ALLEN, LACKY ROAD CONTRACT AWARDED BIDDER OF $273,048

Road Will Be Surfaced to Knott County by Frankfort Company

MEDIUM TYPE SURFACE

For the completion of the paving on the Allen Lackey road, Robert Humphreys, state highway commissioner Monday awarded a contract to the Kentucky Road Oiling Company of Frankfort, who bid was $273,048.55.

A medium type of surfacing will be applied to the concrete paving at the Dinwood and Knott county line above Lackey.

Since the highway has been designated as a federal aid project, a federal minimum wage scale will apply to workers on this project. Minimum wages are: skilled labor, 50c an hour; intermediate grade labor, 45c an hour; and unskilled labor, 30c an hour.

Already two contracts have been let for the grading, draining and surfacing of the Left Beaver road. Surfacing of the Martin Wheelwright road from Martin to Clear Creek will be done by the Myers & Gorman Company of Flemingsburg for $42,140.80 and the Left

COMMENCEMENT TO END CHURCH SCHOOL

Certificates Will Be Awarded
Those Attending Eight Sessions

Commencement exercises of the two weeks' vacation church school are to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, July 16, in the gospel meeting tent on the high school grounds.

The exercises are to be marked by the award of certificates to those who have attended eight sessions of the Bible school and done the required work. A program will also be given in connection with the tent revival services at which the Rev. A. M. Warren, who is doing the preaching, and Virgil P. Brock of Indianapolis, Ind., is leading the singing.

Steady interest is being shown in the fourth annual session of the school, although attendance has been disappointing.

Floyd County Ranks Fifth In Attendance At U of K

Although the University of Kentucky is represented by students from five foreign countries and 115 of Kentucky's counties, during the current summer session, Floyd ranks fifth in its number sent to the university. The only counties sending larger numbers than Floyd are: Fayette, where the university is located with a total of 309; and highest, Jefferson has 38; Bourbon, 40; and Jessamine, 34.

Other counties with high enrollments are: Boyle, 28; Clark, 28; Daviess, 22; Kenton, 22; Knox, 21; Madison, 23; Mason, 23; Pike, 23; and Pulaski, 26. The university has a total enrollment of 1,797 students. Besides Kentucky 35 other states are

FREDERICK C. CRARY, DIES AT LEXINGTON AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Frederick C. Crary, independent oil and gas operator who is well known in this section of Kentucky, died in Lexington, Ky., at the St. Joseph's hospital at 2:30 Friday afternoon after a brief illness. Mr. Crary has been an occasional resident at local hotels here for the past 15 years, during which time he operated his Eastern Kentucky holdings.

Mr. Crary was born in Pennsylvania, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Crary. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Gay, Lexington, and Mrs. James Faulkner, Frankfort. By a son, Frederick Crary, Jr., and by one sister, Mrs. M. C. Rodgers, Canton, Ohio. He is survived by several grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mr. Crary were held in Lexington Monday and burial was made in the family lot in Hillcrest Memorial Park.

FOOD HANDLING PLACES TESTED FOR SANITATION BY BUREAU INSPECTOR

J. P. Mitchell, state inspector for the Bureau of Foods and Drugs accompanied by Montaine Clark, sanitary inspector, inspected 109 food handling establishments in Floyd county this week and found the sanitary conditions better this year than ever before. Mr. Mitchell, after spending eight days in Floyd county, left for Pike county Monday.

Officials stated that besides obtaining a health certificate from a doctor and filing it with the health department to get a food handler's permit, all food handlers must have an approved water supply; adequate toilet facilities; a chlorine solution in which to wash glasses and dishes; and should follow the best sanitary measures.

WAR VETERANS CHOSEN TO REPRESENT FLOYD AT STATE CONVENTION

Floyd Post 129 of the American Legion has chosen four delegates and four alternates to represent it at the 19th annual state convention of the American Legion, which will be held at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky., from July 19 to 22.

The five foreign countries represented by students from the university are: Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Nova Scotia, and the United States. The largest number of students from outside of Kentucky is that of West Virginia with 47, followed by Tennessee, 26, and Bourbon, 40; and Jessamine, 34.

DRUMS, BUGLES ARE MEN TO BE TRAINED ORDERED FOR SONS TO CHECK FARMERS' OF FLOYD VETERANS PROJECTS FOR ACP

Drum and Bugle Corps Is Started by Floyd Post of American Legion

With 16 drums and bugles already ordered, the formation of a drum and bugle corps from the members of the American Legion Squadron No. 1 is well under way. Lon S. Moles, sponsor of the Squadron, said Tuesday. The Squadron is composed of sons of the Legionnaires of Floyd County. American Legion Post 129.

Although only 11 boys were present at the Legion's meeting at the courthouse Saturday, a much larger number are expected for the corps. Legion officers have hopes of eventually finding 50 youngsters to add to the beginners.

Boys present at the Saturday meeting were: David Corbin, Clifford Marshall, Berkin Marshall, Robert Stanley, Jerry Stephens, Harris Stephens, Howard Woodford, Howard John Huff, and Hershel Eddie and Charles Tackett.

