Bank Seeks Two Branch Facilities

Garrett and Harold Are Sites Selected By Bank Josephine

The Bank Josephine has filed separate applications with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) to establish two branch banks in widely separated sections of this county, it was announced this week.

One of the branches would be established at Garrett, on KY 80, and the other at Harold, on US 23.

John G. Heinze, a vice-president of the bank, said the two branch banks have been planned to reach sections of the county which are some distance removed from established banking facilities. Garrett, he said, is 11 miles from the nearest bank at Martin, and Wayland and other communities which it would serve are even farther distant. The Harold branch would be 10 miles from the nearest Floyd county banking facility at Allen, though nearer Pikeville.

He added that The Bank Josephine's plans for the two branches is an expression of confidence in the developing sections they would serve.

He said the facilities would probably be of modular-type construction. Permission for founding of the two branches must be procured from both the State Department of Banking and the FDIC.

"We are prepared to move fast, if our application is approved," he said.

Two Coal Firms In County Cited In Water Cases

Two coal companies with offices in this county are among the seven against which the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection last week issued complaints alleging violations of water pollution regulations. Two other complaints were filed against companies for alleged failure to report oil spills.

The Left Beaver Coal Company at Ligon was accused of a violation from slurry blackening a stream and coal solids entering a stream. National Mining Co., of Wayland, was named for alleged failure to report coal solids entering Caney Creek, Knott county.

Other companies listed and complaints filed are:

OPENING OF SEARS SLATED APRIL 2nd

A new Sears catalogue store is nearing completion on U. S. 23 North here and District Manager John Shearer said a grand opening date has been tentatively set for Wednesday, April 2.

The catalogue agency will occupy 5,000 square feet of floor space in one of the buildings owned by Don Pelfrey, of Prestonsburg. The store will feature displays of appliance and home improvement lines, heating equipment, automotive accessories, home entertainment centers and other Sears products. A system of self-service package pickup, with items being number- and color-coded will, according to Sears personnel, greatly facilitate customer service, and the store will feature full credit and service departments as well as a teletype "hotline" for the immediate placing of customer orders.

Shearer said the store will employ 12 to 15 persons initially, with the manager being recruited from another Sears store.

JOB OPENING

While most folks are concerned about who will be the next governor or whatever, there are a few of us who are looking at a more basic matter, one which you might say gets down even below the great roots. With the season only a few weeks away, we, my countrymen, have not yet chosen a Poke Warden.

Watt Hale says he's getting a little far along to meet the growing demands of the office. Says the worst thing about the job, these days, is this claim-jumping, which requires the Warden to arbitrate and, sometimes, to separate pickpockets who claim the same patch. I disqualify last year when, in an unguarded moment, I told the truth and said I don't even like the stuff. And Lenna Moore says he'll have nothing to do with it because Watt and I have run the thing into politics.

ADVICE ABOUT THE MARKET

My friend from down Texas-way has this advice for young people on how to get ahead in the stock market:

1. Procure all the information available. Analyze to the limit of your ability. Use all the commonsense at your command and take a positive position on what you should do.

Court Making Another Attempt Toward Collection of Waste

The Floyd fiscal court (Wednesday) to get a solid waste collection system organized and working in this county, although it has only one landfill to receive the waste.

The court has advertised for bids after preparing, with the help of the Big Sandy Area Development District office here, specifications detailing the work to be done. At the meeting scheduled at 1 p.m. today the court hopes to be able to award contracts on a franchise basis for each of the county's four magisterial districts. At present the county has only one landfill, which is located on Turkey Creek in Magisterial District 2, to receive waste collections. County Judge Henry Stumbo has opposed establishing a countywide collection system until other districts are established, perhaps one in each magisterial district. He has urged,

'Empty Bed' Problem Plagues Med Center

Chalmers H. Frazier, administrator of the Highlands Regional Medical Center, agrees that a situation existing at the hospital is a perfect way to establish a credibility gap.

The situation is this: Hospital authorities frequently turn patients away with the explanation that there is not an empty bed available.

At the same time most of those turned away, or those accompanying them to the hospital, know that there never is less than 25 empty beds on the hospital's second floor.

Rudolf, Mr. Frazier admits: "It's hard to convince friends and relatives of the sick that we have no room for them when they can see those empty beds."

Yet, even though seeing is believing, the presence of those empty beds is deceiving. They are there but, because of state regulations, it would be as well that they weren't. They can be used for only one purpose.

Those second-floor beds at the Medical Center were licensed, to begin with, as beds for extended care. There are 49 of them, and at no time has more than 22 of them been occupied.

The hospital has been trying to get the classification of 25 of the beds changed so that they may be used by acute care patients. But the Comprehensive Health

Planning Council of the Kentucky Department for Human Resources has as of this time not approved such a change. It decides how many acute-care beds a region needs, and to date has held that this region (Region 11) has enough.

The situation began with the passage by the General Assembly of the Certificate of Need and Licensure Bill. Forty-nine beds on the Medical Center's second floor were licensed for extended care to serve those with chronic illnesses. And until they are reclassified they must be used for that purpose or not at all.

The hospital's application for the desired change is subject to a section of the Social Security Act which is designed to assure that federal funds are used to support only those health facilities and health services that are actually needed in the local community.

The Health Planning Council has not yet been convinced those beds are needed for ordinary patient care. But Mr. Frazier is not critical.

"They admit," he said last week, "that it's a ridiculous situation."

The council is continuing its study for possible action later this month.

More Housing, Parking Among Top Priorities

Representatives of the City of Prestonsburg travelled to the Kentucky headquarters of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Louisville, February 18, to present a preapplication directly to the funding agency for $306,025 in federal money.

The application represents the culmination of nearly six months of public meetings and discussions with numerous local agencies to decide upon priorities on which to base the grant request. The city began work on compiling the application last August, immediately after passage of the Community Development Act of 1974 which made available $8 million in HUD funds to all those communities in the state which were not automatically awarded grants for their participation in urban renewal projects in 1971.

H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of The Bank Josephine, said the grant application was taken directly to Virgil Kainnaird, director of all HUD activities in the state rather than by mail, in hope of demonstrating to the funding office the city's determination and need for the funds. Mr. Kainnaird was also invited to appear as guest-speaker at the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet on March 10.

The application listed three broad priorities as goals toward which the city will commit itself, including (1) strengthening and improving the vitality of the central business district, (2) improving housing for low and moderate income families, especially the elderly, and (3) providing recreation and recreation facilities within the City of Prestonsburg.

Specific projects and required funds for each as listed in the application included $7,500 for preparation of housing

County Wrecks Result in Suits

Two damage suits asking a total of $151,000 were filed Monday in circuit court Monday, both the result of motor vehicle collisions.

In one of the suits Ethel Harvey asked $50,000 damages and $1,000 for hospital and medical expenses of the East Kentucky Beverage Company, Inc. The plaintiff alleges that negligent operation of a company vehicle on the Mud Creek road, near Harold, Jan. 15 resulted in injuries to her which she described as permanent.

The second action was filed by Dorita Hubbard and Willa J. Hubbard as next friend to Joan Hubbard against William K. Goble and his father, Bill G. Goble, and each asks $50,000 damages. They allege that the younger Goble, driving his father's car, hit the auto of Donald Wilcox, Jr. on US 23, March 4, and said they were passengers in the Wilcox car at the time of the collision.

School Board Meet One of the Shortest

Last Saturday's monthly meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education was one of the shortest it has ever held.

After accepting preliminary architect's plans for blacktopping and draining the administration office lot here and approving the textbook custodian's bond with the Valley Insurance Company, it employed Ruby Ricktor as special education driver and Otto Honaker as garbage collector at the Betsy Layne school.

"Layne House"—An Honor for Long Work with Alcoholics

Frank Layne, native Prestonsburg man, was recently honored by Mountain Comprehensive Care Center when the district alcohol and Drug Crisis Intervention Unit, formerly called the SID Unit, was renamed "Layne House."

The gesture was in honor of Layne's retirement after 25 years of service on behalf of America's No. 1 social illness—alcoholism. More than half of those years were as a volunteer worker; the others included four years of service with the Kentucky State Health Department's Division of Alcoholism and Drug with Mountain Comprehensive Care Center.

