Floyd Countians Paid $1.12 Million a Month

Over 9,000 Get Social Security Pay in County

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Floyd county at a rate of $1,123,000 a month at the close of 1974, James D. Kelly, social security manager in Prestonsburg, said this week.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Floyd county, 3,285 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 2,150 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 3,885 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Kelly pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 65. In this county, 4,630 people under age 65 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 2,220 are under age 18, receiving

Health Council, Big Sandy ADD Fills Two Posts

Mrs. Stumbo To Serve As Assistant Planner; ADD Employs Flood

Mrs. Sally Hill Stumbo, wife of Jack Stumbo, Prestonsburg postmaster, was employed Monday as assistant health planner for the five-county area served by the Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

The appointment was made at a Monday evening joint meeting of the Health Council and the executive committee of the Big Sandy Area Development District (Big Sandy ADD).

Miss Patsy Johnson, health planner for the council, is on leave of absence because of illness, and Mrs. Stumbo will begin work immediately. Her work will involve coordination of health programs in the area composed of Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin and Martin counties and working with medical associations and other groups in planning to meet health needs.

In a separate action the Big Sandy ADD executive committee approved the employment of Maurice S. Flood, of Mt. Rainier, Md., as housing specialist for the area. His duties will include those of making surveys of housing needs and working with the several counties and municipalities in the development of housing programs.

Mrs. Stumbo is a daughter of former Appellate Judge and Mrs. Edward F. Hill, of Frankfort, and has been a member of the faculty of Prestonsburg Community College, the last three years. She received her AB degree in psychology from Stetson University, Deland, Fla., and formerly was employed by the state Department of Economic Security.

A former coordinator of community programs in Mississippi and project manager for a Virginia housing development program, Mr. Flood, 36, is completing requirement for a master's degree in business administration at American University, Washington, D. C.

Development Of Land Held Best For David

Representatives of the U.S. Agency for International Development who made a recent study of the David community and its potentialities reported later that the best immediate target for economic growth there lies in land development.

This conclusion was based on the existing housing shortage in and around Prestonsburg, 10 miles from David, a bright economic future for the area, the completion of a new water system to serve the town, and the possibility of a sewer system which is now under study.

The former mining town, now owned by the David Community Development Corporation, is the study report says, "ideally suited to take advantage of the demand for housing in the general area because of its large landholdings and strategic location." The survey team, operating under the aegis of the State Department, notes that there is "a documented shortage of over 1,000 units in Prestonsburg alone and there is an estimated deficit of another 1,000 units in immediate outlying areas. There is little hope that much will be done to ameliorate the housing problem as long as investments in other pursuits, such as mining, yield a quicker and much greater rate of return."

A sequence of such development follows, as suggested by the study team: Former home sites on School House Hollow; former home sites on Official Hollow; expansion and development of new home sites in Official Hollow, and development of former homesites fronting on KY 484. Development of new areas in Rough and Tough and along the mountainsides around David were suggested as later possibilities.

The recommended price range for housing is between $25,000 and $30,000. It was suggested that for the present development should be restricted to housing and income-producing recreational activities.

The report strongly suggested that the town be incorporated. This, it was argued, "not only would allow the

Mrs. Archer Bequests $5,000 to Park

Mrs. Marthann Archer Damron, (center) daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. George P. Archer, presents a check for $5,000 to Mrs. James D. Adams, chairman of the Archer Park board. At left is Mrs. Damron's brother, George Preston Archer. In background is the recently purchased spiral slide.

A bequest of $5,000 by the late Mrs. Margaret Archer will be used toward further development of the municipal park that was established by and later named in honor of her husband, the late Dr. George P. Archer.

Six pieces of equipment have been purchased for park use including a spiral sliding board, an 11-foot merry-go-round to be used in the older children's park, a "back-sit," or rocking toy, for the older children, a bell climb and two portable aluminum bleachers to be used in different areas of the park. The remainder of the money is to be spent on the purchase of weeping willow trees to be planted in the park camping areas as well as several shade trees to be used in the playground area.

Narcotics Taken From Pharmacy

Two incidents of breaking and entering here over the week-end highlighted a week that was otherwise "slow" in terms of county-wide arrests.

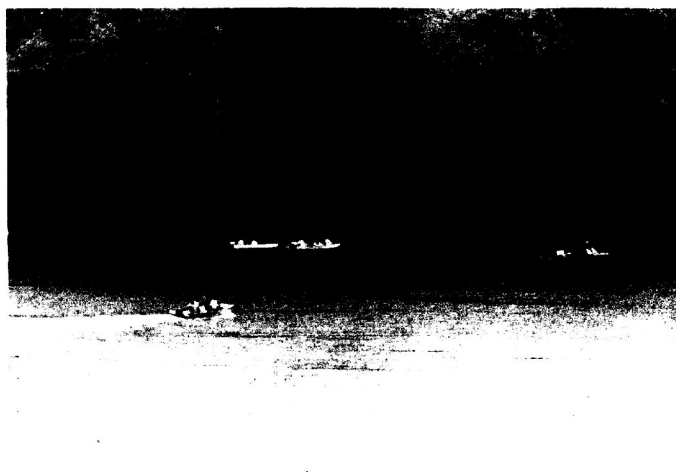

Cooley's Apothecary was broken into Friday night and an undetermined quantity of narcotics was stolen, and on Sunday night $336 in cash was stolen from the TCT Truck Stop. No arrests has been made in either case.

Retired to the county jail last Tuesday from Western State hospital, where he had undergone psychiatric examination, was Herbert G. Salisbury, who is accused in the murder of C. Butler. Salisbury is scheduled for trial during the September term of the Floyd circuit court.

Those booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Elmer Hackworth, drunk driving, by State Trooper Williamson; Chester Slone, drunk driving, by State Troopers Cantrell and Williamson; Tom Reynolds, reckless driving, by State Trooper Conn and Rickman; Danny Anderson, RATHER VAGUE, AREN'T WE?

Somewhere has pointed out with considerable accuracy to the fact that to the human mind the cruel slaughter of hundreds in another part of the world is only news while the death of one, next door, is a tragedy. If you think your comprehension is greater than that of the mine-run mind, consider this:

This planet of ours now has four billion people jammed onto it, and there's a possibility that soon after the end of this century the number will be eight billion. Think you can comprehend what four billions of human beings means? Robert C. Cook, geneticist, has come up with an example to point up the fact that such a figure is a mere abstraction and pretty well meaningless to most of us. One example he points to is this:

Since the birth of Christ, only about one billion minutes have elapsed.

Don't know how I get involved in such weighty matters.

The coal business is far from dead. But the "dirt business" is out—kaput.

REPORT OF CONDITION

As many of his friends know, our old friend Watt Hale has been far from well of recent weeks. But I am here to report that he is better. And after my visit with him last week when I found him cheerful and still entertaining with bits of philosophy and flashes of the old wit, I myself am better, thank you.

P'burg Company Files for Permit To Recover Coal

The Prestonsburg-based Rockcastle Coal and Sand Co., Inc. has applied to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for a dredging permit on the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River.

The company is owned by Edward Outley, who until recently owned and operated Outley's Service Station here. He has closed the station.

The operation will be similar to that of the Mare Creek Sand Co., of Allen, which for years has successfully recovered coal from the Big Sandy River in this county.

First National Branch Not Planned at Wayland

The Times made two errors in one paragraph of a news story last week. It was stated that the First National Bank here had filed application for permit to establish branch banks at Betay Layne and Wayland. No application was filed for Wayland; instead, the branches are planned for Prestonsburg and Betay Layne.

It was said the State Department of Banking has not held a hearing on the bank's application. Since the First National is not a state bank, the Department of Banking will not hold a hearing. Action on the petition will be taken by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Court To Open Bids on Annex September 10

Bids were asked this week for construction of the courthouse annex and juvenile detention center at the rear of the present courthouse.

Opening of bids by the fiscal court was set for 10 a. m., Sept. 10. If an acceptable bid is received, work on the structure could begin within the next 90-90 days.

The building will be 120 by 60 feet, of two stories, plus a third-floor penthouse for mechanicals. The juvenile courtroom and offices of the juvenile court and other departments of county government will be located on the ground floor. The detention center and recreation area for juvenile prisoners will occupy the second floor.

Price Youth, Lost In Gorge, Unharmed

His grateful parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Page, were seeking this week some way of expressing their appreciation to all those who took part in the search.

Coal Draws Machinery Firms

The new Kentucky Machinery facility near Allen.

Although the coal "boom" may have slowed considerably in recent months, the pace of deep and, more particularly, strip-mining has apparently remained such that manufacturers of heavy equipment parts and machinery view the coal fields as a prime area for the location of new branch distributorships. In operation since construction was completed near Allen on the firm's 8,000 square-foot metal building March 1, the Floyd branch of Kentucky Machinery, Incorporated, serves the Louisville-based company as equipment storage warehouse, parts sales and service. Three other branches are located at Lexington, Paducah and Owensboro. Ron Parker, parts manager, said the Floyd branch serves adjacent areas of Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee as well as all parts of Eastern Kentucky and he added that the company foresees expansion in the area. "We were recently located at Pikeville," Parker said, "but then we experienced such growth that we decided to establish a major branch in Floyd county which we considered more centrally-located." The firm presently employs between six and eight employees and was built at an estimated cost of $350,000.

Two other machinery companies are also in the process of locating in Floyd county. The Kanawha Steel Company, of Charleston, W. Va., has begun con-

Bets Are Heavy On Coal Future

The coal business may be in a slump, but there are those who are betting millions it won't remain that way.

