

FLASH FLOODS sent mud and water swirling through homes in various parts of the county Saturday afternoon and into this church at the head of West Prestonsburg's Garbage Hollow. Surveying the damage is Mrs. Don Shepherd, wife of the pastor of the Trinity Pentecostal Church of God. Residents blamed a nearby stripmine, currently being reclaimed by the Red Fox Mining Co. under federal Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Project funds, for the severity of the flooding. Perhaps the hardest-hit section of the county was Prater Creek, where the main stream and various tributaries broke their banks, flooding homes and washing out roads.

Size of Payroll Determines Cost, Allen Explains

It is true that, as a Times story on the 1982-'83 county audit noted last week, the cost of compensation insurance for Floyd county workers for 1983 was almost double what it is for 1984.

It is also true that the higher premium was charged when the insurance contract was not advertised for bids. But it does not follow that the steep increase in cost resulted from the lack of competitive bidding, Denzil Allen, a partner in the firm that secured the insurance contract both years, has pointed out.

The cost of workers' compensation insurance depends on the size of the county payroll, Allen explained. In November, 1982, when the Hatton-Allen insurance agency agreed to cover Floyd workers for a $25,636 premium, the price was based on a $997,400 county payroll estimate. A year later, when Hatton-Allen was again awarded the contract on a low bid of $13,370, budget cuts had reduced the payroll to $612,630.

Moreover, while the 1983 insurance contract was not formally bid, the county did informally receive quotes from two insurance agencies besides his, Allen noted. The Hall-Clark agency, which then carried the county policy, offered to renew it from $26,928. The Kentucky Association of Counties quoted $27,481.

Appellate Court Upholds Rezoning Residential Area

Plans by a Prestonsburg bank to build on riverfront property bounded by Arnold Avenue and U.S. 23 may have cleared their last legal hurdle Friday, when a state appeals court upheld a lower court decision dismissing a neighbor's complaint that the property had been improperly rezoned.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals affirmed a decision handed down last July by Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, who rejected an argument by Arnold Avenue residents Garland and Wonnell Godsey that the Floyd County Joint Planning Commission and the city of Prestonsburg had acted illegally in changing from residential to commercial the classification of three Arnold Avenue tracts, one of them the site of the Garfield place.

The land was reclassified by Prestonsburg city council in 1980 at the request of owners of the First Commonwealth Bank, who plan to build a four-story bank building there. On a complaint by the Godseys, Judge Conley overturned the council's action in August, 1981, citing technical deficiencies in the way the rezoning was carried out.

First Commonwealth renewed its petition in November, 1982, and the city council again complied, rezoning the three tracts the following February.

Not only did the second rezoning survive a court challenge by the Godseys, but the bank responded with a challenge of its own, charging that the joint planning commission was never properly constituted.

Because the city of Prestonsburg and the Floyd fiscal court failed to approve a statement of goals and objectives mandated by law, the joint planning commission lacked legal authority from the start, argued Cliff Latta, the bank's attorney.

Since the present litigation arose, the fiscal court has disbanded the joint commission and Prestonsburg has created its own zoning panel in its stead.

Work on the bank structure is expected to begin soon.

Isaac Chosen In Marathon Caucus

In a complicated procedure that confined party diehards in a sweltering courtroom for six hours Saturday, Floyd Democrats re-elected Martin coalminer Morris Isaac as county chairman by a wide margin over Prestonsburg physician Dr. Larry Leslie.

"Christmas came early," gloated one Isaac supporter, a reference to an earlier jibe by Leslie that Isaac "must believe in Santa Claus" if he thought he could carry eight precincts in the lower end of the county.

As it happened, the burly miner not only clinched his share of the first district precincts but handily outdistanced his opponent countywide.

In a vote to choose a convention chairman—the first test of the candidates' strength—77 of the 136 delegates voted for Isaac, 59 for Leslie. When the time came to choose the county executive committee, Leslie's support had eroded further, 43 delegates choosing his candidates, compared to 77 for Isaac's.

In an early procedural tactic, Leslie's supporters insisted on using a formula that weighed delegate votes according to the number of registered Democrats in each precinct—a rule that some Isaac followers criticized as designed to capitalize on Leslie's support in the more populous, urban precincts.

In any event, the delegates—who were chosen, three from each precinct, a week before—overwhelmingly picked for the county executive committee candidates known to favor Isaac. The committee duly chose Isaac as chairman and Isaac appointed Delores Dingus, of Martin, as vice-chairman.

Others on the 15-member committee are: David Layne, H. Mike Wells, Clifford Hamilton, Oliver Williamson, Joe Ed Stone, Ernest G. Burchett, Charles D. Dingus, Earl D. Ousley, Burl Shepherd, Edgel Hall, Bob Hackworth, Jr., Joey Bowling and Gary Lovely.

Of 10 members of the outgoing committee who voted to nominate John M. Stumbo for judge-executive last year, eight will serve another four-year term. None of the five who voted for Barkley Sturgill at that time has been returned to the committee.

Members of the executive committee will be automatically included among 37 Floyd delegates to the party's state convention in June.

(Seventh Congressional District delegates became the center of a controversy at the state convention four years ago, when they were temporarily

Plan Countywide Cleanup

SIGNING OF PROCLAMATION declaring May 14-18 Floyd County Cleanup Week. From left, to right, standing—Jim Jones, Floyd county maintenance engineer; Denton Billiter, district engineer, State Department of Transportation; Mayor Harold Cooley, Prestonsburg mayor, and Eugene Blackburn, committee chairman for Floyd County Cleanup. Seated—Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo.

County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo has proclaimed the week of May 14-19 as Floyd County Cleanup Week, and county, state and city agencies are rallying for the fight on a garbage-litter problem that is described by Judge Stumbo as becoming "progressively worse."

Community leaders, volunteer fire departments, civic clubs and other groups are being encouraged to organize community groups for the cleanup effort. Organizational work is being led by a citizens' committee headed by Eugene Blackburn, of Cow Creek.

During the week trucks of both county and state highway departments will accompany Solid Waste trucks to pick up and haul away the refuse accumulated through efforts of homeowners and other interested citizens. The schedule for pickup will be the same as the regular Solid Waste pickup route for each community, it was said.

Citizens are being urged to clean up their premises, roadsides and waterways and place refuse in plastic bags and boxes and leave these at the regular Solid Waste pickup points. No large items such as stoves, refrigerators, furniture and the like will be handled by pickup crews, but David Cooley, director of Solid Waste, said that persons wishing to dispose of such items may take them to the county landfill during operating hours, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at no fee charge during Cleanup Week.

Kirby Ison, chief district engineer, Kentucky Department of Highways, said he is contacting officials of all incorporated towns in the county, asking their assistance in cleaning highway medians. He indicated that, once this is done, the Highway Department will paint the medians.

Cordination of backup trucks for use during the week is being done by Judge Stumbo, Denton Billiter, district engineer, state Highway Department, and Jim Jones, county maintenance engineer.

Music Festival To Lose Parade

Although there will be no parade this year, the Floyd County Music Festival will be held here Thursday, May 10, with all other categories of competition scheduled and an evening of music to be enjoyed beginning at 7 p.m. in the high school gymnasium, here.

School board personnel said that because of criticism of early school dismissal last year for the parade, and because of the difficulty involved in getting students from distant parts of the county to Prestonsburg in time for a parade after school hours, it was decided to forego the parade this year.

In other respects, all systems are go, and one of the highlights of the evening will be the choosing of one of the five

Tests To Delay Stanley Hearing

A Melvin man facing robbery and wanton endangerment charges was ordered last week to undergo psychiatric evaluation to help assess whether he is fit to stand trial.

At the request of the prosecutor, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ordered Willard Stanley, Jr. to report to Central State Hospital in Louisville for 30 days' observation. Stanley was earlier examined by Dr. Deborah Stanley, a Lexington physician, to gather evidence in support of a defense claim that he was emotionally unstable at the time of the 1982 incidents which led to the present charges and is too ill now to stand trial.

Son of state Mines and Minerals Commissioner Willard Stanley, the younger Stanley was accused of commandeering

After 1 Cleared, 6 Dismissed...

Defense Attorney Questions Discretion of Grand Jury

The summary acquittal of two Grethel women on theft charges Monday, the latest in a series of directed verdicts and jury acquittals, shows that the Floyd Circuit Court grand jury is doing a poor job deciding which cases should be brought to trial, according to an attorney for one of the women.

It took a circuit court petit jury less than five minutes to decide that the state had proven no case against Zettie Bentley and her daughter, Tammy Hall. And, even if the jury had returned a guilty verdict, he would have set it aside, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley indicated.

The fact that, in the past two weeks, seven defendants have been found not guilty—one acquitted by a jury, and six on the instruction of a judge—shows that the grand jury is exercising "zero discretion" in handing down indictments, complained Public Defender Ned Pillersdorf, Mrs. Bentley's attorney.

The Commonwealth's Attorney, who presides over grand jury sessions, "has an ethical obligation only to prosecute where there is evidence a crime has been committed," Pillersdorf said. "Instead, the policy seems to be to drag people into court and make them prove their innocence."

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said he would have no comment to make on the performance of the grand jury which, he noted, makes its decisions in secret. As to his own role in deciding whether or not to bring a case to trial, Allen said that dismissing cases too readily is likely not only to offend the grand jury but also to draw criticism that the prosecutor is not willing to do his job.

"We try to prosecute cases we think there is evidence for," said Allen, who added that the rights of complaining witnesses must also be respected. "At least, if it goes to a jury, they feel like they've had their day in court," he explained.

Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Hall were accused of stealing household items from Richard Akers' Mud Creek residence in January, 1983, while Akers and his then estranged wife were in the midst of what were described in court as "stormy divorce proceedings." Mrs. Bentley is Akers' sister; the complaint against her and her daughter was brought by Akers' wife, Joyce, now reportedly reconciled with her husband.

Columbia Gas Asks Another Rate Boost

Floyd county communities served by gas systems which buy their gas from Columbia Gas of Kentucky face another raise in rates if the rate increase request filed this week with the state Public Service Commission is granted.

Claiming it faces a $1 million shortfall, Columbia asked a general rate increase of $13.3 million. That would mean, if the request is approved, that residential rates would rise 9.5 percent, or from $5.94 to $6.50 on direct sales to consumers. (Rates to consumers served by companies buying their gas from Columbia would pay more.) For most commercial and industrial customers the rate would rise 7 percent, according to a Columbia estimate. All this figures to generate an 11.4 percent increase in the company's general rate revenues, according to a PSC representative.

The Public Service Commission has five months and 20 days to rule on the Columbia request. Constance Parrish, of the PSC, said the commission will probably act to freeze rates at their current level until a final ruling is made on the new rate request.

Columbia serves 112,242 residential, commercial and industrial customers in 20 Eastern and Central Kentucky counties.

George Goodykoontz, manager of the company's Lexington office said the company's profits fell "drastically" in 1983, in large part because of "inadequate rates" authorized by the PSC. In 1982, the company made about $1.25 profit on every $100 in revenue. Goodykoontz said. In 1983, the company's profits fell to about 4 cents on every $100 in revenue, he said.

Meanwhile, according to the PSC's Parrish, the company has lowered rates whenever its wholesale prices were cut. The company has also reduced its annual costs by $3.1 million by cutting back on labor, benefits and other expenses, she said.

Under the rate structure approved by the PSC in 1983, Columbia stands to lose $1,013,000 this year, according to company projections.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are the late Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Childers, of Garrett, Mrs. Sylvester Slaney, of Stephenville, Newfoundland, Canada, and the late Mr. Slaney. Her fiancé's grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Cooley Johnson, of Center, Texas and the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rhodes, of Junction City, Oklahoma.

MAYTOWN HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Maytown Homemakers held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Thelma Hicks. A covered dish dinner was enjoyed by the homemakers group.

The lesson, which dealt with "Stress Management," was given by Susan Goins.

Other members present included Melvina Scott, Betty Bentley, Alice Hayes, Judy Halbert, Libby Flannery, Alda Gibson, Sue Osborne, Marge Samons, Thelma Hicks, Helen Boyd, and Francis Pitts. Two new members were also welcomed at the meet, Brenda Lawson and Burette Moore.

