

Perkins, School Incumbents Retain Seats

By Anne Chaney

Floyd County voters returned two incumbent school board members to the educational district's governing body Tuesday, and elected a newcomer, Tommy Boyd, to represent District 3.

Re-elected were Dr. Mary Hall of McDowell, who has served on the board for more than 15 years, and James Arville Duff, board vice-chairman, who has served the county's school district 16 years. Boyd, who replaces Fred Newsome (Newsome did not seek re-election due to health reasons), is a retired teacher.

In other races, Congressman

Chris Perkins retained his 7th District seat by defeating Republican Challenger Will T. Scott in the majority of the district's 23 counties.

Scott, who conceded defeat shortly before 9 p.m. Tuesday, carried only four counties, according to unofficial results — Fleming, Johnson, Knott and Lewis.

In the State Supreme Court race, challenger Dan Jack Combs ousted incumbent James B. Stephenson 63,120 votes to 46,938, with 91 percent of the vote counted.

Kentucky voters overwhelmingly approved both of the proposed Constitutional amendments. Balloting reflected an early landslide victory for broad form deed opponents, with 774,579 yes votes and 174,818 no votes recorded (results of 2,183 of the state's 3,228 precincts reporting).

Voters also cleared the way for a state lottery, approving the amendment 618,725 to 389,270.

In Floyd County, voters showed approval of a state lottery, casting 10,169 votes in favor and 4,587 votes against.

On the broad form deed issue, the Floyd electorate approved the amendment by more than a six-to-one margin, casting 12,484 yes votes compared to only 1,929 no votes.

Nationally, Vice President George Bush recorded a resounding victory over Democratic opponent Gov.

Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts, in what many pollsters believe may be a record number of electoral college votes, Floyd County voters, however, heavily favored Dukakis, casting 12,386 votes for the northern governor to the vice president's 5,294 votes.

SCHOOL BOARD

In District 3, Tommy Boyd carried six of nine precincts to record a 1,704 to 1,380 vote victory over his closest challenger, Dr. Brent Clark. Boyd won the Tickey, Toler, Mouth of Mud, Ivel, Betsy Layne and Head of Mud precincts in his win. Clark carried Branham's Creek, Little Mud and Antioch.

Also in District 3, Ricky Roberts, who did not carry any precincts, did receive 741 votes.

Boyd replaces former board member Fred Newsome, who did not seek re-election due to health reasons.

Boyd could not be reached for comment as of presstime.

In District 4, incumbent Dr. Mary Hall pulled out a final-precinct win to defeat challenger Ricky Hamilton. Hamilton, who gained the early endorsement of the Kentucky Education Association and the Floyd County Education Association, earned 1,019 votes. Hall received 1,431 votes in her bid for re-election.

Hall and Hamilton traded precinct tallies most of the evening, with the outcome of the race being decided by the last precinct to report in the district.

Hall carried five of eight precincts — Mevin, Jack's Creek, Weeksbury, Clear Creek and Lee Hall. Hamilton won three precincts — John Ant, Gearheart and Frasure's Creek.

Also in the District 4 race were distant finishers Judy Breeding Bartley, with 229 votes, and Klein D. Stumbo, who recorded 444 votes.

In District 5, incumbent James Arville Duff, after early trouble, easily outdistanced his closest challenger, Paul Branham. Duff won eight of 11 precincts to earn 1,432 votes, while Branham carried three precincts (Allen-Dwale, John Possum and Jim Banks) to receive 786.

While the two other candidates in District 5 — Hattie Owens and Roger Jones — did not carry any precincts, both had surprisingly strong showings. Owens received 660 votes, while Jones picked up 443 ballots.

Duff, when contacted Tuesday night, said he was "very pleased" with the race, and complimented challengers in his district for their efforts.

"They ran a good race, and I congratulate them for making an effort to run for school board," said Duff. "I hope that I can continue to do a good job as a school board member," he continued.

Duff said that four to five years from now, he expects Floyd County residents to see a marked change in the local district, with improvements in academics, building facilities and school renovation.

"I think they'll be pleased down the road," he added.

Duff, who said he did not get nervous about the heavily-contested race until about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, said he felt like he would win all along.

"I had good people supporting me, they worked hard for me, and they did a good job," he said. "Although I wasn't able to see as many people as I wanted, I visited as many as I possibly could, and got a very good response."

EDUCATION OFFICIALS RESPOND TO RESULTS

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson said this week that fiscal courts in 45 Kentucky counties will receive the funds, which are collected by the state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet.

SCB Offers Reward For Line Damage Info

South Central Bell is offering a $2,500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whomever is responsible for damaging telephone lines Friday, Nov. 4, disrupting telephone service for customers in McDowell and Martin.

According to South Central Bell Manager Art Willett, someone apparently shot down at least three telephone cables on Cracker Mountain and stole one of the larger cables.

"Our repair technicians did an extraordinary job working until 5 a.m. the next morning to get service restored," said Willett. "The cable was in an area where all the materials had to be carried in by hand, making the job even more difficult."

The Kentucky State Police and the Floyd County Sheriff's Office are investigating the incident. Anyone with information should call one of these agencies at the following numbers: Kentucky State Police, 437-7311; Floyd County Sheriff, 886-6711.

Main Street Manager Hired

GREG BROWN

Prestonsburg's Main Street Program has a new manager, according to Mayor Ann Latta.

Named to the part-time post earlier this week was 27-year-old Greg Brown. Latta said the city was notified Nov. 2 that Prestonsburg received $5,000 in Appalachian Regional Commission monies to help fund the position. The state's Main Street Program contributed an additional $3,600 for the current year.

Latta said the Main Street Program office will be located at the former location of First Commonwealth Bank's savings and loan offices.

In the immediate future, Brown will attend a Main Street manager's quarterly conference this week. He will later organize the program and begin meeting with downtown business owners and merchants to determine their interest in the program.

Wayland Council Votes To Renew Franchise With Ky. Power Company

The Wayland City Council passed an ordinance Saturday at its regular meeting to renew its franchise with Kentucky Power Company for the city's street lights.

Members also discussed an ongoing problem with an underground fire in a mountain overlooking Route 7 near Wayland. The city has already approached the owner of the mineral rights on that land, Elkhorn Coal Corp., the state highway department and the federal government, and is now exploring the legalities of the city closing the road, according to Mayor Patricia Murphy.

In other business, the council accepted Councilman Dan Juett's resignation, because he is moving to Utah, and appointed Gene DeCoursey and Tommy Robinson to fill Juett's position and another position recently resigned.

The council also made plans for the town's Christmas treat giveaway, which will be Dec. 24 beginning at 5 p.m.

The next council meeting will be Saturday, Dec. 3 at noon at the Wayland Town Hall.

Center Groundbreaking

Groundbreaking for the Family Life Center of the First United Methodist Church took place Sunday. Construction on the $540,000 center should be completed in May. ## State Employees Will Meet At Jenny Wiley Park Nov. 17

The Kentucky Association of State Employees (KASE) will hold a special meeting, Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. at Jenny Wiley State Park in Prestonsburg.

Members will discuss state employee issues, including the recent reduction in health care benefits and the reduction in the annual salary increment.

The meeting will be conducted by Charles B. Wells, a Paintsville native who lives in Georgetown, and serves as the Eastern Kentucky field representative for the employee organization.

According to Wells, "State employees are tired of being treated like second class citizens, they deserve the same quality of benefits and the level of salary as any other employee."

KASE is a Frankfort-based state employee organization which is a member organization of the Federation of State Employees/AFT.

"We are independent of the administration and the only state employee organization that represents all state employees in all departments. Our purpose is to serve as a voice for state employees both in the legislature and in the workplace," said Wells.

All state employees are invited to attend the meeting. For more information, contact Wells at (502) 696-6140, or write KASE, 340 Democratic Dr., Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

State Approves Rate Hikes

The Kentucky Public Service Commission recently approved two actions affecting Auxier residents — a rate increase and a refund.