Now, being considered by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' district office at Huntington, W. Va., are permits for 10 more coal-loading terminals along seven miles of the Big Sandy River, at Catlettsburg or upstream from that city, and 44 miles along the Ohio.

Eight tipples are in operation in the area, and permits have been granted for four others now under construction. The new installations along the Big Sandy and Ohio in that area promise to strengthen the position of the port of Huntington as the largest along the inland waterway.

The largest terminal in the area, built at Ceredo, W. Va., between Catlettsburg and Huntington, has a capacity of 8 million tons of coal a year. One of the permits under study is for a tipple at Sheridan, 11 to handle 10 million tons annually.

Coal trucks continue to roll, although some are parked. One report this week said a $1 million tipple is planned on Jenny's Creek to handle Magoffin county coal for a company new to the region.

Confidence in the future of coal is also reflected in the number of heavy machinery firms locating in the area. Floyd county has three.

At Least—Patch the Puncture

The U. S. Corps of Engineers should turn its ingenuity now, not two or three years from now, toward coping with the siltation problem which obviously exists at Dewey Lake.

It should not wait on another siltation survey in fiscal 1976, as planned, because the Corps, if it moves as ponderously on the new study as it did with the 1973 survey, will not reach an assessment of the situation in the light of the proposed new study before 1978. (Results of the 1973 survey were announced only last week, and even at that late date they had not been given final review.)

Whatever the Corps of Engineers can do should be undertaken immediately, because Col. Scott Smith, chief of the Huntington District office, has rated Dewey next to Fishtrap in the list of "problem" lakes of the area, and appreciable siltation is known to exist in the upper half of the impoundment.

Coal mining in the Johns Creek watershed has mushroomed since the 1973 study was made, and the lake is seldom, if ever, clear. Strip-mining has been done not only in the headwaters of Johns Creek, in Pike county, but also on main lake tributaries such as Buffalo and Brushy Creeks. All the accumulated data is in the hands of the Corps of Engineers, which has all the technology needed to gain a true picture of the situation, but any interested observer equipped with only a bit of commonsense knows the lake is receiving, day after day, a tremendous load of silt. And he knows that all that mud isn't running on out of the lake and into Johns Creek, below the dam.

Sportsmen and others interested in the preservation of this, one of the most beautiful lakes in Kentucky, are now preparing to file a request that the Corps construct a levee, or "boom," in the upper reaches of the impoundment to trap at least a portion of that heavy sediment load before it reaches farther down-lake, and also to halt the flow into the lake of countless plastic containers and a dismaying accumulation of other debris.

The Corps of Engineers should not take this request lightly. Until it can come up with something better, it should authorize the work.

It may, indeed, be years late, this talk of saving the lake, but it's worth a try. Nobody expects the federal or state governments to stop mining in the Dewey Lake drainage basin. Too much money is at stake there. Too much coal lies unmined there.

So it would appear that all we can now plead is, Patch the puncture.

Hopes for Better Things

We noted with sadness your picture of July 26th, which showed the water of Middle Creek flowing through Archer Park, with the comment that the water was acid-fallen from mine water flowing into it near David, 10 miles away, and the fact that there is no fish.

You may have noted that we who are left at David are trying to do something about things like this, and we are making efforts to somehow clean our creek and rebuild our town. It certainly is part of our hopes to be able to clean up this creek; so, if some of the people on the way between here and Prestonsburg will become interested and work with us, perhaps we can make Middle Creek again worth fishing in, as it used to be. We have accomplished quite a bit in the past two months, and we are working day and night as a community to correct the things like this which we are forced to live with. We believe it is time that we take control of our lives, and stand up for ourselves. We invite you to join us, in the hope that soon we can have another picture, only this time one with fish in it.

payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the 265 beneficiaries in Floyd county between 18 and 22 years of age are getting student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Kelly said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 22 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Kelly said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers. Beginning with the first check of beneficiaries received in July, 1975, Kelly said, social security benefits have increased 8 per cent.

If you need information about your social security, call 886-8525.

MORAL DON'T WORK FOR A JACKASS
Paul Jordan, the former Wayland man who is now chief of public information for the Office of Coal Research, Department of the Interior, ran across the following, the other day, and it, somehow, reminded him of "us":

"Over the hill trained a man behind a Dixie plow. The clodrunner was broadcasting: 'Bill you are a mule, the son of a jackass, and I'm a man made in the image of God. Yet here we are working together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I for you. Sometimes I think this is a partnership between a mule and a fool."

"For surely, I work harder than you do. Plowing here, we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I on two. Mathematically speaking, I do twice as much per leg as you do. So we'll be preparing for a corn crop. When the corn is harvested I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of God's universe. The other third goes to you, and what left is my share. But while you consume all your third with the exception of a few cents, I divide my third among seven children, six hens, two ducks and a banker. Bill, you are getting the best of me, it isn't fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to rob a man, the lord of creation, of his subsistence. And come to think about it, you only help to cultivate the ground. After that, I cut, shock and haul the corn, while you look over the pasture fence and hew hay at me."

Both revenue sharing and coal severance funds will be used in paying for the construction.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
(Health Editor)

That big moment is just a few days away for some children in Floyd county who will be enrolling in the first grade this fall and as every parent knows, those last few days can go by in a hurry.

Certain immunizations are required by state law before a child can be eligible to enroll in school. Ideally, every youngster should be immunized against diphtheria, pertussis or whooping cough, tetanus, polio, measles and rubella by the time he is two years of age—in which case, only booster doses will be required before school entry.

It is extremely important that parents check with their physicians or the county health department now, to see if their children have had all their required immunizations. These immunizations are important because a serious illness from any of these infectious diseases can cause death, or severe complications that cause permanent health problems. The Floyd County Health Department offers immunizations against all these diseases, free of charge, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a glaucoma clinic, Thursday, August 21, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The health department urges all persons over 35 years of age to take advantage of this free service. Because periodic eye examinations are your best defense against glaucoma.

Diabetes is the sixth leading cause of death in Kentucky and the third leading cause of blindness in the United States. Diabetes tends to develop hardening of the arteries at an earlier age than other people, and are more likely to have heart disease or eye troubles. But, if diabetes is detected early and the patient learns to control his condition, he has a chance to prevent complications.

This disease is most likely to occur in people who have diabetic relatives, people who are overweight, and people who, during their pregnancy, have given birth to a baby weighing over nine pounds. Other likely candidates are people who tire easily, eat excessively or find that wounds heal slowly. Anyone in these categories should be tested for diabetes either by his private physician or at the Floyd County Health Department.

The health department offers diabetes screening, free of charge, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Floyd 4-H'ers Win at Fair

Horticulture Demonstration

Among the top winners in the senior division (for ages 14-19) of state 4-H horticulture demonstration competition, held Aug. 15 at the Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, were (left to right) John Turner, 15, Rt. 5, Wayland; and Wendy Lee, whose demonstration was on arranging and planting a garden; and who took second place with Tim Hendrick, 14, 2708 Green River Rd., Henderson (Henderson county), and, in third place, Lance Blackburn, 17, Stanville (Floyd county), whose demonstration was on how to grow roses from cuttings. Each 4-H'er competing in this contest had earlier been selected top winner in senior division of 4-H horticulture demonstration on the county and area levels to become eligible for state competition.

Ann Flanery, 16, of Langley, placed third in the senior division (ages 14-19) of state 4-H general demonstration competition, Aug. 15, at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville, with her demonstration on care of the flag.

Kresge Gives $50,000 For Processing Plant

William E. Baldwin, President of the Kresge Foundation, announced recently a $50,000 grant to Mountain Comprehensive Care Center for use in the construction of an integrated food processing plant to be used in a work training program for the handicapped. The plant will be located in Magoffin county.

The Kresge Foundation (Michigan) is a private trustee corporation, established in 1924 by Sebastian S. Kresge with the stated purpose of promoting the well being of mankind. The Magoffin food processing plant will serve as a facility for a work training program for the handicapped in the five county district which includes Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Martin and Johnson counties. It will be part of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's district-wide Horticulture Therapy and Training Program.

Beginning in 1973 as a small pilot project, the program, originally called the Greenhouse Training Program, has matured into an outstanding therapy and training program which uses horticulture as a training medium.

The physical facilities, located at Auxier, consist of a complex of greenhouses, outdoor gardens and an open air market. In its brief two-year history, the program has served the training needs of 75 handicapped individuals from the district.

The addition to the food processing plant and additional greenhouses to be located in Magoffin county, the potential of the program will serve not only the needs of the handicapped but those of the local farming industry as well. It will make processing, storage, and marketing facilities available to farmers for locally grown produce.

The major portion of funds necessary for constructing the facility and getting the program under way have been appropriated by the Appalachian Regional Commission which has earmarked $300,000 for the program. The ARC funds will be channeled into the program through the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation which is acting as a lead agency through the initial construction and program implementation stage. The Department of Rehabilitation Services Administration has appropriated $38,000 in original staffing funds for the program.

The dredging operation will retrieve marketable coal from the river bed from deposits which occur at a continuous rate after originating upstream at coal mines and processing plants.

River bottom deposits will be picked up by a hydraulic dredge and the slurry will be conveyed by a pipeline on floats to a land-based processing plant. The dredge will operate over a 300-foot reach of the stream.

