Those funds will be used in conjunction with the local and federal funds in an over-all 4-year plan to provide adequate facilities in every county of the State for the operation of a public health program. James W. Martin, Commissioner of Finance, said.

The State plans to allocate $250,000 for the construction of health centers next year from the capital construction fund and to submit a request to the Legislature for $500,000 for the next biennium, Martin said.

Wednesday was Friendship Day in Prestonsburg as high school girls planned on lapels of residents and visitors here paper pens and bearing the greeting, "Howdy! I'm Your Friend." The special day was conceived in connection with the revival service being conducted through the week at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church by Evangelist Ned Dibble, former TV star. 'Teacher Views The School Crisis,' By Mrs. E. R. May, New Book on Sale

More complete instruction in the lower grades; less emphasis on the "social" aspects of school; and stronger pre-school preparation — these are just a few of the stimulating ideas discussed in A TEACHER VIEWS THE SCHOOL CRISIS, by Wilma Gunn May — an excellent new offering in educational literature just published by Eppert Press, Inc. of New York.

The author, a former Floyd county teacher and resident of Langley, now lives at Tullahoma, Tennessee, Ky.

Presenting vivid actual classroom incidents, Mrs. May, who has had many years of experience in the field, reveals a number of clearly stated themes and suggestions for alleviating the weakness in modern "progressive" education. Highlighted are the dangers of the lack of competition stimulus; what happens when incapable students are "passed" just to prevent overcrowding of classrooms; why spiritual guidance is so necessary in the scholar's training program.

There are many comments from leading national educators in A TEACHER VIEWS THE SCHOOL CRISIS, which includes crystallizations of Mrs. May's discussions with parents and other teachers over a number of years. One parent, the Rev. J. E. Peery, Jr. of Ashland, Ky., says of the book:

"It should challenge parents, teachers, to a deeper sense of responsibility for the unquestionable decline in education."

Mrs. May has done extensive lecturing, writing and radio work on church, juvenile delinquency, world affairs and other subjects. She and her husband, E. R. May, moved to Tullahoma, Tennessee, early last year. They have two children and three grandchildren. Mrs. May has had previous works published in Home Life Magazine, Western Reporter and The Great Teacher.

Among the Floyd countyans mentioned in the book are Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Pries, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hatcher, Bob and Maude Ellen Hatcher, Kelly Coleman, Mrs. Austin Rector and Annette Becker, Jack Stanford, Mrs. Henderson Gibson, Ardine Beverly, of Wayland; Mrs. Kathryn Morgan, and Sam Charles, and Oakie Smith, of Edell; James Salisbury, Dennis Halbert, Shelli Frazier, Dorla Allen, Grace Allen, Sonja Greer, Bna Strub, Iola Crisp, of Martin; Thomas Clark, Violet Allen, Vickie Turner, Olive Tingle, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hagans and Paul Hagans, Liberty Tree Planters, Maytown; Mrs. Bay Howard, Mrs. Frank Layne, Blanche Dingus, V. O. Turner, Otis Spurlock, Bob Wallace, of Prestonsburg; "Copper" John Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Martin, of Garrett; Mr. and Mrs. Clemie Decker, of Woods; Alex Spencer, Jr., of Eastern, and others, including some former citizens of the county. A number of distinguished educators are quoted in the book which is based on a four to five-year study of school problems now confronting parents and teachers throughout the country.

NEW FACES In The COURTHOUSE

In making my announcement for County Judge of Floyd county I wish to make it clear I am a bonafide candidate and expect to win — by the Grace of God and the help of the people who want their courts to dispense justice instead of politics, and to give all decisions according to the letter of the law tempered with mercy. My decisions in your court will never be made by the yardstick of political prejudice or the number of votes in your family, or whom you are related to. I will not hamper every effort made by the officers of the county to enforce our laws. I will not bow and scrape to the lawless element. I will not be a buddy to the bootlegger. I will not expect any contribution from the lawless element for the next election. I will fight to make Floyd county a clean county.

I feel that my opponents may be well qualified but not worthy of this high office. For the most part they have been tried and found wanting. The time has come for the people of Floyd county to take the deed that the court-house gang has had for your offices away from them and give one of your young men an opportunity to dispense justice with equality to all.

You have had eight years without a Judge — now try four years with one. LET'S HAVE A NEW DEAL AND A FAIR DEAL WITH EDD AMBURY FOR COUNTY JUDGE, Democratic Primary, May 28, 1957.

We Are Optimistic

Our guess is that Floyd county's and Eastern Kentucky's greatest days are ahead—the recent flood and threats of future flood notwithstanding.

