FUNDS PROVIDED FOR BEAVER ROAD

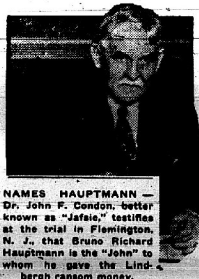

Completion of Paving Here Urged; Turnpike Visit County, View Projects

Fifty thousand dollars will be set aside at once for grade and drain construction of the Left Beaver highway from McDowell to Wheelwright, the state highway commission at its meeting last week promised the Floyd county delegation upon completion of the project. By the time this amount is expended, the commission further assured the delegation, the remaining sum promised to completion of the route will be ready.

Though no definite date for letting of the contract has been set, county officials are hopeful that bids will be asked soon. They have assured highway officials that there will be no delay because of right-of-way difficulties.

Mayor A. C. Carter made a plea before the commission for completion of the unpaved stretch of the Mayo Trail at the upper end of Prestonsburg. Highway Commissioner Turner is to come to this county soon, it is said, to inspect both the Left Beaver project and the "missing link" here.

Members of the delegation from this county who appeared before the highway commission were County Judge W. C. Stumbo, County Attorney Forrest D. Short, Sheriff M. T. Stumbo, Jailer B. L. Sturgill, County Superintendent Ballard Hunter, Magistrates Jim Clark and Willie Hall, Mayor A. C. Carter, C. C. Stumbo, Douglas Hays, Joe P. Tackett and Taubee Hamilton.

PIERCY UNDER ARREST

Lawrence Piercy, who was pardoned several months ago by Governor Laffoon from a 20-year pen term given him when convicted in the Johnson circuit court of the robbery of the Paintsville National Bank, was arrested early Sunday morning with a woman in an Ashland hotel on a warrant charging them with adultery.

PUBLICATION OF AUDIT ORDERED

Complete Recapitulation of Four Years' Work To Be Covered

The Floyd county board of education at its meeting here Monday last week, voted to have published the audit made a few months ago of the board's financial receipts and disbursements during the past four years. This will be the first comprehensive audit ever published by that body.

Agreeing to pay half of the salaries of teachers in the high school here, which is operated jointly by the county and city, on the county teacher salary schedule, which is higher than the pay schedule of the city board of education.

Joe P. Tackett, former county attorney, was employed as legal adviser to the board. The Hunter school site was sold to Pet Sainsbury for $12.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF MARRIAGE OF MISS ELAM AND MR. MAY

Announcement is made of the marriage here on December 30 of Miss Frances Louise Elam and Mr. Samuel May. Miss Elam, of Lexington, Ky., and is a granddaughter of Judge and Mrs. A. T. Patrick, of Prestonsburg. She is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school, and her college education was obtained at the University of Kentucky. Mrs. May has been a teacher in the Prestonsburg schools for two years.

Mr. May is a member of one of Floyd county's most prominent families, being a son of Chief of Police Lee P. May, of Prestonsburg. For the past eight years he has been in the U. S. naval service, being located at Norfolk, Va., at present. Following the nuptial ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. May left on their honeymoon, visiting Cincinnati and other points of interest. Both Mr. and Mrs. May are among this section's best young people, and they have the best wishes of a host of friends.

MOUNTAIN DENTAL SOCIETY IN MEET

Dr. Ratliff Elected President of Organization; Eighteen Dentists Attend

MAY DECLARE FOR PRIMARY

Is First Congressman to Reply to Democratic Editors' Questionnaire

Cynthiana, Ky.—Joe Costello, editor of the Cynthiana Democrat and secretary of the Kentucky Democratic Editors Association, today received from Congressman A. J. May an answer to the questionnaire sent by the association to all Democratic Congressmen to ascertain their stand on the question of a primary or convention for the selection of the party's nominees. Mr. May answered that he strongly favors a primary. Mr. May was the state highway commissioner at the time of the questionnaire, but replies are expected from the others within the next few days.

The primary convention question will be settled by the Democratic State Central Executive Committee which is expected to meet toward the close of this month. Attorney General Bailey T. Wootton, chairman of the committee, has not yet made public the date of the meeting.