The May meeting will be held at the Maytown school lunchroom.

Reply To The
Floyd County Times

In the April 25, 1984 edition of The Floyd County Times on the front page an article appeared with the headline "Budget Loosely Handled, State Auditor Alleges".

My name Edman Barnett was used in that article and I would like to take this opportunity to correct some omissions and oversights that the reporter made. The story indicated there was no delivery of the pipe. However, listed below are the dates of purchase and the places where the pipe was delivered and the price that was paid and check numbers for which they were paid:

1) Delivered to Abbott Creek at Bonanza on Route 1750. Installed in creek, second hollow on left, above Baptist Church. Delivered 4-29-82; paid 5-26-83; check #813, $2,000.00.

2) Delivered to Middle Creek on Route 850. Put in creek one mile below Pyramid Post Office in Beech Branch hollow at first bridge. Delivered 4-30-83; paid 2-2-83; check #1854, $2,200.00.

3) Delivered to Slick Rock on Cow Creek at Emma, Route 194. Put in county road in front of Woodrow Jarrell's house. Delivered 5-1-82; paid 4-26-83; check #975, $2,200.00.

4) Delivered to Spurlock Creek at Printer on Route 122. Put in creek in front of Church of Christ beside of Elzie Adkins' house. Delivered 7-13-82; paid 7-30-83; check #1060, $2,200.00.

5) Delivered to Spewing Camp one mile above McDowell on Route 122. Put in creek at third crossing two miles up Spewing Camp Hollow. Delivered 10-1-82; paid 7-30-83; check #1060, $2,200.00.

6 & 7) Delivered to Banner on Route 23. Put in creek at first and second crossings on Rice Branch. Delivered 7-26-82; paid 9-23-82 & 4-26-83; check numbers 506 & 976, $2,200.00 & $2,200.00.

As anyone can see I had to wait in some cases over one year for my money. I was not paid one penny in March and April of 1982 as stated by this paper. None of the above railroad tank car culverts were for private use nor were they delivered or put on private property. For every dollar I received from the Floyd County Fiscal Court they in return received a full dollar's worth of steel as I only have one price for all sales. Any or all of the above information can be checked at anytime by anyone.

Since I was not being paid to do so, I do not know why these purchases were not properly documented, (if this is true). If the Fiscal Court records show there was $69,038.00 paid for pipe let this reporter find out who received it, as I certainly did not. There were never 20 purchases of pipe made from me and in no way have I ever received an individual check in any form at any time. Let the truth be known to all.

World's First Mobile 'John'

Anyone who has ever attended an outdoor music festival, spent the day at a flea market or crafts show or any other similar activity is probably familiar with the inconvenience and generally disagreeable situation with which one must cope upon being beset by "nature's call." There's always these tiny, white, fiberglass stalls with lines of people waiting, looking down at the ground, frustrated and often a little embarrassed.

Donald "Dootney" Horn, well-known Prestonsburg businessman-entrepreneur-inventor, realized the problem and, now, has seized upon an idea which he is confident may be worth a few bucks. He has come up with what he calls "the world's first mobile pay toilet."

At first mention, the designation usually evokes hearty guffaws. Even Horn will tell you that the Tennessee firm which is set to manufacture the units "wouldn't even talk to me at first." At closer look, however, the company became convinced and now is prepared to turn out 10 a day.

What's involved is simply a small version of a house trailer—same type of construction, complete with trailer hitch, containing 12 separate and private stalls. Utilizing a low amp power requirement, the unit is fully vented by electric exhaust fans.

The pay arrangement is on a kind of "honor system," whereby those who use the facility pay a quarter each time they enter. There is no coin operated mechanical locking device, simply a sign which reads: "UR being watched—please put 25 cents in box or don't use." The system apparently works since Horn "field tested" the unit recently at the huge flea market off U.S. 23 North which he helped establish, and he reported that everyone who entered paid.

"Regular rental toilets are a liability to a promoter," Horn said. "The units are rented and there's nothing in return. With this arrangement, you actually make money from coin collections, and the people using it are a lot better satisfied." As an experiment at the flea market, Horn set up two conventional stall-type rental toilets beside his 12-unit creation. He then observed how many people would be willing to pay a quarter to avoid the sometimes unsanitary, oftentimes embarrassing free stalls and found that "at least half," particularly women, were willing to pay.

"Public facilities are lacking everywhere," Horn commented. "You come to town to shop, your child says 'Mommy, I need to go to the bathroom,' so you have to go back to the house." For this reason, Horn thinks the idea's possibilities are endless.

The units, which are expected to be in production in a month, will be sold outright to rental companies for $7,900. They will be used all over the country, Horn, insists, because "you get a 10 times better unit and you wind up making a profit, too."

The case was clearly without merit from the outset, argued Pillersdorf. "It has humiliated these women. It is a waste of taxpayers' money."

Not so, replied Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert A. Burchett, who prosecuted the case. "I'll agree it was a weak case, a hard one to win, because it was based on circumstantial evidence," he said, "but it was definitely a case."

Pillersdorf rejected an offer by the Commonwealth to let his client plead guilty to a lesser charge. "I refuse to plea-bargain these outrageous cases," he said after Monday's acquittal.

Come to think of it, it's a shame what shoes will do to a youngun's feet. I can still feel the sharp cut of gravel on a sole rendered over-tender by wearing shoes through the winter, and can dredge up memory glimpses of youngsters hobbling about like cripples with St. Vitus' dance during the first days of the barefoot season.

Going barefoot, with all its delights, had its drawbacks, however. For particulars ask anybody who has ever suffered from "stone bruise." Once in a while, too, we would "pick up a nail," so to speak. But a poultice of sugar heavily soaked in turpentine took care of that trivial matter. We were not afraid of tetanus, back then—in fact, we didn't know there was any such thing.

By the time frost drove boys—and girls—back into their shoes again, foot injuries were few. Their feet were by that time almost armor-plate tough. Some boasted they could crush open a chestnut burr beneath the naked heel. I do not vouch for the veracity of that claim, neither do I challenge it. Nor do I accept responsibility for the story told of the urchin whose heel was "struck" by a copperhead snake. "Didn't hurt that feller a bit," the narrator of the tale maintained. "But the poor snake crawled off, a-bleedin' at the nose."

at gunpoint a pickup and then an automobile on September 16, 1982, and of trying to run down State Detective Danny Stumbo, who was trying to arrest him.

Stanley was due to be arraigned on the charges in Floyd district court in December of that year, a day before he received one of the first liquor licenses issued since the county voted wet, but the hearing was postponed when the defendant was reported to be receiving psychiatric care.

Assistant Attorney-General Dave Lewis was appointed last month to prosecute the case, after Commonwealth's Attorney James Allen stepped down. Appearing on Stanley's behalf at a pre-trial hearing Thursday were his father and his attorney, Gregory D. Stumbo.

Stumbo earlier filed a motion to have the two robbery counts dismissed on the basis of affidavits by owners of the vehicles Stanley is accused of stealing. Truman Hall, of Bypro, and Douglas Hicks, of Wayland, said they were compensated by the Stanleys for their loss and no longer wished to have charges pressed. A ruling on the motion is pending.

Bonds Set On Theft Charges

Bond of $3000 each was set in district court Tuesday on two Wheelwright men accused of robbing a Melvin liquor store.

A June 6 arraignment date was scheduled for Jimmy W. Farmer, 28, and Robert Terry, 32, who are charged with stealing $115 Monday afternoon from a cash register at the J. and J. Whiskey and Beer Store operated by Jeanice Johnson.

★ CANCER HOPELINE ★

Q. Is there any association between estrogen use and cancer in women?

A. Use of the hormone estrogen has been linked to cancer of the uterus. Studies have shown that women who took large doses of estrogens for menopausal symptoms have a greater risk of developing uterine cancer than women who did not take estrogens. Increases in risks of other cancers have been studied, but the results have been unclear. Birth control pills generally have not been linked to increased cancer risks and may lower the risk of ovarian cancer.

Today, estrogens for menopausal symptoms and for birth control can be prescribed at very low levels and with another hormone, progesterone, added. Reducing the dose of estrogen and adding progesterone have reduced cancer risks greatly. If you are taking estrogens, you can help protect yourself by discussing dose levels and hormone combinations with your doctor.

For more information on how you can help protect yourself from cancer call 1-800-4-CANCER or write to McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone, Lexington, Ky. 40536 and ask for your free copy of Good News: Better News: Best News: Cancer Prevention.

Free To Worship

George Washington once said, "It is impossible to rightly govern the world without God and the Bible".

Within every person there is a spirit that cries out to be free. When our forefathers came to this country they understood this need in man.

Horace Greely said, "It is impossible to enslave mentally or socially a Bible reading people."

The principles of the Bible are the groundwork of human freedom. A country is as strong as it's government. The state must always allow its people the freedom of worship. We are strong because we have faith in God and ourselves. Our people are free; like the birds that fly north and south, we are free.

Carl Jung said, "Where there is love there is no will to power." America does not control it's people by force but by a right called Freedom. We are a people like no other. Whether white, black, red or yellow, we have all learned to live together and lift up his fellow.

We have churches on almost every street and no one stops us from going. We are a people where any one may become president, an actor, farmer, whatever.

Thank God for you, America, because you have no chains on your people. There are no slaves here. As long as man lives on planet Earth he will seek freedom.

Adolf Hitler wanted to build a nation of supermen. He forgot God and he failed. As long as we trust God we can't fail. If we are to remain strong we must put the best leaders in office as well as behind the pulpit. We need some D.L. Moody's behind the pulpit, some men like Abraham Lincoln who saw a need and did something about it. We need once again to start school with prayer and the pledge to Old Glory.

There are about 17,000 voters in Floyd county. Many stay home, election day. By doing this they are saying, "we don't care who is put into office." If people choose not to vote or go to church, what will happen to the next generation! We in this country are living the good life. When I was a boy I studied by a coal oil lamp. I worked in the fields from sun-up to sun-down. Young and old worked together. I hoed corn with my Grandma by my side. Today we put Grandma in the rest-home and our children have nothing to do.

A hundred years ago a French statesman, Alexis de Tocqueville, said, "America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, she will cease to be great."

As long as the church is free, the state will stand. Take away church freedom, and the state will fall.

We must be free to worship God.

Errant Fathers Soak Taxpayers

I am concerned about how our tax money is spent.

How do you like supporting three families for someone else and end up supporting the father who left his children also?

The present system works like this: In the divorce, the judge orders Mr. X, the father, to pay child support—which is not enforced. Mr. X marries a few more times and has more children. These former families get no child support and go on state aid, food stamps, medical cards, free school lunches etc. Mr. X draws unemployment, works for cash, transfers one of two relatively new cars to another name so that he too is eligible for food stamps, state aid (in between unemployment) and a medical card for his "new" family.

He has no worries. Why should he? All his needs are paid for by you and me—the taxpayer. Not paying child support is a crime that sets off many other areas of crime of defrauding the people who pay taxes. One doesn't have to be "smart" to figure out that we are the "idiots" if we continue to pay for the system to exist as it is.

It is time that enough of us stand up and say, "our system has to be changed to a fair, sensible and honest one of justice." It all begins in divorce court and unenforced child support laws!

Only a wealthy person can afford two or three families, if he, and not the government (the people) are supporting these ex-families.

PCC Chorus To Present "The Creation," May 8

The Prestonsburg Community Chorus will present "The Creation" by Joseph Haydn, Tuesday, May 8, at 8 p.m. in Pike Auditorium, Prestonsburg Community College.

Soloists for the performance will be Chip Dorton, tenor; Doug Smith, bass; Elma Jessen, soprano, and Dee Dee Callis, soprano. Mary Grace Garland will accompany the chorus and soloists, and the performance will be under direction of Gus M. Kalos, head of the music department at Prestonsburg Community College.

"The Creation" was composed by Haydn in 1797. It is based on a poem compiled by Lidley from Milton's "Paradise Lost". The work was first performed in Vienna in 1798, and its fame soon spread, rivaling that of Handel's Messiah.

Promised Picnic Denied

The Clark School PTA would like to inform all people concerned with the circumstances surrounding our annual perfect (3 days or less missed) attendance picnic.