Mr. Layne began his employment with Mountain Comprehensive in 1967 with the community mental health program for the District 11 which was more than a dream in the form of words upon paper (grant proposals). As district alcoholism coordinator, he helped plan and develop a comprehensive alcohol and drug abuse program for the five counties in the district—Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin.

The most recently developed service of the alcohol and drug program is the district emergency drop-in unit located at the rear of the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center district office building on First Street here. It is a place where people who are experiencing a crisis situation as a result of the abuse of alcohol, or some other drug, may go for immediate help. The unit is a part of the district-wide HELPS Center—a crisis intervention unit for other kinds of problems. The alcohol and drug crisis intervention unit has been named "Layne House."

Although Frank Layne has not had a drink for 26 years, he still refers to himself as a recovering alcoholic. He is an advocate of the popular school of thought which says, "once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic," and contends that alcoholism is an incurable disease which may become arrested indefinitely but which, nevertheless, is always there, lurking beneath an exterior sobriety, waiting to wreak havoc with the victim's life with the first drink.

"A person who is an alcoholic," Layne emphasized, "cannot afford to take just one drink; he can never stop there. One of the major characteristics of alcoholism is a person's failure to be able to drink with moderation."

Feeling that alcoholism is both a psychologically and physiologically based disease, he says that the most an alcoholic can hope for is a life of total abstinence.

"To achieve the ability to live a life of total abstinence is not easy for the alcoholic," he adds, "but it can be done, and the difference it makes in a person's life and the lives of those who are close to him is well worth the effort."

What kind of difference has effort made in the life of Frank Layne? At 40 years old, he was a down and out; at 67 he is up and with it. In addition to his work in the cause of alcoholism, he has over the past years developed a successful and stable insurance business, a notable place in his community, and strong, solid family and friendship relationships which enrich his life daily.

On the home front, he has restored the 92-year-old home which he lives in on Arnold Avenue with his wife, Mary Lou, and has furnished it with antiques which the two of them have a restoration hobby. He has also become a local history buff and has traced his genealogy back to the 1780's.

How did he manage to turn the tide of his life? Help for him began in 1947 when he, was 40 years old. Although his drinking problem did not involve the use of alcohol daily, he was at times for weeks without drinking. When he did drink the results were disastrous—always ending in a "bender" of several days and at times weeks. It was after such a bender that he had to seek help in "drying out" from a local physician.

"Anyone who has become intoxicated enough to have to hangover the next day, knows what alcohol can do to your body," Layne explains, "and the longer a person has been drinking, the harder it is to get sober. Just the physical agony itself is enough to make one reach for the bottle again, and there is always the guilt and the shame to top it off."

Layne was fortunate in that he did not reach for the bottle again that time. Instead, he went to a doctor for help. Recognizing the fully developed symptoms of alcoholism, the doctor treated the symptoms and then went to work on the cause. He talked with Layne about his alcohol problem, encouraged him to get professional help, got him to agree, and referred him to a psychiatric hospital in Lexington.

It was while he was in the hospital that with the help of the psychiatrist Mr. Layne got his first real insight into his own nature and the nature of the disease which afflicted him.

"It began," he remembers, "as a result of a sodium pentathol interview which the doctor taped, and which, after I had recovered from the influence of the drug, he played back." (Much like hypnosis in its effects, sodium pentathol, sometimes referred to as a truth serum, allows repressed material to come to the surface and to be expressed.)

"With the doctor's help, I began to understand that my initial problem with alcohol had grown out of unfulfilled psychological needs, that alcohol did not create those needs, they were already there, but, added to a physical reaction to alcohol that most resembles an allergy, the combination was disastrous. . . . I became an alcoholic."

Further sessions with the doctor provided him with added insight and understanding. He says that he took with him from the hospital an awareness, a new insight, and some advice that he has found invaluable over the years, not only for himself but for other alcoholics with whom he has worked.

The psychiatrist advised him to work on his ability to communicate, to open up with others, to express himself, especially on a feeling level, and to find interesting and challenging things to apply his energies to. Mr. Layne feels that it is typical for the alcoholic or potential alcoholic to be a person with excessive and pent-up energies which need constructive outlets.

It would sound like a fairy tale to say that Frank Layne walked away from the hospital a cured man. This is no fairy tale. He was not cured. In his own opinions, he will never be cured. What he did walk away with were the tools that were necessary for him to begin coping in a realistic way with his drinking problem.

At that point, he was not strong enough totally to resist his urge to drink. There were other benders, but they were fewer and further between. He had months of struggle and months of continuing to build on the initial insight and understanding that he had gained through therapy. It was years before he could look at himself, look at his problem, look at the world around him, and deal in an effective manner with all. As of this date, he has not taken a drink in 26 years.

During those years, Frank Layne, the recovering alcoholic, has become an aid and an inspiration to numerous others who, like himself, have problems with alcohol. In the service of both the State Department of Health and Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, he has helped to develop local programs and services for the alcoholic. A staunch advocate of the value of Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) groups and their satellites, ALANON and ALATEEN, he has helped to organize these groups whenever and wherever he could. He views himself not as one who has given a great deal to others, but one who has learned to help himself by helping others.

He says, with sincere humility, "I discovered that I could find a greater strength within myself through helping others learn to cope than I ever could have alone. There have been times when I have felt shame for being thanked for doing work which, deep inside, I knew was as much, if not more, for myself than for those I was helping."

Richard T. Stai, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, on the occasion of Mr. Layne's retirement, presented him with a plaque on which was inscribed the words, "To Frank H. Layne for 25 years of living and sharing hope. Thanks to you it's working."

In addition, Stai announced that the name of the SUD Unit would be changed to "Layne House." He later remarked, "The story of Frank Layne's battle and of his victory has been an inspiration to those of us at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center who have been fortunate enough to know him and to work with him. It's his kind of story that the agency is all about. His contributions have helped make hope and help become a reality to a lot of people."

2. THEN DO THE ABSOLUTE OPPOSITE.

HELPFUL HINT

TV sometimes is helpful, after all, I'm reasonably sure we and police departments and some other adults across America appreciated that advice given, the other night, about what to do when a cat shies it up a tree and gets himself a firm hold at the very top, then apparently can't get down and cries pitifully all night. Know what the man said? Let His Nibs get down, the same way he went up—on his own power.

WHEN THE MOMENT IS RIGHT

At times, when the moment is right, I can't as most of you become enraptured with a state of mind. Fixated, you might say.

Faces that have long since dimmed and escaped recall beyond a hazy sort of luminosity at such times they stand vividly clear, in shape, coloring, changing expression, everything. At other times forgotten scenes return, too—the soft, luscious swishing of a breeze in a cove of pines; the steady, mounting roar of a high wind on a tree-covered hilltop. On one occasion the aroma (nothing less) of paper, ink and hot metal that I encountered on my first day if a newspaper office suddenly returned, years later.

Such Recall is, in most instances, an unmitigated blessing. Every autumn, I long for the power of Instant Replay, so that I might later, in drearier hours, see again the hills aflame with color. The film never comes out right, though. But this occasional Recall which I have mentioned comes near to sufficing. It can't be willed into action, it comes only at those times when the moment is right, and such moments are widely separated. But their very rarity perhaps make them all the more wonderful.

NORMAN ALLEN, Editor

Subscription Rates Per Year:
In Floyd County, $6.30
Elsewhere in Kentucky, $7.35

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

A Matter of Public Interest

THE TIMES has learned from a source which it considers reliable that application has been filed for a permit to mine for coal on the Dick's Creek arm of Dewey Lake. This mining, presumably, would be by auger or strip methods and would involve the former J. L. Lafferty property which borders on this scenic branch of the impoundment and is within a few hundred yards of the main body of the lake.

This report is published here because the public would otherwise never know, in advance of final action on the permit to mine, that such a venture is even planned.

We think all are entitled to know about this matter, because unpublicized, or "secret," negotiations between coal operators and the state and federal agencies charged with protecting the public interest have in the past too often failed to protect.