The dredge material, which will consist mainly of coal, is separated by screens, shakers and a flotation table. The water, sands and coal finds will be discharged through a 20-inch line into the Tug Fork. A settling tank will be introduced to reduce the amount of sand and coal settling into the stream. Overflow from the settling tank and water from the flotation table will be discharged into a 26-inch line and empty into the Tug Fork.

The proposed permit applies only to the dredging operation, while the discharge from the processing plant is under the jurisdiction of the Environmental Protection Agency.

A preliminary determination based upon an inspection of the site and environmental assessment indicates that the dredging impact Statement will not be necessary.

Bishop To Be Speaker At Floyd-Pike Rally Day

Sunday, August 24 will be Rally Day for Pike and Floyd county ministers, and to help celebrate the day Bishop Frank L. Robertson, of the Louisville and Kentucky Conference, United Methodist Church, will be guest-speaker at the Pikeville, United Methodist Church during the morning worship service at 11 o'clock. Along with the Bishop will be his wife and the newly appointed District Superintendent of the Ashland District of the United Methodist Church, Rev. Charles T. Pinkston. For the afternoon, there will be a dinner on the grounds of the Salem United Methodist Church between the hours of 12:30-2:00 p.m., where all Johns Creek Methodist ministers, their members and friends will bring picnic baskets of food. At 2:30 p.m., Bishop Robertson will be guest-speaker at the Salem United Methodist Church. Since it would be impossible for the Bishop to visit each church in this area, this will give him a chance to meet all the ministers, member and friends who would not have another chance of meeting him and his wife, Rev. Pinkston will recognize all the pastors of this area during the afternoon service and there will be special singing from different groups of the several churches.

Weather-Delayed Fish Fry Draws Crowd to Clubgrounds

The Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club's sixth annual fish fry was held Sunday at the club grounds on Stratton Branch at Jenny Wiley State Park, with a large crowd of local residents as well as tourists and other out-of-state visitors enjoying the old-fashioned festivities.

Although the fish fry was held a week later than originally scheduled, due to rain, attendance apparently did not suffer as people of all ages turned out. Wallen Is Seriously Burned when Crane Touches Power Line

Odell Wallen, 38, of Dwaile, narrowly escaped instant death Friday afternoon when a crane which he was operating at the mouth of the Big Branch of Abbott Creek came in contact with a 7,000-volt rural electric line. His condition remains serious at a Lexington hospital, but it is believed he will recover.

Wallen was operating the crane of the B & B Engineering Company during construction of a gas line beneath the highway when the crane struck the power line. As smoke and flame enveloped the machine Wallen either fell or jumped and his hand came into contact with the crane.

Wallen was burned about the neck, arms and on the soles of his feet. An identification disk chain about his neck burned in two. Two tires of the truck also burned.

Adrian Lafferty, of B & B Engineers, said the flames were brought under control by Bill James, who used a fire extinguisher, and that the injured man was clear of the crane within five minutes.

Francis Death Now Thought Homicide; Cousin Arrested

The death at the Highlands Medical Center here early last week of Ova Francis, 47, of Gypsy, Magoffin county, was not a suicide as first suspected, authorities have decided.

Francis' cousin, Palmer Francis, about 30, was arrested last Friday on a warrant procured by Detective Gary Rose. He was charged with reckless homicide and later released under $2,000 bond.

Francis was shot, the night of August 9. The bullet of a .22-caliber weapon entered above his cheek, lodging in the brain, and he died two days later at the hospital here without regaining consciousness.

When the death weapon did not turn up for two days authorities ruled out suicide. Circumstances surrounding the shooting of Francis were unavailable this week. The shooting reportedly took place at the cousin's home.

A 28-page pamphlet, geared to answer questions of workers and employers concerning the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, has been issued by the Labor Department's Labor-Management Services Administration.

CONTRACT WITH CHARGERS

SAN DIEGO—Former Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Virgil Carter agreed orally yesterday to play for the San Diego Chargers, in need of an effective field general, a spokesman said.

Carter, who was the Chicago Bears' No. 6 draft choice out of Brigham Young in 1968, played last year for the Chicago fire of the World Football League.

A spokesman for San Diego's National Football League team said the 6-foot-1, 185-pound Carter "has verbally agreed to terms and is en route to sign a contract."

Consumer Education Added To Kentucky School Curricula

Frankfort, Ky. Consumer education, mandated by the 1974 Kentucky General Assembly, enters the curriculum of every Kentucky school this fall.

The State Department of Education recently mailed consumer education guidelines to all school superintendents, instructional supervisors and principals in the Commonwealth.

The 60-page guideline booklet outlines procedures for converting the concept of consumer education into learning experiences for students of all ages.

Although consumer education is to be woven into existing subjects such as social studies, mathematics, home economics and vocational courses, the guidelines specify that in high school consumer education should have an identity of its own and be offered as a teaching unit or short course in appropriate subject areas.

The guidelines suggest the appointment of consumer education coordinators for each school district in the state and for each school. In addition, local committees made up of these coordinators, parents, students and teachers are to help carry out the plans for consumer education.

The booklet proposes that school districts implement the project by selecting several schools for pilot programs. Districts then are to evaluate and revise the programs, carrying them out in all schools in the district. A large part of the guideline booklet is devoted to sample consumer education activities and lists of resources, including consumer organization and agencies, printed material and audiovisuals for classroom use.

Because the Consumer Education Act specifies that each local board of education adopt a resolution on consumer education, the booklet presents a sample resolution for local boards to consider.

Bureau of Instruction acting consultant for consumer education, Wendell Cave, said that the guideline book is one of several efforts by the department to assure that consumer education finds its way into every school.

By the end of this month, the department will have met with each board of directors of the 15 Educational Development Regions concerning consumer education. In November a state plan for this program will be submitted to the State Board of Education, Cave said.

During in-service week to training period for teachers before school starts, Kentucky Educational Television (KET) will present a program on consumer education for teachers. During the school year, KET will broadcast the national Public Broadcasting Service programs "Consumer Survival Kit" and "Captain Consumer" for use in high school and junior high school classrooms.

Cave also noted that a Department of Education steering committee on consumer education will be available to provide in-service programs for teachers throughout the year on request by school districts.

WHAT TO DO IN AUGUST?

August, the eighth month and the namesake of royalty, is indeed a royal month. It is also a month of royal colors—purple and gold. Everywhere are purple asters and golden fields of goldenrod.

Named for the Roman Emperor Augustus, one of the greatest rulers that ever lived, or so say many noted historians, August's high temperatures rival those of July. Because of this heat, one is tempted to recommend no chores at all during this month, advising instead the eating of fresh corn, green beans, ripe tomatoes, and peach cobbler, going swimming in some cool, secluded, and unpolluted creek, or just sitting in the swing on the front porch and letting the world go by.

Mary R. Bullington, 22, Robert S. Scott, 26, Denise Specker, 20, and John W. Lacey, 19, all of Lexington, were charged with trafficking in heroin, possession of amphetamine and possession of marijuana.

Jones-Akers Wedding Solemnized

The wedding of Miss Allrieda Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Jones, of Grethel, and Daniel L. Akers, son of Elder and Mrs. Walter L. Akers, of Dana, was solemnized Saturday, August 2, at 2 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

The groom's father performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar, decorated with spiral candelabra. The guests repeated the Lord's Prayer. Elder Bill Tackett, of McDowell, sealed the vows with prayer. The parents of the bride presented the newlyweds with a white family Bible.

Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, the bride's aunt, provided the program of nuptial music which included, "Theme From Water Music," "A Time For Us," and the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. She sang "I Love You Truly" and "Each For the Other." The bride presented the groom's mother with a rose and the groom also presented Mrs. Jones a rose.

The bride escorted to the altar, and given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional floor-length gown of imported sheer over tulle. The short sleeves and bodice were covered with alencon-appliqued daisies. The appliques continued in rows down the dress and along the hem. The scooped neckline, empire waist and A line silhouette added to the beauty of the attached chapel train. Her profile headpiece was sparkled with pearls and held her elbow-length silk illusion veil outlined with alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Maria O'Rafferty, of Taylor, Michigan. The bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Agius, South Gate, Mich., Mrs. Pamela Boyd, of Dana, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Patricia Hunter, Honaker, sister of the groom.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore floor-length dresses of pastel colors with low necklines. They carried nosegays of white carnations dipped in green and yellow with matching streamers. The flower girl, Miss Tina Agius, of South Gate, wore a floor-length dress in pastel yellow and dropped daisy petals. The ring bearer was Master Christopher Conn, of Honaker, nephew of the groom.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother-in-law, Roger Hunter, of Honaker.

Ushers and candlelighters were Frank Porter, of Brooklyn, Mich., Charles Ray Boyd, Dana, and Ramon Conn, of Honaker. The pages were Yvette O'Rafferty, Taylor, Mich., and Julia Agius of South Gate.

Mrs. Jones attended the wedding wearing a street-length dress of brown and beige double knit with matching accessories. Mrs. Akers wore a street-length dress of double knit beige with matching accessories. Their corsages were white and yellow carnations with matching streamers.

A day of old-time music (electric instruments are "off limits"), crafts displays, story telling and picnicking on the lovely campus grounds, activities will begin at 10 a.m. and will conclude at 3 p.m. Prizes will be awarded the best fiddler, banjo picker, guitar, mandolin, dulcimer and harmonica ("Franch harp") players as well as prizes to the best musical groups. A soup bean and corn bread supper is brewed to guests between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.

The day has been set aside as a tribute to Appalachia and tradition as well as a good excuse for having some fun and ALC cordially invites the public to "play or just enjoy the day."