The State Board of Education has denied the PTA the right to hold this picnic as we have in many years past. Most parents and children have no idea at this time that the picnic has been denied.

We, as a group, feel that this is unfair treatment for the children as they have gone to school the whole year with the mistaken trust that they would be allowed this event as their reward again this year. We feel that by not being allowed to reward the children, the absentee rate will increase by a substantial margin in the following year. That will hurt everyone concerned.

If you or anyone you know would care to voice your opinion or show your support on this matter, please join the others of us that are attending the Floyd County Board of Education meeting that is taking place in the meeting room in the Board of Education Building, Prestonsburg, Ky. This meeting will take place today (Wednesday) May 2, at 7 p.m.

A Whitman Admirer

You may wonder why the Slim Whitman ads were placed in your newspaper. I am a Slim Whitman fan and he truly has the most beautiful voice you've ever heard and yet so many people have never had the wonderful experience of hearing him.

It may interest you to know that Slim Whitman has sold over 60 million records world-wide and yet many people here in America have not heard of him, even tho his home is here in America. He was born here and lives here. He first appeared in America on radio in 1948 and has been touring and recording ever since, and in fact is still active today and only this month of March, 1984 his latest album, "Angel-line," was just released and next month he will again be touring Europe. He first went to England back in 1956 and performed at the famed London Palladium and outsold all artists who had ever appeared there. He has appeared at Carnegie Hall and just last year was asked to appear at the famed Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. and, as always, the crowds were tremendous. He is loved wherever he goes and always receives standing ovations...When he sings he reaches out and touches the heart as no singer can. He is a great man, very talented and yet very humble.

Burial Place Sought

At the close of the Revolution two soldiers who had taken part in that conflict came to Floyd county to live. They were Simeon Justice (born June 4, 1765 in Pittsylvania county, Va.) and his brother John (born 1755.) Their brother William came with them.

Simeon's children, most of whom settled in Pike county, were Simeon, Edward, George, Peyton and Israel. John and his wife, Amy, were the parents of eight children. William died in Floyd county in 1813 with his wife, Margaret, and brother, Simeon, administrators. His will is on record in Floyd county.

Of the three brothers, Simeon, was perhaps the best known. He, with the help of William Salisbury, Richard Smith and others was instrumental in establishing Regular Baptist churches in Perry, Letcher and Floyd counties.

Descendants of Simeon Justice would like to see a marker erected at his grave. However, we have not located the grave. We know that at one time he lived neighbor to William Salisbury. We have been told that this is at what is now Hunter, Ky. When he was 69 years of age he married for the second time to Adelpia Johnson (widow of Thomas Johnson) who lived at the mouth of Breedings Creek in what is now Knott county. So where is Simeon buried—in Floyd or Knott?

We would appreciate hearing from any descendant of either of the three brothers or from any Regular Baptist minister or anyone who is knowledgeable about the burial place of Simeon Justice. We will refund postage.

Says Alternate Needed

The Prestonsburg Merchants Association should have on alternate plan for their drawings. I was there during a light rain on April 21 and the drawing was canceled. On Saturday, the 28th, in a downpour and hail, the drawing was held, at sometime and some place unknown to me and hundreds of others who had tickets. I did not expect to win the ladies with me who had over 100 tickets may have but it would have been nice to have been given the chance. This is certainly no way to encourage people to trade in Prestonsburg.

COLLECTION

By WILMAY

Easter has come and gone. Wonderful as it was and always is, many feel saddened over its continued rising commercialism, rivaling that of the Yuletide season. The few who attend religious services only at special seasons little know how much they miss at other times; how badly they are needed and need to be there. Moreover, God tells us to assemble in his house to worship him. The hallmark of my church following its origin June 11, 1972, first as a chapel-mission, has been prayer, particularly since the arrival of its current beloved, dedicated pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Bob Varney, of Hager Hill, Ky. Hundreds of prayers from and by the congregation, individually and collectively, are answered annually, none more striking than a recent one.

Maytownites and Floyd countians remember the late Wiley Jones, long-time coach and teacher in the county system. His older son, Wendell, was in a horrible car wreck last August, in a coma eight long months and still in a nursing home near New Castle, Indiana. His name was remembered innumerable times by this church and others, as well as by loved ones and friends. About two weeks ago he showed definite, wonderful signs of recognition. The Master Physician is still on his throne, but the majority of us must confess that the next item from "Herald of His Coming," is appropriate:

TOO BUSY TO PRAY

"Only redeemed humanity is invited to the throne room of the universe. And many of us are too busy watching TV, following sports, hunting and fishing, engaging in farming or business, moonlighting. We are so busy with the cares and pleasures of this life, trying to keep up with the trend in new cars, new homes, new appliances, new furniture, that we do not have time to pray.

"Someone has described a modern American as a person who drives a bank-financed car, over a bond-financed highway, on creditcard gas, to open a charge account at a department store, so he can fill his Savings and Loan financed home with installment purchased furniture. May this not also be a description of many professing Christians? And may not this drive toward materialism be one reason why modern Christians have so little time to pray?

"Perhaps some may think: Are we not to have anything at all for ourselves? We are not to think that way. Christ is to be our all in all. We are not our own. We are bought with a price. I Cor. 6:19-20."

THEY PAID THE TITHE

One pastor asked another, "How many church members have you?"

"I have nineteen hundred," was the reply.

"How many of them tithe?" the first inquired.

"All of them," came the response.

"How on earth did you ever get nineteen hundred people to sign pledge cards and agree to pay the Lord his tithe," the man wished to know.

"I didn't," said the pastor with nineteen hundred members. "Only three hundred and forty-seven signed the card pledging to tithe. They have done so faithfully. But the others are tithers, too, for God has many ways of collecting what's due him. He may do it through adversity, sickness, or perhaps unemployment—things like that.

So they are paying the tithe, but it doesn't always go to God."

—Selected.

Jeana McKenzie Signs To Play at Sue Bennett

Prestonsburg High's Jeana McKenzie has signed a letter-of-intent to play basketball at Sue Bennett College, according to Diane L. Campbell, coach of the Lady Dragons.

Miss McKenzie, 5-5 guard, averaged 19.2 points, 6 assists, and 2 rebounds per game for Prestonsburg, which finished the season 8-12.

"Jeana has excellent speed and is sound defensively. She penetrates well and has a nice shot," Campbell commented.

McKenzie, who played four years of varsity basketball, also is active in school activities. She is a member of Beta club, and received a leadership award and the National History award at Prestonsburg High. In addition, she carries a 3.4 grade point average.

She is the daughter of Willard and Brenda McKenzie, of Auxier.

Absent Witness Draws 60 Days

A West Prestonsburg man whose failure to answer a court subpoena resulted in the recent dismissal of two David men on illegal stripmining charges, was found in contempt of court last Thursday and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

The case against Dewey Shepherd and his son Melvin was postponed for a day and then dismissed when Hershel Owens, who had been issued a subpoena to appear as a witness for the prosecution, failed to appear in court.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, who ordered Sheriff Henry Hale to bring Owens in to testify in the case, appeared on Thursday to doubt whether the sheriff made a good faith effort to find Owens. "The court is aware that you and the sheriff are real close," the judge told Owens.

Asked why he had not answered the subpoena, Owens said, "I was too sick to be here, that's all." David Barber, Owens' attorney, presented the judge a note from Dr. J.D. Adams asking Conley to excuse the witness "for medical reasons," identified as chronic lung disease and a throat infection.

But Judge Conley said he anticipated the excuse.

Sheriff Hale was indignant when he heard later of Owens' sentence. "How could he have been in court. The man was in the hospital," he said of Owens. "If you're a judge, I guess you can do anything."

8th Annual Banquet Slated at Paintsville

The eighth annual spring banquet for women and girls will be held Friday, May 11, at 7 p.m. at the Carriage House, Paintsville. This year's festivities will be entitled, "The Strawberry Patch". Mrs. Leah Cloys, of Lexington, will be the speaker. A "Strawberry Patch" fashion show, music by the Bowers family, awards and presentations will feature the program.

Write General Delivery, Hunter, Ky. or call 285-3381 or 285-9312 for tickets and information. Girls 9 to 12 years old may win an award by writing in 150 words or less, "Why I Love My Mother." Such contributions should be mailed to Christian Ladies Club, Hunter, Ky. 41641.

Recognized For Accomplishments

Kenneth Slone, county supervisor, and Phyllis A. Allen, county office assistant, of the local Farmers Home Administration, recently received Certificates of Outstanding Accomplishment. During the past year the local office ranked fourth in the state for the total number of loans made and at the same time maintained one of the lowest delinquency rates. The FmHA administers loans to low income families to aid them in obtaining safe, sanitary and decent housing.

The certificates were presented by Kendell Seaton, state director for the Farmers Home Administration.

Three From County Complete Basic Training

David Slone, of Auxier, Bethel Tackett, of McDowell, and Lionel Jarvis, of Allen, completed basic and AIT training at the Army Infantry Center, Fort Benning Georgia, April 6.

Pvt. Slone and Pvt. Tackett each received awards for highest POLQT scores and Pvt. Jarvis is a qualifying expert on the M16A1 rifle. They are now stationed with the Kentucky National Guard, 1/149-Company B, Prestonsburg.

Health Nurses To Be Honored

These nurses will be taking part in a statewide reception May 4 in Frankfort which will honor community health nurses throughout Kentucky in recognition of the hard work and dedication which they devote to the people of Floyd county and Kentucky.

'Give Center a Chance,' Plea Of Two Supporting Job Corps

"People should understand: if these kids do 16 things wrong and then do two things right, that's good." That from Ken McAskill—ex-Army sergeant, now operating a drive-in restaurant—whose son, Steve, attends the Job Corps Center here.

"The way I see it, if we get 50 graduates out of 150, we've done something great." That from Yvonne Lindsay, health care coordinator at the center.

These tributes, volunteered by two of the Job Corps' staunchest supporters in unrelated interviews last week, suggest something not only of the ardor but also of the complexity of their faith in the program.

Job Corps advocates are quick to point out—in arguing that they deserve to be welcomed, or at least tolerated, by the larger community—that Corps members are just regular kids. But many will contend in the next breath that they are kids with special problems who need to be measured by more forgiving standards.

So Mrs. Lindsay, who has worked at the Goble-Roberts facility for over a year and says she knows the students there as well as anybody, insists they are like teenagers anywhere.

"They're no different from my own four," she says. "Put them in the same house, they're going to fight." That doesn't make them delinquents. And it doesn't mean their school should be run like a detention center.

On the other hand, they're typically from poorer families—often broken homes—where education was either not valued, not affordable, or just crowded out by more pressing concerns. If a third of them complete the course, she says, you feel particular satisfaction.

It's the same with McAskill. When he comes out in defense of the Job Corps, he swings with a two-edged sword. These kids are normal; these kids are special. You need to treat them the same as other kids; you need to make allowances. They fit in here; they feel uprooted. Expect an average performance; two out of 18 is good.

Recent allegations that discipline at the Prestonsburg center is in shambles really rile McAskill, especially when he thinks of the difference the place has made to his son. Steven, who will be 17 this month, was headstrong and lazy when he joined the center last August, his father reports; the Job Corps has transformed him into "a fine young man." And McAskill knows a dozen more just like him.

But talk about fostering contact between these fine youngsters and the community and McAskill grows wary. The last thing the Corps needs is for a bunch of do-gooders to be too trusting of street-wise kids.

What about a "big brother" program, where a Floyd family might take a Corps member under its wing during his stay here? Not a good idea, McAskill thinks, though it might work if you could find a family without illusions, a family "willing to accept that the kid might pack the place off when he leaves."

What about a periodic "open house," when members of the community could visit the center and see for themselves what the students are like and what sort of work they are doing? "Once in a while, maybe," says McAskill, without enthusiasm.

And what about the controversial "pass" system, initiated and defended by former center director Tom Hummer but dropped by his successor? Kids can't learn responsibility unless they're trusted to be on the streets like normal teenagers, said McAskill. But his own trust is measured. Passes were given out too freely in the past, he says, and he is glad Center Director Gerald Torrey has abandoned the system.

Mrs. Lindsay is more trusting. She thinks the "big brother" idea is worth a try and she has long advocated—though so far without success—a regular open house. "We should let the public go through there and see what the boys accomplish, how they live, how the Corps works. Then they would understand more what we're trying to do."

