Loan between utilities, city prompts request :

Officials want state probe of themselves

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Wheelwright City Commissioners voted Monday to ask the state's attorney general to conduct a probe to determine if proper administrative procedures are being followed.

The vote to ask for the state investigation came after discussions concerning a $15,000 "loan" to the city from the Wheelwright Utility Commission.

Utility Commissioner Jimmy Little asked the city to approve a plan which would outline how the city intends to repay the loan. Little said that an audit of the utility commission is coming up and utility commissioners needed something in writing to make sure the money would be repaid.

"We are accountable for that money," Little said. "We are not in a (money) loaning program. We didn't agree to loan it and I don't care how we get it back."

City Commissioner Lowell Parker argued that there "is no paperwork" in relation to the $15,000 loan and he was unsure if the city was legally obligated to repay the debt. He called for a state investigation into the issue.

"I'm asking for an internal probe from the state into the city and the utility commission to see if (the loan) was done properly," Parker said. "Is the city operating properly? Let's ask the attorney general to do an internal probe to see if the proper legislative proceedings are being followed. It's time to unleash the state agencies to come in and audit us."

Mayor Kenneth Johnson explained that the $15,000 "loan" was used to purchase a house near the road to the new prison being built in that community. Johnson said that a committee was chosen to negotiate a contract so that the prison would repay the city for buying the house.

The house and the property was purchased by the city because the property was needed to allow access to the prison.

"(Naming the committee) wasn't legal in the first place," Mayor Johnson said. "Once we bought the house, it was not in the contract with the prison (to pay back the $15,000)." Utility Commissioner Little said he was not asking for an investigation, only that the city "put it in writing" that the money would be repaid to the utility commission.

City commissioners unanimously agreed to ask for an investigation to

Lancer home leveled by Monday morning blaze

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

An early morning fire Monday destroyed the home of Prestonsburg Main Street Manager Henry Lewis Mayo.

The home, located on South Lake Drive near Prestonsburg Fire Station No. 2 at Lancer, was completely engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived, said Mike Wells, assistant fire chief. When firefighters at Station 2 opened their fire station door, they could see flames shooting out of the house, Wells said. The call had been dispatched to the Lancer station from Prestonsburg Station 1.

The fire was reported around 4:52 a.m. Monday by an employee of Riverview Manor Nursing Home. Mayo was not at home at the time of the blaze, but was staying nearby at the home of his sister, Ruth Goebel, Wells said.

The cause of the blaze had not been determined Tuesday evening, Wells said. Major Larry Adams is investigating the incident.

State panel hears pros of local track; cons of racing commission oversight

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

The sponsors of a bill which would pull the reins on off-track betting in Kentucky suggested Friday in Prestonsburg they were open to compromise on the issue, but they held their ground on a proposal to revamp the state's controversial racing commission.

State Representatives Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, and Russell Bentley, D-Hindman, have pre-filed legislation for deliberation during the 1994 session of Kentucky's General Assembly that would abolish off-track betting in the state and dissolve the current racing commission, replacing that oversight panel with a committee of appointees from each of the state's congressional districts who have no business interests associated with the racing industry.

That legislation was the topic Friday of a special meeting of the General Assembly's Interim Joint Committee on Business Organizations and Professions—the BOP in the now infamous BOPTROT probe of influence peddling in state government.

Friday's meeting, held at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn, was part

Moonshine still is destroyed at Drift

In a prohibition-style raid, Floyd County sheriff's deputies arrested three men Sunday after finding a moonshine still and five marijuana plants near their home at Drift.

Edward Wright Jr., 27, and James

A. Wright, 24, were charged with possession of an apparatus for the unlawful manufacture of alcoholic beverages and cultivating marijuana under Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and deputies executed a search warrant Sunday.

Kenneth Ray Wright, 23, was charged with possession of less than eight ounces of marijuana after officers executed a second search warrant for his home.

The moonshine still was found in a shack located high on a hill adjacent to Edward Wright Jr.'s home at Drift Hollow. When officers arrived at the scene, they found James A. Wright walking toward the still with parts of the apparatus in his hand, court records said.

Edward Wright Jr. was carrying a milk crate and a feed bag which smelled of "distilled operations," the citation said.

In the hillside shack, officers found two large vats of what appeared to be

Lighting firm to locate at Martin; up to 300 new jobs are possible

Following approval Tuesday of final financing arrangements by the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority, a Chula Vista, California company has announced the location of its new manufacturing and distribution facilities in Floyd County. RND, Inc. will locate its low voltage landscape lighting operation in the former United Central Supply building near Martin. With an initial investment of nearly $1.7 million, RND projects up to 300 new jobs over the next 2 to 3 years.

Darrell Gilliam, executive director of the Floyd County Development Authority, who has spent the last several months negotiating this project, expressed optimism for this new business. "This is the first new industry to be announced from efforts begun over a year ago, and we're very excited. I really appreciate all the assistance the state and the Floyd Fiscal Court has provided to make this project a reality," Gilliam added.

For RND, it was a matter of location and local cooperation that made the project a reality. "Kentucky's positive business financing programs and the assistance we received from everyone in Floyd County are the real reasons we are able to make this move," said Ralph Bowen, president of RND. "We're delighted with the cooperation we've gotten from Darrell Gilliam of the Development Authority, Judge Stumbo and the Fiscal Court, Jim (Kendry, vice president of First Commonwealth Bank, and everyone at the state level; and we look forward to our move to Eastern Kentucky," he added.

Floyd County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo hailed the RND announcement and praised the efforts of the Development Authority in attracting this new industry to Floyd County. "I'm very pleased to see our efforts to attract new jobs begin to pay off. The Development Authority has done a good job and we must continue this important effort to diversify our economy and provide more job opportunities throughout the county," he said.

RND will begin its move in the near future and plans to begin operations in September. From the Martin facility, it plans to produce and distribute a line of energy efficient landscape lighting products, including a concrete "Step-Lite." The "Step-Lite" is a concrete stepping stone illuminated by a ring of low voltage lights.

Cuts will affect center opening

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Hopes that a new facility at McDowell could be shared by young and old by early 1994 apparently have been put on hold by state budget troubles and deficit-reducing steps announced last week by Governor Brereton Jones.

Initial reports that Jones' budget-balancing proposals would affect only the long-range operating budget and not the construction of a combined senior citizen-childcare center at McDowell have been revised. A Big Sandy Area Development District official said this week, Jones' proposal called for $150,000, appropriated for the project for 1994, to be cut from the state budget. That cut, Big Sandy ADD spokeswoman Bonnie Hale said Monday, will directly affect funds available for the construction of the $400,000 facility.

"We were hoping to be in the facility by January," Hale said, "but we may have to fall back and restructure our plans. We're discussing the issue with our contractor."

"...we may have to fall back and restructure our plans..."

— Bonnie Hale

As planned, the McDowell center would offer services and activities for area senior citizens and child-care services for parents. Funding cuts, Hale said, could mean fewer services will be available. "We're looking to still have both (the senior and child-care services)," Hale said Monday, "but we don't know for certain yet how the cuts will affect the project or when it will be available for use."

Road hazard

A truck driven by Richard Brad Reynolds of Mt. Sterling went over an embankment Saturday near Riverview Manor Nursing Home and into the mobile home of Norman and Norma Hamilton of Prestonsburg. This is the third time that a vehicle has smashed into the Hamilton's mobile home. They have begged the state to install guardrails, said investigating Prestonsburg Police officer Mike Conn, but none have been installed. The accident was also investigated by Prestonsburg Police officer Mack Stewart. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

Assault charge is reduced for official at Wheelwright

A felony assault charge filed against a Wheelwright City Commissioner was amended to a misdemeanor at an August 11 hearing in Floyd District Court.

Commissioner Luther Johnson Jr., 39, was charged with second degree assault on a police officer July 24 for allegedly assaulting Wheelwright police chief David Duncan. Duncan injured his left knee in the incident and has been unable to return to work.

Court records offered no explanation why the charge was reduced and a preliminary hearing has been set for Thursday, August 26 at 3:15 p.m. in district court.

Martin council to hold special meeting

A special meeting of the Martin City Council has been called for Wednesday, August 18 at 7 p.m. at city hall.

The only item on the special meeting agenda to be discussed is a dispute between the city and Mountain Christian Academy over a sewage treatment plant and a sewer line.

Bill and Co

State Representatives Greg Stumbo, left, and Russell Bentley outlined provisions of legislation they have proposed that would dramatically alter the current oversight of horse racing and off-track wagering during a special meeting in Prestonsburg Friday of the General Assembly's Joint Committee for Business Organizations and Professions. The legislators divided their time between discussions on the proposed bill and expressions of support for a Floyd County harness racing facility. (photo by Scott Parry)

Racing

bers of the joint BOP heard testimony from witnesses endorsing the development of a Floyd County harness racing facility and from harness racing officials concerned about the future of their industry.

Bill sponsors Bentley and Stumbo advised the committee that their proposed legislation was directed at a newly-formed state racing commission dominated by thoroughbred interests that was perceived to have "stuffed" standardbred racing and particularly the Floyd County harness project.

The legislators, both of whom represent parts of Floyd County in Frankfort, noted that East Kentucky Racing's plan to bring live racing to Eastern Kentucky was an economic "necessity" that was "good for all of Eastern Kentucky."

Stumbo relayed his concern of the state's current racing commission and his proposal to bring a bill to the legislature that would allow a harness racing facility to be built in the state, saying a Friday that he expected live racing to be held in Floyd County next year. East Kentucky Racing, which will lease a new facility being constructed on Route 3, has applied for 42 racing days in 1994 and hopes to conduct live racing from that date through Labor Day.

Opposing the bill is a compromise on the racing commission to restrict off-track wagering. Stumbo said he believed "there is a place for off-track betting in Kentucky, but not in this priority, should be the support of live racing."

Prestonsburg Mayor Art Landrum, former Governor Frankfort, who serves as legal counsel for East Kentucky Racing, said the bill "will be an economic stimulus that would create an estimated 275 jobs and provide more than $11 million yearly to the local economy."

Carroll said proposals to develop a harness racing "circuit" in Eastern Kentucky, with another track in Ashland and a third in southeastern Kentucky, would bury the struggling harness industry.

Senator Fred Bradley, a member of the BOP, speculated that that plan was feasible in Eastern Kentucky.

because the "competition for entertainment dollars is not that great here." Norm Smith, executive director of the Kentucky Harness Horsemen's Association, told the panel that his industry has suffered financially since the advent of off-track and intertrack wagering, adding that a restructuring of the state racing commission in 1992 had left the harness industry with little representation.

"The commissions were merged in the spring of '92," Kentucky Standardbred Breeder's Association president Tom Stewart said, "and from that point on we have had to claw and scratch for everything we got."

Both the Breeder's Association and the Horsemen's Association support provisions of the Stumbo-Bentley bill which provide for separate governance of the thoroughbred and standardbred industries.

"There is no economic burden to the state by allowing the harness industry to have its own commission," said Brooks Wells, added.

Others testifying before the BOP panel Friday included East Kentucky Racing architect Randy Burchett; Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond; and County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo.

The BOP, lacking a quorum, took no official action on any of the racing issues discussed.

Safety-Education seminar Tuesday

The Bert T. Combs, Johnson, Floyd, Pa. Associates, in conjunction with the Federal Aviation

Administration is conducting an accident prevention and aviation safety education seminar on Tuesday, August 24th, at 7:00 p.m., at the Bert T. Combs, Paintsville/Prestonsburg Airport, on U.S. Route 23, between Paintsville and Prestonsburg.

The program will include a presentation by Bruce Edson, of the Kentucky Flight Standards District Office of the Federal Aviation Administration, as well as an update on chart changes, air space, dimension, and traffic control services and more.

The program will also include a video-based interactive exercise in pilot judgment and satisfies the requirements for the FAA pilot proficiency award "WINGS" program.

For more information contact Bruce Edson, accident prevention program manager, at 502-582-5941, or call Bob Hensley, flight instructor at the Bert T. Combs Airport, 789-5544.

Officers dismantled the still and turned over the huge vats of corn mash. Other materials used in the operation that couldn't be transported down the hillside were destroyed by Sheriff Thompson.

At Edward Wright Jr.'s home, officers found several jars of what appeared to be corn mash.

Edward Wright Jr. and James Wright remained lodged in the Floyd County Jail Tuesday. Kenneth Wright was released on bonds Sunday night.

Sheriff Thompson and deputy Ricky Thomsberry said the department received a tip about the moonshining operation.

Deputies William Howell, Bill Cullhan, Mike Mays and Lloyd Powers participated in Sunday's raid. A state Alcohol Beverage Control agent was also called to the scene.

Regional tourism group to pave road with fame

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

A proposal to rename a stretch of U.S. 23 as the Country Music Heritage Highway needs a few changes, Nell Terry of Lawrence County told fellow members of the Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region Friday at its monthly meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Terry reported that members of the General Assembly suggested the name of the highway should be changed to include adjoining highways and counties in the tourism bid. The group discussed changing the name to The Country Music Heritage Highways.

The proposal is meeting with approval in Frankfort, Terry said. The regional group plans to officially present the proposition when the General Assembly meets in January.

Also at the meeting, volunteer members of the group made plans to participate in three national tourism showcases next year in Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio and in Indianapolis, Indiana. Among those managing the Eastern Kentucky tourism booth will be Fred James, director of Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and a member of the Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region.

The Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region was formed by the state Travel Development about five years ago and consists of representatives from the 15 counties within the region that extends from Pike and Floyd counties on the southern end through Greenup on the northern end. The region's goal is to develop regional promotional programs.

The regional commission has an annual budget of approximately $40,000. About $35,000 of that amount is received from the state and $5,000 comes from local contributions. Local funds are derived through sponsorship of advertising in the region's promotional brochure, James said.

Promotional activities also include advertising in various newspapers, magazines and special travel publications in a multi-state area, he explained. The regional group also distributes grants to various tourism-related agencies.

The group meets monthly at various locations within the 15-county region. Among those attending were Ruth Thompson, administrative assistant, Kentucky Department of Travel, and Robin Finney, with the matching funds program through the Kentucky Department of Travel.

determine how the money should be repaid to the utility commission and to also ask for a probe into all proceedings of the utility commission and the city commission.

