Floyd County

Closings prompt record turnout at meeting

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Thursday's turnout at a special Floyd County School Board meeting took school officials by surprise as more than 1,000 people—the largest crowd ever—commented on proposed school consolidations.

Board chairman Terry Dotson told the crowd that if as many people had attended board meetings in the last 10 years, including himself, Thursday's session may not have been necessary.

Dotson was referring to an apparent apathy throughout the county to the continued financial and educational decline of the school system. Dotson has issued a plea to citizens in the county to become more involved in the school system and to assist in efforts to get the district back on track.

Few people have responded to Dotson's request and a series of community meetings last month drew only a handful of residents. At a forum at Prestonsburg High School last month, no one showed up to voice their concerns to the board. Board members decided not to discuss school closings during that series of meetings.

Most people at the meeting appeared to be parents and students concerned about the possibility of five schools being closed in the county.

The school district has had a year-end budget deficit for the past three years and the system will most likely finish the 1997-98 year in the red. In February, state and local officials signed an agreement which placed the district under state management. For over a decade, state officials have been present in the school district providing financial and management assistance but final decisions were made locally.

State manager Woodrow Carter and interim superintendent Mike King outlined the district plan to the crowd prior to hearing comments from the public.

Officials explained that seventh- and eighth-grade students from Melvin, Osborne and McDowell will be transferred to South Floyd High Schools. Students K-6 will attend Osborne.

Students at Harold and Prater will attend Betsy Layne Elementary, and middle school grades at Martin and May Valley will be moved to Duff Elementary.

Most parents talked to board members about the importance of their community schools and commented that their children had nothing to do with the decline of the school system.

Parents from the southern end of the county complained that their middle school-aged children should not be housed with high school students at South Floyd.

About 50 people voiced their concerns to the board, including some children, one of whom was in tears.

Board members noted their comments and had scheduled a special meeting Tuesday to vote on the issue but that meeting was canceled and the board is expected to vote on the school closing at its regular meeting on June 16.

LARGEST CROWD EVER

Floyd County school officials were surprised at the number of people who attended a public hearing Thursday at Prestonsburg High School to discuss school consolidation. Couple traumatized by teen during robbery and assault

by Chris McDavid

An elderly Floyd County couple were robbed, assaulted, and held captive in their Prestonsburg home Friday afternoon by an area youth.

The couple — Jobie and Ruby Puckett — were attacked around 3:30 p.m. by a 17-year-old juvenile who had asked to use their phone, according to a Kentucky State Police media release.

"After (the teen) got inside the residence, he pulled out a knife and cut the phone lines," the release says.

The youth fled from the scene in the couple's vehicle after assaulting them, taking their money and locking them in a closet, according to police.

Mrs. Puckett, 78, said Monday that she and her 83-year-old husband have known the teen "all his life" and that they have hired the youth to cut grass on several occasions.

"He grabbed an old knife...cut the cord and wanted us to give him what money we had," she said, recalling the events which took place during the incident.

Mrs. Puckett said the teen shoved her on the floor three times and attacked her husband by throwing chairs, a coffee table and a vase at him.

Mr. Puckett suffered several cuts to his head from the incident, his wife said, explaining that "he was bleeding like a hog."

She said her husband gave the teen his money, but was reluctant to give the youth the car keys. "I said 'if you don't, he's going to kill us,'" Mrs. Puckett said.

She said that the youth bound her with black tape, placed her and Mr. Puckett in a closet and barricaded it with furniture. "He took three guns and my pocketbook," she added, noting that she did not know how much money was in the purse.

The Pucketts managed to free themselves from the closet and called their daughter and son-in-law for help on another phone in the house.

Mr. Puckett received 14 stitches for lacerations he suffered during the incident, Mrs. Puckett said.

Both were admitted to Highlands Regional Medical Center for observation.

The teen has reportedly fled to Indiana with the couple's vehicle, and has not been located by authorities.

KSP detective Stephen Bowman is investigating the incident.

Anyone with information about the teen's whereabouts should contact the Kentucky State Police at (606) 433-7711.

Local man gets jail time for misdemeanor charges

by Chris McDavid
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man was sentenced to 70 days in the county jail after he admitted to attacking an area resident, stealing his tools and throwing him on his grandchild.

William G. Conn, 20, of Allen, was taken into custody Monday afternoon by Prestonsburg patrolman William Petry. His arrest followed the issuance of a warrant charging him with various misdemeanor charges.

Those charges are theft by unlawful taking; fourth degree assault; and wanton endangerment, second degree.

According to the arrest warrant filed last week, Conn stole approximately $100 worth of tools from Tony Calhoun, also of Allen, on May 30 and got into an altercation with Calhoun over the incident.

In the warrant, Calhoun alleged Conn "attacked him and threw (him) onto his five-month-old grandchild."

During arraignments Tuesday morning in Floyd District Court, Conn pleaded guilty to all the charges.

Assistant county attorney Jimmy "Blue" Marcum recommended Conn receive a 10-day jail sentence for the theft charge and 30 days in jail for each of the remaining charges.

The assistant county attorney also requested that Conn pay restitution and court costs.

Floyd District Judge James R. Allen agreed with Marcum's recommendation.

Students from Adams Middle School took to the streets of Prestonsburg Monday afternoon, celebrating the end of the school year. The students covered themselves and each other with shaving cream. Monday marked the last day of the year for several area schools, but others are scheduled to end the school year throughout the week and next Monday. (photo by Chris McDavid)

City school vandalized

Prestonsburg High School's fired basketball coach Jackie Pack has been reinstated to his job as teacher and coach after being acquitted of charges levied by interim superintendent Mike King.

A three-member tribunal appointed by the Kentucky Department of Education heard testimony Monday and Tuesday, and concluded that school officials did not prove Pack was guilty of insubordination; immoral character or conduct unbecoming a teacher; and inefficiency, incompetency or neglect of duty.

King charged that Pack had borrowed large sums of money of the parents of players he was currently coaching or had coached in the past.

Attorney Phil Damron, who represented Pack in the appeal of his firing, said evidence was presented during the closed hearing that money borrowed from parents were "personal loans" and those loans are being repaid.

Pack admitted to borrowing the money, Damron said, and the funds were used "for the benefit of his son for serious problems that were personal in nature."

King could not be reached Tuesday afternoon to comment on the outcome.

The tribunal ruled that Pack is to be reinstated immediately and the school system pay him lost wages, Damron said.

Damron said school officials need to concentrate on other problems in the district.

"There's a lot more serious problems than this particular one," Damron said. "I'm just glad for coach Pack...there were a lot of malicious, slanderous remarks made with regard to this case that simply were not true and, were made by people who simply wanted another basketball coach for next year. But they might as well suck it up because the coach is back. This case was a question of survival and that's all we want to do."

Damron said the tribunal "rejected every argument" made by school officials and that there was no evidence that the loans from parents influenced any of Pack's coaching decisions or that any player was treated unfairly.

The tribunal is expected to issue a written report on the hearing within five to seven days, Damron said.

Fund receives donation

On Saturday, June 6, the second annual Sarah Renee Lafferty Memorial Benefit was held at Stumbo Park in Allen. The benefit was a gospel sing and, even though the weather was dreary and cold, there were approximately 150 people in attendance. The event began at 5 p.m. and throughout the evening there was music performed by Gospel Light, Divine Praise, Preacherman's Quartet, Grace, and the Katy Friend Singers. The evening ended with a moment of silence in memory of Baby Sarah and a prayer was led by Sarah's grandfather, Jim Smith.

There was a love offering taken and concessions provided with all proceeds going to the Dream Factory in memory of Baby Sarah, who passed away on May 4, 1997 after a six-month battle with leukemia. The Dream Factory is an organization that grants wishes for chronically and terminally ill children ages 3 to 13, and is presently in the process of organizing a chapter office in Prestonsburg.

On Tuesday, June 9, Paulette Lafferty, the mother of Baby Sarah, presented Chris Carter, treasurer of The Dream Factory, with a check in the amount of $1,345.

Bennie and Paulette were very pleased with the amount of money raised and with the number of people in attendance. They would like to express their greatest appreciation to all those who helped plan and organize the event, and to all of those who attended.

Bennie and Paulette feel that helping other children who are sick is one way that they can make something good come from the tragedy that they have had to face. Each year when this memorial benefit is planned and held, it is not done to have everyone mourn for Baby Sarah, but to allow those who came to know and love her a chance to celebrate the ten months that they enjoyed her beautiful smile.

Baby Lafferty's family would like to thank everyone who participated in Saturday's event.

The third annual Sarah Renee Lafferty Memorial benefit will be held on the first Saturday in June, 1999.

The Laffertys would like to offer special thanks to: Floyd County Times, Hall Funeral Home, Statewide Press, Eastern Pipeline, Cardinal Country Store, WQHY, WMDJ, WDHR, WSIP, Pepsi, Betsy Ross, Prestonsburg Food World, New Horizon, Institutional Distributors, Korns, Heiners, Burchett's Grocery, Food Land, Winn-Dixie, Martin Food World, KY Crystal Water, Kroger, Pikeville Food City, Prestonsburg Food City, Salyerville Dairy Queen, Saly-

Paulette Lafferty, the mother of Baby Sarah, presented the Dream Factory with a $1,345 check Tuesday after a benefit was held on Saturday. Chris Carter, treasurer of the organization, accepted the check. Saturday's event marked the second-annual Sarah Renee Lafferty Memorial Benefit.

Stumbo letter 'blind-sided' school board, chairman says

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

As emotions continue to erupt regarding possible school closings, State Representative Greg Stumbo has sent a letter to local school board members asking them to further study the issue.

But, board chairman Terry Dotson said Monday that Stumbo's letter "blind-sided the board" and said the elected official's comments appeared to be purely "political."

Stumbo's letter, dated June 2, opposed the board's proposal to close Harold and Prater elementaries. School officials are proposing to close five schools in an effort to cut spending and because some of the facilities have been deemed unsafe for students to attend.

"...It can be a very devastating thing to many people personally, and to a community itself to have (a school) removed, and before the decision is made, I would urge you to hear the input from citizens; give great thought and study to what other alternatives might be available, and to use your best judgment, good common sense and prayer before reaching your final decision..." Stumbo's letter said.

The chairman is upset with the letter because Stumbo had previously pledged his support to the board and was confident "this board would do the right thing," Dotson said.

A call to Stumbo seeking comment on the letter was not returned.

Stumbo said in his letter that he has tried not to "meddle" in the board's decisions, but "given the devastating effect of this action, I felt it necessary to contact you."

The letter to Dotson also pointed out that Stumbo has helped secure state funding for school projects "even though I disagreed with some of the former board's decisions on how and where to prioritize and spend the money, I was always willing to ask for more state dollars, and to support additional funding because it was so desperately needed here."

Stumbo said he knew some of the schools in the district are "ill-lit, ill-equipped, old, and perhaps somewhat unsafe," but he said he feels Harold and Prater schools are "structurally sound." He added that the two schools had had outstanding academic records over the years.

Dotson said he felt Stumbo had formed an opinion on the issue without having all the facts and information about the issue which puts an additional burden on the board.

"He has put additional pressure on this board without having all the facts and, for whatever personal thing he got out of it," Dotson said. "I'm going to vote for what's best for every single child in this county. That was a purely political letter. I wish (Stumbo) at least had the courtesy to pick up the telephone and contact this board."

Dotson said he has called several times to speak to Stumbo, but his calls have not been returned.

Stumbo's letter also mentioned that the state representative feels the board "should first finish the projects that have been started, even if it means spending money for the athletic facilities..."

In the 1998 state budget, Stumbo and state Senator Benny Ray Bailey added a provision which provides for funds to be used to build two athletic fields, one at Prestonsburg High School and the other at South Floyd High School. Under the state budget bill, which is law, Floyd school officials cannot access other state funds for school construction projects until the two fields are built.

Local board members have expressed their disapproval of the budget language, especially since state officials have reported that the school district cannot afford to buy an adequate supply of textbooks; is lacking funds to access state technology money for upgrades; and cannot address over $500,000 in maintenance concerns, most of which involve student safety.

Jervis graduates from Midway

Midway College awarded a degree to one Floyd County resident who was among more than 200 graduates during the college's commencement ceremony, May 16, at the Fannie H. Grave Amphitheater. The group was the largest graduating class in the 151-year history of the institution.

Carmelita Dawn Jervis, of Prestonsburg, received an associate of arts degree in nursing.

Dr. Robert R. Botkin, president of Midway College, delivered the commencement address. Botkin will retire on June 30, after 13 years of leadership at the institution.

Midway College, founded in 1847, is celebrating 151 years of distinctive education.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude for your support in electing me as your Democratic nominee for the office of County Clerk!

I will need your vote and support again in November to allow me to continue to serve you as "Your" Floyd County Clerk!

If I, or my staff, can be of any assistance, please feel free to call!

Thanks Again!

City conducts closed-door discussion

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Prestonsburg's City Council addressed a light agenda Monday with most of the meeting time being spent in closed session.

