

This Town-- That World

NEW DISEASE

We always hesitate to spread news which might tend to make the county's population become panicky. It is a great responsibility, this of ours, to decide what the people should know about a matter of this kind, in view of the fact that publication of the news might cause parents to lose sleep and young'uns to sleep with their heads under pillows. This has to do with a new disease. How dreadful the malady is we do not know; what mental anguish this report may cause, we cannot guess. But—we do not make the news; we merely print it. So:

Last week we heard a Prestonsburg man ask Dr. C. B. Cann what is "good for the Hudepohl lumbago."

FORMULA

Tom James brought his car to a screeching stop Wednesday to give us his sure-fire formula for getting "things" done for the Big Sandy. "Just change the name to Italy or Germany," he suggested.

NO MINOR ITEM

Among the larger items this newspaper missed recently was the birth on April 30 at the Prestonsburg General hospital of a 14-pound, four-ounce daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Hampton, of Middle Creek.

BILL US AS COAL AND SHIP US

A story on Page 1, this edition of The Times, would indicate the C. & O. isn't doing too badly on the Big Sandy. Fourteen trains of 120 coal-laden cars each day from the Big Sandy, it says here. And that's straight from the horse's mouth—more exactly speaking, from TRACKS, the C. & O.'s own magazine.

And, says the same magazine, the opening of a new coal field is expected to make business even better.

Still, the C. & O., having to scrimp and save to keep the wolf from the door, talks about losing money on its Big Sandy passenger service.

LETTER TO A HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR

The old friends, son, are the best friends.

So don't go chasing off after new and false idols. Cling to the old, the old friends who have stuck by you. Let me tell you a story, by way of illustration.

Over the past week-end, around 150 of your elders were in Washington to plead their case for canalization of the Big Sandy river. Interested in a thing which they believe will mean a great future to the likes of you and your children, these men went out every friend they could find—of the old and the new. They found friends in need.

And they found friends. They found friends.

TERM PLANNED FOR TEACHERS

100 Expected To Enroll In Summer School Here From Tri-County Area

A summer school for teachers and prospective teachers of three counties will open here June 7 under supervision of Eastern State College, Richmond, Floyd Superintendent Palmer L. Hall announced this week.

Approximately 100 Floyd, Johnson and Magoffin countians are expected to enroll. The preliminary meeting held here Saturday by B. J. Carthy, of Eastern State, was attended by 95 persons.

The curriculum was decided at Saturday's meeting. The six subjects decided upon for instruction during the five-week term are: teaching of Reading, Arithmetic, Public School Art, Appreciation of Art, Public School Music and Appreciation of Music.

Entrants can earn six semester hours' credit and satisfy requirements for renewal of emergency teaching permits, Superintendent Hall said.

BOARD NAMES TWO BIDDERS

To Relocate Buildings; Asks Bids on 2 Others And Melvin School Job

The Floyd County Board of Education last week awarded contracts for the removal from the Dewey reservoir area two school buildings and their location elsewhere, and at the same time authorized County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall to advertise for bids on the same work on two other schools of the Johns Creek section.

For removal of the one-room Dewey school to Corn Fork of Brandy Keg and its erection, Alex and Ralph Clarke were awarded the contract on their low bid of $1,295, and the contract for removal and relocation on Caney Fork of Middle Creek of the two-room Buffalo school was awarded to Taulbee McGuire on his bid of $2,449.50.

Bids on the two projects were more numerous than usual and were at wide variance, the high bid on the removal of the one-room school to Corn Fork, for instance, being $4,999.

The Board authorized Superintendent Hall to ask bids on construction of an eight-classroom school at Melvin, and the removal of these schools to new sites:

Burchett school to a site on Buffalo at the forks of Home Branch; Sowders Creek school to Frasure's Creek.

ALLEN BRIDGE DANGER SEEN BY SENATOR

Span, Scene of Death, Needs Walkway As Vital To Town Split By River

"I will introduce, if I live, at the next session of the Legislature a resolution which will cost the state more for the injury of one boy on the highway bridge at Allen than the walkway needed for the bridge would have cost," declared State Senator Doug Hays here last week.

The span has been the scene of one death and the injury of three persons.

Senator Hays described it as "the most dangerous bridge in the state." He pointed out that its roadway is only 20 feet wide and that it has no safe passage for pedestrians. This, despite the fact, he said, that it connects the two sections of the town of Allen which are separated by the Big Sandy river. The theatre, a livestock market, lumber yard and other businesses, as well as approximately half the population, are in the Town Hall Addition on the east side of the river. In the old section of Allen, on the other side, are the bus and railway stations, the school, postoffice and other businesses.

Thus, Senator Hays said, the bridge plays a vital part in the life of the community, with residents of the town being required to use the span daily.

In December, he said, he was assured that the director of maintenance, State Highway Department, had recommended a walkway. To date, nothing has been done.

Since that time, a Smith boy has been injured, and that incident, Senator Hays said, is what he will ask the state to pay for.

GROUP CHECKS SCHOOL HERE

SACCS Inspection Tour Headed By Ligon Nods Plant Above Average

Dr. M. E. Ligon, chairman of the Kentucky group, Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and seven educators called in as his assistants found Prestonsburg high school, during an inspection period this week, to have a better-than-average high school curriculum but sorely needing more room in the school plant.

Official evaluation of the school will be announced later. It already is on the approved list of the Association.

"Weaknesses were found," Chalmers H. Prazier, superintendent of city schools said, "but they were weaknesses we have been aware of all along."

Evaluation of the school was made from eight angles: philosophy of the school, instruction, curriculum, the school plant, extra-curricular activities, results (percentage of graduates going to college, etc.), community environment and administration.

It was noted that the high school already in compliance with Association and new state library requirements which call for a librarian with adequate training in Library Science and for a minimum of $1.25 per high school pupil to be spent for library facilities. The minimum number of hours training for a librarian in a school of 150 pupils or less is 12; for schools of an en-

'On-Scene' Hearing Set in Train Case

JUNE 9 NAMED FOR HEARING AT PIKEVILLE

Railway Witnesses Testify Two Trains Operated at a Loss

The Big Sandy section won from the State Railroad Commission Tuesday at Frankfort the right to be heard on home grounds, June 9, in its fight to prevent discontinuance by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company of half its passenger train service to the valley.

The Commission granted the request of Tom Holland, Pikeville, spokesman for the Big Sandy group, that a public hearing be held at Pikeville, June 9. The hearing will be held in the Pikeville circuit courtroom, beginning at 9 a.m.

Also granted was the request that railroad witnesses who testified at Tuesday's hearing at Frankfort be required to appear for cross-examination at the Pikeville hearing.

Immediately upon their return home, Big Sandy representatives began organizing for the Pikeville hearing.

The railroad wants to discontinue Trains 37 and 38 with only Trains 36 and 39 to continue daily trips between the points.

The railroad claimed it lost $103,000 on Nos. 37 and 38 in 1947, $109,000 in 1948 and $30,500 during the first three months of this year.

Most of the time, the railroad said, fewer than 15 passengers are on the trains. Increased labor cost is one of the reasons for discontinuance.

SCOUT QUOTA SET AT $6,000

In Drive Starting Monday To Aid Financial Support Of Boy Scouts In County

Monday will mark the beginning of a drive to raise $6,000 in the Floyd district to carry on Boy Scout work in the county, it was announced this week.

The quota is the same as that of last year when this was the only county in Lonesome Pine Council to meet its fund-raising obligation during the year.

The campaign will be centered in eight communities which are represented by Boy and Girl Scout troops and where interest in the movement is high. Fred Francis, Prestonsburg, is general chairman of the drive. Community drive chairmen were announced, as follows:

W. W. Burchett and Glenn Anderson, Prestonsburg; J. E. Green, Martin; Russell Harman, David and Auxier; Arthur Bradbury, Wheelwright; B. F. Reed, Drift; A. H. Mandt, Manton; Jesse Elliott, Betsy Layne.

The full quota, it was pointed out, is a "must" to carry on the Scout work which during the first five months of this year saw Floyd county advance more rapidly, perhaps, than any other county in Lonesome Pine Council.

During these five months, it was pointed out, Scout enrollment grew from 147 to 237. Starting the year with no Cub packs, the county now has three with an enrollment of approximately 50. As of Jan. 1, there were 68 registered adult Scouters; now there are more than 100.

The Scout work in the county is centered around three troops at Wheelwright, two at Martin, two in Prestonsburg with one Cub pack and one troop at Auxier with a Cub pack, one troop in each Betsy Layne and Allen, and one troop being activated at Wayland.

Married Couple Placed Under $1,000 Bond Each

Mr. and Mrs. David B. Leslie were placed under $1,000 peace bond, each, here Wednesday by Police Judge J. D. Harkins on conclusion of the hearing of evidence relating to a Saturday night row in their first Avenue home here in which Mrs. Leslie allegedly fired two shots at her husband.

One of the revolver bullets passed through a window in the Lon Moles home on nearby Goble Street.

MIGHTY MITES

Two-Year-Old Withstands 4,000 Pounds of Car And Occupants, No Injuries, In Freak Mishap; Miss Clarke In Similar Accident in Florida

While horrified relatives and neighbors stood helplessly by, yards too far removed for rescue efforts, an automobile loaded with eight persons, representing a weight of more than 4,000 pounds, passed over the body of two-year-old Freddy Homchek, son of Mrs. Pauline Homchek, at Hi Hat late last Thursday afternoon.

They saw the child rise from the middle of the dusty road where he had been playing as the car was almost upon him; saw the tot grasp the front bumper with his hands, then saw him thrown onto his stomach and watched the sickening lift of the car as it crossed the baby's body.

Seconds later, the child was in the mother's arms. A hurried examination failed to reveal serious hurts, but the child was rushed to a Martin hospital, 20 miles away.

And there, too, no injuries were found other than bruises on the child's leg, the result of the fall when the car struck him.

Across the tot's shoulders was the clear imprint of the tire tread, but injuries—none to mention.

By way of coincidence, the same week, another Floyd county resident escaped serious injury in a similar accident, several hundred miles away. While Miss Doris Ann Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clark, of Prestonsburg, was sunbathing at Daytona Beach, Fla., an auto was backed across her body. A wheel of the car passed across her hips, but she escaped with no broken bones, only severe bruises.

Miss Clark's injuries, however, were such that she was unable to attend classes at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., where she is a student, and she will arrive home this week.

DEATH CLAIMS TWO RELEASED DR. H. H. MAYO

Well-Known Physician Succumbs at Hospital After Brief Illness

Dr. H. H. Mayo, prominent Martin physician, died at 9 a.m., Tuesday at Veterans' hospital, Lexington, victim at the age of 62 of a coronary occlusion.

News of Dr. Mayo's death was received here and elsewhere throughout this section with deep regret by many friends and relatives. He had been ill for the last two weeks but until shortly before the fatal seizure was believed to be recovering.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mayo, and a member of one of the county's best-known families, he was a native of Martin where he had practiced medicine for 36 years. He was graduated from the Louisville College of Medicine and during World War I served as a captain in the medical corps. He had been a member of the Methodist Church at Martin for several years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Pearl Salisbury Mayo, and one son, Harry Hampton Mayo, Jr., of Wheelwright. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Bascom May, Prestonsburg, and three brothers, T. D. Mayo, Sr., Dallas, Texas, Sol and W. M. Mayo, both of Martin.