After commissioners agreed to the probe, audience member Russell Johnson commented, "If we get a state investigation, they'll have to make 100 more beds at the prison."

Also Monday, a majority of the commissioners agreed to hire a part-time police officer and to temporarily fill the vacancy of chief of police.

Wheelwright police chief David Duncan remains medically unable to return to work after an altercation last month with City Commissioner Luther Johnson Jr.

Duncan was injured when he and Wheelwright policeman Brent Huff arrested Johnson for alcohol intoxication at the Cardinal Mart in Wheelwright.

Officers charge that Johnson struggled with them during the arrest and Duncan was injured. The incident was captured on videotape by a video camera installed in the police cruiser.

Mayor Johnson said that Duncan had a doctor's appointment for August 26 to determine if surgery is needed for an injury to his left knee.

Commissioners voted 3-1 to hire Bobby Meade as a part-time officer. Parker abstained from voting. Also in a 3-1 vote, commissioners authorized Mayor Johnson to contact Randy Johnson or Tommy Engle to see if one of the two men would fill-in until it is determined if Duncan can return to his job. Parker abstained.

Also, Commissioner Johnson asked if Roman Caudill, who was hired last month as a police dispatcher, could move into the city-owned apartment that Caudill has been "working on."

Mayor Johnson said that he was "abstaining from the deal." The mayor said he had "promised to help" Caudill and he was not "backing down." Commissioner Parker questioned whether Caudill was hired legally because the city did not advertise the newly-created job.

"If I abstain as I did the first time," Parker said, "When the (state) comes in here the hair will fly."

Citizen Russell Johnson repeatedly asked throughout Monday's meeting if the city intended to hire police officers because "we ought to have a police, we have a dispatcher waiting."

Earlier in the meeting, Commissioner Andy Akers asked that his vote to hire Caudill last month be changed to a no vote. City Clerk Mary Johnson said that Akers had abstained from voting on the hiring. Commissioners took no action on the issue because Caudill was hired last month.

Caudill commented that he was going "to move in tomorrow."

The city does not have the equipment to provide police dispatch services, Parker said after Monday's meeting.

In other action Monday:
• Utility commissioners and candidates for mayor Marlee Sammons and David Boyd were removed from that body because of an ordinance which says commissioners shall automatically vacate their seats if they become candidates for public office.

In a 4-1 vote, commissioners agreed to reimburse auxiliary policeman David Gray $30 for a physical. Parker voted against reimbursing Gray because he said the legality of the move needed to be investigated.

Commissioners set the property tax rate at 35 cents per $100 of assessment of tangible and intangible property.

Commissioners awarded contracts to Frederick May and Weldman Corporation for the city's water and sewage systems.

C&N Home Improvements was paid $1,500 for work on the fire department's new fire station. Commissioners also voted to move telephone and electrical services to the new fire station.

The next regular meeting of the commission is Monday, September 20 at 7 p.m. at city hall.

Single Parent Program funded

Prestonsburg Community College has received a $65,000 grant to continue its Single Parent Homemaker and Preparatory Services Program.

The funding from the state Cabinet for Workforce Development allows $50,000 for operation of the program and $15,000 for scholarship assistance to program participants.

Now in its seventh year, the program aims to help single parents, homemakers, displaced homemakers and pregnant single women move toward self-sufficiency.

Persons in the program—most of them women—receive assistance with basic education, career counseling, and support in enrolling in career training programs, not only at the college, but also in vocational schools.

The scholarship funds help with tuition, child care and transportation costs.

PCC's Preparatory Services Center, headed by Jean Rosenberg, offers a range of support services, including monthly group meetings, one-on-one counseling, weekly lunch presentations and a convenient meeting place for participants.

For information about the program, call Rosenberg at 886-3863.

Historical report issued on Kentucky mine accident

A report of the federal investigation into the 1976 Scotia Mine accident in Letcher County is now available, the Mine Safety and Health Administration announced. Due to court orders issued in the course of civil litigation resulting from the accident, the report's publication had been delayed.

The Scotia Mine accident spurred Congress to strengthen federal mine safety and health enforcement by enacting the Federal Mine Safety and Health Amendments Act of 1977.

Two explosions occurred on March 9 and 11, 1976, at Scotia Mining Company's Scotia Mine near Owen Fork, claiming the lives of 26 men.

"While this accident took place many years ago and was investigated by MSHA's predecessor agency, the report is of historical interest. Accordingly, we are making it available to the mining community now that it is possible to do so," said Ed Hugler, acting assistant secretary of labor for mine safety and health. — Staff Report

Kentucky doctor faces more woes

The West Virginia Board of Medicine has set a hearing September 10 to consider disciplining a Kentucky physician convicted of bribing an investigator.

Dr. Diane Shafer, an orthopedic surgeon with offices in Paintsville and South Williamson has lost her Kentucky medical license but still has her West Virginia license.

She was convicted in April of bribing an assistant attorney general in Kentucky to recommend that the Kentucky Board of Medicine Licensure drop charges that the over-prescribed drugs and failed to care for her patients properly.

The West Virginia's board's discipline for her felony conviction could range from a public reprimand to revoking her license, Ronald Walton, the board's executive director, said.

Since losing her Kentucky license, Shafer reportedly has treated patients in West Virginia at a motel room, a parking lot and an airport tarmac. She recently opened an office in Williamson. — The Courier-Journal

Babbage won't challenge ruling

Secretary of State Bob Babbage said Monday he will not fight a court decision allowing an Eastern Kentucky sheriff's candidate to change his mind about withdrawing from the election.

Babbage had said at a hearing that he would support Republican nominee Don McFadden to re-enter the Johnson County sheriff's race after dropping out July 6. But Johnson Circuit Judge James Knight ruled Friday that the law does not address the issue, so McFadden could drop back in.

Babbage said it "would not be appropriate" for him to appeal because he was not the filing official for the local election. Babbage said the local Republican Party could still challenge McFadden's candidacy if it wishes.

McFadden first said he withdrew for health reasons. When the local party tried to field another candidate, Babbage said state law permitted such substitutions only when the vacancy was created by death, disability or disqualification. — The Courier-Journal

Pontiki workers vote union

Sam Bradley has a simple reason for helping his co-workers at Pontiki Coal Corp. vote in the United Mine Workers union.

"I voted yes for my family," Bradley said following Friday's election at the Martin County coal company, where the union vote won by a vote of 101-78.

"The way it is now, we've got nothing in writing," he said. "With a union contract, my wife and my children will have something."

But Pontiki spokesman Paul Mackey noted that the union had challenged the validity of 2 ballots, a number that could make the vote a tie. He said the company would await investigation of the challenges before conceding the election.

UMA spokesman Jim Grosfeld said from Washington, however, that the union is confident the National Labor Relations Board will ultimately certify the victory. — Appalachian News-Express

Suit expected in alleged police beating

State police are investigating charges that three police officers kicked, punched and struck a handcuffed man with the butt of a pistol Saturday night in Johnson County.

The officers are Jack a state police trooper, a Johnson County official and a member of the Johnson Sheriff's office.

Pikeville attorney Terry Keese said he expects to file a lawsuit in U.S. District Court against the officers, who allegedly beat the man after a police chase ended on a rural road near the Johnson/Martin County line.

Doug Collins of OHatt is charged with driving under the influence, attempting to elude police, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct, Keese said. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Why we need a national plan for children

by David S. Liederman
Child Welfare League of America
We hear so often about children who have been abused or neglected, abandoned or killed. Or children who have run away or been thrown away. Or children who are battling drugs or alcohol, or living with adults who have chemical dependencies.

Life is hard for far too many of our nation's children and teens. But there is reason to hope. We have a president and a first lady who have strong advocacy records in behalf of children and families. All around the country, there are hundreds of exemplary programs being run by dedicated people. We have corporate leadership, political leadership in both parties, and millions of volunteers and professionals who work hard every day to make a difference in the lives of children and families.

What we don't have is a national strategy that will enable us to make a real and visible difference. If the president is to succeed with his initiatives for children—and who could wish for less—a national plan is essential.

Within the government, there are numerous programs directed at children and families—health care programs, Head Start and child care programs, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, housing programs, child welfare services, substance abuse programs, education and juvenile justice programs and more.

Where is the glue to hold all these programs together, to ensure that they are organized so states and cities can effectively implement them locally? With a plan, all the pieces of the national children's agenda can be brought together in a single framework, so that children and families receive quality services in an efficient manner.

The responsibility for developing and implementing such a plan could lie with a new National Council on Children and Their Families located in The White House. This council would include Cabinet-level officials now responsible for programs and services affecting children and families—the secretaries of Health and Human Services, Education, Housing and Urban Development, Labor, and Agriculture, and the Attorney General—along with the head of the Domestic Policy Council and the director of the Office of Management and Budget.

The task of integrating and coordinating services is challenging and tough, but it must be done to achieve the maximum efficiency and impact. Fortunately, we have an excellent opportunity today to change the way we meet our responsibility to children and families in America.

David S. Liederman is executive director of the Child Welfare League of America.

With FUNtastic new attractions at the Kentucky State Fair!

The Gentle Giants of the Equine World
Watching a group of 2000 pounds and an average height of 15 hands sway to the six horses of the Southern States Percheron Hitch can certainly be called giants. But, you can see their gentle demeanor and display throughout the State Fair. The hitch will also perform during performances of the World's Championship Horse Show.

Explore the Bluegrass Coast
Right here in the Bluegrass state you can take a stroll along a tropical coast, ride ocean waves in clear waters and even a Caribbean cruise. It's all at Kentucky's Kingdom's expanded Hurricane Has Water Park. Hurricane Coast has lots of fun attractions for the 1993 State Fair. Admission charged.

A Racy Exhibit
Racing fans will want to race to the Budweiser Motor Sports Pavilion. Check out famous racing machines like the Budweiser NASCAR Ford Thunderbird, Budweiser King Funny Car and others. Plus, take a free ride on the Budweiser Racing Simulator and get the feeling of being in the driver's seat of some of Budweiser's hottest racing machines.

The Height of Excitement
High above the South Wing Parking lot bungee acrobats and daring divers combine for the first time ever in the Arby's Elastic Gymnastics High Dive Show. Divers will plunge toward a shallow pool while gymnasts are catapulted toward the sky by bungee cords.

Coca-Cola Carload Days
Weekdays 7 a.m. - 12 noon
Your whole crew can get in on the excitement for one low price during Coca-Cola Carload Days. Everyone in your vehicle will be admitted to the fair for just $6.00 plus $2.00 parking. For additional information call the State Fair Hotline at 502-367-5002. FID users call 502-367-5151.

Tourists aboard Freedom Tours attended the luncheon matinee performance of "I DO! I DO!" at Jenny Wiley Theatre.

Tourists enjoy Jenny Wiley Theatre matinee

Tourists came literally by the busload to Jenny Wiley Theatre's matinee production of "I DO! I DO!" on July 27. For many of them it was their first opportunity to enjoy the mountain scenery and the facilities of the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. For at least one tour group, Freedom Tours out of South Point, Ohio, it was the continuation of a twenty-year tradition of visiting Jenny Wiley Theatre productions, but this time there was a difference—the play was served up at midday and included lunch! For Jenny Wiley Theatre, which celebrated its 100th production earlier this season with the opening of "I DO! I DO!", the performance was the first-ever luncheon matinee. By all accounts it was a popular new offering with 263 people on hand to watch the play.

The majority of them were members of touring groups (like the 99 who came with Josette Gibson of Freedom Tours). According to Melissa McShane, group sales coordinator for the theatre, 47 buses and more than 20 tour group vans will have brought over 2,000 people to see the plays at Jenny Wiley this season. Many of those who attended this first matinee were members of Sunday School or church groups from the Ashland area, a large number of them, senior citizens. The daytime performance means an easier trip for all concerned, and makes it possible for some seniors to attend who were never able to come before.

The tour groups shared the convention center with a large contingent of local theatre patrons, eager to try this new offering. Despite a few kinks in the sit-down luncheon service, the audience enjoyed another polished performance by Jon Daniel Durbin and Linda Zoblotzky as Michael and Agnes. The couple continues to inspire audiences as they sing their way through the peaks and valleys of a fifty-year marriage. For the convenience of theatre-goers, the park will be providing buffet service at future matinees.

Seating for the remaining luncheon matinees is extremely limited, but tickets for indoor performances of "I DO! I DO!" at 8:30 p.m., and the rest of the season's outdoor musicals are available. For tickets or information, call 606-886-9274.

Stroll through New Orleans on KET

Actor John Goodman and a friend, filmmaker Chappy Hardy, visit the Crescent City in A Friend in New Orleans, airing on KET at 9:30 p.m. Thursday, August 26. The program will be repeated at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, August 31.

Accompanied by the sounds of Dixieland jazz and blues, Goodman and Hardy lead a lighthearted search for things unique, outstanding, and indigenous to New Orleans. They traverse the French Quarter as well as other alluring neighborhoods. And they visit British-born actress Helen Mirren, a part-time New Orleansian; actor John Larroquette and musician Pete Fountain, both native sons; and New Orleans' own "Queen of Soul" (and ribs), Irma Thomas.

A friend in New Orleans was produced by WYES-TV/New Orleans and Good 'n Hearty Films.

Obituaries

Amos Patton

(Pat) Hammond III

A memorial service will be held at Pikeville College's Christian Auditorium in memory of Amos Patton (Pat) Hammond III at 11 a.m. on September 1.

Hammond was appointed as professor of Science Education at Pikeville College in August 1990. He was the first director of the college's Math Science Resource Center. He worked with the education department supervising student teachers. He was also a student advisor.

He was a member of the Spiritual Life and Special Events Committee, the Eastern Kentucky Council of Teachers in Mathematics, the Kentucky Association of Teacher Educators and Science Education in Private Colleges of Central Appalachia.

He taught math science for secondary schools, represented the college on various radio and TV talk shows, and was active in the Pike County Humane Society.

He earned his B.S. degree from Roanoke College, his M.S. degree from Radford College, and his Ed.D. from the University of Virginia. He served the Roanoke County School System from 1962 to 1984 as Teacher Department Chairman and as the Gifted Program Director. He also served as an adjunct instructor for Virginia Western Community College, Roanoke College, and the University of Virginia Extension.