Our confidence in the area is founded in its people and the sheer courage they have evinced under the most trying conditions. Had they reacted to disaster as sniveling weaklings, looking for an easy way out of the mess, there would be no cause for optimism such as we express here.

We think of many instances of the quiet sort of heroism that does not make news, that few hear about, although such unassuming courage that springs from the very souls of men is of the highest importance.

We recall the merchant who was literally wiped out, all his savings gone, and his decision to stick it out. "If I hadn't owed anything, I might have left, but I have to pay my debts." This man isn't young any more, he could have taken the easy way out as so many in the past have taken and resorted to bankruptcy proceedings—but he did not. And there were many others who faced the same plight in the same way.

And another who said: "I believe in Floyd county, the people are my friends and they've been good to me. Why shouldn't I stay?"

Another: "I'm not downhearted. Things will work out all right."

Then there were those whose homes were literally looted by the water of everything worth having, those who were left without even a bed, and without money to buy new furnishings. Help came to them giving them a glimmer of hope, but without help most of them, we are convinced, would have dug out of the ruins and continued as best as they could to live in Floyd county.

Surely such courage, such a people, will not go unnoticed by the federal government as it works for the common welfare in this country of ours. If flood control and river navigation are brought to this valley—if the federal government will tug at one side of the boat while we tug at the other—this land of a great and courageous people will amaze a lot of people who cannot see beyond the skyline created by the first hill or mountain that rises before them.

We and the Doctor Disagree

An Eastern doctor predicted last week that in a matter of ten years or so seventy-five per cent of the young men of this country will be failing physical tests for the armed forces.

This sad deterioration of the young American male is now in the process of taking place as a result of chemical fertilizers and insecticides used by farmers and gardeners, the doctor avows.

We were at the point of agreement with this prophecy of physical weakness, but we disagree about the cause. The good doctor apparently has developed a phobia about chemicals and their effect on foods, and he could indeed be on sounder ground than we, think, but it strikes us that something less esoteric than chemical formulas may be the cause.

Sleeping and eating habits, for instance. And, maybe, a lack of physical exercise.

The youngsters are burning the midnight oil, all right, these days, but the oil that's being burned is in the family car which doesn't come to rest till far past midnight. Unable to walk a block to the grocery store, total strangers to hoe or axe, they suffer from want of exercise. Loath to go to bed, they rise in a Dagwood-like rush, skip breakfast and scurry off to school.

The vitamin bottle does not restore those things the adolescent thus loses. We somehow have an idea the loss of these ingredients to good health—sleep, regular meals and appetite-creating exercise—may have more to do with present and future physical weakness than any chemicals that may remain in vegetables after Mother Nature gets through with them.

FLOODS ALONG KENTUCKY'S WATERWAYS ARE 200-YEAR-OLD SOURCE OF WORRY

By JOE CREASON (In The Courier-Journal)

What to do with or about its rivers—and there are 31 such streams inside the state or on its border—isn't a problem that only in modern times has troubled Kentucky.

Sometimes one tends to assume, for instance, that floods are a threat inherited by modern generations because in years past timber along the waterways was slashed away, removing Nature's most effective deterrent to the fast runoff of water.

That was may be a major factor in floods like that which struck Eastern Kentucky last month. But it isn't the only factor.

For floods were rolling down Kentucky's rivers when the region was a trackless land of forests so dense the treescapes cut off the view of the sky.

In the journal he kept of his exploration in Kentucky in 1780, Dr. Thomas Walker told of a "frightening tide of water" on the river he named for the Duke of Cumberland. One entry pointed out that for several days the valley between present-day Painesville and Harboursville, near where he built a cabin, was so flooded that it "resembled most the sea in width," and the force of the water was so strong "it uprooted giant trees of oak and hemlock and carried them along on its crest."

Daniel Boone, after an extended visit to Kentucky in 1770, returned to his home with tales about "mighty forests that seem with game" and rivers which at certain times became "raging torrents that are so far from their natural banks and strive to wash away the very hills" between which they flowed.

The first flood on the Ohio River of which there is any known account came in March 1774, a year before there even was a permanent white settlement in the state. Trappers and explorers, including Boone and James Harrod, told of a "remarkable high freshet" on the river from Port Pitt to the falls.

Other Ohio floods, according to early historians and journals, occurred in 1789, 1817 and 1822.

The breaking up of winter and long, heavy February rains caused the flood of 1923. The Ohio flooded to a width of several miles in spots.

Water rose steadily from February 9 to February 16 in Louisville until it created 65 feet above the normal low-water mark. Nearly all the frame buildings along the river in Louisville were destroyed and business was halted for days.