The funeral will be conducted Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Martin high school auditorium, with Revs. S. B. Rucker and Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial in the family cemetery near the Mayo home, a short distance below Martin, will be directed by the Ryan Funeral Home.

At least eight will be announced as winners at the county-wide graduation here on the evening of May 24. A part of the work done in the tests here by competitors will go to the University of Kentucky, Lexington, for grading.

The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company's scholarship offered to a Floyd county student is being awarded to a student from the county.

Department of Education Rates Floyd 75th, City 78th In State

Floyd county ranked 75th and the Prestonsburg independent school district 78th among the state's 246 school units last year in the matter of teacher pay, figures released recently by the State Department of Education show.

And, had teachers with more college hours been available for teaching posts here and in the county, their ranking would have been improved beyond that, school officials said.

In ranking 75th this county paid its 362 teachers a total of $652,345.35 during the school year for an average of $1,802.05 per teacher. The 30 teachers in the Prestonsburg independent district and in Prestonsburg high school were paid $53,166.62 for an average of $1,772.22. Of the total paid teachers here, the County Board of Education contributed one-third of high school instructors' pay, or $13,691.50, with the Prestonsburg district paying the remainder.

Pike county's teachers during the year drew more than a million dollars in salaries. The county paid 482 teachers $957,895.52 for a $1,987.33

Doctor's Statement Bogs Probe; Payott Pays Fine, Kilgore Charged in Pike

An investigation made on the insistence of relatives of the victim into the death, May 2, of 17-year-old Arizona Little, restaurant waitress, bogged down this week under the statement of an attending physician that the girl died of natural causes.

The girl was taken to Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, and died at 5 p.m., three hours after arrival there, without regaining consciousness. Dr. R. H. Stratton, resident physician, gave the cause of death as a cerebral hemorrhage. She was stricken at the Shingle Top Restaurant, located between Allen and Martin.

The body was taken to Pike county for burial, and not until Saturday when Miss Little's relatives came here and pointed out allegedly suspicious circumstances surrounding the death was there any official interest in the matter. During the day, Cecil Payott, who with Vernon Kilgore operated the road-side restaurant, was brought to Prestonsburg by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Crum and Amos Gray for questioning.

Both Payott and Kilgore denied the girl had suffered mistreatment. Dr. Stratton told authorities there were no marks or bruises to indicate she had suffered a blow.

The restaurant was opened on Thursday, April 28, and Kilgore allegedly went to Pikeville to employ two girls as waitresses, returning with Miss Little. He faces a Pike court charge of enticing a female from home, authorities here said.

Evidence claiming only one bed was provided in the restaurant for the two men, one girl and on one occasion two visitors, a man and a woman, resulted in Payott paying a fine for keeping a disorderly house and in the place being closed.

Court Action Needed To Oust 5th Grader From Martin Board

Appellate Judge Thomas J. Knight suggested Tuesday that Boards of Education be empowered to oust members who lack sufficient schooling.

The idea was advanced in an opinion explaining that under present law that can be done only by a court suit filed in the name of the Attorney General.

The opinion affirmed Martin circuit court's refusal to let that county's board declare vacant the seat of newly elected Edgar Cassell. The board gave as its reason that he has only a fifth-grade education. State law requires that a board member must have at least the eighth grade.

Judge Knight said authority of a school board to oust a member on educational grounds was the sole issue in Cassell's case. After explaining that the Attorney General had not authorized boards to do that, he commented:

"It might be well for a Board of Education to be given this power, as it has been given the power to remove a member for failure to attend three consecutive meetings of the board."

Funeral Services Held For George Meade, 65, Saturday at Bonanza

Funeral services were held at the church at Bonanza at 3 p.m., Saturday for George Meade, 65, who died last Thursday at his Bonanza home, a victim of tuberculosis.

Mr. Meade was a native of Floyd county and a member of the Baptist Church.

He is survived by his widow, Ida, two sons, Jerry, Bonanza, David, in Michigan, three daughters, Mrs. Holly Harmon, Little Paint, Gracie Meade, in West Virginia, and Rosa Meade, at home.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Moses Kitchen and burial, under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home, took place in the Elliott cemetery near Bonanza.

ADOLPH RUPP TO CONSIDER RETIREMENT

Famed Coach Tells Club Meeting 'No New Fields To Conquer' With Best

Those who heard Coach Adolph Rupp, of the University of Kentucky, at Paintsville last Thursday evening drew from his talk the inference that he is strongly considering resigning the post of Wildcat basketball mentor.

"With the Fabulous Five we reached the top, and I sometimes feel that as they leave I should step down and out for a younger man," he was quoted as saying.

Later asked by Franklin W. Moore if his remarks were to convey the idea that he "couldn't take it" with a losing team, Rupp replied with an emphatic "No."

In Huntington, a few evenings later, Rupp gave no indication of plans to quit; rather, talked of prospects for the team next season.

"Basketball is the greatest game in the world," declared the sport's Baron, the University of Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, in an after-dinner speech at the joint meeting of the Paintsville and Prestonsburg Kiwanis Clubs last Thursday evening at the Paintsville Country Club.

Rupp, famed developer of Kentucky's "Fabulous Five," is also known around the country as a speaker of persuasive and entertaining talents. He lauded the value of basketball and of the sport's part in the Olympic games last year in contributing to the development of the right kind of citizenship and the true democratic relationship at home and around the world.

He was introduced by Russell Williamson, whose success as coach of the Inez Indians has won him a wide following over Kentucky. Sixteen Prestonsburg Kiwanians and eight guests attended the banquet.

CANCER DRIVE IS EXTENDED

As Plans Form To Bring Mobile Unit To County For Local Treatments

As announcement was made this week that the Cancer Control Fund drive in this county is being extended till June 1, plans were being made for bringing to the county within the next two months the mobile unit of the American Cancer Society for on-the-ground work with cancer patients and suspects.

Robert Ray Smithers, Lexington, field agent for the Society, was here a few days ago doing preliminary work toward bringing the unit here.

It was also announced here that Sam Caddy, Lexington, president of District 30, United Mine Workers of America, has been appointed a member of the board of directors of the Kentucky division, American Cancer Society. His interest in the fight on cancer, and the contributions of miners, it was pointed out by Mrs. Winnie F. Johns, Floyd drive chairman, has largely been responsible for the success of the previous fundraising campaigns in this and other counties of Eastern Kentucky.

Pointing to recent benefits resulting from funds contributed to the cancer control program, Mrs. Johns said 14 indigents from this county were examined and hospitalized during March cancer clinics.

CANALIZATION FRIENDS, FOES TALK PROJECT

Committee Friendly To Big Sandy Group, Is Capital Report

Immediate fate of the Big Sandy canalization rested this week with the Public Works committee of the lower house of the Congress after it had heard arguments, pro and con, on the project Monday.

Approximately 150 business men and civic leaders of the Big Sandy attended the committee hearings in Washington as supporters of the project which would see the installation of a system of locks and dams to make the river navigable to barges and thus furnish water transportation for the coal and other products of the area.

In number, opponents of canalization were fewer but were no less articulate.

Results of the day's work will not be known until the full Public Works committee has considered the testimony heard at the hearing. John F. Day, Washington correspondent of The Courier-Journal, reported, however, "... questions and statements of the subcommittee indicated a friendly attitude and a strong possibility that the project will be approved."

Committee approval given, there still would remain the task of getting the approval of both the House and Senate, and after that an appropriation. An immediate appropriation, however, may not be sought.

Among those from Floyd county who left here Saturday afternoon for Washington were County Judge Alex L. Davidson, Joe Hobson, Marvin Music, County Clerk Jarvis Allen, Burl Spurluck, Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill, Dr. Edward B. Leslie, Winston Ford, C. H. Smith, Curtis Elkins, J. T. Hughes, Lenna Spradlin, Bert T. Combs, Paul B. Francis, Burnis Martin, Walter S. Harkins, all of

UTILITY ASKS RATES RAISE

Eastern Kentucky Mines Chief Targets of Plea For $306,000 Increase

The Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company urged the Public Service Commission Tuesday to approve a $306,000-a-year rate increase for industrial customers.

The company declared its labor and equipment costs make the increase imperative to maintain a fair return.

But opponents of the increase contended the company's costs of coal and equipment has gone down in recent months.

The commission took the issue under consideration.

Kentucky & West Virginia serves about 175 industrial customers in Eastern Kentucky, chiefly coal mines. Its opponents in this case operate three coal mines in the Hazard field.

This issue does not involve the "coal clause," a device in rate schedules which permit power companies to raise or lower industrial rates according to the raising and lowering of coal prices.

The Ashland firm seeks to restore an industrial-rate reduction ordered by the commission in 1946 when the federal excess-profits tax was removed. R. E. Doyle, Ashland, general manager of the power company, testified the firm needs money to pay rising production costs and cost of its expansion program.

Under cross-examination, he said coal cost $5.50 a ton in December and $5 in April. He said the price fluctuates often and that it is hard to tell whether it will go up or down from month to month.

He also testified that industrial consumers had not received any rate reduction, via the coal clause, since the cost of coal went down. He was not pressed to explain that point.

D. B. Pratt, Hazard, a salesman for two of the protesting companies, said his information is that coal cost $5.84 a ton last July, $3.83 last month, and now is about $4.

Prestonsburg: W. A. Malone, G. W. Snodgrass, Jack Cooley, Eugene Allen and Herman Porter, all of Allen; and R. B. Allen, of Martin, and Alex Davis, Betsy Layne.

County Judge Davidson and Mr. Davis, a mine local official, spoke in behalf of the project. Judge Davidson pointed out that he knew nothing of the engineering problems involved in the undertaking, or of cold statistics; emphasized, instead, that he wanted to discuss the matter from the human standpoint. "Our people want to work, to earn their living. But I remember when they begged for something to eat. And unless I am mistaken, and if there isn't something done, families will again be starving and men and women will be begging for something for their children to eat."

An on-the-scene report of the hearing was made by John F. Day to The Courier-Journal, and this report is re-printed, in part:

Supporters of the project have these points in their favor:

1. They have the backing of the army engineers. An exhaustive survey by the engineers has shown the project as both feasible and economically sound.

2. The project received committee approval in 1946 (but was later deleted from an omnibus bill on the House floor).

3. The canal would make possible the tapping of a huge coal supply, and thus the project has a defensive angle.

4. Figures indicate the federal government must choose between granting relief funds for the area or funds for a project that will make it self-supporting.

5. The vast majority of people who live in the valley favor the waterway.

The opposition, on the other hand, is strong. It stems from four sources:

1. The railroads and rail unions.

2. The national officers of the United Mine Workers of America.

3. The legislators of West Virginia and Virginia who look upon the project jealously.

4. A conglomerate group of some river pilots (who feel the river would be extremely difficult to navigate), some coal operators, and a few businessmen and merchants who simply don't believe the project will accomplish what its proponents claim.

The first two categories furnish a major source of opposition.

One of the principal opposition witnesses today was W. D. Johnson, vice-president and national legislative representative of the Order of Railway Conductors. He said he spoke for some 20 organizations representing 1,300,000 railway employees. He read into the record a long statement in which he held that the project would decrease railroad employment; that it would cost $161,000,000 initial outlay and $8,000,000 a year in upkeep and thus would be an additional burden to all taxpayers; that the waterway would be a competitor for railroads and yet would not pay taxes as the railroads do; that it would not actually lead to increased coal production in the area.

Tom Raney, Pikeville, a member of the international executive board of the U.M.W., took the same position. He declared the canal wouldn't improve conditions in the Big Sandy and that the whole project had become "simply a political thing that Congressional aspirants kick around every two years."