He was born in Abingdon, Virginia on September 21, 1939.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia Hammond of Troutville, Virginia; his parents, Pat and Nina Hammond of Roanoke, Virginia; his son, Ray Hammond; and two grandchildren.

Dewey Johnson

Dewey Johnson, 64, of Leander, died Friday, August 13, at Riverside Manor Nursing Home, Prestonsburg, following a brief illness.

Born March 16, 1929 in Johnson County, he was the son of the late Cofax and Sarah Spradlin Johnson. He was a self-employed farmer.

Survivors include his sister, Risha Cofax of Leander.

Funeral services will be Sunday, August 15, at 2 p.m. in the Preston Funeral Home Chapel with the minister David Keith Caster officiating.

Burial will be in the Johnson Family Cemetery at Leander under the direction of Preston Funeral Home.

In Memoriam

John P. Foley

Born December 19, 1945

Died August 22nd, in a car wreck.

A heart of gold stopped beating,
Two shining eyes at rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He takes the very best.
Little did we know that morning
The sorrows the day would bring,
The end was sudden, the shock severe,
We never knew death was so near.
When day's are sad and lonely,
And evening shadows fall,
We hear your voice, we see your face,
Your memory is with us all.

You are sadly missed by your children, your mother who loves you so much,
Brothers and Sisters,
All your friends
We all love you so much.

Documentary examines medicine and politics of breast cancer

Last year, breast cancer killed approximately 44,000 women in the United States—one every three minutes. And every three minutes another woman is newly diagnosed with the disease.

Breast Cancer: Speaking Out, airing on KET at 10:30 p.m. Monday, August 23, addresses questions of why the causes and treatment of breast cancer are so little known and why some victims of the disease feel excluded from important decisions about their treatment.

The program allows women who are fighting the disease to speak frankly about their fears, hopes, and efforts to force a reluctant political system to acknowledge what some have called an epidemic. These women are challenging what they see as complacency toward breast cancer among the general public, health care practitioners, insurance companies, and the federal government.

Breast Cancer: Speaking Out was produced by KCTS/Seattle and won a "Best of the West" award in the 1993 Pacific Mountain Network Program Awards.

Floyd students are leaders at MSU

Morehead State University has announced that four Floyd County students are among those receiving a Leadership Award for the fall semester.

The recipients are: Marsha Ann Johnson, daughter of Gerald and Linda Johnson of Melvin, is a graduate of Wheelwright High School. An honor roll student, she was a member of the Beta Club and Student Council.

Stephanie Erin Reid, daughter of Ramona S. Stewart of Drift, is a graduate of McDowell High School. An honor roll student, she was a member of the Beta Club and named an All American Scholar and an All County Artist.

Catherine Gene Weathers, daughter of Eugene and Linda Weathers of Prestonsburg, is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School. Listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," she was a 1915 cheerleader and a member of the choir and Beta Club.

Donald Bryan Bowling, son of Donald Bowling of Pikeville, is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School. Listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," he was named an Outstanding Senior and served two years as president of the German Club and Champions Against Drugs and as representative on the Student Council for two years.

To be eligible for the Leadership Award, applicants must be admitted to MSU as an entering freshman; have exhibited strong leadership and achievement capabilities through school and community activities; have at least a 2.50 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) for the equivalent of at least one full term, and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The award, valued at $500 per year, is renewable for three academic years if the student maintains a 2.50 g.p.a. during the freshman year and each semester thereafter.

Applications and information on scholarships and grant programs at MSU are available from the Office of Admissions, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. The toll free number is 800-262-7474 (in Kentucky) and 800-354-2090 (from adjoining states).

About Your Social Security

The differences between Medicare and Medicaid

From: Jim Kelly
Social Security District Director
For the Big Sandy Area

You've heard of Medicare. And you've probably heard the term, Medicaid. Is there a difference?

The answer is yes...and although there also are similarities between the two programs, many people use the two words interchangeably and this can lead to problems.

Both Medicare and Medicaid are government-sponsored health care programs and both help pay medical bills. But there aren't many other similarities after that and the eligibility rules for each are very different.

Medicare is the health insurance program that's tied into the Social Security program (although it is possible to get Medicare without being on Social Security). Most people know it by the terms Part A and Part B, which refer to what are commonly called the hospital (A) and doctor's (B) parts of Medicare. Part A is paid for by a portion of the Social Security taxes you pay while working. Part B is paid for by the monthly premiums of those who enroll. You can get Medicare if you're 65 or older or if you've been getting Social Security disability benefits for two years. Some people with permanent kidney disease also qualify for Medicare. People getting Social Security are automatically enrolled in Medicare when they turn 65 or 24 months after they started getting disability benefits. Those not already getting Social Security benefits need to contact the Social Security office before their 65th birthday to sign up for Medicare.

Medicaid is a health care program that's tied into a person's economic circumstances. Generally, you qualify for Medicaid if you have a low income and few assets. For example, most people who get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) usually qualify for Medicaid. Medicaid is financed through general tax revenues—not through Social Security taxes. To apply for Medicaid, you should contact the State Department of Social Insurance Office in your county.

Some people qualify for both Medicare and Medicaid. But sometimes, people who have only Medicaid confuse Part B of their program with Medicaid coverage. For example, a woman visiting our office recently told me she had "Medicare Part A and Medicaid Part B." I knew she really meant she had both Parts A and B of Medicare, but if she were to tell the same thing to a doctor's billing clerk, it could lead to problems.

One way to tell which program you have is by the identification card you were issued. The Medicare card is white with a red and blue stripe running across the top. Here in Kentucky, the Medicaid card is buff color and is sent by the state each month.

Ken's Sport Shop places third in state tournament

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ken's Sport Shop has been one of the premier softball teams in the state of Kentucky. They continued to play good softball by placing third in the recent ASA State Class B tournament held in Lexington over the past weekend.

The local team was one of the hottest hitting teams in the first round games both Friday evening and Saturday. But some slow bats were their downfall in the closing rounds of the tournament. They fell to Berard's 8-4 for their second loss in the double elimination tournament.

"We just couldn't hit the ball," said Kenny Conley, manager of the team.

A three-run third and fifth for Berard's was enough to hold off a late sixth inning charge by Ken's.

Ken's took a 1-0 lead in the first, only to have Berard's tie the game in the bottom of the inning. Jimmy Blankenship, who started the tournament with 10 consecutive hits, singled home the first run of the game.

Both teams pushed across a run in the second inning to remain tied at 2-2. Three runs came home for Berard's on a walk, single and two-run double.

Ken's went out in order in the third, fourth and fifth inning while Berard's scored three times in the third and fifth.

Two runs crossed the plate for Ken's in the sixth as Kane Hale and Blankenship scored to make it a 8-4 game.

Conley, making a rare appearance in the game, collected two of his team's seven hits.

Blankenship leads in game one... Blankenship began his streak of 10 straight hits the first game against Thomas Sports Training Friday night. Blankenship collected four hits in the game as Ken's posted a 16-8 victory.

Herbie Strawn Berger hit a three-run first inning home run as four runs scored in the first inning. Scott Cornette led off the game with a drive over the right centerfield fence.

Blankenship homered in the second inning with a runner on base as Ken's scored five times for a 9-0 lead. Thomas got on the scoreboard in the second on a lead off triple by Worthington and a sacrifice fly.

Ken sent six runners home in the sixth inning to widen their lead to 16-6 before Thomas Sports scored twice in the bottom of the seventh.

Cornette and Berger each had three hits in the game. Greg Shepherd finished with two as did Bud Newsome and Randy Kidd.

Russell County next... The Russell County Merchants furnished the opposition in game three and it wasn't a game that Conley was looking forward to.

"They are a good team," he said before the game. "They will be tough team to beat."

But Ken's arose to the challenge and posted a 16-1 mercy win, collecting 20 hits on their way to their third win of the tournament.

Blankenship again was perfect. He had four hits in four plate appearances for eight consecutive hits. He homered and had two doubles.

Mike McQuate, who displayed some defensive gems, had a perfect game with three hits. Cornette, Hale, Shepherd, Berger and Jerry Fultz had two hits each.

Russell County scored their lone run in the second for a 3-1 score. Ken's scored six times in the third and four in the fourth to burst the game open.

Tim Rice was on the mound for Ken's and retired the last eight batters he faced and gave up only one hit over the last three innings.

Berger blasted two home runs in picking up three RBIs. His second shot was by accident.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard down the line," he said, "but it went sailing out of the park."

Berger wanted to save his second for when someone was on base. McQuate had a two-run triple in the fourth.

Grinders posed a problem... The Grinders were one of the favorites to take the state title and no one was really looking forward to playing them.

But all the fears were for naught as Ken's destroyed the power team 21-1 behind the hitting of Shepherd. Shepherd drilled two home runs, both two-run shots, and had a double for six runs batted in.

Blankenship had his consecutive hit streak snapped at ten when he popped to shortstop.

"That was a base hit when I hit," he said coming back to the dugout.

Breaks loose!

Floyd leads AC running game against South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Brackett Field football stadium was packed Saturday night as the South Floyd Raiders hosted their first annual grid-o-rama in Wheelwright. Three county schools, plus Elkhorn City, fielded teams.

The large crowd was excited to the novelty of playing at the new school and the desire for some gridiron action after a long baseball season.

Allen Central and new head coach Glenn Reeves, gave the Rebel fans something to cheer about. They pulled out a 18-6 win over the Raiders in each team's first scrimmage game of the year.

The large following, for both schools, saw two young teams battle each other in two 18-minute halves. Senior fullback Glenn Floyd led the ground game for the Rebels by rushing for an unofficial 104 yards on nine carries. Floyd broke tackle in the first half and raced 62 yards for the game's first touchdown that gave Allen Central a 6-0 lead.

Penalties racked the Rebels as they were flagged for three consecutive off-side penalties. They totaled 65 yards in infractions on eight flags.

As expected, South Floyd's Arnold

Adams is geared for a banner season as he galloped for 120 yards on eight carries. Adams scored his team's only score on a eight-yard run into the end zone in the first half.

Allen Central, who went winless last season, is looking to start their season right. Coach Reeves was nervous.

Pop Warner football signups August 28

Pop Warner football director Dr. Don Claffins has announced that the league will begin signups for the upcoming season on Saturday, August 28.

Registration will be conducted at Archer Park beginning at 1 p.m. The league is open to players in Floyd County who are in kindergarten through the sixth grade. That includes those 10, 11 and 12-year-old sixth graders.

An alternative date has been set for registration which will be held on Tuesday, August 31 at 7 p.m. at Archer Park.

All players who have played or will be playing for the first time are urged to come out and register on one of the two dates.

Youthful Betsy Layne Bobcats play Elkhorn City to 0-0 tie

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Grid-o-rama games are no more than glorified scrimmage games, but you will not convince the Betsy Layne Bobcats football team that the game is not important.

Grid-o-ramas afford teams an opportunity to play under game conditions and help a coach to further evaluate his team.

The Bobcats, young and green in key positions, looked impressive in places as they battled the Elkhorn City Cougars to a 0-0 standstill.

While neither team was able to score, Betsy Layne did put together a good drive that stalled out on the Cougars 10-yard line.

The march began when Betsy Layne took control of the football to open the second 18-minute half. They marched from the Cougars' 30-yard line to the ten for a 60-yard drive.

The Bobcats faced a fourth-and-three situation but quarterback Marty Hamilton, on a keeper, could only manage a yard as the Cougar defense held.

Betsy Layne picked up seven first downs in the drive. Freshman Craig Hamilton looked as if he came to play in rushing for 33 yards on nine carries.

Coach John Derossett likes the desire of this year's team.

Betsy Layne to hold four man scramble

The golf season continues in September when the Betsy Layne High School basketball team will host their first four-man golf scramble on Saturday, September 11.

So, get your foursome together for the scramble and mark your calendar.

The outing will be held at the John M. Stumbo Golf Course with the shotgun start scheduled to tee off at 8 a.m. Four-man team scramble format will be used.

Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place and the longest drive, closest to the pin, longest putt, closest to line and lowest score.

Entry fee for the tournament is $20 per person which includes green fee, lunch and refreshments.

For more information contact William Newsome, Jr. at 478-1985 or 478-2522.

"We're still building here at Betsy Layne," he said after the game. "We're still looking for some dedication from our players. We lost to Elkhorn City 36-12 last year, but I feel that we are getting better every day."

The Bobcats were without the services of running back Rocky Hamilton in the scrimmage game.

It was the defense that was a shining star for Betsy Layne as they came up with two interceptions and recovered two Elkhorn City fumbles.

Jamie Robinette, unofficially, had seven hits and one sack.

"Jamie played a very strong game for us," said Derossett. "We put together a nice drive to start the second half. I believe we had control of the ball for the first nine minutes. Adam Roberts also had a good defensive game."

For Elkhorn City, a team hit hard by graduation plus getting a coach only four weeks ago, it was a matter of learning in the trenches as new head coach B.J. Elswick found out.

"I sort of got drafted into this position," said the former Lady Cougar basketball coach. "They didn't have anyone to take the job and were thinking of dropping the program all together. I didn't want to do that so I took it."

Elswick said that his team has been working together for about two weeks and now may find it difficult to "play with everyone else early."

"Betsy Layne looked nice out there on the field," said Elswick. "They

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

School, the decision came down to two -- Jackie Pack and Jim Rose.

The official announcement came Tuesday morning when the job was handed to Rose over Pack who had coached at Wheelwright the past two seasons and had a remarkable job.

Pack was respected by the Trojan fans as well as the players, and he was their choice to coach at the new Little Beaver school.

However, Rose got the nod over Pack and will take over the helm of the Raiders basketball program.

While at the grid-o-rama in Wheelwright this past Saturday night, I didn't find many happy campers since the rumors persisted that Rose had been unofficially hired for the job look in July. If that is true, then why were applications taken for the position to start with?

The powers that be will tell you that state law requires it. But a coach is hired before the 30-day period of taking applications expires. Then a lot of paperwork and time were wasted.

Nevertheless, Coach Rose will become the first head boys' coach at the new school and will bring some pretty impressive credentials with him.

The returning players from McDowell and Wheelwright will have to adjust to another coaching philosophy, but Coach Rose has proven he can coach.