On December 9, 1847, the Licking River rose so fast along nearly all its course that people were forced to flee from their homes in their night clothes.

The Licking went on another rampage in March, 1854, when it rose more than 20 feet in 15 hours at Sherburne, Fleming county (the Post Office and some 10 frame dwellings were lifted from their foundations and washed away.

Stages between Mount Sterling were halted for four days, and for a week trains were unable to move on the railroad between Lexington and Covington. Eight persons drowned. In those early times, as today, the Government took official notice of the rivers and the recurring flood threat they posed. The very first act passed by the Kentucky Legislature on December 15, 1792, pertained to rivers. Many other early acts were along the same line.

The first company chartered to improve any river was the Kentucky River Company in 1801. It was authorized to clear the river, from its mouth to its South Fork, of all obstructions which "they may judge will obstruct the passage of boats or which may impede the free flow of water in times of flooding."

Between 1808 and 1839, surveys were made of the Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, Big Barren, Salt, Rolling Fork, Little Sandy, Big Sandy and Kentucky rivers. In each instance, attention was given to the desirability of maintaining navigation and also to the necessity of cutting down the danger of floods.

For instance, in 1835 the Big Sandy and its Levisa Fork were surveyed from Painesville to the mouth, a distance of 116 miles. The survey showed that the descent of the river for that distance was only 146 feet, a little more than 15 inches to the mile. It pointed out that such a gradual fall made the river highly vulnerable to floods, a fact that Painesville, Prestonsburg, Painesville, and Catlettsburg know only too well.

The survey pointed out that the levee had been built where they were in order to be near the river and because the only flat land to be found was adjacent to the streams. Two recommendations were made:

1. The removal of "rocks, snags, and leaning trees and the excavation of a channel through the main shoals and rapids to aid navigation and give excess water unimpeded passage."

2. A study be devoted to the "reasonableness of erecting small dams on tributary streams as a means of retaining excessive water . . . which would be retained until the main stream no longer is in flood . . . or the water is needed to aid navigation in period of low water."

Which is exactly what Eastern Kentucky folks have been suggesting for years.

minutes what once required two hours of manual labor.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY

Your County Court Clerk's Office was re-opened for business as usual Wednesday, Feb. 6. The water got in the office 40 inches deep. I stayed with the office almost continually for two days and nights. I got out off by the water and couldn't get back home, but I could get in sight of the house where I could see that Kathleen and the children and our neighbors whose homes were flooded and were staying with Kathleen were doing alright.

When the water began to get close to the Courthouse,
I started carrying the records up to the second floor in the County Courtroom, and when I got out the last load the water was deep enough in the office until the boat would just go under the door. Nothing in the County Clerk's Office was damaged. Everything was kept perfectly dry. The records are all in fine shape. Come in and see us when we can be of any help. We will be glad to see you.

FLOYD COUNTY REGISTRATION AND PURGATION BOARD

The Floyd County Board of Registration would like for all persons whose names appear in the following list to know that they have been listed at least one notice, and in many cases two notices that they should have their voting places changed. The reasons, their having moved into another precinct, have re-married since their voting registration, and should re-register, have moved out of the county. Many deceased persons' names appear on the list also.

The only way the Board has to compile an accurate list is to have the co-operation of the Election Officers in checking your voting record each time you vote, which we shall endeavor to have done in coming elections. The returned envelopes are marked, by the postmaster, "Moved, Let us know address," "Unknown," or "Unclaimed." According to the law these persons are automatically subject to being purged from the voting records.

We sincerely hope that no person is inconvenienced in any way to vote, and if any member of the Board can be of any assistance to you, please let us know, whether the Board is in session or not.

TEAR DROPS

It looks like Judge Hill is doing a lot of apologizing over his official conduct as judge during the past 20 years. Well, maybe he thinks he should apologize, especially, at election time. To me, Judge Hill seems to be apologizing for his record instead of running on his record, as you would expect him to.

DISTRICT TOURNAMENT OPENS MONDAY

The annual 58th district tournament (eventual county) will open at McDowell next Monday night, with two games scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights then one game for each of the remaining four nights of play.

McDowell and Garrett will meet in the first game, and Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne will tangle in the second game. In other opening round games, Tuesday, Maytown vs. Auxier and Wheelwright squares off with Wayne. Wednesday, Martin enters action against the winner of the McDowell-Garrett fray.

BEST IN REGION

The Courier-Journal has asked us to name the 15 best high school basketball players in the 150 region, so we are listing our selections here. The order of listing does not necessarily indicate standard of ability.