The commission approved a refund factor for Auxier Road Gas of 25 cents per thousand cubic feet effective Oct. 26. The refund will remain in effect until the total amount, plus interest, has been returned to Auxier customers.

In a separate matter, the commission approved a purchased water adjustment for Auxier Water Co. of 33 cents per thousand gallons, effective Monday, Nov. 13.

The commission also granted Mike Little Gas Co. a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $5,072 increase in costs from its wholesale supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas. The average annual increase per residential customer will be $10.52, effective Monday, Nov. 13.

New Festival Board Meets; Elects Officers

The board of directors for a new festival in Floyd County — tentatively called "Appalachian Spring: A Festival of the Arts" — met Thursday, Nov. 3, electing officers.

James O. VanHoose was named chairman of the May event, while Boots Adams was elected vice-chair. Janet Tackett was elected secretary and Thomas Hereford III was named treasurer.

Early plans for the festival call for arts and crafts, music and academic competitions, athletic competition and traditional components, including homecoming for area residents and family reunions.

VanHoose stressed that the festival would be a county-wide event, adding that some portions of the festivities could be held in different Floyd communities and at Allen Park.

Former Council Reps Re-Elected

The Wheelwright City Commission elections resulted in two previous officeholders gaining the seats once again.

Dennis Harris and Dennis Holbrook both won by a sizeable majority over the other two opponents for the two commission seats that they had resigned during the summer.

According to the state Board of Elections, candidates who have resigned their positions can run again as new candidates if they have properly filed.

The unofficial results in the race are as follows: Dennis Harris, 206; Alfred Rhea, 112; Ruth Daniels, 96 and Dennis Holbrook, 209.

local educators will continue their efforts for indexed salaries and improved working conditions.

Betty Rowland, Floyd County KEA representative, said Tuesday that the "race is history," and that there would be "other races, other times, and I'm sure the teachers will be involved."

The Floyd County KEA political action committee had endorsed District 4 challenger Ricky Hamilton, who was defeated by incumbent Dr. Mary Hall.

Of the overall race results, Rowland said, "Our task is to get on with the concerns that need addressing, and to achieve improvements for both teachers and students in the county."

Rowland said Floyd educators will hold meetings at each campus in the county tomorrow to discuss the outcome of Tuesday's balloting.

"We don't think the race will have a deciding impact (on our aims)," said Rowland. "We can still reach our goals. The board has committed to salary indexing; they did that at the meeting in Wheelwright. They want to index all salaries next year."

Rowland said school board members "change all the time; our goals are, and always have been, to serve our members."

Other issues local educators will seek to have addressed include an equitable transfer policy, having new jobs posted so that teachers have the opportunity to apply, and having personal leave days included in annual contracts.

Roberta Luxmore, president of the Floyd County Education Association, likewise felt the race results would have little impact on the teachers' goals.

"We feel like we can work with them (the incumbents)," said Luxmore. "We don't foresee any problems. Hopefully, they will be willing to work with us."

Luxmore said James Arville Duff, re-elected to represent District 5, had indicated he supported teachers' requests to have salaries indexed. Luxmore also said incumbent Dr. Mary Hall, re-elected from District 4, had committed to indexing teachers' salaries.

"We endorsed Ricky Hamilton (District 4 candidate). We wanted him to win, and felt like he was the better candidate. However, we believe we can work with Dr. Mary Hall. If she's willing, we're willing."

Luxmore also said that pre-election discussions with District 3's new representative, Tommy Boyd, pointed toward an amicable relationship. "I feel really comfortable working with Tommy," said Luxmore, adding that Boyd is a retired teacher. "I think we'll still gain the goals that we want. We lost the school board race, but gained ground — our teachers are united."

DISTRICT 7

CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Republican challenger Will T. Scott, who carried four of 23 counties in the district, conceded defeat early Tuesday night, according to his campaign spokeswoman.

Scott lost his election bid to Democratic incumbent Chris Perkins, who was unavailable for comment as of presstime.

Audrey Hudson, Scott's campaign spokesperson, said Scott noted in his concession speech that his political career is not over. Scott said he is "looking at three more races in three years," notably, congressional, senatorial and gubernatorial.

Hudson said Scott pledged to work with Perkins to "do whatever will help the 7th District."

Unofficial District 7 congressional returns, by county, are:

Friday Accident Claims Life Of 25-Year-Old County Man

A Floyd County man died Friday afternoon in a one-car accident near Weeksbury, according to Post 9 of the Kentucky State Police.

Michael Wayne Branham, 25, of Halo, was traveling north on Ky. 466 near Weeksbury when he apparently lost control of the car, officials said. The car left the road and struck a utility pole.

Branham was pronounced dead at the scene by Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson, officials said. No seat belts were in use at the time of the accident.

The accident is still under investigation by Troopers Gomer Prater and Mike Thorpe, officials said.

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 7, at the Little Rock Old Regular Baptist Church at Halo.

The sound of thunder is caused by the violent expansion of the air after it has been heated by lightning.

Slone Wins Essay Competition

WHAT QUALITIES SHOULD A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE POSSESS?

Seeing this is the year in which we elect our president to lead the nation for another four-year term, I feel we should all take a closer look at the presidency. Undoubtedly, we will never find a universal agreement on what qualities are desirable in a presidential candidate, nor on the importance that should be attached to each one. I think, however, that most would regard the following as essential: intelligence, knowledge of the issues, judgment, executive ability, honesty, physical stamina and mental stability.

Heavy demands are placed upon the intellect of the person in the White House. I think a president should be able to cope with a wide range of information. That is strain enough. The burden is made heavier by the fact that much of this information is of a highly complex nature, dealing with such matters as economics and defense. Finally, while the president cannot be expected to provide instant solutions to all the problems the nation faces, he should nevertheless have the logic to recognize what questions need to be asked if we are to move towards those solutions. In short, a president must be an individual of considerable intelligence.

We also seek a president who will be well informed. Although a keen intelligence may help, there is no guarantee that the bright will also be knowledgeable. Actually, I think what we are looking for are individuals who have an understanding of the problems confronting our nation, and also what options are available for dealing with them. The selection process allows us to do a good job of testing the candidates on this rule. Throughout the nomination and campaign, the candidates are probed day after day on a variety of foreign and domestic issues.

That we seek judgment in a president seems obvious enough. A president must be able to judge people as well as events. He cannot preside over the government of our nation by himself and so must bring with him people of integrity, intellect and knowledge who can assist him. In order to find individuals with such qualities, he must first be able to recognize them as such. We can get some indication of his ability to judge people by observing the company he keeps during the selection process. I refer specifically to his campaign staff, most of whom will accompany him to the White House if he is elected.

Presidents must preside over a developing bureaucracy and White House staff. This is an impossible task for one man alone, therefore he must be able to recognize and organize the talent that can assist him. Furthermore, as the man at the top, he should also be able to act decisively on all matters that come before him. To do all of this successfully requires executive ability.

I think we all share the common belief that there should be honesty in the presidency. In my opinion, there is a tendency for candidates to develop a rather vague meaning of things, especially on those issues that divide the population. The operations of the selection process hardly provide us with fool-proof tests for assuring honesty, but surely open acts of dishonesty are more than likely to be detected. With members of the press following a candidate as he travels about the country, he cannot easily get away with presenting one image to one part of the population and a completely different image to another part.

Unfortunately for the president, the problems and crises he faces do not fit themselves in a 9-to-5 day, five days a week. Even in the absence of crises, his daily schedule will be filled with meetings and speeches, to say nothing of frequent trips around the country and abroad. Thus, physical stamina is essential. There can be little doubt that the selection process tests the candidates on this quality. From early morning until late at night, their schedules are filled with meetings, speeches, interviews, handshaking and constant travel about the country, moving from one primary to the next.