Word is, also, that the Raiders basketball team will have a new member this season and he stands at 6'10". He is a transfer from Texas and has been active on the basketball floor. Stay tuned!

POP WARNER FOOTBALL

The Pop Warner Football League will conduct registration at Archer Park Saturday, August 28 beginning at 1 p.m.

Be sure to get registered for the upcoming season.

JAMAL SAY IT AIN'T SO...

For better Kentucky great Jamal Mashburn is catching on fast as a pro. When some little kid who has admired you and respected you for your contributions to the Kentucky program comes to you and wants you to autograph a car and how, charge him three bucks. That's right. Jump in there with the rest and make a mint off those who don't have $3.

Mashburn, since turning pro, has hit the card shows and his agent is helping him make a bundle by charging three dollars per autograph.

Mashburn has already signed a $7 million-plus contract with a shoe company and become an instant millionaire by signing with the Dallas Mavericks. Now he needs three dollars ($20 for signing a basketball or t-shirt) to see him through.

It stinks!

KEN'S SPORTS SHOP

LOOKED GOOD...

I enjoyed covering the state softball tournament in Lexington last weekend. Got to see some good softball games. I love watching them chase down the long fly balls or watching the ball sail over the fence.

Ken's Sport Shop's team really looked good in the tournament even though they placed third. This team deserves the label as one of Kentucky's best softball teams. They will be off to the Midwest Nationals next month.

WHO WILL BE MISSING...

• Bip Roberts will not be a Cincinnati Red next season. Look for the fleet-footed, often-hurt second baseman to find his way into the American League as a free agent next season.

• Chris Sabo. It would be a shame for the Reds not to try and re-sign Sabo who also will be a free agent after this season. If he goes, he will be an Atlanta Brave next year, replacing an aging Terry Pendleton.

• Tom Browning. Only if they can find someone to tolerate his inconsistency. If not, then the Reds deserve to be stuck with him next season.

• Rob Dibble. A troublemaker. Needs to join Eric Davis at Los Angeles.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports.

Hand off to Roberts!

Allen Central

vous over the play of South Floyd.

The South Floyd coaching staff did read good job," he said after the game. "They were aggressive in coming back on us. Actually, they had me scared for a time."

South Floyd Coach Donnie Daniels was pleased with the effort of his very young and inexperienced team.

"I was pleased with the effort they put forth tonight," said Daniels. "We looked much better than we have the past week. We're just a young team and we need to get some of them some experience."

Daniels vowed that at this weekend's grid-iron at Jenkins that the younger players would see action.

"They will get some playing time at Jenkins Saturday night," he said. "They are not getting to play much, but we will have to change that."

Allen Central got on the scoreboard in the first half when they scored on their first possession. The running game of Floyd brought his team out of a deep hole they put themselves in because of the penalties situation.

On a first down play, after picking up a first down, the Rebels were flagged for being off-sides three straight times, moving the football from the 31 back to the 16. Halfback James Osborne picked up some good yardage to move the football to the Rebels' 38-yard line. Floyd then took the hand off from Blackburn and seemed to be held by the Raiders' defense. But the fullback broke two tackles and raced the 62 yards to the touchdown.

South Floyd wasted little time in tying the game at 6-6 and penalties against the Rebels help the Raiders' cause.

A 12-yard run by Adams, plus a 15-yard face mask flag against the Rebels gave the Raiders excellent field position. Adams then galloped 58 yards before being brought down on the Allen Central 10-yard line.

A 2-yard run and then a 5-yard burst by Adams tied the game at all.

The game remained tied until the two teams broke for halftime.

Early in the second half, the Rebels exchanged turnover as each quarterback was intercepted.

South Floyd later took the lead. The Allen Central 48-yard punt was all hand-over to the Rebels.

Allen Central took advantage of the turnover and took the lead on a 4-yard run to give Allen Central a 12-6 lead.

Late in the game, Allen Central intercepted a Aaron Hall pass that set up the final touchdown for the Rebels. Osborne scored on a 3-yard plunge to make it 18-6 as a final.

While coach Reeves felt that his team was a little slow against South Floyd, still he saw "some good play and defense."

"We tried to run the 50 on defense," said the Rebel coach, "but right now we just haven't gotten the technique down. South Floyd—they try to overshift you and they did a good job against us tonight."

"Offensively, we were slow but our defense came up with some good plays and that turned the game around."

Blackburn was good at running the option, something that surprised the Allen Central coach.

"I was surprised at him running the option the way he did," Reeves confessed. "That's not our thing. But Brad held onto the ball."

Blackburn rushed for 43 yards on seven carries and had a 21-yard gain on the option play. Osborne finished with 58 yards on eight carries.

Outside of Adams' only Cruse Caudill has any yardage. He completed just 12 yards on eight carries.

The Raiders turned the ball over five times, losing it twice on interceptions, and three times they fumbled the ball away. The Raiders were hit with only 5 yards in penalties.

Coach Daniels is not ready to panic with this year's team.

"My kids will be alright by the middle of the season or earlier," said the Raiders coach. "We just need to be more consistent and hold onto the football and not have the turnovers we had."

"It will take us a few weeks to get some consistency and we need to learn not to break down on defense."

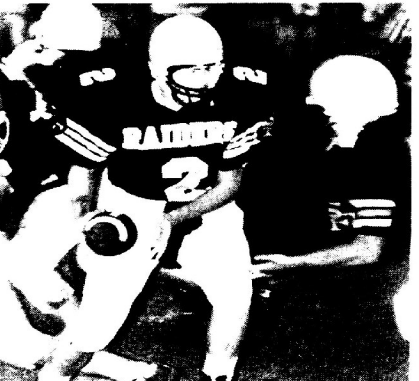

Coach Daniels likes the play of Caudill.

"Cruse ran the ball hard for us tonight," said Daniels. "He had no problem out there. He just needs to get some rest and not go both ways. I think by the second game, you'll see Cruse is getting better."

Daniels said that his team needs to play smart and "not beat ourselves."

"We'll get there," he said. "We're not giving up. It's early."

Wheelwright and Allen Central will face each other for the second time when they meet in Saturday's FCMC grid-iron game at Jenkins.

Untested!

Aaron Hall (2) of South Floyd has been untested thus far at the quarter-back slot for the Raiders, but he is expected to develop as the season goes on. Hall is a sophomore at South Floyd. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Betsy Layne fans may purchase season tickets

Betsy Layne High School is trying to make it easier for their fans to attend their football and basketball games this year.

The school is offering season tickets to fans that will include all football games, as well as reserved seating at all boys' and girls' basketball games this coming season.

The tickets are sure to be a bargain at $50 per adult and $25 per student. All tickets are on sale now at Betsy Layne High School.

For more information, contact athletic director William Newsome, Jr. at 478-9138. Or you may call 478-1985 or 478-9122.

Prestonsburg cross-country team to meet tonight

It's time for fall sports and the Prestonsburg cross-country team is getting ready for the upcoming season.

Coach Harold Tackett has issued a call to those interested in taking part in this year's cross-country meets to the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium tonight at 7 p.m.

The meeting is for students in grades six through 12.

H&R Block Offers Income Tax Course In Prestonsburg

Thousands of people learn how to prepare income tax returns from H&R Block and then earn money as income tax preparers.

H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, offers its Income Tax Course starting Sept. 13th. Morning, afternoon, evening, and weekend classes are available.

The final portion of the course will bring students up-to-date with information on the Revenue Reconciliation Bill of 1993.

Experienced instructors teach tax law, theory, and application. Classroom discussion and practice problems provide students with a thorough understanding of each tax topic included in the course. Students learn how to handle increasingly complex income tax situations as the course progresses.

Ideal for people who want to increase their tax knowledge, the course teaches students how to save money on their taxes and also prepares them for a rewarding career. The affordable fee includes textbooks and supplies. Graduates receive Certificates of Achievement and continuing education units (CEUs). Qualified graduates of the course may be offered job interviews with H&R Block but are under no obligation to accept employment.

Those interested in more information about the H&R Block Income Tax Course may call Investors Frustrated And Disgusted With 3% CD's. Say They Are Victims Of Bank's Greed.

Lexington, KY—Today's retirees, and others who are counting on their nest eggs to provide for them are frustrated and angry. They feel that the banks are taking advantage of the economy to create obscene profits.

A local retiree was quoted as saying, "The bank is still charging over 17% on credit card balances, and paying me a lousy 3.1% on my CD! This is unfair. I have worked my whole life, and always taken care of myself. Now, in the last three years, I have seen all my expenses go up, and my CD income drop to less than half of what it was! The banks should be ashamed of themselves. How am I going to make it?"

The feelings of this woman seem to be universal, when people are asked about this touchy topic.

Although CD's are insured by an agency of the US Government, and alternatives may not be, people can do much better with their savings.

As with anything else, knowledge is the key. The banks are making more money than ever, and hope the average person will not bother to learn about their alternatives. The bankers want people to keep their money tied up at these disgusting low rates and know a lot of us will not move because of the fear of the unknown.

A FREE REPORT called The Little Known Secret To Beating CD's, has been made available for the first time. The report explains, in simple language, the almost unheard of method to take care of yourself, and tells you how to stop being at the mercy of the banks. You can call 1-800-817-1117, 24 hours, for a FREE, recorded message, to get your copy of the report. Call now, and find out what the bank doesn't want you to know!

Ken's

Blankenship decided to start a second streak and singled home a run in the fourth of the mercy game.

Berger hit a third-inning solo home run and collected three hits for the game. Jeff Kline, Larry Burke and Dave Corley had pinch hit singles in the game.

Mesa Verde third game Saturday...

In a 6 p.m. start Saturday night, the third game of the day for Ken's, the local team posted a 14-2 victory for their fourth consecutive victory in the tournament.

A two-run home run in the first skated Mesa Verde to a 2-0 lead. Ken's tied the game at 2-2 on Blankenship's two-run home run in the bottom of the inning.

Hale blasted a two-run shot in the sixth, his third hit of the game. Berger had a three-hit night and Randy Kidd tripled in the second and scored. Fultz finished with two hits.

Sunday dawning different...

It was the dawning of a new day Sunday morning as the team headed from their motels to Shillito Park for more softball action. It wasn't to be a good beginning for Ken's. They fell to a good Bowling Green Merchants team (who were the state champions) 24-18 in a hit-a-thon game.

Bowling Green jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first on two doubles and a single. Ken's came back to push across four in the bottom of the inning as the first three batters reached and Shepherd hit a three-run home run. Cornett had tripled and scored on a double by Hale. Blankenship singled and Shepherd hit his four-bagger.

Bowling Green sent nine batters to the plate in the second inning and after two were out, all the damage was then done. Six runs scored for the Merchants as they took a 8-4 advantage.

But the lead was short-lived when Ken's played five runs in the bottom of the frame for a 9-8 game. Bud Newsome, Kidd and Lane reacted and Hale singled home the run. Blankenship then drilled a three-run shot that gave Ken's the lead.

A leadoff solo home run for Bowling Green tied the game as the two teams battled all the way.

Ken's went on top 11-9 with two in the third, but Bowling Green pushed home three in the fourth for a 12-11 game.

After Ken's went out in the fourth leaving two runners on base, Bowling Green exploded for six in the fifth for a 18-11 score. Ken's got a single run in the fifth and five in the sixth to stay close at 19-15. Shepherd had a three-run home run in the sixth.

Five runs in the seventh for Bowling Green gave them the win and Ken's first loss.

Ken rebounds...
Ken's came back and edged the Stalkers in the losers' bracket 18-13 behind the hitting of Shepherd who had three hits. McQuate collected four hits and Cornette had a fifth-inning home run.

Randy Kidd hit his first long ball of the tournament with a fifth-inning shot with two on base. Ronnie Little had three hits and Blankenship finished with two.

Eliminates Parrish Lumber...
Parrish Lumber has always been known to carry big sticks and it looked in the first inning as if they were never going to be gotten out. Parrish played six runs in the first inning for a 6-0 lead as the first six batters reached.

But Ken's came back and scored three in the first and three in the second to tie the game at 6-6. Parrish led 9-8 after three, but Ken's pushed home five in the fifth and five in the sixth to close out the 18-10 win and they moved on to the semifinals.

Little, Hale and Cornette homered for Ken's.

The dream ended when Ken's fell to Reynolds to finish third.

Reynolds defeated Bowling Green in the first meeting of the two teams, but Bowling Green posted a 14-13 win in game two to capture the state title.

Ken's will advance on to the Midwestern National's in Cincinnati September 3-6.

have improved by leaps and bounds. But I feel that we will play hard and we are going to get better."

Hamilton attempted only one pass and connected with a 36-yard pass completion.

Elkhorn took first possession of the football with Betsy Layne stopping them on four downs. The Bobcats keyed on the running game of the Cougars and took away the middle as Brandon "Bubba" Combs closed down any openings.

Betsy Layne forced Elkhorn to go to the outside more where the Cougars found little territory to run. "Craig (Hamilton) is just a freshman but he stepped up and had a good game for us," said Derossett. "Roberts, at fullback, is coming along and he will be alright."

Derossett credits the hard work in the weight room and the positive effect it has had on his team's defense.

"We just need to get back to the basic play book and run our power and pass plays," said the Betsy Layne mentor.

Betsy Layne had a total of 139 yards offensively, unofficially. They rushed for 103 yards and had a 36-yard pass completion.

Adam Roberts rushed for 40 yards on 10 carries while Hamilton ran for 29 yards on seven carries.

Hamilton was intercepted once and Betsy Layne picked up 40 yards in penalties on five flags. The offense did not fumble the football.

Elkhorn City had 102 yards total offense as they rushed for 72 yards on 14 carries. The Cougars were two-of-four passing for 30 yards. They received one flag for five yards in penalties. Elkhorn lost the ball twice—once on a fumble and again on an interception.

Betsy Layne will play their second scrimmage game of the preseason when they travel to Jenkins for the EKMC Grid-o-rama.

J&K capture state Class A softball title

It was good news coming out of Somerset for the J & K softball team from West Liberty. They went undefeated in the state Class A state tournament in Somerset this past weekend.

The area softball team defeated Denny Lumber, who mostly plays in the open rather than class play, 26-16, in a slugfest.

The title championship allows J & K to travel to Gainesville, Florida for the nationals on September 24.