A buffet dinner was served at the reception. The long table was covered with white linens. A three-tiered white wedding cake baked by the groom's sister, Mrs. Marie Conn, was accented with yellow roses, topped with a miniature bride and groom which centered the table and was flanked by crystal candelabra holding antique ivory candles. Wedding bells and streamers led to a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Marie Conn, Mrs. Honaker and Sylvia Newsome, of Craynor, presided.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Agius and family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Porter and family, and Mario O'Rafferty, all of Michigan. The guest book was attended by Brenda Lee Hall, of Craynor.

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Akers are now residing at Honaker. Mr. and Mrs. Akers are graduates of Betsy Layne High School. Mrs. Akers is attending Mayo Vocational School entering the field of nursing and Mr. Akers is presently employed by C and H Coal Co., of Printer.

Disaster Benefits Available to Farmers

Farmers whose crops have been destroyed or damaged by a disaster such as a drought, flood, or hail storm may be eligible for disaster payments. Payments are made for prevented planting and low yields.

If farmers suffer a loss of any or all of their crop acreage and do not intend to carry it through to harvest, they must report the loss to the county ASCS office before disposing of the crop residue. The farm must also be checked by an appraiser to determine potential production prior to disposition of the crop residue. Farmers should be prepared to provide certification of the affected crop acreage.

If the crop is carried through to harvest and the total production is substantially below normal because of disaster conditions, farmers should report this loss within 15 days after harvest is completed and before destroying evidence of the crop damage.

Disaster payments are intended only to provide some relief to farmers whose cropland is so affected by disaster that they receive little or no income from production of the crop.

The disaster payment provision of the 1973 Feed Grain Program is authorized by the 1973 Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act. Participation in the program is open to all farmers who have a PG allotment regardless of race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

28 Attend Reading Workshop

Among those attending the KEDR XI Right to Read Workshop were (left to right) Olive T. Hall, Phillip Chaffins, Wilma Allen, and June Allen, of the McDowell Elementary School.

Twenty-eight teachers and principals representing seven schools in Region 11 attended a nine-day workshop in reading development skills at Clark Elementary School, August 4-8 and August 11-14. The workshop was sponsored by ROPES Region 11 (KEDR XI) and was financed through a Right to Read Program grant. Activities were planned by representatives from the seven school districts in the region and curriculum consultant, Larry Jervis. Participating schools were chosen by school superintendents.

Right to Read Programs are directed toward the prevention of reading problems which cause students to experience difficulty in all areas of school work. In keeping with this objective, workshop activities included the development or refinement of teacher techniques for: (1) motivating students and improving student attitudes toward reading; (2) individualizing teaching and assisting students to evaluate their own work; (3) teaching of vocabulary, comprehension, and word analysis skills; (4) reading in the content area; (5) development of materials for vocabulary, comprehension, and word analysis skills and for content area reading; (6) diagnosing reading problems; (7) prescribing and implementing solutions to reading problems; (8) the construction of teacher-made materials for specific reading skills; and (9) the learning center approach to individualization.

Consultants included Don Droubie, director of the Lincoln Model Nongraded School, Staples, Minnesota; Nancy Watkins, Murray State University; Betsy Mynhier, Kentucky Department of Education; Kelly Thompson, Morehead State University; and members of the Jerny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association, Delphia Hicks, Nadine Hicks, Pauline Hicks, Bertha Ratliff, Myrtle Ratliff, and Marie Stumbo.

Reo Johns, executive director, KEDR XI, said that a preliminary tabulation of evaluation forms indicates that the workshop was extremely well-received by participants. It is anticipated that a follow-up day will be scheduled for next spring to allow participants to meet and discuss the results of using methods gained from workshop attendance. Participating elementary schools were McDowell, Oil Springs, Salsersville, Grassy, Sycamore, Paintsville and Pikeville.

More Than 300 Enjoy Camping In 6-Week Period at Shawnee

Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, camping chairman for the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, released last week the final report of camping activities conducted by the council this summer.

Mr. Leach said that during the six-week camping period which began June 22, more than 300 campers were served at Camp Shawnee, in the German area of Dewey Lake. In addition, 12 campers participated in a wilderness canoe expedition at the Northern Wisconsin National Canoe Base and 13 others attended the National Order of the Arrow Conference at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

During the first three weeks of scout camping at Camp Shawnee, more than 160 scouts representing 21 troops from all 13 counties comprising the Lonesome Pine Council enjoyed a week of camping. They were served by 20 staff members recruited not only from this area but also from the states of Idaho, Maryland, Ohio, Utah, and the Washington D. C. area.

The fourth week of camping, July 13-19, was reserved for boys from low-income families who are not members of the Boy Scouts of America. Modifications were made in the regular program of camping to meet the needs of these boys. Primary co-operating agencies with the Lonesome Pine Council in providing this opportunity to these boys were the Wise and Dickenson County, Virginia social service agencies.

During the fifth and sixth week of camping at Camp Shawnee, July 20-August 2, the Lonesome Pine Council and the DILENOWISCO Education Co-operative jointly operated a camp for special education youngsters. Leach said the success of these two weeks of camp was especially notable, since it was the first attempt of the Lonesome Pine Council to serve young girls as well as the boys of the area. During these final two weeks of camp, youngsters between the ages of 7 and 15 years were accepted without regard to race or sex and were treated to a memorable camping experience. More than 100 such youngsters were served during the final two weeks of camp. August 2, the regular Boy Scout staff at Camp Shawnee were several staff members from the DILENOWISCO Educational Co-operative, of Norton, Va., plus approximately 25 students and their instructor from Keene State College, Keene, New Hampshire. The students received college credit for their assistance with this camp. The students acted as leaders and counselors for the campers while the regular Boy Scout staff operated the kitchen, all of the program features, and other support activities.

Mr. Leach said he is gratified that the executive board of Lonesome Pine Council decided to extend cooperation and the use of scouting facilities to serve non-scout youth throughout the council area. He added that this indicates the willingness of scouting to go beyond what is considered its normal area of responsibility to fill the needs of all young people residing in the ten Kentucky counties and three Virginia counties served by the council.

Proposals will be received as follows: Proposal No. 1 to include entire Project. Plans, specifications, and contract documents, may be examined at the following places: Builders Exchange of Knoxville, Tennessee, and Louisville, Kentucky; Dodge Corporation of Knoxville, Tennessee, Louisville, and Lexington, Kentucky, and Cincinnati, Ohio; AGC Office in Lexington, Kentucky, and at the office of Forrest G. McCloskey & Associates, Architect, 248 East Short Street, Lexington, Kentucky, and Forrest G. McCloskey & Associates, Polphery Building, Northlake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Distribution of the documents, not to exceed two (2) sets, may be secured from the Architect, Forrest G. McCloskey & Associates, (General Contractors & Major Subcontractors), upon payment of $25.00 per set, which payment will be refunded upon return of the plans, specifications, and other documents in good condition, within ten (10) days after date of bid opening. If more than two sets of documents are requested, they may be obtained upon payment of the cost of printing, plus handling, which payment will not be subject to refund. All deposits on hand after expiration of the ten-day period, become the property of the Architect. Postage and other handling charges will be deducted from the refund.

All Subcontractors, material suppliers, and other interested parties, may obtain the necessary sheets required to estimate their work, upon payment of $2.00 per sheet of the drawings, which charge will include the corresponding section or sections of the specifications. All that's required is the filling out of a simple form -

Form No. 1199, as shown here:

The Bank has these forms and will be glad to help fill it out for you.

Watch for this insert with your September check.

Check Insert

You can deposit your check directly...

Do you have a checking or savings account in a bank, savings bank, savings and loan association or similar institution, or a Federal or State chartered credit union? Did you know you can have your check deposited directly in your account in one of these organizations? If you don't have an account now, you can open one and have your check deposited directly.

Direct deposit of your check has certain advantages. For example:

- Even if you are away from home, your check would be deposited instead of sitting in your mailbox.
- You don't have any problem in cashing your check because it goes directly into your account.
- You don't have to stand in line to cash your check or to deposit it.
- You don't have to worry about losing your check after you receive it or having it stolen from your mailbox.

The decision is yours. It's entirely up to you whether you want your check deposited directly.

(please see other side)

If you want your check to continue coming to your present address, don't do anything. It will keep on coming just as it has in the past.

But if you do want your check mailed to a financial organization or if your check already is mailed to one, this is what you should do:

Contact the financial organization where you now have or where you want to have an account and ask for a direct deposit form SF-1199.

(Completion of the form does not permit withdrawals from your account by anyone other than those authorized by you.)

If you want more information, get in touch with your financial organization or contact any social security office.

READ THESE FACTS ABOUT DIRECT DEPOSITS...

- 1 Why is there so much interest today in the direct deposit of social security?
 The Treasury Department has initiated a program to encourage the recipients of all recurring Federal payments to deposit these directly into a financial institution. Under this plan, an individual can have his check sent directly to his financial institution for deposit.
- 2 How will I benefit from direct deposit of my social security check?
 It saves a special trip to the bank just to deposit your check. It eliminates worry about the check being lost or stolen in the mail. And, any time you are away from home or cannot come to the bank, your check is automatically deposited for you.
- 3 Can I have it deposited to my savings account as well as my checking account?
 If you want a portion to go into the savings each month, ask your bank about an automatic transfer of a specified amount each month from checking into savings. By law, your Social Security check must be directed to one specific account, either checking or savings.
- 4 How do I sign up for this service?
 Simply complete the government form (SF-1199) available at any bank. Personnel at your commercial bank will be glad to help you complete the form.
- 5 How do I get the information needed to complete the forms?
 All the Social Security information you will need is on your monthly check or in your initial award letter from Social Security. If you need any assistance or have any questions, your bank will be glad to assist you.
- 6 Do I send the form directly to social security?
 No, you should complete the top half of the form only and take it or mail it to your bank. They will complete the form, sending one copy to you and one to Social Security.
- 7 After I sign up, when will the bank start receiving my check?
 It should take about a month for the form to be processed. At the start of the program, it could take slightly longer.