The strain on a president is mental, every bit as much as it is physical. He is burdened with the realization that his actions could involve the United States, and even the world, in a nuclear holocaust. He must cope with living what is almost a totally public life, where his every word and action will be watched and analyzed. He must be prepared to endure public attack on himself, his family and policies. Therefore, presidents need the emotional stamina to deal with such pressures. Presidential candidates are not subject to all the pressures of a president, but the pressures are there nevertheless. They must live with the sad fact that months of grueling work may result in defeat, not victory. Like presidents, they must cope with public opinions, realizing that a wrong word on a certain sound of a voice may prove damaging to their candidacies. Finally, they are required to bear up under attacks directed toward their families, their character, and their policies.

All of these are my ideas of what qualities I think a presidential candidate should possess. If there is one such candidate among us, by all means let us elect him to office.

Brown Earns Second Place

WHAT QUALITIES SHOULD A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE POSSESS?

A person running for the office of president is a very special person. He or she will determine the course our country will take in world affairs and the progress we make here at home, as well as our place in history. While many of his or her decisions will be affected by other people in other governmental offices, his or her actions and ideas should be in the best interest of the welfare and well-being of the United States, our people and the people of other countries in the world. So many people are hungry and live in areas where there is fighting. I hope their suffering can be helped soon.

This may be the most important quality a presidential candidate can have—caring and kindness that come from wanting to help the people in this country and in the poor countries of the world.

He or she should be well educated in the legal and political systems needed to run the government. He should also be well educated in the various cultures in our country. The United States is a blend of different people from all over the world, as well as our Native Americans. The various regions of our country where these people live often have problems peculiar to that region. A good presidential candidate should be sensitive to the needs of these people so their problems can be solved and they can become more productive and self-sufficient.

A candidate should be truthful and trustworthy. The people of this country are entrusting this person with the economy and the office that controls the government. The confidence of the people rests with him, and should not be forgotten once the campaign is over.

The candidate should speak in a positive and respectful manner when addressing his opponent, his ideas and his plans or actions. We all have different ideas and some of them work well, but sometimes they don't. We all make mistakes at times. They need to remember that a mistake doesn't mean we will always be wrong and should be ridiculed for it. They should see another person's error as an opportunity to learn a better way to do things. Many people disagree on issues, but the other person has a right to think differently, and that right should be respected.

He should be concerned about the issues affecting the health of this and other countries. AIDS and the drug problem need solutions as soon as possible. Education about these problems is needed to prevent the loss of this country's young people. We need research in both areas.

Education is something that should be available to everyone. I hope the candidates see our school systems as a high-priority issue and don't use it as a way to cut the budget.

Johnson Qualifies For Third

(Editor's Note: The following essay, written by Renee Johnson, earned overall third place in the Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg's "Speak Out America" essay contest. Johnson is a student at McDowell Elementary School.)

WHAT QUALITIES SHOULD A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE POSSESS?

The qualifications that I look for in a presidential candidate are many, and I will tell them in the following paragraphs.

I think a candidate for president should be a well-educated person who understands the way the Constitution intended this country to be run.

He should also be well informed on the needs of the people of this country, such as employment, education, care of the elderly, care of the sick and homeless, military defense of our country, and freedom of different groups of people in this country.

A presidential candidate should be experienced in the affairs of government, such as dealing with foreign countries, and also with the economy of our country.

He should always care more about the people than he does about personal interests such as wealth or more political power.

A candidate should be honest and have integrity. He should know how to deal with the people of the country, and also the news people.

I also think that some government projects should not be told to the news people because it may not be in the best interests of the people of our country. Other countries do not tell all their secrets, so why tell ours? For example, the Russians know practically all of our bases for nuclear weapons, and we know none of theirs. In the event of war, this would be a great disadvantage to us.

A presidential candidate should be experienced in government, because if he is, he will know how to deal with domestic and foreign affairs, and know how to handle situations as they come before him if he should be elected president.

A presidential candidate should have definite ideas about governing our country, and the best welfare of its people.

He should also be wise enough to select people to advise him, (those) who know about all things concerning the country, and take their advice on matters that are in their category of knowledge.

Our Yesterdays Ten Years Ago

(November 8, 1978)

The Floyd County Board of Education wants to remove from Prestonsburg High School all the asbestos from both its ceilings and air, but this will not be done immediately. Garrett residents are not satisfied with statements of Department of Highways' engineers who claim that a huge fill near the confluence of Rock Fork and Beaver Creek which is being made to support one section of KY 80 bridge would cause only insignificant changes in water levels during months of flooding. The Floyd County Board of Education last week employed Marvin Crider, Jr., Prestonsburg architect, as a prelude to future development of a new site for Betsy Layne High School, but actual construction work is possibly a year or more distant, Supt. E.P. Grigsby, Jr. said. There died: Mrs. Ollie Hall, 62, of Galveston, Friday at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington; Mary Kathryn Young, 44, formerly of Martin, Sunday in North Hollywood, California; Robert Johnson, 57, formerly of Langley, Wednesday in Wabash County Hospital; Wall Hamilton, 69, of Prestonsburg, Sunday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; George Kovalak, 75, of Wayland, Sunday at his home; John W. Reed, 73, of Wayland, Monday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Arnold Conley, 67, of Wheelwright, November 1 at U.K. Medical Center; Elzie Whittaker, 69, of Auxier, DOA at Highlands Regional; Mrs. Celia M. Dillon, 78, of Sugar Loaf, Thursday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Arthur L. Hicks, 83, of Prestonsburg, Wednesday at his home; G. R. (Roscoe) Fannin, 77, of West Prestonsburg, Friday at Highlands Regional; Willard Kimble Collins, 53, of Auxier, Saturday at Dewey Lake; Mrs. Hetty G. Sizemore, 93, of Town Branch, Wednesday at Highlands Regional; Lum Hunter, 63, formerly of Martin, October 26 in Trenton, Michigan where he lived.

Twenty Years Ago

(November 7, 1968)

The election of his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, to the Presidency of the United States was conceded by Vice President Humphrey Wednesday afternoon. A Floyd county welfare group was scheduled to take a busload of its members to Frankfort Monday to ask that the state send a worker to Mud Creek to take food stamp applications. The first coal to be mined at David since the Princess Elkhorn Division of Princess Coals quit its operations there several months ago was loaded for shipment last Friday. Mrs. Lillian V. Knox, 29, of Ligonier, Ind., formerly of Dana, was instantly killed at about 3 a.m. Saturday in an auto crash near Ligonier. Congressman Carl D. Perkins last Friday announced that a federal grant of $1.3 million had been made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to help build a regional hospital proposed by the Highlands Hospital Corporation here. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones, of Melvin, a son, October 30; to Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Ousley, of West Prestonsburg, a son, Nov. 2; to Mr. and Mrs. Curt Tackett, of Ligon, a son, Nov. 3. There died: Mrs. Polly Pitts, 72, Saturday at her home at Risner; Mrs. Dahlia Johnson, 74, of Hueysville, Friday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; William Ratliff, 90, Friday at his home at Topmost; Mrs. Dixie Robinson Holsinger, 43, formerly of Martin, Friday at Columbus, O.; Miss Bessie Deal, 36, of Grethel, Friday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Democratic Floyd county gave Congressman Carl D. Perkins a majority of 5,103 votes at Tuesday's election over his Republican opponent, E. L. Raybourne, and in voting outside party lines defeated two administration school board candidates. Contract for paving of Lancer, Riverside and Porter Addition streets here was awarded Monday by the City Council. The president of the Beautiful Cumberland Association said Monday a survey of the proposed Eastern Kentucky scenic drive may be available within a year. A $60,000 motel will be erected here next spring by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conley, The Times learned this week. A special meeting of the City Council will be held Friday to consider adoption of the proposed city budget of $81,134. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke, a son, Heber Robert, II, last Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. There died: Billy Johnson, 81, of Wheelwright, Tuesday; Mrs. Julia Curry, 61, Oct. 27 at her home at Wheelwright; Mrs. Ruth Leona Taylor Lowe, 69, of Thomas, Oct. 24; Mrs. Eva Spears Jarrell, 73, of Woods, Friday at the home of a son on Mays Branch; Wess Flanary, 87, Tuesday at his home at Martin; Mrs. Virginia May Fraley, 76, of Hi Hat, last Wednesday at the home of a son at Eastern; Hiram Baisden, 76, of Water Gap, Saturday; Andrew Crum, 42, of Little Paint, Monday at Paintsville.