"We played great defense in the tournament," said team manager Lawrence Smith, who teams with Kenny Whit in running the team. "We hit the ball well and when you average 20 runs a game, you have to be hitting well."

Bobby Sparks was the tournament's Most Valuable Player after his consistent hitting during the four games. Sparks collected 14 hits in 16 at bats and blasted eight home runs while collecting 16 runs batted in.

J & K rolled past Mason Hill in game one by posting a 17-4 victory. In game two, the area team recorded a 13-5 win over Joaze and then had a 10 runs, 27-17, win over Little Caesars.

Kenny Belcher swung a hot bat for J & K with 13 hits in 16 plate appearances. He collected eight RBIs in the tourney. Lex Gallion banged out five home runs with 11 RBIs while going 11 for 16. Neil West was hit 11 for 17 with a home run and four RBIs.

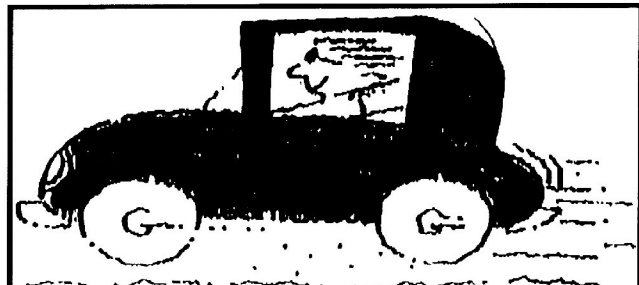

"We were 101 for 170 in the tournament," said Smith. "That comes up to a .594 batting average as a team. We had 20 home runs, 67 RBIs and scored 67 runs. Our opposition scored 56 runs."

The four game sweep in the state tournament run J & K's record to 53-22 on the season and earned them the trip to the nationals.

"Whoa, Adam..."

Adam Roberts (11) of Betsy Layne finds the going rough as an Elkhorn City defender hangs on. Betsy Layne and Elkhorn met in the first game of the Raiders' Grid-o-rama last Saturday night. (photo by Ed Taylor)

TURN THE CORNER TIME FOR UK FOOTBALL: JEERS TO JAMAL

I confess to being among those UK football watchers who comes to this time of year with optimism and high hopes. An affliction that dates back to Hardy to Schnellenberger days. The mid-1980s.

Bryant to Claborn, and Curry too, coaches have saluted forth, speeded sunny propaganda, then come someplace else — as far from the SEC as possible — scratching their heads.

This preseason, Bill Curry has defied us.

Group 1. Fellowship of the Miserables. "You got to love em, pray for 'em, and stay away from 'em," he says.

Group 2. "Kentucky has more of them than I've seen any place I've been," he says. "Man, they just love this program and come here each week expecting a good time and to win every game."

Group 3. "My gosh, look at all those coaches, all the facilities. Dare I get my hopes up one more time?"

Answer yes, of course, Curry says unblinkingly. Otherwise, Kentucky fans might as well give in, join Fellowship of the Miserables. What sort of opinion is that?

So this UK season is going to be different. A winning one. Much the way Bill Clinton handlers searched out enough votes to pass the budget by one, I believe Kentucky is going to go slip over the top, to 5.

Hunch. Might even be 7-4 if the Florida game in the track meet surprise I have a feeling it's going to be.

A summary roundup.

• Players to watch: Pookie Jones (of course), defensive tackles Robert Sunson and Jim Brown, and defensive end Zane Beehn. Could be worth ticket price watching them chasing QBs.

If the line troops have a banner season, and Marty Moore stays healthy and gets 15-16 key tackles each game, as Beehn guarantees he will, then we're talking winning season.

• Running back corps emerges. Names to watch: Redshirt freshman Ray McLaurn and rookie Mo Williams.

• Tight end corps. Terry Samuels is a proven receiver. Corey Reeves likewise. Both have potential to be All-SEC. If that happens, well...

Keys to a season: Pass rush, offensive line play and kicking game. Each is a relative mystery.

"The offensive line is mostly all new, but boy are they aggressive," croons Pookie Jones.

We must believe he is not whistling past the grave yard.

Historical footnote: After three straight 5-5 seasons, the last 5-5 in 1957, LSU's Fellowship of the Miserable was at the gates, ready to revolt, and lynch their coach. But, in 1958 Paul Dietzel's Tigers suddenly grew up together, became three platoon including the Chinese Bandits and went 11-0, including the Sugar Bowl.

Turn around seasons. They are timeless and are definition for Curry's Groups 2 and 3.

JEERS TO JAMAL

What man signs an endorsement contract for $8 million with Fila, and two months later agrees to a three-bucks-a-pop autograph session at a card show in Cincinnati?

Jamal Mashburn.

The ex-UK star appeared at the Midwest Regional Sports Card & Comic Convention last week selling his autograph for $3.50 for his name scrawled on a basketball or game jersey.

Jeers! Anybody else smell a rotten, greedy odor here?

I asked UK director of athletics C.M. Newton the 'Jamal question' last week.

"I really don't know about it, but to me, you handle autographs one of two ways. Either you do like Larry Bird and refuse to sign anything. Or, you're just grateful somebody cares enough to ask for one and sign for everybody free," he said.

If Mashburn is giving his card show proceeds to charity or some other worthy cause he should make it clear before hand.

GREG SMITH VIEWS

I am asked occasionally why I abhor NBA basketball. Inflated salaries aside, former Western Ky. Hilltopper star and NBA veteran Greg Smith explains it very well.

During a visit to his hometown Princeton from Beaverton, Ore. recently, the ex-Hilltopper and Milwaukee Bucks star shared several notable views with sports writer Joey Randolph.

"On NBA players today: 'I think we (in the 60s-70s) had a deeper passion for the game. We showed up every night to play. These players (today) want to be pampered.'"

Today's NBA game is faster, more full court, Smith points out, "but fundamentally, players are weaker now than they've ever been in the NBA. Everybody wants to fly through the air and dunk the ball. They want to be on half-time highlights."

"I see kids playing now, quick kids who can do lots of things, but they're fundamentally weak. They see the guys in the NBA and want to do those things but don't realize these guys have (big) hands that can wrap around their heads."

Smith adds "kids are trying to kick up these things they see on TV, but they haven't learned fundamentals yet."

• Good athletes: "From the time an athlete becomes a good athlete he gets in a shell because people constantly tell you how good you are. Some players don't (ever) have a sense of reality because of that."

• NBA players are puppets. "Their agents tell them this stuff, they listen and their heads get big."

Best for last...

• On girls hoops: "I do basketball clinics and I see girls coming up and learning. They're more fundamentally sound than boys. As a matter of fact, I have greater fun watching girls' NCAA basketball than I do some of the boys. They're so much fun to watch because they're fundamentally sound." Greg Smith.

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE:

Brian Fryman of Louisville, and an unsigned card from Lexington arrived on the same day in reply to 'Whatever happened to ex-Major League pitcher Woody Fryman.'

Brian writes: "Woodrow Thompson Fryman resides in Ewing, Ky. and has another home in S. Daytona Beach. Woody enjoys farming and fishing now that he has retired from The Show. I'm sure Woody Fryman is already in the Ky. Athletic Hall of Fame, but if he isn't I'm sure you would agree there is no better candidate."

COMMENT: Yes indeed. And Fryman has not been inducted.

COMMENT II: I still receive many inquiries about the athletic Halls of Fame (Kentucky' and KHSAA's). Thank you for writing.

Ashley Willard of Sacramento, Ky. writes to ask how to get a letter to Kentucky's Travis Ford.

COMMENT: UK's senior point guard, who had knee surgery last week, could use a get-well card or two. Write him c/o UK Basketball, Memorial Coliseum, Lexington, Ky. 40506.

PARTING SHOT

UK quarterback Pookie Jones began scrambling early. When WVLU-Radio's Tom Leach asked Jones if he likes Daryl Dickey's coaching style better than departed Rick Rhoades, the Kentucky QB hesitated.

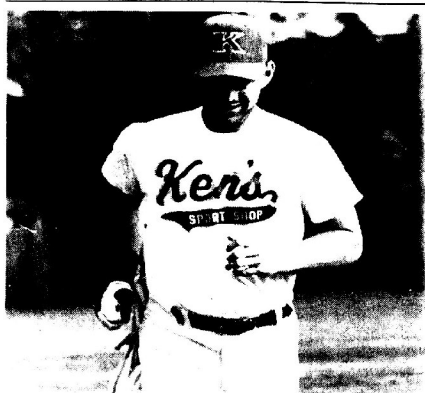

"It's okay," Leach reassured.

"Coach Rhoades isn't here to make you run anymore."

"Ooohhh, that's a tough question. Let me just say coach Dickey is a great play caller from the sidelines."

Leach: "That's very politically correct. Thank you."

NEXT WEEK: A visit with UK director of athletics C.M. Newton. Have a comment or point of view you would like to share? Write to Bob Watkins, Sports In Ky. P.O. Box 124, Glendale, Ky. 42740.

All smiles!

Dickerson still has the swing in Coon Pickers Golf Outing

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Twenty golfers displayed their Coon Picker's golf hat and trotted out to the Beaver Valley Golf Course for the annual Coon Picker's Golf Tournament, a tournament for the 60 and over only.

It was a lively group that wanted to show the world that they had not lost a step, let alone a swing, with the old golf club.

In the age group of 80 and over, Aubrey Dickerson (a preacher) showed that the years had not deteriorated his game by winning a trophy, a putter and a dozen assorted golf balls. Dickerson was ready for another round, but the others were too tired.

Buford Coleman won a trophy for the lowest score of the outing. Frank Heinz and Brad Worrix were winners of the team match.

The longest drive (no yardage given) was hit by Coleman and Heinz came the closest-to-the-hole. Clyde McGuire had the most birdies and the special trophy -- "Ultimate Ouch! Sticks!" Trophy -- was awarded to Dickerson.

The Coon Pickers Golf Association was founded by Walter Frause, who should know better, and everyone really enjoys the annual outing.

The fun of fishing By Scott Patton and made possible by these sponsors:

Scott Patton fishes the BASS-MASTERS Tournament Trail. He won the 1989 B.A.S.S. Federation State Championship. He was named 1987 Hydra Sports Points Champion.

Scott is sponsored by TRACKER Marine, Burnett Brothers Boat Mart and Triple Fish.

Use your map to determine good fishing situations for all seasons of the year. I'll look at the fish's spawning, deep water for summer and winter, and hope for a good creek channel for spring and fall fishing. I'll find all of these areas on one location. I know that I can catch fish in that general area. I will look for three areas like that and fish them. Different ways at different times of the day. Sometimes fish are inactive and you have to revisit that area another time of day and sometimes with a new technique. I will usually hit them with several different baits each time.

Fish that particular spot.

Once you get on the water, fish the areas you have already located on your map. One major mistake anglers make is that if they don't get quick results, they'll vacate the area. I've found that the more you fish the more likely you are to get serious about your game plan.

Since I fish tournaments on lakes all around the country, I always try to get my hands on the best topographical map I can find. These are lake maps showing detailed contour lines of the lake bottom. You can usually find these maps in your marina and local tackle shops. They will be worth every penny invested in them.

I never go out on a body of water, whether it's a lake or river system, without a map. I map it out by key to getting familiar with the layout of the lake. Once I get a map for a lake, I'll study for general information such as size, form of the lake, and creeks and channels. The main thing I'll look for is an area that has all the key ingredients for spawning, summer and winter hideouts, and a good creek channel for fall fish as well. Once I get to the lake I'll take these confidence areas and fish them with several baits and at different times of the day. I will move or pass fish my way into a pattern, depth, or specific area. Once I've found these things and the fish begin to cooperate, then I'll go back to the map and get serious about studying it.

Shows confidence!

Eight NCAA participants on 93-94 Cards hoop slate

Louisville — Eight teams that competed in the NCAA tournament last season, appearances in the Rainbow Classic and 7-up Shootout, and 17 home games in Freedom Hall highlight the 1993-94 University of Louisville men's basketball schedule as released by U of L Director of Athletics Bill Olsen.

U of L's opponents won over 55 percent of their games a year ago (excluding the Rainbow Classic field), posting a collective 327-266 record last season. Ten opponents on the Cardinals' schedule participated in post-season tournament play last season, including eight in the NCAA Tournament and two in the NIT. "Once again, I'm very pleased with the blend of quality regional and national opponents we have maintained on our schedule," said Olsen. "It's another typically tough, challenging schedule that our fans have come to expect. From top to bottom, the quality of our non-conference schedule is among the finest in the country."

With three starters returning from last season's successful 22-9 team that reached the NCAA Tournament Sweet Sixteen, the Cardinals will open the 1993-94 slate with an exhibition game against Athletics in Action on November 20, the first of 17 home games in Freedom Hall. U of L will also play an exhibition contest against the Mexican National Team on December 16.

The Cards will open the regular season against intrastate rival Kentucky on December 1 in Lexington, the 19th time in head coach Denny Crum's 22 seasons that U of L has opened its season on the road. Four of the Cardinals' first six games are against in-state schools, facing Morehead State on December 8, Eastern Kentucky on December 11 and Western Kentucky on December 22.

U of L will face UC Santa Barbara in the first round of the Rainbow Classic on December 28 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Other first-round matchups in the eight team field include Clemson vs. Evansville, Army vs. Hawaii, and Florida vs. Oklahoma State. The complete field posted a combined 132-99 record a year ago (including U of L), with five of the teams reaching post-season tournament competition (three NCAA, two NIT).

The Cardinals will meet Temple in the 7-up Shootout on February 20 in Orlando, Florida. The double-header will also feature Cincinnati against California.

U of L opens the new year with a five-game homestand in Freedom Hall, including its Metro Conference opener against South Florida on January 6. The Cardinals will play five of their last seven games on the road, playing its last home game February 28 against Howard. The post-season Metro Conference Tournament will be staged March 11-13 in Gulfport, Mississippi.

Complete television appearances and game times have not been finalized. WDRB-TV (Channel 41), a FOX affiliate in Louisville, will televise approximately 20 U of L games through local organization and network participation. All U of L games will be broadcast on 50,000-watt clear channel WHAS Radio (840AM) in Louisville and other affiliates throughout the region.