Council met for about 45 minutes behind closed doors to discuss property acquisition. After the discussion, Mayor Jerry Fannin reported there was no recommendation for action on the issue.

Council gave no indication where the property was located or a proposed use for the real estate.

Under Kentucky's Open Meetings Law, public agencies are allowed to have closed-door discussions related to property acquisition when a public disclosure would affect the value of the property.

In other action Monday:

• Councilman Billy Ray Collins voiced concerns about rising cable television rates and requested that a meeting with cable company representatives be held to discuss the matter. Fannin said he would arrange a meeting with company officials. Councilman Gormon Collins Jr. said he would ask the company for a comparison of rates from other cable vendors in the area.

• Councilman Danny Hamilton requested that a stop sign be placed at East Court Street and Highland Avenue. The mayor directed that a committee view the location and report at the next council meeting. Councilman Trent Nairn said he had been asked that a traffic light be placed at the mouth of Mays Branch. Fannin said that request is to be made to the Department of Highways.

• Councilman Gormon Collins Jr. said local National Guardsmen had asked if "foot training" sessions could be conducted on the proposed golf course site. Collins said the group must travel to the western end of the state for such exercises. Council agreed to allow the guardsmen to use the site provided officials with LodeStar Mining also agreed. LodeStar is currently mining on a portion of the site.

• Council agreed to consider a request to close a road at Goble Roberts and a report on the issue is expected at council's next meeting.

Councilman Hansel Cooley was absent from Monday's meeting.

Former resident becomes JAG officer

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Former Betsy Layne resident Lyn Branham is finding out that being an attorney for JAG isn't as glamorous as the television program of the same name, but she loves it anyway.

Branham became an officer with JAG (the Judge Advocate General's office) in January. She reported to her post in Fort Hood, Texas, April 24 after visiting with her family in Betsy Layne during Easter.

She is the daughter of Steven Branham of Betsy Layne and Pam Branham of Mt. Sterling, and the granddaughter of Jack and Margaret Branham, also of Betsy Layne. She is also the granddaughter of Don and Peggy Murphy of Portland, Tennessee, and Bill and Nancy Sexton of Madisonville.

Branham said the television program JAG and the movie, "A Few Good Men," have drawn attention to the navy's officer program, but she was influenced by JAG's reputation for putting new attorneys directly into battle — in the courtroom.

"(They're) known for allowing young attorneys to go into the courtroom — and pretty quickly. New civilian attorneys get stuck in offices doing research. They don't get a lot of hands-on opportunity in the courtroom. That's something you get in the military, as well as an opportunity to travel and be part of something bigger and exciting," she said. "A small part of me is kind of scared, but I want to jump in with both feet."

She will first serve as a legal assistant and will be assigned to divorce, taxes, consumer problems, and bad contract disputes for one year. Then, she will become a trial counselor, which is equivalent to a prosecutor.

She is assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division at Fort Hood. The division is "deployed often," Branham said. JAG officers travel with the soldiers.

"Anywhere soldiers are, there is a JAG officer," Branham said.

JAG was created in 1775 by George Washington just 44 days after he assumed command of the Continental Army.

Standards are high for admission to JAG. Candidates must exhibit special leadership qualities. They must have a J.D. or LL.B. degree from an American Bar Association-approved law school and have been admitted to practice law before either a federal court of the highest court of any state.

"In striving for excellence, the Army requires that only the best minds are accepted in the JAG Corps," according to an Army recruitment brochure.

Branham attended Harold Elementary and graduated from Betsy Layne High School in 1988. She did her undergraduate studies at Morehead State University and received her law degree in May 1997. She passed the Ohio bar and went to work for a temporary agency in Ohio, from August to December of last year, before signing up for JAG in January.

Floyd cities check out River City coverage

by Cindy Yates
Editorial Assistant

Three Floyd County cities will be watching closely as the River City Insurance Agency, Inc., defends itself against allegations made in a civil complaint.

The suit alleges the Prestonsburg insurance company committed acts of misappropriation of premiums and contract terms; allowed unlicensed individuals to conduct business in their office; illegally shared premium commissions; and failed to comply with orders of the Commissioner and the insurance code.

A restraining order was issued against Thomas and Regena Lafferty, owners/agents with River City.

An injunctive hearing date is being considered, as the agency has had their license terminated on or about October 16, 1997, and was ordered to return their respective licenses March 18, 1998.

Prestonsburg superintendent of the Utilities Commission, Seldon

Horne, said "we have contacted the underwriter of the policies purchased by Prestonsburg City's Utilities Commission through the River City Insurance Agency, and have been told by the underwriter that the insurance coverage is valid, and currently in effect."

Attorney for both the cities of Wheelwright and Martin, Timothy A. Parker, said "upon reading in the Floyd County Times of the trouble, we checked and found our Martin coverage to be intact."

Parker went on to address insurance coverage regarding the city of Wheelwright, stating "We have no reason to believe our coverage is not as stated in our materials. Other than that, we chose not to comment further."

Attorney for the Laffertys, Phillip Damron, said "I have advised the Laffertys not to make any comments because this case is still in substantive negotiations."

"We are trying to settle these matters amicably, but we really cannot comment further other than to say we are working every day on this case," Damron said.

Unwed fathers urged to establish paternity

Unmarried parents who want their children to have a more secure future are being encouraged to take advantage of new paternity-establishment services at local health departments and the offices of private physicians and other health providers.

Two state agencies have teamed up to make voluntary paternity acknowledgment more available to parents who did not identify the father at the time of the birth of their child. As a result of welfare reform, paternity-establishment services are available in more places.

In addition to making the services available at local health departments, the Cabinet for Families and Children's Division of Child Support Enforcement and the Cabinet for Health Services' Division of Adult and Child Health are asking more than 3,000 health care providers to join this statewide endeavor.

"Health care professionals can provide a critical link in educating expectant parents who are not married about the benefits of establishing paternity and they can now also provide these services," said Steve Veno, DCSE director. "This is an important step in providing the best possible opportunities for each child's future."

Paternity acknowledgment establishes the unmarried father's legal responsibility for the baby and is easiest to do at the time a baby is born. According to 1997 state child-support data, legal paternity had not been established for more than 140,000 Kentucky children.

"It's important for everyone to know his or her family history and be able to get information from both parents if a disease, illness or abnormality develops. Knowing members of the immediate family is essential for a health history to be complete."

For the well-being of a child, both parents should make sure the child knows about any inherited health problems and is able to find out about health conditions in the future," said Ann Tarter with the Division of Adult and Child Health.

Establishment of paternity at the time of the baby's birth, or soon thereafter, is extremely important, since the chances of having paternity established decline as the child grows older. Also, children born to unwed mothers are more likely to live a life of poverty.

In addition to financial support, Social Security and medical benefits, and inheritance rights, children gain many social and psychological advantages from having legally identified parents.

"A child has a right to that sense of belonging that comes from knowing both parents," said Veno, "just like both parents have the right to know their child and contribute to their child's future."

Paternity can be voluntarily established by completing a simple paternity affidavit, getting both parents to sign it and getting it notarized by a notary public. Voluntary acknowledgment of paternity is currently available in Kentucky hospitals and birthing centers at the time of the baby's birth at no cost to the parents. And the band played on...

Rhonda Kretzer
General Manager

Go forth, Graduates! Those words and other such words of encouragement were what parents expected to hear on our children's graduation night. Unfortunately, for the Betsy Layne High School Class of '98, many in attendance heard little or nothing of what was said for the audio system was less than adequate. The long anticipated moment of seeing our sons and daughters receive their diplomas will have to wait another four years, assuming they complete college, for visibility was near zero as we strained to see around the colorful array of umbrellas and through the downpour.

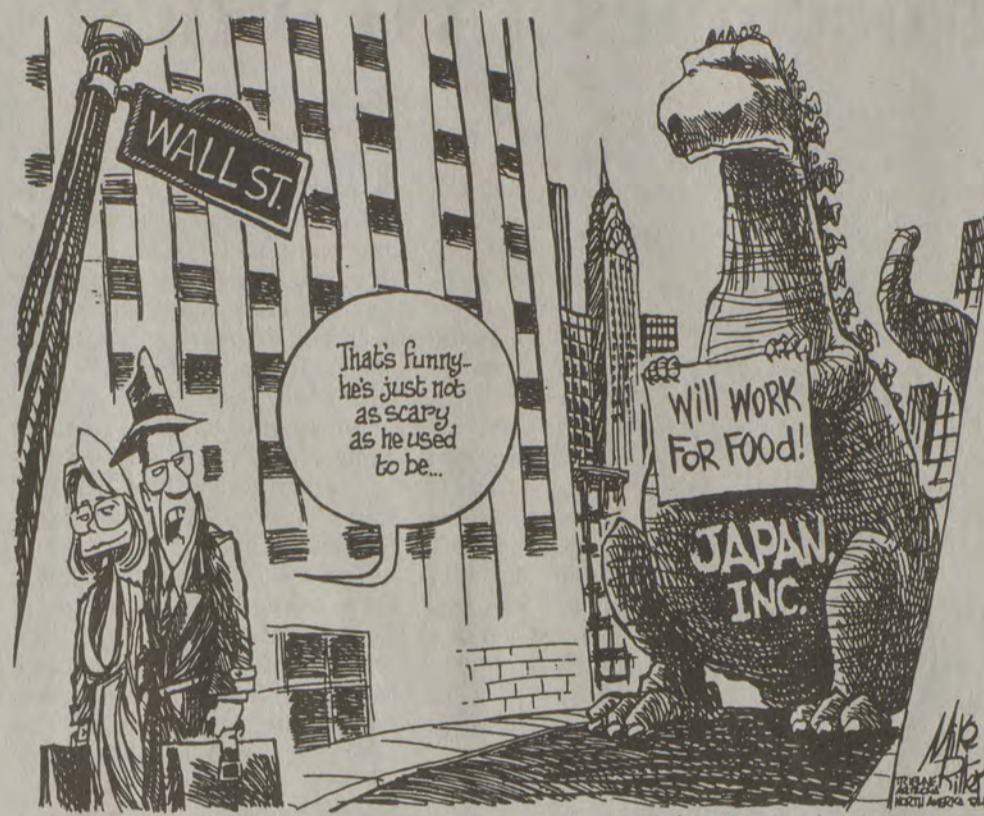

The limited seating on the football field required guests to be lined up and down steps and sidewalks and scattered around the facility as though it were a flea market. Relatives and friends who had traveled a great distance and found no place to park must have been dismayed. Those who walked up the steep hill only to find no place to sit were probably exasperated.

How did the graduates feel about their moment in the sun being soaked? Did they wonder if the flat-topped hats were designed with this in mind? With the right tilt of the head, these hats kept excited faces reasonably dry. The band should have been so lucky.

Misty Stevens, you worked so hard to accomplish everything required to be valedictorian. You must have labored over your speech and, from what I could hear, you represented your class well. How did you keep your sense of humor as the rain blew into your face and spattered your notes? How did you maintain such poise and graciousness under the circumstances?

As parents we have the right to expect conditions to be better for our children than they were for us. Not so. Our generation had a new gymnasium for our graduation. That same gymnasium is now labeled unsafe. The underlying problems of a school district in chaos and upheaval continue with no end in sight.

From all appearances, the rain couldn't dampen the spirits of the 116 graduates of the Betsy Layne High School Class of '98. They've now "gone forth" with great anticipation. We wish them all the best.

Proud parent speaks

Editor:

I am a proud parent of a McDowell Elementary student. She's an eleven year-old girl who's a cheerleader and carries a 4.0 G.P.A. She is among her peers, dresses and acts like her peers. Now, someone is going to change her atmosphere and put her with or around teenagers. My daughter is already trying to grow up too quick, (or so I think) this is only going to force her to dress or do the things we all are aware of that goes on at a high school-aged-environment.

There is a process to everything in life. When the time comes for my daughter to face decisions that high school students, here and around the country are faced with, I pray that she can make the decisions best for her then.

For now, she's my little girl, and I want her to stay that way for at least three more years.

Possible causes of children's acting-out behaviors

A recent concern for many folks has been the violent behaviors children have displayed across the nation. After the shock wears off, the questions begin. Why do they do it and how can they be stopped? The most widely accepted possible reasons for children behaving as they do will be presented today. Ways to identify children most likely to act-out inappropriately and possible ways to prevent extreme behaviors will be discussed next time.

Of course there are lots of reasons given by the "experts" as to why a child, say one named John, acts as he does. An old argument is that John's behaviors tend to show the result of things that happened to him before his birth.

A major cause is the likelihood of him inheriting his "behaviors" as explained by the genetic theory or

"Acorns don't fall far from trees."

One group of psychologists studied early development, rated young infant's temperament, and concluded that a connection might be made with their infantile emotional reactions and future behaviors. Another possible genetic tendency is the chance of inheriting chemical imbalances leading to depression and substance abuse, such as alcoholism, with an assortment of inappropriate behaviors. Sometimes deficits in the nervous system are not obvious on standard examinations, but are thought to influence children's behaviors from birth on. These neurological deficits may relate to the unborn child being exposed to toxic chemicals (prescribed or non-prescribed) his mother took during the pregnancy or complications occurring during delivery, such as John experiencing unexpected stress while in the birth canal. An impression is that the "electrical" system of John's brain is "just not quite right" and his behaviors are more disruptive and uncontrollable than the typical child his age.