Forty Years Ago

(November 4, 1948)

The little guy who would not be licked was re-elected President of the U.S. Tuesday in the nation's most startling political upset. President Truman's Vice-President elect is Kentucky's Alben Barkley. Floyd county was more solidly Democratic than ever before. Elected members of the Board of Education are Div. 3, Alonzo Stratton, of Betsy Layne, Div. 5, Dr. W. D. Osborne, of Bypro; Div. 2, Ray Fraley, Wayland, unopposed. Dr. O.T. Stephens and Ray Stephens won the two Prestonsburg posts. In this area, Prestonsburg and Hindman are the only county seat towns to authorize state police entry. A new outboard motor featuring neutral, forward and reverse, accomplished by gear shift control, will soon be available at Johnson Motors local dealer, C. H. Smith Motor Co., Prestonsburg. There died: Green Justice, 83, at the Eastern home of his son; Ben Hurt, 55, Weeksbury miner, in a car wreck on the Melvin-Weeksbury road; Perry Osborne, 53, widely-known Floyd man of Martin, of a heart attack; Mrs. Quincy Moore Morris, 60, at her home in Wayland; Leonard Eldon Smith, 59, formerly of Betsy Layne, in Pike county; Noah Akers, 63, retired railroad man, of Lackey, of a heart attack; Aubert Clevenger, 35, West Prestonsburg war veteran, of tuberculosis.

Fifty Years Ago

(November 3, 1938)

Eleven slot machines were demolished by Sheriff Dial Salisbury this week after they were rounded up from "wayside inns" along the river and from Right Beaver Creek. Pupils from three Floyd schools tested only 10 percent positive in the tuberculosis testing done this week. "A low proportion," according to County Health Director, Marvin Randsdell. Attempting to launch an annual festival here, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James will present the native Floyd County Plainsong Chanters in a two-day program here. Child bride Rosie Columbus Tackett, 10, is separated from husband Flem, 34, as he is jailed. Halloween vandalism runs high: church windows broken, porch furniture smashed, automobiles damaged. At the movies: "Robin Hood" with Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHaviland; "Room Service" with the Marx Brothers. There died: James Dusina, 28, killed instantly in slatefall in an Inland Steel mine at Wheelwright.

Rotary Thanks Event Participants

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the Prestonsburg Rotary Club, I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank all of the many people involved in making the Safe Trick-or-Treat party at the Holiday Inn such a major success. Due to their help and support, we were able to provide an evening of Halloween entertainment for nearly 2,000 children, plus their parents, that would not have been possible otherwise.

When the entire community stands behind an event such as this, it is impossible to thank everyone involved individually, but I would like to specifically thank several organizations for their support, those being the Floyd County Sheriff's Department, the Prestonsburg Police Department, the Prestonsburg Auxiliary Police, and the Prestonsburg Fire Department. The efforts made by these organizations prevented many potential accidents by controlling the flow of people and traffic that, at times, appeared to be overwhelming.

I would like to commend the efforts of the Holiday Inn's management and staff. Simply stated, without their dedication to the success of this project, there would not have been a Safe Trick-or-Treat party in our community.

Also, I would like to thank the many businesses and organizations who provided the people, the decorations, and the candy for the room to room walk along the "Trail of Terror". Their contributions were aimed directly at the hearts of children, and I, for one, cannot think of a better contribution than that.

Lastly, I would like to thank the parents who trusted in our efforts and brought their children out, and the children who participated for conducting themselves in a very orderly manner.

I am proud of the people in Prestonsburg and Floyd County for supporting our efforts to make this community a better place to live and work, and you should be too. It is indeed a warm and wonderful feeling to have participated in a project that had such a broad base of support.

Sincerely,
Greg Crum, President
The Prestonsburg Rotary Club

Times Query To Candidates Is Appreciated

Dear Editor:
Thanks for the detailed coverage on the school board candidates. This election is important to our county's future and it's nice to be able to make a decision based on something more than a handshake and an ad about the candidate's genealogy.

Keep up the good work! Detailed coverage allows us to be informed decision makers.
GWEN HALL

Are Teachers Being Scapegoats?

Dear Editor:
It seems that the teachers again are going to be made the scapegoats. The "blue ribbon" panel, selected by the Floyd County Board of Education, is going to tell us in April that the schools need more local tax dollars.

If property or utility taxes are raised, the public will blame the teachers. What we want is a fair distribution of what money we have. The board may be spending too much on dessert and not enough on meat and potatoes.

Whereas we really don't oppose a property or utility tax increase if it is spent fairly, we resent being blamed for such a tax. All the teachers want is to be treated fairly on what funds we have.

We have not mentioned new taxes — nor have they, yet — but stay tuned.

SIX CANDIDATES IN SCHOOL BOARD RACE

Spradlin, Spurlock, And Patrick Become Winners

Election of Senators, Congressmen, and Governors claimed attention of voters in some places Tuesday, but not in Prestonsburg where a heated battle between six candidates and their supporters for three positions on the city school board occupied the spotlight.

The winners and their vote totals: W. A. Spradlin, 544; Dick Spurlock, 509; H. B. Patrick, 500. E. B. May, J. H. Nunnelly and C. L. Hyden, the other board member candidates, polled 463, 458, and 285 votes, respectively.

Prestonsburg's mayorality race failed to materialize when Mrs. Edith L. Carter, wife of ex-Mayor Arthur C. Carter, and the only candidate whose name appeared on the ballot, withdrew from the race. Cal Clarke was denied a place on the ballot when, holding that Mr. Clarke filed declaration of his candidacy late, Circuit Judge John granted Mrs. Carter's injunction to prevent from being placed on

FESTIVAL PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

Two-Day Program Will Begin At Rustique, Says Mrs. James

Its setting that of a rough church in the Club Rustique at the bottom of the hill, with punchon benches brought from a Rough and Tough church—Prestonsburg's second two-day folksong festival, under the direction of Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, will begin November 26.

Held this year at the request of Miss Gertrude Knott, National Folk Festival director, the local festival will feature members of the native Floyd county Plainsong Chanters, organized by Mrs. James, and who appeared last year at the National presentation in Washington, D. C., and here at the Baptist Church.

The first day's program at the Rustique will consist of primitive chants, Gregorian chants, Indian chants, fa-so-la tunes, early hymns, "white" spirituals, "made-up" religious ballads, negro spirituals, Pilgrim Holiness songs and camp meeting tunes, as they are sung in Eastern Kentucky's hills.

OPPOSING SLATES PUT CANDIDATES ON SCHOOL BOARD

Drs. Allen, Gearheart Top Tickets In Hotly Contested Board Race

BARKLEY'S MAJORITY IN FLOYD IS 2,650

Congressman A. J. May Wins By 3,434 Majority

Each of the competing slates had a man elected to the County Board of Education in a hotly contested election here that saw Senator Alben Barkley receive a majority in Floyd of 4,937, and Congressman A. J. May, a majority of 2,650. Mr. May's majority throughout the Seventh Congressional district was 3,434.

Tabulated Vote for Congressional Race on Inner Page

Endorsed by the County School Superintendent Town Hall administration, Dr. J. H. Allen, Langley, polled 5,102 votes, the highest of any in the four-candidate race, to be elected to the school board. The candidate on the competing ticket, Dr. Orris Gearheart, Martin, was elected with 4,837.