KDFWR EXTENDS DEER HUNT APPLICATION DEADLINE

Due to delivery delays, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' (KDFWR) Commissioner Don R. McCormick has extended the deadline for applications to all KDFWR managed quota deer hunts to September 13.

Applications are now available for persons interested in entering the random computer drawing for any one of 16 different adult or youth quota hunts. Quota youth hunts are open to persons between the ages of 10 and 15, and who have completed a hunter education course by the day of the hunt. All hunts are held on KDFWR owned or controlled wildlife management areas.

There is a $3 nonrefundable processing fee required for each application. Hunters 16 and over may apply to only one conventional quota hunt. Persons eligible for youth hunts may apply to the Ballard WMA youth hunt, one other youth hunt and one conventional quota hunt and one

To receive more information on hunt dates, locations, special requirements and applications, contact the KDFWR, Information Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502) 564-4336. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

DOVE, EARLY DUCK AND CROW SEASONS SET

Kentucky's dove season and early duck hunting dates were recently set by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) Commission.

Dove season will be September 1-30, October 9 — November 1 and December 4-9. The daily limit remains the same at 15 and shooting hours Sept. through Nov. are 11 a.m. to sunset. For the December portion of the dove season shooting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Early wood duck and teal season will be September 15—19. The daily bag limit is four birds with no more than two wood ducks included. Shooting hours for wood duck and teal are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Waterfowl hunters are reminded that non-toxic steel shot is required for all waterfowl hunting, and steel shot is required for dove hunting on some wildlife management areas.

In compliance with federal guidelines, there is now an established hunting season for crows from September 1 through November 12, and then January 9 through February 28. There is no bag limit on crows and shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

AN OSPREY TAUGHT THIS PRO A FISHING LESSON

Ren Shuffield won't soon forget the day he was out-fished by an osprey.

Shuffield, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff and the winner of several national bass tournaments, laughs at the experience, but says it also re-taught him a valuable fishing lesson.

"Just because you work an area and don't get a strike doesn't mean bass aren't there," says the Arkansas pro. "If bass are inactive and not chasing lures, you should fish an area, even a particular piece of cover, more thoroughly than usual."

Shuffield received the osprey lesson during a recent national bass tournament on Lake Eufaula in Alabama. A sudden cold front dropped water temperatures drastically and made the fish extremely lethargic.

"My partner and I had just thoroughly saturated an area with both a jig and a spinnerbait," says Shuffield. "The water was so shallow my trolling motor was kicking up mud, but there was some scattered cover and I thought a fish might be present."

"When we didn't get a strike, I turned the boat to leave, and just then I heard a loud splash in the water behind me. It was an osprey that had made a dive and was struggling to get airborne again."

"Finally, after several tries, the osprey made it up and it was easy to see why it had trouble. The bird was holding a four to five pound bass in its talons, a fish that came right from the area we had just been through."

The Johnson pro says watching the osprey made him fish that much more thoroughly the remainder of the tournament. The extra effort paid off with a fifth place finish.

"I started dissecting each individual piece of cover, trying to determine exactly where a bass would most likely be hiding," says Shuffield, "and then I'd drop a jig down and start shaking it for five to 10 seconds before I'd ever lift it out again."

Even that didn't always bring a strike, however. Shuffield fished one particular bush from several different angles without getting a strike, then specked a four pound bass out of the bush when he turned on his trolling motor to leave. That fish actually ran straight into the trolling motor in its haste to escape.

"All in all, it was a strange tournament," laughs Shuffield, "but seeing that osprey catch a bass right behind me is something I won't soon forget. I probably owe fifth place to that bird, because when I saw it holding that fish I knew for certain I was working the right type of water. I just had to be more thorough."

FISHING IN THE WIND CAN BE PRODUCTIVE

Few fishermen enjoy bass fishing in the wind, but at least with the equipment available today it's a lot easier.

It can also be extremely productive.

That's the opinion of veteran tournament professional Denny Brauer, who has used the wind to his advantage several times to win national fishing events.

"We're just fortunate now to have the type of equipment we do, such as better designed boats, stronger trolling motors, and reels that cast easier," says the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler, "because we're entering that time of year now when the wind often becomes a factor in our fishing."

"Today's bass boats are designed to maneuver better in wind and waves, and the trolling motors are stronger than ever so they can actually hold a boat in place against a strong wind."

"Casting is much easier, too, because of the improvements in reel design. Today's baitcasting reels handle extremely light lures in the wind; we're not limited to heavy lures anymore."

Brauer's feelings are echoed by many in professional tournament fishing today, especially those who like Brauer realize how productive fishing in the wind can be.

"In years past, a high wind really forced us to seek protected water that wasn't necessarily the best fishing area," explains the Evinrude pro, "but windy conditions generally change bass and move them closer to the surface and make them more active."

"Now we can fish those wind-blown points and shorelines where the bass are because our equipment can handle the wind."

Brauer's favorite lures for windy conditions in the spring are spinnerbaits and crankbaits. Such fast-moving lures, he says, better imitate the baitfish that bass are chasing.

"Wind creates a long chain of events in the water," the Missouri pro explains, "and the longer the wind blows, the better the fishing usually becomes."

"First, wind blows plankton across the surface until it gets blocked by a point, bluff, or other shoreline. The tiny minnows and other baitfish follow, because they're feeding on that plankton."

"I don't believe baitfish actually get blown or washed across a lake by high wind the way many people say they do. They're just following their food source."

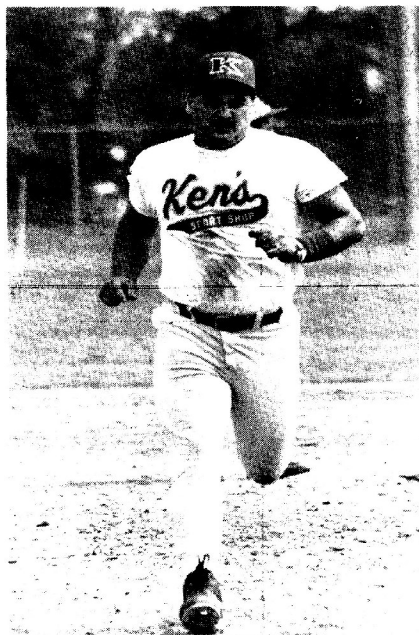

When the baitfish move, continues Brauer, bass also move, because the baitfish are their food source. The longer the wind blows steadily from one direction, the more bass will tend to concentrate in an area because that's where the most baitfish will be.

"If conditions are not so rough as to be dangerous," says Brauer, "you can often make some excellent catches by throwing a crankbait or spinnerbait around places like this."

"Some of the very best spots are along isolated bluffs or islands, the first place plankton would get stopped. Other windy shorelines are also worth checking, and if you catch one fish, stay there and keep fishing because other bass are probably in the same spot."

Brauer cautions that if water conditions are too hazardous to try such fishing safely, anglers should fish less exposed shorelines that may still collect plankton.

Evinrude and Johnson outboard dealers offer the Pro-Team Bass Vest, a personal flotation device (PFD) designed for bass fishermen. The vest features four pockets, adjustable sides, and a D-ring for attaching an emergency ignition cut-off tether.

Ask Dr. Bubba

Editor's Note: Dr. Bubba is not a licensed, practicing therapist, but has received doctorates in analytical psychology and hotel restaurant management and so far has managed to escape serious litigation and/or prosecution, unless of course you count that one little misunderstanding with that den mother back in Cleveland.

Dr. Bubba: I'm having this terrible problem and I hope you can help. You see, I suffer from SASD, otherwise known as Short Attention Span Disorder, and I frequently lose track of what I'm doing. Dear Dr. Bubba: I'm having this terrible problem and I hope you can help. You see, I suffer from Dear Dr. Bubba: I'm having this... (Name and address withheld because he forgot to put them on the letter.)

Dear Whoever: I know this thing must really be buggin' ya, but I'd advise ya to just forget about it.

Dear Dr. Bubba: You just don't know how long I have waited for the chance to discuss my problem with a well-trained, highly-skilled, respected mental health professional. Unfortunately, none of them will accept foodstamps, so I am stuck with the likes of you. Unlike your family, Dr. Bubba, only one member of my family acts weird. My 16-year-old son, Susie Ray Bob Jr., just plunk refuses to wear those matching dresses that his mother made for me and him to wear to the father-son picnic.

Those things were bad enough, but the government cheese box that broke the camel's back was when Junior told his mother that when he grew up, he wanted to GET A JOB — OHH, THE SHAME OF IT ALL!!! You have got to help us, Dr. Bubba. I just know that any day now, that boy of ours is going to sneak off and disgrace all of us by becoming employed!!! What can we do? Sorrowful Susie Sr., Salsersville

Dear Sorrowful: A JOB!!! My GOODNESS, son, you gotta do sumpin' quick!!! Drastic times call for drastic measures. I advise ya to break his foot. That way, not only will he be laid up and unable to work, he'll also probably qualify for some kinda disability check. Either that or make 'im shack up with some little gal an' have lots o' young'uns but never marry her so he can cheat the state child support system. Yeah, right. Look here, you moron, it's SLIMEBALLS like you who're ruinin' this country!!! Not only do ya make decent, hard-workin' people have to pay even MORE taxes, ya keep the people who really NEED government assistance from gettin' it and ya make 'em look bad in the process. My advice is, if ya wanna cheat on, lie to an' steal from the American taxpayer, ya oughta run for Congress.

That's about all the space we got for this week folks. Remember to keep them cards or letters pourin' in to "Ask Dr. Bubba," c/o The Big Hands News, P.O. Box 766, Logan, Ky. 40330. I'll see y'all next week. In the meantime, keep yer nose clean, yer powder dry, and die same ones for yer Depends.

At Mountain Christian Academy :

Quality education = high test scores

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

The members of the board of directors of Mountain Christian Academy are enthusiastic believers in this small non-denominational Christian school located on Route 80 near Martin. In fact, they can't keep quiet about the quality education the school offers.

Terry Dotson, president and chief executive officer of Worldwide Equipment, has been a Mountain Christian Academy (MCA) board member for 18 months. But he has appreciated the educational program at the school much longer. His two youngest children attended kindergarten at MCA four years ago and they have remained at MCA. His two older children attended public schools, but he chose a different educational route for his two youngest.

"I feel like they are in a safe

Christian environment where they can be properly educated with children from all walks of life..." he explained. "Parents can be involved in fact and not in advertisement only. My mother taught in Eastern Kentucky school systems for 28 years and I firmly believe the Eastern Kentucky educational problems will not be solved unless politics — with the school system as the largest employer and largest budget in one place — are out of the schools.

"I'm not saying county schools aren't doing a good job. But I feel a positive environment here."

Arnold Turner is in his second year as board member. He was on the board in the 1980s, but commitment to his law practice, to his work as an evangelist and to his family left time for little else. Plus, he noted, "The board members are very active here."

His son has been at MCA since the first grade. He attended kindergarten at a public school, and although he progressed well in all subjects, his reading scores indicated he needed remedial classes. The move to MCA has proven fruitful. Now in the sixth grade, he is performing well academically and even scored in the upper percentile in science. "My son is doing great," Turner smiled. "In science, he hit the 89 percentile."

Not only has Turner's son progressed academically, but according to overall MCA test scores for the 1992-93 school year, the 190 students at the school ranked well above the national average of 50 percentile in three core subjects: reading, language and math.

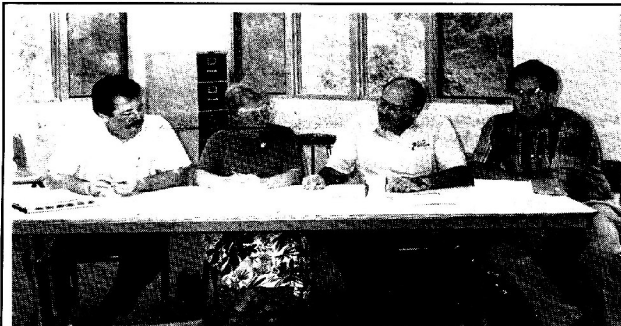

"The scores make me feel good," said Turner. "Our academics have improved... This school demonstrates that Eastern Kentucky children are capable," he said. "We offer children a place where learning is valued... and where they are put in a disciplined atmosphere."

According to Turner, an added plus is

A timely donation

Slater Monica, dean of MCA, accepted a $2,000 check donation from Dr. Mahendra R. Varia during the August board of directors meeting. The money will be used to purchase new science books. (photo by Polly Ward)

Newly-elected MCA officers

the Christian atmosphere of MCA.

"Teaching is Bible-centered and Christ-centered," Turner said. "What we strive to do is teach from a Christian perspective in an atmosphere that affirms Christian values and what children are taught in their own churches and family. The key word is 'affirm.'"

The doors of the school are not closed to families who cannot afford the private school's tuition.

"Forty percent of students are on a financial need scholarship," Turner said. "We have a good cross-section of Eastern Kentucky kids."

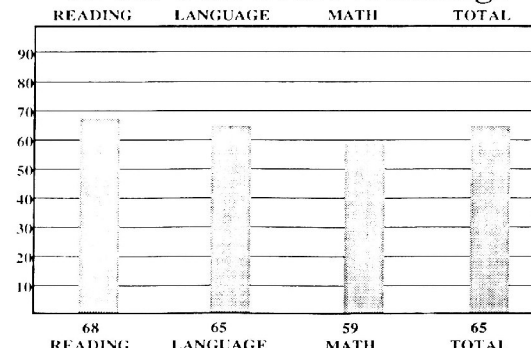

for activities and to create a more open, pleasant atmosphere. "It allows more visibility," Carolyn Lambert, director of preschool said. "It's a much pleasanter place. It's bright. The sun is able to get through."

The larger space can also accommodate nine more children. Sr. Monica said there are openings in preschool and other classes, as well.

School starts August 26 for students in first through eighth grade and August 30 for preschoolers.

For more information, call MCA at 285-5141.

MCA Test Score Rankings

In CBTS test scores for the 1992-93 school year, MCA students' overall test scores rated well above the national average of 50 percentile in three core subjects: reading, language and math.

LUCKY ME

The older I get the more I appreciate the way I was brought up. I also feel fortunate to have grown up when (and where) I did.

Now, that's not to suggest that I turned out perfectly nor that my parents didn't make mistakes.

