The amendment was withdrawn after a commitment was made that the Administration would review the situation in Eastern Kentucky immediately.

This year, the Judicial Conference for the Sixth Circuit in Kentucky reported that the number of filings in Eastern Kentucky would soon approach twice the recommended average for a single judge. This finding helped to get the new bankruptcy judge bill cleared through the Senate this week, after the House had acted on it.

High Speed Chase, Foot Pursuit Ends In Arrests

by Janice Lafferty
Four Ohio juveniles were arrested Tuesday, Oct. 25, following a high speed chase, a roadblock, a foot pursuit, and a large-scale manhunt by the Prestonsburg Police Department. A fifth suspect is still at large, authorities say.

Around 2:03 a.m. Thursday, officer Ricky Conn saw five males standing around a car with an Ohio license plate, parked in the lot at Super America. Conn pulled onto the lot and went into the store to question the attendant, he said. According to the attendant, the youths had purchased 25 cents worth of gas, and Conn said he became suspicious, thinking the youths might be planning a robbery.

Conn ran a check on the license plate and followed the car, stopping it on US 23 near the Rt. 80 overpass. As Conn approached the vehicle, the car took off. Conn followed in high speed pursuit at about 105 miles per hour, he said. The vehicle went about a half-mile on US 23, crossed the center median and started north on US 23 toward Prestonsburg, Conn said.

Conn, who had radioed earlier in the pursuit for a backup unit, said Sgt. Mike Omerod blocked the road at the top of the hill near the Holiday Inn.

Conn said the suspects were weaving all over the road, running one car completely off the highway. Conn said he turned on his spotlight near the Town Branch Road. After about 15 seconds of the glaring spotlight, the suspects locked their brakes and tried to run him off the road, Conn said. Conn immediately locked his brakes and turned a complete circle at 60 mph, avoiding impact. Conn retained control of his vehicle.

The suspects jumped from their car, left the car in gear and ran, splitting into two groups. Conn said three boys "hit the hill" on the northbound side of US 23, and two took to the hill on the southbound side.

Conn said the suspects' vehicle kept moving and started to cross the southbound lane. Conn chased the moving vehicle, jumped inside and stopped the auto.

Conn said he ran back to his vehicle, grabbed a flashlight and ran after the three suspects. He received a report as he began his foot pursuit that the vehicle had been stolen in Columbus, Ohio, around 8:30 p.m. Monday night.

Conn pursued the suspects to the top of the hill, but was unable to locate the youths. Sgt. Omerod followed Conn a short distance up the hill when Sgt. Stumbo arrived, and the officers began a manhunt, Conn said.

Officers called the Kentucky State Police, requesting use of a police dog to track the suspects, but the dog was unavailable, Conn said.

Prestonsburg Police Members Ralph, Roy Roberts and Gerald Clark assisted in the manhunt. Deputy sheriff Rick Branham and auxiliary police officer John Hunt also helped search for the suspects.

Sgt. Stumbo went to the strip mine site at Prestonsburg Village in case the youths came around the hill. Conn went back to the abandoned car, waiting for a wrecker. Conn said one of the suspects became disoriented in the hills and came off near where Conn was waiting. Conn apprehended the youth, and Omerod and Branham soon caught the three others.

The suspect still at large is 21-year-old Derrick Fuller of Columbus, Ohio. Fuller is described by police authorities as a black male with a slim build. Fuller, 6'3", was last seen wearing bluejeans and a black jacket. He has long, braided hair.

Fuller is charged with grand theft auto, attempting to elude, reckless endangerment, speeding and endangerment of the welfare of minors. The four juveniles were lodged in the Floyd County Detention Center, Conn said.

Garbage Fees

from garbage fees for over 20 years, they will be giving the city back about $1 million.

Stumbo also pointed out that a pending lawsuit regarding an earlier annexation attempt of the property will become moot.

Councilman Mike Vance moved that the council go into executive session to discuss pending litigation.

About 45 minutes later, the council resumed regular session and reached an agreement with Prestonsburg Inn, Inc., that the corporation will have a 10-year waiver of the collection of garbage fees at an adjusted rate, and during the 10 years thereafter, have a 75 percent reduction of the adjusted garbage rates as an economic incentive.

The council passed both ordinances with the deletions.

The $55,000 figure was "a total surprise to everybody sitting up there," said Councilman William O. Goebel of the amount Prestonsburg Inn, Inc., estimated as the yearly tax income for the city.

The council had estimated that the tax income would be between $32,000 and $35,000, Goebel said. There will be an extra $25,000 in the budget they were not expecting.

In five years, there will be an extra $125,000 in the budget, and it will take about 20 years for them to regain their $78,000 costs, Goebel said.

In other business, the council opened bids for liability insurance for the city. Two organizations bid for the contract: Hatton-Allen Insurance Agency and the Kentucky Municipal League Self-Insurance Program.

The Hatton-Allen proposal was for $63,283, not including inland marine or property insurance. The proposal includes a guarantee of no reassessment and a policy limit of $500,000 per claim.

The Kentucky Municipal League Self-Insurance Program proposal was for $47,713, not including property or prior act claims. The proposal includes a policy limit of $1 million and no deductible on any of the liability coverages.

The council passed William Callihan's motion that the proposals be referred to the council finance committee so it can make a recommendation.

The council also unanimously passed an ordinance which had been previously tabled to approve the codification of the city ordinances. It was tabled during the last meeting so that the proper effective dates could be included in the code.

The council went into a second executive session before adjournment to discuss a property acquisition. No action was taken.

Special Wheelwright Council Meeting Called; Pre-Closing Date Scheduled For Water Grant

At a special meeting of the Wheelwright City Council Monday night, a pre-closing date was set for a water grant to extend water lines in the Wheelwright community.

The pre-closing will be Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 11:30 a.m., according to Mary Ann Johnson, Wheelwright City Clerk.

In related matters, the council had passed an ordinance authorizing the issuance of $135,000 in water revenue bonds and accepted Farmer's Home

Administration's bid on the $135,000 bonds, Johnson said.

The council also amended the water rates for the city, she said. The new rates are as follows: a basic rate of $12 for the first 2,000 gallons of water; $5 for the next 3,000 gallons per 1,000 gallons; $4 for the next 5,000 per 1,000 gallons; and $3 for over 20,000 gallons per 1,000 gallons.

The new rates will go into effect at the completion of the water project and the installation of water meters, she said.

was also broadcast live on radio.

The panel included George Spiggle of First Commonwealth Bank; Marty Backus, publisher of the Floyd County Times; and Carolyn Traum, business owner in Prestonsburg.

One of several questions asked of the three candidates was whether or not they would favor increasing taxes to improve schools. Hamilton said he would support an increase "only if it was absolutely necessary." He added that he felt the present budget could be managed better. Jones said he would not favor a tax increase. "People don't think the school board (is) properly applying the funds that they have now," he said. Roberts said that with the current staffing and salary situations, he would not favor an increase, but added that if it became necessary, he would favor it only if funds were kept at the local level and county residents were allowed to vote on the issue.

Candidates Ricky Roberts, Ricky Hamilton and Roger Jones attended the Floyd County Education Forum's panel question-and-answer session at Allen Central High School Monday night.

Pharmacy Footnotes

THE MISSED DOSE

On occasion, a drug is prescribed to be taken as a single dose. However, most prescribed medications are supposed to be taken over a period of time, at specific intervals. This regulated taking of prescription drugs insures that the proper amount of medication will be in the blood stream at all times. There are instances, though, when a patient will forget to take a dose. When this happens, the pharmacist's or doctor's advice should be sought. A patient should not simply assume that the next dose should be doubled. Nor should the patient blindly take the dose upon remembering. Depending on the type of medication, a knowledgeable decision must be made before embarking on a new medication schedule.

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your family's pharmacy. Our records are fully maintained for all drug warnings, drug interactions and personal drug allergies here at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-5.

HINT: Doubling up on a dose of certain medications may cause an adverse reaction.

District Chairpersons Support Floyd Teachers

Being former teachers of the Floyd County School System, we understand why the teachers are so upset with working conditions, administrative indifference, politically-oriented board members and salary discrepancies.

The present superintendent has been assistant superintendent of instruction of Floyd County Schools for many years, and now the state tell us that our system is academically bankrupt!

In order for superintendent Ronald Hager to maintain his position and his supporting cast of board members, he is threatening to take "disciplinary actions" against teachers and other personnel for speaking out and demanding equality and a better educational system for the children of Floyd County.

The superintendent and the board members are the real people responsible for maintaining education at the highest level possible for our children, and they have failed. This is evident in the teacher walk-out of Oct. 13 and the threatened state take-over.

Why have these people failed to provide adequately for the needs of our children and our teachers? We are proud of the teachers in Floyd County, and support them 100 percent.

The Retired Teachers of District 3, with 477 years of teaching experience and District Chairmen,

Brackett Disagrees With Hager's Statement

Dear Editor,

A statement reported in the Times recently should be corrected and clarified.

Quoting Floyd County School Superintendent Ronald Hager, "a salary committee to review all salaries in the district was created two years ago."

I cannot agree to the correction of this statement.

I believe the following account of the principal and central office salary index is more accurate and less misleading.

Former superintendent E.P. Grigsby formed a committee sometime in 1984-85 to study increasing principal and central office salaries only. Not all staff and not teachers.

Principals formed their own committee and preceded to work only for principals' salaries. This committee represented only principals.

Principals' representatives met with individual FCBE members.

The principals met with the FCBE in executive session in the 1985-86 school year at the end of the year.

The principals met in these executive sessions with the board to such a salary index only for principals. The superintendent would not agree to, nor recommend, the salary demands of the principals due to a projected deficit, which did occur. The current members of the Floyd County Board of Education voted for and adopted the current index. No member of the board voted against this increase, in spite of superintendents' warning.

In the 1987-88 school year another committee was formed to study central office staff salaries. This committee was chaired by assistant superintendent Ron Hager. This committee did meet frequently during the early fall of 1987-88. This committee met several times in executive session with the Floyd County Board. The sole function of this committee was to adopt a new salary index for all certified central office staff only!

Then superintendent Ray Brackett would not recommend to the Floyd County Board of Education this index for central office staff because of the financial position of the district. At this time, the district had just eradicated a deficit from previous year.

There was never, at anytime from 1984 through 1988, a committee formed to study all salaries for all of the staff of the district.

During my 23 years of central office service there was never a committee formed to study all salaries of the district, especially the teachers' salaries. During the above mentioned service, I spent 13 of these years as finance officer. I would have been involved with and aware of such committee.

Sincerely
RAY BRACKETT
Former Superintendent

'Blue Ribbon' Trick-Or-Treat?

In this season of trick or treating, beware of "blue ribbon Panels" and superintendents that are not responsible for past problems.

As an education advocate and school board watcher for 10 years, I am more than familiar with the "stall" tactics used by our school administrators and board members.

Whenever a problem presents itself in the form of disgruntled parents, citizens, or teachers, a committee is created "to deal with the problem". I, and some of my fellow education advocates, have served on these infamous committees. The recommendation made by these committees never, in my experience, received the attention of the school board or their vote.

As far as superintendents not being responsible for past problems, if my memory serves me right, the present superintendent has been present and participating at almost all of these meetings during those 10 years. His job title during his tenure has been assistant superintendent in charge of instruction.

It is my understanding that we continue to have classrooms throughout this school system that do not have an adequate amount of textbooks (in certain subject areas), nor do the teachers have adequate instructional supplies or enough library facilities. If the present superintendent is not responsible, after 10 years as assistant superintendent, then who is? Why has this person been given salary increase after salary increase, given the state of these affairs?

One final observation: threatening letters sent to employees of our local school system, in my opinion, is behavior befitting a communist dictatorship, not a democratic body. After all, we do live in the United States; we do have the right of free speech and assembly under the constitution.

JOYCE EVERLY,
Prestonsburg

Students Express Support For Teachers

Dear Editor,

We're writing you to express the concerns of many students in Floyd County dealing with the teacher's protest. We feel that our teachers do so much for our educational and mental development. Teachers are not treated fairly.

We want to know why the administrative staff of the Floyd County Board of Education is rewarded at such a ridiculous level, when the teachers are the most important to us.

We are seniors at Betsy Layne High School, and we want to show our concern and respect to the teachers who have definitely shaped our future and the future of other students of Floyd County and the nation as well.

The Board of Education should not have to be reminded of this fact!!!

Student Supports Education, Teachers

Dear Editor,

I believe that education is very important for our young people of today. Many of them are dropping out of school and ruining their lives. People should stay in school because they reach goals that they never really expected.

Parents should encourage their children to stay in school and get good grades along with a good education.

Our teachers devote time to us to help us reach goals. The least we can do is devote time to them also, and try our best in succeeding in school.

To me, education will always be the key to the future.

Area Couple Concerned About Abuses Of Deed

Dear Editor,

We are very much concerned about the abuse and unwanted hill top removing method of mining here in Eastern Kentucky. It's destroying our timber and vegetation, covering up our farmland. Heavy blasting is damaging our homes.

The operators say under the broad form deed they are allowed to get the coal any way its convenient for them. All we will have left is rock bottoms and unwanted dirt with a busted up earth and the water dwindled away.

The only thing we have left to do is to go out on the November election and vote yes on the broad form deed amendment.

Sincerely yours,
ERNEST AND JEANETTE SMITH

District 3, School Board Candidates

As the Nov. 8 election draws near, candidates for the District 3, 4 and 5 Floyd County School Board positions continue to vie for the electorate edge.

On Wednesday, Oct. 12, The Floyd County Times sent each candidate a questionnaire via certified mail, addressing a range of election issues.

Responding were all three District 3 candidates — Ricky Joe Roberts, Tommy Boyd and Brent Clark; in District 4, only two of the four candidates — Dr. Mary Hall and Ricky D. Hamilton — responded. In District 5, the three challengers, Hattie Cooley Owens, Roger Jones and Paul J. Branham, while incumbent James Arville Duff did not.

Candidates' responses, in alphabetical order broken down by district, follow.

Question: Would you vote to increase salaries for classroom teachers and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Tommy Boyd: Yes. I think this would require an in-depth study of the means of increased revenue, along with wise expenditures of present money. Possibly of unmined minerals tax and the possibility of increased revenue on the lawsuit filed by 66 school districts. Following more closely with the recommendations and guidelines as set forth by the state Department of Education.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would vote for an increase in classroom teachers' salaries if it did not raise taxes on the local citizens.

Ricky Roberts: Yes. I would vote to increase salaries for our classroom teachers. Cutting back the overpaid administrative staff salaries and the unnecessary jobs would be a start; also, readjusting the operating budget in favor of supplemental pay increases would contribute to funding.

Question: Would you vote to increase wages or benefits for non-certified personnel and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Tommy Boyd: Yes (same reasons as those listed in answer to the previous question).

Dr. Brent Clark: I would vote to increase wages and benefits for non-certified personnel if it did not raise taxes on the local citizens.

Ricky Roberts: Yes. I talked to a bus driver who has worked for 17 years in Floyd County. He makes $3.70 per hour. This is a disgrace. This is 35 cents over minimum wage.

Evidently, the school board feels that the men and women who bring our children to school and take them home are not worth what they pay their secretaries. I disagree. If we cut the waste and all the favors, we would have enough money. The Floyd County school budget is $24 million per year. Where's the money? All non-certified personnel deserve the same benefits as the administrative positions and salary increases equal to those given to administrative positions.

Question: What specific measures would you take, if elected, to improve students' standardized test scores?

Tommy Boyd: Our teachers are as capable as teachers anywhere in the country. If given the necessary materials, supplies, working conditions and leadership, test scores should improve tremendously.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would vote to hire the best qualified teachers and administrators. Also, I would vote to appropriate additional funds for classroom materials to be used for instructional purposes.

Ricky Roberts: We need to put pride and commitment back into the school system. If we don't have the materials and equipment we need, how can we expect the teachers to prepare our children for the future? We have to give the teachers and children what they need: materials, lab supplies, art, etc., before we do anything.

This is a quote from a parent: "My child is constantly bringing home something from school to sell — to raise money for supplies at school. If my child doesn't go to college, then at least he should be a good salesman."

How have we let ourselves get in this position? What are we paying taxes for? I am sending my child to school for an education, not to be a salesman. Let's make the Board of Education put the money back in to the schools where it belongs.

Question: If it is necessary to remove or change items for proposed school construction to enable projects to meet budgeted costs, what would you change/remove at A) Allen Elementary; B) Garrett-Wayland Elementary; C) Prestonsburg Middle School; and D) Wheelwright-McDowell Consolidated High School? (Candidates were asked to respond for each of the four projects, whether located within their district or not, because, if elected, they will vote on each of the projects.)

chitects should be able to bring these schools within budgeted costs. But, if necessary, cut costs to make changes that will not be detrimental to the instructional program.

Concerning Wheelwright-McDowell, it is questionable that the site can be prepared within budget, and if not, the site should be relocated next to the center of the district, which is more cost-efficient.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would change the following if funds were not available:

Allen Elementary: I would leave off the teacher's lounge, and any item not necessary for a good educational environment for the students. Since coal is our most common natural resource, I would heat the school with coal.

Garrett-Wayland: I would have a single story structure and leave off the teacher's lounge and any other item not necessary for a good educational environment for the students. I would also heat the school with coal.

Prestonsburg Middle School: I would leave off the teacher's lounge, use coal for heat, delete the industrial arts section.

Wheelwright-McDowell: I would leave off the teacher's lounge, have a single story building, heat with coal and use the existing football field at Wheelwright.

If the above did not bring the projects into budget, then I would use a general contractor to build the schools instead of the Construction Manager System.

Ricky Roberts: I would leave Allen Elementary, Garrett-Wayland Elementary and Wheelwright-McDowell on the construction list. I would stop Prestonsburg Middle School, because Prestonsburg District is a city school and should be funded as such. I would add grade schools at Harold and Betsy Layne. It appears that the Board of Education has forgotten about District 3. Harold Elementary does not have a gym. How would you like your children to have physical education in the floor of their classrooms in the winter?

Drive by Harold Elementary and look how close it is to the main highway. Are we going to wait until a semi-truck comes through the front door before we do anything? The cars are parked too close to the road, or across the road.

Betsy Layne Elementary has been on the riverbank and flooded since 1948. How much longer? The facilities at John M. Stumbo Elementary have become too small to handle all the students.

Question: Do you feel administrative and/or central office salaries are too high and, if so, what specific changes would you implement to reduce them?

Tommy Boyd: No, but teachers' and non-certified salaries need to be brought into line with administrative salaries. Legally, it is difficult to reduce salaries without a reduction of responsibility.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would compare the administrative salaries with school districts of equal size. Then, if the salaries are too high, I would vote to decrease the salaries. They probably would be comparable to districts of equal size and comparable to the surrounding school districts.

Ricky Roberts: Yes! Let's do away with unnecessary jobs in the administration and cut the salaries of the rest. No administrative position should make more than a school teacher. Let's tell the people who are getting these high salaries that we, the taxpayers, have decided that their services are no longer required.

Question: What steps would you take to increase organization and participation in parent-teacher associations at each school in the county?

Tommy Boyd: By developing an awareness of the ongoing educational process through better lines of communication and accepting more public input.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would encourage each school to organize and work with any parent-teacher association or organization that has goals benefiting students.

Ricky Roberts: I will do what no board member has done before. I will attend the parent-teacher meetings at the schools in my district. Also, I would be in favor of conducting meetings with the public in my district whenever major decisions involving my district come about.

Question: Would you favor indexing administrative salaries?

Tommy Boyd: No. I favor an indexing system for all employees in the system.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would favor indexing administrative salaries if the indexing system was honest and fair to all administrators.

Ricky Roberts: I am in favor of firing the freeloaders and cutting the salaries of overpaid administrative people. No deals — these salaries are bleeding the schools dry. It's time to stop.

Question: Would you favor indexing classroom teachers' salaries and, if so, what criteria would you use to determine levels of responsibility? (Editor's note: Indexing, unlike a salary schedule, requires three criteria: level of education, amount of experience, and responsibility. Candidates were asked to specifically address the latter.)

Tommy Boyd: I favor an indexing system for all employees in the system, with a committee representative of all personnel to develop the criteria.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would be in favor of indexing classroom teachers' salaries for responsibilities above and beyond the normal working day.

Ricky Roberts: I would base the salaries on teacher involvement. The teachers are special people; they not only prepare our children for the future, they represent role models for our children. For example, if Johnny is having problems at school, his teachers should call his parents together and they can work to keep him in school.

The bottom line is that we have to work together. The teachers who become involved with our children, who strive to make our children aware of the benefits of an education — these are the teachers who deserve our support and increased salaries.

Question: How would you improve the district's public image and relationship with citizens of Floyd County?

Tommy Boyd: Through improved job performance of all employees, and accepting input from the public by making board meetings more open and holding board meetings in different communities.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would hold informal monthly meetings with interested citizens and groups to discuss problems and let the public have more input into the educational program of our schools. I would request monthly written reports to the public and hold more parent-teacher conferences.

Ricky Roberts: By being available, by being at the teacher-parent meetings. If there is a problem, call me. I can't help if you don't tell me what's wrong.

Question: What steps would you take to make the Floyd County Board of Education more accessible to the public and media?

Tommy Boyd: With an open-door policy at all levels.

Dr. Brent Clark: I would vote to move the board meetings to each educational division on a rotating basis. I would also consider meeting twice monthly and invite members of the public and press to attend.

Ricky Roberts: By having open meetings at all times. I will call each principal in my district to inform him of board meetings and instruct him to tell all teachers. I will ask teachers to inform students to tell their parents. Also, I will call Channel 5 and inform them of each meeting and the time and place.

VOTE NO ON THE LOTTERY

The following ministers of Floyd County are taking a stand against the state operated lottery amendment before Kentuckians this November. Many reasons are given:

1. The lottery preys on the poor, lengthening welfare lines.
2. There is no guarantee the lottery will help education.
3. The lottery will take money out of Kentucky to pay for operation.
4. Lotteries increase organized crime.
5. Lotteries lend themselves to political corruption.
6. Lotteries are the least effective way to raise state income.
7. Lotteries do not prevent tax increases.
8. Lotteries are contrary to the purpose of state government.
9. The lottery will be bad for Kentucky businesses.
10. Lotteries will lower the high ideals we would want to teach our children.