The other candidates in the race, Wesley Campbell, Garrett, and John Coburn, Langley, tied with 4,623 votes each.

The two winning candidates will replace Bill Allen and Harold Bailey whose terms have expired. "Hold-over" board members are Dr. Dewey Osborne, the Rev. Alex Stephens and J. C. Burnett.

Senator Barkley's Floyd County landslide vote over Republican John P. Haswell was overwhelming in all but two of the county's 50 precincts. Mr. Haswell carried two, Tickey, No. 16, and Little Paint, No. 27, by 118-62 and 70-43, respectively. He was beaten most decisively at Jack's Creek, No. 35, by 63-1.

Minor Accidents Reported

In police matters, a car driven by Barbara Blackburn of Prestonsburg reportedly hit a car driven by Emogene M. Cooley of West Prestonsburg Thursday according to Officer Roy Roberts.

Blackburn was coming out of the drive-through lane at the Bank Josephine on North Lake Drive, and Cooley was driving through the parking lot when Blackburn's car hit the right side of Cooley's car. Roberts said. Passengers in Cooley's car were Daisy McCarty and Wayne McCarty of Middlecreek.

No citations were issued. Also on Thursday, a two-car accident occurred on Green Acres Drive, according to Roberts.

A car driven by Greta Sue Hayes of Hi Hat reportedly struck a car driven by Traci L. Blackburn of Pikeville, according to Roberts.

Hayes was traveling north on Green Acres Drive and was preparing to stop behind some parked cars in the northbound lane in order for Blackburn to pass, Roberts said. When Hayes began to slow down, she said her brakes were not working, and she thought she had time to get around the parked cars before Black-burn's car passed, but both cars hit head-on.

Hayes was issued a citation for no insurance and no registration plates, Roberts said.

A van overturned after hitting a parked car on Euclid Ave. Halloween night, according to Sgt. Sue Blackburn of the Prestonsburg Police Department.

A van, reportedly driven by James Stanley of David, hit a parked car belonging to Hailu Bogale of Prestonsburg and then ran up on an embankment and rolled onto its side.

David Students Refurbish Park

Despite blisters, bruises, cuts, and the possibility of snake bite, students from the Community Service class at David School are completing renovations on an abandoned playground at David. Instructor Marty Green said the park was used during the coal boom at David, but over the years had been unattended.

The students, Virginia Carpenter, Perry Crider, Sarah Shepherd, Lisa Pritchard, Bobby Slone, Harold Ousley, Keith Flannery, Johnnie Adams, and Lesia Maines named the playground, Peppermint Park, and painted it in candy cane style for the younger children. "The smaller kids were playing in the road," Carpenter said and the students were concerned for their safety. Pritchard explained the other park at David was "just too big for the smaller kids."

"When started here, the weeds were over knee high," Pritchard continued. "A slide, hobby horse, and swing bar were already here." Carpenter added, "but they were in a state of disrepair." She said an old cement tunnel was in a ditch near the park, and the students used a van and a pickup truck to get it back to the park.

According to the students, they have received a lot of support from the community with residents donating picks and shovels. "Residents of the community are pleased with the park," Carpenter said. "And small children in the area are already using it."

The students expressed their appreciation for the local businesses who had donated to the project. "Without their contributions, the park wouldn't be what it is now," Carpenter said.

Lloyds Hardware donated paint; M.C. & D. Construction Co. provided pipe for a teeter-totter; Wickes donated the lumber Harold Ousley used to build benches and a swing at the David School workshop; David School provided transportation; and Ed Warren Tire donated two oversized tires for climbing.

Shepherd said the tire company placed the tires in the park using an enloader. "There's no way we could have placed those tires ourselves," Shepherd said.

Perry Crider added students had found a smaller tire down the road and rolled it to the park. Shepherd said the park was renovated with the student's "blood, sweat, and tears." Carpenter added, "Everybody got blisters, Lesia Maines was slightly cut, and I almost got snake bit," Carpenter said.

Shepherd said it all boiled down to teamwork. "We have all grown closer; we all look out for each other; and we'll remember this for the rest of our lives," she said.

The students began the project Sept. 6. They have worked two hours each day, three days a week, with time out to visit the nursing homes where the students play checkers and talk with the residents, Green said. "The students have completely done this on their own. They have planned, organized, and done the labor," Green added.

The park displays a sandbox, three over-sized tires, a concrete tunnel, a hobby horse, slide, swings, benches, and a hopscotch. The students hope to complete a basketball goal, and to plant grass seed. Greene said funds are almost depleted and the students are hoping someone will donate the grass seed. Donations may be made by calling David School at 886-8374.

Community Service students at David School prepare playground soil for grass seeding.

SS Programs Help Disabled Return To Work, Says Kelly

In recent years, Social Security has attempted to make it easier for disabled beneficiaries to return to work, according to Jim Kelly, Social Security district director.

These work incentives rules are in response to complaints that beneficiaries who attempted to return to work, risked losing benefits and Medicare before they could prove their ability to work on a regular basis, Kelly said.

Kelly said disabled beneficiaries can work up to nine months before benefits are affected. After the trial work period, however, another rule kicks in, Kelly said. This rule provides a 36-month extended re-entitlement period during which a person may receive a benefit for any month he or she does not perform substantial gainful work and remains disabled, according to Kelly.

Before, disabled beneficiaries who work were concerned that if their impairment worsened, they would have to start from the beginning when reapplying for disability benefits, Kelly explained. With extended entitlement, all they have to do is let Social Security know that they can't work and benefits resume, Kelly said.

According to Kelly, other work incentives rules include:

—A person may deduct expenses necessary to work, even if the items or services are used for other activities than work. These include such items as attendant care, prosthesis, and wheelchairs. The expenses must be paid by the person and must not be reimbursed by any other source. The expenses may be deducted from earnings before a decision is made about substantial gainful work.

—If a person medically recovers while involved in a State-approved vocational rehabilitation program, benefits may continue until he or she completes the course, provided it is likely to result in the beneficiary leaving the rolls permanently.

—Medicare coverage will continue for up to 39 months after the trial work period.

Together, these rules make it possible for a person who wants to work to do so with less risk, Kelly said.

More information about Social Security's work incentives rules can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Get Flu Shots Now, Say Health Dept. Officials

Although the peak of flu season is probably a month or more away, Department for Health Services officials advise that people who need flu shots should get them now, according to Janet Williams Hoover of the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Most health departments and private physicians across Kentucky should have flu shots available in the next two weeks.

Most people recover from influenza after a few days; however, for people with other health problems the flu can bring about serious complications and can even be fatal.

People—including children—with chronic heart or lung disease should have a flu shot, according to Reginald Finger, M.D., manager of the communicable diseases branch. Those with chronic kidney disease or diabetes or residents of nursing homes, should also be immunized.

"It's also a good idea for anyone older than 65 to have a flu shot," Finger said. "Other people who might consider getting vaccinated are physicians, nurses and other health care professionals who have contact with high-risk patients.

"The peak flu season in Kentucky has been in January and February for the past two years," said Finger. "But those peaks have been followed by outbreaks as late as March, so early November seems to be the optimum time for flu shots."

Flu shots can be administered to most people, except those with a severe allergy to eggs. People who have short-term illness with fever are advised to wait until they've recovered before getting a shot.

Pregnant women, who should always consult with a doctor before being immunized, are generally advised to wait until the second or third trimester of pregnancy before having the flu vaccination.

While not everyone can or should be immunized against the flu, there are some steps to prevent it or at least alleviate its symptoms, Finger said.

"During the peak of flu season, avoiding large crowds of people will lessen your chance of being exposed," he said. "If you are exposed to Type A flu and have not had a shot, the drug Amantadine is effective in preventing influenza. It's also effective in treating Type A if administered early."