Eight of the 11 men generally considered as aspirants or at least possibilities for the gubernatorial nomination already have voiced their approval of the of the primary system, while three have not answered the questionnaire. They are Mr. Wootton, Mr. Rhea, Russellville, chairman of the first Congressional to and State Treasurer Elam.

WORK SURVEY IN DISTRICT IS MADE

Martin Waterworks Project Nears Completion; Registration of Unemployed Large

From December 1, 1934 till January 9, this year, appropriations for PWA projects in four counties of this district totaled $139,129, on which 218 men, 52 of whom were veterans, have been employed, according to W. A. Peterman, district manager of the National Re-Employment Service. One of these is the Martin waterworks project, which is approximately 90 per cent complete. This project was started October 9, and has furnished employment for 92 men, 14 of whom are veterans, according to Mr. Peterman.

Work on the Hindman-Lockey road in Knott county started Jan. 2 as another PWA project. Fifty-two men have been placed at work under the Re-Employment Service on this job, which consists of gravel surfacing of the road. Of this number, 32 are veterans. Fifty more men probably will be needed, Mr. Peterman stated.

Work on state highway projects is under way in Pike, Breathitt, Letcher and Perry counties. Though contractors on this type of work are not required to hire through the Re-Employment Service, job placements have been made through the Re-Employment office.

PWA projects will be started in Breathitt, Leslie, Wolfe, Perry and Pike counties following February 1.

It is suggested by Mr. Peterman that all unemployed not already registered should write him at Pikeville.

MRS. ALEX MARTIN SUCCUMBS, AGED 67

Mrs. Alex Martin died Tuesday at her home at Estill at the age of 67 years. She was a member of a well-known Knott county family and her husband, who died four years ago, were among the best citizens of the upper Right Beaver section.

Surviving her are several children, John H. Martin, of Garrett, C. H. Martin, Neon, and by the following brothers and sisters:

Mrs. C. Hays, Estill; Mrs. Anna Davis, Estill; Mrs. Mary Edwards, Estill; Mrs. Minnie D. Smith, Knott county; Mrs. Myrtle Pigman, Whitesburg; C. H. Martin (son Neon); Will Martin, Blackey; D. K. Martin, Florida.

WICKER NAMED HEAD OF FLOYD MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Floyd County Medical Society met at the Floyd county health department Monday, and elected the following officers: Dr. M. V. Wicker, Wayland, president; Dr. O. T. Stephens, Prestonsburg, vice-president; Dr. J. G. Archer, Secretary-treasurer.

Next meeting of the society will be held January 30 at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, at 2 p. m. All physicians of the county are urged to make an effort to attend this and subsequent meetings and help to make this organization one of the best of its kind in the state.

Harry Leabrey, of Baltimore, Md., spent Monday of this week in Prestonsburg conferring with representatives of various gas companies.

FORMER MARTIN MAN NAMED IN INDICTMENT

C. E. "Brownie" James, railroad man, formerly of Martin, was indicted by the grand jury of the Greenup circuit court Monday on involuntary manslaughter charge in connection with the death at Raceland on October 8 of Thomas Wylie.

Wylie died as the result, it was held, of a slap administered by James after the two had quarreled over the Wylie children's pet rabbit which James' bird-dog had chased. James' bond was set at $3,000.

FARMERS FROM 17 COMMUNITIES HERE

Attendance of 60 farmers representing 17 Floyd county communities at the Farmers' meeting held in the office of County Agent S. L. Isbell Wednesday last week, indicates greater interest in agriculture in Floyd county than has been hitherto shown.

Plans for improving agricultural conditions in Floyd county were laid at the meeting. Ralph Kinney, crops specialist, discussed improved pastures, placing emphasis upon the importance of Korean clover; S. C. Jones, soils specialist, showed how farming can be done on fewer acres by using lime; and legumes to improve the soil.

W. C. Wilson, district county agent, outlined the cornhog program for 1935. W. W. Magill, of the department of horticulture, pointed the way to a source of income from small fruits and orchards, and means of deriving profits from farm poultry flocks were discussed by E. E. Harris, of the poultry department, Kentucky Experiment Station.