As Christians, we are also opposed to the lottery because it is clearly against Christian ethics and Biblical principles. Life is to be lived by faith in God, not fate. The motivating force behind the lottery is materialism, with little regard for moral and social consequences. The central moral imperative of the Bible is love, a love that never allows us to exploit another for our own benefit. Love doesn't allow us to do that which would cause another to stumble. Some of God's most stinging judgments are upon those who oppress the poor and exploit others. The Biblical views of stewardship and the work ethic are violated by the lottery. God's purpose in establishing government was to protect the people, not profit from their weaknesses. We are taught in God's word to "Let love be without hypocrisy. Abhor what is evil. Cling to what is good." (Romans 12:9) We as God's people must take a stand against that which is clearly against His will.

We encourage voters to vote NO on the state operated lottery amendment November 8.

Question: Would you vote to increase salaries for classroom teachers and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Dr. Mary Hall: I would definitely vote to increase the salaries and fringe benefits of classroom teachers. I believe that it is the responsibility of the State of Kentucky to enact revenue measures which will provide funds for an increase in teacher salaries. However, I would not vote to tax the citizens of Floyd County to raise the revenue requested. I do not believe that additional tax burdens should be imposed on the residents of Floyd County for this purpose.

Judge Corns of Franklin Circuit Court has ruled that Kentucky's method of funding education is unconstitutional. The governor and General Assembly should include this question in a special session of the Legislature in January 1989.

Ricky Hamilton: Not only will I vote to increase salaries, I will work for other benefits for our teachers. We need to boost teacher morale in order to assure a higher quality education for our children. The funding will require careful planning. Better management of the current budget could be one area. Encouraging our legislators to look for new revenue to increase the present budget (is another).

Question: Would you vote to increase wages or benefits for non-certified personnel and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Dr. Mary Hall: Custodians, cooks, bus drivers, clerks, teacher aides and maintenance personnel are greatly underpaid. I will vote to increase their salaries and fringe benefits if there is no additional tax burden on the citizens of Floyd County.

The necessary funds for an increase to non-certified personnel could actually be budgeted from receipts derived from the normal 4 percent increase of local revenue, and the present vehicles tax.

Ricky Hamilton: Yes. The wages of Floyd County's non-certified personnel should be brought in line with the rest of the state. I will work hard to provide our non-certified personnel with an adequate health insurance plan. The increase will be funded along with the teachers.

Question: What specific measures would you take, if elected, to improve students' standardized test scores?

Dr. Mary Hall: Students' standardized test scores have been improving in the Floyd County School District since the inception of the present testing program. The present student-teacher ratio is one teacher per 19 students. Standardized test scores can be improved by implementing and funding new innovative programs such as the IBM Write to Read Program.

Additional pre-school programs for children from 3 to 5 years old could be implemented to give students a head start. Other factors which could improve student achievement scores are better attendance, better school facilities, more instructional material and parental involvement in the education and educational system of their children.

Ricky Hamilton: This is a big concern. I believe we should seek assistance and consultation from the state Department of Education. We also need to make an in-depth study of other programs that have proven successful.

If it is necessary to remove or change items for proposed school construction to enable projects to meet budgeted costs, what would you change/remove at: A) Allen Elementary; B) Garrett-Wayland Elementary; C) Prestonsburg Middle School; and D) Wheelwright-McDowell Consolidated High School? (Candidates were asked to address costs of each school because, if elected, they will make the final determination.)

Dr. Mary Hall: Each of the four projects listed has an approved budget. However, the state Department of Education permits additional funding for each project if the bids exceed the budgeted cost. A board member would need to first look at the total project cost to determine if the project is within the allowable limits. Secondly, look at the state-provided additional funds available above the budgeted amount to ascertain if the total project is within allowable limits. Thirdly, look at the remedial action which may bring the project within the allowable sources of funding available. Fourthly, and in many instances, the project may need to be rebid or redesigned by the architect to bring down construction costs.

If all this action fails to bring the total cost of the project within the allowable funding capabilities, then the local school district has the option to provide additional local sources of bonding revenue or funds for the project, or redesign the facility.

Ricky Hamilton: I would favor changes for Prestonsburg, Allen and Garrett-Wayland, if necessary to get these projects in line with the budget. However, I will not favor changes that affect the quality of materials or construction of these facilities.

From the information the Floyd County Board of Education and I have received from the architects and the state department, it seems the only solution for the Wheelwright-McDowell High School is to select another site suitable for all. If the state insists the current site be abandoned and we must select a new site, there is a tract of bottom land within a half-mile of the present site.

I would like to see a site as close to halfway between McDowell and Wheelwright as possible. The location of the school is not a concern of mine. My concern is the safety of the children and the shape of the school campus. I want a campus with a high school on one floor, spacious athletic facilities, ample parking, and room for expanding in the future. We should build a school complex within the $4.4 million budget that we can all be proud of.

Question: Do you feel administrative and/or central office salaries are too high and, if so, what specific changes would you implement to reduce them?

Dr. Mary Hall: The present administrative staff salaries are comparable to the salaries of the seven surrounding school districts. Floyd County is the eighth largest of 180 school districts in Kentucky, with over 9,500 students and 950 employees. If the administrative salaries are ever higher than the seven surrounding districts, then a reduction in administrative salaries would be financially prudent.

Ricky Hamilton: The salaries may or may not be too high. It would depend upon whether or not the individual is qualified and satisfactorily performs his or her duties as required by the job description set by the board.

My objective is not to cut salaries, but to bring all salaries in line respectively. I believe the state department has recommended cutting some present positions from the office staff. If the state insists, then I would support his recommendation.

Question: What steps would you take to increase organization and participation in parent-teacher associations at each school in the county?

Dr. Mary Hall: First of all, I have worked hard to register all parents for the PTO and PTA organizations each year. Secondly, I would actively involve the members in the total educational process for students with such projects as a tutorial system, a night-time hot line for students to answer problems encountered in homework assignments, and other projects which would enhance the educational environment for students.

Ricky Hamilton: I think the Floyd County Board of Education should establish a board policy and set guidelines that would require a parent-teacher organization. I would ask the superintendent and principals to enforce this policy.

Question: Would you favor indexing administrative salaries?

Dr. Mary Hall: Yes, all administrative personnel salaries should be based upon a single, fair, equitable process with the degree and scope of responsibilities for each administrative position being considered as a salary factor. Most progressive school districts throughout Kentucky and the nation determine annual salaries based upon educational preparation, years of experience and administrative responsibilities. These factors eliminate the "old political system" of paying people's salaries because of their political influence.

Ricky Hamilton: I don't believe indexing is the answer. I believe salaries should be based on education, training, qualifications, experience and responsibility. The jobs should not be political favors. Positions should be filled with the best qualified staff. Employees should be expected to perform at a high level and provide leadership.

Question: Would you favor indexing classroom teachers' salaries and, if so, what criteria would you use to determine levels of responsibility? (Unlike a salary schedule, which is based on experience and educational level, indexing addresses a third factor: responsibility. Candidates were asked to determine what those responsibilities would be.)

Dr. Mary Hall: I am in favor of indexing classroom teachers' salaries based upon the extra and co-curricular activities sponsored by the teacher beyond the normal school day, as well as other assigned duties beyond the normal school day. Other duties would be defined as academic team sponsors, athletic coaches, band directors, cheerleader sponsors and other duties such as bus duty, which would require additional time involved beyond the normal school day.

Ricky Hamilton: My greatest concern is paying teachers a better salary than they are now earning. I believe the Floyd County Board of Education should work toward paying our teachers no less than the national average. If we expect a higher level of performance, we should provide higher compensation. We must continue to recognize the importance of the classroom teacher.

Question: How would you improve the district's public image and relationship with the citizens of Floyd County?

Dr. Mary Hall: I would involve citizens of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Women's Club, Rotary Club, Ministerial Association and other members of the clergy, parent teacher associations and organizations, school administrative personnel, classroom teachers and board members in monthly meetings to develop a sense of mission for the school district, and to establish long-range goals which all participants could support through active participation. In this manner, citizens would feel a definite ownership of the school district and would become more involved in the total educational process.

Dr. Mary Hall: I would encourage board members to have meetings in each district. Board members should publish their phone numbers and be available to the public and not hide behind closed doors. I know that I can speak only for myself — I will be accessible to the public and media.

Ricky Hamilton: I would encourage more parent-teacher conferences regarding the educational progress of students, work to provide a more friendly atmosphere in the schools and involve the news media in all meetings, occasions and school-related activities.

Question: Would you vote to increase salaries for classroom teachers and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Paul Branham: I favor increasing salaries for classroom teachers. Fund the increase with across-the-board cuts in administrators' salaries and by increasing administrative efficiency.

Roger Jones: Yes, I am in favor of the salary increases for teachers. Funding needs to come from several sources. The Board of Education books need to be audited by an outside accounting firm. We must know what funds are available and how they are being spent. The board needs to evaluate the Power Equalization Funds and apply them, when applicable, to salaries. Delinquent local taxes must be collected by the sheriff.

Hattie Owens: I know teachers are having problems with their salaries compared to that of the administrator's high salaries. I know that there are problems with their insurance.

You know and I know it takes three votes to pass anything except the hiring and firing of a superintendent, which takes four votes. I can't promise something not knowing how the other four board members will vote. I will do the best I can.

Question: Would you vote to increase wages or benefits for non-certified personnel and, if so, how would you fund the increase?

Paul Branham: Yes, an across-the-board cut in administrators' salaries.

Roger Jones: Yes, I am in favor of salary increases for non-certified personnel, with funding to come from the same sources listed above for teachers' increases.

Hattie Owens: I know that the non-certified personnel are not being treated right and have not been treated right in the past. This is a matter that would have to be studied to see if any monies are available before I can make this promise.

Question: What specific measures would you take, if elected, to improve students' standardized test scores?

Paul Branham: Improve quality of instruction with higher teacher salaries, reduce class sizes and (provide) more funding on instructional materials.

Roger Jones: As a board member, I need to work with the superintendent, the principals and the teachers to see that our children are taught by the same guidelines as children in other school systems. The problem is not that our children are not being taught. The problem is that the guidelines vary from school to school. The guidelines should be the same over the entire school system. Our children should be familiarized with all test procedures and properly prepared for standardized tests.

Hattie Owens: I know that Floyd

County has a problem with low test scores. I think this is a problem that is caused by kinds not getting off to a good start. I think that we should concentrate on the first three to four grades.

Question: If it is necessary to remove or change items for proposed school construction to enable projects to meet budgeted costs, what would you change/remove at: A) Allen Elementary; B) Garrett-Wayland Elementary; C) Prestonsburg Middle School; and D) Wheelwright-McDowell Consolidated High School? (Candidates were asked to respond concerning all four schools because, if elected, they will decide and vote upon treatment of each project.)

Paul Branham: Strive to keep all projects alive.

Roger Jones: Until being properly informed and having a chance to study the plans and cost of each project, I don't feel qualified to answer this question.

Hattie Owens: The construction and sites (of the four schools) are things I would have to study closely before making a decision. I think the Garrett-Wayland site is a poor choice for a school site because of the loaded coal trucks coming off the Garrett Hill on New Rt. 80, and because of the lack of space. There has already been talk of cutting eight classrooms out of this school. This school is going to be outdated and overcrowded before it is even built, with no room to expand.

Before I would vote to cut a project, I would look at all four projects and the one I thought could wait a couple of years, according to need, would be the one I chose—not the ones absolutely needed right now.

Question: Do you feel administrative and/or central office salaries are too high and, if so, what specific changes would you implement to reduce them?

Paul Branham: Administrative salaries are outrageously high. I favor a 10 percent cut.

Roger Jones: Yes, I feel that administrative and central office salaries are too high, compared to certified and non-certified personnel. I feel that they need to be brought in line with the state average.

Hattie Owens: I feel administrators' salaries are way out of hand. There are too many assistants for assistants. I would have the backbone to make tough decisions as needed.

Question: What steps would you take to increase organization and participation in parent-teacher associations at each school in the county?

Paul Branham: School board members should participate with the PTA and not undermine the organization.

Roger Jones: First, I would attend these meetings in person and would ask for parent and teacher input pertaining to policies. I would encourage the public as a whole to take part in the education of our children—for example, individuals, businesses, civic groups and churches.

Hattie Owens: I would be willing to work with individual schools to help increase participation in parent-teacher associations and organizations.

Question: Would you favor indexing administrative salaries?

Paul Branham: No.

Roger Jones: No, I would not favor indexing administrative salaries until the other salaries in the system are brought to an acceptable level.

Hattie Owens: No. I think administrators are overpaid for the work they do now.

Question: Would you favor indexing classroom teachers' salaries and, if so, what criteria would you use to determine levels of responsibility? (Unlike salary schedules, which are based upon educational level and experience, indexing adds a third factor—responsibility. Candidates were asked what levels of responsibility would be used in creating an index.)

Paul Branham: Yes, based on the amount of funds available after cutting administrative salaries.

Roger Jones: Yes, I am in favor of indexing salaries for teachers that take part in extracurricular activities such as bands, ball games, field trips, school functions and activities.

Hattie Owens: Teachers salaries are a problem in Floyd County. I would have to look at the budget and see what other monies would be available before I could make a decision.

Question: How would you improve the district's public image and relationship with the citizens of Floyd County?

Paul Branham: Take politics out of the school system and give teachers more respect.

Roger Jones: The district's public image in the past has been that of a Vote For and Elect RICKY D. HAMILTON School Board Member (Dist. #4)

As it has been for the past 16 years, Mary Hall keeps refusing to answer questions on important issues facing Left Beaver Creek.

1. As a board member for 16 years, what new facilities have been constructed in Dist. #4 besides the Pete Grigsby Fieldhouse?
2. What have you done in your capacity as board member to improve the test scores of the students in this district?
3. What have you done to increase teachers salaries from the bottom 15% in the state?
4. What actions have you taken to increase the salaries and benefits for secretaries, bus drivers, cooks, janitors, etc.?
5. Did you vote along with the superintendent and board chairman from Prestonsburg to build a new high school for Prestonsburg over the needs of a new grade school for Melvin?
6. Have you or your superintendent received a letter from Michael Luscher, State Director, Division of Buildings and Grounds, regarding the status of the new Left Beaver School? What is that status?
7. Since you have voted to put a superintendent and board chairman from Prestonsburg into the Floyd County School System, do you think Left Beaver will get its fair share of money from the board?
8. Why was the Mitchell Hill site chosen for the new high school? Is there enough room for the high school, gymnasium, football & baseball field, track and parking to accommodate fans and visitors? Isn't there a track of bottomland within 1/2 mile of this site that could accommodate all these facilities with room for expanding in the future? Did Paul Bailey have anything to do with selecting this site? (In a previous paper Mary Hall stated that she was "not present" at the April 2, 1986 Board meeting when Board Order No. 5556 was discussed.)
9. Do we need a Board Member that is not concerned enough about the needs of our children to be present at a Board Meeting when an important issue such as the new Left Beaver High School is being discussed? Mary, were you at the next meeting when the minutes of the April meeting were read and approved?
10. Mary, did you agree with Superintendent Ronald Hager's actions on Oct. 13, 1988, when he insisted on having school when he should have known that our children would not have adequate supervision? Do you feel that trying to "bully" the Floyd County school teachers around is more important than the health and safety of our children?

RICKY D. HAMILTON WILL LISTEN TO YOUR PROBLEMS AND ANSWER YOUR QUESTIONS.

"I was relieved to discover I was an alcoholic"

One man's story.

The word "alcoholism" is so loaded with shame, it's hard to imagine anyone ever being relieved to discover it applied to them.

This is a glimpse of what one man went through to come slowly to that realization.

"The very first time I drank, I got drunk, I got sick, I had a blackout. I didn't intend any of that to happen."

Often from their very first drink, alcoholics seem to respond differently to alcohol. If you sometimes drink so much that you don't recollect certain events, then by definition, you have an alcohol problem.

Normal drinkers rarely lose control to the extent that they have a blackout.

"Within six years, I was drinking round-the-clock, a quart of vodka a day. I didn't care what happened."

As the disease of alcoholism progresses, more and more you don't control alcohol, it controls you. Once you start drinking, you can't be sure whether you'll have two drinks, or twenty.

The consequences—family difficulties, health problems, arrest, loss of job—cease to matter. All you care about is the next drink.

"I thought I drank because I was crazy. I never realized I was crazy because I drank."

The more you drink, the more trapped you become. That's because drinking at your present rate has devastating consequences. But the thought of cutting down is equally awful.

So subconsciously, you seek a way out by flatly denying you have a problem, and laying the blame for your misfortunes elsewhere. You're going insane, people have it in for you or you're simply unlucky.

"Towards the end, I lay in bed, a half gallon on the floor, soaking wet with sweat, a gun in my mouth."

The possibility of suicide is one reason CareUnit likes to treat people as early as possible.

Last year, our program helped over 55,000 people stop using alcohol and drugs.

Treatment is covered by most insurance plans, and includes medical supervision, education, group therapy and free lifetime aftercare.

Incidentally, there's no charge for the initial consultation, which may involve the drinker, or someone close to him.

"Once I admitted my real problem, the worst was over."

It may be hard to believe—and it may not happen until you've been in treatment for a while—but once you admit you have a problem with alcohol, you'll feel a strong sense of relief and release. Then—and only then—can you start to rebuild your life.

The man whose story you've read has been sober 15 years, he's a highly successful senior executive in a major corporation, and he owes his life to one phone call.

And that's the point. If you don't call, we can't help.

Stumbo Hollow Residents Upset About Access

Stumbo Hollow residents are boiling mad, Joe Roberts told the Floyd County Fiscal Court at its Friday, Oct. 22, meeting, because residents must drive approximately 50 feet on railroad tracks to get to their homes.

Roberts said a representative of the C & O Railway told area residents to stay off the tracks. According to Roberts, the tracks are the only access to about eight homes in the area.

Roberts said he had no magistrate at the meeting to fight his battle. Stumbo Hollow at Drift is in District 3, and Ed Caudill, magistrate, resigned last week. Jackie Owens, magistrate of District 2, told Roberts, "I'll fight for you. I'll vote to get the people a roadway."

Judge John M. Stumbo told Roberts the matter was a case for the civil court, not the county court, until ownership of the property was determined. Julie Paxton, assistant county attorney agreed.

Until about two years ago when an abandoned mine was reopened, the tracks had been unused, said Stumbo. They were covered with dirt, graveled, and used by residents as a roadway. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. brought a civil suit against residents, Stella Martin, Ricky Roberts, Joe Roberts, and Clinnon Martin, who were also claiming ownership of the property. The suit asked that residents remove "junk, wood, dog houses, dog lots, and 'no trespass' signs on the C & O right of way." C & O also claimed ownership of the property.

John Mann, attorney for the defenddants, said this week, "It was my understanding from talks I had last year with my clients, the county would construct an access over the railroad tracks."

Roberts said a verbal agreement had been reached with the C & O for residents to remove obstructions from the tracks, which they have done.

School children must walk down the tracks, cross a trestle, and go through Robert's yard to catch a school bus, according to Roberts.

Roberts said the coal company keeps adding cars to the unit train and the access and trestle becomes blocked. The train also backs up at night with no lights on the end, and with no one as a lookout, he claimed. Roberts said, coal gons had come loose and traveled uncontrolled down the tracks. "Somebody's going to get hurt before anything gets done," Roberts told the court.

On March 14, 1987, 17 loaded coal cars came loose from the unit train. The runaway cars damaged a mini-car the coal company had used earlier to move the gons. No one was injured.

Stumbo agreed the situation was dangerous, but told Roberts to see Judge Hollie B. Conley in circuit court.

According to Roberts, railroad officials from Huntington told him Thursday, Oct. 21, that each time residents use the railway, they are trespassing. Officials also said they would try to work something out in a reasonable amount of time.

When asked by the Times what constituted a reasonable time frame,

Combs & Combs, attorney for the railroad, said they could not comment at this time. "Tracks can not be crossed with a vehicle except at designated crossings," Don Combs said.

Roberts reported railroad cars were still blocking the access, Saturday, Oct. 22.

Local Officers Make Drug-Related Arrests

Burley Prater, 40, of Blue River, was arrested by Prestonsburg Police officials this week, charged with allegedly trafficking in cocaine.

According to Sgt. Mike Omerod, Prater was also charged with driving under the influence (DUI), carrying a concealed weapon, and possessing prescription drugs not in a proper container.

In a separate drug-related case, Omerod arrested Ralph Bailey, no age or address available, for alleged possession of marijuana, carrying a concealed deadly weapon and possession of cocaine.

Omerod made a routine traffic stop on Tuesday, Oct. 18, on Ky. Rt. 114. He spotted what appeared to be a small bag of marijuana residue in Bailey's vehicle, and upon further investigation, found a larger quantity of marijuana, pills, and a .25 calibre derringer.

Bailey was lodged in the Floyd County Jail, and later gave officers permission to further search the car. A quantity of cocaine was found hidden in the locking fuel door of the vehicle, according to Omerod.

Charges for possession of a controlled substance are pending while the pills are analyzed.

In other matters, several minor accidents were reported this week. They included:

— Oct. 25, Sgt. Gerald Clark investigated an accident near Super America. A vehicle driven by Earl Jervis of Martin apparently pulled into the path of a car driven by Loretta Davis of Eastern. No injuries were reported.

— On Thursday, Oct. 20, Officer Jim Mullins investigated an accident on US 23 at the Bert Combs Bridge. A vehicle driven by Sam Bentley of Beaver struck another driven by Ronnie Wireman of Salyersville in the rear end. According to police reports, a citation was issued to Bentley for operating a motor vehicle on a suspended license. Bentley was driving a Mack truck. Both men were traveling north on US 23 when the incident occurred.