Finger warns that people younger than 18 should not take aspirin while sick with a flu-like illness because of the risk of Reye's Syndrome, a disease that affects the central nervous system and liver and is associated with the combination of flu and aspirin use in children and teenagers. It is fatal in 10 to 40 percent of cases.

The department will continue its flu tracking system for the third year, Finger said. Floyd County is one of 20 counties participating in the flu tracking effort.

The system involves 20 county coordinators, who are health department employees, polling between one and 20 physicians for the number of flu-like illnesses treated in a week's time. They also call area schools for absenteeism reports. This year the system will add another bit of information—flu reports from a nursing home in each county.

"Since older people can be severely affected by influenza, we want to collect data on the extent nursing home patients are affected during the flu season," he said.

The coordinators report to Finger's office, which compiles the reports from around the state. The calls will be made weekly, starting the week of Nov. 7 and going through the week of March 27.

Area Woman's Club Meets

The October meeting of the GFWC/KFWC Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club was held recently at the home of Alma Souleyrette, Wheelwright.

Speaking on "Literacy", the program leader, Betty Mullins, said 23 million persons under the age of 27 in the United States are functionally illiterate. Many others read only at a ninth grade level.

Louise West, club president, conducted devotions, followed by prayer by Libby Martin. Betty Mullins read the Club Collect.

The sale of Kentucky Federation cookbooks was discussed and one cookbook sold. Members turned in funds collected on the sale of get-well cards also.

The hostess served refreshments to Maxine Martin, Loretta Martin, Blanche Bamer, Vera Allen, Elizabeth Duff, Betty Mullins, LaFaye Hughes, Louise West and Libby Martin.

The next meeting will be the inter-club breakfast at the Holiday Inn, Prestonsburg, Nov. 19, at which time the KFWC Seventh District Governor will be speaking.

Top Tree Sales

Local District Forester Stephen Brackett of the Kentucky Division of Forestry was recently presented a plaque by the Director of the Division of Forestry, Donald Hamm. The plaque signifies that the Eastern District was the top district in the state in tree sales for the 1987-1988 tree planting season, selling 1,930,000 trees. This is the third year that the Eastern District has reached such distinction. The Division of Forestry is now taking orders for the 1988-1989 tree planting season. Individuals or companies wishing to purchase tree seedlings should contact the Division of Forestry at 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg or call (606) 886-8562. Shown, from left, are Steven Kull, district management assistant; Joe Ferguson, district ranger; Stephen Brackett, district forester; and Donald Hamm, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Religious Viewpoints

By Gary Shepherd, Pastor Zebulon Baptist Church

The Psalmist rightly said in Psalm 11:3, "If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?" The building of the soul must rest upon four foundational principles if it is to stand secure before God throughout eternity. These four principles were the watch cries of the reformation and forever remain as those things upon which we must build, upon which we must preach and upon which men must believe if we are to be saved.

The first is the scriptures alone! "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." II Timothy 3:15. Not confessions of faith, creeds, denominational guidelines, traditions, feelings or opinions but the Word of God that is forever settled in heaven. God's Word is a lamp unto our feet and a light unto our path. It tells us who and where we are and leads us in the path that we are to go. The scriptures must be received in their entirety and not a verse here and a verse there. All scripture is given by inspiration of God! The authority of Almighty God is behind them. They must be believed. By the scriptures we know the character of God, the person and work of Christ and the way of salvation. No other way! God's Word is profitable and sufficient so the apostle says. Some say, "God said it, I believe it and that settles it!" But the truth is that if God has said it that settles it whether you believe it or not! His Word shall not return unto Him void.

Thirdly and perhaps most importantly, it is Christ alone! "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." Colossians 1:14. The foundation of salvation rests upon a "whom" not a "what." Paul said, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I've committed unto him against that day." When Simon saw the Christ child he said, "mine eyes have seen thy salvation." There is salvation in no other and there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. There is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man, Christ Jesus. He is the way, the truth, the life, the prophet, the priest and the king. God hath given unto us eternal life and this life is in His son.

The second principle is grace alone! "For by grace are ye saved." Ephesians 2:8. There are really only two religions in the world; man's and God's. Man's is a salvation by works but God's is a salvation by grace. Paul said, "I do not frustrate the grace of God: for if righteousness come by the law (works), then Christ is dead in vain." Gal. 2:21. All who are saved are chosen by grace, redeemed by grace, called by grace, justified by grace, sustained by grace, kept by grace and growing in grace. Grace is the free and unmerited favor of God. Human works add nothing to God's salvation.

Lastly, it is faith alone! "For by grace are ye saved through faith." Ephesians 2:8. None are saved apart from believing in the heart on Christ. This faith is not of ourselves but it is the gift of God. We believe on Christ and are counted righteous. We are justified by faith and kept by the power of God through faith. Faith is essential and comes from God as a gift to His people through the hearing of the Word.

All who do not rest upon these foundations are not righteous before God. It has been, is now, and forever shall be the scriptures alone, grace alone, Christ alone and faith alone!

Andrew (Curt) Adkins departed this life October 27, 1988. John 14:2-3 says: "In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, that ye may be also."

Though our hearts are heavy, our beloved husband and father is in the house of many mansions. We thank all those who gave us comfort in our time of need and ask the Lord's blessing upon you. There are so many we sincerely hope we don't overlook anyone.

A special thanks to Dr. Sanderson and the Highlands Regional Medical Center for their excellent care. To the drivers of Respond Ambulance Service and Home Health Care for the numerous visits and care you gave. To Family Drug: Mike, Sherry, Patty and Van.

In Memory of Charles W. Patton November 10, 1987

Dear Daddy,
You always had a minute to fix it or to hear,
The things your children ask for, when they knew their father was near.

You always had a minute to give some advice,
To demonstrate a better way to praise what you thought nice.

You always had a minute and still found time to be,
The best and dearest father this world would ever see!

It's been a year now since we last saw your smiling face,
But we know you're with God in such a more peaceful place.

Sadly missed by Wife and Family

Greene Enjoying All-American Year At Union

When Pete Greene first signed to play football for Union College, he never dreamed of posting the offensive numbers he now possesses.

In fact, Greene didn't envision ever catching a pass in college. He became a Bulldog with the desire to develop into a solid defensive safety.

But before Saturday afternoon's game against Urbana, Greene was the leading receiver in the Mid-South Conference, and had been touted as a possible, all-American tight end in Division 11 college football.

When asked if he ever expected to enjoy the success that has come his way at Union, Greene kind of smiles and replies in his modest manner, "Not really. Not as a tight end."

Greene, a 1986 graduate of Prestonsburg (where he played both offense and defense), said he figured to be playing in the defensive secondary at Union. "We didn't have any ends, so Coach put me there. It took a lot of hard work. The coaches had to work with me, teaching me the position," Greene said.

But apparently it didn't take long for him to learn. By the middle of his freshman season, Greene broke into the starting lineup, went on to an all-conference season, and hasn't slowed one bit since.

"He hasn't done a bad job," Matt Ballard, Union head coach, said jokingly, then turned sincere. "He's an exciting player to watch. He's what you would call your 'coaches dream.' I wish I had about 100 more just like him."

Greene, before Saturday's game, has caught 36 passes for 585 yards. Four of those had gone for touchdowns, including an 85-yarder.

Greene was averaging 16.2 yards per reception.

"No matter if it's on your team or somebody else's, there are some players that you enjoy watching. Pete Greene is one of those players," Ballard said. "He's a tremendous athlete, and he does some pretty exciting things on the football field."

Saturday, Greene's duties were limited mostly to blocking assignments. Although Union threw his way several times, the talented tight end had but three receptions, one a second-quarter catch that enabled the Bulldogs to continue a touchdown march.

The field was sloppy, creating poor footing. Greene was overthrown and underthrown, slipped once on a deep pass down the middle, and was separated from another by a hard hitting Urbana linebacker. But the defense dominated this 16-14 Union win.