Bryan Hall, Paintsville, 17-point average; Edgar Rister, Garrett, 34.4; Porter Powers, Auxier, 38; Charles Coburn, Flat Gap, 35; Carroll Burchett, Flat Gap, 22; Tommy Adkins, Pikeville, 21; Charles Blevins, Betsy Layne, 21; Ray Clarke, Betsy Layne, 19; Bill Caudill, Maytown, 20; Bill Elliott, Maytown, 24; Tommy DeDe, Paintsville, 18; Howard Hatfield, Betsy, 23.4; Junior Horn, Inez, 22.8; Murvill Blair, Oil Springs, 18; Darwin Smith, Pikeville, 15.

LACK OF GYM FORCES CANCELLATION

Each basketball season, oddities crop up as coaches sometimes mix up their schedules, forget to hire officials or have two games scheduled on the same night, but Prestonsburg's mentor, Jack Frost Wells was forced to cancel a game last Saturday night with Louisville, Ohio, since he was unable to obtain a gym in which to play the game. The game was originally carried for Martin, but the flood forced a transfer to Paintsville. Then Paintsville forfeited the commitment, and had another game scheduled and would have played in as part of a twin bill. McDowell, in addition to being used by the home school, serving Betsy Layne and Martin and, playing Martin on that night, did not want to share a good game with non-dwelling Prestonsburg. So Prestonsburg cancelled the game.

REGIONAL AT PAINTSVILLE

For the second time in the past four years, the 15th regional tournament will be held in the Paintsville high school gymnasium, possibly March 5, 6, 7, 8. Rumor has it that several hopeful coaches who expect to be in the tournament, favor playing one semi-final game on Thursday and one on Friday. Others want to play one game in the afternoon and one at night and make it a three-day affair.

Oddly enough, Pikeville won the tournament when it was held in Paintsville two seasons ago, beating 32-game Made Memorial to win the highly prized trip to the state tournament. In the '34 and '36 tournaments, held on the Pikeville floor, Inez and Wayne advanced to the state tournament.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp Home Demonstration Agent

TOP OF THE MORNING

February has been officially labeled as "Better Breakfast Month." That makes it a good time to take stock of your morning eating.

Longest span of time is between the evening meal and breakfast. The most work, mentally or physically is done during the morning hours. So it adds up that you should eat breakfast. A well balanced breakfast will provide one-fourth to one-third of the whole day's food requirements.

Today fix a good breakfast

Today fix a good breakfast regularly makes you work better, play better, feel better, and it keeps you more cheerful all day long. Are you eating one?

Plan the breakfast to satisfy your family depending on the type and amount of activity. Include a fruit, cereal or bread, and milk. A hearty breakfast will call for eggs, meat, or special like pancakes, french toast, etc.

A well balanced breakfast regularly makes you work better, play better, feel better, and it keeps you more cheerful all day long. Are you eating one?

For those who have little time to prepare breakfast, here is a suggestion. Keep extra spread in the refrigerator.

Combine 2T. Honey, 2T. Sugar,

2T. Soft Butter or Margarine and 2T. Flour spread on top of a brown, and serve rolls. Sprinkle with a broken Nuts over. Place on greased baking sheet, and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) till lightly browned, about 15 minutes.

BAPTISTS TO AID FLOODED CHURCHES

Kentucky Baptists have contributed $11,400 so far toward a fund of help flood-damaged Baptist churches in Eastern Kentucky.

A spokesman for the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky said it expects more contributions.

The appeal for help was made February 5 by the association's executive committee and many churches took a special offering last Sunday.

The executive committee will decide March 5 at its regular meeting how the money will be used. At least 10 Baptist churches are known to have suffered extensive flood damage.

WARNINGS

The following is a collection of safety signs seen at danger points along North Carolina highways:

"From one friend to another, slow down brother!"

"Driving speed, 55; Social Security, 65."

"Heavy foot, light head, bad cure, stone dead."

"If you must kill yourself, get off the highway."

"Don't be impatient, it's a short hill."

"Are you driving yourself to death?"

"Centerline is your lifeline."

"A minute you spare will get you there."

"If you're in a hurry, it's later than you think."

"Our kids need. Check your speed."

"Take your time. The Judge can wait."

"Careful with a car full."