Among other opposition witnesses were Harry See, national legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Representative Burr P. Harrison (D., Va.); R. L. Hall, assistant general counsel of the National Coal Association; William S. Leckie of the Leckie Coal Company; Rolla Campbell, general counsel of Island Creek Coal Company; Lon Rogers, Pikeville, a coal-land owner; Tom Hoffman, president of West Kentucky Coal Agency, and H. H. Griffith, a river pilot.

A number of those favoring the project held that instead of hurting the railroads, canalization, by opening up the area to industry, would actually benefit the railroads. Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, president of the Big Sandy Valley Association, filed a brochure which he said was documentary evidence that this had been true in other areas, including the Kanawha valley area of West Virginia.

Further, a number of local U.M.W. leaders showed sharp disagreement with their national officers. For instance, Elza Johnson, president of a U.M.W. local in Mingo county, West Virginia, said he had been around over the area talking to miners and union leaders and that "there wasn't a single local union I talked to or a single individual member I talked to who is opposed to the project."

Proponents took sharp issue with those holding the project would cost $161,000,000. Col. W. S. Moore, of the army engineers, said the 1945 estimate was $82,300,000. He said the engineers had not surveyed the situation since then, but that basing a guess on other construction costs he would put the current cost at $120,000,000 to $140,000,000.

Moore declined to guess as to the current-benefit ratio, but did say he believed it would still definitely be favorable. (The engineers in 1945 gave the project a benefit-cost ratio of 1 to 1.6, meaning that for every dollar spent $1.60 eventually would be saved in transportation costs.) Dr. Thompson presented figures to support a contention that because freight rates had risen—and probably were destined to rise still more—the favorable ratio had increased to about 1 to 1.81 since 1945.

Testimony for the proponents was opened by Representative Carl Perkins, Hindman, and Joe B. Bates, Greenup. Both held that the project was absolutely essential for the economic salvation of the area.

Representative Henry O. Talle (R., Iowa) testified for the project and read a letter from John A. Kerpner, executive secretary of the Dubuque, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce. It was their contention that the project would be beneficial to the Mid-west through cheaper shipping of high-quality coal.

Support also came from another distant spot. F. R. Muhlenberg, Reading, Pa., Republican, former member of the Rivers and Harbors committee, sent a statement wholeheartedly recommending that the project be approved.

Attorney James Wine of Pikeville made an opening statement for the Association. Among those he called to the stand were A. O. Stanley, former Kentucky Governor and Senator; J. B. Wells, Jr., Paintsville, who related the history of coal mining and economic social changes in the Big Sandy; Sid J. Goodman, Williamson, W. Va.; Dr. Thompson and a great many other residents from the valley area.

SPORTS AFIELD

ART OF FLY CASTING EASIER TO LEARN THAN PLUG CASTING—IT SAYS HERE!

Fly casting is easier to learn than plug casting, insists Jason Lucas, and the man should know, since he's one of the country's best known angling authorities. That is, it's easier if you get good equipment.

The "good enough to learn with" won't work in casting a fly. Even an expert can't do anything resembling good fly casting with a poor rod. So why should a beginner think he can learn properly on one?

Get a rod that is reasonably good. See that it has true "dry-fly action" quite stiff in the lower parts with action mainly toward the front. This is much the best for wet-fly too.

And remember this: you don't, and can't cast the fly; it's far too light to go anywhere. In fact, the smaller and lighter the fly, the farther and more easily you can cast. You cast the line, so it must have weight enough to carry itself out. Always dress your line with a good floatant, even for wet-fly fishing, or you can't pick it up cleanly from the water—and an awkward pick-up of a long "drowned" line can easily break a good rod.

A level line will do at first, but a double taper is better—a three-diameter is best. With either of these last, cut off the level front to about three feet. And begin with a tapered leader of six feet.

Three Game and Fish Law Violators Meted Fines In Courts Past Week

Three men arrested on charges of game and fish law violations by Bernard Baldrige, county conservation officer, drew fines of $15 and costs, each, this week.

Harmon Butler and Corbett Woods, both of Wheelwright, were fined by Magistrate Henry Stumbo's court for fishing without license. Roe Ousley, of Hippo, paid a fine to County Judge Alex L. Davidson for frogging out of season.

Conservation Officer Baldrige urged publicity for the frog season, which is from June 1 till Dec. 31. "I'm sure many people do not know the law and violate the law unintentionally, but there's nothing I can do about it. I am hired to enforce the law and I try to do the job impartially," he explained.

When no coach is available, is for two beginners to practice together, one to observe while the other casts. The chief faults to watch for are these: starting the upswing too high; bringing the rod tip too far back; and poor timing on the back-cast. In the last, a whip-like crack means the timing is too fast; line falling or going dead means the timing is too slow.

Before starting your cast, get about 20 feet of line out—anyway. Hold the rod level or parallel with the water, thumb extended on top of the grip. Pull the line in with your left hand to straighten it, raising the rod no higher than 30 degrees from its horizontal position.

Then without pausing and with increasing speed, sweep the rod up, trying hard to toss the line straight up. (You can't, but you'll avoid a low backcast.) Then stop the rod suddenly so the tip is just barely back of your head. Now pause until the line is almost straight behind you. Then "shoot" your line—sweep the rod out and upward a little; this movement begins slow and ends fast. Aim several feet above your mark so the line will straighten in the air and not splash on the water or roll out on it.

Practice diligently, and pretty soon you'll have the fly landing exactly where you want it to land.

GIRL SCOUTS NEEDS CITED

Sponsors and Leaders Required for 150 Girls Interested In Scouting

Sponsors and leaders for Girl Scout troops are needed to meet the demands of 150 girls who have indicated an interest in Girl Scouting in Prestonsburg, declared a leader in Girl Scout work this week.

Six troops of Brownies and Intermediates are active now. Five of these have sponsors, leaders and meeting places and are ready to be registered with national headquarters. One troop lacks a sponsor and meeting place. A troop of Senior Scouts, most of whom were at one time either Brownies or Intermediates, are without a sponsor and leader and there is a waiting list of girls of all age groups who cannot become Scouts until more sponsors and leaders are found.

Under a new set-up in organization, each troop, with a maximum enrollment of 16 girls, is required to have a sponsor, at least one leader and a troop committee, all of which work with the local council. The chief duty of the sponsor, which is usually a civic or church organization, is to promote the welfare of the troop and, when necessary, to provide materials for handicraft and work projects. The troop leader conducts meetings of the troop and oversees activities. The troop committee, consisting of from three to five volunteer parents, assists the leader in planning and directing activities of the troop.

The Lions Club is sponsoring two troops and the Woman's Club, the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Guild are sponsoring one group each. Two troops are meeting in the Baptist Church, one in the Methodist Church and Jack Spurlin has offered the recreation room in his apartment building as a meeting place for one troop. Those giving their services as leaders are Mrs. Charles Schindler, Mrs. Russell Shaw, Mrs. Adrian Blackburn, Mrs. R. C. Anders, Miss Pauline Hereford and co-leaders Mrs. Marshall Mahan and Mrs. Roberta Hubbard.

Thursday, May 26, between 1 and 3 p.m., Miss Fay Barrett, regional director of Girl Scouts, will conduct a training class in the home of Mrs. Winston Ford for local council members. All who are interested in promoting Girl Scouting in Prestonsburg may secure additional information concerning functions of sponsors and leaders by telephoning Mrs. Marshall Mahan, organization chairman, at 2135.

More Beaver For State Is Aim of Trapping Trip; To Stock Mountain Area

Frankfort, Ky., May 2—More beaver for Kentucky is the aim of a trapping safari into Alabama by John DeLime, Pittman-Robertson and Division of Game and Fish Project leader, Earl Wallace, director of the Division, has announced. DeLime will be in Alabama for about three weeks and hopes to bring back for release in Kentucky as many as 20 beaver. They will be released in mountain streams in protected areas, Wallace declared. The trapping and release program is a part of the big game restoration work of the Division and the P-R leader. Beaver previously released in protected areas are thriving and reproducing, and already have, by their dams, deepened the waters in the streams, thereby controlling the water run-off, Mr. Wallace pointed out.

An intensified study of the fish and water conditions in the First and Second districts will be made this summer by Charles C. Bowers, Jr., Minor Clark, superintendent of Fisheries of the Division of Game and Fish, announced this week. Bowers, who was graduated in Wildlife Management, specializing in Fisheries Biology, will check the fish population of Kentucky Lake, determine fertilization and improvement methods in Carpenter's Lake at Owensboro, have charge of all farm pond work in the two districts and assist in pollution control in the area. Bowers has already entered upon his new duties.

A deer, trapped from the Kentucky Woodlands Refuge and tagged and released on the Three Forks Refuge in Metcalfe county this spring, was found dead last week by Division, Pittman-Robertson Project Leader Jim Moynahan. Moynahan reported that the doe had been dead for several days and the tag remove from its ear. Cause of death could not be determined, but it is believed the deer was either shot or was the victim of a pack of dogs.

Pike Sheriff Expects 'Something To Happen Soon' In Rape Killing

Pikeville, Ky., May 10 — Two months have passed and the alleged slayer of 19-year-old Mrs. Lois Collins is still at large, but Sheriff D. C. Moore said hopefully today, "Maybe something will happen soon."

The Sheriff announced that the work of mailing out 10,000 photographs of the man charged with the slaying, navy veteran Elaine Edgar Jones, accompanied by circular letters, has just been completed.

Pike countians, outraged by the brutal killing, volunteered their services to help in the mailing job, and the letters and photographs have gone out to every sheriff and police department in the nation.

Moore said that 25 men and women aided in the task one night, and deputy sheriffs and others kept at work continually until the last letter was mailed.

Since then, said Moore, we've had several inquiries for more information.

Rewards posted for the arrest of the killer total $1,115.

Mrs. Collins, wife of Hatler Collins, of Virgie, was raped and slain at her home March 11.

Detective Arch Thompson, of the State Police Department, said that Jones, who had posed as a census taker, disappeared following the murder, and later was identified as the man who hitch-hiked to Pikeville and disposed of the woman's ring, wedding band, and a watch for $17.

Mrs. Collins' body was discovered by her husband when he returned from work about two hours after the fatal assault.

Jones was tracked from Pikeville to Williamson, Matewan, Red Jacket, and Bluefield, W. Va., where his trail disappeared.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PROTEST TRAIN DISCONTINUANCE

Editor, The Times:

The following letter has been mailed Frank L. McCarthy, chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, as a protest from the Town of Martin Board of Trustees to proposed discontinuance of two Big Sandy division passenger trains:

"It is our understanding that the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company has filed with the Commission application to discontinue trains No. 37 and No. 38 operating between Ashland and Elkhorn City on the Big Sandy division.

"It is hard for the people of the town of Martin to believe that the C. & O. Railway Company would want to deprive the people of the Big Sandy valley and Beaver Creeks services that they are justly entitled to. While it may be true that these trains are operated at a loss, the revenues derived from coal shipments over the Big Sandy Division would be more than ample to absorb the loss on operating these two trains, and still allow a large operating margin of profit. The Town of Martin is located five miles from the Beaver Creek sub-division junction which connects with the Big Sandy Division trains and/or lines and a good many of our citizens use the facilities afforded by the C. & O. Railway Company which has been at present inadequate.

"The discontinuance of these two trains would prove detrimental to the people of the Big Sandy valley as well as Beaver Creeks and retard the delivery of mail and express.