LADIES' NIGHT TO BE OBSERVED BY KIWANIS CLUB HERE ON FRIDAY

The annual Ladies' Night of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Valley Inn, it is announced by C. D. Milby, club president.

This is the Kiwanis Club's anniversary week in Prestonsburg. The club was founded here in 1913.

Attendance at this Ladies' Night dance is expected to be the largest in several years.

Dr. Leonard Riggelman, president of Morris-Harvey College, Barbourville, W. Va., and also president of the Huntington Kiwanis Club, will be the guest speaker of the evening.

SON OF FORMER FLOYD COUPLE TAKEN BY DEATH

Jack, 15-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall May, of Cincinnati, died Monday. Body of the little victim was taken to Maytown for burial in the family cemetery. The baby was the grandson of the late David May, and its mother is the former Miss Narcissus Craft, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Craft.

Moody Meyers returned Monday from Baltimore, where he had spent the preceding two weeks on business.

Farmers Believe Long-Lost Silver Mine Located

Freeling, Va.—Albert Lipps and Aubrey Boyd, Osborne Gap farmers, believe the long lost Hick Baker silver mine has been located near Big Lack Gap, on the south side of Cumberland Mountain, two miles from Freeling.

The two recently accompanied a mineralogist, who had what the natives call a mineral road, on a protracted search for the mine. Finally, they say, the road pointed to a spot near mouth of a rocky cavern where when a slight opening was made, unmistakable evidences of silver were found.

Just before the Civil War, Hick Baker, a native of the Cumberland, claimed he had found an outcropping of silver in the neighborhood of where he lived. At the beginning of the war he moved with his family to Louisiana, Ky., which seems to have been a haven for those who desired to remain neutral. He returned home after the war, but was never able to again find what he described as "a veritable bed of silver." He spent the remainder of his life searching for it, finally drifting into harmless insanity. He died 40 years ago. Mountain settlers have from time to time sought the mine without success.

Old settlers on Shelby Creek just across the line in Pike county, who were living prior to the beginning of the present century lent credence to Baker's story when they told of seeing him bring large chunks of silver to a blacksmith shop on Shelby before the Civil War.—Claude F. Beverly in the Pike County News.

There is excepted from said lands out of said and not hereinbefore excepted, the following, to-wit: from the fire clay, pottery clay, water, slate, metal ores and all mineral and subterranean products, and the oil, gas, salt and sand and all mineral waters, and all subterranean products, and the tract of land hereinbefore described, together with full right to enter upon said lands by the parties of the first part, agents, servants and employees, and their agents, servants and employees to make exploration for and to mine, dig, drill for, pump, store, remove and manufacture therefrom the oil, gas, salt, fire clay, pottery clay, water, mineral ores and all mineral and subterranean products, and the oil, gas, salts and salt and mineral waters and all subterranean products therein, therof and hereunder.

There is also excepted and reserved from and out of said land, and not herein conveyed the exclusive right of way over said land and every part thereof, to construct, maintain and keep in repair and operate and all railroads, tramroads, haulroads, mines, canals, waterways, coke ovens, dams and pipe lines deemed necessary or convenient by the parties or the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns, to mine, manufacture, drill for, pump, store or remove said products from or out of said land or take from or out of any other land owned, or in which the aforementioned substances and products are owned, leased or otherwise held by parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns.

There is also excepted to the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns the right to erect and maintain upon said land hereinafter described, and to all improvements thereon, including houses, shops, buildings, tanks, derricks, stables, dams, coke ovens, stores and warehouses, telephone, telegraph and electrical lines necessary or convenient for any successful operation, removal, reduction, conversion, refining or manufacturing of said products, in, upon or under said land, owned or hereafter acquired by the parties of the first part, their heirs, vendees and assigns, and the right to dump and store on or leave upon said land any mud, bone, shale or any other refuse from said mines, wells or ovens or wastes; and the right to remove any and all pillars or any other lateral and adjacent support without leaving pillars or other thing to support the roof of mines or surface. There is also excepted to the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns the right to take from such land, such of the standing timber thereon, not exceeding 14 inches in diameter, as may be necessary for mining purposes, from the land at the time of the use thereof. There is granted and conveyed to the parties of the second part the right to use their personal household use, said not to interfere with other mining operations.