"Highways and graveyards both crowded."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SALUTES POWER COMPANY
The Times:
The people of Eastern Kentucky who were momentarily stunned by the magnitude of the recent flood disaster are all to be commended as they are rolling up their sleeves and diving into the mud and cleaning up the debris. They are beginning to rebuild their homes, shops and industrial installations. Among the many groups who deserve special mention are the people of the Kentucky Power Company. Although many of them suffered great personal damages to their homes, by some miracle that can only be explained by hard work under hardships by long hours they kept the magic lamps burning. I know that the morale value of being able to turn on a lamp seems to erase the darkness of this disaster. When I realize the vast, complete nature of your installations, I can only say I don't see how you did it but I am glad you did.

project, distributed through the years of its estimated life (usually fifty years) and the annual benefits to be realized from the project. Concerning the more comprehensive protection of the three river valleys, Cooper said he had made the following recommendations:
1. Big Sandy River—He has requested the Corps of Engineers to complete and send to the Congress by April its report and recommendations on flood control requirements throughout the valley. Cooper said the Corps has the funds to complete this survey.
Specifically, he asked the Corps to report whether construction of the Pound, Haystack, Phidnap and Clinton reservoirs, or any combination of them, would provide complete flood protection for Levisa Fork and lower Big Sandy valley. Cooper said he had been informed that the Phidnap reservoir which would be located near Pikeville and is estimated to cost approximately $30,000,000—would provide substantial protection.

Consequently, Cooper said, he had requested the President - and the Corps of Engineers to give priority to the question of flood control in the upper Kentucky valley in their current survey of the river, and to report to Congress this session, in time to consider authorization and appropriations for feasible projects. Cooper noted that the Corps had planned to complete its full navigation, power and flood control survey in 1958.

He said he had asked the President and the Bureau of the Budget of request supplementary funds from the Congress for such flood control works as the report may designate to be feasible.

asked that folks return to us are Army tents and blankets which we loaned the people during the emergency period. If these aren't returned, the Red Cross is to restore house-holders to their pre-flood status, not to attempt to put them in better condition than they were before their belongings were damaged. If, for instance, it was explained, "the flood-victim used a small refrigerator before the flood, and it was ruined, we want to replace it with a refrigerator of the same size and quality."
It was pointed out that if a householder is given an order for $100 refrigerator, say, and he applies that $100 on a costlier model, with the dealer accepting that amount as the down-payment and carrying the remainder on installments, prosecution of the dealer may result.

Tax Post Test Results Given

Frankfort, Feb. 24 — Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett has announced the results of the examination of applicants for county tax commissioner given Feb. 8.

Of 315 persons from 104 counties who took the examination, 214 successfully qualified and have been mailed certificates. Of the remainder, 99 persons either failed or did not complete the examination and two were below the legal age limit. The percentage of persons qualifying and failing was approximately the same as in 1953 when 185 qualified and 91 failed out of a total of 276 taking the examination.

The examinations were given by eight teams of Revenue Department employees. Kentucky law requires all candidates for county tax commissioner to pass this examination, except that incumbents may seek reelection without examination. The law also requires that records relating to the examination be kept in the Department of Revenue files for one year, and anyone who took the examination may review his own record.

Qualifying in Floyd county, for the office of Tax Commissioner, besides the incumbent, Olive Akers, are Manly Chisley, Harry Gordon Allen and Jerry Ponce Howell.

FARM NOTES

By County Agent Robert M. Jones

STRAWBERRY FIELDS

Strawberry fields should receive the spring application of fertilizer before March 15. This spring application is most important. Strawberries have to make relative fast growth between now and May. In order to get this growth, the soil should have an abundant supply of plant food.

During last picking season, farmers that fertilized in February and March had yields above average and the quality of their berries were good. Those that did not fertilize found that their berries kept getting smaller as the picking progressed. The reason for this is that the available plant food ran out and the berries were unable to mature properly.

The fertilizer to use should contain no nitrogen, that is the first number in the formula should be 0. If nitrogen is added the berries will be soft and mushy and of poor quality. Do not apply manure in spring as it is high in nitrogen.

To receive maximum results use 1,000 pounds of 0-12-12, 600 of 0-20-20 or 400 of 0-30-30 fertilizer should be broadcast over the entire patch. If this fertilizer is applied before new growth starts there will be no damage to the strawberry plant.

To obtain best results strawberry plants should be set in March. If anybody would like to order plants they will have to act now, before the available plants are all sold. Contact the county Extension office in the post office building at Prestonsburg, for more information.

The outlook for strawberries next season is very good. Reports show there will be a light setting this spring which will reduce production next year. If your farm and labor supply is suited to strawberry production this offers an opportunity to have a good income for you and your family next year.

Brucellosis Eradication Program Being Pushed

Kentucky's brucellosis-eradication program is getting a big push this year from state and federal authorities, who have set January 1, 1960 as the date when this spring application will be under tight control. Brucellosis is also known as Bang's disease or in human to whom it is transmitted, as undulant fever.