It's easy and safe and saves you a trip to the Bank each month.
 Your check will come right to us on checking or savings, or both.

Suggests Scenic Routes for Last Pre-School Trip

By HELEN PRICESTACY
If you haven't traveled from Jenny Wiley country to the Breaks, along a southwesterly route through Dr. Thomas Walker and Daniel Boone country—including visits to the historic Daniel Boone National Forest, John Fox Jr. and beautiful Cumberland Falls—then you have not discovered some of the Commonwealth's most beautiful summer scenery.

August is fun month in Kentucky, for toward the last of the month thousands turn to school and the classroom. Now is the time to load up the family and take off to see one of the state's most interesting and historic regions.

Along the way are Kentucky state parks with comfortable lodges and dining rooms, camping areas, beaches, lakes for fishing, golf courses, beautiful towns with motels and hotels and all of them with outstanding scenic or historic features.

Much of the route is within Daniel Boone National Forest and could include stops at Mammoth Cave and fishing and water skiing at Lake Cumberland.

In addition to fishing, boating, camping, waterskiing, hiking, picnicking, golfing and other outdoor activities, families have an option on viewing a number of outdoor theater offerings before the season ends.

At Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre, near Prestonsburg, summer musicals continue Wednesday through Sunday till Aug. 16. The last weekend in the month is devoted to the popular Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival directed by Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg.

Grandparents—and sometimes parents—might recall fondly the romantic era of Kentucky novelist John Fox Jr., who lived in the Whitesburg area and wrote about the people he knew and loved. If the younger members of the family have trouble identifying with the Paris, Ky., writer, traveling via the Little Shepherd Trail and Kingdom Come State Park will open young eyes to the beautiful countryside and beautiful people that became part of Fox's books.

Be sure you see the drama, "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," at Van near Whitesburg, any Friday, Saturday or Sunday night through Aug. 31.

The whole family can enjoy "The Legend of Daniel Boone" at Old Fort Harrodsburg State Park, Harrodsburg, any night except Sunday through Aug. 24.

Such a swing through Southeastern Kentucky.

Dr. McElwain To Discuss New Ky. Health System Friday, at May Lodge

Dr. William P. McElwain, commissioner of the Bureau for Health Services, Frankfort, will discuss the new health system for Kentucky in an address at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Friday at 2 p.m.

Similar meetings are being held in all Area Development districts in the state. All who are interested in better health services for the area are invited to attend.

Kentucky will add much in the way of education to your schoolchildren, for your young ones will be impressed with stops at beautiful Buckhorn Lake in the Redbird section of Daniel Boone National Forest, Lilly Cornett Woods near Hazard, and Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes.

There also could be visits to various parts of Cumberland Gap National Historic Park, Pine Mountain State Park and Kentucky Ridge State Forest near Pineville and Middlesboro. At Laurel Cove Amphitheatre, near Pineville, the spectacular "Book of Job" is performed any night except Sunday through Aug. 31.

In the Corbin-London area your family will want to see Cumberland Falls and perhaps glimpse the falls' famous Moonbow and Little Eagle falls. Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park is nearby, and farther on there are many interesting places on Lake Cumberland, including Burnside and Woodson Bend. At Harboursville your family will revel in history at Dr. Thomas Walker State Shrine—and near Somerset, Zollicoffer Park and the national cemetery.

There are many side roads to history, so remember to be friendly and ask local residents where to go and what to see. Take along sweaters and blankets, too—especially if you camp cross country, for Kentucky's August weather trademark is beautiful, sunny days with pleasantly cool nights.

Furlough Program May Be Success

By HERR BROCK
Frankfort, Ky.—Nowadays people are normally more than happy anytime they get nearly 100 per cent return on an investment.

State Corrections Commissioner Charles J. Holmes is one of those people. Holmes' "investment" was made last November when he ordered implementation of Kentucky's first-ever furlough program for minimum-risk inmates on good behavior and within three months of the end of their sentence or parole.

Since the first 13 inmates were furloughed over the Thanksgiving holiday, some 200 men and women have gone home for brief visits with their families and an additional 100 men have been released for job interviews.

So far, only one inmate out of the 300 or so has not returned in the allotted time. James Breeding, a 39-year-old Knott county man, failed to return to the Blackburn Correctional Complex, near Lexington, after a two-day furlough over the July 4th weekend.

Holmes said "there has to be a first time," adding that it was unfortunate, since Breeding was near the end of his stay at Blackburn. But the one incident does nothing to dampen his enthusiasm for the program, he said.

Holmes attributes much of the success of the program to the conservative way in which it has been administered. "It's not an overly ambitious program, and we don't intend to it to be," the commission said. "There are a lot of legislators, prosecutors and citizens who are watching it closely to see if it will work."

The application process is an indication of how tightly controlled the program is. Every application must go through the inmate's caseworker, the prison superintendent and the deputy commissioner for institutions before it finally ends up on Holmes' desk.

At each level of the process, the inmate's background, prison record and references from the community to which he will be returning are some of the facts given close consideration.

The majority of furloughs—about 40 per cent—have been granted inmates at Blackburn, which houses only minimum-risk offenders. An additional 25 per cent have gone to inmates at the state's other minimum security facilities—Fresburg and the Bell County and Harlan County forestry camps.

Still, more than a dozen inmates at the state's maximum security prison at Eddyville have been furloughed, with about 20 inmates from the medium security reformatory at LaGrange and 50 from the state's women's prison near Peevle Valley also getting furloughs.

Holmes said the people approved for furloughs are generally the prison system's most trustworthy inmates. But the inmate, along with the person who picks him or her up, must sign an honor code before being released.

In addition, the inmate also is responsible for making provisions for getting home and returning to the institution.

Holmes said he will ask his research department to conduct a study of the furlough program, detailing the types of inmates being released, how many find jobs while on furlough and the number and nature of any incidents.

"Luckily, we don't have many incidents to report. If only we can keep it that way, we'll all stay in great shape," Holmes said.

ALLEN COMMUNITY NEWS

Hope Lutheran Church in Dearborn, Michigan was the setting for the candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Clara Helen Salisbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted H. Salisbury, and Mr. Ron Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Marks, of Dearborn, Michigan. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lucy Salisbury, formerly of Martin.

For her wedding Miss Salisbury chose an empire gown of white chiffon. The bodice was of imported Swiss guipure lace and was outlined with seed pearls, with which her full-length chapel train also was outlined. Her headpiece repeated the lace and pearls of the gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses, gladiolus and ivy.

Denise Carter, maid of honor, was dressed in an apricot chiffon gown with matching chiffon cape. Bridesmaids, whose gowns were identical to those of the maid of honor, included Debbie Marks, the groom's sister, Debbie Rydzicki, of Dearborn; Mrs. Charlene Stumbo, of Harold, and Mrs. Kathy Fitzpatrick of Cincinnati, Ohio.

David Marks brother of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Richard Panzoff, John Swicks, Jack Cassero and Joe Meyeck. Miss Amanda Martin, cousin of the bride served as flower girl. Master Jamie Bush, also a cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Mrs. Salisbury was gowning in a blue polyester dress with printed jacket. Mrs. Marks also chose a gown of beige polyester with matching jacket. Both wore corsage of orchids.

A dinner reception was held at the Chamberlain in the Holiday Inn following the wedding.

After their two week stay on the East Coast the couple will make their home in Inkster, Michigan.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. James Boxrud, of Pipestone, Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Edwards and sons, Kenny and Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Martin, all of Benton, Kentucky; Paul Salisbury, Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James Bush, Louisville; Mrs. Georgia Davis and Mrs. Inez Justice, both of Martin.

Kentucky's Air Pollution Alert

The threat of an air pollution alert has hung over the heads of city dwellers in Kentucky for quite a while. But when it finally came, as declared by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the state's first alert covered much of the area within its borders. Central and Northern Kentucky—Covington, Newport, Ashland, Lexington and Louisville were included in the alert, and bordering states also suffered high ozone levels.

Why not the rest of Kentucky? Because Kentucky's Air Pollution Control Regulations require that air monitoring instruments read 1 part per million (ppm) of ozone in the air, with levels expected to continue to climb or be repeated the following day. Where there are no instruments to detect the toxic gas in the air, there can be no alert issued.

An alert is the first stage of a three-part air pollution emergency episode plan. It calls for public notification of health hazards, voluntary restriction of automobile usage and cutbacks by power plants and industry to reduce the load of pollutants being accumulated. Other actions include staggering work hours and notifying hospital emergency rooms.

An air pollution buildup usually is considered an area-wide problem throughout the entire territory affected by a weather system. The buildup is caused by a temperature inversion holding pollutants close to the earth, or by a stagnation caused by lack of wind to move the air horizontally. Often, both occur together, but the recent episode was attributed to a stable weather pattern producing light winds.

Ozone is produced in the air by two other pollutants—hydrocarbons and nitrogen dioxide—reacting together to form ozone. But they will do so only in the presence of sunlight, the stronger the better. Often high temperatures accompany such incidents to speed the reaction process and add to our discomfort.