"We feel that the application for discontinuance of Trains No. 37 and 38 is unwarranted and unjustly requested by the railway company. We trust that the Railroad Commission will act unfavorably upon their application and require the railroad company to provide better service by equipping all trains on the Big Sandy with more comfortable cars in which to travel and diner service on all passenger trains.

"LAWRENCE KEATHLEY, Chm. Board of Trustees."

ARRIVES HOME

Mrs. B. F. Combs arrived Sunday after spending the winter in Florida. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Combs from Lexington, where she was the guest of her son, Dr. Fletcher Combs, and family for 10 days.

To My Friends and Relatives in Floyd County:

When I recently announced my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for County Clerk, I felt that my physical condition would be such that I would be able to prosecute the campaign and, if elected, to render you all good service. It was not all personal ambition which prompted me to make that announcement; I have always been, and always shall be, interested in Floyd county.

Since the time to which I refer, however, my health has become such that I now realize I cannot do justice to myself, my relatives and my friends in the coming election campaign. For several weeks now I have been at the home of my sister, here in Cove, Ohio, trying to regain my strength, and during this time I have reluctantly come to the decision I now publicly announce.

As I withdraw from the race for County Clerk I am mindful of you all—of all of you who have been kind to me over the years and of the many I have tried to help and befriend. At the same time, I wish to stress the fact that I have no ill feeling against any of those who also are candidates for the same office I would be seeking, were I able to make the race.

This friendliness for all these gentlemen, however, does not prevent me from speaking my mind, as I have always been inclined to do, as to the fitness of men for office. And so, with due regard to all others concerned, I wish to point out one candidate in whom I have the fullest confidence.

In Floyd county there are hundreds of persons who know this man, ROMEYN C. DYER, and if there is one among you who can truthfully say that he is not honest, frank and above-board in every respect, I will promptly state that he is unworthy of your confidence and mine. But I know there is no such word to be spoken of him, and so I voluntarily ask my relatives and friends to get behind him and elect him to this office.

God knows, Floyd county needs men who not only are honest but who also have the courage to make their honesty known. You older fellows know the importance of such men in the courthouse. You youngsters should begin thinking about it.

ROMEYN C. DYER IS ENERGETIC, FRIENDLY, ALWAYS ACCOMMODATING, AND READY TO HELP OTHERS EVEN TO HIS OWN DISADVANTAGE. HE WILL MAKE YOU THE BEST CLERK YOU EVER HAD. ELECT HIM AND SEE!

His uncle, the late "Fat" Dan Prater, and all his folks have always been for me, and now I appeal to my people to get behind him and put him over.

I do not mean by this letter to infer that I never expect to return to Floyd county. I do hope to be with you all again, and that is another reason why I take this interest in what you do at the coming election.

Sincerely,
HENRY STEPHENS, JR.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

Veterans were reminded this week that the Veterans Administration can not pay for out-patient medical treatment by private physicians unless the injury or illness is service-connected and then only if prior authorization is obtained from VA.

Pointing out that many veterans are seeking such care without proper authorization in the mistaken belief that VA will pay the bill, Veterans Administration advises veterans either to contact VA personally or to have their doctors get permission from the chief medical officer of the appropriate VA regional office before beginning treatment.

Application for authorization should include the veteran's claim number and the nature of the disability for which treatment is needed.

In cases of emergency treatment for service-connected disabilities, prior authorization is not required, but the treatment must be reported to VA within 15 days to assure payment by the agency.

Latest trends in job opportunities for young people, of particular interest to veterans now in training, have been summarized in a handbook prepared for the Veterans Administration by the U.S. Department of Labor. Some of the more popular jobs—such as airplane pilot, radio announcer, FBI agent, personnel worker and Diesel mechanic—will be relatively hard to find during the next several years.

On the other hand, according to the handbook, the outlook will be brighter for such occupations as physician, teacher, librarian, automobile mechanic and foundry worker.

These handbooks have been issued to Veterans Administration advancement and guidance officers to be used as an aid in counseling disabled veterans planning to take courses of education and training.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS . . . Q. My brother plans to go to school this summer for the first time under the G.I. Bill. I am already attending a school under the same bill. I wish to attend summer school with my brother. Do we have to make application in advance? A. Yes. Your brother should apply at once for a VA certificate of eligibility. And if you intend to take the summer term at a different school than the one you are now attending, you should apply as soon as possible for a supplemental certificate of eligibility.

GRANT SITES FOR JUNIORS AND SCOUTS

Both the Junior Conservation Department, Division of Game and Fish, and the Boy Scouts of Lonesome Pine Council have been allotted acreage in the Dewey reservoir area for camp sites, it was learned here this week.

The junior conservationists have been granted a lease on approximately 200 acres of land across Johns Creek from the point where the Aukier road connects with the road running parallel with the stream, a short distance above the dam.

At Goble Branch, a short distance farther upstream, the Boy Scouts will have a permanent camp site on approximately 100 acres on a spit of land which will be an island only in time of high water.

The conservation club camp will probably serve both the Seventh and Eighth district junior conservation clubs, beginning next year, it was said here. The Boy Scout camp is expected to supplant Camp Arrowhead, Pike county, as Lonesome Pine Council camping headquarters, but will probably not be ready till 1951.

Work is expected to be started this summer on the conservation camp, reading it for use next year. It is planned, E. R. Burke, district conservation officer, said, to conduct a camp, annually, in groups of approximately 75 spending a week there.

Facilities at the conservation camp will include two recreation fields, a bathing beach and three permanent structures—a mess hall, kitchen and recreation hall. Boys will sleep in tents.

A large number of individuals have applied for cabin sites along the shores of the lake to be formed by the dam at Dewey, but the U.S. Corps of Engineers has stated that no private leases will be issued until church, civic and sportsmen's groups are first accommodated.

Two Floyd Citizens Nabbed by Police

Two Floyd countians were arrested Wednesday night and charged with illegally transporting beer in dry territory, officers here said today (Thursday). State police made both arrests.

A man listed on state police records as John Branham, Martin, was reported to have drawn a fine of $100 in a Knott Magistrate's court after he had been captured while transporting 100 cases of beer, William Moore, of McDowell, was given a 30-day jail sentence by Magistrate Dewey Roberts after police confiscated two cases of whiskey which was one case too many beyond the legal limit.

In Prestonsburg last week, Russell Viars was arrested by Chief of Police Bill Blackburn and charged with possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Otherwise, all was quiet on Floyd county's "rum row."

Safety Measures Cited For Two County Mines By U.S. Mine Bureau

Commendation for recent improvements in one re-inspection report and recommendation of added safety measures to two Floyd county mines was the consensus of two releases by the U.S. Bureau of Mines this week.

More than a dozen recent safety betterments and other praiseworthy features at the Princess No. 2 mine of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company are commended in a re-inspection report. The report also proposes further precautions. The mine employed 178 men and produced 1,250 tons of coal a day when Inspector John S. Eakins examined it in March.

At the Princess Elkhorn No. 2 mine near David, ventilation conformed with the Federal Mine Safety Code, the inspector reported. Advising universal compliance with the company's systematic timbering method, he said safety posts should always be set close to the faces before other operations are begun and as needed thereafter.

Inspector Eakins approved rock-dusting to within 40 feet of the faces, but he said excessive dust during cutting and loading should be effectively allayed by using water or other means. He endorsed using permissible multiple-shot blasting units to fire the permissible explosives in the mechanical section, and safer underground storage of blasting materials, but he proposed immediately firing all blast holes charged on shift, and always keeping the electric detonator leg wires shunted or twisted together until ready to connect to the firing cable.

Other recommendations included properly blocking standing cars, frame-grounding the drills and mining machines, completion or providing overload protection for electric equipment, and universal compliance with the company's rule banning smoking. Recent improvements included supporting the power and light wires on insulators, adequately guarding the trolley wires and keeping them clear of combustible materials, and properly insulating the trailing cable splices.

Closer adherence to recognized blasting and ventilation standards is recommended for the Liberty Mining Company's No. 14 mine in a federal coal mine inspection report which also cites several praiseworthy safety precautions. Near Maytown, the mine employed eight men and produced about 60 tons of coal daily when examined in March for the first time by Inspector George L. Mears.

All coal was blasted with black powder and blast holes were being charged during the working shift, reported Inspector Mears, who recommended that all blasting be done with permissible explosives or permissible blasting devices—stored, transported and used in accordance with the Federal Mine Safety Code.

The guest speaker, Max Burns, addressed the assemblage on "The Value of Scouts."

Alleged Magoffin "Moonshiners" Jailed Here, Pikeville Bound

Two Magoffin county men, Virgil Hanshaw and Harder E. Farmer, records show, were short-term guests in the county jail here today, booked for safekeeping.

They were arrested, officers said, by Revenue Officer Wince Trimble who caught them in the act of making a "run" at a still in a coal bank located near the top of the hill at the head of Quicksand in Magoffin county. Trimble destroyed the still.

Pike county men claimed the men this afternoon.

New state requirements provide that $1.25 per capita be spent on school library supplies in all high schools of the state and 40c per capita in all elementary schools.

County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall said this week that only Prestonsburg and Maytown high schools now have librarians meeting new requirements but that schools will be considered in compliance with the law if their librarians are working toward the required number of hours.

Called in by Dr. Ligon to assist in evaluating the high school here were Misses Rosser and Sneed, of the University of Kentucky, Monroe Wicker, former superintendent of schools here and now director of the Morehead State College training school, Matt Sparkman, superintendent of Paintsville schools, William Cheek, Lawrence county school superintendent, Litton Singleton, principal of Hindman high school, and Mrs. Carl Hatcher, principal of Pikeville Academy.

found one Great Friend, there in the nation's capital.

While others far younger, more agile, and physically stronger shied from being placed on the Spot, there came an old man into the picture.

Day before the hearing on canalization was held, Kentucky's beloved A. O. Stanley, whom I remember as one of the last of the state's great orators but who is just a name as a former United States Senator and Governor of Kentucky to you, came into the picture.

During the meeting held before the hearing, it was suggested that Senator Stanley should appear as a witness for canalization. Now past 80, the old warrior is partially deaf. He made no reply to the suggestion—until a friend whispered into his ear what had been said.

Then to tired, old feet rose the veteran of a lifetime of political battles. "Don't let it appear," he said in tones reminiscent of those days when he held audiences, the length of the Big Sandy and the Commonwealth, spellbound, "that I had to be asked to appear as a witness for Big Sandy. I want to go as a volunteer. Big Sandy is my country. I went into it as a young man, when you rode a horse or buggy to get through the mud, and I was there last when I was far along in years. And never did the Big Sandy fail me. When I was a candidate and at home waited for the returns, I worried about some parts of the state. But never about Big Sandy. It stayed tied to me like a blind mule to a padded post. I volunteer!"

And next day, when younger friends of these 150 men or your home valley were scarce or shrank from strong pressure, the Old Friend was there for the hearing. He was found, out in the corridor, searching for the committee room. He came into the room, slowly, on the arm of a friend. But he was there, son, figuratively with bells on.

And did he tell 'em! This man who is not a native of the Big Sandy, and who is old and tired—he told them as only Stanley, the old friend, can tell 'em.

Young men do not take advice, I know, but again I offer you advice, son:

Chase the will-o'-the-wisp of fame, hunt if you must the rainbow's end. But never, never take off after new friends and forget the old.