A second major explanation of childhood behaviors is the social theory with its emphasis on role modeling, "Monkey see, monkey do," when John copies the adults' behaviors. His young brain may observe adults fighting and form the conclusion that is the way to work out differences. Or in another home down the street, young Mary Jane may see ways to compromise to get needs met and to have fun. Again studies of the child's ability to learn show that: (1) the child's capacity to learn is usually developed before birth; and (2) the young mind's ability to function is developed by the time the child is two or three years old. Psychologists have written for decades that the child's general personality characteristics are shaped by the time they are four or five years of age. Thus, the importance of the parents' habits, attitudes, values, and ways of interacting with John and Mary Jane during their early years can not be stressed enough. Although children are thought to copy their parents' real life behaviors, studies have shown that children on the whole are not likely to be influenced significantly by the violence they see on TV. Nonetheless, parents are repeatedly encouraged to monitor the program content of what their children view.

A third and very important explanation of John's acting-out is based on the behavioral or learning theory that includes the conditioning or shaping of behaviors. For example parents usually do things and cope the same way all of the time. One interesting long-term study compared parenting styles from the time the baby was born to young adulthood. The parents' parenting styles were labeled as "permissive" with very few rules, "moderate" with rules and the ability to adjust as needed, and "rigid" with extreme rules without any willingness to make changes. The children of parents with "moderate" parenting styles were better adjusted as young adults than children in the other groups. Generally, children tend to display undesirable behaviors when parents do not work together and "empty" threats are frequently given. Thus the child does not trust what the parents say. Everyone has probably heard a mother say to a child, "If you don't stop, I'm going to tell your father when he gets home." Then there is the father sitting in his lounge chair watching TV and he threatens the children repeatedly, "If you all don't stop making so much noise, I'm going to get up and come in there. Then you'll see what I can do." Children who have not learned to control themselves from the inside-out, being unable to say "No" to themselves, are more likely to have unacceptable behaviors than those who can control themselves.

Emotional status is a fourth and significant cause of John's acting-out behaviors. Much re-

TO ALL CONCERNED PARENTS OF HAROLD ELEMENTARY SCHOOL:

We pray, if Harold School is closed, that every parent will keep their children home from school.

Get the politicians out; get the crooks off the board of education; and leave our children alone.

How can they consolidate and put 930 students at Betsy Layne? From 7:30-9:00 a.m., there is nothing but pure congestion, now. Adding more students is nothing but waiting for accidents to happen. Bigger schools do not necessarily mean they're better schools.

We pray that the board of education will not fool with our kids, any more. The kids at Harold School have done very well academically, and are one big happy family.

Sure, if we keep our kids home, they can put parents in jail; but at least we know where our kids are, and that they're safe. That's more assurance to us, as parents, than cramming 930 students together.

We pray for all the concerned parents at Harold. Let's pray together and stay together—for our priorities are our children and their future.

Sincerely,
Bill and Pam Stanley

Master's degree program in education, instructional leadership approved at EKU

Addressing concerns about the preparation and supply of school principals across the commonwealth, Eastern Kentucky University will launch, this fall, a master's degree program in education, instructional leadership.

The new program was approved recently by the Commonwealth's Council on Postsecondary Education.

"The need for principals is great," said Dr. Leonard Burns, chair of Eastern's Department of Administration, Counseling and Educational Studies. "The number applying for jobs is less than what it should be. Last year, two districts in our area could not employ a high school principal until the second term. This will increase the number of administrator candidates available to site-based decision-making councils and school boards."

Regulations approved by the Kentucky Education Professional Standards Board permit training for school principals at the master's degree level.

Eastern, the Commonwealth's leading producer of schoolteachers and administrators, has for years offered a certificate program in school administration. The new master's degree program, targeted to post-internship teachers, includes certification.

"In the past, students would complete a master's degree in their field and then come into the certificate program," Burns noted. "Now, we'll address a host of leadership style changes brought about by the Kentucky Educational Reform Act."

—Leonard Burns

by the Kentucky Educational Reform Act," Burns added. "We're placing more emphasis among our future administrators on understandings and participate in a culminating performance assessment.

The program, developed in collaboration with Kentucky's other public universities, meets the requirements of the Kentucky Education Professional Standards Board and achieves Kentucky Administrative Standards, as well as the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium Standards and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education Standards. Also, Burns noted, the National Policy Board for Educational Administration's 21 leadership domains "will guide the development of the skills and knowledge base needed to become strong instructional leaders."

"We'll address a host of leadership style changes brought about by the Kentucky Educational Reform Act," Burns added. "We're placing more emphasis among our future administrators on understandings and participate in a culminating performance assessment.

to shape school culture and climate to achieve a school's mission of facilitating student growth, achievement and learning at the highest levels. Therefore, our program will embrace the group dynamics and interpersonal relationships needed to be effective."

The typical student will be able to complete the program in 1 1/2 to 2 years. The introductory course in the program will be offered this fall in Hazard, Somerset, Monticello and Bell County. Some of the courses will eventually be offered in EKU's three educational centers in Corbin, Manchester and Danville.

For more information about the new degree program, call 606-622-1124.

Area residents receive bachelor's degrees from Vanderbilt College

More than 2,300 students completed requirements for degrees at Vanderbilt University in the past year; one of them is from Prestonsburg. Those degrees were conferred by Chancellor Joe B. Wyatt during the May 8th Commencement exercises, which marked the completion of the 123rd year of classes at Vanderbilt.

Dan Chalothorn was awarded a bachelor's degree from the College of Arts and Science. He graduated cum laude and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Narong Chalothorn of Prestonsburg.

Vanderbilt University is a private research university of approximately 5,900 undergraduates and 4,300 graduate and professional students. Founded in 1873, the university comprises 10 schools, a public policy institute, a distinguished medical center and The Freedom Forum First Amendment Center. Vanderbilt offers undergraduate programs in the liberal arts and sciences, education and human development, engineering and music, and a full range of graduate and professional degrees.

The Web developer will work closely with District staff and the Big Sandy One-Stop Technology Committee to identify features that meet our internet needs within our specified budget. Your proposal should include a proposed scope of services with time schedule. A lump sum, fixed price fee will be required for services subsequently included in an agreement. Currently the District is proposing a budget of $30,000.

The entire Request for Proposals package can be obtained by calling David Gardner at the Big Sandy Area Development District - 606-886-2374. A Look At Sports

Camps, camps, more camps

With the high school baseball and softball seasons closed, it is time for schools to turn their attention to basketball camps. All four high schools will be in some form of camp or another over the next two weeks.

Allen Central competed last week in the Perry Central team camp and came out the winner of the tournament that closed the camp. The Rebels coach Johnny Martin won six of the seven games they played.

Finances have hampered some teams from making a trip out this summer. However, assistant coach Bobby Hackworth will take the Prestonsburg Blackcats to Georgetown for camp with coach Happy Osborne.

Prestonsburg has yet to name a head basketball coach for next year. Former coach Jack Pack had his appeals hearing this past Monday. I understand a coach could be named shortly after the close of that hearing if the court doesn't rule otherwise.

Several names have been connected with the job. I don't know if there is a front runner but of the names mentioned, either one would make a good choice.

I heard that coach Bill Mike Runyon will return next year to Paintsville and with a good shot at another regional title. He has two new players coming in. The Tigers may not be the powerhouse they have been, but they will be a very competitive team.

I am pulling hard for the Utah Jazz to unseat the Chicago Bulls in the NBA playoffs. I like Karl Malone and John Stockton. Can you imagine a team like the Jazz scoring only 54 points in a pro game?

Finally, all is quiet for Real Quiet. It would have been nice to see a Triple Crown winner, but Victory Gallop won by a nose over the Kentucky Derby winner.

Brad Martin continues to get good reviews as the new track promoter at Thunder Ridge. Martin has things moving and is getting people out and home at a decent hour.

I visited The Ridge this past Saturday night and enjoyed watching the cars roar around the track. The Late Models were missing and that hurt the attendance, plus El Dora was racing that night at well.

But overall, it was a good night and plenty of competition.

The track seems to be in the best shape ever. The dust problem is not as bad.

Keith Coleman, brother of "King" Kelly Coleman, has a web site on his famous brother. I visited the site the other night and like the photographs of Kelly and other items. The guest book was signed by many, many fans from far and wide. Take it in!

MCA coaches John Biery and Tim Potter have become the latest to make plans to hold a basketball camp this summer. The camp is scheduled for June 22-26 for ages 5-16. The camp will run from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

If Joe Morgan is a Hall of Famer for the Cincinnati Reds, then Pete Rose has to be inducted as well. It is a shame the way major league baseball is treating baseball's all time leading hitter by keeping him out of the Hall.

I certainly don't condone what Rose did, betting on baseball, but he did his Hall of Fame stats on the field, not as a manager.

Hey, Floyd Countians, let's get our applications in for the upcoming Blue Grass State Games. Let's have a great turnout this year.

Stumbo takes checker flag

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

With the late models out of state this past weekend, the crowd was down at the Thunder Ridge Speedway this past Saturday night, but that did not stop good stock car racing at the local track.

With the racing surface in ideal condition, four classes raced at The Ridge with really only one surprise. Martin's Johnny Layne finished third in the bomber class after winning the feature the past two weekends. McDowell's Mike Hall finished first in the event.

Billy Stumbo made it three in a row by winning the Super Bomber 15 lap feature. Kurt Hofsess made it four straight with another trip to the winner's circle after winning the modified feature.

Jimmy Arnett drove his J17 racer to victory lane in the popular road hog feature.

For Stumbo, his third straight victory at the local facility was a rather easy one, leading from the time the green flag was dropped to the checker.

Top Super Bomber

"It was close on the restart, but that is about the only time," said Stumbo. "It was a good race. A good clean race."

Only two cautions were shown during the 15 lap feature. Stumbo got out quick as he crossed the finish line ahead of Steve Stollings No. 17 car. Greg Ison placed third.

"The track was in great shape," said Stumbo. "It was just a good night for us."

Hofsess, in car No. 911, needed little help in winning for the fifth time this season in the modifieds. Hofsess had the quick time and took the inside pole position. Barry Jacobs, in car No. 88, finished second behind Hofsess. Jerry Wicker, who's car suffered some damage two weeks ago when he finished second, placed third in car No. 7.

It was an all Left Beaver finish in the bomber class with Hall, in car No. M23, taking the checkered flag and a trip to the win-

Hard work, faith helps Hofsess find success

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The 1998 race season was the start of the ninth year of racing for veteran stock car driver Kurt Hofsess, who has dominated the modified class at Thunder Ridge thus far this race season. Hofsess has won five of nine feature races at the local facility and won number five this past weekend.

The success that Hofsess has found has not come easy and neither has it been an easy road. His faith in God, hard work and determination have vaulted him to the top locally. But Hofsess has his priorities in order.

"Without the Lord I would never been where I am today," he said. "I give him all the glory and credit for what success I have enjoyed this season."

While Hofsess drives the No. 911 car, he doesn't have to dial 911 for help. He has a different line to call on.

"I'm not perfect and I do mess up," said Hofsess. "But He has made a big change in my life and today I can cope with the bad days and nights I have."

Hofsess' story is an interesting one as he has made the circuit in getting to where he is today. His career started with a good friend, Frank Martin, allowing him to sit behind one of this race cars, a car he drove for a year.

"After a year driving for Frank, I loaded up one day, with $300 in my pocket and headed to Charlotte where I lived in a motel. I got down to $60 in my pocket and concluded that I can't live long on that so I started sleeping in my truck."

Hofsess went to the Charlotte Speedway in search for a job and he met up with Roger Combs, who was working with Richard Petty Motorsports.

