CAUSE FOR DIVORCE

Spine Law Acres, the film actor, has turned conscientious objector. It becomes evident why Ginger Rogers and Lola Layne divorced him. The girl wanted a man.

STILL IN KENTUCKY

Looks like we won't have to see, after all, the Governor's foot in the door to make that Legislature re-district.

GIVE HIM CREDIT

In all seriousness, we Doubting Thomases who feared Governor Johnson would not extend himself to get this job of re-districting done, give him an apology. His speech Monday night at the utterance of a great and sincere man. When, and if, re-districting is effected, give one man credit for it. You can't credit legislators from the under-represented sections, because they couldn't be otherwise than re-districting. Those opposing legislation deserve anything but credit. Remember, however, that the Legislature broke up in the matter of representation, credit one Kean Johnson, Governor of Kentucky, with winning it for us.

OFFICIAL DECISION

When Green Allen returned to Prestonsburg the other day, after a two-weeks absence, John Allen expressed serious doubt if he is entitled to his salary. "He went A.W.O.L. without having a director's meeting or making any minutes authorizing him 'to take steps,' the D. N. explained.

This is the same John Allen who drew up a certain contract between himself and a Prestonsburg man to whom he had sold an interest in a gas well that wasn't hot as yet. He proceeded soberly enough with the whereas, wherefore, etc. till he came to the point where must be mentioned what condition would prevail in case gas was not found in paying quantities. There he copied from a first aid manual what to do in case of a heart attack!

RURAL ROADS TO GET AID

Hill Says Court Trying To Make Work Lasting

Commenting on an editorial appearing in this newspaper last week relative to the need for maintenance of Floyd county's WPA-constructed roads, County Judge E. P. Hill declared that the fiscal court is making every effort to make these improvements permanent.

Although the county's finances, he said, are inadequate to the task of hiring labor and paying for the work necessary to be done, the county's share in the Rural Highway Administration fund is expected to provide help.

Judge Hill explained, however, that the failure of the rural highway administration to get machinery into this county in the early spring would be a great setback for the county. The county's share in the Rural Highway Administration fund is expected to provide help.

Rural highway officials have been asked to start work in this county by April 1. It was said, but this help will not be available until around May 1. Judge Hill was told. It was explained by the highway department that the delay was due to equipment and other factors caused the delay.

The county has two graders and

Of 34 rural electrification projects in the United States permitted to complete construction work with supplies of copper wire available, the Big Sandy Rural Electric Co-operative Corporation here is one.

The War Production Board Friday also approved supplies to other off all copper except for 100 tons, and directed the REA to divert the 500 tons now in its possession to the REA and 33 other projects. Each of the 34 favored projects was more than 40 per cent completed on December 31, 1943.

Under this plan made available to the Big Sandy Co-op will complete the 101 miles of line under its B project. All but 16 miles in Floyd county and approximately 30 miles in Johnson county are in this county. Arrival of materials for completion of B project is expected in early March, Lockridge, superintendent, said.

Completion of B project will give Floyd county approximately 100 miles of line serving 400 to 500 homes. Johnson and Martin counties 225 miles of line electrifying approximately 1,000 homes will be completed.

Mr. Lockridge said the Big Sandy Co-op also fortunate in having enough materials available to connect other consumers to existing lines. He added that this co-operative has more members per mile of line and is adding more members to existing lines than any other Kentucky co-operative.

OFFICIALS SEE JOB AHEAD

As Sugar Rationing Registration Days Approaching

County school officials this week expressed the opinion, after attending a conference in Ashland where the rationing set-up was discussed, that the task of preparing for the Floyd county sugar rationing will require much effort. Since all rural schools of the county are closed and many of their teachers employed elsewhere, the county school officials must be recruited either from other professionals or other localities.

Nation-wide registration of household sugar consumers will take place May 4 to 7 and industrial consumers will register April 28 and 29, the Office of Price Administration announced this week. All sugar sales, wholesale as well as retail, will be suspended at midnight April 27, and sales under the rationing system will be resumed May 5. The suspension was ordered to give wholesalers and retailers time to take inventory and register their stocks prior to the registration for issuance of rationing cards.

Householders will register for sugar rationing stamps in public grade schools, and industrial consumers in high schools. Teachers have been asked to serve as registrars for the entire household. He or she will fill out and sign an application giving the name, age and address of each applicant and the amount of sugar on hand. Each person will receive a war ration book, 320000 inches in size, containing 32 stamps. Each stamp represents a two-week sugar allotment. If the stamp is not used in the buying period, it will not be good thereafter.