ALTITUDE

By Rev. Josef Nordenhaug

It is a well-known fact that one of the ways of avoiding thunder clouds and local storms in flying is to rise above the clouds into fair weather. The flier selects his altitude where he has favorable wind and best visibility. A few days ago, Mr. Doolittle broke the transatlantic record by flying "blind." That is to say, flying by the instruments, only not having any chance to observe landmarks on earth on account of the clouds beneath him.

You may wonder why I use such an introduction, but it is my firm belief that there is higher an altitude in which we may avoid the storms and clouds which look so threatening from beneath. On a rainy, gloomy day we are prone to forget that the sun is shining above the clouds. So the art of life may be called in a figurative sense the art of gaining altitude, the art of achieving a broad vision unhampered by trifles magnified in a gloomy local atmosphere.

I recall the story of another flier who after taking off detected a mysterious sound somewhere in his plane. Finally, it burst upon his mind that the sound he heard was that of rat gnawing on the woodwork or the canvas in the plane. Seated as he was in his cockpit, it was impossible for him to chase the rat or kill it or even to determine the amount of damage it was doing. He had no landing field below and instinctively knew the danger he was in. So it flashed upon his mind that if the atmospheric pressure was reduced sufficiently the rat would be unable to live. So he moved his control stick and started climbing, steadily gaining altitude. Higher and higher he went! At last he was so high that he felt his ears ringing and his head aching from the low atmospheric pressure, but the sound of the gnawing rat had subsided. He had saved his plane from further damage by this uninvited rodent.

The art of life, I have said, is the art of gaining altitude. And altitude broadens the vision and kills the rat. Let us aim high and refuse to be hampered by gloomy clouds or destructive vermin.

May I recommend to you an excellent manual dealing with the art of gaining altitude? It is called the Bible.

possible help in a field where there are so many needs. It is the continued efforts of all which does the job.

In the past year over 500 families have received aid in some manner. Everything from needles and thread to beds and mattresses have been provided for the needy.

SHORTY HARRIS

A romantic figure was the old "desert rat" of the West. Forever hunting for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, his heart set upon finding fortune—and, once that fortune found, heart and soul set upon spending it "gloriously"—he wore rags which were a cloak of romance.

Those who have read of the vicissitudes of these lonely searchers for gold, of their successes and failures, will find the following editorial, written by Earle R. Clemens, editor of The News, Terra Bella, Calif., of absorbing interest:

Another old sour dough has gone west. Frank "Shorty" Harris, the man who discovered more gold at Grass Roots than perhaps any prospector who ever graced the sagebrush of Nevada and California, is dead. This time the news of his demise is the truth and not fiction, for Shorty Harris has passed on to that far off and undiscovered country where, we are told, there are cities, the gates of which are pearls and the streets of which are gold!

And the shifting sands of Death Valley across which Shorty Harris pushed his burros many a time, have swallowed him up, for at his own request he was buried there this week beside the remains of an old pal, Jim Dayton, who preceded him in death forty years ago. And there is not even a slab to mark his last resting place.

To those of us who remember Shorty Harris in the heyday of his career, the death of this romantic little man brings a tinge of regret, even in spite of the fact that we realize that sooner or later even the most sturdy of pioneers, the trail blazers and the gold finders must give up the chase and lay down their implements of toil.

Shorty Harris was a jovial fellow, with a smile in his eye, a smile on his lips, and with plenty of humor at his command. He was right at home prodding a couple of arros across the desert, and his exaggerated stories about his beasts of burden found their way into many a mining camp recital in the press.

He not only prospected but he found gold and plenty of it. The Bullfrog district owes its birth to the fact that Shorty and his friend Cross broke off a few pieces of quartz, streaked with green and yellow on the Original Bullfrog mine in Nye county, Nevada, back in 1904. History was written rapidly, from then on. And while the Bullfrog district boomed as a gold camp, and Rhyolite, now the "ghost city of the desert" flourished, and while Greenwater, California, just over the line, took on all the aspects of a big copper camp, Shorty kept right on prospecting, and found the outcrops above Emigrant Springs which revived gold mining in the panamints at Skidoo.

