End of Strike By Gas Workers Appears Distant

The strike of approximately 300 employees of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company which began last Wednesday midnight continues with no indication of a settlement.

The only meeting known to have been scheduled this week was the regular grievance session slated today (Wednesday).

The company issued a warning, immediately after the strike by members of Local Union 3-510, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, began, that gas service in 10 Eastern Kentucky counties may be curtailed.

Last Thursday, upwards of 1500 homes in Hazard were without gas because Kentucky West Virginia pipeline valves had been closed. The company claimed that when its supervisory employees attempted to open the valves they were restrained by pickets. State Police accompanied supervisors, the following day, and the valve was opened.

The gas company subsequently offered a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the service interruption.

Two more rewards were offered later by the gas company—one of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and

Area Nomination Meetings Slated By Comp Health

Final stages are now in sight as the Comprehensive Health Care, Inc. prepares for countywide area nomination meetings in forming its new board of directors.

Low-income consumers' nomination meetings will be held November 12, 13, 14 and 15 in eight areas over the county. Locations of nomination meetings follow (each meeting will be at 7:30 p.m.):

Prestonsburg-Bull Creek, November 12, Floyd county courthouse; Allen-Mare Creek, November 12, Allen elementary school; McDowell, November 13, McDowell High School; Mud Creek, November 13, John M. Stumbo school; West Prestonsburg-Risner, November 14; Clark elementary school; Wayland Division, November 14; Garrett High School; Martin-Maytown, November 15, Martin High School; Wheelwright, November 15, Wheelwright High School.

Election of the area representatives will be held, 7:30-9:30 p.m., November 27 at the same locations. Sixteen low-income consumers will be elected by eligible low-income voters.

The initial meeting of the low-income consumers is scheduled for December 6 when the elected consumer members will comply with the selection procedures in securing four provider and at-large board of director members.

The purpose of Comprehensive Health Care, Incorporated, is the delivery of health care to a target population of low-income people in Floyd county.

Indiana Company Seeks Location For Plant Here

An Indiana manufacturing firm has requested the Prestonsburg Area Chamber of Commerce to locate a suitable facility for a branch plant which, if established here, would employ 20-50 area women.

Gordon Hackworth, a representative of Jomac Products, Inc., of Warsaw, Indiana, told Chamber of Commerce President Robert V. May, Jr. that the company is in need of a building with 6,000 to 10,000 square feet of floor space. The proposed plant would produce industrial gloves.

Hackworth, a Floyd county native, is already advertising for local applicants. He said that from 75 to 80 per cent of Jomac's employees in Indiana are Eastern Kentuckians.

May said Monday that the long-vacant Kentucky Appalachian Industries (KAI) building, a 30,000-square-foot structure at West Prestonsburg, is actually too large, if available for the proposed sewing factory but added that some other possibilities are being explored and expressed confidence that a suitable structure will be made available.

Save Land Group Is Granted Charter

Floyd county's Save Our Land Club received its corporate charter this week from Secretary of State Stovall.

Incorporators are Irvin Harris, of Prestonsburg, and others. Henry P. Scaff, of Stanville, is the corporation's process agent.

Purpose of the group, which meets twice a month, was stated as the promotion of enforcement of mine reclamation laws.

Bid on Housing May Be Within Budget Range

Although the low bid of $433,700 asked for construction of the town of Martin's second low-rent housing project exceeds the total budgeted for the work, the Martin Housing Authority believes a contract will be awarded.

Bids were opened last Thursday, and the lowest of the three submitted was made by the Bradley and Powers Construction Co., Paintsville. Other bidders were Akers & Akers, of Dana, and Fain & Johnston, Lexington.

"The $433,700 bid is so close the amount budgeted that we think it can be worked out so that a contract will be awarded," Helen Ison, executive secretary of the Housing Authority, said.

If the Bradley & Powers bid is accepted, Martin will have the first housing complex in the area to be built especially for the elderly. Plans provide for two one-story buildings containing 28 living units of efficiency and one-bedroom apartments, plus administrative and maintenance offices and a community room. The buildings will be of frame construction, with brick veneer. The contract includes site improvements, utilities, lawns and planting of flowers and shrubs.

The project is being financed by the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) office, which will review the bids and their above-budget aspects before accepting or rejecting the low offer made on the work. A decision is expected within a month.

The contractor will have a year in which to complete the project.

Martin's existing low-rent housing project is the 40-unit Pageant Hills complex which was completed eight years ago.

Merchants To Meet Friday At Library

A meeting of Prestonsburg merchants will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Floyd County Library here. Purpose of the meeting is to establish a business and professional association. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Not Bad for a Young Couple

Elmer Music and his wife, Ammie, of Spradlin Branch, near here, qualify as Floyd county's Fishing Couple of the Year on two counts:

1. Although he is 81 years old and she only two years younger, they fish Dewey Lake in weather which keeps many younger fisherfolk home.

2. On one of their recent fishing trips to the lake (October 28) they landed the 61-pound, 4-ounce catfish shown in photo, plus another 10-pounder and several blue cats in the 5-6-pound class. They followed up this day's catch with a 35-pounder on a cold, drizzly morning last week.

All the fish were caught on trotline, baited with minnows. Music said the 61-pound cat was boated after a struggle of an hour and a half.

"It's the biggest fish I ever caught, and I've been fishing since I was 10 years old," Mr. Music said.

It All Wasn't That Quiet

Candidates, their supporters and others give a semblance of peace and quiet in this photo outside the Precinct No. 2 voting-place at the Prestonsburg elementary school, but the election really was hotter than that. Inside, the balloting was heavy as a spirited city election scrap brought out the voters.

School Board Okehs Tournament Rotation

A committee of high school principals headed by David Hensley, principal of Allen Central High School, has completed planning the rotation of sites for the 58th district (Floyd county) basketball tournament to fit the five schools which now participate, and the plan was accepted by the Floyd County Board of Education at its Saturday meeting.

The new rotation was necessary because the number of high schools has been reduced from eight, it was explained. The host schools are:

For 1974, Prestonsburg; 1975,

Wheelwright; 1976, Allen Central; 1977, McDowell; 1978, Betsy Layne.

The host school may designate the tournament site at an existing facility. The Wheelwright and McDowell gyms are not considered adequate for the event, which draws huge crowds, but these schools may name the gym in which it will be played when their turn as host comes. Allen Central's new gym is expected to be ready, well in advance of its 1976 date.

The board last Saturday approved the Task Forces To Deal With Health Problems

Two task forces to deal with the problems of emergency medical services and the shortage of personal and intermediate care hospital beds were formed at the meeting last Thursday evening at May Lodge of the five-county Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

The meeting was the first held by the council in almost 10 months.

Area needs were stressed by Jack Lesshaft, director of the Kentucky Comprehensive Health Planning Office, Frankfort. In an earlier study of emergency medical services it was learned that the six hospitals in the area share the common problem of understaffing and overwork. It also was pointed out that emergency room services have always been recognized as money-losing facilities, but federal funds may soon be available to stop this deficit.

Mr. Lesshaft pointed out that, according to state health plans, the Big Sandy area should have 300 intermediate care beds available, and that there are none. He added that there are only 168 personal care beds available, although the area needs an additional 433.

State plans call for a county to have one intermediate care bed for every 20 persons over age 65 and four personal care beds for every 100 persons in that age group. (Personal care homes primarily serve the elderly who do not require continuous skilled nursing care, and intermediate care is for persons needing only intermittent nursing care.)

In the category of extended care, which requires continuous skilled medical aid, the region already has more than enough beds, state figures show.

Formation of the task force which will deal with emergency medical services was completed at the meeting, and Dr. Ballard Wright, of Prestonsburg, and Jim Tom Newman, of Paintsville, were named co-chairmen of the group. They have scheduled a meeting for Nov. 9 at Prestonsburg Community College and are asking all in the region who are interested in the problem to attend.

Chairmen were not named for the second task force, which will be concerned with personal and intermediate care beds. Two meetings have been scheduled for continued planning. One of these will be held at 1 p.m. Nov. 12 at Prestonsburg Community College for residents of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties. A second meeting for Pike county residents was tentatively set for the following day but the place of the meeting was not given.

New Health Planning Council officers elected at the meeting are:

Dr. Henry Campbell, director of the Prestonsburg Community College, chairman; Lee Keene, Pikeville, vice-chairman; Grover Salyers, Salyersville, secretary, and O. T. Dorton, Paintsville, and Dr. Raymond Wells, Inez, executive board members at large.

These new members were named to the board for three-year terms: Mrs. Gertrude Tyson and Chalmers H. Frazier, Floyd county; Redford Damron, Lee Keene and Mrs. Annie Thacker, Pike; Mrs. Sue Arnett and Calvin Cain, Magoffin; Ray Fields, Martin, and Dr. Paul B. Hall, Johnson.

Named to complete unexpired terms on the board were H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. and Herschel Joseph, Floyd county, and Bruce Francisco, Pike county. Their terms will expire in 1974.

Mrs. Frank Johnson was named the council's first health planner since Allen Sither resigned last December.

Mrs. Johnson was formerly human resources planner for Big Sandy Area Development District.

Steve Friend, of Pikeville, assumed Mrs. Johnson's duties as human resources planner.

Floyd Co. Board Joins Six Others In Johnson Case

The Floyd County Board of Education has joined six other area school districts in an appeal from a Johnson county case involving the constitutionality of a property reversion law enacted by the last session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

The 1972 legislation provided that land conveyed to a school board, with a reversion clause which returned the property to the original owner when it ceased to be used for school purposes, may be reclaimed only if the original owner filed within 90 days intention to reclaim his property.