Legion officers said that John Hensley and Carl Corbin would instruct the boys in the use of the instruments.

As more youngsters join the corps, instruments will be awarded the most proficient. Officers also said that an attempt to buy uniforms for the corps would be made later on.

The boy buglers and drummers will earn part of the money necessary for their starting expenses by the sale of tickets to the Black Diamond Jubilee in Paintsville to be held in August.

CONGRESSMAN RETURNS

Congressman A. J. May, Jr., returned home Thursday from Washington, D. C., after three days during the adjournment of Congress. They will return to Washington Sunday.

SPINAL MENINGITIS HITS FRALEY TOT: 7 FAMILIES PUT UNDER QUARANTINE

Spinal meningitis struck the five months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fraley of West Prestonsburg, late last week for the second so called individual meningitis attack in two weeks within the county. After laboratory tests at the Paintsville hospital, where the child is now recovering, proved the identity of the disease, seven West Prestonsburg families were placed under quarantine by the Floyd county health department.

Although three members of the Fraley family who were said to have been exposed to the stricken child went to Fleming county before the quarantine was declared in West Prestonsburg, Floyd health officials notified the Fleming county health officials of the three persons who were placed under quarantine there. Health authorities here expect no serious outcome of the disease, but no safety measures are being overlooked.

LEGION AUXILIARY HAS ELECTION AND DISCUSSES FUTURE PLANS AT MEET

At a recent meeting of the Prestonsburg American Legion Auxiliary, the following officers were elected: Mrs. George Selles, president; Mrs. Jack Spurlin, secretary; Mrs. Alex Hill, treasurer; and Mrs. Marvin Marshall, chaplain. The Auxiliary's next meeting will be held at the high school building July 24 at 7:30 p. m.

Auxiliary membership is open to any wife, mother, sister or daughter of a member of the American Legion and any one who falls under any of these classifications may meet and become a permanent member.

The American Legion Auxiliary was formed for the purpose of aiding the American Legion in carrying out its program of peace time service to America to which the Legion is dedicated, aiding to carry on the task of caring for the World War disabled veterans and their families. WPA Rolls In County Have Been Cut To Quota of 880

The Floyd county Works Progress Administration office announced Wednesday that simultaneous with all other WPA units, Floyd county's rolls had been trimmed to conform to a reduced appropriation recently made by Congress for financing WPA for the next 12 months.

George H. Goodman, Kentucky WPA administrator, announced last week that WPA workers throughout the state were being dropped. He added that the increased demand for workers in private industry had reduced federal appropriations were

Following the drawing for position on the election ballot, according to the office for which candidates were running at the courthouse here Tuesday, four houses, records revealed that 11 candidates registered to run in the August primary, have withdrawn from the race.

Although 11 candidates have withdrawn, Floyd county is still expected to have a larger number of candidates running for office than any other county in Kentucky. Due to late registration, two Democratic candidates and two Republican candidates filed for office making the original total 245. Withdrawals have decreased this original figure to 234.

Three candidates for the office of magistrate withdrew, as did three candidates for constable. Only one Republican candidate withdrew. Eleven Democratic candidates have withdrawn.

OLD AGE RECIPIENTS INCREASED IN JUNE

381 Floyd Countyans Got
$3,705 Last Month, Says
Director Lloyd

According to the report from the office of Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, director of Public Assistance, 381 recipients in Floyd county received $3,705 during the month of June. T. Hill, Prestonsburg, states that 26 recipients were added in June.

Over the entire state 8,508 applications were disposed of by the Division of Public Assistance during June. Of this number 4,336 were approved for new grants, 890 were designated as ineligible under the law, and 288 were disposed of for other reasons. what Irvin Cobb thinks about:

Seeking Contentment.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—
Out in the desert country I met kindly, hospitable folk bravely making the best of things on remote, small homesteads.

On little far-away ranches, on reservation trading posts, they are educating their children by resolute self-sufficiency; keeping in touch with the world through radio, through books and magazines and newspapers; and almost invariably content with their lives and proud of their struggles and living comfortably—yes, and happily—within their means, however meager.

Then I come back to crowded cities where wealth seems only to make the inmates dissatisfied because somebody with greater wealth puts on a gaudier show of ostentation and extravagance. And I see the man who feverishly is striving after riches so that when he breaks down he may afford the most expensive nerve specialist. And the spoiled woman who was born with a silver spoon in her mouth, but judging by her expression the spoon must have been full of castor oil and the flavor lamer. And the poor little rich children who have everything now and so will have nothing—except maybe dollars—when they grow up.

Curious, isn't it, that so little buys so much for some people and such a lot buys so little for the others?

The Return of Prosperity.
I CAN'T help gloating over what appeared in this space when I predicted that the temperamental and fickle bird of passage known as prosperity was winging its way back. Because the Better Business Bureau reports that sellers of no-good stocks are showing increased activity.