— A vehicle driven by Kelli Ford, no address listed, struck a car driven by Susan Sword of Blue River. According to police reports, Ford was stopped at a stop sign when Sword was turning off US 23 to enter Archer Park. Ford's vehicle rolled forward and hit the Sword vehicle in the right side. No injuries were reported, nor citations issued.

— Officer William Lafferty investigated a three-car accident on US 23 in front of Dale's 66 gas station. Involved were Tammy Compton of Auxier, Rose M. Justice of Pikeville, and Charlotte Roberts of Pikeville. Compton was apparently traveling south on US 23, and the Roberts vehicle was stopped in the center lane waiting to make a left turn. Justice was traveling north. Compton's vehicle reportedly crossed the yellow line, sideswiped Roberts' vehicle and, from impact, crossed over the exit lane and sideswiped Justice's vehicle before striking the guard rails. Compton was issued three citations for no operators license, no insurance and no registration receipt.

— On Saturday, Oct. 22, Capt. Darrel Conley investigated an accident involving two cars. A 1975 Ford driven by a 16-year-old juvenile from Endicott struck a 1983 Olds parked at Meritt's Country Store. The car, owned by Benita Merritt of Allen, sustained severe damage. The driver of the Ford was charged with driving under the influence, and was signed over to the Floyd County Detention Center.

— On Thursday, Oct. 20, an accident took place at the entrance to Prestonsburg Community College parking lot. A vehicle driven by Janet G. Jones of Lexington reportedly ran into the side of a vehicle belonging to William D. Stanley, 22, of David. No citations were issued, according to Officer Roy Roberts.

— On Tuesday, Oct. 18, Roberts investigated an accident at the intersection of Plaza Road and US 23. Shirley Slone, 45, of Blue River, was coming off Plaza Road onto US 23 and, due to wet road conditions, drove into the path of a vehicle driven by Walter Kidd, 53, of Honaker. No citations were issued. Kidd was taken via ambulance to an area hospital after complaining of pain in his left shoulder.

— On Oct. 15, Sgt. Sue Blackburn investigated a minor auto accident at US 23 and Arnold Avenue. Amy Duncan, no address or age available, was apparently attempting to cross US 23 at Arnold Avenue when her vehicle was struck by another driven by Samuel H. Ratcliffe of Pikeville. No citations were issued, nor injuries reported.

— On Oct. 25, according to Roberts, Nancy Jane Stepp of Prestonsburg, was in the center lane at Price's Supermarket, going north on US 23 and turning into the supermarket. She apparently turned into the path of a vehicle driven by Henry Masser of Prestonsburg, who was traveling south. No injuries were reported, nor citations issued.

— On Friday, Oct. 21, an accident took place at North Arnold Ave. and West Music Street. Lu A. Nelson of Van Lear was attempting to exit onto Arnold Avenue from West Music, and apparently struck a car driven by Ella F. Music of Prestonsburg when Music failed to yield right-of-way. No injuries were reported.

— On Sunday, Oct. 23, Sgt. Gerald Clark investigated an accident at the US 23 and US 1628 traffic light. A vehicle driven by William Bay of West Prestonsburg was reportedly rear-ended by a vehicle driven by Gary Lewis of Banner. Minnie Bays of West Prestonsburg, a passenger, was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center for treatment for back injuries.

United Way: An Organization Providing Local Financial Help

To say that one organization can touch everyone's life in some way or another is a big bill to fill, but Faye Mullins, executive director of the United Way of Eastern Kentucky, says that they can.

The purpose of the United Way is to raise funds to funnel back to non-profit agencies so they can operate, Mullins said.

The groups that United Way of Eastern Kentucky support their five-county area are Hospice, the Kidney Foundation, Multiple Sclerosis Foundation, the Food Bank, Rainbow Girls, local rescue squads, Civic League, Little League, the Veterans' Organization, the Salvation Army, the Spouse Abuse Center and the Sports/Recreation Foundation.

"Each United Way is an independent resource that is governed by a volunteer board of directors and we have a single continuous campaign to meet human needs," Mullins said. There are 2,300 United Ways across America that serve their own communities.

United Way of Eastern Kentucky has a goal of raising $100,000 and are one-third of the way there, and that fact is displayed by a sign in front of their offices in the Big Sandy Area Development District offices in Prestonsburg.

Of the monies raised, 90 percent or more is given back to the organizations the United Way helps, she said.

There are different ways to contribute to the United Way, according to Mullins. For example, many companies have an option for their employees to have $1 or $2 deducted from their paychecks to be donated.

"Employees are fantastic supporters," she said, and added, "$1 or $2 from a paycheck is nothing, but it can really make a difference."

Other ways of contributing include personal contributions or involvement with the now 22-member board of directors.

"Your contribution helps thousands of people who really need your help," she said.

For more information about the United Way, contact Faye Mullins at 886-1069.

Halloween Displays Abound In Area

A sign near Cliff Bridge directs the curious spectator to an unusual halloween display at the home of Lyda George at Cliff.

George, 80, assisted by her daughters, Joann George and Jean Daniels, has been creating spooks and ghouls for about three years. She began with three spooks and now has about 20 spectres haunting her yard. Night adds an eerie effect as Mrs.

George sheds a little light on the subject.

Joann George said her mother began the display "because she loves kids and enjoys trick-or-treating." She creates a spook by first purchasing a mask. She creates a body, and the scene evolves. The Red Riding hood scenario, a new addition to this year's display, was created when Mrs. George purchased a wolf's mask. She created a wolf's body, ready to pounce. George said the wolf was not complete without its intended victim, Little Red Riding Hood.

Another addition is the dummy goat, and according to Joann George, the story of the dummy goat was told to her mother, Lyda, by her grandmother. George said the dummy goat was a common practice in plays around a century ago when costumes were not available. The legs and arms of children were both placed in the sleeves of a long-sleeved shirt. The child stood on all fours, but looked as if he were standing on two short legs.

George said many onlookers including two buses with senior citizens, one bus with head start children, around 300 cars, and approximately 400 people had stopped to view the spooky display.

Religious Viewpoints

Gary Shepherd, Pastor
Zebulon Baptist Church

I am always amazed at the strange bedfellows that are found united to champion causes they feel are of the greatest importance. They join to fight against abortion, pornography and a thousand other moral causes. Their fight is so vital, so vocal, so vigorous, and yet, while they are drawn away to engage in these skirmishes of lesser importance, the real battle rages elsewhere! Such is the spirit of modern ecumenical religion.

When these individuals are confronted, one at a time, with the issues of the Lord Jesus Christ and the gospel of his free and sovereign grace, it reveals they cannot all sleep in the same bed. It proves as the prophet Isaiah said, a bed shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it: and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it.

If all abortions, wrong as they may be, should end; and all pornography, filthy as it is, should be banned—men and women would still be dead in trespasses and sin, lost without Christ! If we could make all men to be moral, their best righteousness would still be as filthy rags in the sight of God. Sinners will never be saved by the promoting or preaching of politics or moral issues but by the preaching of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The real battle is not men for or against any moral or social cause—it is men against God! This is revealed when the gospel is preached. Both sides of any of these issues, regardless of how much they are at odds with each other, will always unite and rebel against the gospel. The Pharisees, Sadducees, Romans, and others, though all having different political, social and moral views, joined together to crucify the Lord of Glory.

The real battle rages when men rebel against God as He reveals Himself in the gospel: His absolute sovereignty over all things including salvation; His unconditional election of some of Adam's race to salvation; His particular redemption of His elect; His omnipotent grace displayed in bringing His own to Christ; His glory in the perseverance and preservation of His people and even what He declares man to be in his natural state, totally depraved.

Regardless of how I might be in agreement with others in any of these issues, I cannot spend my time and energies in their pointless efforts. Nor can any true soldier of Christ. Let me be where the captain of my salvation is, in the heat of the fray, where his honor and glory are in dispute. Let me preach his gospel! The bed of these religious sideline soliders is too far from the front lines for the soldier of Christ. Let his word forever be our marching orders: Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also. Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier. (II Tim. 2:1-4)

Prestonsburg Manager

C&H Rauch Jewelers, one of the nation's fastest growing jewelers, announces its Triple Grand Openings Oct. 28-29 in Prestonsburg, Mid-diesboro, and Bluefield, W. Va.

In Prestonsburg, C&H Rauch will move from its current location at 117 University Avenue to the Prestonsburg Village. A ribbon cutting ceremony at 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, will kick off the grand opening festivities, according to company officials.

Local dignitaries and company representatives and employees will be on hand to welcome one of the newest additions to the C&H Rauch Jewelry Chain.

Merchandise will be specially priced for the celebration. Visitors to the new store are invited to register for a $1,000 shopping spree to be given away Nov. 12. No purchase is necessary.

Debbie Clippard will remain as manager of the Prestonsburg location. A native of Indiana, she has over 15 years of experience in retail sales. She and her husband, Robert, currently reside in Prestonsburg with their two children, Colin and Tyler.

C&H RAUCH Jewelers began as a single wholesale jewelry store founded in Cincinnati by the Rauch family in 1887. In 1952, Robert Cohen, father of corporate president Harry S. Cohen, purchased the store and began selling his own jewelry through the distributing network as well.

In 1960, the first C&H Rauch Jewelers location was opened on Church Street in Lexington, distributing wholesale to businesses and corporations. The store gradually evolved into a retail business.

Tough Defense Powers Blackcats To District Win

If you're still wondering what happened to Morgan County's high-powered offense Friday night, Cougar head coach Bruce Herdman can answer all the questions in just two words.

"Prestonsburg's defense," the veteran head coach said of his team's offensive ineffectiveness.

"They didn't do anything we didn't expect. They just played hard," Herdman said after his team had lost to Prestonsburg 6-0 Friday night in Prestonsburg. "They got a lot of pressure on us, and we couldn't get our plays off."

The Blackcats defense, enjoying possibly its best effort of the season, completely shut down Morgan County's passing game while holding the Cougars to less than a yard per play average.

"Our defense played an outstanding game. They won the football game for us," Prestonsburg's first-year coach Bill Letton said.

Morgan County, dropping to 5-5 on the season and 2-3 in the district, came into Friday's game boasting one of the state's most effective passing attacks. But against the Blackcats, they failed to show similar success that had rolled up impressive numbers previously.

Cougar quarterback Jamie Easterling came into the game ranked as Kentucky's fourth-rated passer, while tight end Mark Holbrook and running back Brian Goforth were among the state's top 15 receivers.

But armed with a relentless pass rush, Prestonsburg kept Easterling and the Cougars well in check. Easterling completed four of seven attempts for 54 yards before being forced from the game in the third quarter after suffering a leg injury.

"We tried all week to put in a nickel defense because we knew they would be trying to throw the football," Letton added. "We got that extra defensive back in there and it took the pressure off our down linemen."

"They didn't have to worry about the run. It took that responsibility off them so they could concentrate on getting pressure on the quarterback."

That they did, especially Bill Smith and Kevin Dotson. Both sacked

Easterling, who was caught in the backfield three times, and again lost 14 yards on a fumble that he recovered himself.

"They played a great game," Letton said, speaking of Smith and Dotson. "We wanted our seniors, because it was their last home game, to have the best games of their careers, and I think across the board all our seniors had good games."

Dennis Smith, a 5' 9", 140 pound tailback, was one of those seniors who enjoyed success in his last game ever at Prestonsburg. Smith ran for 83 yards and a touchdown that resulted in the only points of the game.

On their first possession of the game, Prestonsburg drove from their own 26 to score. During the drive Smith, who scored from four yards out with 6:21 left in the opening frame, ran for 40 of the Blackcats' 74 yards.

The drive also featured a Tim Trusty 31-yard completion to Jamie Howell following a clipping call on the Blackcats.

Howell, Prestonsburg's senior wide receiver, later caught a pass on fourth down that kept the drive alive. Faced with fourth and one, the Blackcats ran an option play that had running back Ryan Porter throw to Howell, who made a diving reception after the ball had been tipped by Morgan County.

The completion, which moved the Blackcats to the four yard line, was followed by Smith's run for touchdown.

That proved to be all the points Prestonsburg would need in claiming its second win of the season, and its second victory in district competition.

The Blackcat defense held Morgan County to zero net yards in the first half, and in the game the Cougars managed only 33 yards on 38 offensive plays.

Actually, after Prestonsburg's initial drive, neither team enjoyed success in moving the football especially on the ground.

"You couldn't run the football up the middle," Letton mentioned. "It was slushy in the middle of the field, so we tried to run to the short side. They did, too, but it was hard to run the football."

Morgan County's biggest running play was a 19-yard gainer in the second half. But that came from deep in their own territory, and was followed by a 14-yard loss because of a fumble.

The Cougars, with all its offensive problems, did have more than one scoring opportunity in the first half, but came up short on each of them.

With 3:37 remaining in the first quarter, Morgan County recovered a Blackcat fumble deep in Prestonsburg territory. Easterling, on the first play after the fumble, hit end Mark Holbrook for a 14-yard gain, moving them to the 22 yard line.

But the drive was brought to an immediate halt when the Blackcats stopped Morgan County on their next three plays, and escaped the situation without yielding any points by blocking a 36-yard field goal attempt.

Later in the first half, Morgan County moved the football from the Blackcat 37 to the 14, but Easterling threw two incomplete passes, and Prestonsburg defensive back Aaron Flannery threw Mark Payne for a three-yard loss to kill that drive.

As the Cougars rushed to get into field goal formation, they were flagged for a delay of game penalty which put them back to the 22. That penalty, their second just before a kick attempt, cost them three points as Brian Goforth's kick came up just feet short of the uprights.

Morgan County never got back into Blackcat territory, and saw its hopes all but disappear when Easterling went out of the game with an injured ankle late in the third period.

The Cougars, with a talented junior under center, hadn't exactly been an effective offensive team, but when he was knocked out of the game what remained of Morgan County's offense went with him.

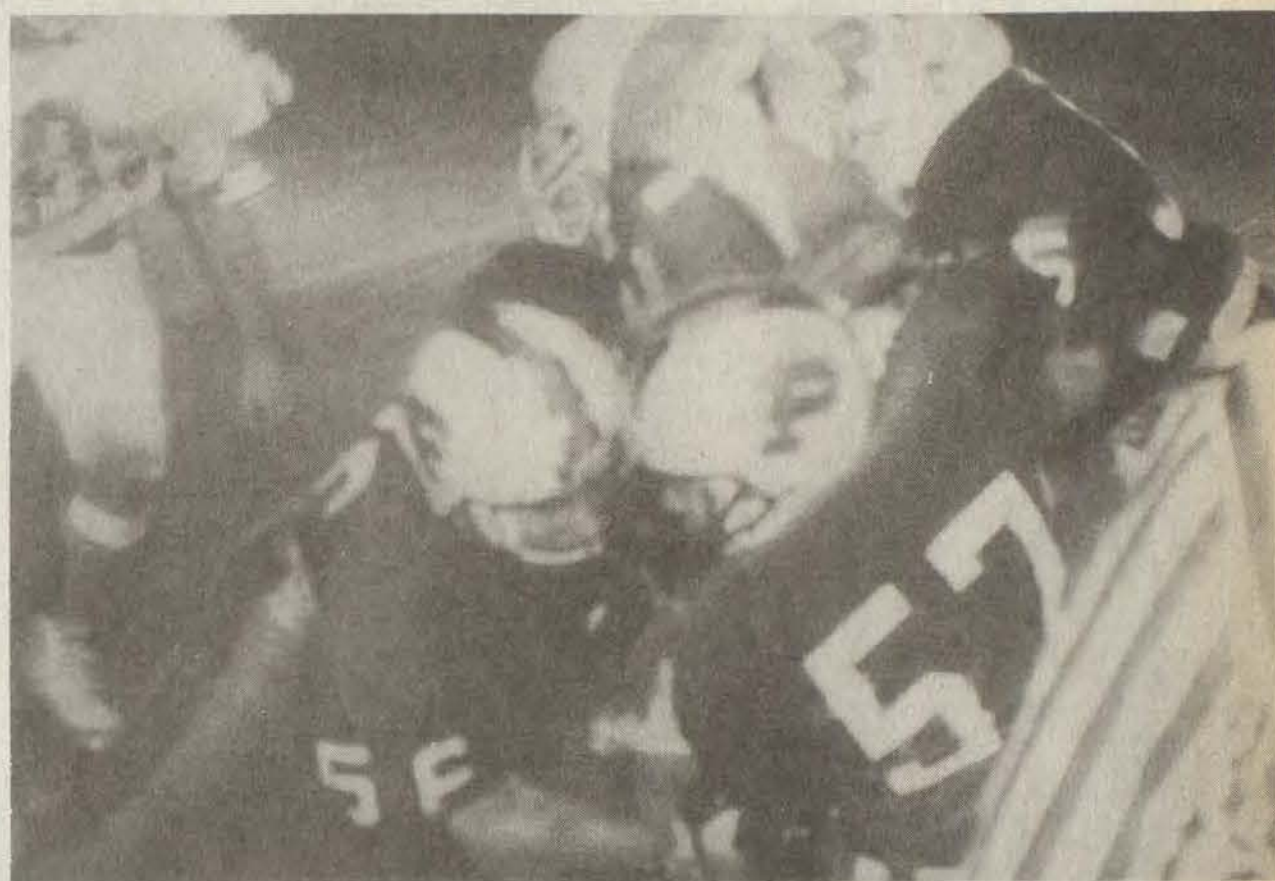

"They just wanted it more than we did," Herdman said. "They did a good job getting pressure on him (Easterling). They beat us on the line."

Dotson ran for 34 yards for Prestonsburg, which was second best on the team. Tim Trusty completed two of his three pass attempts, one to Howell and the other to Mike Crace. Crace, a junior, also had an interception, which came late in the game when Morgan County was trying to pull out a comeback win.

The win improved the Blackcats to 2-8, and they wrap up their season Friday night when they travel to M.C. Napier in what Letton says is an important game even though neither team will be going to post-season play regardless of the outcome.

"These are big games," Letton said. "Our seniors had two games left and we wanted them to have good games. We wanted to win these last two so we could get some momentum going for next year. We've got one down and one to go."

STRONG DEFENSE: The Prestonsburg defense smothers a Morgan County runner on this play. The Blackcats shut out Morgan County 6-0, and held one of the state's more potent passing attacks to under 100 yards.

The Sporting Times

Funny thing, this sport called baseball. In other forms of athletics, especially on the professional level, you have the heroes—the Michael Jordans who are assured of getting their 40-plus points in a basketball game.

Then there is football, where Bruce Smith or Lawrence Taylor can predict matter-of-factly that they will dominate a game from their defensive position.

How about the running backs, the Bo Jacksons and Herschel Walkers who can single-handedly carry a team to victory on the strength of their powerful legs and upper body?

Baseball, though, isn't quite the same. There is always that little something special which makes the sport special.

The old saying, "It isn't over till it's over," was made for baseball. Because, in all honesty and reality, it is never over until it is officially over. Just ask the LA Dodgers or the Oakland Athletics. In one brief three-game span, both teams experienced the full force of the infamous words muttered sometimes in fun, but always

Rebels Survive Mistakes In Victory Over Sheldon Clark

The game started out in a sad but similar fashion of Allen Central, but the final outcome featured a sweet and different twist for the Rebels.

Sheldon Clark, after recovering an Allen Central fumble near midfield, scored a touchdown on its first possession of the game, but the Rebels rallied, managed to make the big play when they absolutely had to, and pulled out a come-from-behind 18-14 victory Saturday at home.

"They came through," Donnie Daniels, Allen Central's head coach, said following the game. "That's the first time this season we've come from behind to win a game."

The Rebels, who trailed 14-6 at halftime, took their first lead of the game with 6:49 left when fullback Bear Halbert crossed the goal line from one yard out.

Sheldon Clark had several opportunities to regain the lead, but the Rebel defensive backfield intercepted three passes, two by Jeff Fitch and another by Kevin Hall, in the final six minutes to turn the Cardinals away each time.

"We played with a lot of heart, and we played with a lot of determination," Daniels said. "The kids were determined that they weren't going to lose this game."

"We played hard. It was our last home game of this year, and I think the kids really wanted to win this one," the coach added.

The Cardinals struck almost immediately after recovering the fumble on their own 48. Tailback Mike Cain scooted for a 16-yard gain, and one play later Chris Lockwood threw 36 yards for a touchdown, putting his team up 6-0 with 9:01 remaining in the first quarter.

Cain, the Cardinals' leading rusher on the day with 131 yards, was stopped short on the two-point conversion attempt.

Allen Central, though, enjoyed success moving the football on a slippery, sloppy field, especially on the ground, running Mickey Parsons and Halbert straight at the Cardinal defense.

"We felt we had the better ball club, especially with the field conditions the way they were," Daniels said. "We felt we had the stronger, more physical football team."

The Rebels proved that in the second half. But they first had to give their faithful quite a scare.

Trailing 14-6, Allen Central turned the football over on its own three when a high snap from center sailed over punter Bear Halbert's head, giving the Cardinals four chances to gain three yards and six points.

But each of the four tries met tough Rebel resistance, and when they had used up their chances, Sheldon Clark found themselves giving the football back to the Rebels at the same spot they had assumed possession.

Jamie Hall, a senior end, came up with the big play of the series, stopping Cain for a six-yard loss on first down. The Cardinals never recovered from the backward movement.

With the football back, Allen Central set its sights on the other goal line, 93 yards in the distance. But after recovering its own fumble, and following a Cardinal off sides, Mickey Parsons broke loose for one of the Rebels' longest runs of the season, going 78 yards untouched into the end zone. But Allen Central failed on the two-point conversion, and still trailed in the game.

Sheldon Clark, which moved the football effectively in the first half, had only two first downs in the second half, and failed to sustain a drive of over four plays.

After the Parsons run, the Cardinals got the football back, ran three plays, and was then forced to punt from their own 26.

The Rebels took control of the pigskin on the 50, and behind an inspirational, if not dominating effort from their burly fullback, covered the 50 yards in 12 plays, over six minutes of the clock.