Neither am I suggesting that the 1940s was the best time in history to be a kid nor that living in an Eastern Kentucky coal camp was exactly a utopian existence.

• Brazil: Seven million

unclaimed children roam the streets, begging, stealing and sniffing glue to ward off their hunger.

It sure makes you appreciate the times your parents loved you enough to wrap a keen willow switch around you legs in an effort to teach you right from wrong, doesn't it?

Of course, even coal camps of the forties had alcoholics, drug users and people of low morals. But they were the exception, not the rule. Their behavior was frowned upon, not accepted. People didn't say,

"This is modern times. Leave them alone."

It's not my intention to turn this into a sermon. It's just that the contrast is so stark between then and now, that it makes it sound like one.

I mean, we're talking about a time when it was considered against the law for two unmarried people of the opposite sex to "love together", when one was considered a juvenile delinquent

if he got carried away on

Halloween night and turned over someone's outhouse, when surrogate motherhood and test-tube babies were so far in the future they weren't even acceptable as fiction. These days of "co-habitation," drive-by shootings and abortion on demand make it seem back then look as innocent as an all-day singing with dinner on the ground.

Like I said, even at the expense of many wrinkles, a few gray hairs and more than a few aches and pains, I'm glad I'm a product of then instead of now.

Kim's Korner

The story you are about to read is true. The names have been changed to protect me, and save the parties concerned from total embarrassment. However, the incident was so hilarious I can't help but share it.

by Kim Frasure

A few months ago in the wee hours of the morning, JoAnn was awakened by the urge to use the john.

With the bathroom only a few steps away from the bed, and not wanting to disturb Albert, she decided not to turn on the light.

JoAnn prepared herself for relief and just as she was about to be seated, she felt a pinch in the derriere.

You see, Albert not wanting to disturb JoAnn, had already been seated in the pitch black bathroom. JoAnn's scream not only scared the entire household, but Albert couldn't have been in a better place either.

The two eventually could laugh and spent the rest of the night laughing also.

When they shared their story with me, they couldn't get through it without laughing.

And, ever since a certain mention of "the throne" has made this paper, I'm hearing all kinds of bathroom humor. Only thing is, they're making this column!

Part II
The other night while Ashleigh and I sat watching T.V., a commercial came on about one of those big fancy weight machines.

I'm sure you've seen it. It's the one where the man is standing in with a hairy chest which they say is "before" Nordic Track. Then they show this brute, beefcake, hunk with no hair on his chest and it's "after" Nordic Track.

Ashleigh, totally serious, looks over at me and says, "Mommie, why do those weight machines take men's hair off their chest?"

Out the mouths of babes!

Part III
W.H.S. reunion update
The replies coming in on the reunion are fantastic! Seating, however, may be a problem.

Mrs. Osborne asked me to mention to those of you reading and planning on attending, to please bring a lawn chair.

We will have some chairs, but the amount just may not be enough for everyone. Don't forget the dates are September 4-6.

The Wheelwright High School prints are going fast. They're $5, and if you'd like one contact Mrs. Osborne.

The T-shirts are wonderful. Lois Curry has "The Maroons," Sabrina Hall has "Once A Trojan, Always A Trojan" with the school on the front. Time is growing closer. I can't wait to see all of you!

Part IV
Tomorrow will be Tiffany's 10th birthday. My how time flies. Happy birthday "Baby Girl." We love you!

We Know That Sometimes, It Takes Great Pains To Get You To The Doctor.

That's why at King's Daughters' Medical Center, we've taken "great pains" (and put forth a lot of effort) to make sure the doctors you need are here for you. Doctors who have studied at prestigious medical centers. Doctors who know and perform the most up-to-date medical procedures. And most importantly, doctors who take "great pains" to provide the right care for their patients.

David Goebel, MD, is one of those doctors. He specializes in hematology/oncology (the treatment of cancer). Dr. Goebel graduated from the University of Kentucky School of Medicine in Lexington, Ky., and completed an internal medicine internship and residency at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia, Pa. He completed his fellowship training in hematology/oncology at the University of Kentucky Medical Center's Markey Cancer Center. Dr. Goebel is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. He is joining the practice of Dana Johnson, MD, at Tri-State Regional Cancer Center, 706 23rd St., Ashland, Ky.

FROM THE MOUNTAINS

by Nadon Gibson

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Many residents of the mountain states such as Kentucky, have formed close attachments to their canine friends.

Even Dr. Thomas Walker and his party brought along their faithful hounds when he explored and documented the discovery of Cumberland Gap, in 1750, before venturing deeper into the vast wilderness beyond and hauling the first log cabin in what would become the state of Kentucky.

Corey is one

Corey Blake Bailey, son of Larry Jr. and Amy Bailey, celebrated his first birthday with a Barney party at his home on August 7. He is the grandson of Clyde and Linda Hamilton of McDowell and Larry and Lola Bailey of Willard, Ohio.

Births

HIGHLANDS REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

August 4: A daughter, Holly Lanell, to Tammy and Nebert Horn Jr. of Lovely.

August 5: A son, Gregory Michael, to Crystal and Gregory Skeens of Prestonsburg.

August 7: A daughter, Elsie Faye, to Sharon Risner of Salyersville.

August 9: A son, Brandon Tyler, to Bonnie and James Ratliff of Incz.

The following is a true story and could have occurred in any of the mountainous states as early as in Missouri which adjoins Kentucky and Tennessee on their western border.

A farmhand, following orders of his employer, killed a dog that was bothering the farmer's livestock. The owner of old Drum, the dead hound, hired an attorney and sued his neighbor for the wrongful death of his constant companion of many years.

In summation the lawyer addressed the jury:

"Gentlemen of the jury, the best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith.

"The money that a man has, he may lose; it flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees and do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stones of malice when failure seals its cloud upon our heads.

"The one absolutely unselfish friend a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side.

"He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the wounds that he encounters with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

"When all other friends desert him, his dog remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

"If fortune drives the master forth an outcast into the world, friendless and homeless, a faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against danger and to fight against his enemies.

"...and when the last scene of all comes and death takes his master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open and alert, faithful and true, even in death."

The jury deliberated a very short time before returning with a judgment in favor of old Drum's owner.

County Kettle

Muffins are a great break from cold cereal and the traditional bacon, egg, and toast breakfast.

Pear-Nut Muffins and Blueberry Muffins are two of my favorite muffin recipes. These are really good. Make them the night before and zap them in their muffin cups in the morning. The Cheddar Muffins and Carrot Zucchini Muffins sound like they would go well with a barbecue meal.

If you have a muffin recipe you would like to share with our readers, please send to:

Orthopaedic surgeon at HRMC

Dr. John J. Vaughan

John J. Vaughan, M.D. from the Kentucky Spine Institute affiliated with Good Samaritan Hospital has joined the medical staff of Highlands Regional Medical Center. Dr. Vaughan is a Board Certified Orthopaedic Surgeon and will see patients on the 1st and 3rd Fridays of each month in the medical offices located on the third floor at Highlands.

As an outreach physician, Dr. Vaughan will evaluate and treat patients with general orthopaedic problems and those with back or spine problems. Specific back conditions treated include scoliosis and spinal deformity; failed back syndrome; disc herniation and nerve root entrapment; acute and chronic back injuries; congenital, degenerative and metabolic disorders of the spine; and other causes of back pain/disability.

Dr. Vaughan is from Detroit, Michigan. He received his bachelors degree in Biologic Science from the University of Kentucky. Dr. Vaughan graduated from the University of Louisville School of Medicine and served his Internship at the University of Louisville Department of Orthopedics. Dr. Vaughan also completed a Fellowship in Spine Surgery at the Minnesota Spine Center in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Dr. Vaughan is an associate of H. Brooks Morgan, M.D., Orthopaedic Surgeon. Their office is located on Maxwell Street in Lexington.

Seventh year as corporate sponsor

McDonald's continues its generous support of the arts in Eastern Kentucky this year with its annual corporate contribution to Jenny Wiley Theatre. Pictured are Tom and Bob Hutchison, owners of seven McDonald's in Eastern Kentucky, presenting a $5,000 donation to Jenny Wiley Drama Association President Bill Francis. This $5,000 goes to sponsor the sets and costumes for Cinderella.

BBB warns of modeling scams

Do you have "the look"? Is your child destined for a life on stage? The glamorous world of modeling and acting is appealing to many, unfortunately, few are actually successful in these fields. The Better Business Bureau of Central & Eastern Kentucky, Inc. warns consumers to watch for promoters offering easy success and a large income as a model or actor, when in fact they are simply looking for a quick profit.

Such promoters often place classified ads that claim to be searching for models, no experience necessary, no fee required. Upon responding to such ads, consumers are usually invited to an interview or screening, where they'll probably be told that he or she is "just what we are looking for." One company recently visiting Kentucky claimed no fee was required, but did charge $350 for photographs if the individual passed the initial screening process held at local hotels.

Some warning signs of non-reputable promoters or firms are:

- An advance or "registration" fee, or required purchase of photographs or videos;
- Non-specific ads in "help wanted" columns in daily and Sunday newspapers;
- Names which imply an association with cities, companies or individuals well known in the modeling or acting industries, when in fact there is no such association;
- Avoidance in answering questions concerning specific types of assignments for which you might be used.

If you are interested in an acting or modeling career for your child, it is best to investigate the field thoroughly. The two most common options are:

- Modeling school, where you receive the training that is often necessary to "get in the door." Many schools are also agencies and work toward placing their students with employers. It is important to make certain the school you are interested in is properly licensed and bonded.
- Agencies or managers, who will represent you and assist you in your career, usually for a percentage of your income.

With either option, make certain that you are dealing with a reputable firm. Find out who their contacts are. Who actually uses the firm's models or actors? If possible, obtain a client list and check for satisfaction. Don't be misled by photos of famous individuals displayed by the firm; that does not mean they actually represent those individuals. Be wary of offers that sound "too easy," or "too good to be true." Shop around to gauge your chances in the field, and always call the Better Business Bureau to check out your choices.

Workshop subjects at this year's convention included presentations on conducting real estate, personal property, commercial, heavy equipment and agribusiness auctions. There were also workshops for auction support personnel, a bid-calling workshop, a "Great Ideas" workshop and the Certified Auctioneers Institute's seminar on Wednesday, July 21. More than 30 educational programs were offered.

How to prepare for a job interview

Graduations, summer vacation, and promotion possibilities sent many Kentuckians looking for new jobs this summer.

Taking time to prepare for job interviews can lead to a successful place in the work force.

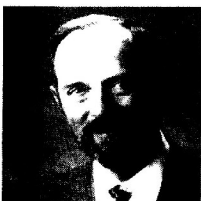

To have a successful initial response, dress up-to-date and, if possible, according to job expectations. For example, if applying for a bank or business position, dress conservatively and neatly.

Ladies should wear simple makeup and accessories and both they and gentlemen should be properly groomed.

Always offer a firm, dry handshake and a smile. Eye contact throughout the interview is also helpful.

Beginning at a point on top of the ridge between Left Beaver Creek and Spewing Camp Branch, said point having coordinates in the Elk Horn Coal Corporation System of S144.450; W164.540; thence leaving the ridge N 23 degrees 30' E 321.10 feet; thence S 87 degrees 15' E 940 feet to the center of Spewing Camp Branch, a point having the coordinates of S141.551; W162.321.10; thence with the channel of Spewing Camp Branch in southeast direction 2460 feet to a point having coordinates of S143.528.75; W161.265.35; thence S 40 degrees 30' W 1,425 feet to the center of the ridge between Spewing Camp Branch and Beaver Creek; thence S 87 degrees 37' W 530 feet, S 31 degrees 41' 21.5 feet, S 54 degrees 42' W 420 feet, N 83 degrees 30' 10.5 feet, S 57 degrees 30' W 765 feet to the beginning, containing 155.50 acres more or less.

Note that the channel of Spewing Camp Branch, recorded in Deed Book 318, Page 444, Floyd County records.

This property is being sold subject to property taxes due and payable to Floyd County, Kentucky, the amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be one million four hundred forty-one thousand five hundred thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents ($1,441,533.33), with a per diem award thereon of three hundred twenty-seven dollars and ninety-three cents ($327.93), from July 23, 1991, and continuing thereafter until fully paid, plus the court cost and reasonable attorneys fees incurred by the Plaintiff and the cost of advertising the sale and the fees and commissions for conducting said sale.

If the purchaser does not pay the purchase price on the date of sale, then the purchaser must pay ten percent (10%) of the bid amount down, and then execute bond with proof of surety or sureties with legal interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the day of sale until the full amount shall be paid.

and effect of a judgment with lien retained upon said property as further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand this 2nd day of August, 1993.

Protect Yourself

"NAPS" To protect yourself against calling card fraud someone illegally gaining access to your telephone calling card code and charging long distance calls to your bill there are some simple steps and do's you can use.

"I had a sad childhood," said Marilu Serrano when my friends played those Trivial Pursuit games. Sometimes I sold tires or bread or guavas whatever I could to earn money. When Marilu was 13 years old her grandmother sent her to the United States to live with another aunt.

Always looking for ways to help support herself, Marilu worked after school in a grocery store and earned extra money by buying clothes at wholesale prices and selling them to

• DO memorize your calling card number. This way you run less risk of misplacing your card.

• DON'T use your calling card as identification. Anyone who comes into possession of your card will be able to use it, so keep it confidential.

• DON'T let anyone eavesdrop on your conversation with telephone operators.

• DON'T give your calling card number to people posing as telephone operators or other legitimate MCI representatives. Will always know your calling card number and will not need to ask you for it.

• DO report the loss of all credit cards, including your telephone calling card, as soon as you become aware of it. MCI offers additional information on using telephone calling cards. For this information, or to report lost or stolen cards, call MCI toll-free at 800-441-5443.

Career Opportunities

Marilu Serrano—A True Cinderella Story
NAPS. Marilu Serrano was selling fruit and vegetables on the streets of a small town in Mexico before she came to the United States. Now, at age 28, she has become a successful businesswoman in Chicago. She drives a brand new car and has traveled to Europe, Canada and Hawaii over the last three years.