Kentucky has appropriated a considerable sum for the fight, about 1,000,000 cattle in Kentucky breeding herds will be affected by the drive. About 70 per cent of the number are dairy cattle, the remainder beef. In addition, there is an annual cull crop of about 1,000,000 head.

To 1956, blood tests for presence of brucellosis were run on 188,270 animals in Kentucky. Of this number, 5,899 were reactors; in addition, 37,175 calves were vaccinated.

Ring tests of milk, a special method of locating brucellosis, were run last year on 28,217 herds in the state, on about 338,000 cattle. About 7,533 "suspicious" herds were found.

Officials point out that eradication of brucellosis grows more important every year. The disease is dangerous to the animals, and at least 26 Kentucky cities have ordinances requiring that cows furnishing milk to those cities be negative in brucellosis tests.

The 1956 testing figures indicated that about one-third of the cattle in the state were tested that should have been. A step-up in this testing figure is one of the 1957 goals of the anti-brucellosis drive.

Companies Asked To Return Cards

Frankfort, Feb. 21 — Manufacturing plants and minerals-industries located in the State have until March 1 to fill out and return to Frankfort questionnaire cards for the 1957-58 edition of the Kentucky Industrial Directory.

In setting the deadline, the State Department of Economic Development said about 3,000 of the 5,800 companies contacted for information during the past six weeks have failed to return questionnaires. Publication of the new directory is scheduled for early summer.

The directory is sold and distributed to private and governmental purchasing agents throughout Kentucky and other states as a means of promoting the sale of Kentucky-made products. It is published jointly every two years by the Department of Economic Development and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

The directory contains addresses, employment figures and products of manufacturing and mining companies operating in the state, and supplemental information on transportation and utility companies, warehouses and community facilities. The 1957-58 edition will contain, for the first time, the names of key executives of each company listed.

No charge is made for company listings.

Come try the BIG BUY
(You can boss this Buick Special for little more than the price of a smaller car!)

ONE LOOK at that price figure and you'll know that—again in 1957—if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick.

And look what you get for so little extra money. You get the most completely new Buick in years. Not just brand new in styling and brand new in body design.

But new in features that make this the dream car of the year to drive.

You get brand-new performance because the engine is literally new from the crankshaft up.

You get a brand-new instant response because we engineered brand-new torque into Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

And to give you the new sure-footed safety of a lower center of gravity—we built a brand-new frame—which lowers the car, but keeps the headroom, legroom and footroom that a big car should have.

Fact is, there are more than 150 other chassis changes in this '57 Buick—waiting for you to try them. Do that soon—at your Buick dealer's.

*See Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow in the only Dynaflow Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Williams-Pack Vows Are Solemnized

Mrs. Ida S. Williams, of Printer, Ky., announces the marriage of her daughter, Jane Williams, to Mr. Chester Pack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pack, of McDowell, on Saturday, December 22, at 10 a.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Allen, of Printer.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Elder Mac McCloud, of Drift. Those attending were members of the family and close friends.

Mrs. Pack is a member of the senior class of Martin high school. Mr. Pack is a graduate of McDowell high school and is now employed by Akers & Sons Music Co., of Martin.

PIKE SCHOOL DAMAGES PLACED AT $314,000

The damage to Pikeville city schools by the recent flood is estimated at $314,000 and to the Pike county schools at $104,000. The estimates were made by County Superintendent C. H. Farley and City Superintendent John M. York.

The city schools are scheduled to re-open Monday.

Pikeville college reopened Monday, February 11. Both schools lost the use of their gymnasiums. The college gymnasium and equipment were damaged $100,000. The water stood 8 feet in the building. The floor was warped and all athletic equipment was damaged or completely destroyed, causing cancellation of several intercollegiate basketball games. Water also caused considerable damage to a maintenance shop and to 50 rooms of furniture stored in one of the buildings. Homes of nine faculty members were damaged, and one house was washed away. The flood forced the school to close just as some 50 students were finishing the first semester.

Dr. A. A. Page, president, has announced that because of the loss of time all holidays have been cancelled in order to make up for the 10 lost days and commencement will be the week of June 2.

Forty Pike county teachers were temporarily out of work Monday when the rest of the schools left usable after the recent floods reopened for class. Some opened earlier.

All schools except Mullins school, north of town were at least partially back in use, but County School Superintendent Claude H. Farley said 75 to 80 classrooms in the county system's schools were badly damaged.

Despite the shortage of space, officials expedited the educational program for the youngsters to be complete. New desks and books have been arriving to replace those destroyed.

Mullins suffered about $55,000 damage of the $104,000 total that Eight Sheep and strawberry committee planning meetings were held in Floyd county last year.