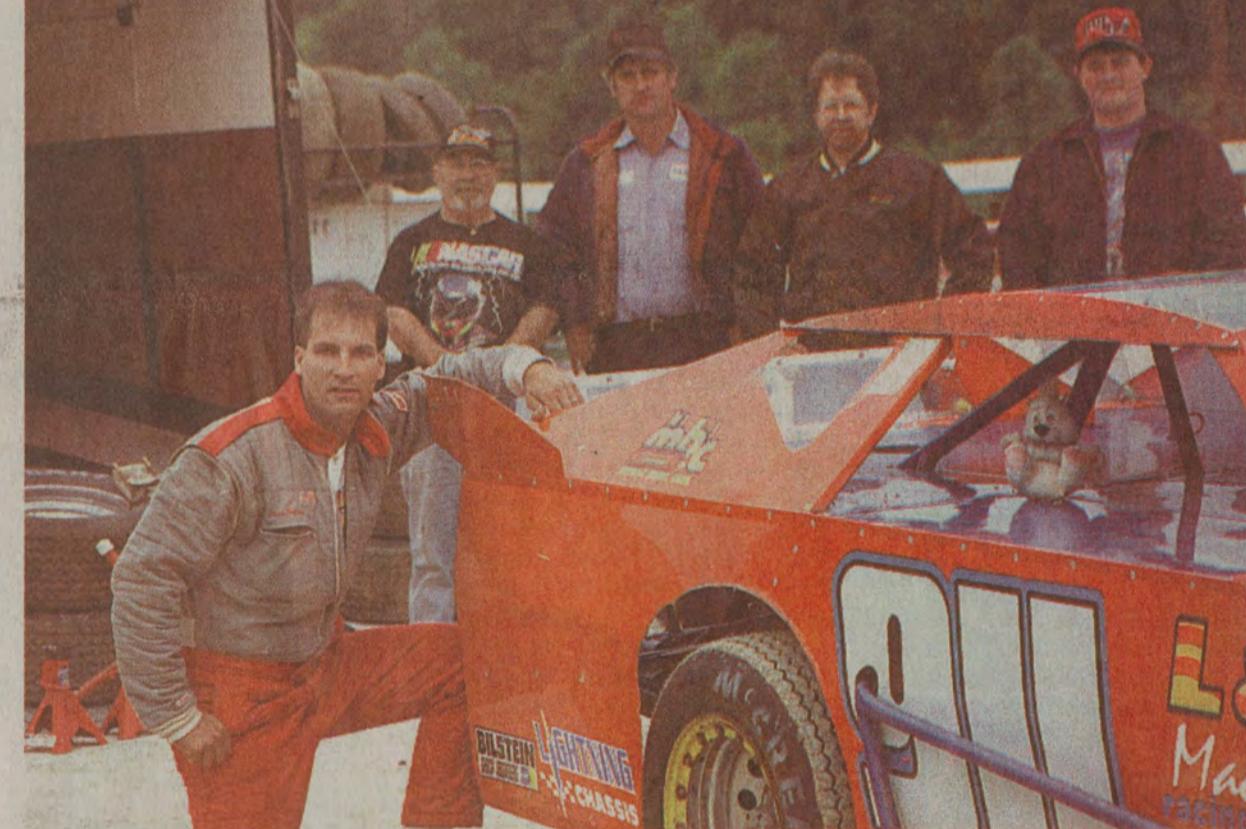

"I told him I was looking for a job and he said he would call me and how he could get in touch with me," explained Hofsess. "I told him I would get in touch with him, because I had no place to stay and no phone."

Combs asked Hofsess if he had a place to stay.

"I told him I had to sleep in my truck," said Hofsess.

"He said, 'you really do need a job then.' I got the job and I watch cars for him at the mechanic shop and also at the flag stand."

As confidence and trust built between the two, Combs showed more confidence in Hofsess. But he was determined to go "back home."

On a roll

Veteran driver Kurt Hofsess took time from his busy schedule to have a picture snapped with his crew and the popular 911 car. Hofsess has been in the racing business for the past nine years. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Pee Wee Braves hand Reds first loss

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been three years since the Martin Braves, of the Martin Pee Wee League, had been able to handle the Martin Reds, but last Wednesday night the Braves scored five times in the bottom of the fourth inning to post a 16-15 win over the Reds, handing them their first loss of the season. Both teams are tied at 8-1.

Sarah Hall had a three-run triple in the fourth to lead the Braves rally. Justin Collins, Tyler Robinson and Ethan Conley had singled to fill the bases. Hall then ended them with the three-bagger.

Jacob Moak, Robert Cole and Wesley Cramer had singles in the inning.

The Reds left the tying run stranded at third base in the top of the fifth inning.

The Reds took a 5-0 lead in the top of the first inning. The Braves scored once in the bottom of the inning to trail 5-1. It was a 12-1 game after the Reds batted in the top of the second as they pushed across seven runs. The Braves plated three in the same inning

Having good season

The Martin Pee Wee Braves celebrated a big win over the Martin Reds last week as they handed the Reds their first loss of the season. Both teams are 8-1 on the season. Team members include: Justin Collins, Tyler Robinson, Ethan Conley, Sarah Hall, Tonda Conn, Jacob Moak, Robert Cole, Wesley Cramer, Zak Key, Tyler Newman, Taylor "Rooster" Monk, Taylor Moak, and Austin Woods. Coaches are: Dexter Conley, Tom Moak, and David Hall.

In the top of the third, the Reds placed a runner on base but failed to score. The Braves then dented the plate seven times for seven runs and trailed 12-11 after three innings.

Three runners scored for the Reds in the top of the fourth as they went in front 15-11. The Braves then exploded for their five runs in the bottom of the fourth and held off the Reds in the fifth inning.

Moak had two doubles in the game for the Braves. Wesley Cramer had three hits including two doubles.

David School
completes first soccer season

It was a first for the David School as they just completed their first-ever soccer season last weekend as part of the East Kentucky Youth Soccer league.

The David based school finished their first season against a combined team of Johnson/Knott county players. The local high school team is coached by Craig Bower and Jeann Barry. The team had a successful debut and was credited by many in the EKYS family with improving the overall level of play.

As with their play throughout the season, intensity and athletic skill were highlighted in Saturday's game. Down 1-0 following a quick goal by the Johnson/Knott county team, the David team pulled together as a unit and stormed back to take a 3-1 lead. Both teams played even the rest of the way with a strong defense keeping the overall level of play ahead.

The fall soccer season gets underway in September.

Hofsess

But something happened to Hofsess that would change his life.

"I got saved. The Lord then told me to move on. I didn't want to leave, but the Lord told me to leave."

For half of the 1997 race season, Hofsess was out of racing. While being absent from the track, he purchased a black top truck and went to work. While attending a trade show in Columbus, Ohio, Miller Brothers Coal offered to sponsor Hofsess and put him back on the dirt track.

"I started looking for cars to drive," he said. "I wanted a new one but found a used one. The Lord impressed upon my heart that I didn't need a new one, the used one was good enough."

After purchasing the used race car, Hofsess and his crew readied the car for race day.

"The Good Lord has taken care of me," he said. "I just couldn't have done it without Him."

Also, Hofsess gives credit for his pit crew that has been with him.

Joe Hancock has spent the last seven years with Hofsess, but, "I worked with him when he was with Frank Martin," said Hancock. "Kurt and I go back a long ways."

Danny and Jason Hall, "Boogie Bear" Wicker, and Lonnie Fugate make up the crew for Hofsess.

"Lonnie is the engine builder," said Hofsess. "I owe a lot of my success to my crew."

Since racing at Thunder Ridge, Hofsess has taken the checkered flag five times of the nine races held this year.

"We led in another one but we lost our left rear tire. I led every lap until then," he said.

The loss was an eye opener for Hofsess and his crew.

"It was a blessing that it happened," he said. "It woke us up. We were keeping our eye on the wrong thing. We are not invincible. We were thinking we could do it ourselves. We give the Lord 100 percent of the credit for our success."

After a stressful time, Hofsess has learned through his new found faith, to take things as they are and keep his eyes above.

"I look at racing different now," he said. "I just want us to go out and have fun. It's not that important how we finish. I just want us to have a good time."

Hofsess said he has taken a lot of pressure off himself.

"I've been a winner all my life," he said. "I'm expected to win. I put a lot of pressure on myself. But now, I don't feel that pressure, because it doesn't matter how I finish."

Hofsess has been running at Thunder Ridge in the five years it has operated. He ran the first two in the bomber class before moving up to the modifieds three years ago.

"This is the best I have ever run," he said. "We have a great facility here at Thunder Ridge. I have raced all over and this place has the potential to be one of the great facilities of our sport."

"This track could host some big name racers. It takes money to make money and I think they should put up bigger money. If they did that, they could get drivers from all over the country to come in here."

"I think Brad (Martin) has done a great job with the track since he took over. The track is smooth, the dust down. The timing is good. We are getting in and out."

For Hofsess, he will continue to run at the local track, but will stay dialed-in to a Higher Power.

Cooler temperatures slow racing at Riverside

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The karts were there and so were the cool, cool temperatures as go-kart racing was happening at the Riverside Raceway in Dwale this past Saturday afternoon.

Over 40 karts took part at the local track that saw Paul Porter take first place in the open. Jason Stumbo continued to run well and Mike Stephens finished first and second.

The interest that is found in the go-kart field is amazing. Locals from around Floyd County have been racing for years and were not known until the new track went in last year. Now the new facility has kindled interest with other youngsters as well as oldsters.

Porter placed first in the open event driving his No. 53 kart to victory lane. Steve Ratliff finished second and Bobby Wireman placed third.

In the stock appearing class, David Setser took the checkered flag for first place ahead of Jason Cartrell in kart No. 10c. Martin Connelly placed third.

Shawn Davis captured the 250 class in kart No. 3. Mike Stephens placed second with Bobby Stephens rolling in at third.

Scott Smith won the stock medium in kart No. 4 over James Sturgill and Sheldon Sturgill.

However, James Sturgill came back and won the stock heavy with his No. 4 kart.

Six-year-old D.J. Ousley didn't place first in the single pull kids, but he was impressive in finishing third overall. Michael Setser placed first and Daniel Prater second.

Stumbo raced ahead of Dustin Holbrook in winning the rookies class. Stumbo has won the last three features at the local track.

In the older group, B.J. Justice took first place in winning the road hogs feature. Greg Adkins finished second and Matt Setser third.

Patrick Porter had a first place finish in kart No. 64 in winning the Briggs, Jr. feature. Brandon Hall placed second and Jason Setser third.

Gates will open this Saturday at noon with racing slated to start at 4 p.m. for the trophy race. Saturday, June 20, Riverside Raceway will hold their second of six point races.

Admission to the grandstand area is only $5 and the pit area is $8. Kids under 12 are only $3.

Cole continues to wow them at 201 Speedway

by Chris Belcher
Track Writer

Unseasonably cool temperatures welcomed race fans to the 201 Speedway this past Saturday night as fans encircled the freshly carved hillside as well as the many competitors running circuits around the recently resurfaced racetrack.

This weekend's effort by the 201 track crew developed the best racing surface of the season, with an exceptionally tacky speedway, which provided drivers the opportunity to grip the track more than ever, evident by quick qualifying times and blistering quick racing all night long.

Magoffin County rookie, 12-year-old, Ronnie Cole, Jr., continued to thrill race fans as he competed in just the second feature event of his young career. Cole finished second in the Sportsman feature, his second consecutive second place finish.

Tommy Keeton of West Liberty drove his No. 97 car to the winner's circle ahead of Cole. Keeton led from the green to the checker.

In Saturday night's Super Bomber feature, Williamson, W.Va.'s Tim Starr and Paintsville's Mike Osborne got out of the gate side-by-side but it was the patience and heads up driving of Scott McCloud that gave him the feature win.

Osborne had set the fast pace from the drop of the green flag, after he shot into the first turn with McCloud and Starr, making a three wide start in the first corner, with the advantage to Osborne. McCloud drew to within a car length of Osborne's ride, searching high and low for a path around Osborne, which he found exiting turn four on the 10th lap.

McCloud was able to extend his lead and went on to collect the checkered flag. Osborne placed second and Starr third.

Sitka's John Napier took the checkers in Saturday night's four cylinder feature. Jack Clevenger placed second and Ryan Ramsey third.

In a battle for survival, Lloyd Kimbler regained the lead on lap 28 to take home the $500 purse in the road hog feature. Jerry Honeycutt took the early lead over Kimbler as the fight for survival began. Honeycutt kept the front spot for the first four trips around the hog lot, until lap five saw Kimbler find an open door when a couple of road hogs crossed up in turn four. Kimbler took the lower road and the lead. Kimbler temporarily lost the lead on lap 13 when Scott Pennington powered by on the inside and down the backstretch.

Pennington had his hopes of a win crashed on the 27th lap when Pennington faced the obstacle of a big pile up in turn four. Pennington did somehow make it through with a good decision to dive low, yet contact from behind ended the night for Pennington.

Osborne had set the fast pace from the drop of the green flag, after he shot into the first turn with McCloud and Starr, making a three wide start in the first corner, with

The summer games will be held on two consecutive weekends this year.

If consolidation takes place next year with the closing of several grade schools, the elementary basketball program will be drastically changed.

It has been a long time since Cincinnati's Cinergy Field knew such attendance as it felt over the weekend. Nearly 150,000 fans filled the ballpark for the three game series with the Cleveland Indians. But, most of those fans were for the Cleveland Indians.

My son Greg was at game two of the series and said as he was leaving the game Friday night to get a early start home, he heard the roar of the crowd and thought the Reds had done something. When he turned the radio on, it was the Indians doing all the scoring. Most of the fans were for the Indians. So it goes!

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

NASCAR CONNECTION

Maybe it was the moon

OK, I was there in Richmond last Saturday for the first-ever night running of the Pontiac Excitement 400. Maybe I should have sensed something was in the air that was going to make the race a little out of the ordinary at the track that is known as the "action track." After all, it was June and people were seen carrying jacks and sweatshirts into the track. I can even remember sitting there as the race was about to unfold and saying to my wife that it looked like it was going to be a beautiful moonlit night for racing.