Greene, a 6'1" 205 pounder, is slightly off last year's pace of 52 catches, but he has bettered his touchdown output of 1987 by one, and rolled up about 75 more total yards this year.

Currently he is the conference and district leading receiver with 39 catches, and Ballard goes even beyond the bounds of those two areas, mentioning something about the best nationwide.

"I've been on the college level for 10 years, and I've had some good receivers, and I've seen some good receivers, but Pete has the best hands of anybody I've seen," Ballard said.

"I think he's the best tight end in Division 11 in America. If somebody's got a better one, I would certainly hate to play against him."

In his career, Greene has caught close to 120 passes for over 1,400 yards. He has shown marked improvement each season, and Union people say the best is yet to come.

"I'll tell you what, I don't think we've seen the best of him yet," Ballard said, "and it's simply because he works so hard. He's never satisfied with his performance. He's always looking to get better, looking for ways to improve."

"Pete Greene loves to practice," Ballard continued. "I guess he likes Saturdays more, but you couldn't tell it by watching him. He goes all out in practice, and he's a natural leader for our football team."

Ballard, a former assistant head coach at Morehead and an assistant at Georgetown and Garner-Webb, says he can go on all day saying good things about Pete Greene, but adds that the opposition often pays him the best compliments.

"The best compliment that you could give Pete is that every team we play, when they come into the game with us, they ask themselves, 'how do we stop Pete Greene?'"

"It's a pleasure working with him," Ballard said. "He works hard, he enjoys the game, and he's an outstanding young man. When he comes off the field he has nothing left because he's the type that gives it all he's got in every situation."

The Union College program and Matt Ballard are expecting even greater things from their talented tight end in the future, as does Greene, but they don't exactly include personal stats and accomplishments.

"I think we will win the Mid-South Conference and make the playoffs," Greene said when asked what he expected from his senior season. "I think we can do that because we've got good coaches and we've started keeping everybody here."

"We could've won it this year if we had beaten Georgetown and Cumberland, but a couple calls didn't go our way. That's how it goes sometimes."

Ballard would agree with those goals, but the first-year head coach, who replaced the man who recruited Greene, John Ross, looks to next season with mixed emotions.

"We're sure going to enjoy having him for another year, but I've already started wondering what we'll do without him."

Another P'burg Grad On Union Roster: Darrin Flannery, a 1987 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, is a reserve wide receiver for Union College.

Flannery, who played only one year of high school football, signed with the Bulldogs last summer, but due to an accident, sat out a season, and rejoined Union this fall.

"He's spot-played for us," Ballard said. "Darrin's been out of football for a year. He's worked real hard for us, and has done a good job."

Flannery, described as a raw talent with good hands by John Ross, played his senior year at Prestonsburg, and enjoyed enough success to catch the eye of Ross.

Now, Ballard is the head man, and he is also impressed with Flannery, a 5'10" 145 pound freshman in eligibility.

"He's a super young person. He's a 'B' student right now and that's what counts," Ballard said. "He's worked real hard in getting his grades up. He's played in all our scrimmages, and seen some game action. He's done a good job for us."

Flannery has worked at both wide receiver and tailback this season, but after a mid-season position switch, he's back at a wide receiver spot.

Pikeville Favored To Repeat As Football Playoffs Begin Friday

Just how good is the Pikeville High School football team? Good enough to earn comparison such as, "they look like a college team," and good enough to earn such compliments as, "It's hard for me to think that there is a better team in single A, or in any class, for that matter."

The comparison to college teams has been thrown Pikeville's way by several of their opponents' fans, and Belfry coach Phillip Haywood threw a couple nice compliments their way recently.

"Pikeville is an excellent football team," said Heywood, whose team suffered its only loss of the season to the Panthers.

Belfry, which finished the season at 10-1, is ranked seventh among Kentucky's class 3A. The Pirates, a 26-14 loser to Pikeville, plays host to Ashland Friday in the opening of the 3A playoffs.

The Panthers, undefeated again this season, opens a playoff campaign Friday, playing host to Williamsburg. Pikeville comes into the contest riding the crest of a 25-game winning streak, and during those games they have rarely been threatened.

The lowest margin of victory this year was the Belfry final, and the Panthers blew away 3A Newport Central 37-0, and 4A Henry Clay 21-6 on the road. Other victories included a 22-0 blanking of Paintsville, a 79-3 embarrassment delt to district foe Johns Creek during the regular season's final week, and 36-0 over Fleming-Neon.

"I can tell you that they are the best team we have played," Fleming-Neon coach Jack Hall said of the Panthers. "They're a real good team. How good I can't tell you, but they are the best team we've played or seen this year."

The Pirates, 9-2, reached the playoffs for the first time in 23 years, and their only other loss came in overtime to 2A Whitesburg, a team that posted a 10-1 record.

Pikeville is strong in every area. Talent is certainly no problem, but somewhere along the playoff line the Panthers are due for a tough challenge, and the unfamiliar pressure of a close contest might be to their disadvantage.

"It possibly could be," Hillard Howard, Pikeville's coach, said. "It's nice to think that you really haven't been challenged, and yes, it could be a problem."

But the Panthers, led by the state's most explosive backfield, might—as they did one year ago—sweep to its second consecutive state championship.

"Bobby and Greg both have had pretty good seasons. They're two pretty good backs," Howard said in what was possibly the understatement of the year.

Deramus and Hackney, both seniors, have combined for over 2,700 yards. Hackney, 1,660 yards and 23 touchdowns, averages 9.5 yards per carry while Deramus, over 1,000 yards and 17 touchdowns, averages 7.3 yards per carry.

Those two are the major reasons why Pikeville has not failed to score at least 22 points in every game during its current winning streak.

An offensive line that would compare to most small college guards, tackles, and center, hasn't hurt. Right Coach? "I think the line is decent," acknowledges Howard.

The Panthers enjoy playing the power game, allowing its offensive line to blow open huge holes that enable the backfield tandem to run wild in a defense's secondary. Defensively, the line is dominating as well. The Pikeville defense has recorded four shutouts this year, and held four more opponents to six points or less.

Howard says that Williamsburg, although maybe in not the same effectiveness, plays the same type of football.

"They're a good football team," Howard said of 5-5 Williamsburg. "They're a power team, a big, strong team."

"They don't have a lot of speed, but they're a good football team. We're similar. We both play the power game," he added.

If Pikeville wins Friday they will meet the winner of the Fleming-Neon vs. Pineville contest. Although Jack Hall has nothing but praise for Pikeville's talent, the veteran coach would like one more shot at the Panthers.

Hall, who coached at Fleming-Neon from 1956 to 1962, took over this year, and turned a 3-7 squad into a playoff team that has sparked renewed enthusiasm throughout the school and the small community.

"Our school is real proud of the accomplishments of this team, and so is the community," Hall said. "We've had great public support."

"We like to run the football," Hall said, "but our quarterback is ranked fifth in the state's efficiency ratings."

But even though Trey Quillen has enjoyed success when he does throw the football, Fleming-Neon lives or dies, wins or loses with its running game. Led by Jimmy Taylor and Kevin Green, the Pirates average around 200 yards rushing per game.

Taylor, a senior tailback, had rushed for 721 yards heading into Friday's game with M.C. Napier, despite playing in only seven games. Green had 689 yards on the ground. Hall, after serving as Betsy Layne's head coach, set out a year before assuming the head coaching chore at the Letcher County school. "We've been lucky. We've had a good group of kids to work with," he said.

"They're intelligent kids, but what I like about them the most is that they do exactly what you tell them to do, and if they make a mistake they'll come and tell you what they did wrong."

Belfry, the team that played Pikeville tougher than any school in the past 25 games, plays Ashland at home Friday. Phillip Heywood, the former mentor at Prestonsburg, is expecting a night of offensive fireworks.