Halbert, who rushed for 77 yards, ran six times during the drive, breaking tackles and carrying would-be defenders for 29 of Allen Central's yards.

When he wasn't toting the pigskin, Halbert, a senior, was busy opening holes for Parsons, who had yet another incredible performance, running for 198 yards, and catching one pass for a touchdown.

His most important run, though, may have not been his longest. Faced with a fourth and one from the Cardinal six, Parsons blasted through a small hole, made it to the one-yard line, and gave the Rebels a first and goal from there.

Halbert, on the next play, found paydirt, giving Allen Central its first lead of the game. But thanks to some key defensive plays, it was the last lead for either team.

Late in the first half the Rebels had been burned on a pass off a double reverse when Brian Moore came up with the reception in the end zone, and in the middle of four Allen Central defenders. The pass, with the reception in the end zone, and in the middle of four Allen Central defenders. The pass, with one minute showing on the clock, covered 27 yards.

Again in the fourth quarter, with 5:47 remaining in the contest, Sheldon Clark ran a similar play, but this one didn't prove quite as effective as Jeff Fitch intercepted the attempt on his 36, and returned it to the Cardinals' 41.

Just over a minute later, though, Allen Central turned the football back over, again on a fumbled snap. But again Fitch, on a second and nine play from the 46, picked off a pass, again foiling the Cardinals' comeback attempt.

Sheldon Clark had one last chance to pull out the win, and looked as if it might after Lockwood connected with Cain on a pass play that took them to the Rebel 35 with just a few seconds remaining in the game.

But on their last play Kevin Hall came up with the big defensive effort, intercepting a pass on the game's final play, saving the four-point win.

Sheldon Clark, which gained 161 yards in the first two quarters, was held to only 63 in the second half. Allen Central picked off four passes in the final two periods. The other, besides those belonging to Fitch and Hall, was by Jamie Hall.

"He (the Sheldon Clark coach) surprised us with the type formations they ran in the first half," Daniels explained. "We hadn't worked on any of it all week."

"We got in at halftime. We talked about the gear down pass they had been throwing, like the one they ran the next to last play of the game. We did a good job rotating our defense in the second half to shut down some of the stuff they had been running."

"Sheldon Clark's got a fine ball club. Jim's done a good job this year. He's just had a lot of bad luck," Daniels added.

The Cardinals, although the field conditions weren't perfect for it, ran just about every razzle-dazzle play they had at Allen Central. But the Rebels also showcased some of their finesse.

With a third and 13 play staring them in the face, quarterback B.J. Aldrich dropped back to throw, but instead tossed the football behind and off to the right and Jamie Hall pulled it in, then threw 32 yards to a wide-open Parsons for the score, their first of the game.

Hall, in his final home football game as an Allen Central Rebel, threw a touchdown pass, had one reception, intercepted a pass, and made a couple tackles for a loss of yardage.

The Rebels, 3-7 and tied with Betsy Layne for the best record in the county, goes after number four this Saturday when they travel to Millersburg for a battle with M.M.I.

The Sporting Times

In game one of the World Series, Kurt Gibson comes off the bench, somehow puts the pain of strained ligaments of both legs in the back of his mind, musters enough inner and outer strength to produce a swing (not a pretty one, mind you) and hits a two-out, two-run homerun to win the game in LA's final at-bat.

Dennis Eckersley, the pitcher Oakland had on the mound, had saved 45 games during the regular season.

During the playoffs, one in which Oakland swept over Boston, Eckersley had saved all four games, and for his efforts was rewarded an MVP trophy.

But Gibson, a million dollar man who puts his career on the line every time he runs the bases or goes after a fly ball close to a fence anywhere, was out in front of a curve ball, swung off balance, but still hit the ball out of the park.

He deserved it. Without Gibson, a man who knows only one way to play baseball (hard the way it was meant to be played), the Dodgers would have been at home watching the World Series.

It was that one play, and the efforts of Gibson, that sum up the Los Angeles Dodgers. Against all odds should certainly be their theme, if not the song they are singing.

They send out a different lineup about every night. They win despite being out talented most of the time, and they play baseball's magic to the hilt.

Mickey Hatcher, throughout his career, has been a utility man at best. But with the Dodgers he is a World Series star.

No, Hatcher won't hit 45 homeruns, or steal 47 bases. He has neither speed nor power, but Hatcher has a winning attitude. He dives after foul pops. He slides headfirst, and what he lacks in physical abilities, he makes up for in desire.

LA shouldn't have even been on the same field as Oakland—or at least they shouldn't have lasted over five games.

Oakland is awesome, dominating (if baseball still remembers what that means). The Athletics, in all their physical power, looking invincible, unbeatable, have been given a lesson in baseball execution.

Oakland was supposed to sweep the Dodgers, or so most said. But what those people forgot was the little round man in the LA dug out.

Tommy Lasorda is baseball's premier manager, and has been since the days of the mid-70s when he took over.

This year might have been his best ever. LA played part of the season without shortstop Alfredo Griffen, and Fernando Valenzuela, normally one of their best pitchers.

Of course, when you have a pitcher who throws a shutout every time he takes the mound, managing can't be too hard.

Good pitching stops good hitting. You've heard that one right. Well, Orel Hershiser stopped one of baseball's best hitting teams of all time in game two, limiting Oakland to three hits in a complete game shutout.

Hershiser himself had that many hits. But in was in the fourth inning that the Dodgers gave the Athletics another lesson in how the game should be played. With one out and Griffen on first, a sacrifice situation for certain with Hershiser up, the Dodger pitcher squared to bunt, drew the bat back, and with Griffen going, dumped a run scoring double down the right field line.

Of course, it was Mike Marshall's three-run homerun that proved to be the big blow, but LA showed in pure form how to squeeze out some insurance.

Oakland still stood firm. They gave nothing away, they conceded less. Jose Canseco, with his bulging biceps, bulging triceps, and bulging thighs, still looked like a Roman gladiator, except that his armor included a two-pound-plus wooden stick that looked like a tooth pick clutched in his huge hands.

There was Mark McGwire, all six-foot-five of massive manhood. They are an intimidating lot, those Athletics, a fine physical machine powered by the strength of 500 horses.

The Goliath of Major League baseball... maybe. But even the big giant fell when the smaller David stood strong in the shadow of death, held firm his ground when the odds looked impossible.

The Dodgers and David? The comparison has been made. But when McGwire blasted his bottom of the ninth no-doubter, the Athletics were on the comeback trail.

Even his homerun, although no more the glamorous, and certainly not possessing the drama, seemed more effective than Gibson's. Kind of like it sent a message to the earlier shot. "I was crushed. It was a line shot. You barely made it out. My man had a much better swing," was what McGwire's homer might have said.

The Dodgers did lack that air of dominance. But they overcame that. In fact, they overcame several things, and at the same time became the only team in the 1980s to win two World Series titles.

In game four they defeated Oakland with a makeshift lineup after Mike Marshall hurt his back. Kurt Gibson was already out. Do you ever wonder what they might have done had they been healthy?

Many plays in the series summed up the Dodgers' efforts. The Steve Sax hit and run single up the middle in game four was an example of their style. So was Hatcher's dive head first into first during game five.

But the situation that put their efforts in true perspective came later in game five.

With Carney Langford on base, two out, and LA up by three, Orel Hershiser went to a 3-0 count on Tony Phillips. A walk would have brought the tying run to the plate.

What did the World Series MVP do? He threw three straight strikes, set Phillips down, and made a winner out of the Dodgers.

In a word, you might say he overcame.

Prizes Awarded At Fish Fry

mens, and Tessie May Harvey and Alda Fay Rector in womens. Clyde Hicks had the highest score in the turkey shoot. Bate casting winners were John Hurd, Carolyn Jones, Jim Goble and Edith Jones.

REBEL WITH A CAUSE: Bear Halbert gave the Sheldon Clark defense several free rides Saturday. The Rebel fullback rushed for over 70 yards and one touchdown in the 18-14 victory.

Holthouse Wins Football Contest

Martha Holthouse, of Hueysville, won this week's Floyd County Times Football Contest, taking the $25 first prize by correctly choosing nine winners.

Holthouse compiled a 9-2 record, and edged out John Carrell of Dana, who also had nine correct choices. But Carrell picked 26 points in the tie-breaker game while Holthouse had 38. The total points scored by Wheelwright and Johnson Central added up to 56.

Bass Tourney Winners Listed

The Louisa Bass Club held an Open Bass Tournament at Paintsville Lake on October 9th which attracted twenty-three 2 man teams from the eastern Kentucky area. The total purse for the 8 hour event totaled $1,058.00. Monetary awards were awarded to the top 5 teams weighing in the most total pounds of fish and a separate monetary award went to the team with the largest bass caught during the event.

The team of Jim Rowe and Cork Sturgill, of Martin, placed first in the event with a 7-bass catch weighing seven pounds, seven ounces. Rowe and Sturgill fished the headwater sections of Paintsville Lake, using chrome colored crankbaits. Their first place award netted the pair $431.00.

Rounding out the top five teams was Johnny Slone and Ronnie Meade, of Paintsville, with a second place catch of three pounds, one ounce. Total prize money for 2nd place was $198.00. There was a tie for 3rd and 4th places between the team Randy Coleman and Rick Robinson, of Shelbyana, and the team of Ben Cox and Greg Vanhoushe of Staffordsville. Both teams weighed in two pounds eight ounce of bass and had to split $189.00. The fifth place team of Bob Bailey and Delbert Ison weighed in a catch weighing two pounds even and won a money award of $50.00.

The team of Randy Coleman and Rick Robinson recorded the largest bass of the tournament, a two pound eight ounce largemouth, which took the "Largest Bass" award of $190.00.

There was a total of 18 fish presented for weigh-in by the participants with all fish released back into the lake. There were no dead or injured fish presented for weigh-in, according to Tournament Official Bob Kise.

The Louisa Bass Club Tournament Committee of Bob Kise, Gary Nelson, John Branham, Roger Smith, Troy Bryant and Mike Sullivan would like to express their appreciation to all the fishermen who participated in the tournament.

The Louisa Bass Club is a non-profit organization created to promote public awareness of bass fishing and to ensure clean water resources for our future generations.

Bassin' with the pros

Understanding Bass Pattern Fishing

For years, the top tournament bass pros in America have been using the term "pattern fishing" to tell how they catch fish. In its broadest sense, it describes where bass are, what they're doing, and what it takes to catch them.

The problem every angler faces, of course, is how to "establish a pattern" on bass.

"Basically, what the tournament pros do is use both lures and a location to establish a pattern," explains Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member Zell Rowland. "We fish as fast as we can until we catch one or two bass on that lure, then slow down and fish more thoroughly to see if additional fish are present in that type of area."

Rowland recommends anglers begin their search for a bass pattern by fishing with a fast-moving lure that can be worked quickly, such as a crankbait, spinnerbait, or even a buzzbait. Then he suggests anglers simply put their trolling motor on high and start fishing a shoreline that has a lot of visible cover.

"This could be the shoreline of a large cove, a tributary creek, or even part of the main lake," explains Rowland. "The idea is to try to find bass in shallow water, and the more cover available, the more likely they will be shallow."

Once a fish or two is caught, says Rowland, it's time to change lures and slow down to see if more bass are present.

"When I'm doing this, I tie on a jig or a plastic worm, turn the boat around, and carefully start fishing the very same cover I've just moved through," the Montgomery, Texas angler explains. "What I have established with my first one or two bass is that some fish may be located in the type of water I'm working."

"By moving through it more slowly a second time, I have a chance to 'fine tune' a pattern and locate bass more precisely. They may be holding only on certain types of cover, such as the ends of fallen trees or along the deeper edge of a grassline. By using a worm or jig, I may be able to determine this."

"At this time, too, I can also determine exactly how the fish may want a lure presented."

Normally, most bass pros feel confident they have a pattern established when they catch three or four bass on the same lure and around the same type of cover or structure. A single small fish, or a single large one, is rarely a positive indication additional bass are present.

"Of course, there are times when you don't catch any fish while casting to heavy shoreline cover," says Rowland. "Then the best thing to do is change tactics completely and try something different. My two recommendations would be to worm fish a long point so you can probe different depths, or crankbait a deeper creek channel."

"One of the things I always try to do," explains the Evinrude pro, "is look for an area bass will be moving to or from. This can include not only shallow feeding areas in coves or wide flats and points, but also holding areas along channel drops and breaklines."

"Shallow water is nearly always productive if deep water is located nearby, and conversely, deep water is good if there is shallow water nearby."

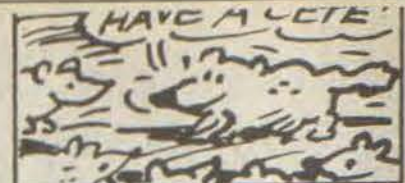

When river fishing, Rowland advises anglers to remember fish move with currents or tides. They tend to utilize shoreline cover, such as brush, pilings, or rocks that offer calm water refuge in the current.

"The majority of professional bass tournaments are won by anglers fishing less than 10 feet deep," Rowland explains. "Some bass certainly do hold in deeper water, but it's always better to establish a pattern in shallow water whenever possible."

Watch For Deer While Driving

During October and November, motorists should be aware that deer will be more active than at other times of the year, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Throughout the mating season, bucks especially will be traveling more often and could cross roadways at anytime. "Deer Crossing" signs are posted along most highways and interstates where established deer paths are known to exist. However, during this time of year, deer could cross roads anywhere creating potential hazards for unsuspecting drivers.

Motorists should be particularly alert in areas where tree lines or patches of thick brush are close to the road. Trees and brush provide a natural funnel for deer travel allowing them to remain hidden for as long as possible before entering open areas.

Travelers should also remember that vehicle headlights can temporarily blind and confuse deer. The animal may or may not move from the path of an oncoming vehicle, or may just as easily dart in front of a vehicle from beside a roadway. Reducing your speed in areas where deer might be present increases reaction time and lessens impact if a collision is unavoidable.

During the mating season, bucks seek out several does for breeding and will move from one group of deer to another until they locate a receptive doe. This movement increases the chances of bucks crossing highways.

Also, both bucks and does may be forced out of their normal patterns during hunting seasons, so it is much more probable deer may be in areas where they may not usually be found or may use alternate travel routes. Keep your eyes open and as always, be particularly alert at both dawn and dusk, since deer are most active at these times.

INCREASE YOUR CHANCE OF BEING DRAWN FOR QUOTA GUN DEER HUNTS

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources conducts random drawings each year for quota deer gun hunts on several wildlife management areas. Although the drawings have already been held this year, here are some tips to keep in mind for next year.

Because applicants are selected at random, it is possible for a hunter to either be selected every year, or wait 10 or more years to be drawn. On the average, one in 10 hunters who apply will get to hunt, and it has been as high as one in 14 in past years.

Cardinals Seeking Fourth Straight Win

Game 9—Louisville (5-3) beat Tulane for the third year in a row last week. Louisville has won five of its last six games and three in a row. U of L's record is the best since 1978 when the Cards were 6-2 after eight games. Jay Gruden became the only quarterback in U of L history to have back-to-back, 2,000-yard passing seasons with his 320 passing yards vs. Tulane. Cincinnati (2-5) has dropped its last four games, losing last week to Miami, 57-3.

Cards Break New Ground—U of L is off to one of the best starts in history. Its 5-3 record is the best start since 1978 when U of L was 6-2 after eight games. If U of L wins all three remaining games it would give them the best record since 1972 when the Cards were 9-1. An 8-3 (.727) record would also rank the Cards in a tie for 11th place among all-time U of L teams. The 1949 team also had an 8-3 record. A win in Cincinnati would guarantee the Cards their first winning season since 1978 (7-4).

Records Fall for Jay Gruden—Jay Gruden became the all-time passing leader at U of L when he threw for 234 yards vs. So. Miss., surpassing the mark held by Ed Rubbert (5,496/1983-86). Gruden now has 6,447 passing yards. He holds 10 school records, including the all-time touchdown record at U of L with 41 career touchdowns (formerly held by John Madeya), the all-time offensive attempts record with 1,119 attempts (formerly held by Ed Rubbert), the all-time passing attempts record with 946 passing attempts (formerly held by Ed Rubbert 873) and the all-time pass completions record with 517 pass completions. Going into the season he also held the record for most pass attempts in a season (397, '87), the most pass completions in a season (209, '87), the best completion percentage in a season (.569, '85) and the most passing yards in a season (2,481 '87). In his four years at U of L he has completed 54.1 percent of his passes. The career mark at U of L is 50.6 set by Tom LaFrambi (1962-64).

Gruden ranks 17th nationally in total offense with 238.4 yards per game. With his 320 passing yards vs. Tulane, Gruden became the only quarterback in U of L history to have back-to-back, 2,000-yard passing seasons. Last season after eight games he passed for 1,859 yards (Tulane 296, Cincinnati 119, Purdue 266, Murray State 219, So. Miss. 71, Marshall 192, Florida State 339, Akron 357). This season he has thrown for 2,028 yards (Maryland 319, Wyoming 207, Memphis State 171, North Carolina 323, So. Miss. 234, Tulsa 186, Virginia 268, Tulane 320), 169 yards more. Gruden's 320-passing yards vs. Tulane marks the fifth time in his career he's had over 300 yards passing in a single game. U of L is 3-2 when Gruden throws for over 300 yards.

Deon Booker Continues to Roll—Against Tulane, Booker moved into fifth place on the all-time rushing list, moving past Calvin Price (2,108/1976-77) when he rushed for 89 yards. Booker now has 2,135 career rushing yards. The last back at U of L to rush for over 687 yards was Donald Craft in 1980. Booker (114 points) needs 27 points to move past Galvin Prince (140/1976-77). In U of L's first eight games last season Booker rushed for 505 yards (100 vs. Tulane, 3 vs. Cincinnati, 0 vs. Purdue, dnp vs. Murray State and 94 vs. So. Miss., 196 vs. Marshall, 20 vs. FSU, 92 vs. Akron). This year he has gained 783 yards (49 vs. Maryland, 42 vs. Wyoming, 154 vs. Memphis State, 125 vs. N. Carolina, 106 vs. So. Miss. and 110 vs. Virginia, 89 vs. Tulane). Booker's 97.8 rushing average (24th nationally) puts him on pace to break the 1,000-yard rushing mark. The last U of L back to gain over 1,000 yards in a season was Nathan Poole in 1978 (1,394). Booker's also been potent this season as a receiver catching 31 passes for 269 yards and two TDs. Last year he caught 16 passes for 153 yards.

Last Week—Louisville (5-3) won its third straight game and fifth in six games when it beat Tulane 38-35. The Cards rolled to a 31-14 lead at half, but Tulane regrouped and pulled to within 31-28 midway through the third quarter. U of L then boosted its margin to 38-28 when Deon Booker scored on a two-yard run. But Tulane scored again with 6:20 left in the game to put the score at 38-35. After the Cards were forced to punt, Terrance Jones took the Green Wave to U of L's 34-yard line, but tackle Ted Washington hit Jones and caused him to fumble, giving the Cards the ball back with 2:33 left. Tulane had no timeouts left and U of L just ran out the clock. Two of U of L's scores came from the defense when Robert Gibson picked up a blocked field goal and Mark Sander returned an interception. On the day, Jay Gruden completed 24 of 35 passes for 320 yards and two touchdowns, becoming the first quarterback in U of L history to throw for over 2,000 yards in back-to-back seasons. Also, Deon Booker carried 30 times (season-high) for 89 yards. It was the first time in six weeks he hadn't carried for over 100 yards.

Cincinnati (2-5) lost to Miami 57-3 as Hurricane quarterback Steve Walsh threw for five TD passes. Each of Walsh's scoring passes went to a different receiver as he tied the school record for touchdown passes set by Bernie Kosar in 1984 vs. Cincinnati. Walsh completed six of his first seven passes to six different receivers for 125 yards and three scores as Miami built a 24-0 first-quarter lead. Cincinnati scored as time expired in the first half on Phil Insalaco's 47-yard field goal.

Notes—The last time U of L has had a winning season was in 1978 when the Cards went 7-4 under Vince Gibson, and if U of L beats Cincinnati it guarantees a winning season. U of L's win over Tulane was their fifth in six games, the best start since 1978 when the Cards went 6-2 after eight games. The last time the Cards won three straight games was in 1983 (WKU 41-22, Army 31-7, Cincinnati 31-23). The last time the Cards won four straight games was in 1978 (NW La, Boston U., William & Mary, Wichita St.). U of L's win over Tulane marks the first time since 1980 the Cards have had two road wins (Kansas, So. Miss.). A win in Cincinnati would give U of L a 6-3 record, its best start since 1972 (7-2). A win in Cincinnati would give U of L a 3-2 road record, the best since 1972 when the Cards went 5-0. A win in Cincinnati would give the Cards two consecutive road wins, the first time since 1979 (Drake and Indiana St.). U of L's five victories marks the most wins by Schnellenberger since he came to Louisville in 1985. Deon Booker's 30 rushing attempts vs. Tulane was a season high. Linebacker Mark Sander leads U of L's defense with 128 tackles. Last season he registered just 71 total. Chris Sellars led the team last year with 134 total tackles. Sander scored the first TD of his career vs. Tulane. Robert Gibson scored the first TD of his career when he returned a blocked field goal vs. Tulane. Last season the Cards registered just 10 interceptions all year. After seven games the Cards already have 13 interceptions, with John Gainey leading the way with four. Last season Gainey had none. His two interceptions vs. Virginia are the most by a player in one game since Terry Lantz had two vs. Marshall last season. Wide receiver Anthony Cummings has 25 receptions for 333 yards (team high) and four TDs. Last season he had 24 receptions for 359 yards. His five receptions vs. Tulane marks the third time this season he's had five receptions (Maryland and Virginia). Deon Booker has caught a pass in every game this year, he leads the team with 31 receptions. Eric Broomfield's five reception vs. Tulane were a season high for him. Keith Stephens five receptions for 115 yards were a career high for him. U of L's passing offense ranks 14th nationally with 260.1 yards a game. U of L has only three seniors in its starting lineup (Gruden, Booker, Jeff Smith). Jay Gruden had a season-high 320 yards vs. Tulane. U of L is 5-2 when it wins the opening toss. U of L gets 41 percent of its score ing in the first quarter and 61 percent in the first half.