The pass system was a mistake, she agrees, at least for younger Corps members. Not because Corps students are more likely than any other teenagers to get into trouble, but because they are just as liable to get hurt. "No parent wants to turn 16-year-old kids loose for a weekend without supervision," she explained.

If the Corps' defenders sometimes send out to the public mixed signals about what it can expect from center students, the Corps itself sometimes gets confused messages from the community. Members of the city council, some feel, both expect Corps members to be model citizens and treat them like potential hoodlums.

If there is one thing on which the Prestonsburg Job Corps Center's defenders are united, it is their insistence that the critics' picture of drug use, violence, and demoralization bears little resemblance to the reality of life at the center. The fact of the matter, asserts Ned Pillersdorf, Floyd public defender, is that county high school students are more likely than Job Corps students to have scrapes with the law.

The picture painted by detractors, Corps supporters say, is colored by ignorance, fear and prejudice—not the least of it racial. "To me, all the city council wants is for the Job Corps not to be there," Mrs. Lindsay complained last week. "All they see are black kids and juvenile delinquents."

"But I screen all these boys. None of them have records. Job Corps gives them a chance not to be called a high-school dropout. Where will these kids go if they close Job Corps down? Probably to a real detention center. I can't see throwing such a good thing away."

So far, the city council has not talked of throwing the center away, only of getting tougher managers. And, while friends and foes alike still appear willing to give Torrey a chance to prove his mettle as center director, it is rare to hear praise for Singer's management of the facility.

"We're not interested in losing the Job Corps but in seeing it run properly," city council member Paul Hunt Thompson said at a recent council meeting.

With recent staff changes, Mrs. Lindsay says, she "can see a difference already." Of the controversy surrounding the center, she wishes the news media would "let it die down."

"Give the center a chance. Give it six months," she pleads. "Those boys want to be accepted by this community."

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Bryant have returned home from a vacation in Miami, Orlando and Jacksonville, Fla., and Greensboro, N.C. They visited Mrs. Bryant's family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tranoline, in Miami, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kieffer in Orlando, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Baldrige and children, Mrs. Thelma Pruitt and other relatives in Orlando. Mrs. Bryant was happy to visit her new great-granddaughter and they were the guests of Mr. Bryant's daughter, Mrs. John K. Jones, and Mr. Jones, and granddaughters, Mrs. Van Tucker, and Mrs. Chris McKenny, in Greensboro, N.C.

Mrs. Louise Lewis, Ronda and Richard visited Mrs. Lewis' sister-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Kennedy in Swanton, Ohio last week. While there they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy along with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wolfer, Mrs. Ogie Moore, Jim and Janie Kennedy and daughter, and they also visited the grave of Daniel Moore. They spent a night with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Beebe and called on Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilds.

The Bethel Regular Baptist Church held its annual union meeting Sunday with dinner at the luncheon. A short service was also held at the luncheon in honor of Milford Bryant's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Flanery spent the weekend in Owensboro visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lance Blackburn and Beth.

Rev. Bob Varney, pastor of the Maytown First Baptist Church, will be conducting a revival at the Garrett Baptist Church, starting May 6 at 7:30 each evening. The pastor of the Garrett church is Rev. George Robinson, a former resident of Langley.

Sympathy to the family of Everett (Rube) Osborne who passed away last week following an extended illness.

Wed March 31

The marriage of Miss Annette Branham to Mr. Jack Stephens was solemnized Saturday, March 31, at the First United Presbyterian Church in Clyde, O., by the Rev. Charles R. Brown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Branham, of Clyde, O., and Mr. Stephenson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephenson, of Lucas, Ohio.

Maid of honor was Anna Branham, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Ruth Laferty, aunt of the bride, Debbie Stephenson, sister of the bridegroom, and Carita Marton.

Best man was Brent Stephenson, brother of the groom, and ushers were Jim Branham, brother of the bride, Charlie Marshall, and Jim Watson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Green Hills Inn.

The bride holds a bachelor's degree in industrial and systems engineering and is employed by AT&T Technologies in Columbus, Ohio. The groom has a master's degree in mathematics and computer science from Ohio University. He also is employed by AT&T Technologies in Columbus, Ohio.

After a wedding trip to Spain, Italy, and Greece, the couple is now living in Westerville, Ohio.

Mrs. Stephenson is the granddaughter of Robert and Nan Newman, of Grethel, and of Troy Branham, of Craynor, and the late Stella Branham.

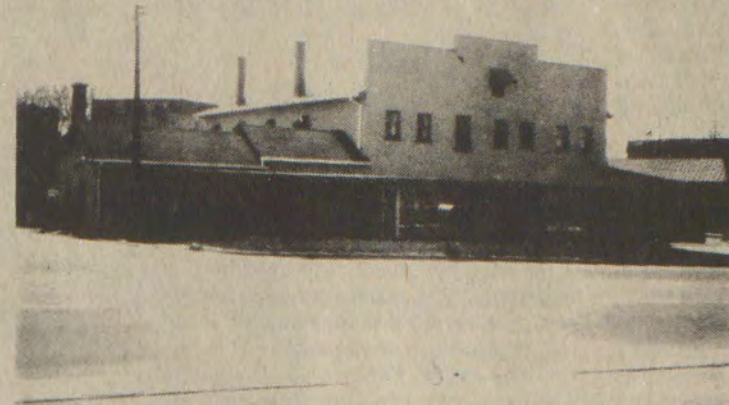

HERE FROM MICHIGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rex Woods and children, Jennie, Terri, Rita and John, of Jackson, Mich., spent the pre-Easter week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Woods, of Cow Creek. While here they enjoyed a family dinner with his sister, Mrs. Eddie Gayheart, also of Cow Creek. Other family members and guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ike Woods, David Woods, Betsy Chaffins, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jarrell and son Brian, Mrs. Linda Jarrell and children, Kristy and Brandon, and the hostess and her children, Mrs. Eddie Gayheart, Kari and Jeffery.

Illegal Drugs

Hallucinogens Most Dangerous

Some of the most dangerous illegal drugs being abused today are hallucinogens. Hallucinogens, or psychedelics, are drugs that affect a person's perceptions, thinking, self-awareness and emotions. Hallucinogens include such drugs as L.S.D., mescaline, psilocybin, D.M.T., P.C.P., and angel dust. Marijuana is termed as a mild hallucinogen.

There is no proven medical use for hallucinogens. LSD, DMT, STP are chemically manufactured, illegally, with the only exception being a few laboratories which are authorized to make them for research. Marijuana, mescaline and psilocybin are derived from plants. Most hallucinogens are taken internally in capsules or tablets or on sugar cubes or food. Some can be injected and marijuana is usually smoked in a pipe or rolled into cigarette form.

Nobody really knows how hallucinogens work. The drug seems to affect levels of certain chemicals in the brain and change the electrical activity of the brain. Commonly, hallucinogens are abused for sociability, exhilaration, curiosity, "kicks," to seek religious or philosophical insights and to escape reality.

The body reacts to the drug in numerous ways. The heart and pulse rate is increased, the blood pressure and temperature rise, chills, nausea, irregular breathing occur, and the user has confused and distorted sensory impressions.

Hallucinogens are dangerous drugs to abuse. There is the potential for psychological dependence on a long term basis. The user may experience a variety of moods which commonly includes acute panic reactions. Hallucinations may last 8-12 hours and may happen again suddenly to frequent users without additional drugs. Users may feel strong suicidal urges or have delusions of invulnerability. There is also some evidence that use of LSD may cause permanent genetic damage.

The most dangerous aspect of hallucinogens are their unpredictability; one "trip" may be good, and another disastrous. There may be exhilaration and withdrawal from reality, or panic and suicidal feelings. Normal judgments are distorted, a fact that can lead to bodily injury to one's self or others. The effects of taking some hallucinogens may recur days, weeks or months after the initial dose.

For more information on hallucinogens, or other drugs, contact Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, 886-8572.

Enjoy Pre-Easter Get Together

Mountain Manor Nursing Home, the Irene Cole Baptist Day Care Center, and the Prestonsburg Piggly Wiggly Store joined in a pre-Easter observance, Thursday, April 19. Above are some of the Nursery school children, "Mr. Pig", and Bobbie Green, resident of Mountain Manor.

The children enjoyed visiting with their special "grandparents" at Mountain Manor, in addition to an Easter egg hunt and special treats. And everyone enjoyed a surprise appearance by "Mr. Pig" courtesy of Piggly Wiggly.

Ex-Trojan Stars At Alice Lloyd

Former Wheelwright High School Trojan Sammy Smith is making a name for himself in baseball at Alice Lloyd College. During the 1983 season when he was a freshman he led the team in home runs while hitting a scorching .450 during the last 12 games of the season.

Smith is continuing his slugging binge this season. After just six games this year, Sammy has three doubles, one triple, and one home run.

In addition to his hitting prowess, Smith has taken over the catching duties at ALC. During the Eagles' spring trip, Smith threw out 10 would-be base stealers while catching every inning of six games played in five days.

"Sammy has done a tremendous job for us in the hitting and catching categories," said Eagles Coach Bill Melton. "He has improved dramatically in his defensive ability since his freshman year. Smith is a very coachable player and has a positive, winning attitude toward the team and the other players," Melton added.

Smith, who moved to Wheelwright from Detroit, played only two years of high school baseball. In Michigan he was a member of the high school ice hockey team.

Last year Smith hit .321 for the Eagles to go along with his home run honors. He was the Eagles Rookie of the Year.

Olympic Horse Trial Highlights On KET

Horse trials, featuring America's leading Olympic hopefuls and international contenders competing in dressage, cross-country endurance, and stadium jumping, will be featured on "Kentucky: The 1984 Ultimate Equestrian Trial," airing Saturday, May 26, at 8 p.m. on KET.

Held at the Kentucky Horse Park, May 18-20, the 1984 Rolex International Kentucky Three-Day Event will also feature international riders, including Captain Mark Phillips, Great Britain, competing in the Concours Complet Internationale (CCI) Division. The following U.S. riders, Nancy Bliss, Bruce Davidson, Torrance Watkins Fleishman, Derek di Grazia, Peter Green, Mike Huber, Gale D'Amanda, J. Michael Plumb, Karen Reuter, Grant Schneidman, Karen Stives, Kim Walnes, and Jim Wofford, will be competing for the honor of representing the United States at the 1984 Summer Olympic Games to be held in Los Angeles.

According to USET (United States Equestrian Team) Coach Jack LeGoff, the teams to beat (at the Olympics) "will be the British, the French, and the Germans... We will field a competitive, fighting team..." Pulling together this highly competitive and regarded team of Olympians and their stalwart mounts is the essence of "Kentucky: The 1984 Ultimate Equestrian Trial" on KET.

A.A.R.P. CHAPTER MEETS

A covered dish dinner and meeting were held by the A.A.R.P., at the First Presbyterian Church, Friday evening, with Jack Freed, president, presiding. Slides on self-protection were shown by Aaron Akers. It was announced that the A.A.R.P. national convention will be held in St. Louis this week, and that a regional workshop will be conducted at London, Ky., May 23. Four members of the local chapter are expected to attend the workshop as delegates; others may attend if they so desire. In commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the A.A.R.P., a reading program for shut-ins is being planned, and the hope was expressed that the N.R.T.A. members would join in this much-needed endeavor.

It was decided that the annual boat-ride on Dewey Lake will be held June 23, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mr. Freed announced that the next AARP board meeting will be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock, May 11, at the Municipal building, and that the next regular dinner-meeting will be at the Western Sizzlin' Steak House, Friday evening, May 18, at 6 o'clock. The scheduled speaker for this event is Judge John Stumbo.

Artists, Craftsmen Guild Schedules Fair at Berea

The Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen will be holding its 17th Annual Spring Fair in Berea, May 18, 19, 20, from 10 a.m. through 6 p.m. each day. The event takes place in the Indian Fort Theater just east of Berea (off I-75). This unique fair offers both fine arts and fine crafts, both contemporary and traditional. Visitors will find paintings, prints, photos, stoneware and porcelain pottery, wooden toys, bowls, and furniture, hand dipped candles, baskets, jewelry, quilts, handwoven clothing and pillows, cornshuck dolls, leatherwork, and many other art forms.