Hydrocarbons come primarily from automobile exhaust, with a contribution from some commercial and industrial processes. Nitrogen oxides are emitted by the same villain—the car—plus other combustion sources. Before uniting with hydrocarbons to produce ozone, nitrogen oxide must undergo a first conversion to nitrogen dioxide by reacting with oxygen in the air.

A pungent, colorless gas, ozone is the major photochemical oxidant produced, and it is used as a measurement of all of them. It often takes the blame for all the dirty work done by photochemical oxidants. For instance, eye irritation and the haze associated with photochemical smog actually are caused by other photochemical oxidants or a combination of them and associated pollutants. But ozone isn't blameless. It's harmful to everyone, producing headaches, throat irritation, difficulty in breathing and fatigue. Ozone makes us all more susceptible to any respiratory disease; irritates allergies, emphysema, asthma, colds or other existing conditions; increases stress on the heart; may cause severe difficulties for people with a shortage of any blood enzyme, and produces permanent effects such as aging and changing the lungs. And to add to an already bad reputation, statistics show that the number of auto accidents increases when ozone levels are high.

While ozone may not appear to bother city dwellers so much, it may be that they are growing accustomed to it, not immune. Generally, those most likely to feel its effects are the very young; those with pulmonary heart disease; persons having allergies, chronic breathing disorders (asthma, emphysema, bronchitis) or acute respiratory disease (colds, flu, croup, etc.) and blacks. But "healthy" people, especially athletes, should avoid any extra exertion during high ozone periods. In fact, Louisville physician Milton C. Young, III, M.D., said his office was inundated with visits and calls from "healthy" people during the recent stagnation, while Dr. Judah Skolnick, a specialist in the field of pulmonary disease, saw less evidence of distress in his patients. He credited this to the fact that his patients were aware of the dangers and most took the necessary precautions.

The best way to avoid harm from ozone pollution is to stay under air conditioning, which successfully filters out the poisonous gas. Rest is also vital, as is refraining from exertion or unnecessary physical activity. Avoid activities which may stir up dust or put you in contact with other irritants. Don't smoke and avoid secondhand smoke. In general, avoid anything which will increase the build-up of body burdens during such a time of stress.

Floyd Co. Grocery Loses Food Stamps

Atlanta, Ga.—A Floyd county food store—the Caudill Grocery, of Melvin—has been removed from the federal food stamp program for one year because of violations, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

The store, which is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Cook Caudill, was disqualified from the food stamp program for one year, starting July 27. It had been charged with redeeming food coupons that had been accepted in violation of the food stamp regulations.

Robert L. Cunningham, in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, explained that the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the disqualification period.

More than one-third of those Kentuckians arrested for major crimes in 1974 were under the age of 18. In addition, the number of juvenile arrests rose nearly 30 per cent over the 1973 total—up from 4,108 to 7,923. At the same time, adult arrests increased 20 per cent—from 13,038 to 15,240.

Unemployment Rate Drops in Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's unemployment rate has dropped to 5.9 per cent, the lowest figure since December, 1974 when unemployment was 5.9 per cent. Currently, 101,700 persons are estimated to be out of work.

"The decrease of 20,500 unemployed persons in July was due to two main factors," says Robert MacDonald, chief statistician of the Department for Human Resources (DHR) Bureau for Manpower Services. "Over 11,000 in-school youths dropped out of the labor force and the number of unemployment insurance claims decreased."

Kentucky's manufacturing employment increased 3,400 in July, according to MacDonald, reflecting the increase in unemployment.

Compared with the national unadjusted rate of 8.7 per cent, Kentucky's unemployment rate remains 1.8 per cent below the national rate.

Kentucky's labor force was 1,482,600 in July, a drop of 23,300 since June. According to MacDonald, this decrease in the labor force was due to the summer youths dropping out of the labor force plus a drop in the number of seasonal workers in the agricultural industry.

Miss Newsom, Mr. Hall Wed

The marriage of Miss Sherree Newsom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allred Newsom, of Harold, Ky., and Ned Hall, son of Mrs. Myrtle Hall, of Galveston, Ky., and the late Fred Hall, Jr., was solemnized Saturday, June 28, at 2 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

Candlelight set the mood for the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert Maylor, of Slaterville, Kentucky. A family Bible was presented to the new couple by the parents of the bride following the marriage vows. The arch was decorated with ivy and small white flowers. Completing the background were brass candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, pianist and vocalist, provided the music. For the prelude she played "Love Story", and Theme from "Water Music." She sang "I Take Thee, Dear," "More," and "At This Altar."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Queen Anne floor-length gown fashioned of imported lace and sheer over taffeta, with sheer lace-edged cape sleeves, sheer sweetheart neckline. Lace bands trimmed the front bodice, all-around high, empire-style waist, and attached full-length chapel train. Her headpiece was a chapel length open Camelot-style lace cap with nylon tulle mantilla in a band of lace to match the gown. She carried a trailing cascade bouquet of pink and green carnations, white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Alma Griffith, of Lorain, Ohio, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Her floor-length dress was pink polyester knit trimmed in lace.

The bridesmaids included Mrs. Bonita Akers, Miss Linda Kay Newsom, both of Grethel, Miss Sandra Newsom and Miss Jackie Newsom, both of Harold, and Miss Katherine Hall, of Galveston. The bridesmaids wore identical floor-length, pastel pink and green halter-style dresses of polyester knit.

Matron of honor and bridesmaids wore floral headpieces consisting of white, pink, and green miniature carnations and ivy. Their nosegays were pink, green and white carnations and miniature sweetheart roses.

The flowergirl was Miss Valeria Keathley of Galveston, niece of the groom. The ringbearer was Allred Newsom, Jr., of Harold, brother of the bride. Mr. Jennings Griffith, of Lorain, Ohio, served as best man. Ushers were Ritchie Newsom and Ronnie Newsom, of Harold, brothers of the bride, and Randy Doug Frasure, of Grethel, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride attended her daughter's wedding, wearing a floor-length dress of light blue double-knit with rhinestone accent and matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore a floral and white double knit with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Miss Danita Gail Tackett, of Grethel, cousin of the bride presided at the guest register.

At the reception which followed, a buffet dinner was served with the four-tiered wedding cake and punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall are now residing at Galveston, Kentucky.

Out-of-town friends and relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Frasure, of Ashland, Mrs. Pearl

Smith, Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hamilton, of Eaton Rapids, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Walker Hall, of Parma, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Seales and son, Jackson, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Carson Hobson, Vansant, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lee Hall and children, of Louis Center, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Griffith and daughters, of Lorain, Ohio, and Mrs. Magnolia Hamilton, Waverly, Ohio.

Mrs. Johnson Ends Career in Education

The end of the school fiscal year, July 1, 1975, saw the resignation and early retirement of one of Floyd County's most distinguished and best-loved educators—both from the standpoint of teachers she supervised and children whose lives she has touched as a teacher for 39 years.

Coming from a one-room school on Johns Creek, Mrs. Johnson weathered the struggle of getting to and attending high school at Prestonsburg. Later she attended Pikeville College and the University of Kentucky.

She began her teaching career in a one-room school on Buffalo Creek. During that year she was transferred to a three-room school at Melvin, where she met and was married to Taubee Johnson, a mine electrician. Later, she taught at the Weeksbury Elementary School and the Wheelwright High School until the new Melvin Grade School was completed in 1950. She then became principal and head teacher at Melvin. When Melvin had grown to an eight or ten teacher school, Winnie B., as she was and is best known, became principal where she served until 1973, when she was called to the Main Office as supervisor of instruction.

Early retirement was chosen by Mrs. Johnson in order to be with her retired husband, look after their business interests, and, more particularly, to help guide the education and homemaking hobby of their daughter, Susan, whom many have seen perform in several states. Miss Johnson has won so many trophies that the Johnsons, crowded for space, have purchased the former home of "Red" Hargett on Graham street where they are at home to their friends.

One of the many hopes and desires of the Johnsons is that they may get to see their daughter, who will be a sophomore at Transylvania University next year, ride in Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Johnson, as a principal, was known as one who "ran a tight ship," but associates say that in so doing she had a depth of understanding and a breadth of knowledge that left a good feeling with both the teachers and children with whom she worked.

Solid Waste Agency Fights Problem of Liquid Waste

By MARVA GAY

Frankfort, Ky.—A few years ago, flammable, alkaline and acidic liquid wastes were playing havoc with sewage systems in some areas of Kentucky. In other areas, these non-toxic but troublesome wastes were being dumped or disposed of in potentially dangerous ways.

Today, the division of solid waste in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection is charting the course of problem liquid wastes—locating the industries that produce the problem wastes and helping them find a suitable place to dispose of them.

"Though what we call problem liquid wastes," explained Sam Johnson, director of the state's solid waste division, "aren't toxic materials, they certainly require special handling. For instance, some of these problem wastes were once discharged into the public sewers. When they reached the sewage treatment plant, they destroyed the organisms that break down biologically degradable wastes. In other words, they caused the sewage treatment plant to malfunction."

Action by the state's division of water quality stopped the influx of problem liquid waste into public sewage systems, giving the problem to the division of solid waste. Some industries began storing or burying the troublesome liquids—and that, according to Johnson, caused other potentially dangerous situations. "The trouble with some of these wastes," said Johnson, "especially the highly flammable ones, is they can become highly explosive when stored a long time. What's more, if some others were buried or dumped in inappropriate places, they might contaminate underground water. "We knew we had to find something to do with these waters," continued Johnson, "so, a few years ago we began a study to locate sources of problem liquid wastes and appropriate disposal sites for these materials."