The registrars will tear out of the book a sufficient number of stamps to cover the amount of sugar in excess of two pounds per person or per family at the time of registration. Consumers will give stamps to storekeepers when purchases are made and the storekeepers will use the accumulated stamps, in turn, when they buy fresh supplies.

WHAT A NERVE! Thieves Take Car, Loot Worth $150, Charge Gas to Owner

The unmitigated gall of some thieves! Last Friday night's theft of Joe Goble's Dodge coupe and approximately $150 worth of other belongings at the Broadway Service Station which he operates here was enough to make the owner's blood boil.

But when, after ransacking the premises and filling the car with a supply of gasoline and oil, the thief or thieves charged Mr. Goble $3 on the cash register for the gasoline and 80 cents for oil--now, that was too much.

They did not charge him with the two spare tires, one extra wheel, an assortment of sparkplugs, flashlights and two rifles they took. The outraged filling station operator felt some better about the matter when, 40 minutes after he had notified the Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club in Ashland of his loss, the automobile, undamaged, was found by Galletsburg police.

No arrest had been made by Wednesday in the looting.

SCHOOL BUS ORDER 'OUT', HALL TOLD

Board Is Advised To Make Best Of Old Buses

There is a possibility that not one of the six school buses purchased by the Floyd County Board of Education in February will be delivered.

This information was imparted to County Superintendent Town Hall last week at Lexington, by Henry Reed, of the motor carrier division, Interstate Commerce Commission.

If school bus sales remain "frozen" for the duration, it was a major transportation problem faces Floyd county. Superintendent Hall said, "The only hope expressed was that conditions will improve and that present restrictions will be relaxed."

It is more important that we win the war than any county have school buses, however great the need," Mr. Reed said. "Not a school will be delivered in any county that is under an 'operation' as it is called."

ALL AVAILABLE VEHICLES OF THIS TYPE Were Explained, are Needed for War Effort to Transport Soldiers and Defense Workers and to Perform Similar Services.

Without the buses ordered, the county will have only 16 buses, three of which have been slated for retirement because of their advanced state of wear.

Purchase of the new buses was made Feb. 17, five months ahead of regular schedule, in the hope of "beating the gun" on any priorities that might be declared on such vehicles.

Transportation of students from the District of Columbia, by delivery, will continue to be made by rail at a heavy expense to the board of education. Mr. Reed said that the board of education is now served by buses will be in "keep 'em running" through careful handling and repair. One bus here is in particularly poor condition.

The six new buses on order would have cost $13,500.

HEMP ACREAGE TO BE SOUGHT

1942 Crop For Seed Is National Aim, Isbell Says

County Agent S. L. Isbell this week announced that Floyd county farmers will be asked to sow 100 acres of land in hemp this year in order to grow enough seed to assure sufficient hemp supplies in 1943 to restore the crop acreage which the United States has been deprived by war.

Cost of seed Mr. Isbell said will average approximately 90 cents per acre. The Community Credit Corporation guarantees a price of $8 a bushel for seed produced this year by farmers, provided the seed meets the standard of 90 per cent germination. Each acre should produce from 20 to 30 bushels of seed, Mr. Isbell added.

Hemp grows best, he pointed out, in rich, deep bottom land, and should be sowed in April. A government permit to purchase the seed and grow the crop will be filed with the county War Board in the postoffice building here.

Labor for the cultivation of hemp is approximated, he said, at $1.50 per acre. Mr. Isbell said, hemp has been found by the county agent, growing as a weed in this county, and these specimens are being provided to the government, will supply Floyd county needed cash crops.

Persons interested in these crops should consult Mr. Isbell, who will supply cultivation methods as well as other information.

MAYTOWN

ATHLETIC PROGRAM OFFERED GIRLS
Miss Harriet Allen, of the Maytown graded school faculty recently organized a Girls' Athletic Club among the school girls, which may be far reaching in its benefits, 3 months worthy of consideration by schools that do not have a similar program, in that it most certainly will contribute vitally to the physical education side of the defense program, whose national sponsors continue to insist that youth needs more and better physical training.

Miss Allen originated the idea for the purpose of giving the girls of 12 and over something interesting to do during the active period daily with the development of the physique and skills, while promoting good sportsmanship at the same time.