When a Johnson county landowner belatedly sued the Johnson Board of Education to reclaim land which the board no longer used Circuit Judge W. D. Sparks held under the 1972 Act that the property could not be reclaimed. The plaintiff failed to appeal the decision, but the board of education is appealing in the hope of establishing constitutionality of the law.

Two former Floyd school properties, now in disuse, are at stake. These are the Lackey and Weeksbury schools, and it was said the original owners of the land have not filed intention to reclaim.

Heating System In School Here Suffers Delay

Prestonsburg High School lost two days of classwork last week and may lose more while the transition is being made from coal to gas heating.

County Supt. Charles Clark said Monday that heat would have been installed in the classrooms two weeks ago, perhaps, but for the fact that special valves required for each unit must be installed. These valves, he added, were ordered six to eight weeks ago but their delivery has been delayed. They are now promised this week, he said.

Heat was in the school gymnasium, lunchroom and downstairs halls Monday, and classroom doors were left open to share the higher temperature.

Clark said the contractor on the $112,900 job is working nights and weekends in an effort to complete the work as quickly as possible. Yet the final in-

Goebel Winner In Mayor Race Here, Tuesday

Every Democratic candidate for county and district office won easily in Tuesday's election, but the big news was a drastic shakeup in official Prestonsburg.

Here, William O. Goebel, Jr. was elected mayor over Paul Phillip Hughes, who currently is a member of the Council, 760 votes to 479.

And only two incumbent members of the City Council were returned to office. Acting Mayor Burl Wells Spurlock and Byron Nunnery are the two "administration" winners.

Newcomers to the Council as a result of Tuesday's voting are Harold Cooley, Dr. N. Roger Jurich, Edgille "Shag" Branham, Cloyd Johnson, Harry Burke and Paul Joseph.

Both constitutional amendments lost heavily in the county voting. On the face of unofficial returns no Democratic nominee had a tight race of it for county of district office. Outside Prestonsburg, with a few exceptions, voter-interest was low and, despite perfect weather, the vote was light to medium.

Although election officers dealt with the new, computerized registration, operations at the polls ran more evenly than usual, and the work of the election commission at the courthouse was comparatively light.

This Town . . . That World

Since gasoline appears to be on the scarce side, it has been suggested by a member of the family that we should, perhaps, travel by bicycle. Why not make it entertaining to the public and put me on roller skates?

THE FEATHERS WERE RUFFLED

At Red River Gorge, the other afternoon, we revelled in the rugged beauty of the place, the color of the foliage and the stream running clear in succeeding rapids and pools. It was while the water was claiming our attention that I ventured out onto a big rock which slanted toward the river.

A wet leaf and Newton's Theory conspired to get me started toward a plunge in the icy waters below, and the result was a mad scramble on my part to avoid a dunking and a damp ride home. The episode and the giggles and comments that it drew did little to smooth the feathers. You will understand what I mean when I tell you that one of the party described me in my scramble as looking like a fiddler crab hunting for a lost claw.

It didn't help, either, for some smart-aleck to remark that I was about to dam the river a mile or so above the location the engineers had selected.

Oh, well...

"No Gas" Signs Bring Shortages Near Home

The fuel shortage became real for the area this week as "No Gas" signs began appearing at service stations.

And the shortages will get worse, perhaps over a period of as long as two years, gasoline distributors agreed.

In this county Texaco apparently was hit earliest, with some of these stations out of gasoline since Saturday. None has more fuel this month than November, a year ago, and some have voluntarily cut their issue of gasoline 5 percent below that.

Distributors are urging their retailers to restrict their hours to eight and the number of days open to six. Nationally, a 50-miles-an-hour speed limit is talked to cut down on gas consumption.

Gasoline rationing lies ahead. That became more certain with the reduction of oil shipments by 25 percent from the Arab countries.

How much the suffering from a shortage of fuel oil will depend upon severity of the coming winter. Both heating and diesel fuel are under government-mandated allotment.

Industry may be hit by lack of diesel oil, particularly "new" industry. Dealers allot a truck-operator, for instance, the same amount of diesel fuel this month that he used last November, and if he was not in business in November, 1972 he may get none. One Floyd county coal-truck owner was reported idle this week for that reason, and the shortage could seriously impair the coal mining industry in this section, it is thought.

Marvin Music, Gulf distributor here, and Carl Martin, Standard Oil distributor at Allen, agreed that more fuel is being produced than ever but that shortages exist because more is being burned. More cars, higher consumption of gasoline per car, unrestricted operation—these were given as causes of shortages.

Mr. Music pointed out that in the first eight months of 1970, for instance, 932,876,274 gallons of gasoline were burned in Kentucky. By contrast, in the first eight months of this year 1,116,991,180 gallons were used. And, he added, Kentucky is not a state that is one of the heaviest users of gasoline.

Mr. Martin said relief may come for some consumers who were not in operation last November through the offices of a federal board established to consider unusual situations. Without such consideration a coal-hauler, for instance, who had bought gasoline all spring and summer would not be eligible for gasoline unless he had been operating since last November.

Ashland Oil, Pure Oil, Phillips, Sunoco, independents with them all the story was the same. A long, hard winter and perhaps a long, dry summer ahead.

Mountain Bridges Falling Down

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Bridge building and bridge breaking are part of the beginning physics class at Alice Lloyd College. Toothpicks and glue are the only materials students may use to make their bridges.

"The choice of glue is up to the student," says Arneemann Grender, physics instructor at ALC. Students must "engineer" and design the bridges themselves. In order to complete the project successfully, the bridge must support 75 times its own weight.

Reva Duff, 19, a Hueysville sophomore at ALC, weighed in her bridge at about 60 grams (two ounces). Next, she hung weights from the structure until it collapsed.

Reva's bridge caved in as it supported about 100 times its own weight (12.5 pounds). Grender, an ALC alumnus, holds the record with a toothpick bridge which supported 1016 times its own weight (132 pounds). This year's champion is George Johnson, a sophomore from Beehive, whose bridge held 470 times its weight (69.8 pounds).

Toothpick bridges are a way of turning dry material into something students enjoy, says Grender, a member of the ALC faculty since 1966.

Postal Service Asks For Early Mailing

The U. S. Postal Service is again urging the public to mail early, to be sure cards, letters and packages are clearly addressed, have return addresses on them and to properly wrap packages.

The Christmas mail schedule is as follows: surface mail to the 48 states, by Dec. 15 for letter and by Dec. 10 for parcels; airmail to the 48 states, Dec. 21 for both letters and parcels; to Alaska and Hawaii, surface mail for letters is Dec. 15 and for parcels is Nov. 30. Airmail to Alaska and Hawaii is Dec. 20 for both letters and parcels.

International mail dates are as follows: Canada and Mexico: air greeting cards, Dec. 19; Air parcels, Dec. 14; surface greeting cards, Dec. 7; and surface parcels, Dec. 1. South and Central America: air greeting cards, Dec. 15; air parcels, Dec. 11; surface greeting cards, Nov. 17; and surface parcels, Nov. 10. Europe: Air greeting cards, Dec. 16; air parcels, Dec. 11; surface greeting cards, Nov. 17; and surface parcels, Nov. 10. Africa, Near East and Far East: air greeting cards, Dec. 14; air parcels, Dec. 8. Africa and Near East: surface greetings cards, Nov. 4; and surface parcels, Nov. 1; Far East: surface greeting cards, Oct. 25; and surface parcels, Oct. 15.

In October 1972, 36 percent of Hispanic American 16 to 24-year-olds in the United States were enrolled in school, compared with 44 percent of whites and 43 percent of blacks, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

Proposed Bill Would Limit Election Spending

A legislative subcommittee on campaign spending and contributions approved proposals to limit spending during campaigns for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor. The proposals, to be drafted into bill form and submitted to the 1974 General Assembly, include:

- Establishment of a state fund to match up to $100 in individual contributions.
- Limitation of total campaign spending to $300,000 for each candidate during a primary election and $500,000 for each candidate during the general election.
- Prohibition of cash contributions in excess of $50.

In a written message to the committee, Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll endorsed limitations on campaign spending and suggested a lowering from $500 to $100 the present contribution disclosure requirement and limiting the amount any one individual could contribute to $2,500 to one candidate and $5,000 to all candidates per election.

Suggestion Pays Off For Native of Floyd

Mrs. Flossie Ratliff Reed, a native of the Langley area, who is a leading operator for General Electric's specialty motor parts department in Ft. Wayne, Ind., also recently became the department's leading suggestor of the year when she won a $1,099 award for an idea which she had submitted.

Her big payoff came on a relatively simple idea. In her job as leading operator, she had heard numerous complaints that the lead terminals on the 39-frame motors were getting damaged before they reached the station where they were inserted in a Molex plug. The terminals were also getting caught in the stator oven, pulling the motors off the rack and causing other problems. Why not, Mrs. Reed reasoned, install the Molex plugs in the lead area instead of the terminal block area? That way, the sharp terminals which were getting caught and bent would be protected during most of the assembly process.

The big question, of course, was whether the Molex plug would withstand the heat of the stator oven. After Mrs. Reed's tests showed it would, she turned in her suggestion.

The suggestion award was her third in her 13 years as a GE employee. (The other two totaled less than $30 combined). As to where the money will go, says she has "plenty of places."

"I've been wanting a new bedroom suite," she said, "and if I don't use it all for that I'll put some in the bank for my son's schooling. He's a junior in high school now, but college is coming up."

Mrs. Reed is a sister of Wayne Ratliff, Sr., of Prestonsburg.

Plan Outpost Clinic At Wayland Church

The Floyd County Health Department announces that a public health nurse will hold an outpost clinic next Monday, in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland from 10 a.m. to 12 and 1 to 2 p.m.
The following free services will be available: Immunizations, blood pressures, diabetes screening and TB skin tests.