For a Breath of Fresh Air

We excerpt the following from a letter written by Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin, and published in The Courier Journal:

"I wish our libraries carried several shelves of books of yesterday. Not just classics, just old-time favorites: Florence Barclay, Sax Rohmer, Augusta Evans, Horatio Alger, S. S. Van Dine (no one can beat Van Dine), the Little Colonel series and a host of others. Is there a library in America that carries my favorites, Scottish Chiefs and John Halifax? (And oh, yes, Stepping Heavenward?) These books show what escape reading is all about."

The Times doesn't want to add to the problems of those who direct the splendid Floyd county library, but we have an idea that a special section stocked with these and many more old favorites would meet widest approval and attract more readers than might be imagined.

America has a new sickness. It is sick of the filth that in the name of "realism" and "art" makes much of modern fiction, motion pictures and television nothing but creative cesspools. It needs a breath of the old, pure, fresh air.

Health Notes

CLINIC AT WAYLAND

Monday, March 10, a Public Health Nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpatient clinic from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland.

The following services will be available: free of charge, immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, blood pressures and hemoglobin.

The health department would like to take this opportunity to urge all parents to check with their doctors or the county health department to see if their children have had all their required immunizations. Every youngster should have had all his shots by the time he is two years old—in which case only booster doses will be required before he enters school.

PAP TESTS SCHEDULED

Each year Kentucky physicians may report as many as 1,000 new cases of cervical cancer. Pap cancer can forestall the development of this kind of cancer even before obvious symptoms are noted by the woman or her doctor. The Floyd County Health Department is conducting a Pap Smear clinic, Wednesday, March 12, from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1 to 2 p. m. All women are urged to have at least one Pap smears every year because when this kind of cancer is discovered early enough, treatment can be started and lives can be saved. This clinic is free and open to all women.

NO NURSING SERVICE, THURSDAY

The Floyd County Health Department announces that there will be no nursing services available Thursday, March 6. The public health nurses will be assisting in a neurology clinic on this day. Regular nursing services will resume Friday, March 7, at 8 a. m.

Perkins is Accepting Academy Applications

Washington, D. C., February 25—Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced today that he is accepting applications for nominations to the Naval, Military, Air Force and Merchant Marine Academies for the classes entering in June, 1976.

Any young man from the 7th Congressional District who wishes to be considered for appointment to one of the service academies, as well as any young man or woman who seeks admission to the United States Merchant Marine Academy, would notify Representative Perkins, Room 2365, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515, as soon as possible.

To qualify for admission the candidate must be between the ages of 17 and 22, and a high school graduate. Congressman Perkins urges every interested high school junior or senior to contact him for further information.

Club Speaker Cites Stream, Road Pollution

Wayland, Ky.—The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met February 17 in the recreation room of the Masonic Lodge at Wayland for its monthly program meeting.

Mrs. Rondell Lawson spoke on "Conservation," pointing out that "we have only to look at our creeks and along our highways to know that no one is doing enough to protect and conserve our natural resources for the good of all."

She also mentioned that stricter enforcement of strip mine laws is needed. She called attention to the fact that not only do we need to conserve our natural resources, but should also give attention to the conservation of our health.

Mrs. James E. Martin led the Pledge to the Flag prior to the program, followed by devotions by Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and the Club Collect by Mrs. Marie Mullins.

Winners in the club's essay contest for Wayland and Garrett elementary school students on the subject, "The Flag as a Symbol of Freedom," were selected by the judges, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. Marie Mullins and Mrs. Otto Martin. The winners were: from a large number of entries at Garrett, Susan Lynn McCown, sixth grade, 11 years of age, first prize of $5.00; Sharon L. Martin, eighth grade, age 13, second place ribbon, and Teresa Howard, 12 seventh grade, third place ribbon. The student at Wayland, Kimberly Tackett, 11 sixth grade, first prize of $5, and Cheryl Webb, second place. Of the two first place winners, Susan Lynn McCown was chosen to represent the club in the district contest at Pikeville College, March 15. The club will also have contestants in sewing, music, and art in both the student and clubmember categories.

The club president, Mrs. J. C. Wells, read a letter from the Drift Woman's Club inviting the Wayland club to a dinner meeting, March 17. A contribution to the Heart Fund was voted by the club.

Those present were Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. James E. Martin, Mrs. Floyd Tackett, Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, Mrs. Eugene Mullins, Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., Mrs. Jack Stevens, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. Stanley Bamer, Mrs. Rondell Lawson, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. James A. Duff, and Mrs. Otto Martin.

The next club meeting will be March 17 at the home of Mrs. Bobby Castle, Wayland. The program leader will be Mrs. S. M. Martin on the subject, "Public Affairs."

In Loving Memory of Johnny Spradlin who passed away March 3, 1974.

God saw you getting weary,
He did what he knew best.
He came and stood beside you
And whispered, "Come and rest."
You bade no one a farewell
Or even said, goodbye.
You were gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why.

Prestonsburg and Its Packs of Wild Dogs

It just had to happen. Yesterday, one of the wild dogs bit my daughter. It was one of these supposed-to-be good-natured neighbor dogs that comes up to a group of girls on the sidewalk and bites my daughter. Then, of course, there's a spell of calamity that follows, also a rush to the hospital with my daughter.

The dog is one of the great dangers that is let loose to roam the streets and bite people, and barking almost continuously, and keeping people, awake, especially in the early morning from 2 to 5 o'clock.

I have asked the mayor repeatedly to do something about this danger and nuisance, but nothing has been done yet. I told him Pikeville has a good dog control system. They put a tag on them at a good stiff price, and in the event one goes straying on the streets there it is picked up, the owner has to pay to get the dog out of the pound, and if they don't pay him out of the pound within ten days, Old Rover is executed.

That is what we need here—put on a $25 or $50 tag fee, and if they don't keep 'em off the streets and out of people's yards, tramping down flowers and leaving their mess on other people's property, or endangering the lives of children or old people, put them in the pound, charge $20 to $50 to get them out, and if they don't get them out in 10 days, execute them.

I can't understand people that are supposed to be good citizens and neighbors to the people around them that would harbor these pot-lickin' wild animals. I can't understand why they would want to impose on the neighborhood with such a nuisance and danger. Such a danger and nuisance must be curbed or stopped.

Says Sewage Problem In County Neglected

As a problem arises that concerns my friends, neighbors and fellow Floyd countians, I think it should be known by all.

As we all know, the larger part of the septic tanks and cesspools in our county, run directly into our streams. It is a quick way of waste disposal. It's cheap. But by the law it's illegal, so why isn't it stopped by the law enforcers of our county? It is surely a known problem to them, but it is also a neglected one.

Whether it is the lack of money, the lack of officials or the lack of willingness to try can only be answered by the law enforcers themselves.

But, as bad as this problem is, they still have enough time, money and officials to hassle the people that are trying to correct this problem. So I ask you:

Do you think that it is altogether fair for our law officials to neglect the sewage problem itself and in hurt someone who tries to correct it?

If not, then speak out about the problem in your area. Let it be heard by everyone, so together we can end the sewage problem our officials have overlooked.

IN APPRECIATION

The family of Cecil Kendrick wishes to express deepest appreciation to the many friends, neighbors, church and lodge members, and any one who rendered any service of kindness, love and loyalty to us during his stay in the Highlands Regional Hospital and at his passing. The expression of love in the flowers will always be remembered and the food prepared by friends and served in our home will always be a reminder of your love, and will be gratefully remembered by all of us. The tribute to his life as a Christian by Rev. Howard Coop was just as he lived it. The choir to which he belonged never sang more beautifully. The service rendered by The Highland Funeral Home was unexcelled. Many thanks to the pallbearers, and to anyone who rendered any service we are most grateful.

Spanish War Vet . . a Gentle Man

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Campton's grand old soldier, George Athey, will be 99 on May 22 and like all good soldiers he has adjusted well to a new assignment in new quarters. Since last December he's been living in the Daniel Boone Convalescent Center, Morehead.

Approaching the century mark, the once red-headed veteran of the Spanish-American War has memories of wonderful friends, beautiful Wolfe county and days of service in the armed forces. Athey first enlisted in Company M, 2d Kentucky Volunteers, reenlisted in Company B, U. S. Infantry when he was 22, back in 1898, and was ready for a third time. "But Cupid got in the way and wouldn't let go—Cupid's name was Ruth."

