Keeping High Lines HOT

when the Weather is NOT!

Here's how they patrol electric power lines out in the Northwest, when the snow piles up and the mercury plunges down. This novel ski-mobile is driven by a motorcycle engine and spiked caterpillar treads. It will do 35-40 miles an hour on the level—if there's any level!

The ingenuity, skill and courage with which these linemen keep current flowing are typical of the way electric company men everywhere meet such emergencies, including the greatest emergency—WAR.

Under America's system of freedom of enterprise, the business-managed electric companies provide over 90% of the nation's vast power supply.

Without subsidies or tax concessions, these companies have met every war demand for power and satisfied every essential civilian need for electricity.

FEBRUARY 12—AND A WARTIME PRESIDENT

SATURDAY of this week, the birth anniversary of an immortal Kentuckian and American will be observed. In some quarters, as members of the party to which he gave breath and life gather, it will not only be observed but celebrated.

Abraham Lincoln, the Kentucky boy, is one of the country's immortals.

This is the Great Emancipator to whom Americans do honor next Saturday. The boy from Kentucky who split rails in Indiana and Illinois and who later refused to split "legal hairs" as President of a country torn by dissension when the good of the Cause demanded he should break tradition, smash the young but hidebound rules by which the Constitution governed these states of our country.

His Emancipation Proclamation, those who "split hairs" will tell you, was in violation of the Constitution. Others, now long dead, berated him because he did not proclaim the Emancipation months, perhaps a year or two, earlier.

These days, in the perspective provided by the years, the Lincoln boy who first saw the light of day in a Kentucky log cabin is recognized by us all as the one man who kept before him always the shining light of unity for these United States without which this nation could never have grown great; the country boy whose heart failed him at human suffering, whose power of pardon for deserter and foe alike was exercised in the name of mercy. "Shooting wouldn't do this poor fellow any good," was the usual comment of the big-hearted Kentuckian. He hated the sight, the thought of blood, did this man whose thoughts transcended his own earthly home. He was so humble that he often doubted if he was a fit leader of the country in days of strife when discipline was necessary, when bloodshed was inevitable.

The boy in him, suffering with poor parents the vicissitudes of poverty in Kentucky, his manful work in Indiana and Illinois where tragedy deeper than poverty even overtook him, taking from him the girl of his heart, visiting him with business failure, his flashes of humor amid all skies darkening his own horizon—the story of Lincoln, the saga of his rise always upward to the moment when he became "a man of the ages," is the narrator. All except the acridulous skepticism of all good men and the good all men do in some degree now do him honor.

This was the man who wrote the immortal letter to the widow Bixby, who was ridiculed by men who should have known better for an aimless expression of Americanism at Gettysburg.

And this man Lincoln, whose birth anniversary will be observed with reverence next Saturday, is the same man the Copperheads of the North, the Secessionists of the South, the aristocrats who hated the invasion of the White House by the poor and the meek, called by divers names and epithets—"ape" and "liar" and "dictator" and "felon" and all the bitter, hateful things a man beset by a divided, tortured people could suffer.

Among those who, back in the 60's, defied the name of Lincoln were Horace Greeley, the country's most influential newspaper editor, and Henry Ward Beecher, the pulpit orator and brother of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Big "guns" were gunning for Abe Lincoln, those days; this, aside from the shot and shell thrown by Jeff Davis and Robert E. Lee and "Stone Wall" Jackson.

Kentucky's Abe Lincoln, whose face was that of a man of sorrows, was accused of granting leaves to soldiers on the battle lines so they could return to their homes and vote for him in the mid-term election. This man whose memorial at Harrodsburg exalts Kentucky in the community of states that is the United States of America, was plainly speaking of his enemies are worthy of being shot, an out-and-out rogue, a lout, a scoundrel of all things noble.

That was eighty years and more ago. Today, we all see through the chain-falls of the decades glimpses of the fineness that was Abraham Lincoln, the leader of a country torn in internecine strife, the one man who was by every instinct of heart and nature equipped to lead us most quickly to a new and marvelous life is the communal life of these United States.

The President of this country today has his political problems, as did Abe Lincoln, in the 60's. There are today nests of Copperheads remaining, those who want peace, those who hate the President, those who think more of tomorrow's safety and security on the House Front than they think of the men on the War Front. These are here at home, they are in Congress, they permeate the entire national picture.

And so does the story of "Honest Abe," accused of every sin with which man is charged, detail into the story of another wartime President.

1,000 'Buddy Bags' Sought For Wounded Fighters

'Buddy Bags' for hospitals, a thought of them place, was called made this week by Mrs. E. H. Sowards, Floyd county director of Buddy Bags.