Festivities include music, dancers, demonstrations by exhibitors, a main exhibit containing special pieces of the member's work, and exciting displays by many of Kentucky's finest artists and craftspeople.

The Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen invites all to come and enjoy a day at the Fair. Parking is free and admission includes entertainment and all other activities. There are picnic areas available for those who want to bring their lunches, and there are also concessions offering a variety of food and beverages.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY

AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY 40601

Mary Ann Tobin
AUDITOR

ROOM 168, CAPITOL ANNEX
502-564-4226

December 22, 1983

To the People of Kentucky

Honorable Martha Layne Collins, Governor
Honorable John M. Stumbo, County Judge/Executive
Members of the Floyd County Fiscal Court

We have examined the Statement of Assets, Liabilities and Fund Balances Arising From Cash Transactions of Floyd County as of June 30, 1983, and the related Statement of Cash Receipts, Cash Disbursements and Changes in Fund Balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with the "Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions", issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As recommended by the State Local Finance Officer, pursuant to KRS 68.210, the accompanying financial statements are prepared on a cash basis. Consequently, certain revenues and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when a liability is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position and results of operations in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Due to incomplete records and numerous noncompliances, we are unable to express, and we do not express, an opinion on the county's financial statements referred to above.

We did not conduct a study and evaluation of internal accounting control as we concluded that the audit could be performed more efficiently by expanding substantive audit tests. Therefore, we placed very little reliance on the internal accounting control system.

We also conducted tests of compliance with state and federal laws and regulations including federal revenue sharing requirements enumerated in the Commentary on the Audit Requirements of the 1980 Amendments to the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act issued by the Office of Revenue Sharing. Unless otherwise noted below, the tested items were in compliance with applicable state and federal laws and regulations. During our examination, nothing came to our attention to cause us to believe that the untested items were not in compliance.

Recommendations and areas of noncompliance are as follows:

Local Government Economic Assistance (LGEA) Subgrants

During fiscal year 1983, the fiscal court subgranted a total of $151,796 of LGEA money to three quasigovernmental agencies. Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., and Beaver Elkhorn Water District received cash contributions of $49,000 and $30,000 respectively. The Floyd County Water and Gas System received $72,796 in pipeline materials. KRS 42.460 requires an annual audit and a certification that LGEA funds were expended for the purpose intended. Department of Finance Regulation 200 KAR 4:005 requires LGEA Subgrantees to furnish the grantor (fiscal court) with a report of all expenditures and activities of any project funded by the subgrant. The regulation further specifies that the subgrantee shall pay the cost of any audit required by the grantor. We recommend that each subgrantee contract with an independent CPA firm for a full financial audit for fiscal year 1983, to be completed within 120 days from the date of this report. Undue delay in completing the audits could result in a suspension of LGEA payments to the county by the Department of Finance.

Budget

The purpose of the budget is to allocate limited revenues for priority uses. When money is budgeted for a priority use such as road maintenance, it must be expended only for that purpose. During the period July 1, 1982 through January 30, 1983, over 127 improper disbursements totaling $163,087 were made from Road Fund account 100-D-4A, Revenue Sharing Fund account 408-3 and Local Government Economic Assistance Fund account 508-3. Money appropriated for these accounts was earmarked for road materials and maintenance, but was spent for such nonroad related expenses as travel, swimming pool supplies, attorney fees and flowers.

Expenditures totaling $27,403 were made from the miscellaneous expense account (No. 70-C-74) of the General Fund. The majority of these disbursements were directly related to other accounts and should have been so posted in order to accurately indicate actual operating expenses and to facilitate preparation of next year's budget. We recommend charges to this account be minimized.

Bids

The fiscal court was in violation of KRS 424.260 which requires competitive sealed bidding on expenditures of more than $7,500. The Kentucky Attorney General in a published opinion (OAG 82-125) states that bidding is mandatory for purchases of like items which in the "aggregate" exceed $7,500 in a "reasonable" period of time. The Auditor of Public Accounts interprets a reasonable period of time to be a fiscal year unless the county has previously considered the matter and acted to set time periods. Our examination revealed that the county had made several small purchases of like items over a period of several weeks or months in an apparent attempt to circumvent the bid law. Following is a list of bid violations disclosed during the course of our audit.

Description	Aggregate Amount
a) Drain Pipe (More than 20 Separate Purchases)	$ 69,038
b) Tires (More Than 5 Separate Purchases)	8,567
c) Blacktopping Roads (More Than 2 Contracts)	44,531
d) Gravel (More Than 7 Separate Purchases)	137,859
e) Lumber (Unable to Document Number of Purchases)	9,915
f) Contracts for Building Road and Laying Water and Gas Lines at Landfill	81,238
Total	$ 351,148

In addition to above bid violations, there were six instances in which the fiscal court formally declared the existence of an emergency in order to make purchases and let contracts in lieu of complying with bid procedures. We believe that in at least two instances, emergencies were declared only for the purpose of avoiding compliance with bid procedures.

Recommendation

That the fiscal court examine the prior year Treasurer's Settlement for items that singly or in the aggregate exceed $7,500 and ensure that bids are obtained on these items in the current fiscal year;

That the county establish criteria for making emergency declarations;

That the County Attorney review the proposed emergency declaration and give a memorandum as to whether the emergency fits the statutory requirements; and

That each emergency declaration be discussed in open court and that the discussion, both for and against, be made a part of the court's permanent records.

Purchases

The fiscal court's control over purchases was seriously deficient. OAG 78.493 states that a claim must be supported by proper documentation including invoices and purchase orders. In addition, invoices must be signed by the receiver to show that the purchased goods were actually delivered. In order to form an opinion on the fiscal court's handling of disbursements, we selectively examined over 200 disbursements.

Following is a summary of the results of our examination:

We examined 20 purchases of drainage pipe totaling $69,038 and found none of them to be properly documented. Five purchases were supported only by fiscal court claims with no invoices or other documentation. These claims were made in the name of individuals rather than businesses. None of the 20 purchases examined had documentation showing that the pipe had actually been delivered to the county.

Invoices for five tire purchases totaling $8,567 were examined. Only one invoice had been signed by the county garage foreman to show that the merchandise had been received.

At least two purchases of hardware supplies totaling $306 were made by Mr. Anthony Castle, who was not a county employee and had no official status. In addition, we found many other purchases made by magistrates and various county employees for such items as tires, automobile engines and pipe. The fact that so many different people can make apparently unrestricted purchases in the name of the county indicates a weakness in the purchasing system.

Numerous gasoline purchases were made by members of the fiscal court and other county employees at different locations throughout the county. None of the invoices showed the type of vehicle, the vehicle license number, vehicle mileage, or whether the vehicle was an official county vehicle.

Recommendation

We recommend the fiscal court consolidate all purchasing functions under a purchasing officer. The purchasing officer would ensure that all purchases, including bid items, were made in accordance with the procedures set forth in the county administrative code.

County vehicles should be routinely fueled and serviced in the county garage. Commercial service stations should be used only when it would be more costly or impractical to return a vehicle to the garage for service. Furthermore, when a commercial station is used, prior permission should be obtained from the purchasing officer and a full description of the vehicle should be included on the invoice.

The garage should record the license number, mileage, date and amount of fuel dispensed to each vehicle and signature of the driver and/or supervisor.

All county vehicles should be issued official license plates and prominently marked with a county emblem and/or county identification number. Employees should be advised that county vehicles are for official use only and are not to be used for private purposes.

Credit Cards

The county paid at least $10,060 to Master Card and VISA during fiscal year 1983. These payments were for travel, food and lodging expenses for the County Judge/Executive, magistrates and members of the County Judge/Executive's staff, and were in addition to individual reimbursements for which claims were submitted. Most of the credit card charges appear to be extravagant and unjustified. For example, an unauthorized trip to Wyoming costing $604 was charged to credit cards. On November 18, 1982, a hotel bill for $715 for a single night at the Marriott Hotel in Lexington was charged to VISA. During the months of October, November and December 1982, a total of 61 separate charges totaling $1,937 for meals at the Plantation Restaurant in Prestonsburg and 15 charges totaling $251 at Jenny Wiley State Park Restaurant in Prestonsburg were made on VISA and Master Card.

Recommendation

The fiscal court should cease using credit cards. Employees traveling on official business should submit documented claims for reimbursement of expenses.

In-county travel should be by county vehicle whenever possible. If privately owned vehicles must be used, the employee may be reimbursed for mileage only. An exception to this policy would be for magistrates who operate their personal vehicles on county business and are provided gasoline in lieu of mileage allowance.

In-county lodging and meals should not be allowed.

Out-of-county travel should have prior approval of the County Judge/Executive and fiscal court. Mileage, tolls and parking should be reimbursed to the employee.

When overnight travel is required, lodging should be reimbursed up to a reasonable dollar amount as set by the fiscal court. Employees should be reimbursed only at the single room rate.

Meals should be reimbursed only when travel requires an overnight stay.

Entertainment, bar and room service bills should be reimbursed.

Payroll and Personnel Administration

Salaries of the District Court Coordinator, three park employees and 22 summer-hire swimming pool employees, totaling $21,156 were charged to Road Fund account 100-A-5 during July and August 1982. Money appropriated in the budget for road employees should not be used for nonroad salaries.

On numerous occasions, the fiscal court paid claims for "contract" employees. On September 10, 1982, an individual who was not a county employee was paid $700 for cutting and removing a tree from the courthouse parking lot. On December 16, 1982, the same person was paid $750 for winterizing the county swimming pool. Another nonemployee was paid $2,900 on November 8, 1982, for electrical work at Allen Park. We could find no documentation to support these and other similar claims, and the minutes of the fiscal court meetings did not show that the work was approved beforehand. The administrative code makes no provision for "contract" employees.

The county consistently failed to comply with the administrative code in hiring new employees. The administrative code specifies that vacancies will be advertised and that applications will be accepted from all interested persons. We found no evidence that the county had advertised position vacancies, yet several new employees were hired during the year. New road employees were hired while other employees were on lay-off. It is apparent from information obtained from employees and from the manner in which the employee roster is separated by magisterial district that road employees are hired by district quota.

No record is being kept of accrued vacation and sick leave for salaried employees.

Recommendation

The fiscal court should comply with the administrative code and advertise all vacancies, including temporary and summer hire vacancies, prior to hiring new employees. Applications should be accepted from any interested person and selection should be based on merit. The apparent practice of assigning hiring quotas to each magistrate should cease.

A personnel officer should be appointed to maintain personnel records and account for vacation and sick leave.

Salaries should be properly classified as to account.

Swimming Pool

The Allen Park swimming pool began operation in the summer of 1982. During fiscal year 1983, a total of $7,408 was turned over to the county from gate and concession receipts. We were unable to locate any type of financial records such as a receipts ledger or daily check-out sheets. We could not verify cash receipts and disbursements and thus could not judge whether the amount of revenue turned over to the county was reasonable.

Recommendation

The following cash controls, as a minimum, should be implemented:

- Use prenumbered tickets for admission;
- Use cash registers;
- Use daily check-out sheets and agree with cash register tape and ticket numbers;

- Make daily deposits and agree to check-out sheets;
- Record daily receipts in a receipts ledger; and
- Make no cash disbursements.

Establish a separate fund and bank account for pool under the control of the Treasurer.

Make a weekly report to the Treasurer on cash receipts.

Conduct weekly inventories of concession food and drink supplies and compare to receipts.

All purchases of supplies and concession food should be through the county purchasing officer.

Inventory Control of Fixed Assets

We recommend the fiscal court establish an inventory control ledger of fixed assets. This ledger should list all fixed assets belonging to the county, whether purchased from excess fees or directly from a budget account. We have discussed this recommendation in more detail with the County Judge/Executive.

We feel that number and severity of the errors and noncompliances in the accounting records could be significantly reduced if the fiscal court exercised its authority and influence to compel the keeping of accurate and complete records. We remind the fiscal court of its authority under KRS 67.080(1) (d) to "...cause correct accounts and records to be kept of all receipts and disbursements of the public funds of the county..." We encourage the fiscal court to undertake a closer scrutiny of the county's record-keeping function.