Little did I know that the long periods of green flag racing were just for the benefit of giving the moon time to get into position to cast its spell over the entire track. Nobody, it seemed, was immune from the influence that this almost full moon had on the decision making capabilities of everyone involved in the outcome of the race.

Let me say this before I go on with the events that took place at the end of the race, that no matter what the circumstance, it can best be explained by the standard reply, "that's just racing."

I guess the first big event of the night took place between the dueling cars of Rusty Wallace and Jeff Gordon. Wallace had inherited the lead through some good work by his pit crew and Gordon was charging hard with every expectation of taking the lead and going on for the win. Wallace had been able to stick his Miller Lite Ford on the bottom of the race track all night and was doing all he could to protect his preferred groove of race track. At that particular moment both drivers went after the same track real estate and the result was that Gordon went into the wall and had to settle for a 37th place finish.

It was as if the sight of Gordon going behind the wall woke up the crowd as suddenly the intensity level of the crowd seemed to be passed on to the drivers.

It was during the clean up of this wreck that the moon even had an effect on Richmond's track clean up crew. In an effort to get the wreck cleaned up as quickly as possible, a huge amount of speedy-dry was put down but only a small portion of it was cleaned up off the track. All of this was taking place while the leaders were in the pits trying to once again make the right call on how many tires to change.

As it turned out, if you didn't make the right call on your tires, you would have a long time to think about your decision. It wasn't long after the green flag waved that the tire smoke and speedy-dry filled the backstretch sky as a multi-car pile up began to take place. The smoke was so thick in the cool Virginia air that it is a wonder that the wreck didn't involve more of the field.

Here is where I think the moon did a number on the race officials. I have seen plenty of wrecks since becoming a race fan, and many of them a lot worse than this one. But, for some unknown reason (it had to be the moon), NASCAR decided to red flag the race until the track was cleared.

When the race restarted for the last time, we were treated to some of the best racing action of the season. It came down to Dale Jarrett trying to hold off Terry Labonte in the last couple of laps. Jarrett gave it his best show, but a small nudge from Labonte got Jarrett just loose enough for the Kellogg's driver to make the pass and claim the win.

Even the very end of the race was filled with events out of the ordinary. The white flag signifying

Labonte thrills crowd at Richmond

Terry Labonte, driver of the No. 5 Kellogg's Monte Carlo, lived up to his nickname, "The Iceman," Saturday night in the Winston Cup Pontiac Excitement 400 at Richmond International Raceway.

He kept his cool and avoided separate accidents in the last 50 laps that took out Jeff Gordon, Johnny Benson and others.

Gordon had been following the leader, Rusty Wallace, for nearly 20 laps. On lap 371, he went around Wallace's Miller Lite Ford as they went into turn one. But Wallace came back and bumped the rear of Gordon's Dupont Monte Carlo, sending him into the wall in turn two. That was it for Gordon who wound up finishing 37th.

After this accident there were several yellows, plus a 15-minute red flag condition. When racing resumed, there were six laps left in the 400 lap event.

Labonte was running second behind Dale Jarrett until lap 397. As they raced back to the stripe, Labonte nudged Jarrett going into turn four. Jarrett slipped and Labonte went down on the apron, and then came back up to get underneath Jarrett's No. 88 Ford Taurus and out race him to the start/finish line. Labonte took both the yellow and white flags.

A spin by Johnny Benson is what brought out the final two-lap caution.

For Labonte, the 1996 Winston Cup Champion, it was his 20th victory, and the first with Andy Graves as crew chief.

"It was great to win this early in the year," said Labonte. "We missed a couple opportunities already. We had great cars at Bristol and Talladega and we came up short at both those places. This was a big win for us."

the last lap was waved with a caution flag, but the front runners didn't see it and actually raced the last lap. Everyone thought the ways the cars crossed the finish line on lap 400 was the final finishing order. The finishing order was actually the order the cars crossed the start/finish line on lap 399. Except for the first- and second-place drivers, nobody on the entire track knew who finished where. Even as the MRN broadcast left the air, the drivers they were interviewing were wondering just where was it that they finished!

The papers Sunday morning didn't even have the official results in it. I had to drive six hours home and get a fax from NASCAR before I knew the finishing order of the race.

Maybe you have an explanation for the events that unfolded on Saturday night at Richmond, but I was there and the best explanation to me was that, "it had to be the moon."

BURTON OUTLASTS EARNHARDT JR. IN HARDEES 250

Jeff Burton assumed the lead from Dale Earnhardt Jr. with six laps to go in the Hardees 250 at Richmond, VA., Friday night, for his first Busch Series victory of 1998.

It appeared the race would go down to the wire because Burton had been unable to get by Earnhardt's No. 3 Goodwrench Monte Carlo. But on lap 244 of the 250 lap race, Earnhardt's car slipped. Burton drove by underneath, and took the checkered flag by 0.635-seconds ahead of Earnhardt.

His other win came at I-70 Speedway on May 23 in the Yellow

LEPAGE SUBBED FOR GREEN AT RICHMOND

Kevin LePage, a regular in the NASCAR Busch Series, substituted for David Green, driver of the No. 96 Caterpillar Winston Cup car.

On Saturday, prior to the Pontiac Excitement, it was disclosed that Green had a broken shoulder.

Green, who had already qualified the No. 96, complained of pains on Friday afternoon. X-rays were taken and the injury was discovered.

Team officials say they do not know how long Green will be out.

SADLER RETURNS TO PIKE'S PEAK

Elliott Sadler is ready for the inaugural event at Pike's Peak International Raceway, Fountain, CA.

If experience has an advantage, then Elliott Sadler will have an edge on the competition when the NASCAR Busch Series visits the one-mile oval of Pike's Peak International Raceway on June 14. Sadler and team traveled to the wild west after racing at Talladega in late April and spent two days testing at the new track. According to Sadler, the trip was worth the insight gained during the two-day test.

"We didn't really know a whole lot about Pike's Peak other than it was a mile long and had 10 degrees of banking," Sadler said. "We real-

Used cars to be sold for $5.00*

Walters Automotive Group, Eastern Kentucky's largest volume new and used car dealer, just announced plans to hold a five dollar used car and truck sales event on Saturday, June 13th, 1998.

Recent record sales from the last few months have resulted in an overstock of trade-ins. According to Mr. Walters, sales have been at a tremendous rate. Walters said, "now we must reduce the number of our used cars and trucks to a more manageable level." During this five dollar sale, cars and trucks will be sold for thousands below their original price. In fact, there will be cars that normally sell for five to eight thousand dollars sold for three to five thousand. Mr. Walters said, "our customers will find these prices even lower than at wholesale auctions." Auction bidding often inflates the true value of a car, so you pay more. Here, every car is on sale, first come, first served, and no bidding.

It's the perfect opportunity to get a good quality used car at the lowest price possible, including cars for only five dollars. The used vehicles from all Walters dealerships will be on display at Walters Mazda-Mitsubishi, next to K-mart in Pikeville. At 9:00 a.m., all vehicles will be opened so that buyers may inspect the vehicles for one hour before the sale begins at 10:00 a.m. Whoever is sitting behind the wheel at 10:00 a.m., when the prices are posted on the windshield, will be given first opportunity to purchase the vehicle at the sale price. This innovative approach to selling used vehicles will make it easy for anybody in the market for a good used vehicle to get a great car or truck at a very low price with no hassle. "Wholesale buyers will be represented to take trade-ins during this sale," Mr. Walters said. "We also have six business managers who will help buyers arrange low-cost financing. We've got over 5 million dollars in inventory to choose from. Our total inventory will be close to 400 used cars and trucks. We want to remind everyone that this is a one-day sale only. When our inventory has been reduced, we will remove the sale prices and return to normal operations. Since we are a local business, we would like to give back to the community," Mr. Walters said. "We would rather allow local people to buy these overstocked vehicles than wholesale them at an auction."

Oh dear, Deer are eating my garden!

What did I do?

Kentucky's large deer population can be a real nuisance when the animals start plucking fruit off backyard trees and browsing through the well-planned garden.

"Deer are highly adaptable creatures and can and do invade urban spaces. They can cause a great deal of damage to home landscapes and gardens if left unchecked," said Tom Barnes, Extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Although there are a variety of deer repellents, few work well in areas that naturally attract deer, such as fruit trees.

"A deer will strip a peach tree clean in one evening's browsing, regardless of the repellent used. A temporary electric fence, however, will keep deer at bay and allow homeowners to harvest their peaches," Barnes said.

The temporary electric fence should be placed around trees about two weeks before the anticipated harvest, he said. It can also be used to protect the home garden, and if it is strategically placed, it may be useful in keeping raccoons out of the sweet corn patch.

"Place wire high to protect against deer and a strand lower to help dissuade raccoons," Barnes said.

He said that Extension offices throughout Kentucky have copies of a publication, Managing White Tail Deer Problems, FOR $7, available for consumers to use in dealing with deer around their farms and homes.

Baseball fans: Eat and shop your hearts out

(NAPS)—Take me out to the ballgame. Buy me some peanuts and Cracker Jack...and sushi? It's no joke. In order to satisfy the fans' cravings for fun, food and entertainment, baseball stadiums are going up-scale.

"Today's fans are looking for 'a total fan experience,'" said Charlie Gillespie, president of ARAMARK's Sports and Entertainment Division, which manages food and retail services at nine major league baseball stadiums. "They want to eat great food, like crab cakes, sushi and oysters; be entertained; and even shop—right at the stadium. The days of serving just hot dogs and peanuts are long gone—and so are the days of only buying a simple pennant as a souvenir."

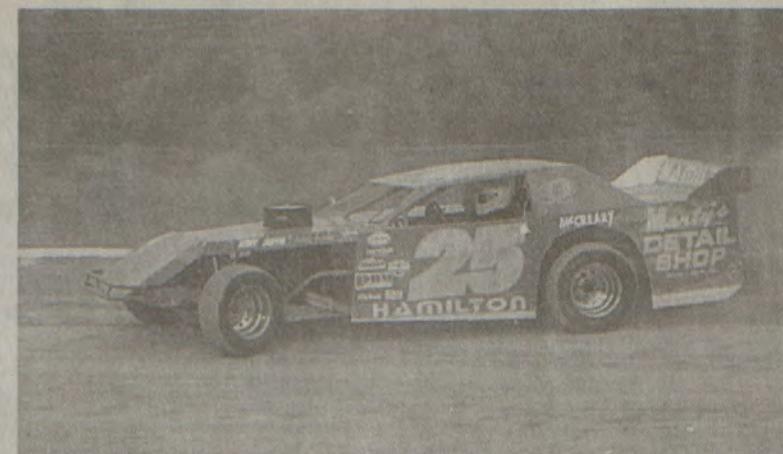

For example, this year at Turner Field in Atlanta, there's something for everyone. Fans with an appetite can dine at the Chop House Restaurant, famous for its authentic barbecue. Young fans can check out "Tooner Field," a special concession and play area for children provided by the Cartoon Network. "Shop-a-holics" can visit the 5,000 sq. ft. retail store that offers a complete selection of Braves and MLB merchandise—everything from team jewelry to luxurious leather jackets.

In Denver, ARAMARK offers Rockies fans everything from Buffalo Dogs and Buffalo Burgers to Buffalo Brat and Rocky Mountain Oysters. Coors Field also houses Rounders Restaurant at The Sandlot Brewery, the first micro-brewery located inside a sporting facility in the U.S.

ARAMARK chefs at Los Angeles' Dodger Stadium are serving West Coast favorites, including taquitos, burritos, sushi and Yoshinoya, as well as health-conscious items, such as garden burgers, pasta and vegetarian lasagna.

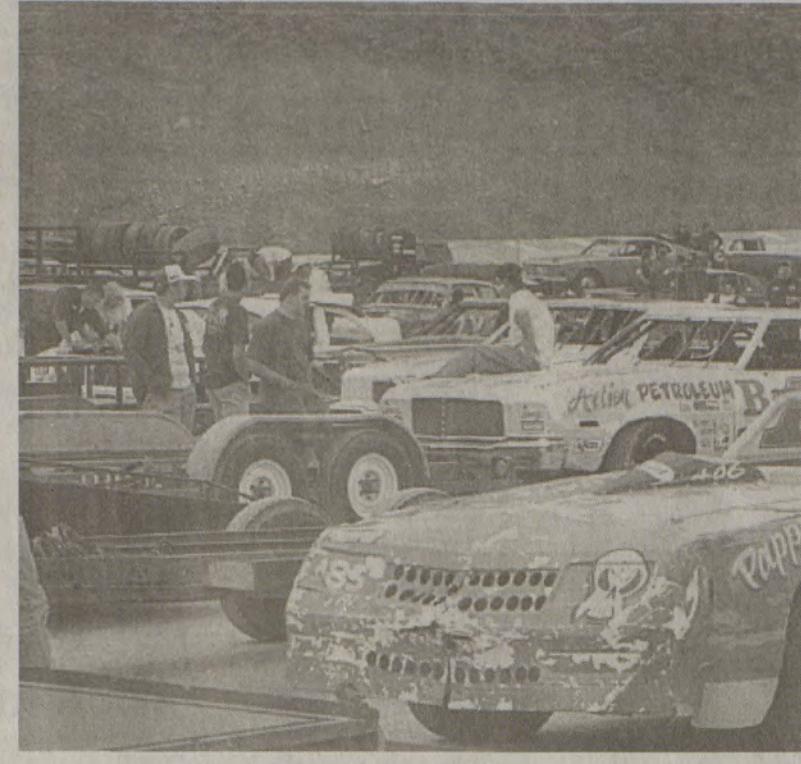

Baltimore's Oriole Park at Camden Yards features former O's star Boog Powell's Barbecue and Pit Beef, as well as fine dining at the Camden Club restaurant. Oriole fans can also choose from shrimp, crab cakes, rockfish and turkey burgers.