Anyone who has lived almost 100 years would stand tall in his community, but Sgt. Athey's contributions to life set him apart.

His philosophy is that a person can be a good soldier and also be gentle, merciful and generous. Athey's good friend back in Campton, Mrs. Hazel Booth, recalls events of his mercy and kindness years ago.

Mrs. Booth's father usually walked when he went visiting or into town for shopping, but his walks were cut short if Athey drove by, for he always gave him a lift.

One day, about eight miles from home, they discovered a half-starved mule in a pasture. Mr. Athey drove all the way home and back again to feed the mule. "From that day on until the mule died of old age," said Mrs. Booth, "Mr. Athey drove eight miles to feed the animal."

Another tie, Athey discovered a dog that was too ill to walk or find food. From then on, Athey carried food with him for the dog.

As a soldier, Athey was regarded as the best. It was not surprising to folks back home in Kentucky that he was marked for special service, but even they did not expect Athey to be named guard for the captured "Territory of the Philippines," Emilio Aguinaldo.

"I never saw a man I didn't like," Athey has commented many times in his long life, "and though I don't know why I was chosen to guard Aggie (Aguinaldo), I decided to learn more about my prisoner. He was a Filipino patriot who fought against Spain and then America. In June, 1898 the Filipinos made Aggie president of a revolutionary government. But the Americans caused him to take to the mountains of Luzon, where after two years he was taken prisoner."

"I made friends with Aggie and with a year he had turned to our side. He became a valuable friend to us after we got him tame."

After his Army life, Athey and his wife Ruth established their home in Wolfe county and Athey worked as a barber with his father. If he knew his customer had little money, Athey did his work free. "But sometimes if the person had money," recalls Mrs. Booth, "Mr. Athey did not charge him for a haircut and shave. He was that kind of person in his work. If anyone was ill in the neighborhood and couldn't get out, who brought their mail to them, who carried in groceries, who tidied up for them—why, Mr. Athey."

But last December Athey's health began to deteriorate, and he could no longer live alone as he had since the death of his wife.

A spokesman at the convalescent center described the veteran as "alert and able to take himself all around in his wheel chair. Some days he's more alert than others, but he's well adjusted. We all love him."

The word "love" has been the center of the veteran's existence. He used love to tame the Terror of the Philippines and to make life better for others around him, including mules, dogs and other animals. Today he is basking in good memories of the past. Cards may be sent to him at the Daniel Boone Convalescent Center, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

Announces

For

State Senate

James Edward Gayheart, businessman and educator, has announced that he was registered as a candidate for the State Senate.

Gayheart, the son of a coal miner, grew up in Perry county. An Alice Lloyd College and University of Kentucky graduate, he operates a business in Knott County and works as special assistant to the president of Alice Lloyd College. Gayheart, the secretary-treasurer of the Knott County Democratic Executive Committee, recently served as coordinator of Floyd County Alumni and Friends of Alice Lloyd College. He was recently appointed by the Governor to the State's Council for Social Insurance.

Lower Electric Bills To Rural Users Expected

Lower rural electric bills commensurate with reduced coal prices are expected this month as a result of action taken last week by the State Public Service Commission.

The PSC approved a new way of figuring "fuel adjustments" in electric rates, and the East Kentucky Power Cooperative, of which Big Sandy RECC is a part, will base its charges to its 18 member-cooperatives on the basis of last month's fuel costs instead of basing rates on costs for the last six months.

Because coal prices have declined recently, the new one-month method will mean an immediate drop in electric charges to the 18 distributive cooperatives, and in turn, to their customer-members.

The drop will come at a time when many of the 18 co-ops are under fire from their customer-members because of soaring rates caused by last year's high coal prices.

However, the PSC said that during the next 20 months East Kentucky should recover the revenue to level due to the change in method. East Kentucky has estimated this revenue lag at $2.6 million.

The "interim order" issued last Thursday did not specify how the revenue lag is to be recovered but the PSC reserved the right to issue further orders in the case.

East Kentucky, based at Winchester, generates and transmits electricity to these rural electric cooperative corporations (RECCs).

Big Sandy, Blue Grass, Clark, Cumberland Valley, Farmers, Fleming-Mason, Fox Creek, Grayson, Harrison-Inter-County, Jackson County, Licking Valley, Nolin, Owen County, Salt River, Shelby, South Kentucky, and Taylor County.

All 18 have retail fuel-adjustment clauses by which they pass along fuel costs to their consumer-members.

A team of 1,327 Veterans Administration representatives worked last fall on campuses of nearly 2,000 colleges and universities, resolving pay and other problems of veterans training under the GI Bill.

After earning a bachelor degree in American history and political science from the University of Kentucky in 1962, Farley studied law at the American University, Washington, D. C., where he won his law degree in 1967.

He began practicing as a trial lawyer for the U. S. Department of Justice where he handled claims on behalf of nearly all U. S. Agencies. He has been admitted to practice law in Kentucky, the District of Columbia, the U. S. District Court for D. C., the U. S. Court of Appeals for D. C., the Court of Military Appeals, the U. S. Court of Claims, and the United States Supreme Court.

Before opening a private practice in Pikeville, Farley served four years as executive director of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, also serving as business relocation officer when his hometown began an Urban project in 1968.

He is a veteran of the U. S. Army with eight years of active and reserve service. Farley is married to the former Margaret Rose Saad. They have three daughters, Claire 8, Jennifer, 5, and Dana, 4.

The position of Public Defender was held by Anthony M. Wilbott, who resigned in December, but had remained in the post until Wednesday at the request of Gov. Carroll.

Coal Conversion Planning Begun

Cattlettsburg, Ky.—Engineering and design work on an Eastern Kentucky pilot plant for coal liquefaction already is one-fourth complete, according to project director George Devaux.

The $80 million plant will test a process for converting coal to a variety of products ranging from gasoline to synthetic crude oil.

Although the exact site of the plant has not yet been determined, Devaux said, it is expected to be just south of the Ashland Oil complex at Cattlettsburg.

Devaux said he expects engineering work to be about 90 per cent complete when construction begins, probably before the end of the year. He is heading the project for Hydrocarbon Research Inc., which has a government contract to test the process.

Construction will take about 18 months, after which the plant will operate two years as a test facility, Devaux said. During the two-year test period, the plant is expected to process 600 tons of coal daily.

Day-to-day operations of the plant will be conducted by Ashland Oil, one of five firms that together are supplying a third of the cost.

Employment figures are based on a monthly survey of 50,000 households across the Nation conducted by the Bureau of the Census for the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Chamber Names Nairn President At Lodge Meet

Edward (Ted) Nairn, of Prestonsburg, was named president of the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber's luncheon meeting Monday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Nairn, 31, is manager of Elliott Glass & Electric's Prestonsburg outlet and succeeds Ronald Prasure to the post. Active in civic affairs since moving here from Pikeville in 1968, Nairn resides at Trimble Branch with his wife, Sue, and three sons.

Other officers elected include Rex Ankrom, vice-president; Eleanor Robinson, secretary, and Ed Patton, treasurer.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Pam Hoff, a representative of the Central Kentucky Blood Bank Association. Miss Hoff appealed for the Chamber's active support of the blood collection program in Floyd county which includes a one-a-month stop by a mobile blood unit. Miss Hoff pointed out that Floyd county had dropped far behind the established quota of 1,102 pints of blood and stressed that the blood supply donated by county residents would benefit only Floyd countians.

The Chamber approved a motion to support the program through the active recruitment of donors, distribution of information relating to the blood bank, and through the use of advertising media.

Announcement was made that the Chamber's annual banquet is scheduled for March 28 at May Lodge. The featured speaker will be Virgil Kainnaird, director of Housing and Urban Development activities for Kentucky.

Applications are now being accepted by the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund for medical students entering school this fall, according to the fund chairman, Dr. G. L. Simpson.