Moreover, I hear that for the first time in years practically all the veteran bunco-steers are off relief. The lean times when the locusts of depression gnawed away our substance must indeed be over if the customers begin to nibble more freely at the same dependable old baits. So, as he thumbs his copy of the sucker list against the morrow's campaign, I urge to hear Mr. Henry J. Slickguy (late of Leavenworth but now opening offices in the Wall Street district) murmuring to himself:

"Happy days are here again! Drouth may kill the corn. Rust rots the wheat. Boll weevils destroy the cotton. But, thanks be, there's one crop in America which never fails!" Have you a little gold brick in your home, dear reader? Well, don't worry, nobody's going to be slighted. Ere long you'll get your chance to invest in one.

Making Mental Slips.
THE most incredible thing has come to pass. Here I go along, year after year, building up a reputation for invariably being right, the same as George Bernard Shaw and Miss Secretary Perkins. Then—bang!—I make one little slip and the trusting reader is shocked from pit to dome.

The other day I suggested taxing salaries of governmental employees. Now from all sides I'm told federal employees are subject to income taxes; only the vast majority of them, and probably the hardest-worked ones, draw such small wages that they owe Uncle Sam nothing when March 15 rolls around.

So far as I recall, this is the second time in my life I've been wrong. I can't cite what the other instance was—some very trifling matter, no doubt—but it must have occurred because I remember the nation-wide excitement which ensued, with people going around in a daze muttering: "Can it be possible?"

I now admit that early error and the recent one, too, and humbly beg pardon of my devoted public—all eight of them. It'll never happen again.

Conquered Champions.
IT HAS been brought to the attention of Mr. James J. Braddock that something happened to him a while back. Probably, by now, he has quit wondering whether many others were caught in the earthquake, but is reported to be still saying "Ouch!" at intervals. And now, as is customary, his backers will insist he demand a return engagement—or disaster—with the Brown Bomber. But if I were Mr. Braddock—game though he be—I think I'd pattern my reply on the example of the gentleman who was knocked galley-west by a hit-and-run motorist.

As the dazed pedestrian was trying feebly to ascertain whether he was all in one piece, a kind-hearted citizen hurried up.

"Have an accident?" he inquired, brightly.

"No, thank you," said the victim; "just had one."

Fashions at Vacationland

HURRAY for dear old Johnnie Two-Weeks! He's recently given the nod to these three sweet young laborers and now they're off reaping the rewards. Yes, they're vacationing and how! But, of course, Sew-Your-Own had them dressed right up to the hilt.

Miss M., picturesque blonde, above, left, knows what glamour is and how to have it. That's why she chose this softly feminine frock with its swirling skirt and delicately slim waist. You should see her at an evening in the outdoor terrace. She's a picture in black gossamer chiffon trimmed with white satin. And to think, she made it all herself!

Miss B., above, center, and center of attraction at the Surf club, has everything under perfect control as she strolls along the boardwalk. With not a care in the world, she's wearing a total streamlining in her natty little sports dress, she walks with confidence and pride.

Miss Y., the sports enthusiast at the right, says that her three piece ensemble is so very very and practical she wears it almost to the exclusion of her other frocks. Her idea is to soak up as much sunshine as possible, and that's pretty easy to do when she wears the halter and shorts sans dress.

Pattern 1241 is for sizes 14 to 20—(32 to 44 bust). Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material plus 1½ yards of ribbon, and 3 yards of trimming.

Pattern 1316 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material.

Pattern 1335 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material for the dress and shorts, and 1 yard for the topper. The dress alone requires 3½ yards.

6. How many varieties of postage stamps are there in the world?
7. Is there a memorial to Stephen Collins Foster on the Suwannee river?
8. How long does it take to season an ivory billiard ball?

Answers

1. There are more than 3,000 submarine cables in the world with a total length of more than 300,000 miles.
2. According to the National Geographic society the Italians were the first to use forks for eating, and were ridiculed as sissies.
3. Those having the greatest number of colleges and universities, professional schools, teachers' colleges, normal schools, etc., are New York, with 108, and California, with 102.
4. The world today possesses approximately 63,000 airplanes, more than 42,000 of which are military or naval machines, according to Collier's Weekly.

5. The Chicago river originally emptied into Lake Michigan. Now water from the lake is forced through the river into the Illinois river and so into the Mississippi river. Thus it may be said that the Chicago river flows backward.

6. The post offices of the world issue 56,874 varieties of stamps.

7. In 1928 a monument to the songwriter was erected at Fargo, Ga., headwaters of the Suwannee. It has recently been announced that an amphitheater in his memory will be built by the Florida Federation of Music Clubs on the banks of the river. Foster never saw the Suwannee, but picked the name for an atlas because of its sound.

8. Ivory billiard balls, such as those used by professional players, are seasoned for five years after being turned out.

Giving and Asking

In offering help, you make a step toward gaining a friend; in asking it, you please by this mark of confidence. The result of this will be a constant habit of mutual forbearance, and a fear to be disobliging in matters of greater importance.

Uncle Phil Says:

Not to Say Impudent

One may not want a man to "look you straight in the eye." Those pin-you-fast looks are sometimes impudent.