Schnellenberger Quotes—(On Tulane) "I'm proud of my team for withstanding the assault. We didn't look like much of a football team in the second half, but we got the one score we needed. It was a great win for this team and it shows we can't ever quit." (On Cincinnati) "We have to take one game at a time, and Cincinnati is our next game. I believe if we do that we can compete with the rest of our schedule, but we have to play hard, make the plays and excel."

Next Week—Louisville will come home to play Virginia Tech Nov. 5 at 7:00 p.m. (EST). Cincinnati will host West Virginia at 1:30 p.m. (EST).

Series History—The rivalry between U of L and Cincinnati is the longest running of any of the school's on this year's schedule. The Cardinals and Bearcats have played a total of 30 times dating all the way back to 1922.

Louisville's first win over Cincinnati came on Nov. 4, 1922. Bill Duncan was the U of L coach then, and the Cards made the Bearcats and Rose Poly the only victims of the 1922 season, going 2-7 on the year.

After Louisville's initial win over UC, the Cards proceeded to lose 12 games in a row to the Bearcats.

DR. BRENT CLARK SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

Educational Division #3

I entered this school board race to help my children get a better school and a better education. I wanted a clean race. I was determined to treat everyone as my friend no matter who they were. We have to live here when the election is over.

But why have I become the target of so many rumors so suddenly? Why can't I run a clean race? It seems they want me to get into a "mud-slinging" affair. Why do they not want me to run for the school board?

People! Do you really want a patronage man who would have to call Frankfort or a general store in another Educational Division before making a decision affecting our School Division or the School District?

Let us elect an individual who knows the educational needs of the schools in Educational Division #3 and who will really represent the children, the school, and the people of our division.

Bobcats Faced With Big Big Task After Losing To M.C. Napier

The Betsy Layne Bobcats lost the one they were supposed to win, and now face what might be their toughest challenge of the season in trying to capture their fourth victory.

The Bobcats, 3-7 on the year, fell 6-0 to district foe M.C. Napier Friday night at Mile High Field, and will finish out their season this Friday when they travel to Lawrence County for a battle with the tough Bulldogs.

"They beat Paintsville last week. They're on quite a roll. I guess it's gut check time for us," Betsy Layne head coach Vince Tucker said.

Lawrence County, 8-1, handed Paintsville a one-point overtime loss Friday night in Paintsville. It was the Tigers first loss at home this year.

The Bulldogs, a 2A team which took itself out of district competition two years ago, has developed into one of the state's better squads, and utilizes superior size and strength to play a successfully physical brand of football.

Betsy Layne is also a physical football squad, making for what promises to be a battle of the lines. But recently the Bobcats, after enjoying success earlier in the year, have fallen on hard times, and moving the football has become a severe problem.

"Little mistakes that we've been making are what have hurt us in the past few games," Tucker said. "The let-down we had on defense Friday—without that we would have gone into halftime tied at zero. Then we got down on the 12, and had the holding penalty called on us."

Tucker, in those latter two statements, summed up the football game against the Navajos, a team Betsy Layne was supposed to handle in winning fashion.

The Bobcats' defensive let down Tucker mentioned came in the first quarter when Bill Hill threw 33 yards to Brian Fields for a touchdown. It was the only score of the game.

Betsy Layne, in the third quarter, had an opportunity to tie the score and possibly take the lead. But after moving the football to the M.C. Napier 12, the Bobcats were caught holding, a penalty they never recovered from.

"We had a letdown on defense. There wasn't much effort on either side of the football," Tucker, who's team has lost it's last three games, said.

"I don't really know what the problem is, whether the effort's not really there or not," he added. "We get out there and play hard at times then we get down and can't seem to get back up."

Coming into the contest M.C. Napier had won but one game, and the victory Friday was their first district win of the season. They play host to another district foe, Prestonsburg, this Friday.

Betsy Layne, which won games over Magoffin County, Sheldon Clark, and Elkhorn City earlier in the year, ended its district slate without a win. They have not won a district game since the district realignment two seasons ago.

Lawrence County, had they not been ineligible, would have been another district foe for the Bobcats. The Bulldogs, under third year head coach Billy Goldsmith, defeated Betsy Layne last season at Mile High Field.

Friday's game, which kicks off at 8:00, will wrap up the 1988 season for both teams, and Tucker says he plans on using the contest in an effort to prepare for the 1989 campaign.

Injury-Plagued Trojans Fall To Merciless Johnson Central

It has been a dream season for the Wheelwright Trojans, but unfortunately, the dream has been a nightmare more times than not, inspired mostly by the apparent need for the opposition to take out its frustrations on the tiny school.

First, it was Virgie. Then came Raceland. And most recently, the Johnson Central Golden Eagles drove a stake into Wheelwright's heart early, and kept hammering even though the Trojans were down and out.

Leading 36-0 with under five minutes left in the game, Virgie, three games ago, threw a 15-yard touchdown pass, then capped the play off with a two-point conversion, opening up a 42-0 advantage at Brackett Field.

At Raceland, the Trojans fell behind 45-0 before they could put any points on the scoreboard. Even then, late in the game, they were forced to score against the first string defense.

The Rams began substituting late in the third quarter, but on both Wheelwright touchdowns Raceland ran its first string defense back onto the field in an attempt to hold the Trojans down further than the 45-14 final score.

It has been a trend recently for teams to defeat Wheelwright, which is now down to 20 healthy players, as badly as possible; the worst of them all may have come this past Friday at Johnson Central.

The Golden Eagles rarely used anything but its first string offense, and late in the game was still throwing the football. With about one minute remaining in the contest, Johnson Central, which had used second team defenders, put its first string defense back in to stop a Trojan scoring threat.

Wheelwright, playing without four starters, trailed 42-14. But the Golden Eagles, who have struggled of late, came with their starters in the fourth quarter, and intercepted a Bobby Hood pass to stop the Trojan effort.

"He (JC coach Steve Tremble) never took his starters out on offense," Wheelwright head coach Roger Johnson said. "From what I can gather, he put his starters back in on defense because his second team defense wasn't doing the job."

Vic Cotton, who scored both Wheelwright touchdowns on runs of 47 and 90 yards, broke loose on his 90-yard scamper with just over five minutes remaining in the game.

Wheelwright, 2-7, tried for the on-side kick, but the Golden Eagles recovered near midfield. Johnson Central, which had close to 400 yards of offense, took to the air on its first play, coming up with a 15-yard completion.

Fullback Brian Hall, their leading rusher with almost 200 yards, later ended the drive in a four-yard touchdown run.

On their next possession, Wheelwright got a long run from halfback Handy Jackson, moving deep into Johnson Central territory and immediately the Golden Eagles retaliated by bringing out their starting defensive unit.

"Vic got the 90-yard touchdown run, then Handy had about a 50-yard gain. I guess he didn't want us to score again, but still yet, we were down 42-14," Johnson said.

The Wheelwright coach says he can't really understand the motives behind other teams' actions, but did express a bit of disappointment in recent opponents' late-game antics.

The Trojans, already dealing with the difficulties which surround a small roster, played Friday without starters Chad Hall, Brent Huff, and Benji McKay.

"That's four positions. Chad goes both ways. The other two play on just one side, but still we had to replace them with sophomores and freshmen," Johnson said.

Even with all their problems, and facing a powerful triple A program, Johnson found enough to be proud of. His running game, especially, produced impressive numbers.

"We played respectable football against them," he said. "We were down by just two touchdowns in the first half there, and I thought we were moving the football real well against them."

The Trojans, which has most of its players performing on both offense and defense, held its own early, but like several times before, fatigue may have played a part in the loss.

"I thought we did a pretty good job, even though the score wouldn't indicate it. They weren't as tough as I thought they would be," Johnson said.

The Wheelwright ground game, operating behind a young and inexperienced offensive line, rolled over 230 yards.

Cotton, a 5'10" 195 pound senior, rushed 17 times for 156 yards, according to stats kept by WSIP radio, and Jackson, also a senior, had almost 80.

Johnson Central, which plays district foe Clay County Friday night, had 332 yards rushing. The Golden Eagles, 6-4, can secure a playoff position with a win against Clay County.

Wheelwright, a single A school with about five times fewer students than Johnson Central, plays another 3A team this week when they travel to Sheldon Clark Friday night.

IMPRESSIVE FINAL PERFORMANCE: Senior tailback Dennis Smith (20) cuts off blocks thrown by Kevin Dotson (35) and Bill Smith (75). Smith ran for Prestonsburg's only score in his last game at home. Ryan Porter (40) threw a completion during that scoring drive.

Consumer Tips

The warm glow of a fire on the hearth helps take the bitter chill out of winter. But if chimneys, wood- and coal-burning stoves and fireplaces are not maintained and cleaned properly, a cozy fire can turn into a destruction blaze. To protect your home and family, follow these important tips.

Burn only seasoned hardwoods, such as oak, elm, ash, maple or birch. Softwoods create smoke and excess creosote which can build up inside the chimney and create a fire hazard.

Inspect the chimney for creosote buildup. Creosote is a combustible, tar-like substance that forms as a result of incomplete fuel combustion. It is a leading cause of chimney fires. A buildup of more than a quarter of an inch requires cleaning.

Do not try to clean your chimney by pulling chains or wire netting up and down on a rope in the chimney flue.

These methods may cause internal damage which can allow hot gases and flames to escape and ignite other house structures.

Call a professional chimney sweep to clean out soot and creosote. Ask him to check for loose mortar, cracks in the chimney or flue liner, improper or loose fitting pipe connections and other defects. Also ask him to make sure your damper is working properly.

Mount a smoke detector in the room with the fireplace or stove to warn of improper chimney ventilation and keep a charged fire extinguisher nearby.

SHORT SPORTS

It had been a long time in coming, but it will probably be longer in forgetting. Kentucky had not defeated the University of Georgia this decade. In fact, not since 1977 had they managed to hurdle the football Bulldogs.

But after coming so close against national powers and conference contenders Auburn, Alabama and LSU, the Wildcats managed to hold on and upend the 12th rated Bulldogs 16-10 in Lexington Saturday.

Junior tailback Alfred Rawls, Kentucky's most effective running back this season, split the Bulldog defense for a total of 128 yards, 48 of them coming on a touchdown run in the second half.

The Wildcats also got another strong performance from their stingy defense, one of the best in the SEC, to run its record to 3-4 against what had been determined as the nation's toughest schedule.

Kentucky remains at home this week, playing Southern Illinois at 7:30 in Commonwealth Stadium. The Wildcats' next three games are at home.

Kentucky, still alive for a bid to a minor bowl, plays Vandy and Florida at home before traveling to Tennessee on its last Saturday of the season.

The San Antonio Spurs will have to wait another season before enjoying the talents of David Robinson, a player they signed, but one who has to fulfill his obligation to the Navy first.

Robinson, who had asked the Navy to clear the way for him to play basketball this season, was told this past week that he would first have to complete his two-year service obligation to the Navy.

The seven-foot center, a former all-American at the U.S. Naval Academy, signed an eight-year deal with the NBA team worth a reported $26 million, but both he and the team will have to wait because his Navy term doesn't expire until May 1989.

One year and a new coach after failing to make the playoffs, Whitesburg High School's football team has claimed a district championship.

The Yellow Jackets, in remaining undefeated in the district, handed Leslie County a 20-15 defeat Friday night in Whitesburg to claim the title. Leslie County will also make the playoffs, but now goes as a runner-up, something strange to them.

Both teams entered the game undefeated in their 2A district which includes two Floyd County teams, Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg.

The Bobcats failed to win a game in district competition while Prestonsburg's two wins have both been within the district.

Under new coach Tom Searcy, the Yellow Jackets have won nine straight games, coming on the heels of a season-opening loss to Russell. The 15 points Leslie County scored was the most Whitesburg had given up this year, but they scored enough to avenge last year's loss to LCHS 37-8.

A pair of senior tailbacks and one fourth-year quarterback enjoyed impressive days in leading three state schools to important wins in college football Saturday.

In North Carolina, Eastern's talented tailback Elroy Harris rushed for 177 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Colonels past Western Carolina 32-14.

Harris, with the two scores, became the OVC's all-time leading scorer with 264 points. He has played only three years for Eastern after being forced to sit out his sophomore season for academic reasons.

The Colonels, ranked 15th in division 1AA, improved to 5-2. They now play two straight conference opponents, starting with Murray State this Saturday in Murray. The Racers, idle this week, have won two straight.

In Cookeville, Tennessee, Joe Arnold had one of the biggest days of his Western Kentucky career, rambling for over 200 yards and one touchdown as the Hilltoppers overcame a 17-0 deficit and defeated Tennessee Tech 20-17.

Western, which plays at home this Saturday against Tennessee-Chattanooga, improved to 6-1 on the season, and assured themselves of remaining in the top five in division 1AA.

The Louisville Cardinals, who are talking bowl bid louder than ever, returns home this week to take on the Cincinnati Bearcats.

The Cards, 5-3, got two first half touchdown passes from senior quarterback Jay Gruden as Louisville opened up a 31-14 halftime lead. They held off Tulane to claim a 38-35 victory.

Gruden hit on 20 of his 35 attempts, but also threw two interceptions. The Cardinals are going after their first winning season since the late 70s.

Morehead State University didn't exactly enjoy the same type success. The Eagles, suffering from one of their worst seasons ever, lost to Tennessee State 29-14.

MSU, last in the Ohio Valley Conference, slipped to 1-7 on the season despite two Chris Swartz touchdown passes. The Eagles play host to Austin Peay this Saturday.

Mark Gastineau, the much-publicized defensive lineman for the New York Jets, has been placed on that NFL team's retired reserve list.

Gastineau, who was tied for the conference lead in sacks before Sunday's games, announced last week that he would retire from football after a nine-year career with the Jets.

Even if he decides to return this season, he won't be eligible to play until Nov. 19.

Specialty Cartridges Accommodate Shooters Of Old, Imported Rifles

The growing popularity of surplus military rifles, imported guns and old American firearms among North American hunters has led to a revival of old calibers and increased availability of appropriate cartridges, according to Federal Cartridge Co.

Hunters no longer have to scrounge for centerfire cartridges to fit their specialty rifles, in view of the broad range of previously hard-to-find ammunition now available in modern factory loadings.

The scarce supply of former military rounds and old "civilian" cartridges was greatly alleviated when Federal Cartridge Co. acquired U.S. distribution rights for Norma ammunition last year. FFV Norma AB of Sweden, is a world-renowned manufacturer of specialty cartridges.

Many cartridges originally used by foreign military have proven excellent for taking North American game and other sport shooting. Imports of paramilitary autoloading rifles, for instance, prompted demand for the 7.62x39mm Soviet cartridge, which was added to Federal's line this year for practice and target shooting.

Norma added three medium and big game loads to its line of 24 specialty calibers. A new 6.5x52mm Carcano load with a 139 gr. S.P. bullet was introduced for the popular Italian rifle, as was a new 7.65x53mm Argentine load with a 180 gr. S.P. bullet. The third is a 7.62x54R Russian load with a 150 gr. soft point load.

The list of newly revived military/sporting cartridges is extensive, and includes such favorites as the 6.5x50 and 7.7x58 Japanese; 6.5x55 Swedish; 7x57 and 8x57 Mauser; and the 7.5x55 Swiss. Dating back to the late 1800's and early 1900's, these and other time-honored calibers have proven effective on medium and big game.

Many non-military rifles also were chambered for cartridges that up until recently were hard to find. Examples are the .22 Savage High-Power and .220 Swift ammunition that Norma provides for the old Savage and other rifles still in use.

For larger game, there are the 7x57R Mauser and 7x64 Boreneke loads of the past that are now readily available. And for big game, there are the .308 Norma Magnum and 9.3x57 Mauser and 9.3x62 Mauser. In 1989 the company will introduce two other popular big game loads in old calibers—the 7x61 Sharpe & Hart and the .358 Norma Magnum.

Many rifles were chambered for cartridges that have long been neglected by manufacturers, considered "obsolete" or difficult to find. Manufacturers such as Mauser, Schultz & Larsen, Husqvarna, Browning, Brenneke and Mannlicher are among them, as are the recent military-style autoloading imports.

Whatever the rifle or its origin, the ammunition experts at Federal Cartridge Co. say that chances are good that its owner will find modern factory ammunition in the proper caliber. And its performance will be equal to that of the original ammunition.

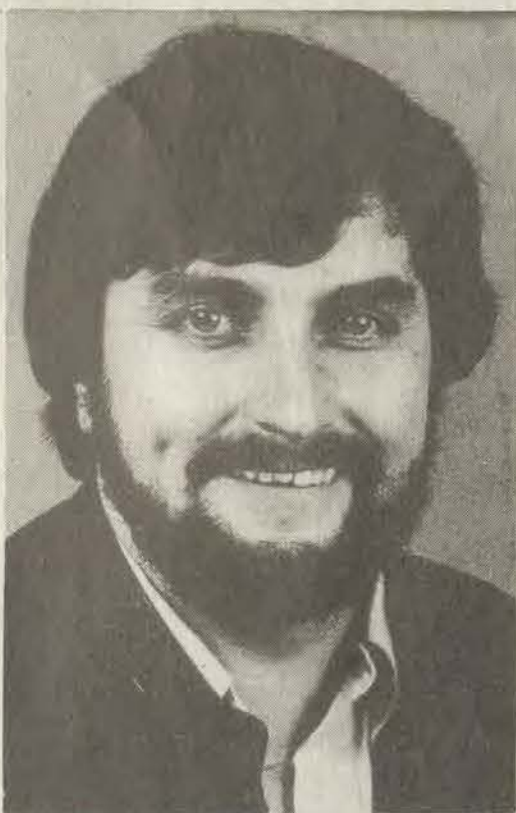

ENDORSEMENT

I am Omery "Chuck" Hall, 27 years of age, and the son of the late Omery and Helen Gearheart Hall of Hi Hat. I would like to state that I am supporting Klein D. Stumbo of McDowell, Kentucky as a candidate for School Board Member in Division #4. I ask all my family and friends to help support and elect him to this very important office.

Klein D. Stumbo
#4 on the ballot

Yours in Service,
Chuck Hall

Pol. Adv. paid for by candidate, Chuck Hall, Treasurer 1 pol.

Jackie Edford Owens Magistrate, District #2

TO THE VOTERS OF SCHOOL BOARD DIST. 5 and THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

As we all know, my wife, HATTIE "COOLEY" OWENS, is running for SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER AGAINST James Arville Duff. As you know, he has had 16 years to do it and he hasn't done it yet. Floyd County School Systems are looking a STATE TAKEOVER right in the face and would have already been taken over if it wasn't for the POLITICAL "RAZZLE DAZZLE". I feel that this was just a stall tactic until the school board elections are over. I feel that this problem will not go away.

PEOPLE, I've got to tell you about some of the NEW ELECTION LAWS. These are:

- (1) No Campaigning, whatsoever, within 500 feet of the polling entrance—NO CARDS, NO POSTERS, NO BUYING or SELLING of VOTES, or even verbal campaigning. This also goes for Election Officers. This is a felony under the new law and carries a penalty of 1-5 years in prison or $500-$5,000 Fine or Both.
- (2) Anyone assisting people to vote—except Election Officers can assist only 2 persons per Election. Anyone assisting more than 2 has committed a felony.
- (3) Any of the yellow legal pads, or any other kinds of checklists, that you have seen at the precinct worker's desk in the past writing down your name and the number that you came in and voted (such as #15 John Doe, #20 Jane Doe) is strictly ILLEGAL. This is also a felony and carries the same punishment, 1-5 years or $500-$5,000 fine or both, to anyone caught with such lists.
- (4) The Attorney General has a system now with a computer printout of registered voters—all in ALPHABETICAL order that will be at each precinct. ALL VOTERS are required to show identification (such as driver's license, social security cards, etc.) before signing this ALPHABETICAL computer printout. The ALPHABETICAL printout is used to keep anyone from knowing how you voted so it won't be used against you in the future.
- (5) With the school board race being a NON-PARTISAN race, under the new law, my wife has the right to appoint a challenger for every precinct to see that everything is being run LEGALLY. You can bet, THERE WILL BE CHALLENGERS in every precinct.

The Attorney General has appointed a special task force made up of Kentucky State Police that will be assisting during these elections to help cut out VOTE FRAUD. Any complaints or alleged corruption or mismanagement goes straight to the Grand Jury. If satisfaction is not reached at the grand jury stage, then the Attorney General's office will step in and PROSECUTE this themselves.

Vote Hattie "Cooley" OWENS—SCHOOL BOARD—Dist. 5

P.S.—If you just vote STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC or STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN you WILL NOT BE VOTING in the school board race nor will you be voting on the broad form deed or the lottery. These are all over to the FAR RIGHT-HAND SIDE of the Ballot. SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER under SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES—Broad Form Deed and Lottery under the QUESTIONS—Look CAREFULLY BEFORE PULLING THE LEVER.

NFL News & Notes

If the first half of the present NFL season is any indication of what the final eight games will bring, then professional football fans might just be in for more than one surprise—and NFL quarterbacks may be in for another eight weeks of physical agony.

Surprise has been the rule rather than the exception, and the NFL has given its followers reason to expect the unexpected, to accept the unacceptable.

It is surprising that both the Denver Broncos and Seattle Sea Hawks, two playoff teams from a year ago, have lost four of their eight games. But what is even more unbelievable is that they are still tied for the lead in the AFC West.

The Los Angeles Rams traded away its best running back, and was supposed to use draft choices acquired in the deal to build for the future. But the Rams took another course, figured the future was now, and didn't wait around for their younger players to develop themselves. They began winning as soon as the season opened.