What he gained from all of these finds lasted him for the moment. He would go through a fortune as neatly as any man ever lifted a four-finger drink of old rye to his lips. But at that Shorty Harris wasn't a drinking man. He was at it only now and then, for the real Shorty was for the most part in the ascendency.

Shorty Harris didn't have an enemy so far as we know, in all the sagebrush land between Tonopah and Ballarat. Everybody liked him, for he was good to everybody whom he met. He was the typical desert rat, finding gold today, spending it tomorrow, and ever and anon looking for more.

Of fame he had a plenty; of fortune he had enough, at times, to buy a king's ransom; of friends, all too many in happier days and still enough to provide him shelter and cheer in his old age.

MARTIN FIVE LOSES AND WINS OVER WEEK-END

Martin, Ky., Jan. 15.—After decisively defeating the Prestonsburg Blackcats at Prestonsburg a few days earlier, the Martin Purple Flash went to Elkhorn City Friday night and met the strong Cumberland five who proved to be the strongest team met during the present season by the Martin team. Last year, Elkhorn City held the championship of District 60, and this year have practically the same line-up. The team is built around their star player and center, Deskins. It was just too much for Martin, as he tallied 16 of his team's points. The two teams will meet again on the Martin floor, February 23.

Saturday night, the Auxier team came to Martin and lost, 23-9. The game started slow and uninteresting, with Auxier in the lead. The Purple Flash showed signs of the strain of the game on the previous night and the half ended 3-6, for the visitors. In the second half the home boys began to click and scored 16 points to their opponents' none. The zone defense displayed by the Auxier team had the Martin boys puzzled for a time, as it was the first they had faced this season.

Friday night, the strong Wheelwright team comes to Martin to battle the Purple Flash. The upper Beaver Creek boys have been running up some high scores on their opponents this season. This will be two high-scoring teams pitted against each other; but, according to dope, the visitors should emerge victorious by a small margin. Martin will be able to place its strongest team of the season on the floor Friday night as Click, a high-scoring forward, will be eligible to play.

Mr. Costello pointed out that the Kentucky Democratic Editors' Association, which has been battling for a primary, is not affiliated with any candidate, of any commercial, political or farmers organization in its campaign for a primary and that the association will carry on its campaign without the aid of any sort.

The newspaper which are members of the association are in favor of a primary as a matter of principle and because they believe a primary to be the best interests of the public," Mr. Costello said.

Press Group Wants Primaries

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 10.—Appealing on behalf of the mass of voters of Kentucky, the West Kentucky Press Association today sent letters to every member of the State Central and Executive Committees of both Democratic and Republican parties, urging them to work and vote for a primary this year for the selection of party candidates for state offices.

The letter stated it was a non-partisan movement in the interest of better government and pointed out that the great bulk of the voters in West Kentucky want a primary. Under the State law, primaries for county and district offices are compulsory, but the state committee of each party can decide whether to hold a convention or primary for state offices.

The West Kentucky Press Association is composed of newspaper editors and publishers of the First and Second Congressional Districts. The letter was signed by A. Robbins, The Courier, Hickman, chairman; G. M. Pedley, Lyon County Herald, Eadyville, and J. L. Bradley, The Enterprise, Providence, president of the association.

For several years the West Kentucky Press Association has been advocating a compulsory primary bill, such as the one that passed the Senate at the last session of the Legislature, but lost by a few votes in the House.

The letter read as follows: At a meeting of the State Executive Committee of your party we are appealing to you on behalf of the great mass of voters in our beloved Kentucky to work and vote for a primary this year for the selection of party candidates for state offices.

"The West Kentucky Press Association, composed of newspaper editors and publishers of the First and Second Congressional Districts of Kentucky, has gone on record as demanding a primary for the selection of party candidates for state offices this year, and also for the passage of the bill making it compulsory that primaries be held in the future. This is absolutely non-partisan and none of us have any personal or selfish axes to grind in this matter.