Loans are available to residents of Kentucky who have been admitted to one of the two accredited medical schools in the state. First "Rodeo" For Coal Trucks Set For Summer

The first and only coal truck safety "rodeo" in the United States and possibly in the world will be held at Paintsville this summer.

And no bucking, rarin', ornery bronco could be tougher to ride than a coal truck is to parallel park. This is but one requirement to be met by entrants in the rodeo, sponsored by the Paintsville-Johnson County Jaycees.

Roger Frazier, chairman of the Coal Truck Rodeo Association, said Tuesday that rules of eligibility include the following: Competitor must be an active coal truck driver; must hold a valid cab card; cannot have had a motor vehicle accident in the past year; cannot have had a moving hazard violation in past year with the exception of overweight and coal spillage violations.

Entrants will be required to fulfill four phases of competition. These are, 1. A written exam of the true-false type; 2. A personal interview conducted by an independent three-member panel; 3. A field equipment check with necessary equipment deliberately taken from truck. (The driver has five minutes to detect anything taken away or added to his truck. Mr. Frazier explained that this will not include anything hidden); 4. A driving over a field test course with typical hazards which are normally encountered by coal truck drivers. This will include parallel parking.

The rodeo has been endorsed by a number of coal operators and is open to entrants from any state. The Coal Truck Rodeo Association has been organized to conduct the competition and is a division of the Paintsville-Johnson County Jaycee organization. Anyone desiring more information may write to the group at Paintsville.

Entry fees and awards to be given winners will be announced later.

Health Body Votes To Remain Regional

The Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council Monday night voted to remain a five-county regional body rather than becoming part of a larger organization encompassing dozens of Kentucky counties.

The council, meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, followed the recommendation of Governor Julian Carroll, who had advised against the council's joining a larger organization as some had advocated.

The council again decided to defer application by Richard Mannis, of Eduplay, Louisville, for the construction of Pikeville Manor, a 140-bed convalescent facility, and a similar application by Mountain Manor of Pikeville.

In other business, the council discussed plans for the coming year's budget.

"When Patty got leukemia six years ago, we worried she wasn't going to live. Now we're worried she's living too much."

Mrs. Dorine Taranowicz
"Dancing, dating, partying, swimming, tennis, skiing, plus holding down a full-time job in the Defense Department and doing volunteer work in the hospital. That's Patty and it's enough to make a mother worry."
"But I'm glad. Because when Patty was seventeen she got leukemia. And we didn't even know if she'd live a year."
"For four years they treated her with a combination of drugs. Two years ago she went off her medicine. And she's still alive. And how!"
"We learned so much. And so did Patty. About how important love and understanding are. And how vital research is in the fight to beat cancer. And we learned how important the American Cancer Society is in that fight. So please give, today. We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime."

During P.T.A. Open House, for February, parents had the opportunity to assist their children select books from the school's annual book fair.

Clark Elementary School has just completed its annual book fair held for students, teachers and parents of the community. The fair was open for a full week, and one night was declared "open house" for P.T.A. members and any others who could not get to school during the day.

Books available for selection ranged from easy-to-read and activity books to more difficult reading, and covered interests from fiction and mystery to science and math.

Among those assisting Mrs. Louise

Howard, the school librarian, with the project were Arlene Cecil, Alma Dillon, Gail Herald, Mary Sue Moore, Sue Nairn, Edwenna Honn, Carol Rice and Jackie Ward. They reported that as many as 314 separate purchases were made, and more than 900 books were sold. Books will be distributed within the next few weeks.

John K. Pitts, the school principal, indicated that proceeds from the book fair will go toward the purchase of more books to be added to the Reading is Fundamental Program at the school.

research for the department, said in a recent interview the projects will cost a total of $1.5 million and will be funded mainly by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The projects, Nickel said, will demonstrate methods designed to:

1. Prevent landslides in stripped areas.
2. Reduce clogging of streams with silt washed from mines and haul roads.
3. Make grass grow on acidified spoil banks.

Nickel said another $134,000 program testing the use of satellite photographs to monitor strip mines already has begun.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is paying for the project. Nickel said photos such as these being made from a 500-mile satellite might help inspectors enforce strip-mine laws.

One of the demonstration projects, Nickel said, would use a model mountain-side mine to show how cutting techniques and placement of overburden can prevent slides. The project would cost $300,000.

91.1 Per Cent of Workers In Floyd County Employed

Frankfort, Ky.—Unemployment is spreading throughout Kentucky, according to the Department for Human Resources (DHR) county by county figures released today. In December, only 10 counties had an unemployment rate above 10 per cent. The January figures show 51 counties exceeding that figure.

There are 98 counties in the state now showing above six per cent unemployment rates.

Menifee county remains the hardest hit with an unemployment rate of 22.2 per cent. Russell county has the second highest rate of 21.5 per cent.

The two lowest counties in the state, according to Robert MacDonald, chief statistician for the Manpower Services Bureau of DHR, are Martin county with a 3.2 rate and Madison with 3.9.

The Eastern Kentucky county rates are:

Bath, 19.5; Bell, 9.2; Boyd, 8.0; Breathitt, 7.1; Carter, 14.0; Clay, 12.9; Elliott, 10.4; Floyd, 8.5; Greenup, 9.5; Harlan, 6.4; Jackson, 12.8; Johnson, 8.6; Knott, 7.3; Knox, 10.1; Laurel, 6.0; Lawrence, 11.3; Lee, 9.9; Leslie, 10.3; Letcher, 7.7; McCreary, 11.8; Magoffin, 13.6; Martin, 3.2; Menifee, 22.2; Montgomery, 11.4; Morgan, 10.6; Owsley, 12.5; Perry, 6.6; Pike, 4.3; Pulaski, 9.2; Rockcastle, 11.2; Rowan, 7.1; Wayne, 15.8; Whitley, 12.3; Wolfe, 8.7.

Dr. Charles F. Haywood, chairman of the Kentucky Council of Economic Advisors, predicted in a meeting of the council that unemployment in Kentucky should level off in the last quarter of this year, followed by a slight increase in the first quarter of 1976.

The current employment figure, approximately 35,000 less than in the last quarter of 1974, will be followed, according to Haywood, by a decline of 10,000 in the second quarter, then a decline of less than 3,000 jobs in the third quarter of 1974.

The percentage of unemployed in Kentucky in the month of January was 8.4 per cent.

In commenting on the economy of Kentucky and the nation in general, Haywood said that "current negative trends will bottom out or level off toward the end of this year."

He added however, that "this trough level may last for some time."

Haywood also predicted that inflation may moderate rapidly as the year progresses, which could bring the economy to the point "where we could see a dramatic change in price levels, that is a reduction in prices."

Carroll Says Federal Law Prevents Action on Time Change

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has learned that under federal law there is nothing that he can do now to solve the problems facing many Kentuckians because of the recent change to daylight savings time.

This development comes after extensive communication between his office and the office of the U. S. Department of Transportation about what the governor can do to soften the impact of the time change on the citizens of the Commonwealth.

The answer was, essentially, that a governor's hands are tied by the provisions of the federal act under which the time is changed twice a year.

"I fully recognize the problems that fast time creates for Kentuckians, many of whom are the young children who are forced by the time change to walk to school or to wait in the dark and cold for school buses in the early morning hours," said Gov. Carroll.

"It is my desire to do something to get beyond this yearly confrontation with the clock in Kentucky and take a long-range look toward what is best for all of us, once and for all," the governor continued. The federal law, which was enacted in 1973, does not allow a governor at this time, by either proclamation or petition, to effect any exemption from the time changes in the act's provisions.

"It is certainly not that we haven't been trying to find a solution to the immediate problems faced by our youngsters, our farmers, and our families," the governor said. "It's simply that we cannot do a thing about it at this time."

The governor pointed to the hardships placed upon families in which there are young school children and in which the parents work. He expressed appreciation to those school districts and school officials trying to do something about the problems on their own, such as having teachers at the schools early so the children can be cared for, if driven there by the working parents.

The U. S. Department of Transportation has noted additionally that even if Gov. Carroll called a special session of the Kentucky General Assembly to do something about changing the time situation in the Commonwealth, the Secretary of Transportation would not be likely to honor that action.