The organization meets daily at the active period, excepting Wednesdays, chapel days. Included in the program are volleyball, ball, soft ball, hand ball, tennis, shuffleboard, check tennis, horseshoe, basketball, all coached by Miss Allen, who plans to add other features in the near future. There is also a department of archery, which meets each Tuesday with Miss Opal May, home economics instructor, in charge of that particular phase of the program. Miss May will do the job with the girls who desire archery.

The club already has 97 members enrolled, and the list of officers and committeemen follows: President, Katherine Stimpert; vice-president, Elizabeth Boughton; secretary, Mollie Sloane; treasurer, Mosalette Ferrell. Sports committee: tennis, Mosalette Ferrell; volleyball, Genevieve Stambaugh; soft ball, Elizabeth Boughton; horseshoe, Maggie Hickox; archery, Dorothy Staley; other sports, Audrey Cooley; Ray Hayes, Christine Horner.

In addition to making the entire prospectus, Miss Allen volunteered her services and time as leader, working out the following requirements to be met by full-fledged members:

Each girl must walk a minimum of 30 miles during the semester. The most privilege in at least one of the major sports offered. Her standing must not fall below "C". She must have a favorable vote on conduct from all of her instructors.

Girls who desire membership plans may pay 50 cents for same.

The last week of April has been set aside for "playing-off" tournaments in the various sports, with May 1 scheduled for final field day, when ribbons will be awarded to the winning winners. Details of this program will be announced later.

This schedule should receive the support of every patriotic and school-minded patron in the community, because of the possibilities it offers for the social and moral development of girls as well as the physical ones. A similar one badly needed for the boys, and two should continue throughout the summer, with voluntary leaders assisting the sponsor.

As for the Field Day, an annual local county district and state-wide event in many states, it is hoped that the impetus given by the defense program may result in establishing this here.

County basketball tournaments are fine, we readily admit, but even finer, we recognize the need for some inter-school contests that will reach a larger number of pupils and promote their skills of a wider variety. We beg this opportunity to pass our wide-awake County Superintendent, with the request that he appoint Miss Harriet Allen of Maytown, to help plan and boost a county-wide Field Day in Floyd for 1943.

WAKE UP, AMERICA!

Wake up, America! The bugle call is sounding over a nation of scared nations to your beautiful, green shores! Calling to you, America! The land of the free, and the home of the brave—so free that you have long been known to the world as the arsenal of peace, the land of equality and fraternity, and now—the democratic nations who are fighting for democracy are expecting YOU to help them win this war. So let Johnny Public say what he thinks about staying out of this war, if he has no more patriotism about him, and come on! Wake up, and let's go!

Already some of your possessions have been bombed and destroyed. People have been killed, causing many to doubt your great power and ability! Don't let it happen again, America! For freedom's sake, don't let thousands of your strong-hearted, freedom-loving sons are fighting for the land and liberty they love! Fighting on battle-scarred islands, fighting because they know that if democracy is lost in this war, a dictatorship too horrible for words will usurp the entire world. But they know, or at least are hoping, that you are "backing them up." So, wake up, America, and help them!

You are strong and your factories are making you stronger. They are making you the greatest nation on earth! Wake up and use these great powers that you have; on land, on the sea, in the air! Wake up, the traitorous people who come like thieves in the night, to kill your people, and disturb your peace! Wake up and show them the courage, morale and "stuff" that you are made of! Show them that you are a mighty nation, and that you will not allow anything that you did to you on Dec. 7, 1941.

Wake up and win! Don't sleep as did France! Don't let dictatorship take you as it took Germany! Wake up and show them that you are going to keep both green mountains, fertile valleys, happy children, good education, democracy and the love of God in your great land.

Show them, America, that a shot aimed at your place and people won't be tolerated, and let that horrible tyranny and cruelty come to America, as it has to Europe, and the Pearl Harbor incident happen again—only on California, Florida or New York waters, and nearer to, and deeper in your heart. Wake up, America!

CASUALLY SPEAKING

By E. F. EPLING

This is a troubled old world and there are many things which almost get us under "Almost." Yet there are many things to cheer us, help us and enable us to carry on—to victory. For whatever it befalls us, when we weather the storm and come through, that is victory.

Each nourishing meal you partake of, and every exercise, if they're moderate, can fortify your body against more strenuous tasks which lie ahead. Guard your body and your life, and give assistance to others, for you need others and they need you.