The division found that among the major sources of problem liquid wastes are plating and paint industries, chemical companies and pesticide formulators. Though the sources of problem wastes run in the hundreds, disposal sites are few. There are only three places in Kentucky—Henderson, Calvert City and Louisville sites—where flammable liquid wastes may be safely eliminated. The nearest disposal sites for some types of waste are outside the state. However, many industries dispose of their non-sewered liquid waste in suitable evaporating lagoons on their property.

"Though industry is responsible for getting rid of these wastes properly," said Johnson, "we believe that by assisting them in finding suitable, safe disposal places, we insure that these items don't become dangerous."

"There is always the possibility," added Johnson, "that if we cannot supply information on how to best handle some of these problem wastes, they will be dumped some place where they may become a hazard."

Assistance in disposing of problem liquid waste can be obtained by writing the Division of Solid Waste, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, 6th floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or by calling 502-564-6717.

MY LIFE

My life is but a weaving,
between my God and me,
I do not choose the colors,
He worketh steadily
 Ofttimes He weaveth sorrow,
and I in foolish pride,
Forget He sees the upper,
and I the underside.
Not till the loom is silent,
and the shuttles cease to fly,
Will God unroll the canvas
and explain the reason why.
The dark threads are as needful
in the skillful Weaver's hand,
As the threads of gold and silver
in the pattern He has planned.

ALC Admission Personnel
Attend Chicago Meet

Ann Stephens, assistant director of admissions at Alice Lloyd College, played a leading role in a two-day conference on "Achieving Student Recruitment Goals" held at the Palmer House in Chicago, July 29-30.

Miss Stephens made a panel presentation on "Reaching Prospects Through High School Visits." Her presentation included a discussion of the best means of scheduling and making high school visits. Other members of the panel discussed using faculty to aid in admissions work, making the most of college nights, and encouraging guidance counselors to help.

The two-day conference was sponsored by Gossner, Gerber, Tinker and Stuber, a Chicago firm which serves as development consultants to colleges and universities. Robert E. Tinker, a partner in the firm, has served as a consultant to Alice Lloyd College since 1968.

Also representing ALC at the conference was Denward Johnson, director of admissions.

Last Week's Reclamation Suits
Reach Single-Day Record

Frankfort, Ky. The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection filed 14 simultaneous lawsuits last Wednesday against coal operators, strip mining without a permit. This constitutes the largest number of reclamation related lawsuits filed in a single day since Secretary John Stanley Hoffman took over the department in January.

This single day increase in lawsuits was attributed by the department to an expanded legal staff.

Seeking temporary and permanent restraining orders from Franklin Circuit Court against the operators, the department contends that mining in unpermitted areas constitutes a serious, immediate and irreparable injury to the people of Kentucky.

The affected coal mining operations are located in Letcher, Morgan, Perry, Clay, Pike and Knott counties.

Ansel Davis, an attorney for the environmental protection agency, pointed out, "The department is charged by statute with the duty of prosecuting all individuals found strip mining without a permit in the state."

He explained, "The strip mining statute has been on the books since 1966. By this time everyone should be well aware that a permit is required by law prior to engaging in surface mining in Kentucky. Some operators, however,

COMBS FAMILY MEMBERS ATTEND REUNION

BUCKHORN, Ky.—More than 1,000 members of the Combs family of Eastern Kentucky turned out for the family's 13th annual reunion at Buckhorn Lake State Park Sunday, despite scattered showers that dampened the crowd.

Both young and old Combses from throughout Eastern Kentucky and surrounding states brought their picnic lunches and visited relatives and friends during the daylong festivities.

While not a member of the family, retired University of Kentucky Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp spoke to the gathering, which included one member of the Air Force who brought his family to the picnic all the way from Italy.

It was a bi-partisan picnic, with former Democratic Gov. Bert Condit on hand, along with State Sen. Denver Knuckles, R-Middlesboro, president of this year's picnic. Earle Combs, of Richmond, a member of baseball's hall of fame, was unable to attend because of illness and was represented by his son Charles.

The event, which began as a typical Eastern Kentucky family get-together, has developed into a large organization that prints its own newspaper for the reunion, elects a slate of officers and gives four college scholarships annually.

This year's scholarships went to Timothy Morris, 19, Hazard; Lillian Collier, 39, Hall, in Knott County; Marion Mullins, 18, Anco, Knott County; and Rebecca Combs Hall, 21, Mousie, Knott County. Mason Combs of Pineville and Katherine Combs of Jeff were named the man and woman Combs of the year.

FILE APPEAL NOTICES
FRANKFORT, Ky.—Attorneys for the new London Bank & Trust Co. and the Kentucky Department of Banking and Securities yesterday filed notices for appeal of a ruling that set aside the bank's charter.

The filing delays the effect of the ruling by Franklin Circuit Court and allows the bank to continue operating, pending action by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, a state news release said.

A state agency's appeal automatically delays such a circuit court ruling, an attorney for the bank said later.

Last week Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs set aside former Banking and Securities Commissioner Howard Sallee's 1974 order approving the new bank. The bank opened June 3.

Meigs acted in a suit filed last year by London's two other banks.

Kentucky is one of only 17 states which support a statewide public defender program for the state's indigent defendants. Kentucky's program was started in 1972.

Pictured is Mr. Crum being presented the car by John Porter, President of Big Y, and Ron Wallen, salesman. Engineers Asked To Delay Gorge Dam

The General Accounting Office says the Army overestimated the benefits of a proposed dam in Kentucky's Red River Gorge and should postpone construction until the project is reevaluated.

The recommendation was made Monday by the GAO, an investigatory and auditing arm of Congress. It said the Army failed to demonstrate the water-supply value of the dam.

The project has been the subject of controversy for years in Kentucky. The president of the Red River Gorge Legal Defense Fund, an organization formed to block construction of the dam, said the GAO report "could be stronger, but it supports the basic contention we've been arguing all along."

Oscar Gerald said the report was "very supportive of our economic arguments."

The report questioned the Army's conclusion that the project would yield almost twice its $34 million price tag in benefits to the area.

Before proceeding with the project, GAO said, the secretary of the Army should require the Corps of Engineers "to resolve the questions on project benefits raised in our review."

The Army said such reevaluation would not substantially affect its estimates of the project's costs.

Victor V. Veysey, assistant Army secretary for civil works, described as "reasonable" the Army's estimate that the project would bring $101 million a year to the area in recreational benefits. He denied the GAO's contention that these benefits had been overstated.

"The order of magnitude of the benefits if recomputed would not be so significantly altered as to affect ultimate project decisions," Veysey said.

The dam would be located about 110 miles southeast of Louisville. It was authorized in 1962 as part of a flood control plan for the Kentucky River basin.

Environmentalists claim the dam would harm the Red River Gorge. A federal judge restrained the Corps of Engineers in May from going ahead with the project until several environmental issues could be resolved. That order stemmed from a lawsuit brought by the defense fund last year.

The project, the Army says, will yield annual benefits amounting to $2.47 million in added flood protection along the Red and Kentucky rivers. It also would increase recreation because a lake would be created by the dam.

The GAO said the Army's figure was "questionable" and said the estimate, "if not sustained, could have a large impact on the values supporting the economic feasibility of the project."

The project first was expected to cost $8 million. That was in 1962. Since then, the GAO noted, the price tag has grown to more than four times that figure.

"The Corps should resolve these matters and recalculate all benefits under current conditions before proceeding with the project," the GAO report said.

Another federal body, the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), has criticized the Corps' environmental impact statement on the project.

The council asked the Corps to look more closely at the effects on wildlife, plants and fish and at alternatives to the dam. CEQ was not satisfied with the Corps' response earlier this year to its questions.

The GAO report, requested in July, 1974 by former Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Kentucky, is one of two studies Gov. Julian M. Carroll has been waiting for before he takes a position on the project. A Carroll spokesman said yesterday afternoon Carroll hasn't seen the GAO report yet.

Carroll is also waiting for a report on an archeological study of several ancient Indian dwelling sites that would be flooded if the dam is built. The governor's spokesman said Carroll's decision might be delayed several weeks, until the archeological report is finished.

Veysey said last spring, "If the governor says he doesn't want the project, the Corps won't build it."

The GAO report details the environmental issues raised by critics of the project—including the CEQ, a presidential advisory group.

The environmentalists say the Corps hasn't adequately assessed the ecological, sociological, archeological and geological effects of the project.

But the GAO did not express an opinion on these issues, stating it has a policy of not commenting on matters under litigation. A suit filed by a coalition of environmental groups against the Corps in U.S. District Court in Louisville is scheduled to be heard on Sept. 3. In May, the court ordered that the Corps be temporarily restrained from taking options to buy land for the project until after the September hearing.

GAO also examined the 3 1/2 percent interest rate used by the Corps in evaluating the project. The interest rate determines the benefit-to-cost ratio which the Corps used in justifying the construction of the project.

Using the 3 1/2 percent rate, the Corps has said that for every $1 spent on the Red River project, there will be $1.80 in recreation, flood control and water supply benefits. The GAO report stated, "We cannot say that the interest rate figure used for preparing the economic analysis for the Red River Lake project was not in compliance with the requirements of applicable legislation."

GAO reserved its criticism for the Corps' computation of the project's benefits. The Corps plan will flood part of the area to form a lake for recreational activities—one of the benefits it cites in justifying the project.