People seldom credit a man's virtues as long as he has a single vice.

If we have any judgment, we all want culture; and the gate to it is never closed.

When your children wish you to associate with them in their play, don't hold back.

A Murderer at Heart

An impulsive man swears when he gets mad; many a self-controlled one holds his tongue and commits murder in his heart.

If you want personal reform in your life, persuade them to it, don't try to drive them. That was the immensely successful method of the founder of Christianity.

No one really wants leisure; he only desires time enough to do the things he really wants to do.

Really Living

If one enjoys his vocation, he has got about the best thing there is in life; and it lasts.

Good manners can be learned after one has passed twenty, but it is much easier before.

Why Firestone always leads in giving top tire value . . .

Quality Rubber at Lower Cost! • More Efficient Manufacturing! • Lower Distribution Costs!

THESE SAVINGS PASSED ON TO YOU IN THE FORM OF EXTRA VALUES AT NO EXTRA COST!

IN PLANNING your Fourth of July trip, plan now for the SAFETY of yourself and family by replacing your smooth, worn tires with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires. Firestone makes great savings by controlling rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, by more efficient manufacturing methods, by selling in such large volume that distribution costs are lower. These savings are passed on to you in the form of extra values.

EIGHT EXTRA POUNDS OF RUBBER to every 100 pounds of cord. Extra value AT NO EXTRA COST.

PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS, because Gum-Dipping, that famous patented Firestone Process, makes these tires run up to 28 degrees cooler. By this process, every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated and coated with pure, liquid rubber, counteracting internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life. Extra safety AT NO EXTRA COST.

PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES, because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped Cord. Extra tire strength AT NO EXTRA COST.

PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING, because the tread is scientifically designed to prevent this danger. Extra safeguard AT NO EXTRA COST.

Don't take chances with worn tires on your Fourth of July trip. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today. Let your nearby Firestone Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply & Service Store equip your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value!

DEEPER OIL AND GAS
WELLS TO BE SUNKFloyd County Producers Hope to Tap New Sands This Year

Hueysville, Ky. July 15—(Sp.)—Preparations this week by several oil and gas companies now operating in Floyd county, to drill to greater depths for crude oil are holding the spotlight of interest.

Plans already made call for the drilling of several test wells into the Weir Berea and other deep sands which if they prove profitable, may put even greater emphasis on Floyd county as Kentucky's leading oil and gas producer.

William Sexton of Garrett, field superintendent for the South Penn Oil Company of Irvine, Ky. says 35 years of experience in Floyd oil fields have led him to believe that great stores of oil lie in the deeper sands of the county. Mr. Sexton's company is not one of those participating in the new venture, however.

Hundreds of oil wells, that formerly gave up rich quantities of oil from shallow sands and were abandoned when they failed to produce, will be reopened and drilled to the lower sands if the venture proves successful, it is said.

Nice strikes are reported in test wells drilled into the deeper sands of the Johnson-Magoffin section and there is every reason to believe that the Floyd-Knott area will compare favorably with the neighboring area.

Test wells are being sunk to a depth of 4,000 feet, in some instances and may go to even greater depths. If these wells show good production drilling on a big scale is expected to take place in the county this summer and fall. Increase in crude oil prices has intensified new work since January 1. Kentucky crude oil now tops in price most of the country's grades with the exception of the Pennsylvania grade. Big Sandy valley crude brings $1.42. Kentucky river crude $1.50 and Western Kentucky grade, $1.42.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I regret to announce to my many friends and supporters that it has become necessary for me to withdraw from the race for County Judge; but in doing so I am glad to announce to you that I will support a man of integrity and ability for said office. I feel that Edward P. Hill is eminently fitted by his legal training and ability to make you a good County Judge.

I feel that he is not only eminently fitted by his experience and legal training, but that he has the honesty and integrity to do the job even better than I could do it myself.

I appeal to those who so loyally supported me before I withdrew that they now support Edward P. Hill for this office. I feel that it is the patriotic duty of every citizen of Floyd county to support him as against those who would exploit our county to enrich themselves.

In conclusion I wish to thank again and again those who have so loyally supported me in this fight and others and I wish to assure them that I will be ready at all times to espouse the cause of the people of my county.

BRAINARD

Brainard schools opened July 5 with Ralph Spradlin and Miss Naomi Spradlin teachers at the Needmore school; George W. Spradlin at the Johnson school and Miss Josephine Spradlin at the State Road Fork school.

Mrs. Mort Salyer, son, Lennie and daughters, Misses Mildred Ruby and Helen and Miss Evelyn Parker were visitors at Tom "Adams" and Charley Hackworth's relatives of the Salyers family, the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Salyers, who have lived in Indiana for many years, have many friends here. It is Miss Salyer's first visit to the Kentucky hills and she expresses much pleasure over them.

The registration of voters from Brainard is very heavy this year. Interest in the election seems to be growing rapidly and only a very small number of those eligible have failed to register. Due to this Prestonsburg has probably had more from this address the past month than in any other similar period.