Libraries Emphasize Services to Aged

As people live longer and enjoy healthier lives, the public libraries have found it necessary to reassess their programs and to place greater emphasis on programs and services for senior citizens.

So says an approved federal project for selected Kentucky communities initiated in 1971 by the Institute of Lifetime Learning of Washington, D.C., a service organization of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

I could not agree more whole heartily. The public library is for everyone, but certain groups, such as senior citizens, do require special emphasis.

For one thing, there are more of them every year. The 1970 population census recorded 20 million citizens 65 years of age and older, representing ten percent of the population. Of this figure, 371,000 were registered as living in Kentucky, demonstrating that the percentage in our state exceeds the national ratio.

For another, the building or location can be a definite hindrance or hazard to the elderly. Steps, without a helping hand, can be as much of a challenge to a senior citizen as Mount Everest is to mountain climbers. And more and more, the elderly are afraid to go out in the evenings after dark for fear of being attacked.

Then, as the eyes become dimmer, large type books, talking books, cassettes, and braille become increasingly vital to many retired persons, and there are never enough of these to satisfy the needs.

The Council on Aging at the University of Kentucky has compiled an annotated bibliography on libraries and the elderly, assembled community profiles, analyzed present library services in Kentucky, and conducted a survey of library users and non-users.

Some recent comments, garnered at large in various Kentucky libraries, help all of us to understand better elderly users of library services: "How can I use the library? I don't have any way to get there." "I wonder if the librarian would stop coming to see me if I told her I couldn't read." "At night, do you honestly think I'd go to the library, now, do you?"

We are honestly seeking such questions in order that we can better provide answers for some of the more important members of our population—senior citizens.

Over five million employees were covered by the federal workmen's compensation laws in the 1973 fiscal year, the Labor Department reports.

Making the Innocent Suffer

The dispute between Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company and its workers is one in which The Times has no desire to take part, but the closing of line valves to shut off natural gas service is another matter.

We do not attempt to fix the blame for the interruption of gas service which occurred at Hazard last week and which reportedly almost happened here last week-end. But somebody is guilty, and he (or they, whoever is guilty) does his cause a disservice and shows a complete disregard for the well-being of others.

If this manmade crisis had come during warm weather, the consequences would have been minor. There would have been some slight inconveniences, which might have served only to give us all a proper appreciation of the blessings that are ours. But suffering brought on the helpless, the very young or old or sick, is inexcusable.

It has been suggested that nobody connected with the labor dispute has had a part in the service interruption, that vandals may have seized on the situation as a chance to get busy. Surely the leadership of the parties involved have not approved such action. It is difficult to understand how any mature, adult human being could, even in the heat of dispute, turn savagely upon the innocent of his own kind.

The Teacher Drops Out

Herbert L. Nutter, veteran principal of Huntington (W. Va.) East High School resigned, the other day, because, he said, "I feel that educational trends, not just in this county but across the nation, are going backward rather than forward."

The educator said his dissatisfaction with the educational system stems from such things as these:

1. Promotion of students after they had missed from one-fourth to a third of their class sessions.
2. Permitting students who dropped out of school to pick up a question-and-answer booklet at newsstands and thus get a "quick" diploma. ("They bone up on the questions, take a GED test, pass, and go on to college," Mr. Nutter explained.)
3. Permitting students upon entering college to take a test and receive 30 to 60 hours' credit before doing actual college work.

So Mr. Nutter is quitting. He says education is going backward, not forward. He clings to the old-fashioned notion that school is for study.

The pity is that education is losing a voice which speaks for disciplined education, the honesty of earning what you get, of learning to study. The man apparently believes that a high school graduate should be able to read and write and spell and do mathematics at least as well as some who in another day labored no farther than the eighth grade.

There is a line in an old poem which runs to the effect that "Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage." By the same token, we have an idea that fine buildings and modern equipment and teachers with degrees, good as all this may be, do not make a real school.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 20, 30 and 40 years ago)

Twenty Years Ago

(November 4, 1953)

In defeating Democratic nominee Bill Hall, of Betsy Layne, in last Tuesday's election, Gorman Collins, of Lackey, became the first Republican in 16 years to be elected sheriff of Floyd county. . . . Negotiations are under way to procure a court order freeing the Elk Horn Coal Corporation of receivership. . . . The Floyd County Board of Education in an Election Day meeting purchased from Roe Fannin the Betsy Layne theatre building which it will convert into a school lunchroom and kitchen. . . . Bill Carr, race driver from Huntington, received a broken collar bone, Sunday when his car was one of ten in a pile-up during a heat at the Allen race track. . . . Sale in Floyd county of Borden Milk, from Huntington, under a Grade A label was halted Monday by the county health department on the grounds that the firm's milk does not meet the maximum bacteria count permitted under this rating. . . . This first earth to be moved, Sunday, in ground breaking ceremonies for the Methodist Church school building, in Prestonsburg, will be shovelled by Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiiler, it was announced by the pastor, Rev. Harold Dorsey. . . . Six Floyd countians, veteran employees of the United Fuel Gas Company, recently honored by the firm are Glover W. Spencer, Martin, who received a 30-year service emblem, and these five others, all recipients of a watch and emblem for 25 years' service: E. R. May, of Langley; Troy P. Allen, of Martin; Pete Dawson, Hi Hat; D. S. Montgomery, Prestonsburg, and J. Kendall Stumbo, of Printer. . . . Coal production in the Big Sandy-Elkhorn area is above the tonnage mark achieved in the corresponding period last year, with 215,810 more tons having been loaded this year by October 24. . . . Married: Miss Edna Jean Shepherd, of David, and Mr. C. E. Westfall, October 31; Miss Sylvia Jean Hamilton, of Waverly, Ohio, formerly of Martin, and Mr. Ora Perry, of Hi Hat, August 6. . . . There died: S. G. Alley, Sr., Floyd native, at Milford, Ohio, October 21; William Leslie Stephens, 56, of Prestonsburg, at the home of his mother in Prestonsburg, Tuesday; Adam Bailey, 34, of Salina, Ohio, former Floyd resident, at Lima, Ohio, Monday; Jimmy Edsel Burchett, 19, of Lancer, at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, Sunday.

Thirty Years Ago

(November 4, 1943)

With only 435 precincts yet uncounted in the state, the election of Judge Simeon S. Willis, Republican, of Ashland, as Kentucky's next Governor appeared certain, while Prestonsburg's W. H. (Bill) May had a slight lead over his Republican opponent for Lieutenant-Governor, but is expected to be hard-pressed before the count is completed. . . . The United Mine Workers and Secretary Ickes agreed Wednesday night on a wage contract ending the nation-wide coal strike, and providing $1.50 a day earnings increase for soft coal miners. . . . Big Ray Patton, 23-year-old Floyd countian, in his first year of organized baseball, pitched 17 victories for Roanoke in the Piedmont League, and was the subject of a recent feature yarn in The Sporting News. . . . Six-year-old Adrian Newman, of Pikeville, formerly of Hi Hat, was asphyxiated, Saturday, by gas leaking from a living room stove in the Newman home. . . . The Office of War Utilities acted Monday to reduce natural gas consumption in the Appalachian area by ordering all industrial consumers who have facilities capable of burning residual fuel oil to operate those facilities to the limit during the coming winter. . . . Dr. S. E. Burgess, of the Prestonsburg General hospital staff, returned Monday to resume his duties at the hospital after studying at Cook County hospital, Chicago, Illinois. . . . Floyd county road machinery is being rented to citizens and private companies for public improvements at the expense of those who lease the machinery. . . . First services were held, Sunday, in the new Baptist Church at Allen. . . . Married: Miss Mary Alice Bayless, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. John Lee Munsey, of Lexington, October 24, at Lexington; Miss Ruth Pratt, of Martin, and Ensign R. L. Crieg, of Benham, Kentucky, October 23, at Benham. . . . Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne Stephens, of Prestonsburg, a son, Claybourne, Jr., at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, last week; to Pfc. and Mrs. Glenn McNaughton, of Martin, a son, Glenn Joseph, III, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. . . . There died: Miss May Bladridge, 22, of Goodloe, at the Prestonsburg General hospital, Monday night; Cleve Isbell, 60, last week at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey.

Forty Years Ago

(November 3, 1933)

Charlie Smith, 45, of Ivel, succumbed to a bullet wound in his head, Tuesday night at the Beaver Valley hospital. . . . Twenty-two crippled children of this county were taken Friday in a bus chartered by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club to the crippled children's clinic in Ashland. . . . Frank S. Parrigan, Paintsville engineer, is promoting a new sanitary sewer system for Martin. . . . Two homes destroyed by fire this week were the old James Salisbury home at Allen, Saturday morning, and the residence of Buck Morris at Maytown, Monday. . . . J. C. Ward, manager of the Unique Theatre, announces that he has purchased the Warner-First National product, which includes all of the biggest musical hits of the year. One is "Gold Diggers of 1933." Wow! . . . The big show at the Unique this week is "What Price Innocence?" a picture which is, it explains, "endorsed by the Ministerial Association." Strange that today you never see a film flaunting its endorsement by the Ministerial Association. . . . Married: Miss Ruth Francis and Mr. S. L. Isbell, both of Prestonsburg, October 28, at the parsonage of the Methodist Church, Prestonsburg; Miss Mattie Franklin, and Everett Hall, both of Wheelwright. . . . There died: Mrs. Zella Martin Estep, 62, at her home at Garrett, Friday; Mrs. Mary Calhoun Owens, 82, at her home in West Prestonsburg, Monday; Lewis Parker Mayo, 60, at his home near Martin, Wednesday; Charlie Frazier, 58, at the home of his daughter at Martin, Thursday.