When giving cheer and comfort to others, you're made more glad, wiser and richer. For it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Each star placed in the heavens has its proper place and work to do. Every flower and plant has a place and purpose in life, and if we will we can see how simple it is to understand why "God is love."

This war, the same as our individual battles, is forced upon us, and it is truly each individual's fight. We must win if we should lose, all is lost. This can very easily happen, if selfishness predominates. Let us co-operate, work and do all we can; pray and have faith in God.

Not only is Australia proud of her fighters, but civilization the world over honors them. And the would-be slave drivers know them as heroes, fighters of the best type. Our hats are off to the Anzacs along with their determined and brave allies.

We used to hear it said by some misinformed people, "The United States must save England." Well, the most ignorant must admit that it is to rescue the nation that we have been attacked on all sides.

It's repugnant to repeat, after you've heard a man say, "I hate England above everything." It looks as though he is going to hate America as well, for England and America and their allies are going to win if this is the cause for his hatred. He should be accommodated to a free passage to enemy country. A.V.P. care Floyd County Times. 4-2-42

BELL SYSTEM IS AFFECTED

By WPB Limiting Its Expansion Of Services

Acting to save substantial amounts of war materials, the War Production Board has limited future expansion of telephone equipment and services of the nation's telephone companies, including Southern Bell.

The order will affect Southern Bell's operation in this area. Manager McCarty said this week, but does not apply to expansion now in progress or to services required by the armed forces.

"We will comply with the order by doing our utmost in every respect to achieve the desired results in saving materials."

"The overall service to the nation will still be more adequate than that anywhere else in the world."

"We will endeavor to administer the order as equitably as possible with the least inconvenience to the public. All types of instruments and services will not be available at the same time."

"The best service to the nation will be maintained, and a continuation of the cooperation will be doubly helpful in the event of a shortage of materials."

The order was issued March 3, effective upon issuance.

The order, titled, General Conservation Order L-94, among other provisions, curtails installations of luxury types of telephones in business offices and households. It restricts the use of telephones to manual operation of dial and replacement of manual parts by automatic parts.

The order also restricts the installation of extension telephones in private homes, unless they are essential for public health and safety.

The nation-wide program, based upon recommendations recently made by the Defense Communications Board, is designed to save annually approximately 95,000 tons of copper, 800 tons of zinc, 540 tons of iron, and large amounts of other scarce materials vitally needed in the war effort.

Under the terms of the order, which does not apply to telephone installations for the military use of the armed services, except installations of handsets to replace wall and desk types, companies estimating material requirements for installations of new facilities or equipment or expansion of existing facilities are required to limit their margins for expected growth of service to a maximum of three years.

This is designed to prevent use of materials for long-range estimates of future requirements and constitutes a drastic change in present engineering practices.

In addition to growth margin limitations, the order requires all telephone companies, unless authorized by WPB, to:

1. Discontinue the conversion of manual offices to dial offices or the installation of one type of manual office to another type.

2. Discontinue the replacement of manual private branch exchanges by automatic branch exchanges.

3. Discontinue the replacement of all existing wall and desk types of telephones by automatic branch exchanges, except in any instance where any such subscriber's instrument is beyond repair.

4. Discontinue the installation of extension telephones in residences, except when such extensions are necessary for use of those who are charged with responsibilities for the public health, welfare or safety.

5. Employ party line service in those instances where party line installations will conserve scarce and critical materials.

6. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

7. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

8. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

9. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

10. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

11. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

12. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

14. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

15. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

16. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

17. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

18. Discontinue replacements or additions to existing plant (equipment) for the betterment or relocation of such plant, except to replacements essential to the maintenance or production of service.

19. Conserve or re-use existing telephone equipment and facilities whenever such conservation or re-use will reduce the use of scarce and critical materials.

RAIN AND SAVE YOUR ANTI-FREEZE

MOTORISTS are urged to drain and store their anti-freeze this spring to guard against possible shortage next winter.

The Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club has been advised by the Consumer Division of the Office of Price Administration that ethylene glycol—"permanent" anti-freeze—and alcohol mixtures which make up other anti-freezes are among the chemicals needed by war industries, by the army and navy for explosives and for radiators of tanks and airplanes.

The anti-freeze solution should be drained from your automobile radiator and put into air-tight bottles or cans and stored in a cool corner of your cellar or garage until it is needed again next fall. When cold weather returns you will have protected yourself against freeze-up in the event of shortages of this automotive material needed for the production of war materials.