Delivering Men, Supplies Problem In Trackless Mine, Says Tarleton

G. O. Tarleton, vice-president, Consolidation Coal Company, Jenkins, told coal mining men attending the 1949 Coal Convention and Exposition of the American Mining Congress in Cleveland this week that with the introduction of trackless mining, while easing the task of coal haulage, there has been a tremendous increase in the problem of delivering men and supplies to the working face.

He said another factor aggravating the problem of delivering supplies is thin coal. He pointed out:

"Unit loads are reduced materially and difficulties of handling are increased even more so. Frequently, although not always, thin coal is the reason for using conveyors for the secondary, and possibly the entire mine line of haulage, to avoid breaking bottom of top. From this it is easy to see how supply delivery expenses can skyrocket from the days of hand loading, when the supplies a loader needed were placed in the mine car which was delivered to his place and he unloaded the material."

As to handling supplies in thin seams of coal, Tarleton cited the following experience:

"In the spring of 1948, with the opening of the Hill Mine in a split of the No. 3 Elkhorn seam, the original plans called for supplying by means of tractor and trailers. Another series of contour openings, each set of entries had belt conveyor haulage to an outside track. Duckbill-equipped shaker conveyors are used at the face. Averaging 32" in height, the top turned out worse than expected, requiring cross-barring on 3-ft. centers and header spans in the back entries had to be limited to six feet. This was both too low and too narrow for existing equipment, making it necessary to deliver all timber and other supplies over the belt.

"At this time, J. H. Fletcher & Company delivered a working model of the Trike, which they had designed and built at the suggestion of our company. This was designed for a supervisors' inspection car for low coal. Only 22-in. high, it was 36-in. wide and nine feet long. On rubber tires, it has two drive wheels in front, steers through a single wheel at the rear and can turn in its own length. With contractor control, it has one speed in either direction. Two 162-amp., 20-volt batteries supply power to a 1½-h.p. permissible electric motor.

"The ability of this little Trike to pull through mud and over rough ground and to negotiate low and closely timbered places, encouraged the management of the mine to test it further by designing a trailer for it. This was made from an old shaker pan and a pair of rubber-tired wheels and axle from a rock-dusting machine. By using this trailer to deliver headers, pans, cradles, belt extension parts and other sectional supplies, all supplying by belt has been eliminated. A further advantage, its low height enables the Trike to pull its load under the pan lines at the drives or to cross over the panlines closer to the face by means of a small ramp and filler block. This permits supplying to the swivels instead of to the end of the belt, releasing labor from dragging heavy material for coal production.

"A check of work done over 14 shifts showed an average of 3,000 pounds hauled 1,500 feet per shift with only a 40 per cent drop in the rated capacity of the battery. An average of 6.3 trips were made per shift, with close to 500 pounds pay load per trip. With the new trailers now being manufactured for this purpose, pay loads of 1,000 pounds per trip look entirely reasonable, under normal conditions, without dangerously discharging the battery."

He told the convention that:

"With proper conditions of height, top, bottom and grades any new mine, not tracked to the working face, might well be laid out to provide a supply road parallel to the haulway with tractor-trailer supply in mind, regardless of whether main line haulage is all belt, all rail or a combination of both. Belt lines could be crossed by a ramp and removable bridge, or underpass, whichever is easier. Tracks could be crossed by grade crossings. This is now being done at our Clover Splint and Van Lear mines.

"Trailers can be designed to fit mine conditions and supplies to be handled. In addition to the conventional supply trailer, special purpose trailers are now available—the man-trip trailer, powder trailer, greasing trailer, trailer-mounted fire-fighting equipment, water boxes for balling or dust-laying—in fact anything that previously ran on rails."

The commission also heard testimony in the C. & O.'s proposal to end its daily passenger service between Shelby, Pike county, and Jenkins, Letcher county. This train makes a connection for Pikeville at Shelby.

Lack of passengers makes this run extremely unprofitable, the railroad said.

John Young Brown, Louisville, attorney representing Jenkins, a coal city of 10,000 population, said the service consists of one car—half baggage, half passenger. The service is so bad it discourages people from using the train, he said.

Two witnesses, L. H. Winchell, mayor of Jenkins, and Lester Abel, city commissioner, criticized the train and said Jenkins needed improved service. They said Jenkins was engaged in promoting itself and that ending rail passenger service would hurt the city.

G. L. Johnson, Jenkins, assistant trainmaster for the C. & O. on the Shelby-Jenkins run, said the car had clean windows which could be raised, was cleaner than buses, had five oil lights, was steam-heated, and had screened ventilation overhead. This contradicted testimony by Winchell.

The commission took no action on the ground that the Shelby-Jenkins proposal is tied in with the Ashland-Elkhorn City discontinuance.

Attending the Frankfort hearing from Floyd county were State Senator Doug Hays, Representative Henry C. Hale and W. G. Biggers.

Public Service Group Intends To Encourage Electrical Expansion

The Kentucky Public Service Commission intends to give encouragement to the expansion of electric facilities in sections of Kentucky not now served, whether the source be private or public, Chairman Robert M. Coleman announced in Frankfort this week.

"The record will show that our Commission has granted every request during this administration for expansion of facilities," said Coleman.

Governor Earle C. Clements echoed the assurance of Coleman and declared that the fact that 40 per cent of Kentucky's farm homes are without electricity constituted a "challenge" to distributors of power, from whatever source derived, and added:

"The person who is without electric service is not interested in whether the power comes from the REA or from private utilities but he is vitally interested in obtaining power so he can turn on lights in his own home."

"We intend to work cooperatively toward that end and assist both groups in every possible way."

MEADE HIGH TRIPS TITLE TEAM, 10-1

Grrett, Meade, Auxier And Martin Play Today; Final Set for Friday

Tasting defeat in high school district tournament baseball for the first time, the Prestonsburg academic nine, Kentucky's defending prep state champion, was dethroned, 10-1, by Meade Memorial's Red Devils in the opening round of the 1943 high school district tournament at Porter Field here yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon.

Every man but the centerfielder, Burton, of the winning nine scored while Quentin Allen, Eagle centerfielder, got Prestonsburg's lone tally after being hit by a pitched ball in the fourth inning.

Kerns twirled his looping curves in convincing style for the Red Devils as he delivered blank tickets to nine Prestonsburg batters. Harmon started for the losers but was relieved in the second by "Blue" Childers.

The loss also marked, for the first time in five years, what will be the absence of a Prestonsburg team in the state tournament at Louisville and the end of a four-year reign as champions of a region covering an Eastern Kentucky area extending beyond Ashland, Vanceburg and Morehead.

Allen was this year's only returning starter from an outfit that had won 49 games against five losses during the reign. Three of the losses occurred in state tournaments and one was a 1 to 0 setback by Ft. Knox in 14 innings in 1946.

The second session of the tourney begins at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Martin meeting Auxier and followed by Meade Memorial and Garrett's Black Devils vying at 3:30 p.m.

The final is set for 3:30 p.m., Friday. Two teams composed of returning lettermen, Meade Memorial and Martin, are favored by observers to meet in the final to settle a double issue of title hopes and for which is the best in two out of three. The Red Devils beat Martin, 7-6, at Meade early this season and Martin retaliated last week by thumping the Johnson county team, 14-4, at Martin.

Winner of the meet here will advance to the regional tournament at Grayson, May 26-27, to try for the regional title and the right to enter the state finals at Louisville, June 2-3.

BURKE NAMED PREP CHAMP

In County High School Bait Casting Contests, Scoring 94 Out of 100

Final judging of the Floyd county high school bait casting contests sponsored by the Floyd County Fish and Game Club named Edmund Burke, 16, Prestonsburg sophomore, as the county's best in a field of 30 contestants from nine school Junior Conservation Clubs.

The young man, who proved himself adept with a rod-and-reel flick of the wrist by hitting 94 out of 100 targets, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg.

The series of contests were conducted school by school on various days of the past two weeks as the weather permitted, with only paid club members eligible to compete. Bernard Baldrige, Floyd county conservation officer, who was in charge of the contests, said that competition was divided into two classes—junior and senior divisions. Those up to 12 years of age and over were designated as senior competitors.

Each school champion was awarded a tackle box and 50 yards of nylon line.

Paul Long, Wayland high champ, took second honors by scoring 89. Third place was shared by Leman Dingus, Martin's best, and Don Workman, Prestonsburg, tallying 84 each, with Tommy Flannery, Maytown champion, getting the fourth highest mark at 83.

Only Prestonsburg held a junior division meet. In this class, Stuart Stephens took top honors with a

Wheelwright, Wayland, Elkhorn City Win League Openers Sunday

Excellent crowds at Weeksbury, Drift and Pikeville witnessed, last Sunday, the official opening of the recently-formed six-team Elkhorn Baseball League as Wheelwright downed Drift, 9-6, Wayland pasted Pikeville, 8-6, and Elkhorn City wrapped up Weeksbury, 4-1.

Taking their first scheduled bows under the lights, the Elkhorn entries go into return match action tonight (Thursday) with Pikeville at Wayland in a transfer game, Drift at Wheelwright and Weeksbury at Elkhorn City.

The openers, providing the league's first official standings, were close, hard-played affairs that provided fans with every element of fast diamond activity.

Elkhorn City 4, Weeksbury 1.

At Weeksbury, the host team led the visiting Elkhorn City nine 1 to 0 up to the eighth inning with two singles by Jimmy Vance, Elkhorn City manager, summing up his team's pay-off efforts in hits.

The boys from the "Breaks of the Sandy" tied the score in the eighth when Chaffins doubled, went to third on an infield out and scored on a squeeze play. The ninth inning saw the Elkhorn City lads continue their latter-stages rally. Huffman tripled, France doubled and the three surplus runs were scored as the Weeksbury infield fell apart with two errors. The final score read 4-1.

Garcia was the winning pitcher, while "Lefty" Adams, allowing only five hits, turned in a creditable mound performance for Weeksbury.

Wheelwright 9, Drift 6.

Aided by a three-base overthrow of a dropped third strike by Drift catcher Astor Meade in the third inning, Wheelwright defeated Drift Sunday in their opening game of the Elkhorn Baseball League, 9-6.

The game was a free-hitting affair with Wheelwright getting 14 blows and Drift 11. Wheelwright's winning margin came in the third inning uprising in which they scored five runs—all unearned.

Dennis was the winning hurler, although he received excellent relief from big Carl Wohlford who allowed Drift only two hits in the last four and one-third innings. Buck Stumbo was charged with the loss for Drift. Home runs in the contest were hit by Alley and Meade of Drift. Blackburn, Drift center fielder, running at top speed made a spectacular leaping catch of Litafk's hard-hit ball to deep left of center.

Wayland 8, Pikeville 6.

A long-hit home run by Jack Branham, Wayland leftfielder, in the eighth inning with three men on base and only one out provided the victory punch as his team rallied to beat Pikeville, 8-6, at Pikeville Sunday.

Going into the eighth, Pikeville was leading the Floyd county boys, 5 to 4. Pikeville got their sixth and final run in the ninth inning.

Willard Ratliff pitched four and James Potter, the winning pitcher hurled five innings for Wayland. Clayton, the losing pitcher for Pikeville, went almost the full route before being relieved by Stewart in the ninth.

The game, officially scheduled at Wayland, was transferred to Pikeville because of wet grounds.

of the ninth to surge ahead. Butcher, Paintsville, got two hits while Gearheart collected a homer for Price.