The New York Giants were expected to return to the top of the NFC East. Currently they share that spot with defending Super Bowl champion Washington, but not because the Giants have blown away the opposition. New York has a habit this year of playing to the level of its competition, but thanks to one of the league's weakest schedules, they've remained in the divisional race.

Washington traded away Jay Schroeder then lost starting quarterback Doug Williams for six weeks. Still, though, they found enough auxiliary talent to stay in contention for a playoff spot.

The Cleveland Browns lost their starting quarterback, the top rated passer in the AFC last year, in the first game. They then lost backup Gary Danielson, and third string Mike Pagel also fell to injury.

Surprisingly, the Browns, with a win Sunday, could find themselves trailing division leading Cincinnati by only one game. But the Bengals are no longer a stepping stone to a better record. They are the surprise team of professional football, have met all challenges, and answered all questions.

Cincinnati, winner of only four games last year, lost for the first time in New England during week seven, but rebounded Sunday against a tough division foe.

Tailback James Brooks ran for 102 yards and three touchdowns, and Cincinnati took advantage of several Houston turnovers in defeating the Oilers 44-21 in the Queen City.

The Bengals, 7-1 and tied for football's best record, moved two full games out in front of both Houston and Cleveland in the AFC Central.

The other team in the division, the Pittsburgh Steelers, also won Sunday in yet another surprise outcome. The Steelers, off to one of its worst starts ever, handed Denver a shocking 39-21 defeat.

The Broncos, 4-4, turned the football over four times, leading to 16 Pittsburgh points. Denver was playing without regular quarterback John Elway. In his place, backup Gary Kubiak threw three interceptions.

Denver, though, didn't lose any ground in the division thanks to Seattle's poor showing in Los Angeles.

The Rams, behind young quarterback Jim Everett, defeated Seattle 31-10 to drop them to 4-4 on the season. Everett threw 311 yards and three touchdowns as LA improved to 5-2. Everett also completed 20 of 27 pass attempts.

The Rams stayed only one game behind New Orleans, which defeated the Raiders 20-6. Rookie runner Craig Heyward rushed for over 100 yards, the first time for a Saint this season, to aid in the win that improved New Orleans to 7-1.

Injured Arms Return: The Washington Redskins and Cleveland Browns welcomed back their regular quarterbacks in winning fashion Sunday. Doug Williams, out for five weeks, returned to the Redskins' huddle Sunday, and sparked them to a 20-17 win over Green Bay.

Williams passed for 225 yards and two touchdowns as Washington ended the Packers' two-game win streak.

Cleveland, which has weathered just about every possible storm, saw Bernie Kosar return Sunday, throw for over 300 yards and three scores, and lead them to a must win on the road against Phoenix.

Kosar played his first full game of the year. The Browns managed to move into a second place tie with Houston in the AFC Central, the only division in the conference which has more than one winning team.

Some Good Some Bad: The Minnesota Vikings made yet another quarterback change, replacing Tommy Kramer with Wade Wilson, and Wilson took full advantage of it.

Wilson, who alternates with Kramer as the Vikings' number one passer, threw 30 times, completing 22 for 335 yards and three touchdowns in a 49-20 win over Tampa Bay.

On the other side of the line, Vinny Testaverde completed only 19 of 45 attempts with a total of six interceptions.

Impossible Comebacks Made Possible: In Philadelphia, the Eagles trailed Dallas by 20 points in the second quarter, but with four seconds remaining Randall Cunningham threw two yards to Anthony Toney to allow his team to pull out a near miraculous come-from-behind victory.

Twice during the final drive, the Eagles converted on fourth down and long to keep the winning touchdown march alive.

In Atlanta, the New York Giants scored two touchdowns in 33 seconds to grab a victory from the Falcons' clutches.

Harry Carson intercepted a Chris

Miller pass to tie the game, and seconds later Carl Banks ran back his pickoff of a pass for a touchdown to give the Giants a much-needed victory.

Monday Night Game: It was the unstoppable object rolling full steam into the immovable object, and for the most part, the Chicago Bears answered one of the most often asked questions of physics.

San Francisco, the unstoppable one, came into the game averaging over 400 yards per game on offense. Chicago, the immovable one, possessed the conference's best defense, allowing but 225 yards of offense per game.

But other than an opening drive that covered 88 yards, the 49ers failed to move the football, and as a result fell two full games off the pace in the NFC West, losing 10-9 to Chicago.

San Francisco scored on their first possession when Joe Montana capped a drive off with a touchdown pass to Jerry Rice. But they barely managed 100 yards on offense the rest of the game.

The Bears, now 7-1, scored twice in the second quarter, a touchdown on a one-yard Jim McMahon sneak, and again on an 18-yard Kevin Butler field goal. Chicago held the 49ers to under 100 yards rushing, and yielded only 175 through three quarters, then saw their defense pick up the intensity even a notch more in the final frame.

Games To Watch In Week Nine: The AFC Central, which drew a lack of respect three seasons ago when Cleveland took top honors despite an 8-8 record, has developed into the toughest in the AFC.

With a three-team log jam at the top, the division may clear up some this week—or get even tighter. Cincinnati travels to Cleveland for a battle with the Browns. They earned a win earlier in the year against Cleveland, but the Browns were without Kosar.

Houston, two games behind Cincinnati, plays at home against Washington. A Bengal win and a Houston loss could give Cincinnati a straight shot at post-season action.

The LA Rams answered a big question Sunday, and in week nine they will be faced with another, and possibly a tougher, one. The Rams travel to New Orleans this week, and a win could draw them even in the NFC West. They will play the Saints again in week 11.

LA, last year, lost twice to the Saints by a combined score of 68-24. The Rams have one of the league's toughest remaining schedules awaiting them.

Minnesota hopes it can destroy San Francisco's playoff chances, and a win on the West Coast for the Vikings would just about do it. Last year Minnesota ambushed the 49ers in the playoffs.

REGARDING STATE HEALTH INSURANCE

I wish to inform the state employees and school personnel that I intend to lobby Governor Wilkinson to include the issue of the state health insurance package for state employees on the agenda of the special legislative session in January he has said he will call. In that special session, I will support proposals that will produce a health insurance package that is equal in value to, or an improvement to, the present contract with Blue Cross and Blue Shield. If Kentucky is going to make education a priority, then public legislators and state administrators must support an increase in our compensation to educators. We cannot afford to take a step backwards and allow a reduction in the health insurance benefits for our school employees. I firmly believe that the recent change to the state insurance program will cause a financial burden on our state employees. I also think it is unfair. The increased premium and out of pocket cost, alone with the reduced benefits, will for all practical purpose, wipe out the two percent pay increase given to our teachers.

This state and nation faces a serious crisis in providing adequate health insurance for the population. I am prepared to work on this complex issue and the many serious issues in the state legislature that face our state and its people.

Again I will urge the governor to include the issue of the state health insurance contract in the special session Governor Wilkinson says he intends to call.

Citizens of Left Beaver Creek:

We are in desperate need of a change in the Floyd County School System. There is only one candidate for School Board Member in Dist. No. 4 that will make that change and truly put our "children first". RICKY D. HAMILTON is a man that will stand behind our children, teachers, cooks, bus drivers, janitors, secretaries, etc. Ricky has gone to great lengths to work voluntarily for the community of Left Beaver Creek. He has shown a real interest in our children by giving his time and money to help our Little League and Jr. Pro programs.

RICKY D. HAMILTON is the only candidate with children in the Floyd County School System—he understands our needs and will stand up and fight for you and your children. Don't let politics interfere with your children's education.

To make it blunt—we must get rid of the Ronald Hager connections and improve the educational opportunities of our children.

"Believe Me" a vote for RICKY D. HAMILTON for SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER (Dist. #4) is truly a vote for our children.

Ricky has published his home phone number in the paper (377-6042) and has assured us that he will be accessible to all of us after he is elected.

Dear Mr. Hager:

This office has received a copy of the tabulation of bids, proposal form, bid security, and proposed unsigned contract in regard to the above referenced project relating to Bid Division 1, Site Excavation. These documents indicate your board desires to award a contract to Triple B, Inc. of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, for an amount totaling $808,019.00, which is the base bid of $678,019.00 plus alternate #2 for $130,000.00.

I am unable to approve the proposed contract for Bid Division 1 at this time due to the inadequacy of funds. I refer to the May 6, 1988, meeting held in my office with previous Superintendent Brackett, your construction manager, your architect, and John Carman, the engineer doing the design on Bid Package #1, at which time the indication was made to me that should we exceed $400,000.00 for the site work package, it certainly would begin jeopardizing the potential of providing adequate construction for the new high school facility. I required that the bid package provide a 90-day time period for holding the bids with an alternate to provide 120 days. This extended time was required to allow your architect and construction manager to proceed with the plans and specifications in order that we may receive bids on all the bid packages prior to the pricing for Bid Package #1 becoming invalid. Only then would we know the total budget and could approve the Bid Division 1 contract. Your board of education would have to set up the construction account with local funds for reimbursement after sale of revenue bonds. A letter to that effect must be submitted prior to any contract(s) being executed before the sale of revenue bonds.

Floyd County Board of Education

Dear Board Members:

We are pleased to make a presentation of the Programmatic Analysis and Schematic Design Phase Drawings for the new consolidated Left Beaver High School. The project is sited on the Mitchell property which is located approximately 3,700 feet above the Hi-Hat substation and approximately 2,600 feet below the crest of Meade Hill.

The site excavation design was carefully prepared by F. Salisbury under the direction and guidance of Paul Bailey. The attached site plans and cut/fill calculations (dated 1/22/87) reflect several weeks of design work as required to optimize the potential buildable flat acreage of the site with the minimum amount of excavation.

As reflected by the attached Salisbury/Bailey report, the site consists of two terraces. The lower terrace at 930 feet above MSL offers 3.62 acres and the upper terrace at 960 feet above MSL yields 4.08 acres. Since the largest portion of buildable, non-fill area lies on the upper level, this is the terrace upon which we recommend placing the building. The lower terrace is initially designated for student parking and an exercise field. A portion is reserved for a football field to be constructed in the future.

As reflected by the attached Salisbury/Bailey site plan, the maximum width on the lower terrace is 180 feet. This is quite adequate for the 160 foot wide football field playing surface. After allowing a 5 foot walkway and a 5 foot drainage ditch at the base of the 30 foot high wall however, the preferred 15 foot out-of-bounds space between the playing surface and the fence will have to be reduced to 5 foot. This potential injury hazard when considered with the necessity of limiting the location of bleacher space to behind the goal posts at each end of the field might adversely affect your decision to place a future football field at this site. Perhaps, since there is no possibility of locating a baseball field on the Salisbury/Bailey site plan, you may wish to consider leaving the football and baseball facilities for the new Left Beaver Consolidated High School at the current Wheelwright High School location. Although this will generate minor logistical problems of transporting students to and from these facilities, it will save the board a given amount of initial cost. As you are aware the State Department of Education will not allow the use of current funds for construction of a spectator gymnasium. However, there are provisions for a physical education facility that will seat the student body of 700 pupils.

Although it was requested that we attempt to design a single level floor plan, this alternative was quickly eliminated. If a single level floor plan is utilized, there is literally no room left on the upper terrace for school busses to access that level and turn around. This would of course require the busses to drop the students off at the lower level and would require fifty-two, seven inch steps from the drop off point to the main building entrance. This of course implies violations of handicapped accessibility as well as problems involving accessibility of delivery trucks and emergency vehicles.

As indicated by the BG-1 form filed with the state, the total student body for this facility is set at 700. Utilizing data interpolated from P29 of the School Facilities Construction Criteria, (copy attached) the cost per student should fall between $6,565.73 (750 students) and $7,139.10 (500 students) and specifically interpolates to $6,451.06 per student at 700 students. This infers a building construction cost of $4,515,742.00. Likewise, the same table indicates an interpolated gross area of 110,311 square feet per student or a total of 77,217 square feet. At a cost of $60.80 per square foot, interpolated from the same table, there is an inferred building construction cost of $4,694,793.60. As indicated by the attached Space Allocation chart and utilizing the per square foot cost factors as published by the Kentucky State Board of Education, the inferred construction cost will be $4,485,390.00. As submitted on the BG 1 Form, there is currently $3,500,000.00 budgeted for building construction. Although we should be able to hold the construction budget at or below those levels inferred by the tables on P29 of the Kentucky State Board of Education School Facilities Criteria Guide, there will still be a budgetary shortfall which must be addressed. The solution to the shortfall may be addressed in several manners; reduce the square footage of the building, construct the building in two phases, reduce the quality of materials and methods of construction, reallocate funds currently designated for equipment, contingencies, and site related costs, or augment the budget with funds from other sources.

In view of pending state enforced deadlines, I recommend meeting as quickly as possible with the appropriate personnel of the Kentucky Department of Education, in order to reconcile the aforementioned discrepancies between the state required facilities and state approved budget.

If there are any questions regarding these matters, please advise me accordingly.

Sincerely,

James A. Ellis, AIA

Should the School Board Take the Hippocratic Oath?

If you remember last election, Mary Hall asked us to help her save our school. Here are some examples of the price we have paid for this type of vote:

- The Weeksbury School closed and was taken over by the Bailey Mining Co.
- The Lambert School closed and the property used for a sludge pond by a mining company.
- Next to close was the Clear Creek School.
- Now, as you will see in this ad, the Melvin, Wheelwright and McDowell Schools are to be closed.

I can't help but wonder how long it will be before we run out of schools for Mary Hall to save.

I was glad to see Mary Hall and Ricky Hamilton take credit for the selection of the Hi hat school site, because after you read the rest of this ad you will know what they stand for. I have said all along there was to be no new school for the children of Dist. #4! I still say Both McDowell and Wheelwright need a new school of their own. I wonder if the school board really believed they could fool all the people all the time!!!

As you can see, the architect's statement and the notice from the State School Superintendent clearly shows the school board has known for over a year, there was not going to be a new school at Hi Hat for Dist. #4 students.

I wonder if it is Mary Hall's intention to bus our children to school at Prestonsburg!

Elect JUDY BREEDING BARTLEY School Board Member District No. 4

The Best Man For The Job Is A Mother!!

The following is a list of questions that we as voters deserve an answer to:

1. How much did Mary Hall's uncle, Paul Bailey, get for his guidance on the Hi Hat school site?
2. Does the board usually hire people without an engineering degree, to oversee an engineering job?
3. When was the school board going to inform the voters, that it is impossible to build a school on the Hi Hat site? (Before or After election?)
4. When was the school board going to inform the voters, that the Melvin School was going to be closed? (Before or After election?)
5. Which teachers and non-certified personnel will lose their jobs when the Melvin, Wheelwright and McDowell schools are closed?
6. Mary Hall's ads contain a picture of a new school that will be finished in 1989, is this a misprint? Did she mean in 1999?
7. Is it true, there were ten other sites available, and according to the board's architects, all were better than the Hi Hat site?
8. Why didn't the board put the ten school sites, out for the people in Dist. #4 to vote on?
9. If the school could have been built, was Mary Hall going to make Pete Grigsby the principal?
10. Does a town die after you remove its school?

The following is a list of reasons and changes I would like to see in the school system:

1. Remove all unnecessary central office jobs.
2. Build a new school for Wheelwright and McDowell.
3. Form a citizen's committee in my District and make myself available to them.
4. Give teachers a raise and more supplies.
5. See that the students in District 4 get their fair share.
6. I would see that the board gives orders to the Superintendent, not take them. My decision will be based on what is best for the students in Dist. #4.
7. Give each student the same understanding I give my sons.
8. Give non-certified personnel a raise.
9. Hire a new Superintendent.

Floyd County Board of Education
Arnold Avenue
Prestonsburg, KY 41653

Dear _____

Reference is made to the attached correspondence from Michael Luscher, Director, Division of Buildings and Grounds, Department of Education to Superintendent Ronald Hager. This letter is dated September 22, 1988. In my professional opinion, based upon Mr. Luscher's estimate of available funds, it is impossible to construct a school facility in Eastern Kentucky within a budget of $38/sq./ft. I, therefore, strongly urge that no further funds be expended on architectural fees for the design of a building on the present site.

In this regard we note that the floor plan of the building on the current site is designed to fit into the contour of this particular hillside; it is, therefore, very "site specific", and would not adapt to another site. Further, even if additional funds were invested in the project and it were ultimately built, I am of the opinion that the Board of Education, parents and students would be very dissatisfied with the result. As I have attempted to communicate to the Board upon several previous occasions, there are numerous problems created by the site that would have to be dealt with over the anticipated fifty year life-span of the facility. These problems include, but are not limited to the following items:

1. Access to the public highway from the school property has inadequate sight lines both from the highway side and from the property side. This creates a definite safety hazard to slow-moving school buses, both while entering and exiting the site.
2. The steep access road will create both maintenance and safety problems. It is located on the north side of the mountain and will be in perpetual shade. Without warming by the sun, water freezing on the access road will present a very real hazard. The ditchline and drainage system will require constant attention to prevent water from running across the road and freezing.
3. The largest fill area necessitated by the bus access road to the building level constitutes what Jim Turner of Waltura Engineering refers to as "slippery rock fill". If, during the fifty year life of the facility, this fill area should slide (as it is very susceptible to doing), not only will the Board of Education be responsible for blocking the public highway, but the facility will literally be stranded and unreachable by motor vehicle.
4. The limited amount of parking will be inadequate for day-in, day-out student parking. Such events as PTA, ball games, and other special events will require parking along the highway and hiking up the steep access road, a distance of over an eighth of a mile. This will thus create unnecessary hazards for pedestrians walking along the narrow, unlit highway. It will discourage attendance of these events by older visitors.
5. The development of the hillside site will require climbing approximately 50 steps from the student/facility parking on the lower bench to the school building on the upper bench. During rainy weather, this will require undesirable exposure to the elements and will no doubt increase absentee levels due to resultant illnesses.
6. Even at a cost of $180,000.00, the proposed bench for the athletic field will be inadequate to adequately accommodate bleacher space. It will be impossible to construct a conventional baseball field on the site.
7. It has not been confirmed that a water main will be constructed to the site in a timely fashion. Current plans call for a water main within approximately one mile of the site. Our budget certainly cannot include that amount necessary to extend the water main.
8. Because such a large portion of the total budget would be spent on excavation, the proposed P.E. facility, originally designed to be connected to the main building with an enclosed stairwell and bridge, has been reduced to a freestanding metal building with a concrete floor, without locker rooms nor shower facilities. Since this physical education building is located on the lower bench, after phys-ed class, the sweating students will be required to climb the aforementioned 50 outdoor steps to return to the main building in the dead of winter. i.e. again, this problem will inevitably lead to an increased absentee level due to illnesses.

Further, we would also advise that since we have not been paid since May for services rendered, we stopped work on the Left Beaver project in July and have advised Superintendent Hager that until our outstanding invoice has been paid, we cannot resume work on the project. Therefore, this matter must be resolved before we can proceed to complete the Contract Documents and receive bids as outlined by Mr. Luscher's letter.

In summary, in my professional role, as I have in the past, and I continue to advise the Floyd County Board of Education that the currently selected site presents so many problems that wisdom and prudence dictate abandoning it. (Please refer to the attached correspondence of February 24, 1987). We inspected and analyzed thirteen different proposed sites for the Left Beaver High School. Out of the thirteen potential sites, in my opinion, approximately ten were superior to the currently selected site. One of the most desirable sites is located approximately one half mile from this site.

I, therefore, respectfully request that you advise us of the possibility of and procedure for moving the site to a more feasible location. May I thank you in advance for your valuable assistance in making a difficult but wise decision.

Sincerely,

James A. Ellis, AIA

Boomsma Speaks To Little Paint WCG

The Little Paint Women of the Church of God observed their first guest night since organizing last April. Their guests for the evening's activities were the WCG from Paintsville First Church of God.

Guest speaker Jo Boomsma, director of Christian Appalachian Homes in Martin County, presented slides of her work at the home which ministers to abused families and underprivileged folk in a five-county area.

"Children of Poverty" is one of the national projects undertaken by our ladies organization across the Church. An offering was taken and sent to the national offices in Anderson, Ind. for distribution. A check was also given by the local WCG to Boomsma for her work on the home front.

The next project for the Little Paint WCG will be a fall bazaar on Nov. 11. The public is invited to come and visit with the ladies, enjoy a meal, pick up some items for gifts and enjoy the fellowship.

Learning About Plants, Flowers

Students in Ms. Pack's first grade class at Martin Elementary have been studying seeds, plants and flowers, and decided to develop a small flower garden near the gym steps.

Students Plant Flowers At School

Last year in an effort to teach a unit on plants, Ms. Pack's first grade class at Martin Elementary School learned first-hand.

The students studied seeds, then planted various types in small pots in their classroom to later transplant at home.

While discussing plants and flowers, the students began discussing ways to beautify the school and their minds buzzed with several projects. After much discussion, they decided to develop a small flower garden near the gym steps.

The students worked for two weeks on the project—clearing and cleaning the site finding large stones to make a border—getting their parents to donate plants and potting soil.

Each child planted his own flower and watered it. Then, they all took turns during the following weeks watering and weeding until school closed. Some continued during the summer, and the flowers were a source of beauty until the first frost.

This was a science unit on seeds and plants, but the students also learned to work together, plan, take pride in their abilities and in their school.

The annual pre-retirement planning seminar, sponsored by the Kentucky Retired Teachers' Association and assisted by the B.S.R.T., was conducted Saturday, Oct. 22, beginning at 9 a.m., at the Prestonsburg Community College.

Prior to the meeting, Norma S. Stepp, Ruby Akers, and Danese Amburgey registered those in attendance.

Tona Rhea:

Wins Personal Narrative Category

by Pam Harris

Members of the literary magazine committee have chosen five members in the category of personal narrative at Wheelwright High School. These winning pieces of writing will be sent on to competition at the county level.

In a personal narrative, students write about some personal experience that has had an impact upon them. Shirlene Hamilton, the faculty representative to the county literary magazine Mountain Magic, is pleased with the number of students who have entered the competition this year. Student interest seems to be growing.