Many candidates have been campaigning here the past week. With our roads as they are most of the number are thankful the primary comes in August instead of January. The Norman Holbrook Saw mill has been moved to near the Needmore school where Mr. Holbrook has a sawing contract with Bruce and Cash Hackworth.

Another form of registration was necessary the past week. WPA and NYA workers had to go to Pikeville or Prestonsburg for registration for employment. Pikeville is about 40 miles from Brainard and a full day is necessary for the trip.

Tom Hill of Bonanza, was a business visitor here this week.

A pessimist might look at the eager faces that follow the willow path to school these days and find life good again.

Beecher Stapleton was a business visitor here from Paintsville last Thursday.

Crops are growing splendidly here, fruit is abundant and there is a general note of cheerfulness over the prospects of a "good year." It is quite a contrast with last summer.

United Mine Workers of America
Open Drive for Francis M. Burke
For Attorney General.

The Honorable Ed J. Morgan, President of District No. 23, United Mine Workers of America and the Hon. John Hanratty, Field Representative, Big Sandy Division, District No. 30, will open organized labor campaign for Francis M. Burke for Attorney General with a rally at Wheelwright, Ky. at which it is expected an overflow crowd of United Mine Workers and citizens generally will be present. President Morgan is a cousin of Western Kentucky, living in the same section of the state as Mr. Meredith who is opposing Burke in this campaign, and no doubt President Morgan will bring to the people of Eastern Kentucky an unusually interesting message relative to the attitude that Mr. Meredith has taken for the past several years toward organized labor. Following this rally Mr. Morgan and Mr. Hanratty will make speeches at Garrett, Hazard, Fleming, Jenkins and Van Lear consuming a two days speaking tour in District 30. Definite plans for further campaigning has not at this time been worked out, but organized labor is in the field actively and with a full determination to elect their friend, and defeat their enemy.

News comes from Congressional District No. 2 (Mr. Meredith's home district) that because of his past antagonism toward labor he will lose his home district by a substantial majority to Mr. Burke. Organized labor's pleasure in supporting Mr. Burke is based largely on the fact that he is an ex-coal miner himself. It is hoped everybody will attend the speaking at Wheelwright Saturday, July 17, 10 o'clock a. m., same date Hazard, 6:30 o'clock p. m., same date Fleming, 10 o'clock a. m., Sunday, July 18; Jenkins, 1 o'clock p. m., same date; and Van Lear, 6 o'clock p. m., same date.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I hereby respectfully submit the following as the reasons why you should vote for and nominate me as the Democratic candidate for Representative from Floyd county at the August primary.

LABOR

I am a charter member of the Garrett Local Union No. 5902. I was practically raised in a coal mine. My many brothers and relatives are all miners. I was born on Beaver Creek in the mining section. For a period of 20 years I have taken an active part in all labor movements in behalf of the laboring man. If nominated and elected I intend to use every effort in attempting to amend the Workmen's Compensation Law to the end that it will really "compensate" the injured working man. Our Kentucky Workmen's Compensation law is one of the worst in any of the states of the union and should be modeled after those of some of the more progressive states. I shall vote for and fight for every law intended for the betterment of labor in Kentucky and will be guided by the intelligent leadership of such men as Sam Caddy, Wm. Turnblyzer, and our great leader John L. Lewis and I will "NOT BE" dictated to by a little group of selfish politicians at Frankfort as some of our Representatives have done.

If you nominate and elect me you may rest assured that you will have a one hundred percent "LABOR" Representative at Frankfort. I will not swallow the self-prepared and self-serving program prepared by Happy Chandler or any other politician as our Representative and my opponent, Mel Petry did at the last session of the Legislature.

EDUCATION

I favor and will vote for a law electing County Superintendents by direct vote of the people and not by a few politicians. I will also vote for and expect to fight for a law that will "compel" the County Board of Education to employ the teacher recommended by the local subdistrict trustee and this will apply not only to the rural schools but to the consolidated schools. I am a Jeffersonian Democrat to the effect that I believe that the "people" are entitled to a voice in their school affairs and that their chosen school trustees should have a voice in the selection of school teachers. We need "fewer" school supervisors, and more and better school teachers.

GOOD ROADS

It is common knowledge that our mountain roads have all these years been neglected. Although the state's money is being spent in large sums on the rural roads in other parts of Kentucky, very little of any is being spent in our mountain counties. I expect to introduce and fight for a law placing the road from the forks of Middle Creek up the left fork of Middle Creek and down Brush Creek connecting with the Beaver highway at the mouth of Brush Creek on the State Rural Highway program. Likewise the road from the mouth of Mud Creek up Mud Creek across the mountain and down Clear Creek to the left fork of Mud Creek should be placed on the State Rural Highway plan. Also the John Creek road should be completed at the earliest possible date. I will also use my every effort in cooperation with our WPA authorities to the end that more money will be made available for the immediate construction and completion of the many rural projects already begun and many others to follow. I will use my every effort in bringing this much needed highway aid to Floyd county.