HOLDS SAFETY PROGRAM

Girl Scout Troop 227 held a bicycle safety program October 22 for the Allen Brownies. Sgt. Rodney Hutchinson, of the Kentucky State Police, showed a film on bicycle safety and answered questions.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Cahill, of West Covina, Calif., announce the birth of their first child, Carolyn Michelle, on October 31. Mrs. C. J. Cahill, of Drift, is the paternal grandmother. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terry, of Downey, California.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Carmel C. Barnette, of Martin, announce the birth on Oct. 29 of their first child, a son, Carmel Clinton Barnette, II, at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hogsed, of Martin, and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. Johnnie B. Barnette, of Martin.

At a recent meeting of the State Board of Health, members tabled a resolution on abortion and delayed action until the abortion subcommittee meets with representatives of the Kentucky Medical Association (KMA).

To Present "Mikado" Here

"The Mikado," most popular of the entire Gilbert and Sullivan repertoire, will be presented here Tuesday, October 13 by the Turnau Players in the second performance of the current East Kentucky Concert Series.

Though "The Mikado" was written almost 100 years ago, its humor can be easily recognized and laughed at by today's audiences. It has played all over the world in an amazing variety of languages. It was a smash hit in New York from its first performance, has been filmed in its entirety twice, has been given in a "hot version" by Bill Robinson, and even given the distinction of a TV special by no less a personage than Groucho Marx.

The performance is scheduled at 8 p.m. at the grade school auditorium.

Letters to the Editor

The Allen Intersection

Editor, The Times:

I agree with all the published statements concerning "the dangerous intersection" on the new Route 23, four-lane highway at Allen. I have read of the 17 wrecks that occurred there. In all the articles published concerning this dangerous junction point with Route 80, not once have I read of the "second exit" at the south end of New Allen, where it is safer than at the first exit.

I believe that the danger can be greatly reduced, if all traffic coming from the Beaver Creek area, could be directed to the second exit at the south end of New Allen. Traffic getting off New 23, going to the Beaver Creek area, has no trouble, just the traffic getting on New 23 is having difficulty. Heavy traffic is coming from both Left and Right Beaver Creeks. I am using this second exit and I know it is a lot safer than the congested main exit at the junction point.

Pornography at Park

Editor, The Times:

Re: Mr. Derossette's letter in The Times last week on pornography:

I, for one, certainly agree with Mr. Derossette. One needs to notice around the camping area of Archer Park to see some of the results of this filthy literature.

We need not only to clean up the public news stands but the public parks as well. Some of the activity around the parks might be the cause of so many empty camper spaces. Some people do not want to expose their families to some of the filth that is seen in the daytime, not to mention at night.

Pike 'Cut-Through' Contract Awarded

The formal award of the contract for the cut-through-the-mountain project for this city of 5,000 was made in Frankfort last Thursday, less than a week after opening of bids by the Department of Transportation's bureau of highways.

Transportation Secretary Elijah Hogg said the award was made to the Holloway Construction Co. of Wixiom, Mich. Holloway had submitted the low bid of $17.6 million for Phase I of the massive earth-moving project.

Under Phase I, an open channel will be cut through Peach Orchard Mountain for future phases which involve relocation of the Big Sandy River, Chessie Sytem tracks and U.S. 23.

The 13 million cubic yards of earth taken from the trench will be used to fill 166 acres of land for future development around Pikeville.

The second phase of the project will include the physical relocation of U.S. 23 and diversion of the river.

The 3.5 million cubic yards of earth displaced under Phase II will be used to fill the current riverbed and recreate another 36 acres of land within the city limits for home sites, businesses and small recreational parks.

State Citizens' Conference To Look at Court System

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Wendell Ford recently joined Court of Appeals Chief Justice John S. Palmore in inviting more than 200 leading citizens from throughout the state to the Kentucky Citizens Conference for Judicial Improvement, Nov. 29-Dec. 1.

The conference, to be held in Lexington at the Continental Inn, will include a series of seminars on problems with the present court system and the need for judicial reform. Leaders in all areas of public interest will analyze and recommend judicial improvements.

Paul Haynes, director of the conference, said the 200 persons invited include leaders in business and industry, labor organizations, women's groups, service and religious organizations, the media and minority groups.

The conference is sponsored by the Kentucky Bar Association, the Young Lawyers Association, the Kentucky League of Women Voters, the American Judicature Society and the Kentucky Citizens for Judicial Improvement, Inc.

Panel discussions on various aspects of the courts will be led by authorities on judicial administration from throughout the country. These include Associate Justice William Erickson of the Colorado Supreme Court, Glenn R. Winters, executive director of the American Judicature Society, and Judge Phillip M. Fairbanks, past president of the American Judges Association.

Retired Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the U.S. Supreme Court will speak Friday night, Nov. 30.

Haynes said suggestions will go to the Governor's Judicial Advisory Council for consideration and possible submission to the 1974 General Assembly.

The Governor and Chief Justice stressed the importance of the conference in their letter to those invited. They stated, "The administration of justice is of paramount importance to the people of Kentucky. It is essential that the leading citizens of the state discuss the problems in the existing judicial system and the need for reform."

Gift of $60,000 Made To Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky.—Pikeville College has received a $60,000 contribution to be given at the rate of $10,000 annually over a six-year period.

Dr. Robert S. Cope, president of the institution, said the Berwind Corporation of Philadelphia made the gift to the college on behalf of its Kentland and Coal Sales Divisions. C. Graham Berwind, Jr., president of the corporation, said the gift was made to the college "in view of the outstanding performance of Pikeville College in its particular area."

Dr. Cope said, "It is the continuing financial response from the local area to the college that stimulates gifts from outside sources such as Mr. Graham Berwind and his corporation."

Chestnut on Comeback Trail

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD

It has been said that not since the Polar ice cap started its southward journey to begin the Ice Age has the ecosystem of North America suffered such a massive natural disaster as the epidemic that resulted in the disappearance or virtual extinction of the American chestnut.

So swift and so complete was the destruction of this kindly tree some 50 years ago that, to the younger generation of today, it remains only as a legend. However, to many older people still around, the tree is a delightful and nostalgic memory—especially at autumntime when they once searched out its delicious, chocolate-brown nuts on the wooded hills of the land.

The tragic story of the terrible blight that caused the eradication of the native chestnut is already well known to most, but many may not be aware that the chestnut is staging a real comeback. In another generation or two, there is a likelihood that the chestnut will be as plentiful as ever over eastern United States. This is not the American chestnut, it is true, but a chestnut nevertheless and, while it is not of the same good quality of taste as those of earlier days, both humans and wildlife find it highly edible.

This chestnut now on the comeback trail is the so-called "Chinese chestnut," which is blight-resistant and fast-growing and which produces heavily here in Kentucky, according to James A. Newman, Extension forester with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Each year finds more and more of these imports and their descendants in production around country homesteads, and frequently they are to be found growing in forested areas where the nuts have been carried and dropped or buried by marauding squirrels and jaybirds.

Given another 25 years or so, our woods may once again boast of chestnut trees, thereby making it possible for future generations of youngsters to enjoy that autumnal pleasure of their ancestors—chestnut hunting.

One of the main and important differences between the new chestnut and the old is in the tree itself. As a rule, the new type chestnut does not possess the qualities that make it a desirable forest tree. It often sprouts up in clumps or spreads out like an apple tree and does not have a main trunk. While this makes it attractive and desirable for orchard type planting on a small place, it has little value as a timber tree. For this reason, hybridists are busy trying to develop strains that will combine the best qualities of several species, including the native chestnut, to secure a good trunk, nuts of good size and quality of flavor, hardiness, and resistance to blight.

This battle against the blight has been a slow, uphill fight but, from the great number of producing chestnut trees to be seen over the countryside these days, the tide seems to be turning. Although there seems to be little hope of saving the native chestnut, work of the plant breeders has been greatly helped by the fact that sprouts from roots of old trees still keep coming up year after year. A search for possible parents of new blight-resistant hybrids is still being carried on with these native trees and who knows but that, sometime in the future, these foresters and scientists will come up with a truly blight-resistant American chestnut.

In any case, chestnuts are again flourishing in Kentucky. Although they are not yet as plentiful, as in the days of yore, many farm wives are again able to stuff their Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys with traditional chestnut dressing—dressing made from chestnuts gathered from under trees on their own farms.

The village smithy of Longfellow may be gone for good, but the "spreading chestnut" under which it stood is really coming back.

Bradley; Charles Warren Bradley, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Bradley, second, Michael Flanery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Flanery, of Allen, third.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurnal Click were shopping in Ashland and Huntington, Friday.

The Maytown PTA, will sponsor a program at the school, Friday at 12:30 p.m. Bill Fox, of Neon, "a one-man band," will be the main feature of the show. All are welcome to come and enjoy the program. The admission charge will help the PTA in its fund raising drive to purchase air conditioners for the grade school. The next regular meeting of the PTA will be held November 13 at 7 p.m. An interesting program is planned, and plans will be discussed for open house which will be held in cooperation with the teachers and the PTA later in this month.

Sympathy is extended to U. S. Allen and other relatives of Mrs. Artie Hicks who passed away in Toledo, Ohio, Friday. Her body was brought to Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Saturday, for funeral and burial Monday.

Senior Master Sgt. and Mrs. Harless Frasure, of Mesa, Ariz., have been here for the past month visiting his mother Mrs. Eva Frasure, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frasure on Prater Fork and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Frasure here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Hicks, of Grayson, were here last week-end visiting relatives and to attend the funeral of their sister-in-law, Mrs. Artie Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webb, of Springfield, Ohio, announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Kenesa, Oct. 28. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Howard, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb, of Langley.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Adkins were Rev. and Mrs. Lonzo Allen and sister, of Milan, Ind., Rev. and Mrs. Bill Justice, of Spurlock, Rev. John Ousley, Martin, Rev. and Mrs. Woody Pack, Drift, Rev. and Mrs. Mitchell Chaffins, McDowell, and Allen Pitts, of Spurlock. Several others gathered at the Adkins home for church services after dinner.

