Commonwealth's Attorney Martin appeared before the court but did not contend for continuance of the detective services. He asked, however, that the court employ a clerk or stenographer for the County Judge Stumbo later told The Times he may recommend to the court that it hire such a worker for the Commonwealth's Attorney at a salary of $1200 a year.

Settlement with Sheriff Gorman Collins showed that, according to report of auditors as adjusted by the court, his 1954 net salary amounted to $7412.23. The court directed that the Sheriff pay the County Treasurer the $1212.23 difference between that amount and the statutory $7200-a-year limit.

The court also directed County Clerk DuRan Moore to advertise bids on the purchase of houses the county bought from the late Slater and Mary Hicks when it procured rights-of-way for the Stone Coal-Turkey Creek road. The successful bidder will be required to remove the structures from the right-of-way.

Clarence Powers produced 102 bushels of corn an acre to win the corn derby in Whitley county.

Tobacco yields in Powell county averaged about 360 pounds an acre less than in 1954.

Some of the 9,000 trees set by Larry Warlick and son in Whitley county in 1952 now are over 50 feet high.

Where can I get some good seed corn? Then I would tell him which farmer had tested seed corn for sale.

There wasn't any corn derby in 1918 but some good yields were had anyway. B. P. Herford, of Cliff, now of Milton, Ky., raised 80 bushels on each acre he demonstrated. He used a combination of fertilizer and topped his yield to 70 bushels. Johnson notes that Herman Powers, of Allen, a clubber, had over 200 "rain ears" of seed corn for planting.

The assistant emergency demonstration agent wrote a specific report on several crops. Some were written off, for example "There is no cotton grown in Floyd county. And tobacco was just about written off but not quite." A few of the farmers of this county raised their own corn and tobacco but no more. Tobacco is being grown here and more farms would raise a commercial crop of the weed if the quota system would let them. Ten and a half acres of tobacco were marketed from Floyd farms last year. Rye came in for Johnson's attention. He said the county was to sow over 700 acres of rye this year. He noted the farmers to sow more of it. He had to get an increase in sorghum production here and more farms would raise a commercial crop of the weed if the quota system would let them. With a weak Merit System our nearest approach to Civil Service, this week of officially designated as Civil Service Week has a peculiar significance for Kentucky. The present state administration even now is in the process of removing former state job-holders and replacing them with workers of its own choice. Doing so is following the old familiar pattern, and this is not intended to criticize Governor Chandler but to emphasize a situation long existing wherein the worker having all the qualities of "honesty" and "loyalty" (except to this candidate or that) and "merit" has no job-security unless he or she happens to pick the right "horse."

Civil Service has been criticized by politicians great and small, because it enables individuals to go on working as long as they do a good job, whether their politics agree or disagree with the party in power. Teachers' tenure has been criticized for the same reason. One criticism of the latter arises, critics say, from the fact that it firmly installs incompetents or worse in teaching positions and that boards of education are helpless to remove them. But this isn't true. They can be removed—if the board has the nerve to prefer charges and give the teacher proper hearing. The weakness of this situation, then, lies in the administrative department rather than in the law itself.

This state needs a Hatch Act and it endeavored to keep state employees out of politics, and with that a companion Civil Service System. The weakness of the latter is to keep at work those workers whose weakness—or in-strength—is that they are not clever and far-sighted politicians.

Civil Service Week And Kentucky's Need

This is Civil Service Week, and Governor Chandler has proclaimed it as such in Kentucky, meanwhile paying tribute to the civil service system for making possible high standards "based on honesty, loyalty and merit."

Civil Service, of course, applies to federal government workers. Unfortunately, Kentucky and many other, perhaps most other, states have no such system for the protection of workers in their own state governments.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

TWO IN TOP 25

Today's state-wide high school basketball ratings—the 14th annual of Courier-Journal ratings—list Walsley as 12th among Kentucky's 504 prep teams and Paintsville as 23rd.

This is the first of the weekly ratings that has not had four or more of the 15th ranked teams in the top 25. Notable absences are Wheelwright and Betty Layne.

PAINTSVILLE TOURNEY

The semi-finals and finals of Paintsville's fourth annual invitational basketball tournament Friday and Saturday nights should give the fans some indication of the strength of the team in the region.

Wheelwright, Paintsville, Betty Layne and Flat Gap seem to be the chief threats for the 5th title.

FREE STATE TOURNEY TRIP

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a basketball contest that will be decided at the half of the finals of the 15th regional basketball tournament.