"As a citizen interested in your party, your state and your nation, you know that a convention disfranchises the great bulk of the rank and file of your party, particularly the women voters. You know that the primary is one of the fundamentals of government by the people. We hardly need to point out to you the advantages of a primary over a convention, but we do want to say to you that the voters of our section of the state have now come to see these things and that the great bulk of them want the primary.

"At the time the West Kentucky Press Association passed this resolution and appointed this committee to contact you in the interest of a primary, there was little or nothing heard of the issue, but today the great wave of sentiment that is sweeping the state in favor of a primary shows that we accurately gauged the sentiment of the people. So we sincerely hope that you will give serious consideration to this letter and when the time comes you will vote in favor of holding a primary for the selection of candidates for state offices, and that you will also interest yourself in working for the passage of the compulsory primary bill at the next General Assembly."

INDO-VIN WAS AMAZING TO ME

"What I Needed For My De-ranged Organs," He Says; All the Misery Is Gone

Mr. Howard M. Kenzie, 312 Harrison Avenue, Lexington, Ky., is now adding his name to the long list of well-known people who are publically praising the new, scientific mixture of

Mr. McKenzie Hughes Drug

Following is this widely-known man's statement: "For a period of about three years I had almost been a 'wreck in health,'" said Mr. McKenzie. "I was ALWAYS feeling bilious with pains in my back. I also had rheumatism in my legs and the joints of my knees were so stiff and sore that whenever I walked I would simply FLINCH with the agony."

"I tried medicine after medicine and none of them ever reached my trouble at all, but finally I found Indo-Vin and it proved to be what I had ALWAYS NEEDED! This medicine certainly had a wonderful action on my liver and I never have bilious spells or headaches any more. It put an end to the soreness and misery across my kidneys. The joints of my knees are limbered up now and I don't have a touch of rheumatism in my body. This medicine is the most wonderful thing of the kind that I ever HEARD OF and I am glad to publicly endorse it to all who suffer."

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in Prestonsburg at HUGHES' DRUG STORE

Representatives Wanted

We want two men with cars to represent us in Floyd county. Nothing to sell. Just call on merchants and explain our service. Good income assured for small amount of work. Write for details. Tri-State Collection Service, Divisional Office, Paintsville, Ky.

Mrs. Leva Clark returned home Sunday from Louisville where she has just completed a three-weeks brush-up course in beauty culture. She hopes to be able to give her customers something new in this line of work. Mrs. Clark is back in her shop ready for work. For appointment call 220.

THE AUTO MAY GET YOU

According to statistics should the present habits of people and automobiles continue one person out of each 100 in Prestonsburg who read these lines will die as the result of an automobile accident during 1935.

Maybe the above sentence will bring a realization of exactly how dangerous the motor vehicle has become, and convince you that all automobile fatalities should be rigorously investigated.

More than that, every automobile collision should be recorded and drivers examined and, when proper, prohibited from operating any automobile.

All drunkards should be barred from the highways.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for January 20 PETER'S LESSON IN HUMBLE SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—John 13:1-17; 1 Peter 5:5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder, for all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility, for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Jesus Washed Peter's Feet.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Peter Learned a Lesson.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Dignity of Lowly Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Serving Christ Through Serving Others.

1. Christ's Amazing Love for His Own (vv. 1-13).
Jesus was fully conscious of what was immediately before him. He knew that the cross, with all its shame and anguish, was upon him; he knew that his disciples would shamefully forsake him in a few hours; he knew that one of that number would be the instrument in the hands of the devil in his betrayal; he was fully conscious of his duty; he knew that all things were in his hands. He did not withdraw his love from them because of their weakness and the shameful failure which he knew would soon be made manifest. He not only loved them to the end of his earthly ministry, but loved them unto the "extremity." The word "end," means "uttermost." Love to the uttermost therefore means that he bestowed upon them his love, even to the extent of taking their place in death.

2. Christ Washing the Disciples' Feet (vv. 13-17).
He did not regard his hands too holy to do this menial service. The true Christian does not allow his rank to society to keep him from acts of lowly service.

1. Steps in this service (v. 4-6).
a. He rose from supper.
b. Laid aside his garments.
c. Took a towel and girded himself.
d. Poured water into a basin.
e. Washed his disciples' feet.
f. Wiped them with the towel where-with he was girded.