Yours for a better Kentucky,

Moore Convicted For Third Time

A Floyd district court jury last week convicted Forrest Ray Moore, 35-year-old Maytown gas company repairman, of drunk driving and recommended that he serve 30 days in jail and pay a $250 fine.

It was the second time Moore has been convicted of drunk driving since his conviction in 1978 of reckless homicide in the death of an 18-year-old Banner youth.

Jurors were screened to exclude any who were aware of the reckless homicide conviction and were permitted to hear only a single, terse reference to the earlier drunk driving conviction.

As prosecution witnesses described the events leading to the present charge, Moore was driving a red pickup erratically on new U.S. 80 in the early hours of Feb. 2 this year. Near Martin, he swerved into the path of a car in which Alfred and Robert Music were riding, ran off the road and came to rest at right angles to a cliff face bordering the highway.

Robert Music, 15, of Martin, and police officers who were called to the scene testified they found Moore slumped in the cab of his truck, incoherent and smelling of liquor. A partly empty bottle of whiskey was recovered from the truck.

Defense attorney Gary Johnson relied heavily on a deposition taken the day before the trial from Dr. Lowell Martin, in which the Martin physician described his treatment of Moore for high blood pressure and a high concentration of fats in the blood.

Johnson argued that Moore's apparent intoxication the night of Feb. 2 might have been a reaction to drugs prescribed by his doctor and that the smell of liquor reported by witnesses may have come from whiskey that had been spilled rather than consumed.

By agreement of District Judge Harold Stumbo and attorneys in the case, jurors were told that Moore pleaded guilty in 1982 to a drunk driving charge but no other details of the incident were disclosed. He paid a maximum $500 fine for that offense.

Jurors were not told of the 1977 accident at Betsy Layne in which the vehicle Moore was driving crossed U.S. 23, colliding head-on with a truck driven by Harold Paul Curry. Curry died in the wreck. Moore was sentenced to three years in prison after being convicted of reckless homicide.

Although police reported that Moore was intoxicated at the time of the 1977 collision, he was not convicted of drunk driving. The present trial—on a second, not a third, drunk driving charge—carried a possible penalty of six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Moore is free on a $200 bond pending his appeal of Thursday's decision. As one of the grounds for the appeal, Johnson claimed his client was hurt by the judge's refusal to allow a bifurcated trial—one in which the questions of guilt and penalty are considered in separate proceedings.

(Had the proceedings been split, no reference to Moore's earlier drunk driving conviction need have been made in the body of the trial. While the earlier conviction was relevant to the question of sentence, it should not have been allowed to affect the question of guilt or innocence, the defense lawyer argued.)

CIRCLE MEETS

The Wesleyan Circle of the First United Methodist Church met Tuesday night of last week, with Mrs. Orpha Meece and Mrs. Shirley Callihan as hostesses. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Rose Glenn, Mrs. Roberta Davidson presided. Mrs. Shirley Hughes presented the program, "The Beginning of a Journey," and told of the first organization of the Women's Missionary Society. This was in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of Methodism.

The hostesses, Mrs. Callihan and Mrs. Meece, served refreshments to Shirley Hughes, Mary Margaret Webb, Anna May Mellon, Virginia Shivel, Virginia Jeffries, Roberta Davidson, Josephine Fields, Stella Spurlock, Fannie Runnels, May K. Roberts, Alice Harris, Sally Goebel, Edna Carol Greenwade and Vera Ford.

Mrs. Cahill Retires

Sophia Cahill, of Drift, well-known for her 18 years service in the state Mines and Minerals Department—the last few years as manager of the Martin district office—retired this week.

Area Dirt Track Season Kicks Off

By KEN PETERS

Dirt track auto races began last weekend with only McDowell's Terry Hall a winner.

Racing at Perry County Speedway's 1/2-mile track, Hall's New No. 23 modified class racer won the 5-lap trophy dash. In the 20-lap feature he looked like a sure winner but with three laps to go lost his clutch. Hazard's Shannon Crisp, driving No. 32, won with Danny Salisbury, another McDowell enthusiast in "Zip Code 17" Chevy, second.

Saturday night was not as kind to Martin's No. 10 racing team. The Harris, Halbert, Hayes team lost a transmission, went through three gear changes and had to call it quits for good when the brakes failed—all before the super-modified class feature race. Harris finished the earlier trophy dash, third.

Legislative Review

By REP. GREG STUMBO

The 1984 session of the Kentucky General Assembly began last January with a new governor, revenue shortfalls, and sweeping proposals to upgrade education.

We soon moved into ambitious gubernatorial proposals for tax increases, linked with vast new expenditures for education. This was followed by heavy criticism of Gov. Collins' proposals, causing her to withdraw her plans. In the end, we have a bare bones, no major budget increases and some new programs to upgrade education.

I previously explained the education bills that we considered, so now I'll only remind you of the major ones that passed. They were: mandatory kindergarten, remedial courses for students needing them, competency testing for new teachers, and study of a career-ladder for our teachers.

Several bills that I sponsored or supported passed this session, measures concerning issues important to our district and to the state.

One of the most controversial and important pieces of legislation that I constantly worked for dealt with broad form deeds. The problem of large coal companies ravaging our lands against the will of the landowner was finally addressed by the General Assembly. The law which passed gives property owners a say in how their property is to be reclaimed after mining excavation has taken place. This ensures us, as property owners, some protection for our land and assures it will not be rendered useless by the owners of the mineral rights.

We also passed a law preventing firearm control by county governments. The bill, which passed without the signature of Gov. Collins, is a giant success toward our right to bear arms.

Until this session, we in Kentucky had the most lenient laws in the region against dog-fighting. Through legislation passed this session, dog-fighting is now a felony instead of a misdemeanor. This new law will go a long way to rid the state of the unfavorable population attracted by dog-fighting, not to speak of preventing cruelty to animals.

There is a national awareness of how our children are misused and abused and our General Assembly met the challenge to stop the horrible atrocities that have been reported as happening to our children.

Among the child-care bills we passed was a multi-faceted law which establishes a Child Abuse & Exploitation Prevention Board, sets up a hotline for missing children through the state Justice Cabinet, and requires the state Education Cabinet to establish a program to locate missing children enrolled in our public schools. We also approved legislation to permit the use of public medical facilities for research of in-vitro fertilization.

Only one major piece of legislation which I supported failed. I advocated making the seven members of the Public Service Commission elected from the seven congressional districts instead of being appointed by the governor. I felt that commissioners elected from districts would be more effective because they would better represent all sections of the state and consequently serve the good of the entire state.

Although it was a session of tough budgetary decisions, I feel that this General Assembly was productive for Eastern Kentucky. Several mining safety laws were passed and the Mountain Parkway, at last, received a rest and relief area. Of course, he will soon begin studying issues which will face the next session.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NOTES

By JANE BOND
Health Educator

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Martin at the Beaver Valley Clinic, Monday, May 7, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, anemia screenings, blood pressures, immunizations and pap tests.

A glaucoma screening clinic will be held at the Health Department on Monday May 7. This free clinic is open to persons of all ages, but those 40 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this service, since this is the high risk age for the disease.

There will be no nursing services at the Health Department on Friday May 4, due to the nurses being in Frankfort for Community Health Nurse Day.

Trial Postponed

Trial of Steve Shepherd, 36, of Hunter, on a charge of stealing auto parts from a junk yard operated by Terry Bentley at Drift was postponed in Floyd Circuit Court Tuesday when Bentley failed to appear in court. The case is now scheduled to be heard May 31.

WHEELWRIGHT HOMEMAKERS

The Wheelwright Homemakers met April 19 at the Senior Citizens Building in Wheelwright. In the absence of the president, Katie Newsome, vice president called the meeting to order. Parilee Hall led members in the Homemakers Devotional. The secretary's report and treasurer's account were read and approved. Since there was no old business, the meeting was turned over to Frances Pitts, who gave an informative report on "Stress". Pamphlets describing family management of stress were distributed. The craft for the evening was Trapunto.

Members are reminded of the May 17 meeting. This will be a covered dish dinner and the last meeting before the summer break. A white elephant sale will be held to raise money.

Members present were Maxine Osborne, Katie Newsome, Barbara Johnson, Dolly Hall, Margaret Jones, Sue Johnson, Parilee Hall, Frances Pitts, and Doris Osborne. Hostesses for the evening were Margaret Jones and Sue Johnson.

Documentary Explores Fate of Wallenberg

Swedish Diplomat Raoul Wallenberg, a Protestant, volunteered on behalf of the American War Refugee Board to go to Budapest, Hungary, in 1944, and save the last surviving Jewish community in Europe. In six months, he rescued 100,000 people from Nazi extermination. In January, 1945, Wallenberg was arrested by Soviet soliders who came to liberate Hungary.

"Hitler's Enemy: Buried Alive" attempts to unravel the mystery surrounding Wallenberg and his fate. The one-hour documentary will air Wednesday, May 23, at 8 p.m. on KET.

The program answers questions which have intrigued everyone who has ever heard of Wallenberg. What motivated him to risk his life for the Jews of Budapest? How was he able to confound Adolf Eichmann and save the lives of so many people? Why did the Soviets arrest Wallenberg? Why do they apparently continue to deceive the world about his fate?

The film weaves together interviews with members of the Wallenberg family and people who were saved by the Swedish diplomat and eyewitness accounts of Wallenberg in action in Soviet prison camps as recently as 1978 and 1980. Intercut with these interviews are period footage and still photos, including footage of Soviet prisons, recently smuggled out of the Soviet Union.

"Hitler's No. 1 Enemy: Buried Alive" is a production of Rubicon Films.

Sanford Slone, 57, died last Thursday, April 26, at his home at Buckeye, following an apparent heart attack.

A disabled miner and a member of the U.M.W.A. at David, he was born June 5, 1926, a son of the late Lewis and Allie Slone.

Survivors include three sons, Wornald Slone, of Auxier, Lonnie Charles Slone, of Pikeville, Clarence Slone, of LaGrange; six brothers, Greenville and Richard Slone, both of Blue River, Lon, Bill, Lamon, and Lewis Slone, Jr., all of Warsaw, Ind.; two sisters, Martha Hall, and Virginia Fenix, both of Warsaw, Ind., and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Floyd Funeral Home Chapel with ministers of the Church of God officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Blue River.

Orville Cox

Orville Cox, 59, of Depauw, Ind., died Monday, March 19, while visiting in this county where he had friends and relatives.

A native of Knott county, he was born November 25, 1924, a son of the late Bee and Rhoda Handshoe Cox. He was employed by Louisville Cement Company in Speed, Indiana.

He is survived by his wife, Theresa Moser Cox; two daughters, Mavis M. Flenner, of Milltown, Ind., and Sharon K. Schwartz, of Depauw, Ind.; one son, George M. Cox, also of Depauw; a stepson, Charles F. Bye, in California; one brother, Norman Cox, of Milltown, Ind.; five sisters, Dorothy Thevenot, of Glendale, Ariz., Bertha DeBell, of Cox's Creek; Goldie Summers, of Leavenworth, Ind., Lola Mae Jenkins, of Fredericksburg, Ind., Janice Dubois, of Milltown, Ind., and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted March 21 in Depauw by the Rev. Tom Malone, and burial was made there.

Ernest Akers

Ernest Akers, 88, of Pikeville, native of this county, died Monday, April 23, at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Born December 5, 1895, he was a son of the late George and Anna Bell Meade Akers. He was a retired teacher and a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Harold.

He is survived by one son, Robert Milton Akers, of Prestonsburg; three daughters, Mary Jane Smith, of Detroit, Mich., Susie Novella Barbee, of Andersonville, Tenn., and Rooney Amelia Beane, of Cross Lanes, W. V.; one half-sister, Lillian Sturgill, in California; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. last Thursday in the chapel of the J.W. Call and Son Funeral Home, and burial was made in the Tackett cemetery at Harold.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Harmel Roberts.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away!
With a cheery smile,
and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into another land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be,
since he lingers there.
And you—O you,
who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There
as the love of Here;
Think of him still
as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!
WIFE AND CHILDREN

KIWANIANNES MEET

The Prestonsburg Kiwanians held their luncheon-meeting at May Lodge last Thursday, noon, with Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, president, presiding. Mrs. Jane Wallace presented two guests, Mrs. Hope Whitten and Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, who were welcomed as new members. Mrs. Orpha Meece reported that she and Mesdames Dorothy Osborne, Myrtle Allen and Lucy Regan had, on behalf of this organization, served food to 49 persons participating in the heart clinic at the Floyd County Health Department during the previous week.