'Set' Branham Chosen for Tryouts For Kentucky Hi School All-Stars

"Set" Branham, Prestonsburg's and Floyd county's first All-State and All-Southern high school football player, is bidding to add a basketball laurel to his crown of honors without having so much as participated in a high school basketball game during the past season.

Branham, among 21 Kentucky high school seniors which include Ramsey, Madisonville, Parrott, Bardtown, Riddle, Madisonville, Kimmer, Manual, White, Scottsville, Fights, Henderson, and others, concluded a practice session this weekend in preparation for the Kentucky All-Stars vs. Indiana All-Stars annual benefit tilt slated at Indianapolis June 17.

One of the nation's top-ranking college basketball coaches, Ed Diddle, Western Kentucky tutor, is schooling the state's best of senior prepsters for the eighth year. He is being assisted by Ted Hornback of the Hilltopper staff.

The games, with Kentucky winning one of the seven in the series thus far, is sponsored by The Indianapolis Star for the benefit of the blind. The teams, composed of 1949 graduates, of the two states, are chosen by the votes of sports writers and radio broadcasters in Indiana and by Diddle himself in Kentucky.

Additional appearances are being considered this year for the high school luminaries at Bowling Green, Ky., and at Middletown, Ohio, following the Hoosier exhibition.

Only one other Floyd county basketball star, Ed DeCoursey, shining light of Wayland's 1947 state tournament team, has been chosen from the Big Sandy region for the cage honors.

The Prestonsburg athlete, an outstanding performer in three sports, is the only high school football player to be accorded All-State and All-Southern gridiron recognition in a year which saw him in only three games. This year's performance, plus a brilliant record last year, gained the approval of leading sports writers in Kentucky and the South.

His high school record as a basketball player, in addition to his ability demonstrated this year in tryouts for the honor squad, is credited with influencing his selection by the wily Western mentor.

Last year, Branham was the moving force that led the Prestonsburg football team to the Big Sandy conference championship and the Southeastern Kentucky football crown over Pineville in the Flood Bowl post-season game. Playing the center position, he was in the vanguard of his 1948 basketball team's march to the district title, and as a catcher he helped his baseball buddies to the Kentucky high school championship.

Major colleges, including the University of Kentucky, Western, Georgia Tech, University of Maryland, University of Miami, Fla., and others have bid for Branham's services. The Prestonsburg athlete has not definitely decided where he will go.

MAYO PLACES FIRST

Henry Lewis Mayo took first place honors in broad jumping in a track meet between Eastern and Berea at Richmond last Wednesday with a leap of 20'4". Eastern won the meet.

PIKEVILLE 6, WAYLAND 6

The spring football practice squads of Pikeville and Wayland high schools tangled Monday night at Wayland and wound up the regulation playing period on even terms, 6-6.

The Wayland Wasps stung the scoreboard for the first tally of the game in the first quarter when Tramble Evans scampered to a touchdown for six points. The Panthers gained their score in the third period as Huffman hit pay dirt.

'Fabulous Five' Goes Professional As Team They Will Own Outright

Operating on what might be termed as a "pay-as-you-play" basis, five members of the University of Kentucky basketball squads will continue to play together as a newly-formed Indianapolis National Basketball League team which they will eventually own, the league's officials have announced.

The former Wildcats, Alex Groza, Cliff Barker, Ralph Beard, Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones and Joe Holland, were outstanding performers on Kentucky's quintets that won two National Collegiate Athletic Association titles and members of the Olympic champion basketball team which represented the United States at London, England.

Billed as the Olympians, the hardwood stars recently appeared on a barnstorming tour of Kentucky and West Virginia, touching Pikeville, Ashland, Huntington and other points where they played to packed houses. Fairce Woods, Kentucky Wesleyan's mighty mite from Garrett and Lackey, and Bill Sturgill, former UK basketball player from Prestonsburg, performed with the Olympians in the early stages of the tour.

Jones, who was a star end on the Wildcat football team and a star baseball pitcher, is reputedly ignoring professional offers in these two sports by nodding his decision in favor of the basketball venture. He said, "We figure as long as we stick together we'll be playing good basketball," which, in the parlance of business heads, means good gate receipts.

Formation of the team with former UK stars is recognized as a move by the NBL in a drive to outmaneuver the rival Basketball Association of America.

"FRESH FRUIT" FLAVOR WINS ACCLAIM FOR ORANGE-CRUSH

Taste-Teasers

My-o-my... It's really amazing how many delicious variations you can get with bottled Orange-CRUSH! For example, children love "Orange-Sicles" made by freezing Orange-CRUSH in ice trays, with wooden skewer in each. Frozen Orange-CRUSH cubes are wonderful, too, as the "ice" in lemonade or grape juice. I use Orange-CRUSH for basting meats—as a sauce flavoring—with ices, ice cream or milk. And here are three of my Orange-CRUSH "guest specials":

ORANGE FROSTY. Serve chilled Orange-CRUSH in a frosty glass topped with a sprig of mint. Sheer taste enjoyment with a chicken sandwich or deviled ham sandwich! A snack deluxe for family or guests.

ORANGE FLIP. Fill tall beverage glass one-fourth full of chilled Orange-CRUSH. Add one tablespoon Vanilla Ice Cream. Stir into Orange-CRUSH until smooth. Fill glass with Orange-CRUSH, stir well and serve. Delicious, extra-cooling flavor blend!

ORANGE SHAKE. Fill parfait glass one-fourth full of Orange-CRUSH. Into this stir one tablespoon orange sherbet or raspberry sherbet. Stir until smooth. Fill glass with Orange-CRUSH. Stir well. When it foams it's ready to enjoy. And, umm-mm... serve with cookies or plain cake!

Customers Choose Favorite Bottled Orange Drink in "Blind" Taste Test

Orange-CRUSH Enjoyed By Whole Families

"Fresh Fruit Flavor"
Marjorie J., mother, when informed of her choice in "blind" taste test, volunteered: "What I like about Orange-CRUSH is its 'fresh fruit' flavor. I have enjoyed Orange-CRUSH for years, but had not realized that its pleasing, distinctive 'fruity' taste is so distinguishable when compared with other carbonated orange drinks."

"Orange Sparkle Pleases"

Richard J., father: "I made my choice because I found the orange flavor 'sparkle' of this Orange-CRUSH drink particularly pleasing. The makers of Orange-CRUSH have certainly found the formula of tingling taste perfection in a bottled orange drink. There'll be more of it at our house."

"Natural Tasting"

Willie J., son: "Orange-CRUSH is so natural tasting—full of the fruity fresh-orange flavor that's tops with me! Does it ever taste good when it's nice and cold—and its sparkly tingle kind of 'hugs your tongue'—and a glassful is gone far too soon! Yes sir, I could go for a bottle of cooling, natural tasting Orange-CRUSH any time."

"Freshlike Flavor"

Louise J., daughter: "It's the 'fresh-like' orange flavor, with just enough cooling tingly taste, that I like about Orange-CRUSH. At picnics and places I've had a lot of bottled orange drinks, but none of 'em had the rich flavor like you smell when you open a sack of big, ripe oranges—and that's what I think of when I taste Orange-CRUSH."

Men, Women, Children Like Orange-CRUSH Best

In an unusual taste test, Orange-CRUSH, famous "fresh fruit" flavored orange drink, proved again why it has been a favorite bottled refreshment for more than 33 years. All comers—men, women and children—were asked to taste several carbonated orange drinks. One was Orange-CRUSH. All testers were served "blind," in cups, none knowing names of orange drinks tasted. An impartial scorer asked, "which drink do you prefer?—which of these do you say has the finest 'fresh fruit' flavor?"

"DIFFERENT" TASTE WINS PREFERENCE

Score marks lengthened in the "Orange-CRUSH" list as more and more said, "This for me." When asked reasons for this preference, the real story of Orange-CRUSH leadership was told: "Fresh fruit" flavor—just enough "sparkle"—more "cooling"—no foreign "after-taste"—more "satisfying"—"just like it better" tastes like "more!"

Here was human, present-day confirmation of the reasons why Orange-CRUSH is the best-known bottled, carbonated orange drink—sold in twenty countries throughout the world. Proof, once more, of the qualities that made Orange-CRUSH the official orange drink of the New York World's Fair, Chicago World's Fair and other great fairs. You, too, can taste the "difference" that has made Orange-CRUSH a world favorite carbonated orange drink for years. Delicious, "fresh fruit" flavor, bottled Orange-CRUSH is sold in grocery stores and fountains all over America. You'll find it in your block, or "just around the corner." Try some today.

"JUST RIGHT" IN TASTE TEST

Drink "A"
TOO STRONG
Heavy, sweet flavor—too much sweetening gave Drink "A" a syrupy-like taste—lacked refreshing lightness...

Drink "B"
TOO WEAK
...thin but sharp flavor of Drink "B" lacked naturalness—no zest or tang—no fully rounded fruit quality...

Orange-CRUSH
"PERFECT"
...but Orange-CRUSH! Ah! That "fresh fruit" flavor, that natural color, cooling, delicious, refreshing!

TE TESTING WAS FUN... "Really fun," said the women, men, girls and boys who recently took carbonated orange drink "blind" taste test. Some voted for this drink, some for that, not knowing the names of any at the time. But when all returns were chalked up, Orange-CRUSH with its distinctive "fresh fruit" flavor, natural color and just-right carbonation was away in the lead.

Scientists reveal reasons why... "Kringly" Brown Bottle Protects "Fresh Fruit" Flavor

Many people ask why Orange-CRUSH is always sold in special "kringly" brown bottles. The reasons are good ones. Orange-CRUSH technicians give the answers:

1. The brown, corrugated glass structure of the Orange-CRUSH bottle resists sunlight. This is most important because sunlight is especially harmful to orange juice, causing it to deteriorate quickly. By preventing these damaging rays from reaching the juice after it has been bottled, the familiar "kringly" brown bottle carefully guards Orange-CRUSH until you open it and taste all of its delicate, sweet, natural fruit flavor.
2. The distinctive "kringly" brown bottle identifies Orange-CRUSH so the public can easily and quickly recognize it.
3. Wherever you find Orange-CRUSH, all over the world, it is always bottled the same way—in the familiar "kringly" brown bottle. There is never a variation to confuse you.
4. The Orange-CRUSH "kringly" brown bottle feels comfortable in the hand—a sure grip when pouring.

With these facts in mind, look always for the distinctively-shaped, "kringly" brown bottle that invariably identifies the genuine Orange-CRUSH, that protects its delicate "fresh fruit" flavor and natural color; that fits the hand so well. Be foresighted, be thrifty... buy delicious Orange-CRUSH by the case, with confidence that you get a bigger money's worth, and that its goodness is always protected by the Orange-CRUSH "kringly" brown bottle. Keep its picture in your mind.

Bit of Home, Abroad

"Good Neighbors"

ENJOY ORANGE-CRUSH IN RIO. Orange-CRUSH is sold in twenty countries throughout the world. So on a "good neighbor" jaunt... for example, to Rio de Janeiro in Brazil... you'd find Orange-CRUSH awaiting your pleasure. A "little bit of home" to cheer and refresh you with its familiar bottled goodness, it's sparkling, zesty, fresh-fruit flavor!