First prize is an all-expense trip for two to all sessions of the 1956 state tournament. Second and third prizes are one set of tickets to all sessions. See any member of the J.C.C. for rules and information.

PAINTSVILLE FIRST

Paintsville has taken over from Betty Layne first place in the Times 15th regional ratings that appear elsewhere on this page. They topped Meade Memorial 33-14 in their last outing, while Betty Layne

The January issue of the Kentucky High School Athletic has the following new describing officials, which we thought you might enjoy.

THE REFEREE

(Lament of a Disqualified Player)
The referee runs up and down And beats his thumping hat. He yells and blows his whistle with A John L. Lewis air.

He glowers when I take a step Too much against my guard. And if I chance to lack a man He throws the book—and hard.

The referee's flimsy bird: He has an eagle eye. I can't get any foul past him No matter how I try.

But if my sword hangs on my neck Or on my ears does that. The referee ain't looking; or He's blind as any bat.

The referee's hard-boiled egg. A democratic eye. And if I try to pass him back I kiss the game good-bye.

I take his own decrees and smile. Don't say what I'd like to say. But the son-of-a-gun is psychic. He knows me out for just Look! that way!

FOUR
And the hangmen tightened the knot and asked the condemned what he had any last words to say before he met his Maker.

"Yes," replied the puffer, "I wonder if I can take a few practice swings."

AIR FORCE WANTS MEN

The ceiling has been raised for January. The United States Air Force is seeking 14,000 young men to begin promising careers during the first month of 1956.

Make sure of your future by contacting the Air Force Recruiter at the Post Office building in Prestonsburg, Ky., and becoming one of the bright young men who find the sky is no limit. If you are between 17 and 34 years of age there is a place for you in the United States Air Force.

FOOT SAVING EDUCATION

By E. B. May, Jr.
THIS WEEK for Sunday March 13 a doctor reports that three out of every four foot doctors find trouble in the first twenty years.

He said, "Since most foot trouble is caused by ill-fitting shoes, parents should learn how to select the right shoes for their children as they grow up."

To help interested parents, this writer will answer questions in a weekly column. Mail your question to:

Wheelwright Maroons Tip Betty Layne, 91-90

Betty Layne suffered their first defeat in fifteen outings as the Wheelwright Maroons succeeded in turning back the Bobcats for the second time this season 91-90, last Saturday at Wheelwright.

The rebounding, hounding Maroons of Hugo Miller outplayed the Bobcats as the diminutive Home outscored the Maroons with a 38 point collection.

Shooting percentages, astronomically high on both sides saw the Bobcats jump out in front of the Maroons 12-8 in the opening minutes, then lag behind as the Maroons got hot and barreled past the Bobcats only to surrender the lead 19-18 at the end of the first quarter.

Wheelwright, riding on the crest of baskets pitched in by Osborne and Curry, were leading 30-47 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Gary Dams, stellar forward of the Bobcats, suffered a leg injury which visibly slowed him down for the remainder of the game. However, Spears, who took up the slack, scored Betty Layne as they rolled up 25 in the third quarter to keep within one point of the Maroons who led 52-51.

The lead exchanged several times in the last quarter with the Maroons maintaining their lead 51-50 winning their fifteenth game.

Former Raceland Coach Now Morehead Mentor, Succeeding Jamerson

Paul Adams, football coach at Raceland high school has been named head football coach at Morehead State College, replacing "Shorty" Jamerson, who resigned as head coach in October.

Adams' appointment came at a meeting of the college board of Regents last week and was announced on January 11 by Morehead President Adron Danner. "Paul Adams was selected for this position after a thorough and careful consideration of persons available for recommendation of representative alumni and the faculty Council on Athletics," Danner said.

The new coach, who was a Little All-American selection during his days with the Eagles, will take over his duties on February 1. Adams is returning to his alma mater with an impressive high school record. During his three years at Raceland, he compiled a record of eighteen wins in twenty-four games. Raceland finished second in the Northwestern Kentucky Conference in 1953.

A graduate of Cool Grove (Ohio) high school, Adams played center at Morehead for four years under the tutelage of Ella Johnson and Len Miller, achieving Little All-American honors in 1949. His college work was interrupted by a four-year hitch in the Marine Corps during the period 1944-48, but he returned to graduate in 1949. He played pro ball with the Pittsburgh Steelers for three seasons immediately following graduation and then to Morehead as assistant football coach in 1950 and coached at Ludlow, Ky., from 1951-1953.