Drain your anti-freeze late enough in spring so that the freezing danger is past.

Find out the capacity of your radiator. The average light car has a radiator capacity of 7 to 10 quarts. Measure the amount of anti-freeze in your radiator and note the amount.

Place the receptacles one at a time under the radiator drain valve and open it. The drain usually is located at the very bottom and front of the radiator.

A funnel or a short bit of hose may be required in order to drain the radiator. Or you might let the anti-freeze drip into a shallow pan and re-pour into your containers.

Having drained the anti-freeze and water mixture into the containers, cap tightly and store in a cool place.

If you take your car to a service station to have your anti-freeze drained, be sure to bring your own containers with you.

In a recent letter to Mrs. Grace H. Sutherland, Floyd county director, Harold F. Brigham, of Louisville, state director of the Victory Book Drive, wrote, "We were grateful for your report to be included in our state report to New York. is an expert in the art of science of winning a competition. And this happens to be the day and time when great competitors are needed, at the front or back of the front. We caught the young competitor on the run to get his start in this general direction.

"Just what," we asked Tunney, "is needed to make a winning competitor, in war or work or sport?"

"There are two main sections to this matter," Tunney said. "One is physical—the other is mental. Certainly, physical condition is a big item. No one, physically unfit, can be of much help in any form of competition and we are now in the middle of the toughest competitive struggle the world ever has known. This is an all-out scrap for everybody now living. And it is no part of a push-over or a sure thing."

"In my own case, I have given years to the matter of getting ready for Jack Dempsey. I never tried to ease up or spare myself. I knew the job it would take even to have a chance.

"We were supposed to be a broke of athletes. But when this war broke out everyone was amazed to know how much physically so many millions were. I didn't say thousands—I said millions. Millions and more millions. There had been too much race, too much selfishness, too few willing to pay the price needed to get in shape."

"By shape or condition I mean legs and stomach, eyes and ears, especially. To me exercises that develop the right stomach muscles, plus the right diet, are among the most important factors. I have never quit these exercises since my last fight with Tom Heeney, years ago. We have needed more performance and fewer spectators, fewer in proportion."

Working an offensive on all fronts, and directed by more than 3,800 men and women acting as local leaders, the 50,000 active 4-H club members will grow gardens, raise and store food, sew and knit, and help their parents in producing food, milk, meat and eggs.

"Each of the 2,000 clubs in the state will meet at least once during Mobilization Week. Members will discuss the adjustment and enlargement of their activities to meet war needs. Every county in the state will be represented in club work this year."

"Last year, when there was no special emphasis on food production, 4-H club members raised 144,252 bushels of vegetables and fruits, and 22,272 bushels of apples, pears and other food products; stored or dried 288,994 pounds of food products; and planted and served 14,657 meals. Dresses made by girls numbered 10,692, and other garments 34,093."

COLOMBIA—AGE-OLD TREASURE CHEST

If the coffee bean has been given place of honor in the matter-of-fact ledgers of commerce where is kept the account of the Republic of Colombia, the emerald is gem serene in the romance of a country whose legends reaches for substance far back of history's record of the New World.

When Columbus sailed on his fourth and last voyage, sailed along the Colombian coast, but without making any attempt at settlement of the country on a high plateau in the Andean Cordillera, not far from where the capital city of Bogota now stands. There was prospering the kingdom of the Chibchas. It was a nation of highly civilized aborigines not unlike the Incas of Peru. The Chibchas knew about the emerald, and may have worshipped it.

After Columbus came Alonso de Ojeda, in 1502. Several times he tried to conquer the Chibchas, and failed. In 1530 three expeditions, one led by Belalcazar, the first lieutenant of Pizarro himself, and another by the tactful Jimenez de Quesada, converged on the lofty kingdom. Quesada's diplomacy prevailed where force had failed. By agreement with the Chibchas his headquarters, now Bogota, was laid out near the old Indian capital, and explorations were started in all directions.

The opening of mines was begun in 1539. Today, clustered around the emerald in this Andean treasure chest, are platinum, gold, silver and copper. Most of the world's emeralds now come from Colombia. And it is a fact not widely publicized that the stone is the most precious of gems. Carat for carat a flawless emerald may easily bring three times the price of a flawless diamond.