ARAMARK is participating in the "Taste of the Majors" program by serving local food items indigenous to each visiting team. For example, baseball fans at Turner Field will taste fish tacos when the San Francisco Giants are in town, grilled Dodger Dogs when the Los Angeles Dodgers take the field and Bison beef hot dogs to welcome the Colorado Rockies.

SPORTS IN KENTUCKY

UK-North Carolina series is a beacon at pinnacle of college basketball

Kentucky and North Carolina, a regular season home-and-home basketball series again. Finally. Let us be naive and believe Nike had nothing to do with it. Shall we?

Truth is, a UK-UNC should not be headline news. As traditional as any Celtics-Lakers match, a Wildcats-Tar Heels game each winter ought to be as natural to look forward to as the end of a Dick Vitale sentence.

Kentucky vs. North Carolina is a national basketball championship of the mind in any year. A meeting that calls for charmed eloquence, old world adjectives and name dropping (Cunningham and Worthy and Jordan ... Hagan and Givens and Issel). Yes, an event featuring the wonders of fan devotion found rarely beyond Chapel Hill and New Circle Road.

Let the television networks start the bidding.

There is one nagging element in all this rejoicing however, Lemme see if I have this straight ... the two college giants will renew a series next year that Rick Pitino directed C.M. Newton to cancel in 1991. A new 4-year deal matching the country's two winningest programs (1,720 to 1,709) is all but signed, sealed and released to media but coach Tubby Smith learned about it from a reporter? Tch, tch.

Postscript. While on the subject ... why not a Kentucky-North Carolina football series?

NO POST-GAME CALL-INS AT UK?

Officially a final decision has not been made, but UK Football and Basketball Network may dump after-game fan call-in radio programming this autumn.

Why? Official word is lack advertising sales support. But the view here is programming in its current format has gotten stale and repetitive.

Instead of junking the programming why not an innovative format change to breath new life into it? Say, a screened and selected guest fan or former Wildcat player to join talk show veterans Dick Gabriel and Tony Cruse in the WVLC studios each week. The trio would banter, set a crisp (and humorous) pace and take inquiries or points-of-view from fans off the internet. Email only.

Why is a post-game talk-show worth saving? Because it is one of a lingering few ways fans can stay linked to and involved with favorite teams and players.

UOFL FOOTBALL STADIUM

The University of Louisville's football stadium is far from being ready for the Sept. 5 opener against Kentucky, but once operational Papa John's Cardinal Stadium is going to be a state of the art entertainment facility.

"It's going to come down to the wire, but we think we'll be ready," Kenny Klein, assistant director of athletics said last week during a walk through the 42,000 seat horse-shoe-shaped facility.

"Ideally, we'd like to have some (fine tune) time, but we'll be all right," Klein added.

A separate building at the open end-zone will house administrative offices and training rooms as well as a John Unitas Museum. The stadium side of the building will feature a large scoreboard and video board for replays.

UofL fans are excited. Coming off a one-win season, Cardinal fans have bought nearly 25,000 season tickets already.

One of the most notable items about UofL's handsome new football home is it has been privately funded.

RECRUITING DEREK SMITH

According to Bob Kruel of the Ohio Football Recruiting Report, 6-6, 235-pound Derek Smith of Ft. Thomas Highlands has two names high on his college choice list. Kentucky and Ohio State. Having already offered Smith a scholarship, football coach Hal Mumme might have UK ahead of the Buckeyes, but Tubby Smith may have to do a little wooing too, much the way Rick Pitino took an active role in courting Tim Couch alongside Bill Curry.

Smith is expected to concentrate on football over his professed first love, basketball, but the two-sports standout told Kruel, while he wants to play one sport during his freshman year, he might try both later. Recruiting Smith, along with UK and OSU, are Tennessee, Penn State, Michigan and Purdue.

BITS 'N PEOPLE

• In an analysis by The Sporting News of players chosen in the NBA Draft five years ago published last week, Louisville native and Ballard High graduate Allan Houston of the Knicks was rated B-plus and extended the following high praise: "Finally fulfilling his promise. Only Michael Jordan and Reggie Miller are better shooting guards."

• Stacy Reed, more recently known as Stacy Reed-Sheppard, bride of Jeff, will be inducted into the Kentucky All-Star Hall of Fame between games during the Kentucky-Indiana All-Star series in Freedom Hall June 20. Reed was Sweet 16 MVP leading Laurel County to the State title in 1987. Starring at UK she achieved second team All-SEC honors in 1993.

• DeJuan Wheat will be inducted into the Kentucky All-Star Hall of Fame June 20 also. The affable former Ballard High and UofL star had 2,183 points and 498 assists while at Louisville. He was drafted by the Los Angeles Lakers and is expected to be with the NBA Minnesota Timberwolves next season.

• Role models. Adam Cox of Breckinridge County and Sarah Jo Koger of Richmond Model are recipients of a $2,500 scholarship each as winner of the State Sportsmanship Award. The award is sponsored by Wallace Bookstores.

• Jerry Johnson, sophomore-to-be at UofL, has left the Cardinals basketball squad. The 6-3 Atlanta native played in 24 games last season, but perhaps noting UofL recruited over him, signing three backcourt prospects among five signees, decided to leave.

• Kentucky Mr. Football and UK-bound Dennis Johnson of Harrodsburg is soon off to UK to be part of Hal Mumme's renovation project. But the 6-7, 240-pounder still says he wants to give basketball a try as well. Stay tuned.

WORTH REPEATING

Dennis Johnson, Mr. Football and UK-signee: "This has probably been the best time of my life. God blessed me with all these skills. There are a lot of other things I don't do well, but God gave me athletic ability and I've just tried to use it."

Mark McQwire, home run hitter extraordinaire (USA Today): "I wish I knew as a young player what I know now. I love this game dearly, and I wish I would hear more players say that. It took me until 1993 and '94, the years I was injured, to realize that. For the first time in my life I had to watch the game from the dugout for two years straight. It made me appreciate the ability I have to play this game."

MOHAMMED, NOWITZKI 'TURNS'

Ironic turn(s) last week. Ex-UK player Nazr Mohammed officially engaged an agent thus eliminating any return to college basketball while German Dirk Nowitzki was said to be having second thoughts about the June 24 NBA Draft despite projections he would be taken 3-4 picks ahead of Mohammed. Word is Nowitzki was again interested in enrolling at California and Kentucky.

Meanwhile, Cal has taken 6-11, 245-pound Shahar Gordon, an Israeli center. Gordon will be a non-scholarship player if Nowitzki finally arrives in Berkeley.

IMPACT ON UK LOSING NAZR?

How big a hit will it be to UK's basketball team, losing Nazr Mohammed? Mississippi State coach and Brandenburg native Rick Stansbury has the best answer. "Losing Nazr Mohammed certainly won't make it easier for Kentucky to contend for a national title or even win another Southeastern Conference championship. I won't say it won't hurt, but Kentucky won't feel the loss near as much as most places would. Because they have (Jamaal) Magloire, who is going to be a pro, too."

"(Magloire) may get 25 or 30 minutes next year instead of 12 to 15 if Nazr was back. Magloire is a lot better talent than some people realize."

DWANE CASEY: 'SURVIVOR'

It is not a done deal yet, but proving that good things come to those who (must) wait, Dwane Casey is Rick Pitino's first choice to replace assistant coach Winston Bennett.

Casey remains under contract to the NBA Sonics until July 1.

It has been a long way around for the Union County native ... to UK as a popular player to Western Kentucky and UK as an assistant coach, to leading candidate for the head job at New Orleans, then to an NCAA 5-year ban from college basketball ... now to the storied high-rise in the sport, the Boston Celtics.

PARTING SHOTS

✓ As their collective bargaining agreement runs out, NBA owners and players are on course toward a strike, but some of us see the collision as opportunity. Wouldn't it be something if fans responded in unison, "who cares?"

✓ Just Wondering Dept.

Interesting, don't you think, the deluge of plaudits showered on Larry Bird from media-types during the NBA season and playoffs. Seems the Indiana Pacers' coach sat on the bench, stood up now-and-then, and got high praise for behaving like a grown man.

And so it goes.

Vance, Ousley combine for shutout of Reds

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Larry Vance and Delmer Ousley combined for a three-hitter as the Prestonsburg Devil Rays shut out the Prestonsburg Reds 11-0 in little league baseball at Archer Park last week.

Vance worked the first two and two-thirds innings before giving way to Ousley, who hurled the final two and one-third. Vance fanned four batters while allowing one walk. He gave up two of the three hits. Ousley allowed just the one hit, hit one batter but struck out five. He did not walk anyone.

Jared McGuire suffered the setback for the Reds in five innings of work. He gave up five runs on five hits. He walked two and struck out five. John Mark Stephens went one inning for the Reds, giving up six runs on four hits. He hit two batters and walked one.

Vance retired the first eight batters he faced until Trevor Compton singled in the third inning. Matthew Scoggins reached on an error and Vance walked Shane Hatfield to load the bases, but he got McGuire on strikes to end the third-inning threat.

The Devil Rays made it a 3-0 game in the bottom of the third. Jason Hughes started the rally with a lead off double and Kyle Wicker reached on an error. Hughes scored on Vance's RBI single and Greg May walked to load the bases. Wicker and Vance scored on Allen's two-run single.

The Devil Rays scored twice in the fourth inning on May's two-run double. They added five runs in the fifth inning, sending 10 batters to the plate. Wicker had a two-run single in the inning. May also drove in one run.

Hatfield collected two of the Reds' hits. Compton had the other.

In a game played against the Braves, the Devil Rays came away with a 11-1 win behind the complete game by Greg May. May worked but four innings in the mercy win. He fanned 11 batters and walked two in giving up but two hits.

May did damage from the plate as well as he hammered a three-run home run in the second inning and had a fourth-inning triple, driving in two runs. Delmer Ousley had a RBI triple in the same inning.

The Devil Rays scored four times in each of the first two innings before plating three runs in the fourth. Vance had a two-run double in the opening inning. Chris Spears singled home a run.

With two out for the Devil Rays in the second inning, Wicker reached on an error and Vance walked setting up May's two-run blast.

Jesse Chaffin started for the Braves and went three innings, giving up eight runs on two hits. He walked four batters and struck out six. Michael Morrison went one inning, allowed three runs on two hits. He walked two.

The Braves scored their lone run in the fourth inning on a lead off single by Chaffin. Chaffin stole second and third and came home on a passed ball. Morrison had the other Braves hit.

ly learned a lot when we were there testing and we were the only team to go there and test.

"I think that we will have a bit of an advantage over the other teams because we did go test there and I was able to get some seat time. The chase for the Busch Series championship is so close that every little bit helps and because of that, it was worth the trip."

The two-day test yielded positive results for the team and, according to Sadler, Pike's Peak International Raceway should provide a good show for race fans.

"It was a great race track and real fun to drive," Sadler said. "It's a real smooth surface and real wide so it should make for some good side-by-side racing. The facilities were impressive and the people there were real nice. I'm looking forward to racing there."

While competition in Colorado is fairly foreign to the teams on the NASCAR Busch Series circuit, the track itself should not be completely foreign to the teams, according to Sandy Jones, crew chief to Sadler.

"It's kind of like a big Richmond," Jones explained. "There will be a good show to watch because the track's size should accommodate some close racing."

Aside from the two-day test session at Pike's Peak, Sadler and his team have another advantage — performance at new locations on the NASCAR Busch Series schedule.

"Pike's Peak is a new area for us and we tend to do well at new tracks," Sadler said. "Texas and Las Vegas were new tracks for us last year and we sat on the outside pole at both. Then the Busch Series went to St. Louis for the first time and we won, so we like the new tracks."

NOTE: There will be no NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series race this week. Their next event will be the Loadhandler 200 at Bristol, Tennessee.

Why not Hoss or Little Joe?

Don't you just love the English language? A few years ago Scott McCloud gave me a copy of "A Hog on Ice and Other Curious Expressions" by Charles Earle Funk, a book that explains the origins of many figures of speech; terms and phrases that I'd pretty much considered the sole property of us Eastern Kentuckians since we use them on a daily basis and fully understand what they mean.