As a young child, Marilu was raised in Mexico by her grandmother and two aunts. Before she was old enough to attend school, she sold items from trees in her backyard. Although afraid to climb too high, she learned herself to reach the upper parts of the tree to pick fruit that could be sold before a ripened and fell to the ground. Through her perseverance and perhaps because people felt sympathy for such a young seller, she earned enough money to buy her first pair of tennis shoes.

"I had a sad childhood," said Marilu when my friends played those Trivial Pursuit games. Sometimes I sold tires or bread or guavas whatever I could to earn money. When Marilu was 13 years old her grandmother sent her to the United States to live with another aunt.

Always looking for ways to help support herself, Marilu worked after school in a grocery store and earned extra money by buying clothes at wholesale prices and selling them to

Morehead State University

Regional Schedule of Classes
Fall Semester 1993

A Message from the Dean . . .

Welcome to the Fall 1993 semester at Morehead State University! This regional newspaper insert lists MSU's extended campus classes for the Fall 1993 semester and contains information concerning registration, financial aid, and other services available to prospective and enrolled students. Some examples of innovative and exciting classes are also highlighted on the following pages.

Despite declines in state funding of higher education, the Fall 1993 schedule contains an overall increase in the number of class offerings at our Extended Campus Centers in Ashland, Prestonsburg, and West Liberty and our Appalachian Graduate Consortium in Pikeville. The schedule also shows an increase in classes offered at site locations in Jackson, Maysville, Mt. Sterling, and Whitesburg.

Two site locations, Jackson and Whitesburg, represent new initiatives on the part of Morehead State University. In recent months University staff members have worked closely with staff members at Lees College in Jackson and Southeast Community College in Whitesburg. Morehead State University will begin to offer the Elementary Education K-4 baccalaureate program to students on site at Lees College in Jackson and at the Southeast Community College-Whitesburg Campus starting with the Fall 1993 semester. If student interest in this program is strong, the University will make most of the K-4 baccalaureate program available to students on site in Jackson and Whitesburg.

MSU's Mission Statement—the most succinct description of the University's purpose—contains the following sentence: "The University should provide programs directly related to the needs of the primary service region." Our extended campus program is one of the major ways that the University attempts to fulfill its mission of serving the people in our twenty-two county eastern Kentucky service region.

On behalf of the faculty and staff of Morehead State University who drive the roads of the region to provide you with these classes and other services, I genuinely hope you find your Fall 1993 semester classes both valuable professionally and intellectually stimulating.

Sincerely yours,

Marc Glasser, Dean

General Information

An Admissions Application for undergraduate or graduate study at MSU must be completed by all new students. Graduate students who have not enrolled since 1990 must contact the Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs. Students are responsible for contacting their advisors in planning their schedules. Call or write the Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs if you do not know your advisor's name, or if you need to have an advisor assigned (1-800-262-7474, ext. 2039).

Students pursuing a graduate program at another university who wish to register for MSU classes during the Fall semester must complete a Visiting Student Application and forward it to the graduate dean at their institution for approval. All necessary forms, including Visiting Student Application, are available at the MSU Undergraduate or Graduate Admissions Offices or any Regional Campus location.

Note: Students may register for Regional Campus courses on campus during the scheduled registration period.

New Concept for MGNT 620 to be Employed

During the fall semester 1993, a new concept will be employed for the Management 620—Quantitative Business Analysis course offered by the College of Business. Dr. Rodger Carlson will offer this required course for the MBA program simultaneously in Morehead (main campus) and at the off-campus centers in Ashland and Prestonsburg (Big Sandy).

The MBA course will be offered on Thursday evenings from 6-8:40 p.m. and will employ a combination of methods such as video tapes prepared by Dr. Carlson, overhead transparencies shown at each location, question and answer opportunities to discuss assigned problems, as well as constant audio contact with the faculty member similar to what you would experience in a conference phone call.

The course will cover the identical material and quantitative methods including minicomputer solutions that were formerly employed when the course was offered on a rotation basis at the various locations.

The advantage to the MBA student is that in the future the Management 620 course will be offered every fall semester at each of the three locations. Therefore, students who are off-campus will have the same opportunity to put this course in their schedule.

Book Sales at Regional Locations

Textbooks required for courses offered at Ashland, Prestonsburg and West Liberty will be available at the Centers. The Pikeville College bookstore will have books available for Pikeville courses. Details on bookstore hours and textbooks sales other than those listed above will be available at the regional locations on registration day.

Registration Procedures

1. Registration—August 19, 1993, has been designated as registration day at the regional locations: Ashland, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, West Liberty, 10 a.m.-7 p.m.; Jackson, Maysville and Whitesburg from 5-7 p.m. Advisement, registration materials and information will be made available at that time. Locations other than those listed above will register the first night of class. To register by mail, complete the Regional Campus Registration Form and mail to the Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs, 701 Ginger Hall, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351. Include a check or money order for tuition, or use Visa, MasterCard, Discover, or American Express. All regional registration material should be postmarked no later than August 12, 1993.

2. Fee Payments—Advance registration does not confirm your registration for the semester. You must do one of the following to complete the registration process:

a. Mail your fee payment to MSU. Fee payments by mail must be postmarked no later than August 12, 1993, to avoid the $50 late registration fee.

b. Pay at the Cashier's Window in Howell-McDowell by noon on August 18 or at any of the extended campus centers by August 18.

c. If your fees are to be paid by a third party (i.e., BEC, Revenue Cabinet, Human Resources, etc.), mail copies of your authorization form to MSU before August 9, 1993.

d. Pay at on-campus registration August 19 & 20 or off-campus registration August 19, 1993.

e. Students living out-of-state will pay in-state fees for all classes taken off-campus.

3. Deferment of Fees—Students having a need may defer payment of part of their fees until a later point into the semester upon satisfaction of all of the following conditions:

a. the student will pay at the time the deferral is requested, an amount equal to at least one-third (1/3) of his/her total fees that are not covered by University-awarded financial aid, plus a deferral fee of $35 for deferring up to $1,000 or $70 for deferring over $1,000.

b. The student must sign a promissory note for the balance of fees owed.

c. The student must have satisfied all prior financial obligations to Morehead State University.

Students who need to defer should attend one of the following deferment sessions:

Ashland Area Extended Campus Center on August 9, 2-6 p.m.

Big Sandy Extended Campus Center on August 10, 2-6 p.m.

Licking Valley Extended Campus Center on August 11, 2-6 p.m.

Hazard Community College Campus on August 12, 3-5 p.m., tentative location for Jackson and Whitesburg students.

Students attending one of the deferment sessions will complete the registration process at that time. It will not be necessary for these students to attend regular registration.

Refunds

If the university cancels a class, the student is entitled to 100 percent tuition refund or cancellation of the payment due for the class.

To receive a refund for dropping a class, a student must complete a Drop/Add Form. Refunds for either partial or full withdrawal are based upon the date which appears on the Drop/Add Form according to the following timetable:

August 27: Last day for 75% refund of refundable fees
Sept. 13: Last day for 50% refund of refundable fees
Sept. 20: Last day for 25% refund of refundable fees

Note: For information regarding fees, please contact the Office of Accounting & Budgetary Control, 1-800-262-7474, ext. 2019.

Important Notice

1. Classes with enrollment below 12 are subject to cancellation. Timely registration by all students reduces the number of class cancellations.
2. Classes begin Monday, Aug. 23, 1993. Late registration fee in effect for off-campus students.
3. The last day to register for credit is Aug. 30, 1993.

Regional Campus Awards

Regional Campus Awards are scholarships available to students that may not qualify for financial aid as outlined and wish to enroll at our extended campus centers. These awards are designed for part-time, non-traditional students who have never attended college or have been out of college for several years and would like to resume their education. Eligible students receive $300 to cover the cost of tuition, books, and other expenses. If you would like to have more information or apply for a Regional Campus Award, please contact the Director of the extended campus center nearest you.

Ashland Area Extended Campus Center

The Ashland Area Extended Campus Center is offering a greatly expanded schedule of classes for the fall 1993 semester. This is in response to the increasing need for affordable higher education opportunities for the residents of our Tri-state area. Students who take classes at the Ashland Center pay in-state fees.

Morehead State University and Ashland Community College have an excellent relationship in working together to serve the needs of students. Beginning in the fall semester there will be computers available at ACC and the Ashland Center for students to examine course transfers between these institutions in all majors and degree programs.

There are a number of degree programs available at the Center, including the majority of courses necessary to complete the baccalaureate degrees in elementary education, business administration, nursing and the general degree in university studies. Most of the graduate programs in elementary, secondary, guidance and counseling, the fifth year program for teaching, Rank I in education, and master of business administration may be completed at the Center. A variety of additional courses are offered this fall semester; they include Russian language, watercolor, theatre, ROTC, sports officiating, ornithology, and a distance learning class in management.

Academic advisement in elementary education is provided by Dr. Wenju Shen, while Mr. Terry Elliott advises students in specific areas in business and accounting. Both of these individuals are full-time faculty at the Center.

A computer laboratory is available for student use at any time the Center is open for classes. A bookstore is provided for purchase and selling of text books during the first two weeks and the last week of each semester. Beginning in the fall semester the bookstore will have limited hours for such items as MSU memorabilia, paper, pens, etc. The Center is linked to the main campus with the LS/2000, the automated system which permits students to identify library holdings and availability of materials.

In addition to the academic degree programs at the Center, there are a wide variety of academic and student services available to both full and part-time students. Admissions, registrations, child care listings, campus events, parking permits, and general questions about the University and who to contact on campus are handled by the Center secretary. Information concerning student ID cards, student discounts at local businesses, regional campus awards, general academic advisement, teacher education programs, various examinations including GRE, GMAT, NTE ACT, correspondence courses, and other student services are provided by Mrs. Debra Salver.

Ms. Jackie Scott provides admission counseling services, administers the Strong Campbell Interest Inventory and presents programs on interviewing techniques, test taking strategies, time management, goal setting and reading skills. The sessions are by appointment.

Dr. Roland Burns is the Center Director who serves as administrator, in addition to teaching responsibilities in geography and natural resource conservation.

Also located at the Center is Ms. Penny Felty who is a counselor with the Commonwealth Educational Opportunity Center. She provides counseling for adults who are interested in continuing their post secondary education at an educational institution. Services provided include financial aid and admission application assistance, career counseling and assessment, information on scholarships, grants and student loans, workshops in study skills and free tutoring in a number of subject areas.

The Center is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday-Thursday and from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on Friday. The faculty and staff encourage you to stop by and visit the Center.

Big Sandy Extended Campus Center

The Big Sandy Extended Campus Center offers convenient, quality education in Eastern Kentucky. At the large, modern facility, Morehead State University provides educational opportunities in business, education, nursing, social work, paralegal, the arts, and many other fields. Offering junior, senior, and graduate level courses, the center complements the course offerings of the region's community colleges and enhances the diversity of training and education possibilities.

The campus is located at 719 University Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. It has ten modern classrooms, a state of the art computer lab, convenient no cost parking, on site bookstore, and study areas.

The Big Sandy Extended Campus Center courses are taught primarily by tenured, full-time faculty members from the main campus of Morehead State University. Most of your professors will have a doctorate. Your classes will be small so that you will be able to maximize your learning.

The Center offers a multitude of services to you. You will be able to talk with your advisor and plan your educational curriculum. We have many resources which you may access in the career planning area. If you would like assistance with resume writing, interviewing, or career exploration, our staff will be glad to assist you. We have a computerized career exploration program called "Discover" which you may use to examine career choices. Staff at the Center are willing to help you in the areas of time management, tutoring, study skills, writing and math skills, test taking skills, computer literacy and any other subjects which might help you succeed in your academic pursuits.

If you need assistance with research or writing a paper, again the staff will be glad to help you. We are linked to the main campus by computer. Using the link, you may check the card catalogue on the main MSU campus. You may also order books from the main campus and many libraries throughout the United States through inter-library loan.

One of the latest innovations for the Center is the computerized degree checklist. If you are considering attending Morehead State University and want to find out what courses transfer for your major, just bring in your transcripts and we will be glad to print out a list of the courses you will need for your major. Using this program, you may also check to see what courses you would need to take for majors that you might not have previously considered. This free service will be of great benefit to you if you are considering transferring to MSU.

The MSU Big Sandy Extended Campus is a warm friendly place where you may obtain high quality education while still remaining in the heart of Eastern Kentucky. For additional information, please call 606-886-3815 or 1-800-648-5372. Registrations will take place on August 19-20, 1993.

MATH 576: Operations Research

This course will cover topics that include Linear Programming, Network Analysis, Dynamic Programming, Integer Programming, Forecasting, Queuing Theory, and Inventory Models. These topics will be addressed from an applied standpoint and as such the course will be computer based. Most of the problems will be analyzed and solved on the micro-computer. Most of the applications will be industry or business oriented. Some working knowledge of the micro-computer will be advantageous but it is not a requirement. Working knowledge of college algebra will also be helpful.

This course is designed for engineers, management personnel, and others who are interested in solving industrial and business types of problems on the computer.

Appalachian Graduate Consortium

The Appalachian Graduate Consortium is a cooperative arrangement between Pikeville College and Morehead State University. The Consortium office is located on the Pikeville College campus. The director of the Consortium, Dr. Margaret Lewis, also serves as director of the Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in Prestonsburg. The coordinator, Dr. Elizabeth Dowdy, is also a joint faculty member at Pikeville College and MSU. Ms. Mary Harmon is the on-site librarian and Ms. Charlotte Clevinger is the consortium secretary.

The Consortium's main focus has been to bring graduate programs in education to the Pike County area. This has allowed many of the area's teachers to complete a graduate program without leaving the community.

During the past academic year, an advisory committee for the Consortium was formed. The committee is composed of local educators, business leaders, alumni, and a student representative. Both Pikeville College and Morehead State University faculty and administrators also serve on the committee. One of the goals of the committee is to assist MSU in identifying and meeting the changing graduate education needs of the area. Currently, the committee is evaluating the need for a Master of Business Administration program to be offered through the consortium.

For the fall 1993 semester, fifteen graduate classes are scheduled to be offered through the consortium. These courses are applicable to a wide range of graduate education programs such as the Education Specialist Degree, Master of Arts in Education, Rank I and Fifth Year. If you would like additional information on the Consortium, please stop by the office or call 606-432-9320.