Saturday and Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sword were Bess Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Day, Mr. and Mrs. Tandy Hicks, of Garrett, Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Hall and grandchildren and Mrs. Bertha Tackett, of Printer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, of Prestonsburg, announce the birth of their second child, first daughter, Leslie Karen, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Oct. 30. Mrs. Gray is the former Ruth Ann Burchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Burchett. The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Marguerite Fannin, of Prestonsburg, and the late Amos Gray.

Sympathy is extended to relatives of Ed Moore, of Petersburg, Ind., who passed away there last week. He was returned to Hall Brothers Funeral Home on Friday for funeral services and burial in the Osborne cemetery at Eastern. Mr. Moore was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kendal Moore and resided both at Eastern and Maytown before moving to Petersburg.

After Miss Janie Bailey sang, accompanied by Miss Susan Compton, at the Red, White and Blue celebration, both girls were asked to ride on the Shriners' float, and Miss Compton played the calliope. They were also invited to attend the Shriners' parade in Ashland last Saturday.

Mrs. Blair T. Burwell, Golden, Colo, niece of Fred Bailey, of Eastern, and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Kosaik, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Mae Ball, of Paintsville, sister of Mr. Bailey, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bailey last Saturday. Mrs. Don Bailey, of Hueysville, and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey and Janie joined them for dinner at the Bailey home, then all visited the Bailey cemetery and also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bailey, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Meade. Mrs. Burwell had not been here since she was 13 years old.

Mrs. Sid Bailey's father, Claude Rowe, a World War I veteran who was 79 years old on his birthday, October 21, was unable to attend the Red, White and Blue Day parade, but he enjoyed being with his family and grandchildren to enjoy birthday cake and ice cream. He told them of his experiences during the war in France and Germany.

$10,000 Grant Given Alice Lloyd College

Pippa Passes, Ky.—A $10,000 federal grant has recently been awarded to Alice Lloyd College to help finance the Special Services and Upward Bound programs at the College. The money will be used to supplement a $156,000 grant received earlier this year. Upward Bound is a program of cultural enrichment and academic development for high school students.

The Office of Education of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which awarded the grant, has also notified the College that the two programs have been assigned a "continuous non-competitive" status. This means the College will not have to re-apply for federal money for these programs each year, and that the College can better make long-range plans, according to Bob Hall, director of community services at ALC.

The $10,000 will be used to pay the salary of an additional staff person to be shared by Upward Bound and Special Services, and to pay additional student-tutors and purchase additional reading diagnostic materials, said Hall.

There are currently 117 students on campus benefiting from counseling, tutoring and remedial services made available by the Special Services program. Last summer, 98 area high school students participated in the College's special summer session of the year-round Upward Bound program.

GOD'S WARNING

Alcoholism is the most tragic and costly illness in the world today. Alcohol problems effect the lives of millions of men, women and children. "Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink"—Isaiah 5:22. "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise"—Prov. 20:1. "The drunkard shall come to poverty—" Prov. 23:21.

Half of highway accidents are the result of drunk driving. Broken marriages, physical and mental damage comes to the drinker. Who hath woe? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babblings? Who hath worries without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? God's warning says, "they that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine. Look not that upon the wine when it is red. When it giveth his odor in the cup. When it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. Isaiah 5:11 says woe unto them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink: That continue until night till wine inflame them. Daniel purposed in his heart tht he would not defile himself with wine, Daniel 1:8.

We have seen from God's word the woe's that befall those who drink. Now warnings from God, he states "the drunkard will be lost." Be not deceived. drunkards shall (not inherit the king dom of God." I Cor. 6:10. To those who make drink and sell it, God says, "woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and maketh him drunker, Hab:2:15. Drinking does not stop with just the sin of being a drunkard, it's just the starting point. "Thine eyes shall behold strange women and thine heart shall utter perverse things." Yea thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast. Remember God's warning about whores. Behold I will cast her, and them that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, except they repent of their deeds, Rev. 2:22. Drinking hits both men and women, more young girls end-up whores because of drinking. Whore mongers shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone. Rev. 21:8.

Meet Environmental Challenge Harris Urges Coal Operators

A challenge to solve the present energy crisis while maintaining a quality environment was issued to coal operators attending the recent Interstate Mining Compact Conference in Owensboro.

Thomas O. Harris, commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, called upon the operators and officials to "redouble your efforts at solving the present dilemma."

Referring to a meeting held last month in Washington, D.C., in which Nixon described coal as the fuel of the future, Harris warned that state officials should not leave the problem for federal agencies to solve.

"One thing we cannot do," he said, "is to relax, sit back and wait for the federal government to provide all the leadership, all the money, all the effort, and all the talent."

Research has already begun in Kentucky, Harris said, and will continue with Gov. Ford's indication that he is willing "to pour extensive state dollars into a complete coal research program."

While citing the need for fuel, the commissioner also warned that a balance must be reached between mining and protection of the air, land and water. A balance, he said, "that will allow us to do a better job of taking care of our environment and meeting the power and energy needs of our country."

Aubrey Wagner, of the Tennessee Valley Authority, told the Interstate Mining Compact audience that T.V.A. is "walking a tight rope involving energy and environment."

"We are producing energy to maintain a productive society but we are also focusing on environmental problems associated with the mining and burning of coal."

"If we have unnecessarily rigid restrictions, they will cut deeply into an already tight coal supply and make it impossible to maintain the vital flow of energy to the nation's homes and industries," Wagner said.

"We must reclaim strip mine land, but permit this kind of mining to continue under sound legislation," he added.

Two U.-K. Colleges Among Top Five

Both the College of Dentistry and the College of Pharmacy at the University of Kentucky are ranked among the five most outstanding professional schools in the nation within their own fields in a survey of 1,180 deans of professional schools.

The survey, made by two Columbia University sociologists and reported in the November issue of "Change" magazine, found UK's dentistry school tied for third among the nation's top five and the pharmacy school tied for fifth.

In "America's Leading Professional Schools," the lead article in the higher education journal, Columbia University sociologists Rebecca Zames Margulies and Peter M. Blau determined "American professional schools with the highest academic standings, based on their being named most often as one of the best by the deans in that type of professional school."

Few southern schools were listed among the five best in any of the 17 categories.

In pharmacy, UK's school was outranked by the University of California, San Francisco, and by Ohio State, Purdue and the University of Wisconsin; its dentistry school was outranked only by the University of North Carolina and the University of Michigan.

Dr. Otis A. Singletary, UK president, said, "We, of course, are absolutely delighted at this honor. To have two of our professional schools ranked in such high company may be unprecedented in the University's history."

DWALE NEWS

Our third prize float, "It's a Small World," was and is our pride and joy. We would like to offer our thanks to all the people who helped us with our float and our carnival. Our special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prichard and Cooley's Custom Cabinet Shop for their work on our float.

Our Hallowe'en carnival was also a big success. With mainly Dwale residents attending, our proceeds were approximately $200.00. We formally crowned our Royal Family, elected Louise Goble "Pretty Girl," Lester Blackburn, "Ugly Man," and David DeRossett won a nice door prize.

We received cash and material donations from many Prestonsburg and Allen merchants. Some of these donations we will sell chances on as the holiday season approaches. The following is a list of merchants who have aided in the success of our carnival and school year: Nelson's Ashland Oil, Bill's Phillip's 66, Ed Ousley's Gulf, Southern $ Store, General $ Store, Fountain Korner Drug, Minix Drug, Rose Drugs, Abby's Gift Shop, Ben Franklin Store, Stop and Shop, Wright's Barber Shop, Western Auto, Wm. We Could Eat The Good Earth and Survive

If you were lost in the wilds and could find no food, you could survive a long time by eating soil—the top layer of this good earth.

The earth's soil contains many nutritious elements to sustain the body. Animals eat much earth during the course of a lifetime. A cow in a field will eat anywhere from 200 to 1,000 pounds of soil each year and she fares well on a mixed diet of soil and plants.

A study of the sheep in Australia showed that each sheep eats from 20 to 100 pounds of soil annually. Sheep farmers of New Zealand and Australia feed their weaned lambs two ounces of soil daily. It was found that ingesting the soil increased the amount of selenium in the blood by as much as 50 percent. Selenium is a member of the sulphur group and helps animals to ward off infection.

In India the water buffalo lick the soil and gnaw hard-packed earth to obtain its valuable minerals. It is said they can survive even in a severe drouth by nibbling the soil and licking it with their tongue or munching it with the lips.

Clay, which is made up of fine particles of soil so small they cannot be seen without a microscope, contains many valuable minerals, some of which the body needs for nourishment. In clay is found kaolin, a fine white substance used in making medicines. Clay also contains bauxite, from which aluminum is made.

Many women of the south are known to crave clay to eat during pregnancy and, no doubt, many of them eat it on the sly. Many nutritionists believe a human being could survive for a time by licking or eating a well-balanced soil. In a well-balanced soil there are many minerals the body needs, such as salt, oxygen, nitrogen, carbon, potassium, iodine, to name a few. In winter, when there are few green foods to eat, animals browse on the soil. I have watched cows lick bare rocks and have seen horses nibble the soil and eat bits of it.

We came from the earth and are nourished by its elements. As Paul says, "We are 'earthy,'" and the elements of our mother earth have built our bodies—our bones, tissues and blood. "Sea water" runs in our veins and calcium sustains our bones. Sandy soil is too "gritty" to eat, but a well-balanced soil contains organic matter called "humus." From moist soil a man can suck out water with its valuable minerals to sustain life and slake the thirst.