Adams is married and has a one-year-old son. His wife is the former Betty Creech, also a Morehead graduate.

Lay Up The Old Gun—Rabbit Season Ended Tuesday of This Week

Kentucky's hunting season for rabbits, quail anduffed quail ended Tuesday, January 17, bringing to a close one of the most successful seasons in recent years.

In addition to the close of this season, shooting also stopped for ducks, geese and mallards. While the hunting season may not be taken after January 17.

Most of Kentucky's hunters have reported good kills the past season with perhaps the squirrel split season being the best in years. The population of squirrels was greater than in many years. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported that the world of quail, quail, rabbits and quail equalled or surpassed previous years. Excellent weather, provided the most of the season, except for a quick freeze and the late snow days delayed the arrival of game species from their northern nesting grounds. However, during the latter part of the season, hunting for quail, ducks and geese was good.

Annual Bouts Proceeds Goes To March of Dimes

The second Adams Big Sides Valley Golden Glades Tournament, sponsored by the Paintsville Fire Department, will be held in Paintsville on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of Feb. 2nd, 3rd and 4th. The proceeds from this tournament will go to the March of Dimes.

Entrants may get application blanks from the Paintsville Fire Department or writing Golden Glades Tournament, Fire Department, Paintsville, Ky.

All winners are eligible to enter the Regional Tournament at Huntington, W. Va., on Feb. 18 through 19 with expense paid.

BERRY CLINIC IS HELD HERE

Array of Experts Tell Growers of Opportunity; Say Market Is Unlimited

The strawberry clinic held here Wednesday attracted about 100 growers, mostly from the Western Kentucky area, who presented and spoke on many subjects. Present were approximately 100 growers, mostly from the Western Kentucky area, who presented and spoke on many subjects.

Purpose of the clinic, according to W. W. Maczill, strawberry specialist of the Extension Service, was to give growers a better understanding of the strawberry market and to help them in their production.

Maczill said that the strawberry market is unlimited and that growers should be encouraged to produce more.

Tree Seedlings Available To Floyd County Farmers Through Forestry Division

The State Division of Forestry is making available a limited number of tree seedlings to Floyd county farmers again this year.

Specimens available through the State Division are black locust, white oak, yellow poplar, black walnut, loblolly short leaf and white pine. Two other species, sweet gum and red cedar, were available, but the supply of these two species have been exhausted.

Farmers who are interested in planting trees will be interested to know that the cost of these seedlings will be $10 per thousand, however, through the A. S. C. program tree seedlings can be obtained on purchase order. This was the farmer has none of his own money invested in the seedlings. Approximately 1,000 seedlings are required to set an acre and under the A. S. C. program farmers may receive up to $16 per acre for setting trees.

To be eligible for cost-share payments, farmers must have prior approval on this practice. Therefore, you should contact the A. S. C. office and make your farm plan before placing your order for trees, if you plan to get the seedlings on purchase order or qualify for payment later.

Farmers may place their orders for trees with the State Division of Forestry at the new State Office Building in Prestonsburg. All agricultural agencies in the county are cooperating with the State Division by taking farmers' orders. If you place your order with one of the agencies it will be promptly turned over to Bill Maczill, Acting District Forester, for delivery.

"I don't think this would have happened on concrete!"

"It happened so fast, officer! I was taking it easy because I know this type of pavement is slippery when wet. I stepped on the brakes to slow down for the curve and my car suddenly went completely out of control. I skidded into the other lane of traffic and right into that other car. I don't think this would have happened if I had been on a concrete road!"

You're right, Mr. Motorist. There's less chance of such an accident on concrete. Concrete pavement has greater skid resistance than other pavements. Your tires get a tight grip on its gritty surface. This means better vehicle control and quicker stops without skidding, even though it may be raining.

Remember, the type of pavement can often mean the difference between life and death. You're much safer when you drive on a skid-resistant concrete pavement.

REMEMBER, YOU PAY MORE FOR POOR ROADS THAN FOR GOOD ROADS. KENTUCKY DESERVES THE BEST. INSIST ON CONCRETE

here's why ELECTRIC HEAT is the most comfortable heat you can have

Thousands of homeowners have found that for sheer comfort you can't beat the comfort of electric heat.

Here's why:

automatic individual room controls
Look from this room, there's that electric heat control that keeps the room at a comfortable temperature. No need to heat the whole house.

evenly uniform heat
The electric heat is so even, it's like a warm blanket. No hot spots, no cold spots. No need to heat the whole house.