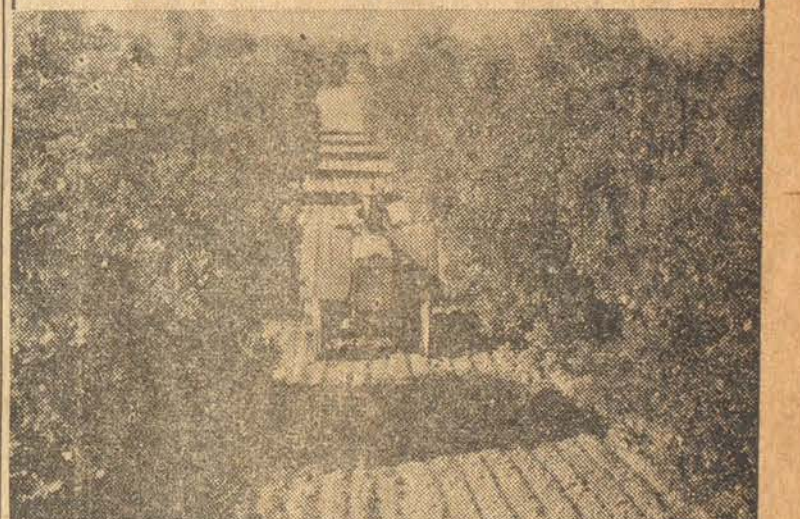

Juice of tree-ripened Valencia Oranges, filtered carbonated water... flavor of orange peel, citric acid from lemon juice, sugar syrup... that's Orange-CRUSH!

TEEN-AGE "CRUSH"

YOUNG MODERNS HAVE "CRUSH"... Yes, it's after-school or holiday Orange-CRUSH time for today's teen-agers who know what tastes good... in the best of company... when having the best of times. Umm-mm... delicious, cooling, "fresh fruit" flavored Orange-CRUSH... at the fountain of youth!

Only Tree-Ripened Valencia Oranges Used

FROM SUNNY GROVES come the luscious Valencia oranges that are used in preparing Orange-CRUSH. Only the choicest oranges are selected, picked at the very peak of their maturity. These select oranges are rushed to the plant where they undergo a special processing developed over many years by Orange-CRUSH technicians. In this way, every bit of flavor and goodness is saved for your enjoyment in a bottle of Orange-CRUSH.

SMART DEALER...

HE MAKES SHOPPING EASIER... because he knows families in growing number are buying Orange-CRUSH, in brown bottles, "by the case." So he keeps well stocked with cases of Orange-CRUSH, and helps shoppers remember to buy with a well-displayed reminder to "BUY IT BY THE CASE."

SMART SHOPPER...

YOU'LL BE HAPPY AT HOME... if you buy Orange-CRUSH by the case—and keep a few bottles always cool and handy in your refrigerator. Delicious, cooling refreshment between home tasks... for active, thirsty children... for "drop-ins" while you chat... for parties... for the unexpected, always!

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I agree with my opponent—Floyd county is paying its way out of debt.

But this is a job that was started longer than four years ago. And no one man can claim credit for the improvement in the county's financial condition.

I am now in my tenth year as Magistrate from District No. 3 of this county, and I have seen this debt reduced during the administrations of two County Judges. I, as a member of the fiscal court, have worked as faithfully as any official in this county, to see that debt cleared away as rapidly as possible.

These are the figures, to go back a few years:

On June 30, 1939, the county debt stood at $817,227.27. By June 30, 1944, my first five years in office, the debt was cut to $778,976.97. On June 30, last year—four years later—the debt was down to $574,881.56.

The county also has $90,000 worth of bonds which it holds to pay on this debt. It should be noted, however, that all of these bonds were purchased during the administration of Edward P. Hill as County Judge. In 1942, $50,000 worth of bonds were bought; in 1943, $30,000, and in 1944, $10,000, making a total of $90,000 the county has today.

Also in the bank, to be paid on this debt, is at this time exactly $138,262.60.

All this is good. Nobody is more proud of this record than I, but I do not claim credit for making this possible. In fact, the credit belongs to no one individual.

It is a policy necessary to the county's sound credit and good name, and if elected County Judge I will not depart from it.

As a member of the fiscal court I have not, in my desire to get things done for my district, ever forgotten that I am a Floyd county man and that all Floyd county deserves whatever I could do for it. So, as the opportunity arose for other parts of the county to benefit, I have voted for such help.

As a candidate for County Judge I have no promises of miracles to make to the people. I do not want to make such promises, knowing I cannot fulfill them, and then have to face the people later, knowing they know I made false promises.

I can promise you, however, with complete honesty, that as County Judge I will work hard for all of Floyd county and for all its citizens in every walk of life. I will attend to the business of being your Judge, with no private axes to grind, no old scores to settle.

As to the Fiscal Court and the conduct of the county's financial affairs, I promise that all sessions of the court will be held in the County Courtroom, with the doors open to every citizen, so that the people may hear and see for themselves how I and the county's four Magistrates talk and vote in the handling of their money and in disposing of their requests for improvements. This, as I see it, is an obligation on the part of our officials—to let the people themselves in on their own business.

My opponent and I have no personal quarrel, now or ever. I accept his statement that the race for County Judge should be settled on our own merits. If it should be decided otherwise, the people would make a bad decision, and I consider the people as a whole—laboring man, the farmer, the teacher and the professional man—bigger than any one candidate for office.

I am convinced I can and will make Floyd county a County Judge capable of serving all the people efficiently and faithfully, and, so convinced, I ask your support in the coming Democratic primary.

Your friend,

HENRY STUMBO

Martin Reduces Tax
Banning Street Shows;
Plans New City Bldg.

The town of Martin last week rented and lifted the heavy license tax which for almost 10 years has kept street carnivals out of the town and its environs.

The Board of Trustees reduced the $1000-a-day fee to $100. A carnival will soon move in.

At the same meeting the Board voted to sell the present city hall on Postoffice street and the lot it occupies. This move was taken in anticipation of a concrete block city building on the highway in the center of town. The present city hall is a frame structure.

Bill Martin, former Prestonsburg policeman, was employed at the meeting as Chief of Police W. M. Griffith's assistant. He will be on duty, nights.

Veterans Are Reminded
They May Apply Any Time
For Dental Treatment

Veterans of World War II who believe that dental disabilities were caused by military or naval service are reminded they may apply for treatment at any time through the Veterans Administration. All applications are judged on the basis of official service records and treatment will be authorized for any dental condition determined to be service-connected.

Conditions regarded as service-connected are those which developed during war service. These may be established by service records or by dental examinations dated prior to July 25, 1948, and made within one year after discharge. However, VA usually denies service-connected for teeth treated or extracted during the first sixty days of active duty on the presumption that such teeth would have become defective regardless of war service.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I have been asked by a few of the good citizens that I enter this race for Coroner of this county, and after due consideration I have decided to make the race and would like to give you a few reasons why I think you should nominate me this coming primary. For pretty soon, you good citizens will be going to the polls to select men to serve you for the next four years as your county officers.

1. I was born and raised in Floyd county by good, Christian parents and was taught to obey the laws of our state, which I have always tried to do.

2. I have never before asked for a public office and am not asking for too much now.

3. I think the good citizens of this county should choose men to serve them as officers who are sober and reliable citizens and men you could depend upon, should you ever call on them, to handle your affairs for you.

4. I think this office of Coroner should be considered very important to you, should misfortune strike in your home or with some of your loved ones, that an investigation would have to be made. I know you would want some one to come in your home to make that investigation who is sober-minded, capable of doing so and not full of strong drink.

5. I would like for the good people of this county to inquire about me and find out my record from people who know me as to these qualifications; as I am going to leave this matter up to the good people of this county who know me to decide.

6. I would like to say to the miners of this district that I spent twenty-three years in the coal mines and pretty well know a miner's life and have always tried to be a one hundred percent union man and as their friend I would like to ask them to give me their support.

7. I would like to say to them that they should consider this office of Coroner as a very important one to all the people of this county and not consider it a mere joke in selecting a man to fill it.

8. I would like to ask the people to nominate me and elect me this Fall and I will promise you one thing that I will make all investigations, according to law, and not the way some want them made.

9. If you will consider me as your man and nominee, I will promise one thing that I will not, if elected to this office, make a racket out of it in order to make a little money out of it like I have known it to have been done before.

I am running this race on my own free will, and have nothing to say about any of my friends who are opposing me in this race. I hope you can and will consider me just this once, and I am sure the vote you can give me you will not regret afterwards. You will find my name on the Democratic ballot this primary, August 6, and I think you will find I have tried to be a friend and neighbor to all.

Your friend,
J. R. PRATER,
Hueysville, Ky.

These prices feature "Extras" that aren't!

If you're price-conscious these days as you shop for new cars, you've probably made a big discovery.

It's important to find out what the price includes—particularly in the normal "spread" between list and delivered prices.

Take these Buick prices given here. All of them, as the panel tells you, cover such universally wanted accessories as radio and antenna, heater and defroster, windshield washers and built-in back-up lights.

These are individually itemized on your bill of sale. Not itemized, but still included in your Buick when you get it, are many things that classify as extra-cost items on many other cars.

For instance, Foamtex seat cushions are an extra value on Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS that cost you nothing extra. You get direction signals, rear wheel shields, a flexible steering wheel, an air cleaner, an oil filter, a clock—all included in the basic list price. On all ROADMASTERS, these prices even cover Dynaflow Drive as standard equipment, not an extra-cost item.

Included also, of course, are such Buick extra values as Fireball power, which you get nowhere else—all-coil springing, almost an exclusive—the widest rims in the industry—and that very special and desirable solid Buick feel.

So—check the "extras" when you price today's cars. Check the "deal" too, and make sure it's as fair and aboveboard as the Buick sales policy.

We're pretty sure what your conclusion will be when you see what stepped-up production is doing to deliveries. You'll decide "Buick's the buy!"—and get your order in.

It Can Happen Here

EVARTS, KY., in all probability, is no worse than any other town of its size and population components, but the bad elements in the place are of the explosive sort and so the Harlan county town, for all its schools and churches and good citizens, has become known to a large part of America as a veritable battleground.

With this dark record established, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and the state police have awakened to a sense of duty which otherwise might never have escaped the lethargy which grips most law enforcement agencies and communities while the stage is being prepared for tragedy. With the stage set and the actors enacting their grim roles in a story of underworld violence, those who look on just naturally perk up.

On a recent week-end, the ABC and the state police arrested fifteen persons who allegedly handled illegal whiskey in dry Harlan county. A long list of "places" was raided. Among those arrested was Ford Sizemore, one of the two men accused at Evarts of killing County Police Chief Metcalfe.

Bell county, too, has felt the power of the law, they say.

All of which is well. Only, Harlan and Bell counties would have been so much better served, had these agencies cracked down, months ago — back when bootlegging was barely beginning to go big time, when the lawbreakers were organizing to do business on a big scale, to operate even if that Big Business had to become another Murder, Incorporated.

Time was when officials, churchfolk, ordinary law-abiding citizens of Evarts and Harlan county indulged in the ivory-tower idea that "it can't happen here." But petty law-breaking grew, and scorn of the law grew apace. There developed such disregard for law and order — indeed, such a distaste for individuals representing the law — that men accused of the murder of officers went scot-free at the hands of Harlan county inuries while officers who killed law-breakers in line of duty were given heavy penitentiary sentences.

That is part of the dark-some story. The moral is plain to us all. Human nature, ambition and greed dwell not only in much-maligned Evarts.

Encore!

HIGHWAY Commissioner John A. Keck last week talked like the Eastern Kentuckian he is and as an official in the role of a good citizen, deeply disgusted with the ineptness of the highway department in actually getting things done.