If you should get lost in the wilds, study the types of soil where you may be and select the one that is most palatable. Soil is of three kinds: Sandy, loamy and clay. The clay soil is the most palatable and is easily digested. Pick up a handful of soil and rub it between the fingers. In this way you can judge its texture; avoid the coarse, gritty soil. A loamy soil feels smooth and velvety to the touch and has considerable stickiness. It "sticks to the ribs," as oldtimers say, and sustains the body. A clay soil has a silky, smooth, oily feel. It will stick longer with an empty stomach and thus help to ease the pangs of hunger.

So we'd better learn how to "eat the good earth" so we can survive. If foods keep on skyrocketing, we may soon have to stop eating such foods as ham, beef, pork and chicken and "pasture out" in someone's field so we can lick the soil and gnaw the rocks. These may not taste as delicious as ham and red gravy but they will keep starvation from the door. The quickest way for the lady shoppers to bring down the high prices of food is to arrange "field parties," and openly and brazenly eat soil and lick the rocks for nourishment. This should be done by a group of leading ladies, while the movie cameras record the momentous occasion for posterity!

conviction of the person or persons who on Nov. 3 closed a valve of the line feeding gas to Prestonsburg and Paintsville; another of $5,000 for each individual act of sabotage up to a maximum of $50,000.

Referring to the incidents, Charles Kendrick, president of the local union, was quoted as saying, "I'm sure none of our boys did it. They all have been instructed not to."

The union official also said the warning by the company that service might be curtailed was "just propaganda," that they've (the company) the means to keep them supplied indefinitely" and that the company wants the public to think the strike will jeopardize service. "There's no way we would put anybody out of gas," he added.

The gas service interruption for Prestonsburg and Paintsville did not materialize, it was said, because closing of a valve on Middle Creek was discovered before the line supply of gas was exhausted.

Other lines reported closed included a 12-inch line in Pike county, and 8-inch line in Perry, one of the same size at Drift and a valve of the Ohio Utility Company in this county.

The strike is the result, the gas company contends, of one unresolved grievance which the company has agreed to arbitrate by a neutral arbitrator. The company says it agreed with the federal labor mediator's proposal that such grievance be arbitrated, and the company is still willing to do so.

The local union president said three meetings were held with a federal mediator prior to the strike to settle the differences, which included alleged violations of the contract by the company.

Kendrick said, "We would have been glad to go with his (the mediator's) recommendations." He noted the proposal met with the union's approval, but "it is my understanding the company would not go along with it."

He said four of the 10 grievances were settled during that arbitration, but the main union gripe involves the alleged dismissal of two employees Sept. 24.

The company says no union workers have been dismissed and that there has been no loss of union employment.

spection on the job apparently is several weeks away. Meanwhile, the superintendent said, new units will be hooked up each day, the building will be warmer and when the work is completed the result will be a much improved, much safer heating system.

"I ask students and their parents to be patient and bear with us," he added.

Plans for the conversion from steam heat through use of coal-fired boilers to forced-air heat generated by gas were first begun 18 months ago when it became apparent that the school's heating plant was Prestonsburg's biggest air polluter and that the old heating system was almost worn out. The application for gas to fuel the plant was made more than a year ago to beat the deadline for accepting new consumers. Supt. Clark said. Serious planning began seven months ago.

If colder weather brings discomfort and conditions inimical to study, school will again be dismissed, Mr. Clark said. But days lost must be made up later, he added.

The totals in the Prestonsburg municipal election, including absentee ballots, were unofficially reported at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, as follows:

For Mayor—William O. Goebel, Jr., 760; Paul Phillip Hughes, 479.
For City Council—Harold Cooley, 910; Roy Dean Roberts, 335; Walter L. (Buck) Mann, 277; Edgille "Shag" Branham, 797; Princess L. Ball, 338; John F. Brown, 565; Dr. N. Roger Jurich, 807; Paul E. Joseph, 703; Harry Robert Burke, 739; Abby Bolling, 532; Cloyd Johnson, 745; E. B. May, Jr., 575; Clifford Wright, 427; Dr. H. G. Salisbury, Jr., 500; Byron Nunnery, 641; Burl Wells Spurlock, 726; Dr. Ed Leslie, 570.

The official tabulation of the voting will be published in next week's Times.

CEP Is Funded Thru July '74

Secretary Laurel True of the Department for Human Resources has been advised that the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program (CEP), headquartered in Hazard, has been federally funded to operate through July 12, 1974.

Secretary True said the funds to the Eastern Kentucky CEP—a $216,252 allocation by the U.S. Department of Labor—will serve 100 chronically unemployed persons in Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Floyd, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike and Wolfe counties.

CEP seeks to bring together in one unified effort the various manpower programs administered by the U.S. Department of Labor to help the hard-core disadvantaged in the heaviest areas of unemployment prepare for, find, and hold permanent jobs.

Operating through a single local sponsor, CEP seeks out the hard-core unemployed in ghettos and other areas of concentrated unemployment. The program makes available to such persons manpower and related supportive services including orientation, basic education, counseling, physical examinations, medical treatment, day care for their children, work experience, job training, job development and job placement.

The Bureau for Manpower Services of the Kentucky Department for Human Resources will determine the need for workers in the occupations in which training is to be provided, and will offer supportive services.

The vocational division of the state Department of Education will provide academic services during the period of vocational training.

LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETS

The October meeting of the Boldman Freewill Baptist Ladies' Auxiliary was held October 23 at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Johnson. President Annabelle Puckett opened the meeting with the song "Jesus Calls." Prayer was led by Prayer Chairman Mae Cecil. A skit entitled "We Can Serve Christ" was presented by several members under the direction of Sister Patty Maynard. Following the skit business was begun with the reading of the newly formed constitution and by-laws. Both were discussed and accepted. The meeting was dismissed by the Lord's Prayer. After being dismissed everyone enjoyed an hour of refreshments and fellowship. Several husbands were present along with their wives. Those members attending were: Drazie Reynolds, Aileen Cole, Ruby Hanes, Lorraine Layne, Bobbie Phillips, Phyllis Johnson, Belle Conn, Mae Cecil, Betty Phillips, Annabelle Puckett, Patty Maynard, Dorsie Reynolds, Donna Rita Ratliff, Debbie Phillips, Belinda Johnson, Lucy Johnson and visitor Ruby Smith.

RULES ON SICK LEAVE

The Attorney General has opined in OAG 73585 that a teacher who is granted a leave of absence for maternity is not entitled to sick leave (leave with pay) during any part of the absence. "Although confinement for childbirth is a disability, it does not arise as an unexpected emergency and a necessary leave of absence is bound to occur. For this reason, it is our opinion (OAG) that in normal pregnancy and childbirth occurrence a board of education is justified in not allowing a period of sick leave and leave of absence to run with immediate succession."

Meals on Wheels Gets Help

A changing roster of volunteers is helping Meals on Wheels serve hot and cold meals five days a week to clients in the Martin, Allen and Prestonsburg areas. A coffee was held October 29 at 10 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church to honor and introduce these new volunteers, Kathy Sauchek, Sister Linda Wilkin, Judy Gunter, Leslie Burke, Ruth Roberts, Esther Ward, Judy Ranier, Joyce Freels, Ruby Catherine Clifton, Donna Combs, Phyllis Moore, and Allen Underhill. Volunteer workers who were present to greet them and answer questions were Jean Rosenberg, Sylvia Atkinson, Hager White, Evelyn Fowle, and Mary Kay Klein.

Operating out of the kitchen of the First Presbyterian Church here, the volunteers help prepare and deliver meals to invalids, the elderly or others who are unable to prepare their own meals. In addition to these responsibilities, other volunteers plan meals, purchase groceries, make phone calls to coordinate the schedules of volunteers, plan fund-raising projects and promote publicity.

Six volunteers are required daily to implement the preparation and delivery of the meals. These are the Chairmen of the Day, the Meal Maker, two drivers and two visitors who actually deliver food from car to home. Regular volunteers who are active at present are Helen Chitti, Sylvia Atkinson, Sister Ita, Kathy Sauchek, Sister Linda Wilkin, Mary Ann Jackson, Ruth Sowards, Mary Lou Layne, Mary Belle Short, Judy Gunter, special meeting set at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) with the Floyd fiscal court in the county courtroom for the opening of bids on Phase II at Allen Central High School. The fiscal court serves as fiscal agent in the undertaking.

An order was approved providing for cooperation between the board and the various military services in the founding and operating of junior ROTC units in high schools of the county which can meet certain criteria. The general qualification is that the high school could have as many as 180 students enrolled in ROTC at the end of three years after institution of the unit.

The board approved resolutions of respect to be drafted honoring Wayne Ratliff, Sr. for his 42 years of service to education in the county. In other action the board:

1. At the recommendation of the superintendent employed Ralph Dingus as temporary replacement for Margie Sammons as teacher at Martin and Wava Turner as replacement for Donna May, kindergarten teacher at Martin. The replacements were made after the two teachers had been granted leaves of absence.

2. Employed Wania Stephens as teacher aide at Clark elementary to succeed Velva Howard, who resigned; and Dema Lafferty as substitute cook at Allen Centra.

3. Approved out-of-state travel for John K. Pitts, principal of Clark elementary school, to attend a Right To Read seminar in Washington, D. C. next month at Right To Read expense.

4. Joined other school districts in an appeal to the Kentucky Appellate Court (see separate story).

When One Man's slaying Almost Caused Civil War

By PAULA ALEXANDER

Frankfort, Ky.—Gun-toting mountaineers were conspicuously absent from the scene at 11:15 a.m., Jan. 30, 1900, as Sen. William Goebel approached the steps of the building now known as the Old Capitol. A few seconds later, a rifle cracked and Goebel lay mortally wounded.