Only Russia, at times, has been able to take first place from Colombia in output of platinum. The extent and wealth of Colombian gold deposits is still largely conjecture. It is thought that her emerald, silver and gold deposits are of gold-bearing alluvial. Great stretches have never been explored except by Indian hunters. As the Pan-American highway and tributary roads push on, these and other areas can be opened for mining.

Colombia (territory covers 436,833 square miles). Within the nation's borders the Andean mountain system splits into three parts. Joining again in the extreme south. So the rivers run north and south in the valleys between the mountains. The climate varies as widely as do the altitudes. Tropical along the coast. It is temperate in the high plateau. Inland, Bogota, with an elevation of 8,564 feet, is cool and healthful the year around.

There is a corresponding variation in products. Prominent in export trade are coffee, cocoa, sugar cane, tobacco, bananas, hardwoods from the vast forests, and vegetable ivory. These, with its precious stones, its platinum, gold, silver and other minerals. Colombia offers in exchange for minerals, of that which is still needs in the way of foodstuffs, textiles, iron and steel products, railway supplies, school and other supplies, machinery, automobiles, agricultural and mining implements.

And not to be ignored in any reckoning is the fact that this republic is the only country in South America with a seacoast on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, with good ports on both, open to the trade of the world.

A veritable treasure chest though Colombia undoubtedly is, the gem supreme, in the mind of the true Colombian, is the fact that libera-

DROWNED VITAMINS

Are you pouring vitamins down the drain?

1. Use a minimum of water in cooking all foods.
2. Cook foods as short a time as possible.
3. Bring to the boiling point as rapidly as possible.
4. Cook with slow, gentle heat.
5. Use utensils with tight fitting lids.
6. Stir food on little as possible.

MODERN COOKING helps retain nutriment

The best way to avoid literally "washing out" the vitamins and minerals with which Nature has so bountifully supplied the food, we can learn to cook the "waterless" way.

Study the six rules for the retention of vitamins and keep up your own defense unit for building a healthy America.

These three youngsters are among the many thousands who are being helped to normal lives by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. They have been started on the path to becoming useful, productive citizens at this time when Kentucky needs the abilities of all her children. More than 5,000 other boys and girls need immediate treatment. The annual Membership Drive, which opens March 26, will end Easter Sunday. The goal is $40,000 for the state. In some communities the membership drive is accomplished by the sale of Easter seals.

TO PRESERVE STOCKINGS

Oddy enough, no woman ever seems to get a "run" in an old pair of stockings—they're always "a pair I just put on yesterday." In pre-war days, this was unfortunate; now, under war conditions, it is a real calamity. To help remedy the situation, home economists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics make the following suggestions:

Wash hosiery after every wearing, perspiration and soil injure the fabric; use lukewarm suds, and do not rub the stockings—rather, squeeze them gently through the suds. Dry away from heat and light. In buying, observe these rules: Buy two or more pairs alike at the same time; be sure the foot size is exactly right; be sure the length is right, so that the garter fastens in the reinforced part of the hem, and use much care in putting on, and tugging of the stockings, so they may not be snagged by rough nails or torn.

TOWN-WORLD

QUESTION

What are the many patriots who have a good county willing to throw their 285, 45's and other articles into the scrap heap to go to work on the weapons for killing those who are the people who really need them?

It is the common-sense population ever present in the county who don't mind a scrap and a trawl!

AN, THERE YOU ARE!

Excuse that reader of this column has been found. We're encouraged and here's what he writes these are his words:

"I read one Floyd County Times, dated March 19, 1942, which didn't have 'This Town That World'. What the hell? Has the paper gone to the dogs?"

CORDIALLY YOURS,

This wouldn't take John Corbitt, Johnson county farmer, in World War I, because he had a wife and three children. Now, two of those "three children" are in the army, the third is preparing to enlist. So Corbitt, a veteran before the outbreak of the first World War, is in the army now at the age of 46. To show

TIP TO BUSINESS MEN

If you haven't visited the NVA department store here, you should do so. It's not just another project; this shop is a definite plant on a small scale. The boys up there are actually working, learning to do what is necessary to be done in the defense. We should say, victory effort.

You'll find Mr. Quillen, the superintendent, and others in charge friendly. You'll find 100 young men, it is more hard work, learning to do what is necessary to be done in the defense. We should say, victory effort.

And—guess!—the monthly payroll at the shop is from $4,500 to $5,000. That's what might interest some of you.