Flood Insurance Suspended In Two Kentucky Communities

By JENNY PULLIAM
FRANKFORT, Ky.—Two flood-prone communities in southeastern Kentucky have been suspended from the National Flood Insurance Program for failure to pass required floodplain management ordinances. The two—Perry county and Wallins Creek—were among nine nationwide which recently were suspended from the insurance program by the Federal Insurance Administration.

Middlesboro barely avoided suspension by adopting a floodplain management ordinance. And now, the other 57 Kentucky communities which are in the National Flood Insurance Program must adopt and enforce flood management ordinances or risk suspension also.

The federal flood insurance program began in 1968 as a completely voluntary system designed to regulate future building in flood-prone areas, while also providing insurance to those already there. To qualify for the program, a community had to fulfill certain requirements, including developing a building permit system and agreeing to control development in flood-prone areas. Usually, that means a community restricts the type, construction and location of buildings in the flood-prone areas. In some areas, buildings can be constructed only if the land is filled to above flood level.

Residents of the flood-prone areas of the communities which joined the program were then able to purchase low cost flood insurance. Five Kentucky communities joined that original program.

The decision of whether to join the insurance program is left entirely up to the communities. But amendments adopted in 1973 prohibit those who don't join from obtaining federal financial assistance for development in their flood-prone areas.

By the end of 1974, 60 Kentucky communities had joined the federal flood insurance program under an emergency program which allowed them to enter before the federal agency of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) completed rate studies. That emergency program provides insurance at subsidized rates until completion of the rate studies, which determine the nature and frequency of flooding for different elevations along a stream. Actuarial insurance rates are based on the probability of being flooded.

HUD is spending $40 million to conduct the rate studies nationwide. So far, few have been completed. In Kentucky, rate studies have been finished in Wallins Creek, Perry county, Hazard, Loyall and Middlesboro—communities which were in the original voluntary insurance program.

Rate studies now are under way for Lexington-Fayette county and Woodford county.

Those studies precipitated the problems which led to the suspension of Perry county and Wallins Creek and the near-suspension of Middlesboro.

According to O. T. McCutchen, director of the division of water resources in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, which is the state coordinating agency for the flood insurance program, the rate studies may turn up more problems for other Kentucky communities.

"Passing ordinances which limit development is only one of the initial steps in getting into the program," said McCutchen. "Enforcing those ordinances would be very difficult in many areas of Kentucky."

"After the rate studies, HUD evaluates the ordinances to see if they serve their intended functions and then evaluates enforcement of those ordinances. That's where Perry county and Wallins Creek ran into trouble and where other communities might run into troubles."

McCutchen added that if the suspended communities enact some measures to the satisfaction of HUD, they probably would be reinstated in the program. "For the present," McCutchen said, "all existing policies in the suspended communities will last only until their expiration date. Then, no new policies may be sold and no current policies may be renewed."

McCutchen added that the division of water resources will furnish advice to communities attempting to enter or stay in the insurance program. "Although it's HUD's program, we're available to go to meetings, to give talks and to answer questions," McCutchen said. "Anyone who wants information on the flood insurance program should contact us."

The District tourney has a big extra this year! In addition to the traditional competition between the boys' teams, this year will see the introduction of girls' basketball to the tournament play. The girls' brand of play is if anything, a little more hard-nosed and aggressive than that of the boys, and features such stars as state scoring leader, Gerri Grigsby. So, make it a point to see all the games, the girls' and the boys' . . . For the season's finest play don't miss the tournament!

Floyd Not Among Counties Listed for Additional Funds

Floyd county is not among the Kentucky counties listed to share in more than $800,000 to provide additional aid to the jobs under the federal Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act. C. Leslie Davis, secretary of the Department for Human Resources (DHR), announced that 21 counties will share in the funds. This will include designated areas in Louisville with populations of 10,000 or more in a well-defined area and with a high unemployment rate. The Eastern Kentucky counties tabbed for additional funds are Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Leslie, Morgan, Magoffin and Perry.

So. States Bureaus Up First 6 Months Of Fiscal 1974-'75

Southern States Cooperative's dollar volume for its purchasing operations for the first six months of the 1974-'75 fiscal year showed a 28 percent increase as compared with the same period last year. All commodity divisions also showed increases for the period.

This was reported by E. B. Pendleton, treasurer of the cooperative, to a regional meeting of local board and committee members held here, February 18. Pendleton told the session that the cooperative's volume stood at $123,990,000 for the first half of the fiscal year as compared to $96,118,000 a year ago. Net savings were also up for the period, reaching $8,674,000 after taxes. Equity in savings of affiliated companies accounted for an additional $4,347,000, making a total net savings of $13,021,000.

P. E. Mullenix, Director of Community Service for the cooperative, told the session that the cooperative is moving to help farmers in meeting the production demands that has been placed upon them through agriculture's new role in the world economy. He cited as examples the two new feed mills to be built shortly in Kentucky (they are scheduled to go into production before the winter of 1976), and the new farm supply distribution center in Roanoke. Southern States also has allotted $10 million for fixed asset expenditures during the current fiscal year.

In commenting on the future role of agriculture in world trade, Mullenix said, it has emerged as a principal trading tool "in bargaining for strategic resources that we must obtain from other nations."

Another feature of the session was a 15-minute look at the cooperative's distribution system in the local community by K. J. Burgess, regional manager for the organization headquartered at Barbourville, W. Va. Howard B. Hill, of South Charleston, W. Va., a member of the cooperative's board of directors, presided at the session.

Attending the meeting from this area were Kenneth Meade, manager of the Prestonsburg Farm and Home Store, board members, Ballard Stone, Lloyd Wells, Perry Prater, Donald Hicks and Ernest Prater, also, Randall Prater, Charles E. Hachworth and Rudolph Ousley.

Receives Homemaker Award

Home Life Department committeewoman, Patty Beatty (left), is shown making the "Best Homemaker of the Year" award presentation to Jean Rosenberg. The award consisted of a $25 Savings Bond and a scroll certificate.

The regular February meeting of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club was held at the Regional Library here with the president, Janice Allen, presiding. Special guest-speaker for the evening was Mrs. Susie Gray, of East Point, who spoke on "Eastern Kentucky's Colorful Contribution to Culture." She distributed 50 mountain sayings to the group and discussion was held regarding their meanings.

Mrs. Paul Clark Combs read correspondence from Churchill Weavers, Midway College, KFCW President Dummett, Mountain Manor Nursing Home and Chairman Frazier of Highlands Regional Medical Center.

In the President's report, Mrs. Allen reported on the horse show class meeting held in Morehead, January 19, and attended by Geraldine Hall, Martha Johnson and herself; the KFCW mid-winter board meeting held in Lexington and attended by Martha Johnson and herself; of a $25 contribution to WDOC Radio for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital postage. She also made announcements of the Seventh district meeting to be held March 15 at POC and the KFCW annual convention April 7-11 in Louisville. The president said that the names of Susan Wallen and Janice Allen had been placed in nomination for KFCW Rookie Clubwoman of the Year and Outstanding Clubwoman of the Year, respectively, for competition among all other junior clubwomen nominees in Kentucky.

Lora Hamilton, Home Life Department chairman, distributed materials regarding blood pressure, safety, Tot Emblems, etc., told of department speakers—Bob Wildman, who spoke on mental retardation, and Patty Beatty whose subject was, "Use of Color." She also related events centered around the Valentine party for patients at Mountain Manor given by the Home Life Department. Candy and valentines were distributed to all residents by clubwomen's children, and a large-print King James version of the Bible was presented to the director of Mountain Manor for placement in the chapel. Mrs. Hamilton also told of the presentation of toothpaste, toothbrushes and other necessities to Jailer Lawrence Hale for use by prisoners. Mrs. Hamilton presented a Best Homemaker's Award to Jean Rosenberg. Mrs. Rosenberg received a $25 Savings Bond and a scroll certificate proclaiming her the club's Best Homemaker for 1974-75.

She also reported on the arts and crafts show for arts and crafts craftsmen held February 16 at Prestonsburg Community College. Individuals displaying their work were: Russell May, of Prestonsburg, paintings; Roy May, of Langley, wood sculpture;

Mrs. Johnson also told of presenting a cassette tape recorder-player to the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad. This piece of equipment purchased by the Junior Woman's Club will be used in field maneuvers.