He was declared governor of the state the next day but died Feb. 3 after serving a term of less than 72 hours. The raging turmoil that followed the assassination nearly plunged Kentucky into a civil war.

The controversy stemmed from the earlier November state election in which the Republican candidate for governor, W. S. Taylor, supposedly defeated Goebel, the Democratic nominee, by 2,383 votes.

Goebel immediately contended that fraud was involved and a special legislative committee was appointed to investigate the charges. The committee's findings were to be announced in the Senate chamber on the morning that Goebel was shot.

Goebel faced much opposition—the greatest being from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. During his 12 years as a state senator, Goebel had established himself as a corporation foe and had discovered that more than $12 million in railroad property had escaped taxation.

Goebel's reputation had been blemished by his killing of John Sanford, a bank cashier and ex-Confederate, in a Covington street duel on April 11, 1895. The two men were political enemies, and Goebel had written an article in a local newspaper, denouncing Sanford. The insulted man confronted the senator with the story and the shooting followed. Sanford died five hours later, but charges against Goebel were dismissed on grounds of self-defense.

These controversial issues, coupled with Taylor's disputed narrow margin of victory, thus laid the groundwork for the assassination.

Frankfort streets were crowded with state militia and Secretary of State Caleb Powers, a Republican, even summoned 1,200 men from Eastern Kentucky to intimidate pro-Goebel forces. The mountaineers camped on the Capitol grounds, but few were present when Goebel was shot.

The next day, as Goebel lay dying, the legislative committee, forced to meet in the Capitol Hotel because the Taylor government had barred the State Capitol, reported that he was indeed governor.

Chief Justice James H. Hazelrigg administered the oath of office to Goebel on his death-bed, and J.C.W. Beckham was sworn in as lieutenant governor.

Goebel signed his only proclamation—one calling for the immediate dispersal of the 1st and 2nd regiments of the Kentucky State Guards. Goebel's followers claimed that the regiments, which supported Taylor, conducted their drills directly beneath the dying governor's window.

After Goebel's death, Beckham assumed the governorship. Taylor refused to vacate his office and Beckham conducted his gubernatorial duties from the Franklin county courthouse.

The matter was finally resolved on May 21, 1900, by a Supreme Court ruling that Goebel had been the true governor. Taylor fled to Indianapolis, the same day.

Subsequent investigation revealed that the assassin shot Goebel from Caleb Powers' office. Powers had left for Louisville, earlier that morning. A witness testified that Powers frequently asked for news during the trip and suspicious Goebel partisans charged that he may have been involved in a conspiracy to kill Goebel.

Powers was convicted of conspiracy to commit murder and, after serving more than eight years in jail, was pardoned by Gov. A. E. Willson in 1909.

Henry Youtsey, a young clerk in the auditor's office, also figured prominently in the assassination. He said that he had conducted a Clay county resident, James Howard, into Powers' office, shown him a gun and cartridges and pointed out Goebel, who was coming up the walk.

Youtsey said that he then left Howard in the office, but stood outside the door with his hand on the knob until he heard the shots. According to the clerk, he then ran out of the building, shouting, "What's all this shooting about?"

A bullet imbedded in a tree in the line of fire was found to be identical to those ordered by Youtsey from an Ohio firm. After a confinement of more than 15 years, Youtsey was pardoned by Gov. James Black.

Howard denied any connection with the murder and said that he had been in a local hotel at the time. He was also convicted of conspiracy but was pardoned in 1908 by Gov. Willson.

Rumors and speculation as to who was really behind the killing of Goebel have persisted for more than 70 years. It seems likely that the real story behind the assassination will remain a mystery.

PLAN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY
A legislative subcommittee approved a plan to put priorities on equalizing opportunities in the state. The plan, called district power equalization, includes a guarantee that all 189 local school districts would obtain the same amount of tax money for educational purposes. The report places a priority on this plan over another proposal which would rearrange state aid to a per pupil cost ratio rather than the current per classroom method.

The U. S. Employment Service placed more than three million men and women in jobs during the 1973 fiscal year, the Labor Department reports.

Club Has Special Project

A special program of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club is the Special Education class at Garrett. Shown here with teacher and pupils are, third from left in rear row, Mrs. S. M. Martin, club president, and extreme right Mrs. J. C. Wells, a club member.

Wayland, Ky.—An interesting program on consumer education was presented recently to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club by clubmember, Mrs. Marie Mullins. The occasion was the October program meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Garrett.
Speaking on "Read the Label," Mrs. Mullins cautioned her listeners to "stop, look, and read all labels carefully." She further explained that whichever ingredient is mentioned first is the largest ingredient present. She emphasized that packaged foods should be bought by weight rather than the size of the package. She also pointed out that now used car dealers must have all names of former owners furnished to them before they can resell a used car. Mrs. Mullins passed out mimeographed sheets listing the 10 rules for labels under current law.
Prior to the program Mrs. J. T. Spillman gave the devotion followed by the Pledge to the Flag. Mrs. J. C. Wells, club parliamentarian, briefly discussed the club's by-laws and offered several suggestions on parliamentary procedure.
During the business session following the program, the club president, Mrs. S. M. Martin, reported a visit she, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and Mrs. J. C. Wells made to the Special Education class at Garrett Elementary. Regular visits and gifts of needed items are a part of the club's project to assist the class at this school.
A contribution was also made to the Morehead Girls' Home. Clubmembers were reminded of their annual $1 each gift for Veterans' Christmas to be paid at the next club meeting November 19 at the home of Mrs. Don Hughes, Garrett. Tickets will be sold by clubmembers to assist in raising money for the Kentucky Federation's Nephrology Fund.

Those present were Mrs. Dora Reed, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. Rex Martin, Mrs. James E. Martin, Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Alice Hornsby, Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. Eugene Collins, Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Mrs. Stanley Bamer, Mrs. Jack Stephens, Mrs. Birchell Duff, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. Rondall Lawson, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Otto Martin, and one guest, Mrs. Jo Ann Hall, proprietor of the new flower shop at Garrett.

Floyd Woman Heads Russell Branch Bank

Mrs. Jane Slone has been appointed manager of the Russell Road Branch of the Third National Bank of Ashland, according to John W. Woods Jr., bank president.
A native of Floyd county, Mrs. Slone attended public schools here, graduating from Prestonsburg High School. She attended Berea College before coming with the bank in 1955 in the proof department.
She worked in the bookkeeping department and later became a teller at the main office and then at the Carter Avenue Branch. When the Russell Road Branch opened in 1969, Mrs. Slone was named head teller and in January of this year was made assistant manager of that branch.
She is a member of the First Christian Church of Russell. She and her husband, David, have two children, Michael Brent and Davonna Jane. Mrs. Slone is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hill, of the Abbott Road.

$5,000 REWARD

($50,000 Maximum)

FOR INFORMATION LEADING TO ARREST AND CONVICTION

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage against its property and equipment, beginning November 1, 1973. Law enforcement officers, including federal, state and local have been notified.

The company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person wilfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas, injuring or destroying any of the company's operating equipment or facilities, for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance of interference with the flow of gas, injury, or destruction of property is $5,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $50,000. The company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate January 1, 1974, subject to extension by the company. This offer of reward cancels and supersedes long standing previous reward offers of $500 each.

The increased number of such acts of sabotage endangers the public which is dependent on gas for safety, health, and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the company's facilities will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as part of Kentucky West Virginia's obligation to provide safe and dependable gas service to its customers.

This offer of reward does not pertain to the interruption of gas service to the Hazard Gas Company on November 1, 1973 or to the attempted interruptions to gas service to the City of Prestonsburg, the City of Paintsville, Johnson County Gas Company, Ohio-Kentucky Utilities, or Mountain Utilities on November 3, 1973, for which separate rewards have previously been offered and are still available.

AREA NOMINATIONS MEETINGS NEXT WEEK!!

Comprehensive Health Care, Inc., Is Now Organizing Countywide

The new Board of Directors forming the health policy of Comprehensive Health Care, Incorporated, will be nominated at meetings next week. The success or failure of this OEO funded program depends upon the quality of its leadership.

For thousands of Floyd Countians, health and medical care availability constitutes a continuing crisis. To solve our problems in the areas of health and medical care, the new Board of Directors will need those people directly affected by prevailing care patterns. It is hoped that a partnership in planning with our potential consumers of care and our concerned professional providers will bring constructive thought and action to the new Board of Directors.

Please attend area meetings in your district and contribute your time and interest in this worthy cause. Consult the information below for time and location as well as eligibility standards for voting and nomination.

The following times and dates will be observed for the area nomination and election meetings:

“Waltz of Toreadors” Opens at Pike College

Pikeville, Ky.—The Waltz of the Toreadors is set to open in the Chrisman Auditorium of Pikeville College, November 2, at 8:15. Additional performances will be held on November 3 and 5, at the same time.

Written by one of Europe's foremost playwrights, Jean Anouilh, The Waltz of the Toreadors has been described by Walter Kerr, theatre critic for the New York Times, as “one of the ten or twelve finest plays to come along in the past quarter century.” The story of the play centers around the inability of an aging but amorous general to escape his harpie-like wife. Ranging from farcical humor to intense drama, The Waltz of the Toreadors is certain to provide the spectator with a solid evening of entertainment and food for thought.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling 432-3161, ext. 240.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Kentucky's hunters should remember that there is a closed season on all wildlife from Nov. 1 through midnight Nov. 14.

The only exceptions to this general closed season are:

—The shake-out season on raccoon and opossum, which opened Oct. 22, will continue through Nov. 14. Hunters may take these two species with dogs only, and may not carry guns, slingshots, or other weapons.

—The statewide goose season, which will run from Nov. 12 through Jan. 20.

—The gun deer season, which opens Nov. 3 and runs through Nov. 7, in all counties except Jackson and Owsley.