The above are a few of the many things which I have in mind in behalf of our people and for which I expect to fight if you send me to Frankfort as your Representative. My opponent, Mel Petry, has made his record. I invite you to investigate it and whether or not it has been in the interest of the laboring man, the farmers and the school children of Floyd county, I submit that it has not. If you believe that I will stand for your interest and work in your behalf as your Representative, I respectfully request your support.

state realize the tremendous difficulties involved in securing documentary proof of citizenship and residence of applicants in order to prove eligibility in accordance with both state and federal laws. The Division appreciates the fine cooperation our workers have been given from the many thousands of people that have been given, as references, postmasters, bankers, merchants and other respected citizens of the various communities.

A noteworthy development in the program of Old Age Assistance in Kentucky during the past few months has been the tremendous increase in the number of denials. This has been due to the fact that the most needy cases were selected and given preference during the early months of this program, thereby preventing actual starvation in the taxpayers of the state in many instances. The proper money appropriated in the act of denials is expected to be only sufficient for the most needy old people in the state in the next few months. It seems quite evident many thousands applied who were vision to investigate each and every one and to give a superficial check would make grants only to those he made and therefore they persons legally eligible for assistance thereby preclude receive assistance with

OPERATORS' LICENSES RECEIVED HERE FOR EARLY PURCHASERS

Prestonsburg, Ky., July 14.—It was announced today by Jas. W. Martin, commissioner of revenue, that motor vehicle operators would be able to secure licenses at all circuit court clerks' offices beginning July 7. The license costs $1.00 and must be secured by August 1, he said.

Martin emphasized the fact that securing the license before August 1 did not relieve automobile drivers of the necessity of carrying their present licenses until August. He urged, however, that the license be secured early in order to avoid the last minute rush.

RIGHT
 The term Chiaroscuro means the distribution of light and shade so effected in a picture that the elements are of mutual aid. The term is applied especially to the devices by which a figure or object is made to appear as if enveloped in atmosphere. Among the masters of chiaroscuro are Correggio, regarded as its inventor, and Rembrandt, who developed it to its farthest limits.

SYNOPSIS

Preparing to close her summer home and spend the winter in France with a great-aunt, Anne Vincent, a middle-aged widow, Rachel, twenty and pretty, that she felt about her real mother. Anne, an unselfish, understanding soul, does the last for her daughter since she feels Rachel is putting a barrier between them. Rachel learns that her mother was beautiful eighteen-year-old Ellen Mallory, married by her father, who died before Rachel's birth. He was kind in the world war.

"Who wasn't wanted," put in Rachel, "—who couldn't be cared for, he, I mean Dr. Ayres, talked to Harry—and then one day they brought him in and put you in my arms and you—you went into my heart, too, my darling, you were my own. You've been my own ever since. Harry loved you, too, in the same way. We asked about adopting you. There wasn't any great difficulty, and so we did it, legally of course, and in the other way too—I mean we adopted you into our family, and—hopes and plans and, most of all, into our love."

"Now one more thing, Rachel. I've never brought you the attention of your mother in any way. I've never even seen her except for our one talk when I left the hospital. I know that she married Peter Cayne. I saw that in the papers, and I know her mother, Mrs. Rhodes, when we were arranging the adoption. That Mrs. Rhodes was incurably sick and couldn't live long. So there was one reason why she was so insistent that Elmer give up the child."

"But, mother, didn't Elmer herself mind? Didn't she want to keep me?"

"Rachel, you seem to have a sentimental streak I never noticed before. Darling, physical motherhood is a normal process of nature but it doesn't inevitably carry affection and solicitude with it. Elmer married when she was young, but a child, her mother drilled and hammered into her all the disadvantages of her life and had made you a frightful care and handicap. Don't you see? Under other circumstances she might have clung to you through everything."

"How soon did she marry again?"

"That same year, in September."

"Has she any children by that marriage?"

"Believe there's a son."

"She's never asked to see me or tried to—to get in touch with you—to know about me, mother? Never once?"

"There was a shake of fear in Anne's voice though she tried to keep it calm and even. No, Rachel. I think she must have accepted the adoption as final, just as Harry and I did. She may have seen you secretly, I don't know. But once you were mine, you were mine, and I no more would have brought you to her attention about me. I would if you had been born to me. Our ways don't cross. Mr. Cayne has a great deal of money and they figure more or less in the kind of society that newspapers feature. I mean she's always a patroness for some of the big balls and they go to the Riviera or Egypt or Palm Beach in winter, and have a country place in Connecticut, they're not the sort as you young ones call it, but I'd call them fairly prominent. Mr. Cayne's in some sort of machinery business."

Anne suppressed a tremulous sigh, it had been so different, so much harder than they had ever imagined. The way Rachel had listened, the questions she had asked and their implications—all these stirred Anne with apprehension. What was behind all this? What was going on in Rachel's mind? How far away and strange the girl seemed. It wasn't much more than a week ago that Rachel had suddenly begun to brood about her parents, the people of her own blood, and had insisted on knowing the truth about them. Much more than a week, and at the very time when their usual easy summer round had been broken in by preparations for leaving the cottage and for Anne's journey to France and the separation it entailed from her daughter.