For comfort for the brave men now overseas and that request still holds good, for bags are being sent out as fast as they can be shipped. Now the hospitals for convalescing patients are asking for bags for the wounded soldiers arriving in this country and for use in storing their personal belongings. The Red Cross is cutting these upon type bags now and they will be made by various groups throughout the county. They must be filled with articles for the boys.

"We must now meet the demand for comfort for the brave men now being restored to health in the service hospitals throughout the land," Mrs. Sowards said. "There is no one who has spent time in bed who will not recognize the comfort of having a receptacle for one's small personal belongings right at his hand where he is able to reach for it himself or even if he must ask another to do so for him. The inside pocket helps keep articles in order and easy to get. Think of these men's needs as you select articles to fill your bags which will carry your good wishes for a speedy recovery to health and happiness."

This week a check from the Junior Red Cross members for $30. one from Mrs. Ruby Burke, $25, Mrs. Lon S. Moles $1 and $5 from Mrs. P. Mayo will help finish 50 bags soon to be ready to ship. Floyd county has filled only 400 of its quota. Mrs. Sowards urges asking other contributions from Floyd county citizens, mothers, relatives and friends of boys in the service.

Wills Residence Here Is Gatted by Blaze

Fire which is believed to have been caused by defective wiring in the second story of the building gutted the home of B. P. Wills here late Wednesday afternoon, destroying all household effects. The children were removed to the nearby City Hall and this morning Thursday were said to be improving.

The building was owned by Mrs. Jose D. Harkins. The family, downstairs during the visit of the doctor, was not aware of the blaze until a portion of the upper part of the structure was collapsing.

No estimate of damage was given. Eleven members of the Fayette County Homemakers' Chorus sang several hours Christmas eve singing carols to the least fortunate.

BUY WAR BONDS!

THE WEEK IN OPA

(Facts you need to know about Rationing and Price Control)

Sugar Stamp 40

For Home-Canning Only

Reports have come to the district office that a number of housewives are spending their No. 40 sugar stamp now, some seeming to think it is a "bonus" stamp. Stamp No. 40 is definitely not a bonus stamp. It is valid for use in buying sugar for home-canning only. It is spent and the sugar is used now, the housewife will find her supply short when the canning season comes, since the five pounds bought with this stamp will be deducted from the season's canning allotment. The reason this stamp was made valid now is that in the far south some early fruit is ready for canning. Housewives in other sections probably will not need canning sugar for some time. Stamp No. 40 will remain valid for 13 months, through Feb. 28, 1945, so there's no hurry about spending it.

Tire Eligibility Changed

Eligibility for new passenger car tires is now based on the purpose of driving rather than the distance driven. Only motorists who do highly essential driving will be eligible for new tires and even these will be carefully "screened" since there are not enough new tires to meet all essential needs. Most of us will have to get along on recaps.

The Gasoline Picture

If the European war continues until next fall, there will be a marked decrease in the quantity of gasoline available for motorists. Paul Dextheimer, district mileage rationing officer, said this week. Armed forces will require 40 per cent of the entire output of the nation this year. Gasoline production has been reduced 4,000,000,000 gallons since 1941 because of increased demand for fuel oil for the navy and the merchant marine, toluene for TNT, and butadiene for synthetic rubber.

Restaurant Prices

The highest prices that may be charged in any eating establishment in the 14 counties of the Louisville 22A district are the prices that were in effect at that establishment April 4 to 10, 1943. Reduction in quantity or quality of food must be accompanied by comparable reduction in price. The District Director may issue special orders bringing inflationary prices into line.

Destroy Unused Stamps

The district OPA office is stressing through every available means the importance of destroying unused ration stamps. Some farm families, especially since the home-slaughtering season began, have been giving large quantities of unused ration stamps to their relatives and friends. This not only is in violation of rationing regulations, but leads to lowered buying power for all. Removing from supply more meats and fats than the amount allotted for civilian use would eventually result in reduced rations for the nation.

More Low-Price Clothing

More low-priced clothing for women and children may be expected on the market within the next few weeks. Price Administrator Chester Bowles has taken steps to set low-priced dresses, coats, and other outer garments back into production.

Fats Salvage Doubled

Preliminary figures indicate that the weekly amount of waste fats turned in for war purposes has more than doubled since institution of the plan to give housewives meat-fat points in exchange for kitchen fats. Even so, the amount now being salvaged is still below the minimum need of 230,000,000 pounds a year.

This 'n' That

By NOBLE HOBBS

We had another fine basketball game last night when Wayne took Hindman by a score of 32 to 30. A fine game by two teams evenly matched and well behaved. Watch these two teams in the district tournaments unless they are upset by some dark horse. Always possible, you know.