In brief, he told employees to produce or get out. In fact, said he, those who fail to get going at their jobs will be sent job-hunting, regardless of their political backing.

Newspapers of the state gave Mr. Keck's straight-from-the-shoulder statement wide publicity. And now maintenance supervisory personnel are going to hear recordings of his speech.

All of which is good news to the average citizen. Sweet music, we would say. Play it over and over again!

The Coming of Joshua Ross To Eastern Kentucky Told

By HENRY P. SCALF

Joshua Ross, ancestor of one of the Ross families in Eastern Kentucky, lived in the town-seat of Marion, Smith county, Virginia. About 1800 or perhaps as late as 1815 the movement of Southwest Virginians into Eastern Kentucky was in full blast. Joshua, becoming infected with the immigration fever, decided to go into the valley of Sandy, alone, upon an exploring expedition.

He came through the Pound Gap and down rugged Elkhorn Creek and on down into what is now the northern end of Pike county. The country was sparsely settled, virgin wilderness was everywhere and he looked over a considerable area of the valley for a suitable place to found a home.

Finally, his eye rested upon a vast, level expanse at what is now Mossy Bottom, Pike county, and he decided he would like to own it. But an earlier settler, the name lost in the years, had preceded him and, having built a small lean-to, was in full and rightful possession. Joshua, though poor in coin of the realm, had as a matter of foresight brought with him into Kentucky an extra long-barrelled "squirrel" rifle and he induced the settler to trade him all this vast bottom area for the rifle.

The trade having been made, Joshua stayed awhile, revelling in the beauty, fertility and vastness of his virgin estate. But the wilderness soon palled upon him and the previous owner who had not left the section was prevailed upon to re-trade the rifle for the bottoms. We cannot understand all of the things that caused him to want to leave the valley. It may have been a longing for home in Virginia or it may have been that he saw around him in the valley such a vastness or unclaimed level land that the bottoms were not, in his judgment, worth a good and trusty rifle.

Back in Smith county, Joshua was contented for a while to be with his family, but as he recounted stories of the Sandy he began to be filled with a new longing to again see the fertile bottoms. At last the longing was overpowering and he gathered his household effects, loaded them upon a wagon drawn by two mules and, driving their cattle, set out for the valley again. He was accompanied by his family and by a family of Allens who are the ancestors of the Pike county Allens.

The way was rough, no roads at all, only the mountain trails for a lumbering wagon, but they pushed on down through Southwest Virginia into the valley of the Pound, up it and over the practically untravelled Pound Mountain into the rugged Elkhorn. Down Elkhorn they came into the heart of Pike county.

The journey was an unusually severe one for the families. Emmaline, or "Em," as she was called by the family, and the daughter of Joshua, a small girl at the time, was wont, in later years, to recall its severity. She married Hezekiah Stratton, of Mare Creek, son of Tandy R. Stratton, who was one of the creek's first settlers.

One night they lay down to rest in a reed brake and, drawing the blankets over them, wearily fell asleep. It began to snow and as the travelers slept it snowed all through the night. It fell until a blanket several inches in depth covered them. When morning came they flung out their arms only to recoil from the cold. Directly the family heard the voice of Joshua: "Keep under the cover until I get a fire started." Before many minutes had elapsed the families were surrounded by the fire, none the worse for their experience.

Once upon the journey they found themselves without meat. Joshua had trusted to his rifle for the family meat supply but having had no luck for a few days he decided to find a settler's cabin and try to buy some venison.

Having located a cabin of a settler he found the father of the family away on a hunting expedition. He explained his predicament and finally the wife of the absent hunter offered to sell some bear meat. Now Joshua, although he had been in or upon the edge of the wilderness all of his life, had never tasted bear meat. It was not considered as palatable as venison and since deer were plentiful why accept bear? But the family was without meat, so he bargained for a supply and hurried back to camp.

The temporary halting place was under a group of pines and the carpet of needles under them made an

What's Ankle Fracture When Classroom Calls?

Bill Nelson, Prestonsburg high school student from Dwale, is not one to let a matter of a busted leg deter him from regular school attendance—not even in springtime's good fishing weather.

He fractured his right ankle Monday afternoon of last week shortly after alighting from a school bus en route home from school. Racing with other students up Bull Mountain, he fell and accidentally doubled his leg under him which resulted in the injury.

He was back in school next morning plus his crutches and at once began collecting fellow students' autographs on his painfully acquired cast.

ideal resting place. Soon the pot was boiling and the bear began to cook. A gentle breeze was blowing and changed to a sudden gust of wind. Before the pot with its precious meat could be covered it was filled with pine needles. It was ruined. Despite their keen appetites and a grim determination to eat, they found this combination of bear meat and pine needles an unpalatable culinary concoction. They ever afterwards associated the taste of bear with a bitter rosin-like flavor.

We do not know how long they were upon the trail. The Allens settled below what is now Pikeville and Joshua settled upon Harmon's Branch, a small tributary of the Big Sandy near the present town of Boldman. His home was near the forks of the small creek which is approximately two miles long.

His family grew to manhood and womanhood. "Em," as I have said, married Hezekiah Stratton, of Mare Creek. William R., "Uncle Billy," a son, married Jane Stratton, a daughter of Tandy R. Stratton.

Time, marriage and immigration of Joshua's descendants have all but cast the name of Ross into oblivion. But some of his descendants live on, scattered over the many hills and hollows of the section. They now have other paternal names but they are a numerous generation who look back with pride upon their hardy ancestral sire—Joshua Ross of Marion, Smith county, Virginia.

KECK'S TALK IS RECORDED

'Produce-or-Get-Out' Speech To Be Heard In Every District

Frankfort, Ky., May 2—Highway Commissioner John A. Keck's "produce-or-get-out" speech on road maintenance has been recorded and will be played for maintenance supervisory personnel at a series of district meetings.

Maintenance Director M. F. Johnson and Equipment Director W. A. Tinsler left today for a series of pep-talk sessions with state roadworkers.

Meetings will be held at Paducah tomorrow; at Bowling Green Wednesday; at Elizabethtown Thursday; at Louisville May 10, Covington May 11, Flemingsburg May 12, Pikeville May 17, Somerset May 19, and Lexington May 23.

"We are anxious for every crew foreman to know the top policy ideas of the Administration," Johnson said. "The recording will help to make everyone understand the importance of insisting on a dollar's worth of work for each dollar we must spend. Maintenance is big business and it must be done right."

Last week Keck told district engineers at a meeting here the department is "dissatisfied" with present maintenance operations. Costs must be cut down and efficiency increased, Keck said, adding, "If an employee is to remain on the payroll, he must produce."

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

Upon the solicitation of many friends and good citizens, I have at last decided to seek county office, and this is to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for County Judge.

I have served as Magistrate in District No. 3 for the last 10 years and during this time have tried to remember always that my duty is, first of all, to the people, rich and poor alike.

My record has been such that I have no regrets; I have worked to be of service without thought of enriching myself at the expense of others. And if elected County Judge, the same motives will be behind my every act in office. I pledge my efforts, in particular, to better rural roads.

Your help in the coming campaign will be deeply appreciated.

After being over our district and talking to some of you people, I more fully realize the need for a "real-honest-to-goodness" Justice of the Peace. I'm sure that you want a man who is interested in BETTER public roads for ALL the people, not just a CHOSEN FEW. This makes me more determined than ever to try and be your next Magistrate.

If nominated and elected, I will repay you with the same faithful and unselfish service that I gave while serving with the U.S. 15th Air Force over Germany during this last war. My army duty was no cushion job and I am not looking for a soft seat at the taxpayers' expense.

Dana, Ky., for
MAGISTRATE, Dist. No. 4
Republican primary, Aug. 1949.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

This is to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of Jailer.

Four years ago, you were kind enough to help me in my race for this office, and I have never ceased to be grateful to you for that confidence. As Jailer I have conducted myself personally, the jail and all its duties as I think I should have. As far as my own physical condition would permit, I have worked hard to make you a good jailer and to care for the courthouse property as best I could. When unable to do this, I have had sober, honest assistants to do the work for me.

In short, I have tried to conduct myself and the office so that the good people could, without shame or twinge of conscience, vote for me again.

Had not inflated prices made it impossible for me to save any money out of the fees which are fixed by law, in time of low prices or high, I perhaps would not have again asked you to help me. But the truth is, I have made no money out of the Jailer's office. Now, with the prospect of lower prices, it is possible I could, within the next four years, make for myself and family the "nest egg" I had hoped to earn during my present term.

Certainly I have no ambition to remain in politics over a long period. As most of you know, I am unable to go into the mines or other fields of hard labor and earn a livelihood. But I can do the work of Jailer as well as any, and that is why I again am a candidate.

Please consider my case. I trust you will not think I am asking too much.

Your friend,
EVERETTE COLLINS

ALEX L. DAVIDSON FOR COUNTY JUDGE

I promised the people of Floyd county, four years ago, that if they would elect me County Judge I would do the very best job I could, and that promise I have made every effort to keep.

I make you the same promise again, and I feel that with the experience of these four years behind me I will be better qualified to handle the office than before.

Now, I do not mean to say I have been perfect in every respect as County Judge. I have made mistakes, many mistakes, and I am the first to admit that I have. But I have tried my very best AND WHATEVER MISTAKES I HAVE MADE WERE HONEST MISTAKES. No man is perfect; no man can be all things to all men, and the voters of this county know this as well as I do.

I also admit many things have been needed by Floyd county that have not been done, but I think the people should have the facts about this matter, so they will understand exactly why we have fallen short in some respects. Several years ago, an indebtedness of nearly a million dollars was piled up against this county. Because of that, there must be paid, each year, interest and principal on that indebtedness. After taking care of the bonds as they come due, with interest, there is comparatively little left with which to do the many things that should be done.

Each year I have been in office, we have met our obligations as they came due, and I assure you, every year I am your County Judge these debts will be paid until this county is debt-free.

Right now, Floyd county has over $300,000 in the bank, placed there in a sinking fund against this county debt. With sound business handling of the county's financial affairs, this debt will be paid within another four years. Many of the bonds against the county, now drawing heavy interest, could be retired at this time but, unfortunately for us, they are not callable.

All this I point out to show why the individual needs of communities in the county—roads, bridges and other improvements—cannot be available immediately, no matter how much you or I may want them.

Permit me to add: I intend to run a clean race during this campaign. I have no ill word to speak of any opposition I may have. I want the people simply to know the facts and to consider me as their servant strictly on my merits. I promise you courteous and faithful service and an honest administration. Did I seek your support on any other grounds, I would not merit your votes.

Your friend,
ALEX L. DAVIDSON

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

THE MAN WHO wants a finer motor car than the 1949 Cadillac, will have to wait.

He will have to wait until the science of motor car manufacture has reached a higher level. For here—in this gorgeously beautiful creation—is to be found the embodiment of all that is currently good and desirable in an automobile.

It is, in every way, as fine and splendid a motor car as it is practical to produce.

As is true of each succeeding Cadillac model, the advancements in the 1949 car are manifold, and encompass every aspect of the car's goodness. But the year's greatest advance is in the power plant—a wholly new V-type engine which easily ranks as Cadillac's creative masterpiece.

The power flow is so smooth, and so seemingly inexhaustible, that many say the car seems to move by automatic propulsion. Performance is really a challenge to the imagination.

If you wish to know how truly wonderful a motor car can be, you are cordially invited to call at our showrooms for a look and a ride.

You are welcome at any time—regardless of the price class from which you expect your next car to come.