The president welcomed back Mrs. Thelma Music and Mrs. Opal Dingus, who had spent the winter months in Florida. It was announced that flowers had been placed in the First Presbyterian Church in memory of Mrs. Lillian Rimmer, who was long a member of this organization.

Present were Mesdames Garnett Fairchild, Vera Ford, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Hope Whitten, Jane Wallace, Dolly Pettrey, Elizabeth Ramey, Myrtle Davis, Docia Woods, Orpha Meece, Rebecca Rasnick, Zella Archer, Lucy Regan, Thelma Music, Myrtle Allen, Stella Lafferty, and Opal Dingus.

The next meeting will be Thursday, May 24, at 12:30 at May Lodge.

CLUB DINNER PLANNED

Members of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club are reminded of the installation dinner at the club's Arts and Craft's House at Archer Park, tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 6:15. Each member is asked to bring a small, inexpensive gift for exchange, and the food of her choice. The president, Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, urges all members to attend.

SHERIFF BACK AT WORK

Sheriff Henry Hale, who was admitted to Highlands Regional Medical Center after complaining of chest pains Thursday, was released Saturday and returned to work in good health Monday.

CIRCLE TO MEET

Members of the Annie Allen Circle, Baptist W.M.U., will have their next meeting at the home of the group's president, Mrs. Camden Garrett, Monday evening, May 7, at 7 o'clock.

Hospice Directors Plan Jean Ritchie Concert, June 29th

Plans for a Jean Ritchie concert at Prestonsburg Community College, June 29, were discussed by the board of directors of Hospice of Big Sandy, Inc. at its April 17 meeting here.

The appearance of Miss Ritchie, nationally known folk singer and an Eastern Kentucky native, is planned to raise funds for Hospice.

Attending the board meeting, which was held at the First Presbyterian Church here, were Dr. William B. Cook, medical director; Clara Garrett, executive director; Jenny Bottoms, treasurer; Curtis Tussey, Jr., the Rev. Timothy Jessen, Pat Tyson, Garnett Fairchild, Dr. Gan Mattiwar, Sr., Marie Gangwish and Annette Cash.

To Whom It May Concern:

On and after publication of this notice, I will not be responsible for any debt incurred by any person other than myself.

Named Coordinator

Donald H. Goble has assumed the position of Outreach coordinator for Koala Centers in Marion, Indiana. Koala Centers are the leading hospitals specializing in the treatment of alcoholism and drug abuse with facilities in Indiana, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Mr. Goble, who has a Master's of Science in Social Work degree from the University of Louisville, works closely with the employee assistance counselors at several General Motors plants. Goble says, "Alcoholism and drug addiction cost American industry an estimated 50 billion dollars annually due to lost production and health and medical expenditures." He adds, "There is no way to put a dollar value on the contributions countless individuals might make to society if their ideas and ideals weren't eroded by chemical dependency."

Before entering graduate school, Goble was a counselor and program coordinator at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center in Prestonsburg. He is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and is the son of Mrs. Martha Goble, of Prestonsburg.

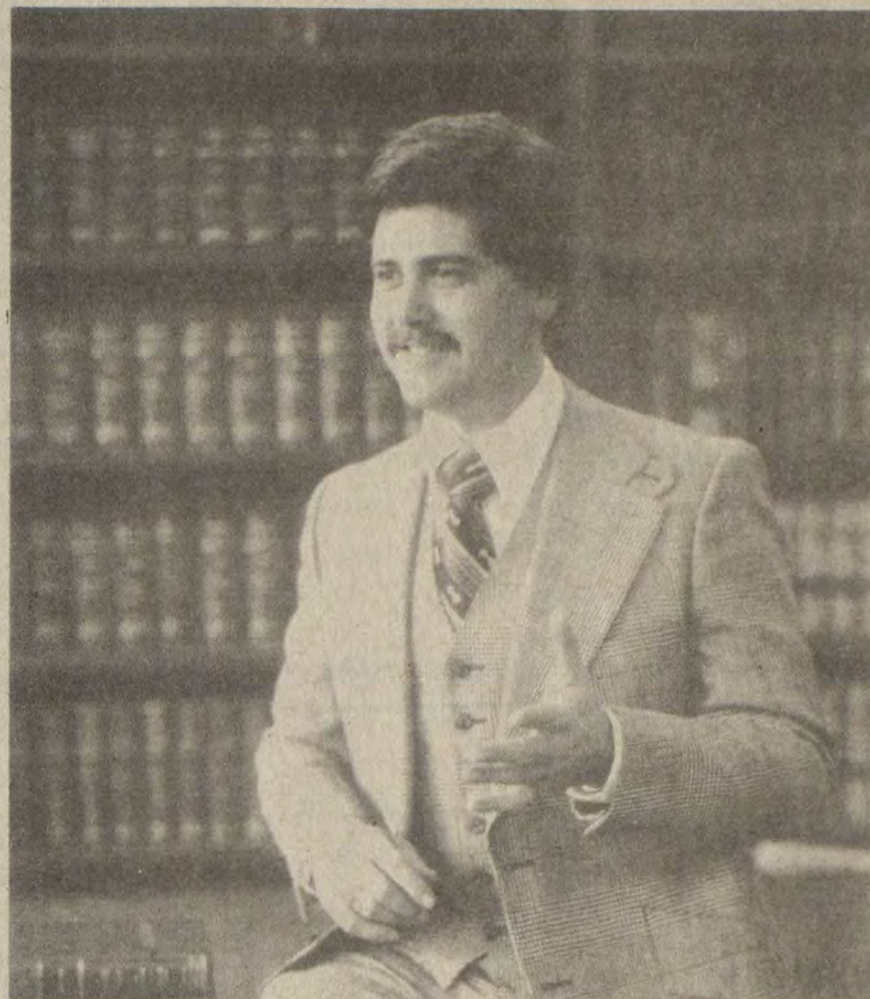

Photojournalist Featured In Documentary On KET

Jay Mather, of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, is one of four prominent photojournalists featured in the documentary, "On Assignment," airing on KET Wednesday, May 23, at 10:30 p.m.

"On Assignment" takes the viewer behind the camera to profile the careers of four award-winning photojournalists. Shot on location in the U.S. and overseas, the program explores the working styles of Mather, Pulitzer Prize recipient for The Courier-Journal; Alfred Eisenstaedt, Life magazine; Jodi Cobb, National Geographic magazine, and David Burnett, Contact Press Images. The program also documents the editorial process at Life, National Geographic, and The Courier-Journal. "On Assignment" is a BTC/KET production.

On Site Training Plan For Mine Tech Grads

Top graduates of Kentucky's mining technology programs may have the opportunity to attend a five-week training program if owners of small coal mines hire the graduates for a six-month internship, said Wes Blakely, chairholder of mining, technology and research at Morehead State University.

Blakely said the training period would cover four key areas—electrical problems, roof control, mine ventilation and mine permitting. The program is primarily geared to coal mines which produce around 200,000 tons of coal per year.

"This is an answer to a current need," Blakely said. "Essentially many of the problems encountered by operators of small mines involve the day-to-day running of the mine. Their time is cut so thin that the operator often does everything from the mine's books to the actual mining."

"Small operators have more problems than larger mining organizations that have full-fledged engineering and safety departments."

"These students enrolled in this intensive training period will have an advantage. They may not have the actual mining experience, but they will possess much valid background information," he said.

Finalization of the Student Intern Assistance Plan is incomplete at present, Blakely said, because the organizers are still determining the mining locations where the interns will work. Under the plan, students would work as regular employees of a company for a six-month period, earning 12 hours of credit from MSU.

Mine operators interested in the assistance plan should contact Blakely at MSU, UPO 726, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Bobby David Justice gratefully acknowledges the thoughtfulness and kindness of friends, relatives, and neighbors in the loss of our loved one. We are especially grateful to the employees and supervisors of the East Kentucky Beverage Company, the nurses in the cardiac care unit at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital, and Dr. Delarosa and Dr. Malik. A sincere thanks to the pastor and members of the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church, the pallbearers, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. We also thank the community for their much needed support and prayers.

76th Birthday

Mrs. Rutha Newsome was honored with a surprise party on her 76th birthday, April 8, at the home of her daughter, Shirley Hamilton, of Detroit, Mich. A birthday cake was baked by a neighbor, Cindy Emerson, and dinner was served family and friends. Guests were Alonzo, Billy, and Joyce Hamilton, Kenneth Virble Brown, John Wess and Elizabeth Hamilton, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, Mrs. Burnette Burge, the Emerson family, grandchildren, Gary Hamilton and Jeannette Bryant, and her husband, Earnest D. Bryant, and great-grandchildren, Jason Daniel Bryant and Shirley Marie Bryant.

Mrs. Newsome, formerly of Teaberry, and the widow of the late Daniel Newsome, received many gifts and cards and received phone calls throughout the day wishing her a happy birthday.

Five Generations

Members of her family gathered to honor Mrs. Bertha Childers Holbrook on her 87th birthday, February 22. Five generations of the family are pictured above. Mrs. Holbrook is seated, holding her great-great-grandson, Kristofer Thomas Heims. Standing, from left, are great-granddaughter, Paula Heims, Kristofer's mother; granddaughter, Doris Bailey, Paula's mother; daughter, Pauline Kucharski, mother of Doris. They all reside in North Judson, Indiana.

Story Hour Scheduled May 9 at Library, Here

The Floyd County Library's May 9 story hour program for 3 to 5 year olds will be on, "Going to the Hospital." The program will include a filmstrip, "Curious George Goes to the Hospital," followed by Peggy Hicks from Highlands Regional Medical Center telling the children what it is like to be in the hospital and what they should bring with them if they have to go to the hospital. Story hour is at 10:30 a.m.

ALLEN NEWS

Mrs. Louana Porter, of Marshall, Mich., is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Lula Fields, who has been a patient at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Interest Rates Up. Mortgage pinch coming again.

United News Service
WASHINGTON — A rise in interest rates has brought about speculation that mortgage rates on home loans will also go higher.

Economists predict interest rates will climb steadily through the remainder of the year and could go even higher in 1985.

A spokesman for the housing authority said the decline in housing construction is directly related to the higher interest rates.

How to beat high interest rates on home loans.

First Commonwealth Bank is participating in The Mortgage Bond Program which offers fixed rate 15 year home loans with low down payment requirements to people wanting to buy or build a home in Floyd and Johnson Counties.

This is the last year for The Mortgage Bond Program. For more details on how you can beat high mortgage interest rates, call our Mortgage Loan Department, The Home Team, 886-2321.

Answers to Drug Quiz

Here are the answers to last week's Alcohol and Drugs quiz: If you scored 18 to 20 correctly we need your help! If less than 18 you need our help. Come to Ky. War on Drugs Task Force meetings at Floyd County Library the first and third Mondays of each month at 7:30 p.m. The next meeting will be May 7th.

1. ALCOHOL. It is estimated that about 10 million people in the United States are dependent on alcohol. About two-thirds of all adults are occasional drinkers of either wine, beer, or some other alcoholic beverage. About half of all junior high school students have tried some type of alcoholic drinks.

2. AVOID WITHDRAWAL. When heroin addicts are deprived suddenly of the drug, they develop physical withdrawal symptoms. These symptoms may include shaking, sweating, nausea, runny nose and eyes, muscle spasms, headaches and stomachaches. Sudden withdrawal from certain drugs can be dangerous. For instance, a person who has been using barbiturate sedatives for a long time should not attempt withdrawal without a physician's assistance.

3. MARIJUANA. Marijuana, an illegal drug, was classified as a narcotic in the past but it is not now. The way the drug works on a person's mental and physical system differs from the effects of narcotics.

4. 18-25. The findings from the 1982 National Survey on Drug Abuse showed that among the three major age groups surveyed (12-17, 18-25, and 26 and over), illicit drug abuse was most prevalent among young adults, ages 18-25.