"It seems to me I've told you all I know, Rachel," she said, gently. "I've tried not to make guesses or make guesses appear as facts."

"I wish you'd tell me again how she looked when you saw her. And I'd like to know what she said, and what you said—exactly."

"I don't know if I can remember exactly what we said, but I'll try. They put me in a wheeled chair because I was still weak, and the nurse wheeled me into the ward. She was sitting up in bed, leaning on the high-necked common hospital gown and a blue dressing gown over it, cheap woolly stuff but a good color, like her eyes. Her hair was loose, very dark against the pillow. She—she looked at me with a good bit of curiosity and she smiled. She looked like a child! But what we said was so trivial—"

"Can't you recall any of it?"

Anne hesitated, because she must tell Rachel a lie. "I believe she said you were healthy and I—well, I said something about wanting you very much and that I'd take care of you. I told her that I wanted to leave the hospital within the week and hoped that everything could be arranged before I went, and she said her mother would know about that. All the time I was there I was thinking of her beauty, it was so arresting and so—complete. She shook hands when I left and her hand was soft and delicate, yet very alive."

Rachel was gazing down at her own hands, long and strong and brown, don't want to know anything more right now," she said. "Mother, darling, you were sweet to be so patient. I didn't realize it would be so hard for you."

"She knows more of what's going on than I do about her," thought Anne. Then, aloud: "It wasn't so very hard, Rachel. You had to hear it some day, I suppose."

She rose and brushed the sand from her skirt. "I'm going back and finish up the bills and tell Mr. Kreel he can use your radio this winter. Coming along?"

"Not right yet. If Bob comes back tonight go out and fish a little before dinner."

Anne walked back alone over the dunes remembering what Rachel's mother had said that she would not tell Rachel. The little creature had been self-possessed and callous. "It's odd," she had said, "that your baby died and mine didn't. It ought to have been the other way round." Even now Anne could not recall that cool smiling speech without a stab of angry loneliness.

CHAPTER II

Rachel sat still after Anne had left her. She was stirred and excited, she hoped that Anne did not know how much now how strangely. She had said that she would not tell Rachel. The little creature had been self-possessed and callous. "It's odd," she had said, "that your baby died and mine didn't. It ought to have been the other way round." Even now Anne could not recall that cool smiling speech without a stab of angry loneliness.

"That's what's burning you up, you always did hate being ignored," Rachel tilted her head cocked. "I never am ignored," she said. "You rose to the occasion like a fish. Go on, get those lines over and stop beeping. How do you get back? Look out, that one's twisted."

Rachel applied herself to paying out the lines with perfect calm. The place, where she was sitting, was talking about me and not about you," she said absently. "He had eased her tension to tell Bob, some of the strange things she'd felt gone. Proportion was coming back to her life."

They stayed silent, absorbed in their catch. At the tenth fish Bob dropped the gaudy line. "That's enough. Two for you and one for me and one for the Kreeles and five for Mrs. Cayne's boarding-house. Look, Rachel, you steer around the line, house into the lower bay and I'll get out my trough and clean these fish right now. How's about it, wench?"

"All right. You can come along up as you like with mother and me; there won't be much for Ade's brother is sick and she hadn't been working for us for three days, just when we needed her most. I'll come, with all the packing. But there'll be enough, with the fish."

"I'll stop in my house and wash and put on clean clothes. Your mother would throw me out if I showed up in these stinking raggs."

"Bob, I do think it's dumb of you to stay on here running a town library and doing carpentry and woodwork on the side," said Rachel after a pause.

"That's your theme song, isn't it? Nevertheless I'm going to stay. There's only one bad spot in the program, Rachel, you won't be here. I wish you'd stay with me on that again."

"I certainly am and I shall keep right on till you give in. You think it's dumb for me to stay here in this perfectly grand place and keep on with my work and be independent and not worry about money, but you're the dumb one, going back to New York and racketing round with that crazy crowd, gin and hot jazz measure the daily precipitation, the wind gauge to determine the direction at which the wind is blowing, the anemometer to determine the intensity of the surface wind, the hazard indicator stick to determine the same thing on the heavy slush, the hazard indicator scale will tell the per cent of moisture content in slush by weight, the wind vane the direction of the wind and the psychrometer determines the relative humidity. The relative humidity, says the foresters, is one of the most important factors in the control of forest fires."

The new technique will be employed in all national forests beginning this year.

Methods employed in determining when forest fire hazards exist, the detection of fires when they start and their control after breaking out have shown great changes for the better in recent years. No longer is it necessary to rely on the fire warden's judgment, but high or low hazards, for science has created instruments that do this detecting with a far greater degree of accuracy.

According to the national forest service, the equipment to be used in determining the degree of fire danger will consist of a rain gauge, wind velocity gauge, duct hygrometer, hazard indicator sticks, hazard indicator scale, wind vane and psychrometer.

on a young and telltale softness. "She's gorgeous like that," he thought, "one long curving line as clear and clean as marble." Aloud he asked, "What's on your alleged mind?"