Mrs. Allen reported that the club's fund-raising efforts on behalf of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association was now past the $3000 mark. Jeanne Brown, Heart Fund drive—$152.84 collected from Coffee Day, $887.00 in business gifts, and announced that Heart Sunday was scheduled for Feb. 23. Opinions from Office of Attorney General

DeSoto Vaught, probation supervisor for the Pulaski county juvenile court system, recently asked whether matters concerning a juvenile on probation should be turned over to the county sheriff. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's office that such matters cannot be given without express consent of the county judge. The sheriff's department is not entitled by law or regulation to jurisdiction relative to juvenile court proceedings.

Dan C. McCubbin, a Louisville attorney, asked if a student teacher could teach in the absence of the regular teacher. It is the opinion of the office of the Attorney General that even though a student teacher has the same status and protection due a certified teacher, including liability for any negligence, he is not qualified to serve as a substitute teacher. The student teacher, having neither regular nor emergency certificates, is not authorized to teach except under the supervision of a certified teacher.

Frank A. Wickmann, of Erlanger, asked whether police may exercise their jurisdiction across the county line when within one mile of the city. The office of the Attorney General replied that unless the territory involved may soon become a part of the municipality by express statutory power, the police have no authority except within their territorial boundaries.

Hugh J. Covery, of Madisonville, asked if, under provisions of the new penal code, police have the authority to turn a private home into a public place by arresting a person who has verbally abused them in his dwelling. The Attorney General's office held the term, "public place," excludes rooms or apartments designed for actual residence. However, if the language used contains a threat or some utterance other than a comment upon the policeman's ancestry or family relationship, an arrest may be made.

M. Brooks Senn, of Audubon Park, requested an opinion concerning an application of the new homestead exemption provision. Three people occupying the same property as their personal residence have claimed homestead exemptions, but only one of the three involved is over 65 years of age. This person also holds legal title to the property. The Attorney General's office says that every person filing for a homestead exemption must own, as well as maintain, the property for which the exemption is sought. That person also must be 65 years of age or older. In light of this, only the individual who is over 65 and is legal owner of the property can claim such an exemption, even though the others may help to maintain that property.

Mott V. Plummer, of Newport, asked if it were illegal for a bar to allow poker playing on the premises so long as the participants received only their personal winnings and the proprietor received no remuneration or fee from the gambling. The Attorney General's office held that the Kentucky Revised Statutes prohibit the playing of poker for personal winnings on premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages.

Richard M. Rawdon, Jr., of Georgetown, asked if it were permissible for tenants who work two separate farms to hunt on both without a hunting license. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's office that the tenants cannot be free to hunt unlicensed on any farm other than the one on which they reside.

Joe L. Barbee, chief jail consultant for the Bureau of Corrections in Frankfort, asked whether inmates, other than convicted felons, have a right to vote while in jail, and if so, whether the inmates are to be escorted to the polls. The right to vote is denied only to a prisoner convicted of a felony, therefore, it is the

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of execution to me directed, which issued from the office of the Clerk of the Floyd County Court, in favor of The Bank Josephine against William Harvey Patton and Delphia Patton, I will, on the 24th day of March, 1975, at the courthouse door in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest and best bidder, two tracts of land together with all improvements thereon, lying in Floyd County, Kentucky, and described as follows:

TRACT NO. I:

"Lying and being in the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, and being Lots Nos. 33 and 34, Block 17, of the Garfield Addition to Prestonsburg, as shown by plat of said addition in the office of the Clerk of the Floyd County Court, being Map No. 91, Box 2 in said office to which reference is hereby made for a more specific description of said property which begins at a point on the southwest edge of Highland Avenue 300 feet Northwest of the corner of 7th Street and Highland Avenue; thence a southwesterly direction with the Northwest line of Lot No. 32 100 feet to an alley; thence with the Northwesterly line of said alley a northeasterly direction 50 feet to the southeasterly line of Lot No. 35, thence a northwesterly direction 100 feet with the line of said lot No. 35 to the southwesterly edge of Highland Avenue; thence a southeasterly course 50 feet to the beginning."

TRACT NO. II:

Being the same property conveyed to William Harvey Patton and Delphia Patton, his wife, by Donald Ray Pelphrey and Janice Marlene Pelphrey, by deed dated October 16, 1968, and recorded in Deed Book 197, Page 338, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

"Beginning at the corner of U.S. Highway 23, also known as North Lake Drive and Patton Street; thence in an easterly direction with Patton Street 120 feet to an alley; thence with the alley in a northerly direction 50 feet to a stake; thence a westerly direction 120 feet to North Lake Drive; thence in a southerly direction with North Lake Drive to the beginning, being a lot fronting 50 feet on North Lake Drive and extending 120 feet to the alley."

Being the same property conveyed to William Harvey Patton and Delphia Patton by will of Harvey Patton dated May 9, 1969, and recorded in Will Book B, Page 343, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

I will proceed to sell said land, or so much of it as will be necessary to satisfy said execution and the cost thereof, to the highest and best bidder on a credit of six months from the date of sale, the purchaser to give bond with approved surety to have the force and effect of a judgment on which execution may issue if the same is not paid at maturity, when and where due attendance will be given by me. The amount to be raised is the sum of $363.30, with interest at the rate of 7 percent from April 4, 1972 plus the sum of $40.10, representing the court cost due in this execution plus any cost which the Sheriff of Floyd County, Kentucky, may incur in connection with the levying and collection of this execution. The amount due on March 24, 1975, including the court costs but not including the costs incurred by the Sheriff in connection with the levying and collection of this execution is the sum of $480.26.

Given under my hand as Sheriff of Floyd County, Kentucky, this 27th day of February, 1975.

State Highway Funds Released

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has agreed to make $15 million in state funds available to match impounded federal highway funds released earlier last week by President Ford, the governor's office announced.

"This amount, plus $2.5 million we have on hand, will allow us to apply for $70 million of federal money," Highway Commissioner John C. Roberts said.

The Bureau of Highways has advised the Federal Highway Administration of its intention to submit formal requests for authorization of projects having a total cost of more than $85 million. Roberts' letter to FHWA Division Engineer Robert E. Johnson said this would be done "in the next few days or weeks."

The summary given FHWA lists interstate construction projects that will require $30.2 million of federal funds. Also included are primary projects totaling $17.1 million; secondary projects, $6.9 million; urban, $10.5 million; and bridge replacement and railroad crossing protection projects of $2.7 million.

Roberts explained that state funds must be used to match federal funds in various proportions. Interstate construction is 9-to-1, federal to state. Other highway construction is 70-30.

The President's decision required that 80 percent of the money released be assigned to construction projects and that bids be taken or work started within 45 days from the date when funds are obligated.

Also, federal guidelines suggested special attention to areas of high unemployment, to interstate projects and to safety projects.

Roberts said, "We believe the projects we will propose meet these conditions and we look for early approval by federal authorities."

While details remain to be resolved, interstate projects will include activities on I-24, I-64 and I-75, as well as the Kennedy Bridge intersection in Louisville.

Interstate 24 is the last major interstate route in Kentucky not yet complete and several projects are proposed for it.

The Northern Kentucky routes I-275 and I-471 are not affected by this special program since all sections ready for construction are already underway.

Primary projects include US 45, the Mayfield-Lone Oak Road; US 27, Lexington-Paris; US 27, Pine Knot-Tennessee line; KY 55, the Springfield Bypass; US 460, Paintsville-Oil Springs; and US 60, Lewisport-Hawesville.

Among urban projects proposed is right-of-way acquisition on the Jefferson Freeway. The amount sought is $5.7 million.

They are parents of five daughters: Sue Stone, of Pikeville, Mary Trimble, of Ivel, Shirley Hafferty, of Water Gap, Joan and Carrol Howard, both of Warsaw, Ind., three sons, Tommy, Billy and Dock Blanton, all of Dwaile; 22 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. Members of their family will join in helping them observe their anniversary with a dinner at their home.