This two week closed season is a busy time for hunters—a time for making last minute preparations. Hunters can utilize the time by securing permission to hunt on private farmlands, checking the condition of firearms, getting in some last minute target practice or dog training, buying licenses, deer tags, and duck stamps.

But it should also be a time for thinking, for examining your attitudes towards hunting, a time to ask yourself bluntly and honestly, “Am I a sportsman, or a slob?”

There are slob hunters, and all too often these are the ones the public sees and hears about. The slob hunter is responsible, either directly or indirectly, for the growing number of posted signs which close good hunting lands. He is also responsible in a large part for the increasing opposition to all hunting, an opposition which could lead to outlawing the sport outright.

The slob hunter is a vandal. He shoots highway signs, buildings, and livestock. He cuts fences, doesn't close gates, and leaves a trail of litter to mark his passing.

The slob hunter is a menace. He endangers himself and his companions with his disregard for the rules of safe gun handling. To the slob, anything that flies, walks, or even rustles some nearby bush is a target. His daily bag may include a songbird, a farmyard cat, an owl, or even another hunter.

The slob hunter is an outlaw. For him, game laws are made to be broken, and he takes delight in boasting to his buddies how he outwits conservation officers. Like other outlaws, he has no respect for the rights of others and will claim other hunters' game as his own.

The slob hunter is—a slob. There is perhaps no other printable word which so adequately describes one who “skybusts,” who shoots at a duck hopelessly out of range, only crippling it, or who fires a careless and hasty shot at a deer and then will not follow the wounded animal because it is too much trouble.

Fortunately, the slobs are in the minority. Still, it is time for the true sportsmen of the state to dedicate themselves to the proposition that the slob should become an extinct species.

Report his depredations to the local conservation officer, refuse to be an audience for his braggings, and decline all invitations to hunt with him. He'll get the message, and the sooner he does the better off the true hunters of Kentucky will be.

$10,000.00 REWARD

For Information Leading To Arrest and Conviction

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage against its gas lines and equipment. Appropriate law enforcement officers, including the FBI, state and local authorities, have been notified and investigations are now underway.

The Company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the Company or to any law enforcement agency of the state of Kentucky or of the federal government or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who willfully and maliciously on November 1, 1973, caused the interruption of gas service to the Hazard Gas Company by tampering with the gas lines and valves of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The maximum payable is $10,000.00. The Company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate January 1, 1974, subject to extension by the Company.

This unlawful, malicious and inhuman tampering with the Company's lines, which prevented the flow of gas to the homes of innocent persons, endangered the residents of the City of Hazard, the hospitals, the sick and elderly, and the public generally, who are dependent upon gas for safety, health and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the Company's Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's obligations to provide safe and dependable service to its customers.

GAS COMPANY PROMOTES TWO

MR. DANIEL

L. E. Roberts, vice-president and general manager of Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, has announced the promotion of two employees to staff positions, effective November 1, 1973.
Donald E. Daniel, supervisor of safety in the Engineering Department, was named supervisor of labor relations in the Personnel Department, with headquarters here. In this new position, Mr. Daniel will report directly to the assistant personnel director and will be working with all matters related to the company's labor agreement, as well as various other personnel matters and assigned to him.
James F. Colvin, technical fieldman in the Compressor Station Department, was promoted to supervisor of safety in the Engineering Department, with headquarters in Prestonsburg. In his new position, Colvin will report directly to the manager of safety and will plan, coordinate and supervise the company safety program in the interest of reducing or eliminating employee occupational accidents and illnesses.
He attended Johnson county schools and was graduated from Paintsville high school in 1955. He was employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company before he began his service with the gas company as a regular laborer in 1957. He worked at various jobs within the union before being promoted on Feb. 1, 1970 to technical fieldman in the Compressor Station Department where he assisted in the maintenance of the company's electronic communications system.
Colvin is a member of the National Management Association and Paintsville Masonic Lodge. He makes his home at Paintsville with his wife, Allene, and two sons, Mike, 14, and Mark, 12.
Mr. Daniel attended Johnson county schools and graduated from Meade Memorial High School in 1957. He was in the U.S. Air Force four years and was an office manager for American Finance Company before joining Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company as a clerk in the Production Department in 1966. He progressed to field foreman in 1971 and was promoted to supervisor of safety on January 1, 1973. He is a member of the National Management Association and Paintsville Masonic Lodge. He resides at Thealka, Kentucky, with his wife, Gayle, and their nine-year-old son, Morey.

Ashland Man Named Author of The Year

An Ashland newsman who began his journalistic career in the Buckeye state more than 18 years ago was named one of Ohio's "Authors of the year" (Oct. 27) in Columbus by the Ohioana Library Association.
Gene Marvin, Jr., regional staff writer for the Ashland Daily Independent, was among 10 honored for his recently-published novel, "Vestige of Valor," published by Vantage Press.
The Ashland native began his newspaper career in 1955 after completion of journalism studies at the University of Kentucky. His first job was with the Daily Sentinel at Pomeroy, O., and two years later he joined the staff of the Ironton, O. Daily Tribune.
Marvin has been on The Independent staff since January, 1961.
The 44th annual event of the Martha Kinney Cooper Library Association honored Ohio's authors and music composers.
John Glenn, retired astronaut, received a career medal for 1973. Honored for his musical contribution was John Alexander, of the Metropolitan Opera, who began his career in Cincinnati.
The association also honored Christian Science Monitor newsman Dana Adams Schmidt, an expert on the Mideast.

In the 1973 fiscal year, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration awarded more than $3.6 million in grants to help 40 states and U. S. territories develop their own safety and health plans.

Tom Harris, commissioner of Natural Resources, announced in a recent news conference that nine of the state's coal companies will soon have spent more than 4.2 million dollars to correct their discharge problems.

UK Agriculture College Lists Five From Floyd

Five students from Floyd County were enrolled this semester as undergraduates in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, according to Dr. Charles E. Barnhart, Dean of the College.

These students are: Eugenia M. Decoursey, Bill Arnold Hackworth, Rudolph Ousley, Deborah Susanne Stumbo and Cline Douglas Watson.

Undergraduate enrollment in the UK College of Agriculture was up 9 percent this fall over the fall of 1972, Dr. Barnhart said. A steady increase in enrollment has been noted each year since the fall of 1968 when only 432 students were enrolled in the College.

Two Floyd Soldiers In Exercise Reforger

U.S. Forces, Germany, Oct. 17—Sp-4 John T. Handshoe, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Handshoe, Garrett, Ky., and Sp-4 James L. Howell, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howell, of the Abbott road, Prestonsburg, Ky., participated with other American and Allied troops in Exercise Reforger V in Germany, Oct. 10-16.

The military airlift command flew approximately 11,000 U.S.-based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Handshoe is regularly assigned as a mechanic and clerk with Headquarters Troop, 3rd Squadron of the 3rd infantry division's 7th Cavalry at Schweinfurt, Germany. His wife, Emogene, is with him in Germany. Howell is a driver in Company C, 1st Battalion, 7th Infantry of the Third Infantry Division stationed in Aschaffenburg, Germany.

Bear Message from Teachers

When Gov. Wendell Ford brought his office to Prestonsburg recently, two who spoke with him were Miss Debbie Johnson and Miss Laura Jagers, representing Prestonsburg elementary teachers. They presented the Governor a letter of welcome from the teachers which also expressed their concern about funding of the 30-year retirement plan. Ford said that the plan "will be funded as I present it in my budget." Both students at Prestonsburg elementary school, Miss Johnson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson, and Miss Jagers is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Jagers, all of Prestonsburg.

MAYTOWN HOMEMAKERS MEET

Maytown Homemakers met at the Maytown Grade school cafeteria. Mrs. Thelma Hicks was hostess and the meeting was called to order by Marcella Bailey, president. Mrs. Alda Gibson read the devotional and Mrs. Imalee Spillman led the group in singing several songs of the past.

Members were entertained by the Maytown Girl Scouts and their leader, Mrs. Paul Patton, in doing their square dance routines, which they will be doing when they visit Washington, D.C. Mrs. Beatrice Swetnam gave the lesson recognizing symptoms of illness.

Several members attended and everyone enjoyed the refreshments served by Mrs. Hicks. The members enjoyed especially joining in with the girl scouts and learning to square dance.

Gov. Wendell Ford announced last week that he is providing $123,000, through his contingency fund, to the Department of Banking and Securities for the implementation of a program to upgrade personnel and operations within that department.

DISMISSES PIPELINE CASE

The Public Service Commission has dismissed proceedings against the Auxier Road Gas Company for alleged violation of the PSC pipeline design standards. The pipe in question has been replaced by another which meets required standards.

College graduates in 1972 seemed more committed than students of 10 years ago to the belief that friendships and family relationships must not be sacrificed or placed in a secondary position to careers, according to a U. S. Department of Labor study.

$10,000 REWARD

(Attempted Interruption of Gas Service to Prestonsburg, Paintsville and other customers)

FOR INFORMATION LEADING TO ARREST AND CONVICTION

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage against its gas lines and equipment. Law enforcement officers, including federal, state and local have been notified.

The company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who wilfully and maliciously on November 3, 1973 caused the interruption of gas flow in company line No. 1 which supplies gas to the City of Prestonsburg, the City of Paintsville, Johnson County Gas Company, Mountain Utilities, and Ohio-Kentucky Utilities by closing a valve in Line No. 1 of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate January 1, 1974, subject to extension by the company.

This unlawful and malicious tampering with the company's lines which would have, had the valve not been quickly reopened by company supervisory personnel, prevented the flow of gas to the homes of innocent persons and would have endangered the residents of the cities mentioned above, the hospitals, and the public generally who are dependent on gas for safety, health, and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the company's facilities will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as a part of Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's obligation to provide safe and dependable service to its customers.