First place went to Tona Rhea, a senior at Wheelwright. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rhea of Wheelwright. Gina Johnson, also a senior at WHS, came in second in the competition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson of Bevinville.

Other honors went to Raphael Ramos, an exchange student from Spain; Rhonda Jackson, a senior at Wheelwright and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Johnson of Weeksbury; and Becky Allen, a freshman and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dicky Allen of Wheelwright.

The Literary Magazine Committee is made up of a group of students who are willing to spend some of their personal time reading and selecting winners from the entries submitted to them. When editing and lay-out work begin for the county literary magazine, some of these students will also be involved in that phase of the project. They judge all the papers and pick the ones they think will do well in county competition.

The committee at Wheelwright includes Janice Wright, Malissa Hall, Elizabeth Johnson, Marcha Wilson, Gina Johnson, Missy Thornsberry, Tyra Newsome, Amy Payne, Kisha Cotton, Denessa Dailey, Lisa Anderson and LaTonya Wilson.

Cindy Gibson: Martin Student Doesn't Know Meaning Of 'I Can't'

Cindy Gibson, a second grade student at Martin Elementary School, doesn't know the meaning of the word "can't."

She was confined to a wheelchair and, between January and May, had surgery eight times. With the help of a teacher employed by the hospital, Gibson kept up with her first grade work and is now moving steadily ahead in the second grade.

She participates in all the second grade activities, including physical education, which she enjoys. She is also mascot for the boys team cheerleaders, and loves to yell for her team.

On Aug. 28, she entered the Miss USA Dream Fantasy Beauty Pageant at Jenny Wiley Music Theatre, and received trophies for most beautiful, beauty winner, prettiest smile, prettiest dress, prettiest eyes, sportswear, most photogenic, diamond necklace and prettiest hair.

She is the daughter of Janet Frazier of Martin and Thomas Gibson of Wayland. Her grandparents are Ernest and Mildred Gibson of Wayland and Laz and Buzz Allen of Allen.

As Part Of Drug Abuse Prevention Program

Kentuckians Will Be Seeing 'Red'

Kentuckians will be seeing "red" the week of Oct. 23-30 - not in expressing anger or pain, but in displaying the pride and hope that come from a life free of the effects of alcohol and drug abuse.

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has proclaimed "Red Ribbon Week" in Kentucky, and has joined the Governor's Champions Against Drugs organization in asking people to wear red ribbons to show their commitment to a drug-free lifestyle. Several Floyd County schools are participating.

"We need all Kentuckians working together for a healthier society," said Mike Townsend, director of the state Division of substance Abuse.

"Alcohol and other drug abuse ruins family life. It leads to crime. It destroys promising young lives, and it robs our state treasury of an estimated $3 billion a year in medical treatment costs and lost productivity.

"The sad part is that all of this can be prevented," Townsend said. "That's why we focus on a substance abuse-free lifestyle in 'Red Ribbon Week'."

The Red Ribbon campaign was first observed by some high school students in a western state after reading about the 1985 murder of federal Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena by drug traffickers in Mexico. The observance has grown so much that this year, it is being adopted nationwide.

The theme for this year's campaign, co-sponsored by Champions Against Drugs and the National Federation of Parents for a Drug-Free Youth, is, "The Choice for Me ... Drug Free!" Kentucky's first-ever statewide effort to observe the week will be marked by rallies, speeches to civic groups, public displays of red ribbons by banks and other businesses, and special events at shopping malls.

"Regional Champions Against Drugs action groups are coordinating activities to involve as many Kentuckians as possible," Townsend said. "We're trying to get everyone to join in this observance - business, government, service organizations, sports teams, families and the media."

Special days have been set aside for the respective groups to spearhead activities focusing on substance abuse prevention. Those days are:

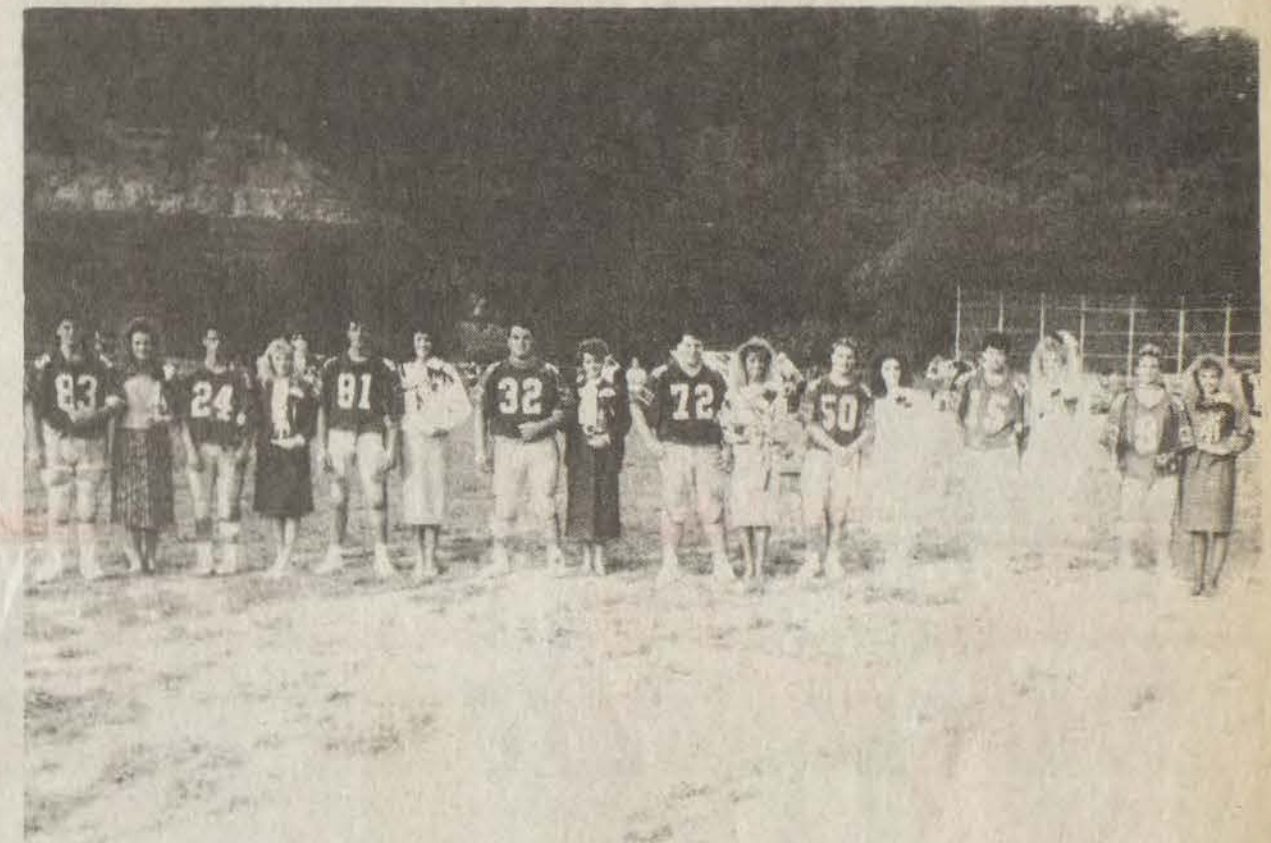

Oct. 26 - Wear Red Day

Oct. 28-30 - Red Ribbon Sports Weekend.

On Oct. 26, Gov. and Mrs. Wilkinson will host a rally in the Capitol Rotunda in Frankfort and in honor of all Kentuckians who wish to celebrate a life free of drug and alcohol abuse.

Townsend said other ways to participate include displaying red ribbons on the house, office, car antenna, trees, mailbox, bicycle, or even pets.

"If more people publicly demonstrate that they are living a life free of substance abuse, that can create positive peer pressure, especially among our youth," Townsend said. "By steering kids away from drugs and alcohol, we take a giant step toward getting one of today's most pressing problems under control."

Students, Parents Help Refurbish Martin Elementary's Gymnasium

During the weekend of Sept. 30 and Oct. 1-2, approximately 25 parents and 35 students descended on the Martin Elementary School gym to help coaches Hopkins and Derossett ready it for the 1988 Purple Flash season.

They washed and painted walls, painted bleachers, stripped the floor, painted the foul lanes and lines, and painted spirit symbols on the walls and floors.

In addition to paint furnished by the Board of Education, Dale Hall donated 10 gallons to paint the restrooms and locker rooms. In addition to the school's buffer and polisher, the IGA store in Martin furnished theirs to make the work go faster. The Martin Volunteer Fire Department came with ladders and hoses to help take down old signs and to hose under the bleachers.

Parents and students scrubbed old paint, scrubbed, mopped, waxed, painted, got tired, fussed, laughed, fellowshiped, had a good time and did a lot of work.

The staff of Martin Elementary School is proud of and grateful to the parents who helped with the project, the Junior Pro Basketball program, and classroom volunteers, said a school spokesperson.

Parents Form Volunteer Corps

A group of local parents has formed a new organization, the Floyd County Parent Volunteer Corps.

The corps will have volunteers in each school to help teachers and to help improve attendance at each school through plans worked out with each principal, according to one of the co-directors, Marlene Hall. The parents believe their involvement is a key ingredient for quality education. Students with parents who display an interest in education help those students with studies and become involved in school activities.

An advisory committee composed of a representative from each school has been formed. The committee is headed by three co-directors: Marlene Hall, Karen Caudill and Freda Hicks, who have drawn up a constitution and by-laws.

In the near future, according to Hall, letters will be sent home with each school child in the county.

Parade Participants

The Martin Elementary School kindergarten class participated in the annual Red, White and Blue Day parade Oct. 15. Their theme was "We will Be Your Future Leaders," and they dressed as their favorite future occupation. Vickie King Prater, kindergarten teacher, thanked parents who helped decorate the trucks and gave their support during the parade. The kindergarteners who participated, and are pictured above, are Matthew Adkins, Lenzie Goble, Anita Akers, Jeremy Conn Adkins, Nicki Wilson, Crystal Terry, Keith Crum, Adam Smith, Terry Blanton, Dwight McKinney, Shannon Sizemore, Larry Mullins Jr., and Brent Jenkins.

Despite Uncertain Beginning, 'Mantrip' Continues Publishing

When students began to work on a magazine at Wheelwright High School three years ago, not too many people—including the students—thought that enough money would be found to publish even the first issue, and certainly no one envisioned the creation of five issues.

But that is what has happened with Mantrip, a student magazine based on interviews with local residents about the history of Eastern Kentucky. This past week, on Oct. 12, students conducted an interview with David Deskins, a Pike County resident who has published two books. Deskins, who has his own publishing company called Intrinsic Press, has authored a book about the appearance several years ago of Halley's Comet. Deskins has recently published two volumes of poems by Effie Waller, a Pike County resident.

Deskins, as he admits, is fascinated by Waller. What has captured his attention has as much to do with the woman herself as it does with her poetry. Waller lived in the early part of the 20th century and was a black woman who had her poetry accepted by the best-known magazines in the northeast. She achieved a kind of national reputation for poems that appeared in such magazines as Saturday Evening Post. At the moment, Deskins is hard at work on a biography of Waller, which he will publish sometime in the near future.

"I have decided to go home and erase about 400 words that I've entered into the computer about her. It simply isn't good enough," he told the students at Wheelwright at the conclusion of his interview.

That willingness to throw away work is part of the writing process he told students. Deskins has traveled extensively gathering research about Waller and time that she lived in. The interview with Deskins about his research and fascination with this woman will appear in the sixth issue of Mantrip which will be out some time in January. The issue will also feature a long piece by Everett Hall of Wheelwright, who spent several months gathering photos and writing down his memories about one of the best-known figures in the Left Beaver area, a man known as Bad John Hall. Everett Hall, a former storeowner, is now retired, but he has been involved with the Mantrip since its beginning providing students with valuable information and interviews. This past spring, he decided to make a gift of his writing to the students at WHS and the first part of his article will appear in the fall issue of Mantrip and be concluded in the spring issue.

Community Members Assist With Magazine

Two of the people who assist with the publication of Mantrip look over Everett Hall's manuscript on Bad John Hall. Bobby Hall, who works with students on photography, is the grandson of Everett Hall. His photograph has been taken by Pam Harris, one of the students that he is teaching. On the right, Al Stewart, Eastern Kentucky poet and former editor of Appalachian Heritage magazine, studies the manuscript.

Stewart has assisted with the publication of Mantrip since its beginning 3 years ago. He provides guidance on writing, editing, and lay-out. Stewart's poetry has been published in the Kentucky Poetry Review, High Roads Folio, and Kentucky Writing. He has also had his poetry featured in a special issue of Appalachian Heritage printed by Berea College this year, featuring the best known writers in the Appalachian region.

Stewart teaches each summer at a writing workshop for student writers in Virginia at Longwood College. The workshop is directed by a long time friend of Stewart's, Billy C. Clark, the author of The Champion of Sourwood Mountain and Goodbye Kate. Clark, a native of the Big Sandy area, has achieved a national reputation with his own writing and the publication that he edits called Virginia Writing.

Stewart, who retired from teaching at Alice Lloyd several years ago, remains active working with young people in the region. He has become a regular part of the writing workshops presented to Floyd County students at Jenny Wiley State Park each fall by the School-Community Partnership Committee, a sub-committee of the Floyd County Education Forum.

Jokingly, Stewart complains that he has been trying to retire for a long time, but the people in Floyd County won't let him. He has provided many valuable hours of help to the students at Wheelwright at his own expense. He has and continues to be a valuable part of the magazine project at Wheelwright.

Places Second

The Ashland Daily Independent held an essay contest for "National Newspaper Week." Students in seventh through 12th grade from across north-eastern Kentucky were invited to join. Billy Akers, a Martin eighth grade student, entered and won second place in the seventh to ninth grade division. He will receive a framed certificate and $50. The title was "Newspapers: Freedom in Our Hands." His eighth grade teacher is Carolyn B. Layne.

Wheelwright Band Earns 1st Place Win

Wheelwright High School's marching band was awarded first place honors in the Red, White and Blue Parade held in Martin on Oct. 22.

Dennis Bartley, who is in his second year as the director of the Trojan band, said that he was "very pleased" with his band's performance in the parade.

"On that given day, we were the best band there," Bartley said. Second place honors went to the McDowell Marching Daredevils. "We were very fortunate to have been chosen over them," Bartley added. "They have an excellent band under Scott Owen."

The award was based on the overall performance of the bands, including

Marching, playing, the work of the majorettes and the field commander. Wheelwright has a small band, but Bartley hopes to see more progress in the future.

"I hope that I can help instill pride, discipline and musicianship in my students," he said. The band is preparing for the opening of the basketball season, and a Christmas concert which was begun last year by Bartley. It will be given at the high school some time before Christmas break this year.

Bartley lives at Elkhorn City with his wife, Diana Bartley. Before coming to Wheelwright High School, he taught at Millard High School in Pike County.

KSP Representative Visits WHS; SADD Elects Officers For 1988-89

Trooper Kenneth Frost of the Kentucky State Police Post in Pikeville spoke to members of the Wheelwright High School Chapter of SADD on Oct. 12 about the penalties of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Frost was invited to speak to the group by the organization's sponsor, Norma K. Fairchild.

After a brief video which emphasized the importance of being drug free, Frost answered questions from the students.

The Wheelwright chapter of SADD is one of the largest clubs at the school. The chapter was begun last year and its membership has continued to grow. Recently, members elected officers for the 1988-89 school year.

They are Janice Wright, president, daughter of Sherry Wright of Jacks Creek; Missy Thornsby, vice president, daughter of Clark and Sylvia Thornsby of Wheelwright; Amy Payne, secretary, daughter of Joan Payne of Bypro; Mona Waddles, treasurer, daughter of Carlos and Oma Dawson of Price; Rita Lackey, historian, daughter of Roy and Barb Lackey of Halo; and Missie Hall, reporter, daughter of Gary and Marlene Hall of Bypro.

Carolyn Martin has three students that need some praise and recognition. Kyle Caudill, Kurt Pajel and Ryan Elliott can locate all fifty states when given a blank map. The objective of the Social Studies lesson was for second grade students to be able to locate Kentucky and at least ten other states. Martin told students that whoever could locate the most states would receive a prize. These three students received a blue ribbon sticker and play dough. The students had one week to study.

Newsome: Retired, Not Relaxed

By Warren Dillaway
Staffwriter
(Editor's note: This article is being reprinted with the permission of the Ashtabula Star Beacon, Ashtabula, Ohio. Mrs. Palestine Newsome is the sister of Mrs. Moses Frasure of McDowell.)
ASHTABULA—Many people hit the golden age of 60 and decide to relax, enjoy life and stop trying to find new dreams. Well, you won't find Palestine Newsome, 61, sitting back.
In the last year, Newsome—the mother of 12—has undergone a quadruple heart bypass, has learned to drive and has been studying to receive her high school diploma.
The Ashtabula resident will be joining hundreds of area graduates this spring when she receives her high school equivalency diploma. Newsome has been studying through the adult education program through the Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School.

Recently, she received her driver's license with the help of a son.
"I raised 12 children. I married very young and I didn't have time to do all these things," Newsome said.
Newsome was married at the tender age of 15 to Chester Newsome in Kentucky and moved to Ashtabula 39 years ago for job opportunities. They celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary last summer.
"When our children were growing up, my husband was laid off quite often from his job and then I would go out to work," Newsome said. She said she worked many different places, including a greenhouse, a factory and several nursing homes.

As if this wasn't enough to keep Palestine busy, the fact that six of her children were twins must also be taken into consideration. Newsome said her first set of twins was born in 1943, followed by the second set in 1954 only to have a third set surprise her in the late 1950s. She said all three sets of twins were a surprise to both her and her doctor.
"After I got the children raised I decided to get my driver's license and my GED," she said.

Following her recovery from a January 1987 quadruple bypass heart surgery Palestine said she decided the time was now to put her plan into action.
Newsome said her husband was a little hesitant about her plans at first but has warmed up to the idea. She also said her family is very pleased—"They don't consider me old yet."
Newsome said her family is close and she was able to grow up with her children.
"We find every excuse we can to get together. Christmas is the time when most of them can come here at the same time," she said.
The traditional get-together begins at 3 p.m. Christmas Day when the family arrives for its annual pizza party.
"I make 12 to 14 pizzas loaded down with the works," she said.
Newsome has a busy household when they do come. She said she has 24 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Newsome also said seven of her children live in the Ashtabula area.
Newsome said she wasn't really all that nervous when she took her driver's test and passed on her first try. She also said she has received a lot of respect from her classmates and met many nice people who are also working toward their diplomas.

The last day of classes, held at the Mary Chatman Center, is scheduled for May 15 with a graduation ceremony to be held later in the month at the Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School. She said she has been learning the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic.
In case you think this is the end of the rainbow for Palestine Newsome, think again.
"If my health allows, in the future I want to do volunteer work with mentally handicapped children. I don't intend to glue myself to the rocking chair—I'm too young for that."

McDowell Voters

George Bush would be the next President of our country if the students in Mrs. Turner's second grade class at McDowell had their way. The youngsters voted in the Weekly Reader National Presidential Election Poll along with some 1 million students nationwide. Nineteen students took part in the poll, according to the teacher. "It was a great opportunity for the children to learn about America's Election process through hands on participation," she added. The Weekly Reader National Presidential Election Poll has been extremely accurate in its projections for the last eight elections, spanning 32 years. National results will be made public by Weekly Reader prior to Election Day, Nov. 8. Lagniappe

By Lorraine Beach
Pikeville's Lost in the Shuffle Bridge Club met at Meyers Towers Tuesday night.

Listed in the winning section were Griff Griffith, first; John Rupley, second; and Vicki Pinson, third.

The bridge class at Pikeville College is vestigia nulla retrorsum. They are bidding and playing the hands quite well. Seven hundred bonus points was the stepping-stone to first place position for Pamela Bellamy and Earl Bellamy. Second highest were Margaret Bellamy and Thomas Bellamy. Marie Looney and Mrs.

Kaminski Robinson were third. (Jonell and Looney are there for intermediate lessons.)

Youngest kibitzer does not like nomenclature: While 4-year-old Laura Bellamy was watching her father play bridge, she overheard the instructor say, "Tom, your partner is the declarer, and you are the 'dummy hand'." Laura emphatically stated, "My daddy is not a dummy — he is a genius!"

The YMCA has scheduled an autumnal bridgefest for Nov. 3 at the Hambley Community Center. For more information, please call 437-5014, 437-4430, or 432-5838. Attentive consideration: "This is the day which the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it." Psalm 118:24.

Floyd Student Inducted Into EKV Honor Society

A Floyd County student has been inducted into the Eastern Kentucky University chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary society for students in teacher education.

Michele Howard of Dwale was among nearly 70 students initiated at EKV this semester, university officials announced this week.

The students, initiated Sept. 27, join a society with more than 325 chapters across the United States and six chapters in Kentucky.

Dr. Glynn Creamer, faculty counselor for Kappa Delta Pi, said the EKV students who join must have a 3.0 grade point averaged based on a 4-point scale, and be juniors majoring in teacher education.

"These are all excellent students whom we expect to become leaders in their profession in coming years," Creamer said.

The society works to support excellence in scholarship, high personal standards, improvement in teacher preparation, distinction in achievement and contributions to education.

Wins State Honor

The Kentucky Association for Progress in Science (KAPS) has recognized a former Wheelwright resident, Earlis Thornsberry, as Kentucky Outstanding Science Teacher for 1988. KAPS is an organization interested in the teaching of science at all levels (elementary through college) in Kentucky. This year's fall conference in Louisville, Oct. 7-8, was attended by over 700 educators from across the state.

Thornsberry is a biology and science teacher at Hazard High School, where he has taught for 21 years. He is a graduate of Wheelwright High School, Alice Lloyd College, the University of Kentucky, and Eastern Kentucky University. He is the son of the late Landell Thornsberry of Wheelwright and Dona Thornsberry of Norton, Va. He and his wife, Stella, reside at Bonnyman, Ky.