I still have the book, of course, and I could read Funk's logical explanations pertaining to all these expressions, but sometimes I think it's much more interesting not really knowing just how they came to be. Sometimes the guessing is much more fun than the knowing for sure.

Like for instance, how many times have you heard, "I wouldn't know him from Adam," from someone referring to somebody with whom they're totally unfamiliar?

Like I said, we understand exactly what that phrase means, but why do you suppose its inventor settled on Adam? Wouldn't Hoss or Little Joe, or perhaps even Ole Ben himself, have worked just as well?

And have you ever been the "apple of someone eye?" Does that mean they think you're rotten to the core?

And why apple and why eye?" Wouldn't it have made just as much sense to be the grapefruit of one's earlobe?

Does the phrase "bringing home the bacon" refer to someone going out and stealing some poor old farmer's hog? If you "save someone's bacon" does that mean you've hidden the thief in your attic until the law left the premises?

If someone was "left holding the bag" does that mean he was milking during a thunderstorm? And if he "spills the beans" is he expected to pick, string, and cook up another potful?

All kinds of questions arise. Like, is Tom the only one who can peep? How fast can a sheep shake his tail three times? How big do you have to be too big for your breeches? And just what kind of life did Riley lead, anyway?

And wouldn't it be fun trying to figure out why folks say something is as dead as a doornail, that someone is three sheets in the wind, or is worth his salt?

Am I the only one to ever wonder what Dad really meant when he threatened to "beat the tar" out of me? He never did, of course, but if he had, would he have just gone ahead and feathered me too?

As far as the book's title, what makes anybody think that a hog would be any more independent on a half-frozen pond than, say a 'possum, or heifer?

No wonder people who attempt to learn English as a second language have such difficulty. It has to tear them all to pieces when someone accuses them of letting the cat out of the bag; paying through the nose; or being as poor as Job's turkey.

Reading Recovery program gets kids "Off To a Good Start"

by Cindy Yates
Editorial Assistant

First grade is a time of transition for children - still not quite babies, but many are already seasoned students with individual personalities who have different learning abilities.

"Tests are given in kindergarten now that can identify deficits or differences in learning," said Reading Recovery instructor Vicki Pack.

"We all learn in different ways, and the key to a child's success is to find their cues, what makes them tick, and use this to improve their grades," she said.

A child's range and experience in literature is tested in kindergarten with a battery of six or seven tests. If they are found to be in need of the program, a note is sent home to determine if the parents are interested in enrolling the child for the first grade year.

"Reading Recovery is an effective research based reading program designed to assist first grade children that are the lowest in the class in reading and writing, or need some individualized instruction to get the reading process moving in the right direction for them," said instructor Carole Rice.

Vicki Pack insists that "this is one-on-one accelerated attention."

Indeed, accelerated is the word for this program,

"Reading Recovery" teacher Vicki Pack assists Levi Plummer with his reading skills.

as in a 20-week time period teachers and parents alike cannot believe the progress their children are making.

"We see four kids a day, every day, and move them through instruction in around seven areas, so they really don't have the time to get bored or have their attention diverted," said Pack.

The theory is that early intervention prevents the need for further remediation or a cycle of failure. A child who has scored at the bottom of his class may rise to at least average in a manner of a few weeks. The children learn strategies to become independent readers and writers in first grade.

Only two teachers in the Floyd system are trained in Reading Recovery at the present: Carole Rice and Vicki Pack.

Both were trained through Morehead State University, which was funded from a grant in Region 8 and the insight of Floyd's Title I supervisor Susan Compton.

Both teachers are convinced that this program works. They see it as a possible solution to over-crowded special needs classes and the drop-out rate and discipline problems.

A parent responded to the program by saying "my child doesn't read so 'choppy' anymore, and she is happy."

These students are wanting to take home reading and writing assignments, and they are only first graders. This may be one solution in the school system that really does work.

Instructor Carole Rice goes over one of Prestonsburg Elementary's Reading Recovery programs with first grader Brandon, who exclaims "I can read 100 books in a day or night."

Blood Center Advisory Committee meets

The Prestonsburg Blood Center Advisory Committee met Thursday, March 12 to discuss ideas for bringing more donors into the Prestonsburg Center and to set timelines or action plans for those ideas.

Committee member Jim Combs said that the group needed to figure a way to "get the personal contact going since that appears to be what really motivates the public to donate."

The group agreed to develop a plan to begin in May to encourage existing donors to bring in new donors. Combs said the committee should define a donor as someone who hadn't donated in a couple of years.

Ideas for implementation included posters at the donor center, special handouts for donors, an incentive item for the recruiter and displaying the incentive. The committee also discussed the possibility of getting a local business partner for the incentive.

The Chamber of Commerce has a list of member organizations and each of these organizations has a contact person, Combs said. He suggested that the group use that list to try to establish recruitment relationships. He and Mickey Bowling, with the Central Kentucky Blood Center, agreed to meet with former Floyd County Chamber of Commerce executive director Carla Coburn prior to the next meeting with an eye toward having the list available for the committee to review at the next advisory meeting.

Sally Baker, also representing the Central Kentucky Blood Center, presented information about a blood donor education campaign entitled, "It Takes All Types." The blood center will provide free blood-type during this campaign to increase awareness about the need for blood and provide an avenue for non-donors to become familiar with the blood center.

As part of an information campaign, the committee decided to select a week in April as "Donor Education Week."

Don Hicks and Mickey Bowling suggested the blood center provide them with a letter to send to patients in the hospital using blood to encourage replacement donations. Baker said she was working on a similar letter for another hospital and planned to modify it for Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The group expressed concern about the lower than usual turnout for the meeting. Combs suggested a poll of committee members be conducted to determine if Thursday at noon is inconvenient as a meeting time.

The next meeting will be held June 11 at noon at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Attending the meeting in March were Don Hicks, Mike Webb, Jim Combs and, from the Central Kentucky Blood Center, Martha Osborne, Mickey Bowling, and Sally Baker.

The meeting was then turned over to Krekel, at which time she made her talk explaining her program entitled, "Christmas In Our Hearts All Year Round," which explained much about the Rebekah Order.

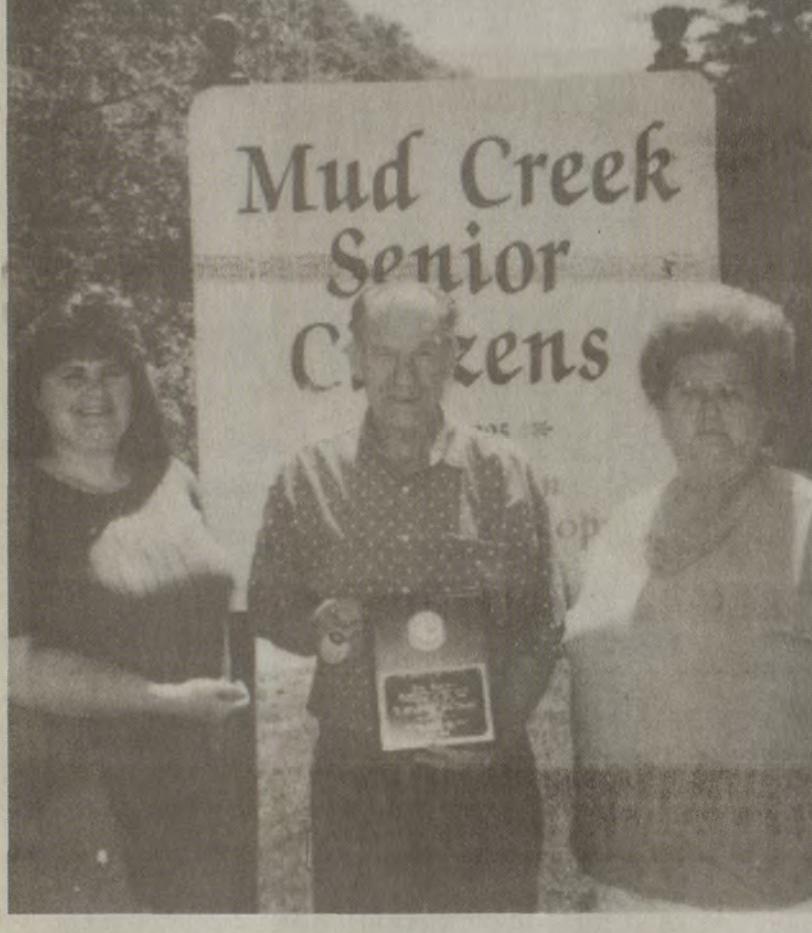

Several visitors briefly expressed their thanks for the invitation to the meeting.

Eat your greens; coping with lactose intolerance exclusives

EAT YOUR GREENS

Greens are in, both in your garden and for your health. There are hundreds of varieties of lettuce grown throughout the world, but butterhead, crisphead, leaf and Romaine are the four general classifications found in the U.S.

A general rule of thumb when shopping for lettuce is to choose crisp leaves that are free of blemishes. Wash leaves separately and drain completely or blot with a paper towel. Never allow lettuce to soak, as the water tends to soften the leaves. Refrigerate washed and dried greens in an airtight container for 3-5 days depending on the variety. All lettuce is low-calorie and most is rich in calcium, iron and vitamins A and C. The darker green the leaves, the more nutrients they contain. Serve fresh, steamed, wilted, braised, poached or stuffed.

Whatever enticing ingredients you choose for your salad, remember texture, color and taste should be balanced.

The classic structure of a salad includes a base or underliner; the body of the salad; the garnish and the dressing.

Cooked greens, such as spinach, Bok choy or Swiss chard are best when you maximize their bright green color. Cook greens for the shortest time possible and as close to time of service as possible to avoid overcooking.

Adding baking soda can revive overcooked vegetables, but can yield a slippery and soft texture and destroy most vitamins. Limiting the amount of cooking liquid also prevents nutrients from leaching out and provides a superior texture, flavor and color.

Bok choy (Chinese cabbage), broccoli, cauliflower, broccoflower, brussel sprouts, all types of cabbage and kale belong to the cruciferous family of vegetables. These contain phytochemicals that may decrease the risk of cancers, high blood pressure and heart disease. Try to include these two to three times a week in your diet.

Regionally, beet tops, collard greens, turnip greens, kale, dandelion greens and mustard greens have distinctive flavors, colors and textures. Use these as a side dish or add to gumbo, vegetable soups and stuffings. Remember, these are stronger in flavor and should be blended with complimentary flavors.

Any way you cook them, for a quick meal or a side dish, greens provide essential nutrients and a refreshing taste for these hot summer days.

COPING WITH LACTOSE INTOLERANCE

Lactose intolerance is the inability to digest significant amounts of lactose, the predominant sugar in milk. This inability is caused by a shortage of the enzyme lactase, which is usually produced in the small intestine. Lactase breaks down the milk sugar into simpler forms that can be absorbed into the bloodstream. If lactose is not broken down, it moves on into the large intestine where it is fermented by bacteria. As a result, individuals develop distressing gastrointestinal symptoms, such as gas, bloating or diarrhea. The diagnosis of lactose intolerance can only be measured by a physician by a rise in breath hydrogen, along with the accompanying symptoms.

Even if one is lactose intolerant, nutritionists advise keeping high calcium foods in the daily diet. Calcium is essential for the growth and repair of bones and teeth, and is important in preventing osteoporosis or weakening of bones. Some studies suggest the mineral also helps reduce the risk of developing high blood pressure and some forms of cancer.

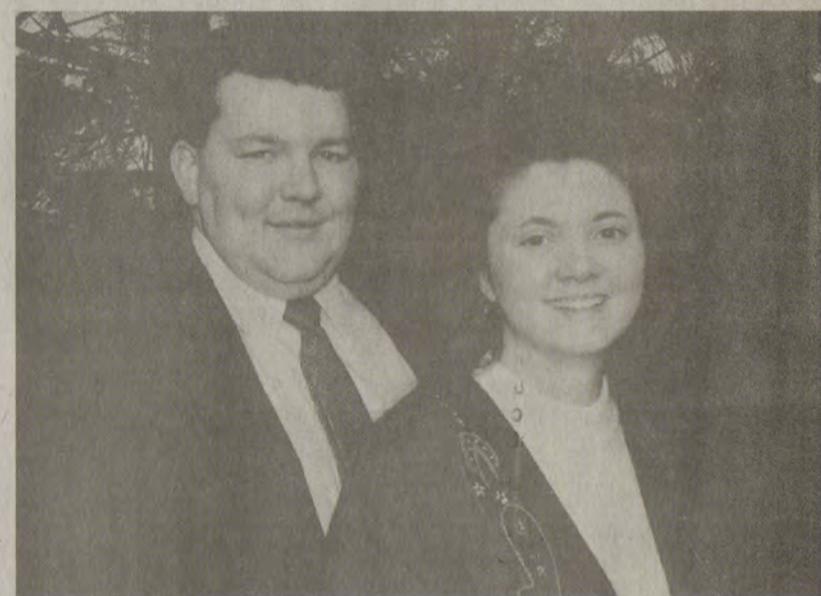

The National Institute of Health's Consensus on Optimal Calcium intake recommends an intake of 1500 mg of calcium per day for men and women ages 25 and over. Besides dairy foods, tofu and dark green, leafy vegetables are good sources of calcium.