The report also maintained that the Corps hasn't accurately assessed flood control benefits of the project and recommends that those benefits be restudied.

The GAO questioned the Corps estimate of water supply benefits from the project. According to the report, state officials told the GAO that the dam project is not essential as a water source, "since there are numerous existing and other potential sources which can satisfy the area's future water needs."

OBSERVATORY SAYS QUAKE SHOOK KODIAK ISLAND

PALMER, Alaska—The Palmer Observatory says an earthquake shook the Kodiak Island area yesterday morning. The quake was centered in the Gulf of Alaska about 100 miles southeast of Kodiak. Observatory official Bob Eppley said there was no indication the earthquake was felt. No injuries or damage was reported.

Impressions Of Tom T. Hall

By GEORGE L. MOORE

A little more than three years ago I did not know that such a person as Tom T. Hall existed. My attention was first attracted not by his singing but by hearing his name mentioned over the radio as the person who wrote "Harper Valley P.T.A." The first time that I heard the song I predicted it would be a hit. Time proved the prediction was correct. Later when Tom T. came to his native Olive Hill to take part in the Fourth of July celebration, I began to learn more about him.

Anyone who reads or keeps up with things will recall, I am sure, that the entire issue of LOOK magazine of July 13, 1971 was devoted entirely to country music. Tom T. Hall was quoted more than any other person interviewed for that issue. Some of the interviews were so down to earth that you could hear the snap as Tom T. pulled the metal tab from another can of beer.

I have always admired anyone who has a deep love and affection for the place where he was born and raised. In talking with him, I got the impression that Mr. Hall has a strong attachment for the place where he grew up. As we talked about the region, I was impressed with his sincerity. He was deeply concerned about the economic well-being of this section of Appalachia. I was surprised by the wide range of his knowledge. He was quite well informed over a wide range of subjects. After talking with him for a considerable period of time, I can better understand why the interviewers from LOOK concentrated on him. I doubt if they could have found a better-informed person in the field of country music. He was not only well informed but an articulate and refreshing conversationalist as well.

I was glad to see that The National Observer devoted a great deal of space sometime ago to Tom T. Hall and his music. This prestigious publication with a nationwide circulation pointed out that Mr. Hall had ushered in a new era of folk music in America. It discussed in depth his songs in the album, "In Search of A Song." A few weeks later I learned that the songs from this album were being used in some universities in classes of music appreciation.

It is odd how people start relating themselves to one who has become an outstanding success and has reached the top of his profession. As I moved about over the region and asked this question: "Did you know Tom T. Hall?" here are some typical answers: "I'd say I know him, why he used to go with my sister." "Yes, I know him better than you do, he came in a p.p. of marrying my cousin." "Oh, yes, I know him well. If I am not mistaken he used to come over every Saturday night to see Old Ben Stegall's girl."

The answers to the questions would seem to indicate that the young musician had strong romantic inclinations. However, not all of the young Mr. Hall's romances ended in a blaze of glory. As do all mortals, he did have frustrations. These frustrations are best expressed in his hit song, "The Little Lady Preacher at the Limestone Church."

When he came to visit me, we talked at length on a wide range of subjects. None of the conversations had to do with music. My knowledge in this field is conspicuous by its absence. I found him to be a very interesting person. He is modest to a fault. In talking with him you would never know that he had ever written a song or that he had enough money to pay for a night's lodging.

As an old man who lives 'way back in these hills, I am glad to have had the opportunity to talk to Tom T. Hall.

Instruction will be provided by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad.

A course in yoga "Hatha" will also be taught at the college by Mrs. Kathy McCavitt. This class is open to the beginning student and also to those who have had some yoga experience. Meeting eight consecutive Thursday evenings, beginning September 4, at 7 p.m., in the Commons Room in the Student Center, the class will focus on postures, breathing techniques and relaxation techniques. Some attention will be given to yoga philosophy, concentration techniques and the concept of meditation. The class will be limited to 20 participants.

Roving Pickets Close W.Va. Mines

Roving pickets closed numerous coal mines in Southern West Virginia Monday in a continuing protest over grievance procedures in the current United Mine Workers (UMW) contract.

Unofficial estimates indicated that between 6,000 and 8,000 miners were idle. One of the state's largest producers, Consolidation Coal, reported seven of its mines in Wyoming and McDowell counties—employing 1,460 miners—were idle. In addition, virtually all mines remained closed in Logan County.

The protest apparently is an indication that miners are dissatisfied with the union's efforts to implement new grievance procedures.

UMW president Arnold Miller appeared last Sunday at a miners meeting in Kanawha County to answer questions about the grievance procedures and the coal contract ratified late last year.

Officials of the West Virginia Coal Association, the Kanawha Coal Operator Association and UMW District 17 in Charleston and 18 in Beckley were not available for comment on the extent of the wildcat strike.

Some 117 million persons applied for jobs at public employment offices during the first 6 months of fiscal year 1975, the U. S. Labor Department reports.

State Studies Parks Impacts

Frankfort, Ky.—Two Eastern Kentucky state parks—Cumberland Falls and Levi Jackson—are currently being studied to determine their impacts on the state and local economies.

The one-year study, conducted by the state Development Cabinet, focuses on the indirect revenue generated by the parks.

Other state parks being studied are General Butler, Barren, Rough River, John James Audubon, Lake Barkley and Kentucky Dam Village. The statewide project is scheduled for completion in May, 1976.

Project directors, John W. Hunt and Richard Garda, noted that both positive and negative effects of the parks are being analyzed in seven major areas, with comparisons being made of "before park" and "after park" conditions.

The subject areas are: trade generated for businesses; employment opportunities; expenditures in Kentucky by out-of-state park visitors; impacts on environmental protection; use of park land; tax revenues lost and gained as a result of the park; and local public services affected by the park.

Garda said that during the project's first six months, two four-member teams will be gathering economic data in and around the parks. This will include analyzing tax and real estate records and interviewing park visitors, county officials and merchants.

"One of the main things we're relying on," he said, "is help from the local officials and citizens, particularly the merchants we'll be contacting to determine the amounts of park-related trade they receive."

The statewide project follows a pilot study completed last January of three Eastern Kentucky state parks—Natural Bridge, Carter Caves and Greenbo Lake.

The research methods being used, Garda explained, will enable the research team to "get the whole picture."

For instance, they'll reconstruct the productivity of the land (before and after the land became a park); determine the past and present environmental and economic circumstances and then come up with a balance sheet of positive and negative park impacts, he said.

The purpose of the study is two-fold, according to Project Coordinator William D. Oakley, executive assistant for management and budget in the Development Cabinet.

"First," Oakley said, "this type of objective information will be used in improving the operations of present parks and in planning future parks and recreation areas."

"Also," he continued, "the study will provide documentation and data for future economic studies in other areas of government, such as high and industrial planning. The spin-off possibilities are tremendous."

Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery noted that the study will answer old questions about profits and losses in the parks. "We plan to respond to any results we get," he added.

"The pilot study provided us with important information, not only about economic impacts, but about the use of land in the parks," Montgomery said. "We hope to get more ideas about land use."

Carter Officers Burn Marijuana Seized in Raid

GRAYSON—Officers Monday burned a pound of marijuana taken in a raid eight days earlier, leaving the sweet smell of burned hemp around the Carter County jail.

Kentucky State Police Det. T. R. Jude said operations in Grayson were "pretty big... no Mafia or Chicago style, but a good operation."

Two persons arrested with the raid, Charles Spears, 509 Rupert Lane, and Molly Fabian, Brown's Trailer Park, were each fined $1,000—$500 on each of the counts of sale and possession of marijuana—in Carter County Court last week.

The two were also placed under a year's probation after drawing a three-month sentence on the charges.

Paintsville Board Adopts Resolutions

PAINTSVILLE—The Paintsville Board of Education Monday night passed two resolutions, the first calling for improved attendance and the second with consumer education for pupils in the system.

The first move lays down specific rules on what excuses will be accepted for school absence. It is drawn from a similar set of rules used in Shelby County, with adjustments made on this set by Paintsville board members. The action also says the director of pupil personnel should make a contact by telephone or in person with the parent of any child absent, on the day of absence, or in event of excessive tardiness.

Supt. Oran Teater stressed, "The extreme importance of good attendance" noting the number of absences directly affects the amount of state money the system gets or doesn't get. He said Paintsville lost $10,000 to absenteeism last year, and attendance will be more important this year as schools go to the weighted pupil concept of finance.

Matters were less clear on consumer education, which the state board has allowed to be implemented this year. After discussion the board directed its administrators to find out where it is being taught elsewhere and eventually create a program for Paintsville.

The major question was how to fit the course into current curricula and Teater said groundwork was already laid, with consumerism being taught in some aspects, though not identified. Bids were opened on fleet insurance with Reid Brown-Williams the only bidder at $1,000.

Make Known Your Heritage. Come!

The annual Blair reunion will be held August 31 at the Upper Cowan Community Center, Cowan, Kentucky in Letcher County. Look for signs from Whitesburg.

We will have games for both young and old, horseshoe pitching, prizes for the best team, table tennis, badminton, croquet, square dancing, and a three-legged race with prizes.

Prizes will be awarded for the oldest person, youngest person, the parent with the most children present, and the one who travelled farthest.

We would like pictures of some of our older generations and anyone with crafts or talents are invited to bring examples to display or sale.

Bring a covered dish.

The reunion will begin at 10 a.m. and lunch at 1 p.m.

If any information is needed, call or write.