Tasty Recipes For Fall Season

The following recipes are easily prepared and are a tasty addition to any table. Shrimp in Angel Hair Pasta casserole is perfect for impressive company or for a simple family meal. The kids will love Tacos in Pasta Shells and can help with the preparations. Vegetable and cheese stuffed potatoes are a snap to prepare in the microwave.

Cheese rabbit is actually made from thick cheese mixtures not rabbit. Food lore tells us the name "rabbit" was given to this dish when a Welshman served it as a substitute for game. It can be served simply as a Sunday night supper for the family or dressed up to fit a buffet for guests.

No recipe page is complete without a dessert, and Raspberry layer not only adds color to the meal, but also the nutrition of fruit. Cranberry nutbread is perfect for snacks, brunches, and teatime when friends drop by.

PCC Library Highlights Regional Authors

By Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

Wilma Dykeman, author of Far Family and Tall Woman, has said that "the challenge of Southern Appalachian literature today is nothing less than the challenge of all those who, in the Age of Space, still cherish a corner of the Earth..." The following authors of Appalachian literature have dug into their corner of the Earth and made a home there. You can find some of their works at the PCC Library.

Denise Giardina

Giardina is our most local of local writers. You can often catch her downtown—usually coming out of the Bookworm. She was raised in Black Wolf, a tiny coal camp in southern West Virginia, and has recently moved to David. Her first book, Good King Harry, set in medieval England, reflects her interest in period history. Her second novel is the one she admits "just had to be told." Storming Heaven, winner of two awards, is the "blood and guts" story of the 1921 Battle of Blair Mountain in West Virginia.

It is a passionate story of the abuse of civil rights and the pillaging of the land when the coal companies ruled West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky. It is about human suffering, the United Mine Workers' fight to organize, and the cold-blooded

The bride-elect is a 1987 graduate of Allen Central High School, Mayo State Vocational Technical School in data processing. She is employed by Big Sandy ADD.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Allen Central High School and is employed by Hueysville Gas.

Cobb, an anti-armor weapons infantryman, is the son of Patricia Leonard of Langley.

He is a 1987 graduate of Allen Central High School, Eastern.

dominance of the coal companies during that era. It is also a love story. You won't put this one down.

Actively involved in the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, Giardina backs up her strong feelings about environmental and economic issues of the two states that she calls home. She promises a third book about her experiences growing up in a coal camp during the 1960s. It will soon be published.

Emma Bell Miles

A writer from the turn of the century, Emma Miles left us a legacy of her book, The Spirit of the Mountains. Although she lived on Walden's Ridge, Tenn., with her husband and family, this frail but stalwart woman embodied a biculturalism that was to give her insights not known to her mountain sisters or her city patrons. Her birth outside the mountain culture to school teachers exposed her to the world of history, literature, science and art. She brought this culture with her when her husband moved her into a harsh mountain life of many children and constant poverty.

She supported her family by selling stories, poems and paintings, and by lecturing on nature to various schools and civic groups. The Spirit of the Mountains is drawn from the mountain life she lived and observed around her. It is a faithful portrayal of the music, religion, tradition and lore of her mountain people. It is told simply, and with love.

Miles' only other work still available is Our Southern Birds. Illustrated by her own sketches, the book was intended as a teaching guide for school children, and therefore is written in a clear and simple style. It's artistry is undiminished by time and it continues to have local interest.

A biography has been written about the author, called simply, Emma Bell Miles, by Kay Baker Gaston. Gaston gives credit to Emma's surviving children for much of her information, and includes many of Emma's poems and stories. Her poetry is where we can see her as the naturalist she was, and feel her love for the mountains and the beauty that surrounded her.

Harry Caudill

Another writer who calls Kentucky home, Harry Caudill's ancestors go back for generations in the Eastern Kentucky mountains. He was raised in Letcher County, studied law at the University of Kentucky, and hung his shingle out in Whitesburg. Elected to the state Legislature, he became a leading spokesman for the Appalachian region. He has taught history at the University of Kentucky, but has now returned to Whitesburg, where he continues to write about his people, the land and the things that have happened to both of them.

His first book, Night Comes to the Cumberlands, is a study of the social, economic and political forces that have created the depressed area of the Eastern Kentucky Cumberland Plateau. He chronicles the movement from wilderness to coal, from boom to bust, and from waste to welfare with a style that is expressive, interesting and informative.

A prolific writer, Caudill has written Dark Hills Toward Westward, a novel based on the life of Jenny Wiley; My Land Is Dying, a cry against strip mining; The Senator from Slaughter County, an insight into the workings of politics in Eastern Kentucky; The Watches of the Night, a social commentary on the "War on Poverty" years in the mountains; The Mountain, the Miner and the Lord, a collection of the best stories he heard during his years as a lawyer in Whitesburg; Theirs Be the Power, subtitled "The Moguls of Eastern

Lee Smith

Twice winner of the O. Henry Award, Lee Smith is one of the best known Appalachian writers outside of the area. Her books are reviewed in the New York Times Book Review, and can be found in chain bookstores.

Born in Grundy, Va., Smith now lives in Chapel Hill, N.C., where she teaches at North Carolina State University and writes. Earlier novels include Something in the Wind and Fancy Stut, but, since coming to Chapel Hill, she has focused her writing skills on Appalachian settings—Black Mountain Breakdown, the story of Crystal Spangler caught between mountain culture and American mainstream; Oral History, a multi-generational saga of cultural evolution from the head of the holler to contemporary society; and Family Living, a comedy of manners and morals set in a Virginia town where a family fights and cries and grows over the legacy left by its mother.

With a new novel already out, Lee Smith has been described as, "reading Madame Bovary while listening to Loretta Lynn and watching The Guiding Light." The family and its problems and joys go on and on, and you don't want the stories to stop. You'll get hooked on Lee Smith.

Loyal Jones

A native of North Carolina, Loyal Jones is well known in the region for his work with the magazine, Mountain Life and Work, his numerous articles on Appalachian Culture in regional journals, and his current work as director of the Appalachian Center at Berea College.

His book, Minstrel of the Appalachians, is a biography of Bascom Lunsford, a folk singer, cultural documentarian, and advocate of Appalachian lore; his book Radio's Kentucky Mountain Boy is a well-documented story of Badley Kincaid, a Grand Ole Opry star whose voice came into mountain cabins by way of battery-powered radios; and his most popular Laughter in Appalachia, a collection of mountain humor which includes jokes and yarns on hunting, lawyers, doctors, alcohol and religion.

Loyal Jones can be heard on PBS radio's Mountain Stage, at local Appalachian doings, and working hard at the Appalachian Center at Berea College. His commentary and stories can be found in "Appalachian Heritage," "The Appalachian

★ CANCER HOPELINE

Question: My husband has smoked for several years. He wants to quit, but has trouble motivating himself to quit today so he can enjoy the long term benefits of a reduced risk of cancer and heart disease. I think if he knew what the immediate benefits of quitting are—he could get motivated. Could you describe some of the immediate benefits?

Answer: Many smokers have trouble getting motivated to quit based on the long term benefits. However, there are several immediate benefits. Here's a list of just a few of these benefits:

—Carbon monoxide levels in the blood decline within 8 hours of the last cigarette.

—Improved respiratory function; smokers cough diminishes, and excess mucous production begins to subside.

—Sense of taste and smell quickly improve.

—Better oral health; cessation helps to prevent or stabilize dental disease, and eliminates smokers' breath.

—Stamina and vigor improve as a result of increased oxygen in the system, and circulation improves.

—Acute effects of nicotine on pulse rate, blood pressure, and body temperature are eliminated within 20 minutes of the last cigarette.

These are just some of the benefits your husband would enjoy. If he is still having trouble getting started, he can call the Cancer Information Service for more information. The CIS staff members are trained in smoking cessation counseling and are ready to help. They can also refer him to other organizations which provide smoking cessation programs. He can reach the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER, Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Question: I have been told by my doctor that I have fibrocystic breast disease. What exactly does this mean? Am I at high risk for breast cancer because I have this? What can I do to relieve the pain?

Answer: Many doctors believe we should abandon the term "fibrocystic breast disease," since lumpy breast tissue does not mean any disease is present and does not require treatment. Changes in hormone levels cause breast tissue to swell and then return to normal with each monthly cycle. The repetition of this process can cause lumpy areas to form in the breasts. These areas change with the menstrual cycle, generally becoming larger, more numerous, and more tender just before menstruation. This condition occurs most often in women between the ages of 35 and 50, and usually subsides after menopause.

The Fibrocystic condition is not cancerous, and women with lumpy breasts are not considered to be at higher risk for breast cancer. It is, however, important for all women, including those with a fibrocystic condition, to practice monthly breast self-examination. A woman with lumpy breasts may want to examine her breasts both before and after her period so that she can become familiar with what is a normal hormonal change in breast tissue for her body. It is also important to have regular breast exams by a doctor. Because it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between generalized lumpiness and a true lump simply by feel, a doctor may order a biopsy or another diagnostic test, such as a mammogram, if a suspicious lump is found.

Many women with Fibrocystic breasts have only tenderness or mild pain in their breasts before their menstrual periods. For them, mild pain relievers or the use of warm compresses or a sleeping bra may be all that is needed. For other women, however, the pain can be severe enough to interfere with their everyday lives. Numerous remedies have been proposed, but no ideal treatment has been found to date. For some women, limiting the use of salt may help, especially in the latter half of the menstrual cycle. This, and the use of diuretics, can reduce the swelling in the breasts that is caused by excess fluid. Restricting the amount of caffeine consumed by cutting down on coffee, tea, cola and chocolate helps some women. Certain anti-hormone agents have been found to relieve the symptoms of fibrocystic disease, but because their long-term effects are not yet known, their use is generally reserved for patients with severe and persistent symptoms.

In a small number of women—those who have had multiple biopsies, whose pain is severe and doesn't respond to treatment, and who are very fearful about getting cancer—surgery may be recommended. Until further research establishes treatment standards, a woman with Fibrocystic breasts should consult her doctor to decide what is best for her.

For a copy of the pamphlet, Questions and Answers About Breast Lumps, call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER.

Mushrooms Add Special Touch To Everyday or Elegant Dishes

From the American Institute for Cancer Research
Nothing dresses up an everyday dish like mushrooms. These elegant vegetables are simple to use, but they always add a special touch to your menu.

Best of all, cultivated mushrooms are virtually fat free, an important factor when keeping within the Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk established by the American Institute for Cancer Research. And mushrooms provide additional nutritional benefits, including potassium, fiber, B-complex vitamins and phosphorus.

You'll find cultivated mushrooms in practically every market today, and many stores are beginning to carry more exotic, flavorful varieties such as morel, chanterelle and shiitake. Select mushrooms that are moist but not mushy, with caps that are tightly closed over the "gills" on the underside of the cap. They should have a velvety feeling and not be shriveled or dry.

Fresh is best with mushrooms, but they can be stored for five days or longer with adequate refrigeration, humidity and air circulation. A paper bag or a basket can be used, but avoid storing mushrooms in plastic. Clean mushrooms gently in cold water before using, and blot them dry with paper towels immediately. Trim off the rough ends with a sharp knife.

To cook mushrooms without adding fat, try using small amounts of low sodium bouillon, wine, juice or even water, instead of margarine, butter or oil. Use a heavy skillet, don't cover it, and don't overcook or the mushrooms' flavor and juices will be lost. Cook briefly (no more than four to five minutes), tossing them constantly.

Here's a great mushroom recipe that includes the season's favorite poultry, although it can work for chicken or fish fillets, too. This is a deliciously different dish, featuring creole cooking with a mild flavor. Serve over brown rice, accompanied by raw vegetables or a salad, if desired.

TURKEY AND MUSHROOM CREOLE
1/4 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup water
1/8 tsp. garlic powder
1 bay leaf
1 large green pepper, diced
1 16 oz. can stewed tomatoes, chopped

1 lb. boneless turkey breast slices, cutlets, or tenderloin steaks (1/4-1/2 in. thick)
Place all the ingredients except the turkey in a medium or large saucepan. Simmer, uncovered, for 5-6 minutes. Meanwhile, place the turkey in a shallow baking dish (in a single layer). Remove the bay leaf from the sauce, and pour the sauce over the turkey, spreading it evenly to cover. Bake uncovered at 375 degrees for about 15 minutes, or until done. (If the cutlets are thinner than stated above, cook less time.)

This recipe yields four servings, each with 225 calories and 5 grams of fat.

To learn more about the importance of good nutrition in cancer prevention, receive a free copy of "Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk," by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business size envelope to American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. C48, Washington, D.C. 20069.

The material in "Good Food/Good Health" is reviewed by Karen Collins, M.S., R.D., of the American Institute for Cancer Research, Washington, D.C. 20069.

'Favorite Son' looks more at quest for power

Author compares D.C. to Hollywood

By Mary Ann Townsend

Power and celebrity are the core for Steve Sohmer's six-hour miniseries Favorite Son, airing Sunday through Tuesday, Oct. 30 through Nov. 1, on NBC.

Although the setting has been changed from the power struggle of Hollywood to the political struggle of Washington, D.C., Sohmer's first novel brings out the similarities between the two.

"Washington and Hollywood are a lot alike because power and fame are so similar," said Sohmer, a former television network executive. "Both are elusive and transitory. You're never sure you have enough of either, but you know instantly when you start to lose them."

Favorite Son stars Harry Hamlin (L.A. Law) as a charismatic young senator who, with the help of his ambitious aide, is making a concerted bid for the White House at all costs. Linda Kozlowski (Crocodile Dundee) stars as his aide, and Robert Loggia (Jagged Edge) portrays an irreverent FBI agent who uncovers facts that will ultimately destroy both the senator and his aide.

The story is Sohmer's first novel, and the former CBS and NBC vice president is often asked why he didn't write about Hollywood, a lifestyle he knew inside and out.

"I tell them I did," he responds. "Favorite Son is it. It may be set in Washington, D.C., but it's not about politics. It's about exceptional, ambitious and sometimes desperate people who are obsessed with power and a need to dominate each other."

He did, however, inject television's power into the plot.

"When the character of

Linda Kozlowski studied up on D.C.'s power for her role in Favorite Son, Sunday through Tuesday on NBC.

Sen. Terry Fallon (Hamlin) narrowly survives an assassin's bullet, he is rocketed to media stardom because of television. To many of the more devious politicians in the miniseries, he has what it takes to help them win: charisma and media attention. It's manipulative, but it's true."

He said he based his characters on people he observed during his career, but Washington friends have repeatedly asked him who his White House sources were. "I told them I fictionalized Hollywood executives I'd met and just changed the locale," he said.

Through Kozlowski's role as the ambitious press aide, and Stephanie Kramer's successful television news character, Sohmer said he tried to show the double struggle women in a power-hungry environment like Hollywood or Washington, D.C. face.

Kozlowski agrees. Touring D.C. helped her formulate her character's style. "Just walking around the city, you can feel the power and the importance of the place," she said. "It was very helpful seeing the women in Washington; their dress and their behavior are very distinctive. It gave me a sense of realism."

STATEMENT OF FINDINGS AND PUBLIC EXPLANATION

Floodplain Management (Executive Order 11988)

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has analyzed the project identified below, as required by President's Directive (Executive Order 11988), and determined that Federal Mortgage Insurance should be granted there.

Region XI Mountain Housing Corporation
Porter Lane and University Drive
31 Unit Multifamily Project
Mountain Comprehensive Care Center

Since this project is located in a base (i.e., 100-year frequency) floodplain established by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), HUD is required by Executive Order 11988 to deny assistance to this project unless there is no practical alternative to doing so. An analysis by HUD indicates there is no practical alternative. The basis for this determination is as follows:

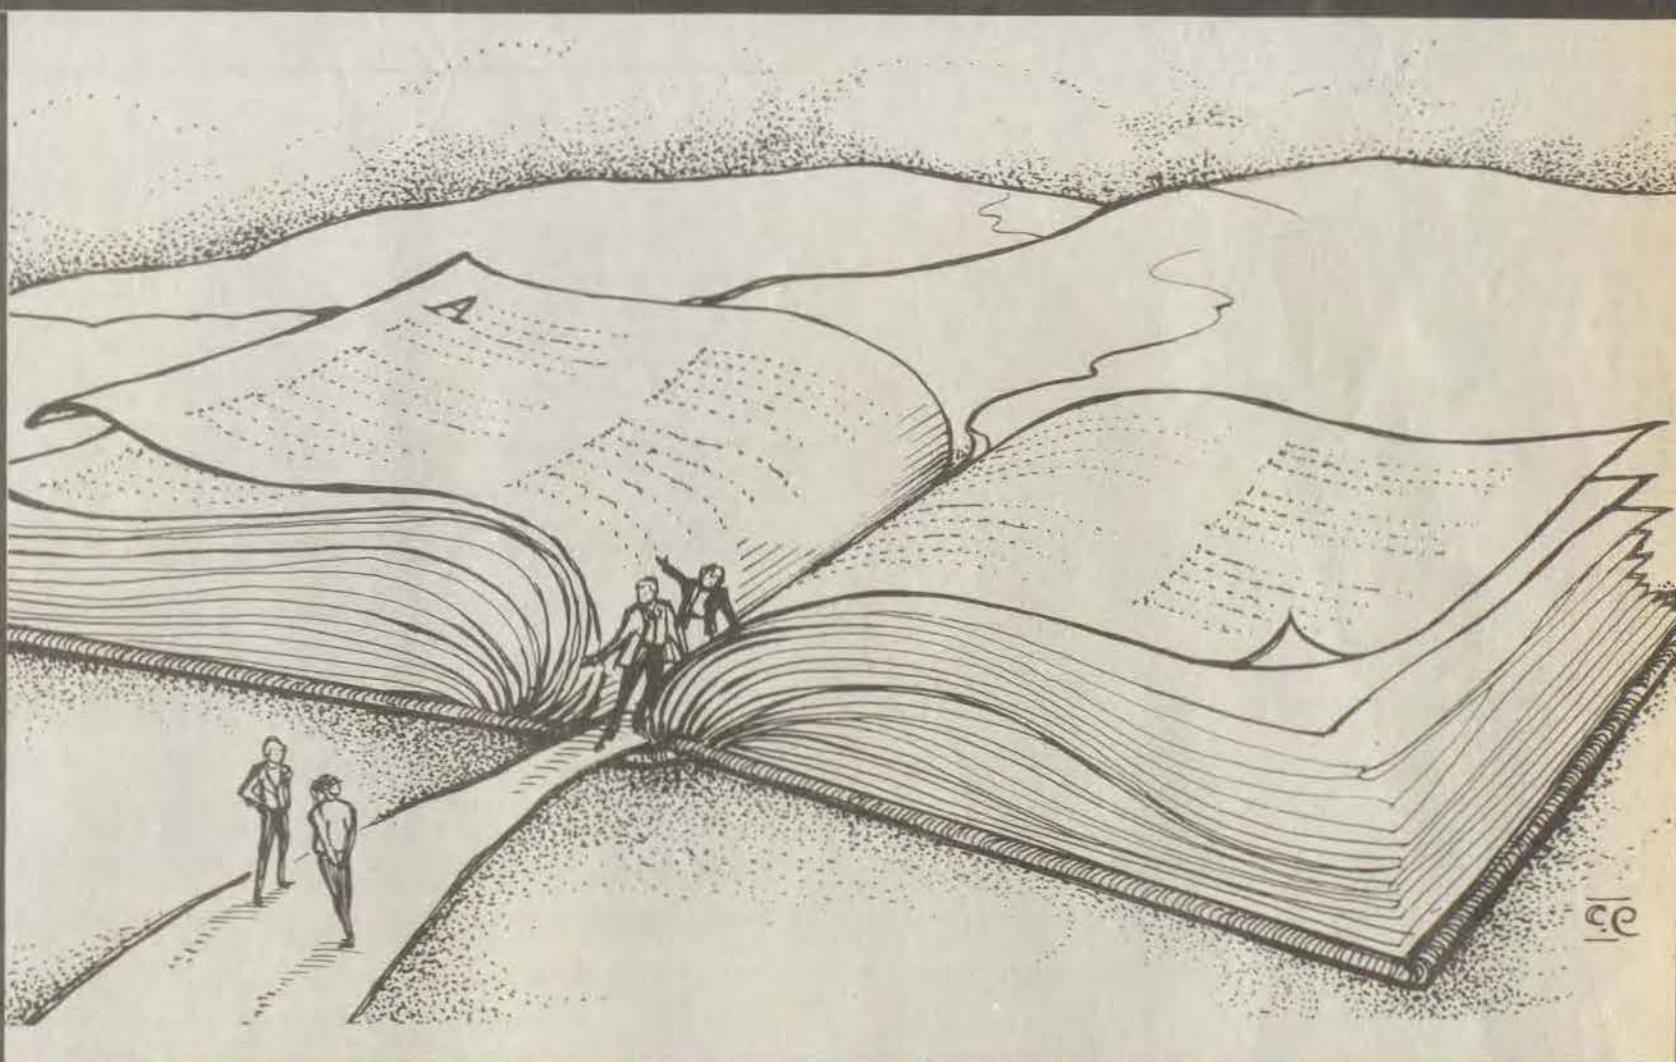

1. It is not possible to carry out the mission of HUD and participate in the growth plan of the community without participating in projects in the base floodplain.
2. The project is in compliance with local planning and zoning requirements.
3. Urban infrastructure (such as streets and utilities) to serve the project are in place.
4. The severity of anticipated flooding will not seriously endanger life or property.
5. The proposed construction will not displace or redirect flood waters or seriously impact other areas.
6. Construction will be in compliance with the floodplain management plan prepared by the community as a condition of their participation in the Natural Flood Insurance program.
7. Flood insurance will be required for all property located in the 100-year floodplain receiving HUD assistance.

Any comments received as a result of the early public notice for this project on September 14, 1988, were considered in the analysis which was reviewed by the HUD Office, 601 W. Broadway, P.O. Box 1044, Louisville, Kentucky 40201. Public comments on this statement will be received and considered by the above office for a period of 15 days from publication. This project will not be implemented without considering public comments.