Ten 4-H Council meetings were held to plan the 4-H program in Floyd county in 1956.

Oversboro was first known as Yellow Banks because of a six-mile stretch of unusual yellow clay on the banks of the Ohio River there.

To The People of Floyd County:

The theme of my campaign has been, and will be, COOPERATION. By this I mean that I will be asking for the cooperation of good citizens, the civic clubs, churches, schools and all groups and individuals interested in a better Floyd county.

Without such cooperation, without clear thinking and planning, we will remain where we are—in a mire of debt and futility.

Adding such cooperation, I promise my own cooperation as County Judge with any group or agency of government to the end that we will seek Our road problem is a big one, and to get more roads built and the roads we already have put into better condition I will cooperate in every way possible with both the state and federal governments.

There is much that the County Judge and Fiscal Court do to ward working with those who have the funds to improve highway conditions, and I pledge my fullest effort to that end.

We need school buildings, better rural schools, greater educational opportunity for our children and mine. Teachers deserve, and must have, increased pay in these days of high prices and heavy personal expenses. Whatever Floyd County can do through its County Judge I will see that it is done for education when I am elected.

The problems are many and they are complicated, but they are not so difficult that intelligent planning and shrewd effort cannot solve them. Sincerely,

BILL COOLEY

To The Citizens And Taxpayers Of Floyd County:

I have passed the examination required by the state and am now a full-fledged candidate for your Tax Commissioner. I have already given notice that I will resign my present job effective March 1, 1957, and to those of you who believe in fair and equitable and impartial tax assessments and I believe all of you do, I submit your help and advice in my campaign.

When I am elected your Tax Commissioner I promise that I will devote my full time to the duties of the office. I believe that being Tax Commissioner of Floyd County is a full time job, and while I serve you in that capacity I will not engage in any other business or occupation.

These are troubled times. The recent great flood has brought hardship and grief to hundreds of our Floyd county people. In these times we need to live in closer communion with God and to practice the "Golden Rule" with each other. We need public officials who will devote their full time to the duties of the office and who will conduct themselves so as to set the right kind of example to our youngsters who must soon assume the burdens of leadership themselves. When I am elected your Tax Commissioner I promise you that I will make you that kind of official.

Until I have an opportunity to talk to you personally I remain, as ever, your friend and obedient servant.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Floyd County Chapter and the National Organization of the American Red Cross join in expressing sincere thanks to the many wonderful volunteers who assisted the Red Cross during the emergency period of the flood disaster operation.

Many good citizens, too numerous to name, gave many volunteer hours in making it possible to get needed assistance to the flood victims immediately. Volunteers operated the warehouses, provided transportation, distributed food, clothing, and other essentials. Volunteers acted as interviewers received applications for assistance, answered the phones, ran errands, and really made it possible to help those who were unfortunate in being affected by the flood. The "volunteers" really did a swell job and gave the adults a lesson in service to others.

The local government, the cities and county, assisted no end, and for this we are grateful. In fact, all of Floyd county really showed that the people here could meet any emergency.

Since we cannot show our appreciation in any tangible way, we hope that this public acknowledgment of your fine service will in some way convey our deepest thanks.

Rev. Harold Dorney, Disaster Chairman, Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross

J. B. Green, Jr., Area Director, American Red Cross, Disaster Headquarters, Floyd county, Kentucky.

Three Meetings Held
Three County Extension Advisory Committee meetings were held in Floyd county in 1956.

Two long this county has been neglected in the matter of roads until it is shameful that in this day and time we still have a wholly insufficient system of roads. We have the resources, we pay gas taxes and it is time we receive something besides mere promises.

A little change won't hurt! Vote for me and I will work for you!

POWER...to cut time costs every trip!

New DODGE PowerGiants

MOST POWER OF THE Low-Priced 3

You get a power reserve in a Dodge Power Giant that pays off every mile you drive. From 204-hp. pick-ups to giant 232-hp. tandems, Dodge gives you the most power of the low-priced three... actually as much as 31% more.

Extra power means faster acceleration, safer passing... cuts your time costs every trip. It cuts operating costs, too, because it lets your Dodge engine loaf under loads that make less powerful engines whine with strain. Less strain means less wear, fewer repairs. And the special-designed of these Power Giant V-8's delivers full-powered performance on regular gas.

More power lets you haul bigger loads. That's why Dodge can offer bigger payload capacities in every weight class. For instance, the Dodge 300 pick-up packs up to 73' more payload each trip than comparable competitive makes. And that's the kind of payload advantage that many times means one trip instead of two.