As we watched these two teams play, it brought memories of some of the boys of the teams of yesterday.

Edmund Castle, now a captain in the army somewhere in Italy, recently cited for bravery. Always there was a certain dignity about that boy.

And A. B. (Bush) Brooke, a lieutenant in the signal corps, somewhere in England.

Erwin (Red) Mills, now missing in action. Always scout-leader and with an infectious smile.

Claude (Poodle) Prady, Jr., twice wounded in the North African air-fair.

"Chalk Eye" Mills we have lost track of, but somewhere in the army. He is doing all right.

Jack Donohoe, killed in a plane crash in Chesapeake Bay. He was a marine lieutenant and pilot of an airplane on a carrier.

"MARCH OF TIME" No. 11

Joe Hobbs, whose bent was toward music instead of athletics, now doing all right as a radio operator and gunner on a bomber in India.

You indeed, a troupe of the King's two men—not an earthly king, but the One who inspires such lads as these to go out and fight and die for something that defies my puny efforts to put down on paper.

Two recent visitors in Wayne were E. M. (Doc) Parrish and R. A. Tuppitt from Newport News, Va. and Jack's Creek, respectively. Mr. Tuppitt's kind of agrees with me about the old Shike, but we won't get into the story—take Mr. Martin's hospital, you will have to see Allen to get all the details.

Memories of some political campaigns of a decade ago: Joe P. Tackett and Millard Salisbury dancing a hoedown on the barber shop porch to the tune of "Ida Red," played on a five-string banjo by a man from 'way up Beaver Creek.

While the late Judge John W. Caldwell stood by and roared with laughter. That man could laugh from way down deep, and you somehow knew he meant it. Dr. W. L. Stumbo, whose definition of politeness was "kernooding," and who always kept those around him in high good humor with his tales of Beaver Creek in the early days and the tales he told on himself and his brother Ed.

Even Geo. Pow, for years chief engineer for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, made us a speech at the Shop Park theater one night—and a good one, too.

And now the Lord forgive me for starting a political argument with the Shike. He has had more practice than I have at this business. And if I have a couple of friends in the county, I can't afford to lose one of them arguing about some guy I never saw and probably never will.

So long till next time.

SHIKE'S POKES

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

Well, we thought we had another business venture up here on Beaver Creek—the Arthur D. Angus Kemels—but it seems that Bob Taylor all most broke up the business. Arthur's kemels contained about 13 pups; but Bob's fireproof overcoat got after and smothered all but four to death.

The local is about to get Ein Sammons up. They want to know if he's waiting dishes by the day or by the dish.

John Horn with that white apron would make a good advertising plug for Old Days Cleanser.

Vincent sez he took his shoes off but Woodrow put them back on again after he was asleep.

I notice by the papers that sawdust is a great potential source of sugar alcohol for liquor. Page Doug Hays—hey got a fortune made. Let's distill the sawdust, Doug.

But if they start making liquor out of sawdust they'll have to change the names to "Old Poplar," "Old Oak," etc. A slogan might be, "We have the cash for a pint of Old Ash." And if Doug Hays is distilling sawdust I've figured out a good slogan for our brand: "Just get to rate with the women, just get a pint of old Ford Persimmon."

I think a right good system of curbing these Associationist Seniors would be to have them, at all, when they bury their heads in the sand like ostriches, would be for some good American to set a good solid shoe on their exposed neck, then let 'em stand up and eat a while.

I'm of the firm opinion that the only reason all these Republican Senators are against letting the soldiers vote is that they are afraid the soldiers will vote for F.D.R. What's it any of their business who the soldiers vote for? Just give them a right to vote. I've seen several letters from soldiers and sailors advising their parents and kin to vote against every man that votes against letting the soldiers vote. And Congress take note—these soldiers have a lot of power with the homefolks.

All the good men must be dead, else tomatoes are still late.

Thank to Warren Wohlford and Barbra Osborne. I'm betting on you fellows.

Every time I hear a speech by Spangler or Howie it makes me all the more determined to go forthwith with Roosevelt.

A bunch of fellows were talking and one fellow remarked that before his twins were born his wife read "Twin Trails." Another fellow remarked that just before his triplets were born his wife was reading "The Three Musketeers." Another fellow jumped up, grabbed his hat and dashed from the building. His friends caught up with him after a few hundred yards and inquired the trouble. He replied that when he left home his wife was reading "The Birth of a Nation."

H. Matthews of Wayne county has sold 2,270 pounds of tobacco on 1.4 acres which sold for more than $50 per hundred.