"Nothing," said Rachel, twitching at a hook.

"Go on, I know better. What's it all about?"

"Mother and I were talking."

"Your mother's swell, she's grand, plus ultra. If she's bawling you out I'm with her, a hundred per cent."

"Bob, listen. I wouldn't tell any body else in the world about this, but I know you won't spill it around. Mother was telling me about my real mother. She's always said that would when I was twenty-one, but a little while ago I got thinking about her going over to France and if anything happened to her I might never know. So I've been trying to get her to tell me and finally she gave in. I can't tell you how it makes me feel, I'm not quite sure myself. I seem to be someone else. Maybe it'll wear off, but I don't know."

"You see I keep on puzzling about them, my real father and mother in the end. What did they give me that was in their nature, what did they have to give? How much am I theirs and how much am I—"

"Why do you think about it at all? You've known all the time you were adopted, everyone's known it. You used to brag about it disgustingly the first summers you came here and made all of us kids feel as jealous as the devil because we'd never been born. What's all the sudden? She hasn't said anything written to you or anything, has she, your real mother?"

"No, she's never shown the slightest interest. Apparently she doesn't care whether I'm dead or alive."

"That's what's burning you up, you always did hate being ignored," Rachel tilted her head cocked. "I never am ignored," she said.

"You rose to the occasion like a fish. Go on, get those lines over and stop beeping. How do you get back? Look out, that one's twisted."

Items of Interest to the Housewife

To Freshen Coconut—Shredded coconut, which has become dry, can be freshened by soaking it in sweet milk a few minutes before using.

To Prevent Scorching—Leave one small section of a gem pan empty when putting gem batter in pan. Fill rim section with water and gems will never scorch.

Don't Scratch the Table—If tiny squares of blanket or astrakhan cloth are stuck under the corners of your hand sewing machine it can be used on any table without fear of scratching it. Similar patches can also be used on cloths, or anything that stands on a polished surface.

Keeping Brassware Bright—Brass ornaments will remain bright longer if, after polishing, they are given a thin coat of white shellac.

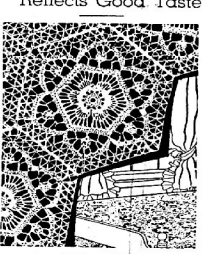

Why Fans Warp—Aluminum cooking pans are frequently warped out of shape by repeatedly putting cold water in them while they are still hot.

Measuring Sugar—One pound of granulated sugar equals two cups. One pound of powdered or confectioner's sugar equals two and one-half cups.

Cheese Savoury—Spread seasoned cream cheese on small rounds of previously cooked short pastry. Over the cheese place a round of tomato and a dash of mayonnaise, and top each with a slice of olive. Place in paper containers, sprinkle with finely-grated cheese, and garnish with cress.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Many of the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the blood clean. The act of living is a constant process of elimination. The kidneys must remove from the blood all the waste products of life. When the kidneys fail to function as nature intended, it is a condition of waste that may cause body-wide disease. One may suffer from backache, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness, and a general feeling of nervousness.

Present, nearly or swelling may be further evidence of kidney or bladder trouble. The recognized and proper treatment for kidney trouble is to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and indigestion or the tongue may be coated, your complexion sallow and your bowels sluggish or insufficient.

These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Take Calomel, the improved calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts, combined. You will be delighted with the prompt relief they afford. Smoke Small Particles

Suspended in the Air

Smoke is nothing more than myriads of small solid particles suspended in the air, writes Dr. Thomas M. Beck in the Chicago Tribune. These particles are denser than air, yet they settle only with extreme slowness because of two facts. A falling body soon reaches a speed at which its weight is balanced by the air resistance opposing its motion. This resistance is roughly proportional to the amount of surface exposed, and the smaller the body, the greater the ratio of surface to weight and the slower its rate of fall through air. Smoke particles usually are so small that their rates of fall hardly are perceptible. In addition, the particles' motion through the air causes them to pick up electrical charges, and the mutual repulsion of these charges prevents the particles from coalescing into larger particles which would fall more quickly.

It is a surprising fact that these smoke particles are much harder to remove from air than are the far smaller molecules of a gaseous impurity. Air can be freed from foreign gases by bubbling it through the right kind of absorbing liquid or by passing it through a loosely packed mass of a porous solid absorbent. These methods frequently fail with smokes.

The reason for this difference lies in the fact that the small, light gas molecules are in a state of constant motion, and travel at incredible speeds which quickly bring them into contact with the absorbing material. On the other hand the far heavier smoke particles drift very slowly through the rest of the gas, and only a few of them have time to reach the absorbent.

Invented the Lifeboat

The first lifeboat of which any complete account exists was invented by a Frenchman in 1783; but there are no records that it was ever used, says London Answers Magazine. So the honor of designing the lifeboat as we know it may be divided between three Englishmen. Wouldhave invented the self-righting, sailing lifeboat; and Greathead actually built the first lifeboat. This noteworthy vessel was launched at Newcastle-on-Tyne in 1783; it did good service for thirty years, saving hundreds of lives.