Dodge is the easiest handling truck on the road — with the shortest turning radius for easier parking and quicker zip-in-and-out maneuverability. Power steering is available for most models. And for the first time on any truck, Dodge offers the extra convenience of a push-button* automatic transmission for the easiest driving ever.

MOST PAYLOAD
OF THE LOW-PRICED 3...
Dodge pick-ups haul as much as 73% more than other low-priced makes.

Combine all these features with smart new Forward Look styling and comfort-designed cabs and you've plenty of reason to take a good look at a Dodge. Why not do it soon? You'll find your Dodge dealer's deal will help you decide on a new Dodge Power Giant right now!

Flood-Area Banks Get State Money, Finance Head Says

Frankfort, Feb. 21 — The state is depositing $2,750,000 in 13 eastern Kentucky banks to relieve "the difficult situation confronted there," Finance Commissioner James W. Martin said.

The area was hit by devastating floods recently. Martin said he and State Treasurer Henry Carter had arranged to deposit the money.

A finance department spokesman explained that the flood disaster had caused many eastern Kentuckians to withdraw their savings from banks to meet the expense of clean-up and repairs made necessary by the flood. Others had to borrow money for this purpose and "the more money a bank has on hand the State funds that would have been deposited elsewhere had it not been for the flood situation."

Martin listed the banks and the amounts to be deposited: Citizens Bank of Pikeville, $200,000; Bank of Neen, $100,000; Citizens State Bank, Hazard, $400,000; Corbin Deposit Bank, $5,000; First Guaranty Bank, Martin, $100,000; First National Bank, Corbin, $67,500; First National Bank, Pikeville, $200,000; First National Bank, Prestonsburg, $75,000; Guaranty Deposit Bank, Cumberland, $62,500; Peoples Bank of Hazard, $600,000; Peoples Exchange Bank, Beattyville, $100,000; Pikeville National Bank, $200,000; Union National Bank, Barbourville, $100,000.

Strip Mining Report Given By Director

Frankfort, Feb. 21 — Licensed strip mining operations in Kentucky now total 167, according to a report filed with the Department of Conservation by Paul P. Gannon, director of the Division of Strip Mine Reclamation.

Gannon advised strip operators in Eastern Kentucky that T. T. Colby, of Pikeville, has been appointed field agent for the division in the southeastern part of the State, and applications for permits in that area should be submitted to Colby or Redwood Taylor, Sr., Ashland, before operations are begun.

The strip mine reclamation act requires operators to obtain a permit and post a bond with Gannon's agency, in addition to obtaining a license from the Department of Mines and Minerals.

At the same time last year, 107 strip mine operators were registered with Gannon's division. The report reveals 103 licensed strip and sage mines are operating in Eastern Kentucky and 64 are located in Western Kentucky.

Gannon said the increase in number of licensed operators is the result of increased effort on the part of the division's field agents to investigate reports of new strip operations in their assigned territories.

Copies of the strip mine reclamation law have been sent to county attorneys in the 28 Eastern Kentucky and nine Western Kentucky counties where licensed strip mines are operating.

Future outlook for coal is bright due to sound condition of the nation's economy and higher tonnages from Kentucky fields are expected during the next year, Gannon said.

Flood Counties Get Feed Corn For Stricken Farmers

Frankfort, Feb. 21 — The State is making available to eastern Kentucky's flood-stricken farmers about 15,000 bushels of feed corn, donated by the U. S. Agriculture Department from surplus commodity stocks.

The State Agriculture Department has shipped the first several thousand bushels of the corn. Gov. A. B. Chandler has turned over money from his emergency fund to pay for the cost of trucking the feed grains into the flood areas.

The first shipment went to farmers in flood-damaged areas of Pike and Floyd counties.

The nine counties qualifying for such aid are Breathitt, Perry, Harlan, Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Bell, Knott, and Leslie. Local distribution communities allocate the feed from a central point in each county.

Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butler named W. L. Rouse, assistant director of administrative services for the State agency, to serve as coordinator of the emergency feed program. He will allocate feed to the distressed counties on the basis of needs established by an investigating committee.

The U. S. agriculture agency plans to donate eventually 175,000 bushels of corn for distribution under the federal-state program.

Disaster Plans Are Discussed

Frankfort, Feb. 21 — Civil defense officials in Kentucky are making plans to relocate the State government in event of enemy attack or natural disaster at Frankfort.

This was announced at a governor's cabinet meeting recently by Maj. Gen. Jesse S. Lindsey, Kentucky Civil defense director. He said the command and control plan will be prepared by his department of Kentucky's bureau of government research. Federal officials will help.

Finding a temporary location for the government will be the major problem, officials said. The site would have to be adaptable to a communications network.