These steps symbolize Christ's entire work of redemption. The risen Lord, as a man, represents his riding from his place of enjoyment in the heavenly glory. His laying aside his garments symbolized his putting aside his robe of majesty (Phil. 2:7-9). His girding himself symbolized his taking the form of a servant (Phil. 2:7-9). His pouring water into the basin symbolized his cleansing blood; his washing of the disciples' feet, his eternal cleansing of them through his baptism (Eph. 5:26); his taking his garments again, his returning to his place and position in glory.

2. Peter's impetuous ignorance (vv. 6-9).
When he realized what the Lord was doing, he refused to have his feet washed; when he realized the peril of refusal, he desired to be fully washed.

3. The significance of this service to those participating in it (v. 8-11).
a. It is a spiritual cleansing (v. 8). Fellowship with Jesus is possible only as we are continuously cleansed from our sin (v. 10). The cleansing here is not the washing of regeneration, but that of sanctification. He that is regenerated, that is, washed in the blood of Christ (symbolized by baptism) does not need a repetition of the act; he only needs the cleansing of sanctification, symbolized by the washing of the feet. After regeneration the believer is continually being cleansed by his sins as he walks through this world. Christ's blood cleanses of all sins those who confess them.

b. A badge of brotherly affection (v. 14). This act showed Christ's abandonment to the service of his disciples. It is a lesson much needed today. We need more and more to practice brotherly love.

c. An expression of humility (v. 15). This was a lesson much needed by the disciples, and much needed by us today. They had just been disputing as to who should be the greatest in the kingdom. Thus their selfish ambition was expressing itself. On every hand we see manifestations of rivalry, vanity, and even arrogance, of those who are professed followers of the lowly Jesus.

d. Equalization (v. 16). The disciples thus stooping to serve each other in the name of Jesus Christ will have burned out of them the caste spirit.

11. An Example for Us (vv. 14-17).
The disciples of the Lord are under solemn obligation in the spirit of humility to serve each other, even as Christ served his disciples. This obligation rests upon his Lordship (v. 14). To refuse obedience to him is to set oneself above his Lord. The way to happiness is implicit obedience to the Lord.

Stop and Listen
Do not sometimes feel in trial or perplexity, that others might help you if they would only stop and listen. But they will not, and in their constant hurry we know it is little use to speak for so quiet the heart for ourselves, and give what we like.

Many would not listen to the word of God, but they will listen to the word of a man.

V-8 POWER • FORD ECONOMY • AND NOW

Comfort Zone Riding

IN THE NEW FORD V-8

IT MAKES no difference where you sit in the new Ford V-8. Even back seat passengers enjoy "the comfort of a front seat ride."

It took a major engineering development to make this possible—the Full-Floating Springbase with Comfort Zone Seating. Notice how the springs are mounted beyond the axles . . . how the seats are cradled in the easy-riding zone between the springs. Notice what a difference this makes—in everyone's comfort.

But Comfort Zone Riding is only one reason why you'll want a Ford V-8 in 1935. You'll want it for its V-8 power—for the beauty of its streamlined body—for its new roominess—its new easy-pressure brakes and clutch—the safety of its all-steel body and safety glass all around (at no extra cost)! See this new Ford V-8 today. It's a car that meets the needs of everyone. See it today at your nearest Ford dealer.

McDOWELL OVERCOMES FORMER CONQUERORS

McDowell, Ky., Jan. 7.—In a neatly played contest, the McDowell high school basketball team trounced the Wheelwright high school eagles Saturday in the Wheelwright gym, 24 to 19. Two weeks previously, the Wheelwright five easily outscored McDowell, 42 to 19.

Wheelwright scored first on a free throw by Newsom. Then McDowell scored a field goal and kept a comfortable lead for the remainder of the game.

At the end of the first half, McDowell was leading, 15 to 7.

The game was hard-fought and cleanly played. All five and influence will be deeply members on each of the two appreciated.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

We are authorized to announce

as a candidate for Representative of Floyd county, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August primary, 1935. Your support and cleanly played. All five and influence will be deeply members on each of the two appreciated.