ALC Students Set 1st Annual Event Thursday Evening

Students of Alice Lloyd College will present the first annual Alice Lloyd Pageant tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

One of the following ALC girls will be crowned Miss Alice Lloyd 1975: Miss Zena Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Mullins, Amburgey, Ky.; Miss Denise Elkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elkins, of Virgie; Miss Jo Anne Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Cynthia Cornett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Cornett, Slomp, Ky.; Miss Mable Catherine Newsome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gratho Newsome, Pikeville; Miss Benji Suzette Vanover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanover, Dorton; Miss Kathy Lynn Hoskins, daughter of Mrs. Betty Gale Hoskins, of Hoskinston, Ky.; Miss Debra Watts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Watts, of Pippa Passes; Miss Vicki Saylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Saylor of Hoskinston, Kentucky.

These young women will compete in the talent, evening gown and swimsuit competition and each will have a personal interview with the judges following a luncheon given by the students.

Michael Louis Grant, a sophomore at Alice Lloyd, will emcee the pageant. Entertainment will be provided by students, Harold Hamilton, Nanci Tangy, Gordon Nobel, Dalton Howard, and Teresa Stamper.

One of the highlights of the production will be a fashion show of the wardrobe which will be presented to the queen by Hindman business firms. The fashions will be modeled by Alice Lloyd students. Miss Alice Lloyd 1975 will prepare for the Miss Kentucky Pageant next June in Louisville, and, hopefully, for the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Ashland Oil Establishes New Coal Division in Area

Ashland, Ky.—Ashland Oil, Inc., has formed a new, wholly-owned subsidiary, Ashland Land & Development Co., to engage in the coal business in the Appalachian area, according to Carlton D. Weaver, a senior vice president of the parent corporation. Weaver also announced that John B. Kebblish has joined Ashland Oil as president of the new division, and will lead the expansion of Ashland's coal interests. Ashland Land & Development Co. plans to enter the coal business through both the purchase or lease of coal reserves and the acquisition of existing operating coal companies. Kebblish most recently had been an executive vice-president of a major coal company where he was responsible for its coal operations, including those in West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky. He has more than 24 years' experience in the coal mining industry. Kebblish is currently involved in staffing the new company as well as investigating coal reserves in several states. He is a mining and electrical engineering graduate of Penn State University. Ashland Land & Development Co. will have offices at Ashland Oil's corporate headquarters in Ashland and at 7 Parkway Center in Pittsburgh.

MEETINGS PLAN Local District Added Services

Staff members from ROPES Region 11 and the Department of Education have met twice recently to bring Department services to the local school districts in the region. Reo Johns, executive director, said last week:

John Shoemaker, unit director for textbooks with the Division of Instructional Media, met Feb. 20 with school representatives to discuss the textbook buying annual report, the 20 percent program, rebinding, language arts adoption for 1976, selection process and procedures for dealing with controversial instructional materials.

Shoemaker pointed out that material which would be objectionable in some areas of the state might not be viewed as objectionable in other areas and that the persons working with textbook selection should know the standards and ideas of the population served by their school districts. District representatives stressed that they use thorough review of materials and input from ministers, parents and the general public to avoid unsuitable materials. School districts represented at the textbook meeting were Floyd, Pike, Johnson, and Martin counties and Paintsville and Pikeville independent districts.

February 28, representatives from Floyd, Magoffin, Pike, Johnson and Martin counties and the Paintsville and Pikeville independent districts met at the ROPES office to consider recommendations for standards for accreditation of elementary and secondary schools.

The secondary school committee, chaired by Frank Welch, principal of Beatty High School, recommended that secondary remedial reading students receive a special weight and that physical examinations for students prior to their enrollment in physical education classes be provided by the county health departments.

The elementary school committee, chaired by John Pitts, principal of Clark Elementary School, included recommendations that the state fund a statewide system of pre-school units and that the number of elementary librarians be increased.

Bob Elder, general supervisor with the Division of Supervision-Accreditation-Organization, served as Department of Education consultant and was assisted by ROPES staff members Shirley Beard, administrative assistant, and Larry Jervis, curriculum consultant.

Committee members were encouraged by Johns to retain their working copies of standards and recommendation and to discuss them with their respective superintendents.

Officials To Testify On Collective Bargaining

Those wishing to testify should send a copy of their statements no later than March 10 to Henry Vance of the Legislative Research Commission Staff, State Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Leslie Elected President Floyd Co. Cancer Society

The Floyd County Cancer Society announced this week that David Richard Leslie, of Prestonsburg, has been installed as president for 1975.

Mr. Leslie, who is accounting instructor at Mayo State Vocational School, said, "I look forward to working with the Cancer Society in this new capacity and sincerely hope for its further growth. In addition, the annual fund-raising drive will have an alltime high of $4,400."

Leslie succeeds Robert R. Allen. Other officials installed at the recent meeting were:

Vice-president, Mrs. Pauline Sparks; recording secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Wells; treasurer, Mrs. Barbara S. Allen; corresponding secretary, Robert R. Allen; publicity chairman, C. Richard Clark.

Chairmen of the various committees will be announced later, along with the crusade committees.

Waste Water Treatment Projects Tied to Uncertain Allocations

By MARVA GAY

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky probably will receive between $90 million and $131 million from the federal government to construct municipal waste treatment facilities in 1976.

State water quality officials say the larger sum would allow most Kentucky communities to upgrade their waste treatment facilities. The smaller sum would postpone and seriously curtail the majority of those projects.

In either case, state water quality officials say the money won't be enough to make much of a dent in what now appears to be Kentucky's and the nation's futile race to meet federal water quality requirements in the next ten years.

According to a detailed study of municipal waste treatment needs which every state and territory conducted last year, $550 billion—discounting inflation—must be spent on municipal waste water treatment in the next ten years to meet the requirements of the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Act. Almost two-thirds of that would be used for storm water treatment.

Since one-fourth of the cost of construction of municipal waste water treatment facilities must be paid by state or local governments, the survey indicated a need for $260 billion in federal funds during the next ten years. Since 1967, the federal government has spent about $14 billion on municipal waste treatment facilities grants.

Again discounting inflation, last year's survey showed Kentucky needs $4.2 billion—about $3.2 billion in federal grants—to meet the requirements of the federal act. That breaks down to about $55 million for secondary treatment plants, about $300 million for advanced waste water treatment plants, about $150 million to upgrade sewer lines, close to $1 billion for new sewage interception and collection systems, about $700 million to separate or treat combined storm and sewer systems and more than $2 billion—about half of what Kentucky needs—for storm water treatment.

The amount of funds Kentucky receives for 1976 depends on which formula the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) uses to distribute $9 billion appropriated by Congress for waste water treatment grants in 1975 and imposed by direction of former President Richard Nixon. The Supreme Court recently ruled that Nixon had exceeded his authority by directing the impoundment.

If EPA distributes the funds according to a formula based on up-dated information contained in last year's survey of municipal waste water treatment needs, Kentucky will receive about 1.45 percent of the federal funds. That comes to about $131 million.

But, EPA has proposed using a distribution formula which was being used when the $9 billion was originally impounded. The old formula would release more than two-thirds of the funds to 11 states and would cut Kentucky's share to about .56 percent of the first $6 billion of the federal total and 1.5 percent of the remaining $3 billion. That comes to $90 million, or less than 70 percent of the amount expected if the new formula is used.

When I Read the Bible Through

I supposed I knew my Bible.
Reading piecemeal, bit or miss;
Now a bit of John or Matthew,
Now a snatch of Genesis;
Certain chapters of Isaiah,
Certain Psalms (the twenty-third);
Twelfth of Romans, first of Proverbs,
Yes, I thought I knew the Word.
But I found a thorough reading
Was a different thing to do,
And the way was unfamiliar.
When I read my Bible through.

You who like to play at Bible,
Dip and dabble here and there,
Just before you kneel a weary
And yawn out a hurried prayer;
You who treat the Crown of Writing
As you treat no other book;
Just a paragraph disjointed,
Just a quick, impatient look;
Try a worthier procedure,
Try a broad and steady view;
You will kneel in your rapture,
When you read your Bible through.