For those who experience discomfort after consuming lactose-containing products, try these recommendations to achieve your daily recommended calcium intakes:

- Drink eight ounces or less of milk at a time and consume it as part of a meal or snack;
- Try hard cheeses, such as Swiss or Cheddar;
- Eat yogurt; and
- Look for lactose-reduced or lactose-free products in the grocery store.

Theresa Morgan-Scott

Tackett-Johnson to wed

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Tackett of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Cindy Tackett and Eric C. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Johnson of Virgie. The bride is a 1991 graduate of Prestonsburg High School and a 1995 graduate of Georgetown College, and is currently teaching at Knott County Central High School. The groom is a 1988 graduate of Virgie High School and a 1992 graduate of the University of Kentucky, and is currently an engineer at Premier Elkhorn Coal Company. The wedding will take place at Saturday, June 27, at the Enterprise Old Regular Baptist Church. A reception will be held in the luncheon room of the church. The custom of open church will be observed.

Ky. Division of Securities warn of phony assistance

The Kentucky Division of Securities is advising the public to be on guard against potentially misleading solicitations from third-party firms that purport to 'assist' shareholders with exchanging 'old' certificates for 'new' certificates following the merger of a company the shareholder has invested in. These firms do not disclose that exchange of such certificates following a merger can occur with little or no cost to the shareholder, simply by contacting the official transfer agent (usually a bank) of the company directly. When the fee charged by these third-party firms for this 'service' is taken into consideration, shareholders can suffer significant—and, in the Division's view, entirely unnecessary—monetary losses. The bottom-line: you don't need to pay someone else (like these firms) to exchange your shares for you—you can do it FOR FREE by contacting the transfer agent directly. In one case currently under investigation by the Division, the third-party firm is charging a fee of 15 percent of the value of the shares transferred. This, in spite of the fact the company shares could be exchanged for free by simply contacting the company's exchange agent, a large bank with offices in the Louisville area. The firm currently under investigation is targeting shareholders in a large Louisville company that several years ago acquired a smaller Louisville company. The targeted shareholders, as often happens following large corporate mergers, failed to exchange their certificates in the acquired company for certificates in the resulting merged company. Although the 'old' certificates in the acquired company that are held by the targeted shareholders cannot be freely traded at this time, the shareholders' equity interest in the merged company is unaffected by the fact they hold out-dated certificates.

In the misleading pitch made to these shareholders by the third-party firm, the shareholders are led to believe that they must exchange their old certificates for new ones immediately, or run the risk of losing their investment in the company. This is entirely untrue.

Worse still, shareholders are not told that they could exchange their old certificates for new ones for free simply by contacting the company's transfer agent directly. Red-flags with this type of operation include:

- Language in the firm's cover letter to shareholders that suggests that shareholders must act quickly to return their certificates because "there is no longer a market" in these shares. The firm fails to mention that there has been no "market" in the certificates since the merger, that the absence of a market at this time is nothing new, and indeed, has no bearing on the equity interest of these shareholders in the company's stock.

- Use of federal EXPRESS in sending this correspondence to shareholders and providing a prepaid package for certificates to be returned—the firm is conveying an inappropriate sense of urgency with respect to the need of the shareholders to obtain new certificates.

- The firm fails to disclose any information about the shareholder's ability to exchange old certificates for new ones, at no charge, by contacting the transfer agent directly. Remember, you don't need anyone to perform these types of share exchanges for you—you can do this for free simply by contacting the transfer agent directly.
- The fee charged by the firm is exorbitant—in some cases as much as 15 percent of the value of the shares transferred. Given that the shareholder could perform the share exchange at no charge by contacting the transfer agent directly, any fee that is more than nominal is, in the Division's view, entirely inappropriate.

The Division is requesting that any member of the public who has received this type of potentially misleading communication contact the Division's investigators at 1-800-223-2579.

Information about the work of the Division and how to avoid being a victim of an investment fraud can be obtained from the Division's website at www.df.state.ky.us.

KOUNTY KETTLE

SHIRRED CONFETTI EGGS

2 Tbs. finely-chopped green bell pepper
2 Tbs. finely-chopped red bell pepper

2 Tbs. finely-chopped sweet onion
4 whole eggs plus 4 egg whites, or egg substitute equivalent to 6 eggs

3/4 c. small curd non-fat cottage cheese
1-1/2 Tbs. snipped fresh chives
Salt and freshly ground pepper
1 Tbs. fresh basil, cut in thin ribbons

Spray a medium, non-stick skillet well with cooking spray and place over medium-high heat. Sauté the green and red pepper with the onion for 3 minutes, until just crisp-tender. Scrape the cooked vegetables into a medium bowl. Wipe out the pan and set aside.

Add the whole eggs and egg whites to the vegetables in the bowl. With a fork, beat the eggs and vegetables until well-combined. Add the cottage cheese and chives. Mix to blend. Season with the salt and pepper.

Spray the skillet again with non-stick cooking spray and place it over medium-high heat. Pour the egg-and-cheese mixture into the pan. As soon as the eggs start to set around the edges and on the bottom, scrape the egg with a pancake turner toward the center of the pan and reduce the heat to medium. Keep pushing the eggs toward the center of the pan as they set. When the eggs are fluffy and cooked through, but still moist, turn them onto a serving plate. Garnish with the basil and serve immediately.

PINTO BEANFUL

3-4 romaine lettuce leaves, cut crosswise into 1/2-in strips, about 1 c.

1 Tbs. extra virgin olive oil
1/3 c. chopped onion

2 c. cooked pinto beans, or one (15-oz.) can, drained and rinsed
1 med. tomato, seeded and diced
1/3 c. diced seedless cucumber, not peeled

1 Tbs. chopped Italian parsley
1 Tbs. fresh lemon juice
Salt and freshly ground pepper
4 pieces warm pita bread

Arrange the lettuce to cover a serving plate and set aside.

In a medium, non-stick skillet, heat the oil over medium-high heat. Sauté the onion until slightly soft, about 4 minutes.

Add the beans, mashing about half of them coarsely with a fork. Add the tomato, cucumber, and parsley. Mix until some of the mashed beans are creamy, and the mixture is warmed through, but not hot. Remove from the heat.

Some Really Good Chicken?
Isnt It Time For
Some Really Good Chicken?

Mix in the lemon juice. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spread the beans over the lettuce and serve immediately. Pass the warmed pita bread separately.

GRILLED BLACK BEAN PATTIES

2 tsp. canola or vegetable oil
1 red onion, chopped
2 scallions, including greens, minced

2 garlic cloves, minced
1 Tbs. grated orange zest
2 tsp. ground cumin
2 tsp. ground coriander
1/4 cup minced fresh cilantro
2 tsp. red wine vinegar
2 c. cooked or canned black beans, drained
1 c. cooked medium-grain brown rice
6 pita pockets or burger buns
Salsa (optional), for garnish
Sautéed Vidalia onions (optional)

Heat the oil in a medium skillet over medium-high heat, swirling the pan to coat the bottom. Add the onion, scallions, garlic, orange zest, cumin, coriander, and cilantro. Turn the heat down to medium-low and sauté, stirring often, until the vegetables have softened, about 7 minutes. Stir in the vinegar and the beans, and continue cooking until the mixture is dry, and the beans mash easily, about 10 minutes. Remove from the heat.

Heat a charcoal, gas or stovetop grill. Transfer the bean mixture to a small mixing bowl, and add the rice, using your hands to blend it in with the beans. Shape the mixture into 6 patties. Grill each patty over hot coals or on a stovetop grill until lightly browned on both sides, about 10 minutes altogether. Serve in pita or buns garnished with salsa and/or sautéed Vidalia onions.

EGGPLANT PIZZA

1/4 cup vegetable oil
1 small eggplant, diced (about 4 cups)

2 medium-size onions, sliced (about 2 cups)
1 large green bell pepper, cut into strips (about 1 cup)
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dried oregano
1 pound frozen bread dough, thawed
1 15 1/2 oz. jar pizza sauce
1 8 oz. package mozzarella cheese, grated (about 2 cups)

Heat oven to 450°F. In 12-inch skillet over medium heat, heat oil. Add eggplant, onions, green pepper, garlic, salt and oregano; cook about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally until tender. Grease jelly roll pan or 14-inch round pizza pan. Pat bread dough into pan, forming crust with 1-inch-wide rim. Bake 10 minutes. Remove from oven; using wide spatula, press down dough in center of pizza, leaving rim standing high. Top with pizza sauce, vegetable mixture and cheese. Bake 5 minutes until cheese is melted and mixture is hot and bubbly. Makes 6 servings.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH SUMMER SQUASH

Use small tomatoes with bottoms that will sit flat when you serve them.

6 small tomatoes (2 to 2 1/2 inches in diameter)

Salt and freshly ground black pepper, to taste

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped garlic
2 1/2 cups coarsely grated unpeeled yellow summer squash
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Set the oven at 350°F. Remove the stem ends from the tomatoes along with the pulp and seeds. Discard the seeds from the pulp. Coarsely chop the pulp and set it aside. Salt and pepper the tomatoes and turn them upside-down on a plate to drain. Heat the butter or margarine in a skillet and cook the onion and garlic for 3 minutes or until the onion is soft but not brown. Remove the pan from the heat and stir in the chopped tomato, bread crumbs, grated squash, salt and pepper to taste and 1 tablespoon spoon of the cheese. Return the pan to the heat for 1 minute just to warm the stuffing without cooking it. Fill each tomato with some of the stuffing and set the tomatoes in a small roasting pan. Sprinkle them with the remaining Parmesan cheese and bake them for 15 to 20 minutes or until they are heated through. Serve at once. Serves 6.

CREAM CHEESE AND PECAN-COATED GRAPES

1/3 cup (3 ounces) garlic and herb spreadable cheese, room temperature

1/2 cup (4 ounces) cream cheese, softened, room temperature

8 ounces (about 50 grapes) red or green seedless grapes, washed and dried well

6 ounces pecans, chopped fine
Mix cheese in food processor until smooth. Transfer to small bowl. Roll grapes in cheese mixture until coated and drop onto nuts until covered. Place grapes on wax paper-lined tray. Refrigerate 1 hour.

SUMMER MUESLI

1 c. rolled oats, not quick or instant

1/4 c. chopped dried apricots

2 Tbs. dried currants

2 Tbs. sunflower seeds

2 Tbs. toasted wheat germ

1 peach, pitted and chopped

1/2 c. fat-free yogurt

Pinch of salt (optional)

In a medium bowl, combine the oats, dried apricots, currants, sunflower seeds and wheat germ. This can be done the night before and set aside, covered.

For a creamy, European-style muesli, gently combine the dry grain mixture with the peach, and yogurt, plus salt (if using), with the oat mixture, the night before serving. Cover and refrigerate; this cereal keeps for 2 days.

For a slightly crunchy muesli, add the fresh fruit and yogurt to the grain for 15-30 minutes before serving.

MOZZARELLA TOMATO PANZANELLA SALAD

1 pound (1 loaf) day-old crusty rustic Italian bread

2 garlic cloves, split

5-6 medium (about 1 pound) very ripe tomatoes, coarsely chopped and juice

1 cup (7 ounces) fresh mozzarella, diced

1/2 cup (3 ounces) Fontina cheese, diced

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

1/2 small red onion, thinly sliced
1 large cucumber (about 1/2 pound), peeled, seeded and coarsely chopped

1/2 cup loosely packed Italian parsley, finely chopped, or 2 tablespoons dried parsley

1 cup packed fresh basil leaves, coarsely chopped

2/3 cup Italian dressing

6 cups mixed greens, washed and torn

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. To dry bread out, slice into 1-inch thick pieces and place on cookie sheet. Bake in oven 5-10 minutes per side until dry, but not browned.

Rub split garlic cloves over both sides of bread slices and inside of large serving dish. Cut or tear bread into large bite-sized pieces. Add tomatoes and juice. Sprinkle with half of each of fresh mozzarella and Fontina cheese. Season with salt and pepper. Add red onion and cucumber. Sprinkle with remaining mozzarella and Fontina.

Season with salt and pepper. Add parsley and basil. Drizzle Italian dressing over salad. Top with greens and cover. Do not refrigerate, but place in cool spot for 1 hour to develop flavors. Toss well just before serving.

1/4 cup lemon juice

In blender jar, place toasted sesame seed, oil, garlic and salt; cover. With blender at high speed, gradually add lemon juice and water through center of blender cover. Blend until smooth, stopping several times to scrape down sides of blender jar. Add eggplant. Cover and blend until smooth, stopping several times to scrape down sides of blender jar.

Add eggplant. Spoon into bowl. Stir in parsley. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours or until chilled. Serve with crackers or wedges of pita bread. Makes about 3 cups.