5. PEYOTE. The active ingredient of the peyote cactus is mescaline, a hallucinogen. Physical dependence on this class of drugs has not been verified.

6. THROUGH THEIR FRIENDS. The pressure from friends to experiment with drugs can influence many people to try drugs, especially young people. Being accepted by friends is strong pressure. But showing friends that you care when they feel bad about themselves and their lives, and helping them solve problems can prevent them from becoming involved with drugs.

7. PHENCYCLIDINE (PCP). This illicit drug can produce unpredictable, erratic, and violent behavior in users. These actions can be directed at themselves or at others, and, in some cases, have led to serious injuries and death. Drownings, burns, falls from high places, and automobile accidents have also been reported. Since the drug is usually manufactured illegally, users cannot be certain of its purity.

8. METHAQUALONE. This is a non-barbiturate sleep-inducing drug called a "lude" or "sopor" on the street. Abuse can lead to convulsions or coma.

9. CHILDREN. Inhalant abuse is rising among children between the ages of 12 and 17. These substances are readily available in household products, often found in aerosol sprays. Inexpensive and available aerosol products can cause irregular heartbeats, breathing problems, and sudden death.

10. CIGARETTES. There are over 50 million cigarette smokers in the United States. It is estimated that 300,000 deaths each year are related to tobacco use. Some of the long-term effects of smoking are emphysema, chronic bronchitis, heart disease, and cancer of the lungs, mouth, larynx, and esophagus. Women who smoke during pregnancy run the risk of having babies that weigh less, or of losing their babies through stillbirth or death after birth. Therefore the health risks associated with tobacco are exceptionally high.

11. INHALANTS. These compounds are found among common household products. Sniffing these substances can result in immediate death. Irregular heartbeat and interference with breathing can cause suffocation. This can happen the first time or any time a person uses these substances.

12. HEROIN. In 1898 when heroin was placed on the market, it was not believed to be habit forming. However, in a few more years, researchers found heroin more addictive than morphine or any other narcotic drug. This knowledge made it necessary for the Government to begin passing laws to restrict the sale and use of heroin.

13. DIFFERENT FOR EACH PERSON. The time it takes for a person to become dependent on heroin varies. But repeated use will eventually cause physical dependence. Some people become hooked on heroin after using it a few times. Developing an addiction to any drug varies with the form and potency of the drug, the dosage, the frequency, the pattern of use, and the personality of the user.

14. TIME. There are no shortcuts to sober a drunk person. Once alcohol is in the bloodstream, it takes time for the body to rid itself of the alcohol. This process, called metabolism, takes about 2 hours for each drink taken.

15. SEDATIVES. (Also known as tranquilizers and sleeping pills.) Most people do not realize that alcohol is a sedative drug. Combining sedatives with alcohol increases their effects. Judgment is impaired and lapses in memory can occur. In this confused state, users can unintentionally take larger or repeated amounts of these substances. This can result in comas and death. More Americans die from overdoses of barbiturates (another sedative) than from heroin addiction.

16. UNDER THE PROTECTION OF FEDERAL LAW. Under Federal law persons can seek help for drug problems. Federal law in most instances requires doctors, psychologists, and drug treatment centers to keep confidential any information received from drug patients, if the drug treatment program is federally assisted. However, it may be necessary for information to be given to other doctors to help in treating patients, or to insurance companies to help to provide benefits for patients. This can only be done with the patient's consent.

17. PREVENTION. Children are confronted with drugs and the pressure to use drugs. This occurs wherever they live. Young people are faced with alcohol and tobacco at a very young age. They should be taught how to say "no" when drugs are offered. The purpose of prevention is to provide young people healthy and attractive alternatives to drug abuse. This involves the whole community and includes helping young people to develop meaningful relationships with parents, teachers, and peers.

18. UP TO A MONTH. The major active ingredient in marijuana is tetrahydrocannabinol (THC). Scientists have discovered that THC accumulates in the fatty tissues of the cells and is eliminated slowly. It takes approximately 4 weeks for the body to rid itself of THC.

19. MAY BE HARMFUL TO THE UNBORN CHILD. Pregnant women should be extremely careful about taking any drug, even aspirin, without consulting a physician. Research has shown that heavy smoking and drinking can harm the fetus. Babies born of narcotic- and barbiturate-dependent mothers are often born drug dependent and must receive special care.

20. ALL OF THESE. In 1975, marijuana street samples rarely exceeded 1 percent THC (tetrahydrocannabinol) content; today, marijuana samples containing 5 percent are common. Sinsemilla, a cultivated form of marijuana which is becoming more readily available in this country, may contain as much as 7 percent THC. The amount of THC determines its psychoactive potential. The more potent marijuana increases the physical and mental effects, and the possibility of health problems to the user.

Research shows that marijuana effects can interfere with learning by impairing thinking, reading comprehension, and verbal and arithmetic skills. Young people need to learn how to make decisions, to handle success, and to cope with failures. Drug abuse can prevent them from growing up to become mature, responsible people.

Studies of teenage marijuana use show that many young people in the 12-to-17 age group started smoking marijuana in junior high school. There is a strong relationship between regular marijuana use and use of other drugs—hallucinogens, uppers, downers, and heroin. Although this evidence does not prove that using marijuana causes use of other drugs, it suggests that the earlier a person starts to smoke marijuana, and the heavier the use, the more likely it is that the person will use even stronger psychoactive drugs 5 years later.

Cancer Hopeline

Q. What causes cancer?

A. No one knows for sure how a normal cell becomes a cancer cell. But scientists agree that people get cancer mainly through repeated or long-term contact with one or more cancer-causing agents called carcinogens. The carcinogens cause body cells to change their structures and to grow out of control.

Q. Is cancer curable?

A. Yes. Of all the chronic diseases, cancer is the most curable. Today, nearly half of all cancer patients can be cured by modern treatment methods. Great advances have been made in our ability to prevent, detect, and treat cancer. To achieve the maximum number of cures it is important to make the diagnosis when the cancer is in its earliest and/or smallest and most localized stages.

Q. Is cancer contagious?

A. No. Cancer is not catching. It cannot be spread from person to person by sneezing, coughing, kissing, or in any other way.

(For more information on what you can do to help protect yourself and your family from cancer call 1-800-4-CANCER or write CIS, McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone St., Lexington, Ky. 40536 and ask for Good News: Better News: Best News: Cancer Prevention.)

Potatoes Make Good Home Crop

Potatoes are a popular food for Americans who consume an average of 54 pounds of fresh potatoes annually. They also are a good bet for home gardens when adequate space is available.

Potatoes can be easily grown in the garden, according to Dr. Terry Jones, Extension specialist in horticulture in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. However, he said some precautions are necessary before a gardener can reap an abundant, healthy crop.

"Potatoes prefer full sun and well drained, reasonably deep soils," noted the specialist who is headquartered at Robinson Substation—Quicksand. "Poorly drained soils should be avoided since they tend to cause misshapen tubers, and excessive rains after tuber formation may lead to rot problems."

A pH level of 5.0-5.5 is suggested for potatoes. Jones says if the pH level is higher, plant a scab resistant variety, such as Superior, or add sulfur to the soil at the rate of one-half pound over the surface of 15 feet of row to lower the pH.

"A soil test should be taken to determine the actual pH and fertility level of the site," advised Jones. He adds that limited amounts of manure can be used for potatoes, but that step is not recommended because manure tends to aggravate scab problems.

To obtain potatoes with low disease content, Jones says to choose certified potato seed, keeping it cool until about two weeks prior to planting, then warming it to 60 degrees F so the eyes will begin to sprout. Large tubers should be cut into blocky seed pieces weighing between one and a half to two and a half ounces.

"Be sure to get 2-3 eyes on each seed piece if possible," recommends Jones. He explains that the number of eyes on a seed piece helps determine the number and size of tubers set.

Jones says planting freshly cut seed in soils that are warm and moist is the best and easiest method for the home gardener.

As for variety selection, the specialist suggests Irish Cobbler and Norland for early maturation; Kennebec and Superior for mid-season maturation, and Katahdin, Green Mountain or Russet Burbank for late maturation.

Jones notes that there is a tendency for home gardeners to over fertilize potatoes. "This causes excessive vine growth, reduced tuber set and lower yield," he said.

The recommended rate of fertilization for gardens with a high fertility level is 25 pounds of 10-10-10 per 1,000-square-foot. On lower fertility soils, 50 pounds of 5-10-10 should be sufficient. "Broadcasting the fertilizer and working it into the soil before planting will produce an adequate crop," Jones said.

When plants are 6-8 inches high, 2-3 handfuls of 5-10-10 per 10 feet of row can be hilled in, according to the specialist.

Jones says potatoes can be planted in the spring as soon as the soil is dried out enough to be easily worked and has warmed up to 45 degrees F. Space the seed 8-10 inches apart in rows 32-36 inches apart. (Russets should be spaced 12-14 inches apart in the row.) Make the furrow 3-4 inches deep and cover the seed pieces with two inches of soil.

At the 8-10 inch spacing, Jones says it should take 16-20 pounds of seed potatoes to plant 100 feet of row.

"Do not plant potatoes more than once every three years in the same location," cautions the specialist. He warns against rotations with tomatoes, peppers and strawberries. Crops such as corn, cole crops and vine crops make the best rotation crops with potatoes.

Adequate weed control usually can be obtained by cultivation and hilling, according to Jones. He recommends pulling 3-4 inches of soil in from each side of the row to cover the lower stem of the plants. "Usually two or three hillings should cover the weeds and provide cover for the developing tubers. Avoid tilling too close to the plants to prevent root and stolon pruning," he adds.

Aphids, flea beetles and Colorado potato beetles are the most common insect pests, and late and early blight are the most common disease problems for potatoes. County Extension agents have information on recommended control measures for these problems.

J. O. BRIGGS ESTATE AUCTION (ABSOLUTE) Saturday, May 5; 1:30 PM

We have been instructed by the heirs to the estate of Dan Dunn to sell this farm located just off Highway 191 on Sugar Cane Branch, that would be approx. 1 mile from the Mt. Parkway (Lee City and Helechawa exit).

This farm has 2 to 3 acres of bottom land, some rolling woodland, and a modest house and barn with tobacco base of 649 lbs. for 1984. The house has 5 rooms and a bath. There is a 4-bent tobacco barn approx. 32x48. As far as is known all mineral rights are intact and will be conveyed. There is oil production near by. The deed calls for 16 acres more or less by boundary, but owners estimate approx. 80 acres; but will be sold by boundary, not by acre. This farm has lots of possibilities and is in a good neighborhood with excellent accessibility.

To get to this auction take Highway 191 on Mountain Parkway to Lee City Exit. Then 191 east approx. ¾ mile, turn North on Sugar Cane Branch Road. Auction Arrows will be posted.

Owners are Dan Dunn-Ray Marcus Dunn Et al.

TERMS: 20% Deposit, Balance upon passing of Deed, within 30 Days.

Appalachia Study Week, June 17-23 at Marshall

Marshall University's first Alumni College, with a variety of classes, discussions, field trips and entertainment focused on the theme "Appalachian Culture," is set for June 17-23, according to Dr. Bernard Queen, Director of Development and acting director of Alumni Affairs.

The "learning vacation" features informal sessions conducted by Marshall faculty, alumni and others who are authorities on aspects of Appalachia.

Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, academic coordinator for the program, describes the week as a time for "intellectual stimulation, mingled with good fellowship and fun."

Class sessions for the week include "Folklore and Folk Tales," "Introduction to Appalachia," "Religious Cults in Appalachia," "Appalachian Dialect, Folksay," "The Saga of Governor Pierpont and the Restored Government of Virginia," "Women in Appalachia," "West Virginia Flora and Fauna," and the "Jesse Stuart Collection." Jim Comstock, editor emeritus of the West Virginia Hillbilly, will speak at the Monday dinner to be held at the Holiday Inn Gateway.

Field trips are scheduled to the W-Hollow area of Greenup, home of Kentucky author Jesse Stuart, the West Virginia Cultural Center in Charleston, and the Huntington Galleries. A nature hike is included on the Galleries visit.

For additional information, call the Marshall Alumni Office (304) 696-3134.