"We do know that they are a good offensive team," Heywood said of the 5-5 Tomcats. "They can put a lot of points on the scoreboard. They've got all their skill position players, their receivers, running backs, and quarterback back from last season."

The Pirates, consistently ranked among the state's top three A schools, returned only four starters (three on

Football Contest Winner Announced

Don E. Laferty of Teaberry took top honors in this week's Floyd County Times football contest, choosing nine of 12 winners correctly.

A total of six other participants finished at 8-4, but Laferty was alone atop the prognosticating pack with his 9-3 finish.

Winners this week included Kentucky, LSU, Eastern, Louisville, Illinois, Eastern Illinois, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Phoenix and Washington. Seven of the 12 games involved in this week's contest were decided by a touchdown or less.

During his running career, Roberts has raced against some of the sport's biggest names, while becoming one of the area's more successful amateur athletes.

In the following few paragraphs, Roberts shares his personal racing experiences, relates some "tricks of the trade," and discusses the pros and cons (mostly pros) of running.

Huff: With all the running you do, and as much as you are into it, I guess one of the major questions would be why? Do you do it for sport, for health reasons? Why do you enjoy running?

Roberts: I got started running in 1973 because I broke my kneecap in a motorcycle crash, and I had to wear a cast from my ankle to my hip of my right leg. I was in a wheelchair, and then I had to go through therapy to be able to walk correctly again. Once through therapy, my therapist suggested running to strengthen my leg.

I started running, and one day at Eastern Kentucky University, (where I transferred to later to finish my degree), I had courses in the athletic section of Alumni Coliseum. ## Rick Roberts Shares Views On Benefits Of Running Training

By Alton Huff
Sports Editor

Back in the 1970s, Rick Roberts had his sights set on playing for Prestonsburg Community College's basketball team. In order to tone up his muscles and fine-tune his cardio-vascular system, Roberts took up running.

Day after day, he ran mile after mile, and little did he know it, but someday that training would lead to a career of sorts in athletics.

No, Roberts never took his basketball ambitions any further than PCC, but running in preparation for basketball has paved the way to such places as California, Colorado, and Boston, Mass.

Recently Roberts, a resident of Floyd County, participated in a marathon in the upper United States and Canada. He performed well enough to qualify for the 1989 Boston Marathon, one of long distance running's main events.

During his running career, Roberts has raced against some of the sport's biggest names, while becoming one of the area's more successful amateur athletes.

In the following few paragraphs, Roberts shares his personal racing experiences, relates some "tricks of the trade," and discusses the pros and cons (mostly pros) of running.

Union College Squad Members

Darrin Flannery of Prestonsburg, right, is a freshman at Union College, where he is a member of the 1988 Bulldog Football team. Flannery, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, plays at the wide receiver position and stands 5'9", weighing 145 pounds. Pete Greene, also of Prestonsburg, left, is a junior. A graduate of Prestonsburg High School, he plays at the tight end position and stands 6'1", weighs 195 pounds.

BLOCKING ASSIGNMENT: Pete Greene (11) throws a block as Union fullback Vince Turpin heads up field. Greene is considered by his coach, to be the nation's best tight end.

The Sporting Times

In case you hadn't noticed, the 1988 high school football season for local schools concluded last week, and it went out just about the same way it came in.

The past 11 Fridays haven't been uplifting emotionally or physically. (They haven't been much for opposum hunting or dating, either.)

Just ask any fan or player and they'll tell you about those cold, rainy nights spent on the gridiron. Some would say that it was perfect weather for football, but the only chance of that comes in the Superdome.

To add insult to injury, it wasn't one of the more successful years for county teams. But sometimes we put too much emphasis on the outcome instead of the effort put forward toward the final outcome.

Make of it what you will, but the 1988 campaign gave us many high points, although low points showed up occasionally also.

But it's over now. We can all take a rest in anticipation of basketball season, with the hopes of better things next fall when the gridiron becomes heated and ready again. While we wait, though, let us take the time to hand out those not-so-highly regarded awards that, for some odd reason, seem to get more response than about anything else that appears in this neck of the newspaper.

Senior Player Of The Year: It is close to impossible to choose just one player that stood head and shoulders above the rest. People like Bill Smith, a two-way lineman at Prestonsburg, won't produce any numbers to argue his case, but you could probably count on one hand the number of plays, both offensively and defensively, that he wasn't directly involved in. Fullback Kevin Dotson is in the same boat. The same could be said of Jamie Hall at Allen Central, and Chris Kidd at Betsy Layne. But nobody had more influence on their team than Vic Cotton did. On offense he ate up big yardage behind a small, and often times injury-riddled line. On defense he was probably the team's leading tackler. Last year, Cotton was named the special teams player of the year in the EKMC. He had an even better season in that area this time around. He is certainly worthy of this honor, but earns it barely over guys such as teammate Handy Jackson, and a host of other talented county players.

Underclassman Of The Year: Few non-seniors played major roles in their team's game plan. Allen Central lineman Brian Wallen did. Playing both ways, Wallen both opened holes for Bear Halbert and Micky Parsons, then moved to defense to close some. Parsons would be a logical selection here, but we have other plans for him. Let's not forget about a duo of quarterbacks, Bobby Hood and Kevin Spurlock, who at times were unstoppable, but occasionally lacked consistency. Both will be among the area's best come this time next year. Aaron Flannery, a Blackcat two-way man, is an impressive back who will also improve. But Wallen, a sophomore, gets the nod this time.

Little Big Man Award: This is for those who keep saying "you're wrong" to the folks who keep telling them that a little man has no place in football. Don't tell this to Bobcat Chris Kidd. Kidd played both running back and defensive back, enjoying 100-yard plus games, while breaking out the glue with some sticky coverage of opposing receivers. Parsons finished as the county's top rusher, and twice topped the 200-yard mark. But although these two guys stand about 5'9" and weigh in at close to 150, this one goes to Mikie Justice, who, at about 170 pounds, played guard for the Trojans and survived.

Coach Of The Year: No need to beat around the bush. Any coach that can live through a season where they expected much more than they got deserves a big congratulations. Roger Johnson, regardless of the effort, never had harsh words to say about his players. Bill Letton is a picture of class, and Donnie Daniels continued to make progress with his building of a football program. Vince Tucker improved his record from last year, despite losing two-thirds of his starting positions to graduation. Maybe you think I'm working for some brownie points. Big deal. I might need a stat or two next fall.

Fans Of The Year: Prestonsburg has long been a school deep in football tradition and football pride. But this year, they had to swallow some of that pride, take their lumps due to a killer schedule, and keep pushing on. But through it all, the fans showed up, game after game, to stand behind a not-so-successful P'burg squad.

100 Percent And Then Some: "Never" includes a long time filled with many things that we didn't see, but it would take tremendous research to find a high school football player who gave a better effort than Bear Halbert did in his last three games. The Rebel fullback, while also playing defense, broke more tackles than an average teenager does rules, and gave many a defender a free ride down field.

Biggest Blunder: I knew somewhere along the line I would qualify for something. But all I did was change Morgan County coach Bruce Herdman to John Herenden. At least when I make one, it's a big one. I'm still trying to figure out who won the Philadelphia-LA Raider game a couple football contests ago.

Mister Versatility: This one is a three-way tie, and there are no tie-breakers. In no exact order, they are Chris Kidd, Jamie Howell of Prestonsburg, and Jamie Hall. Kidd also ran back kicks and threw several passes from a halfback option that Betsy Layne ran occasionally. Howell served as a solid wide receiver, a kick returner, and kicked for the Blackcats. Hall played both offense and defense, was the Rebels' field goal kicker, and played on the specialty teams. He also threw a few passes during the season, one for a touchdown.

Statement Of The Year: When you spend large amounts of time with different groups of teenage boys, you hear a wide range of interesting conversations, but an official at the Prestonsburg-Morgan County game came to the sidelines to relate a story to fans standing along the field.

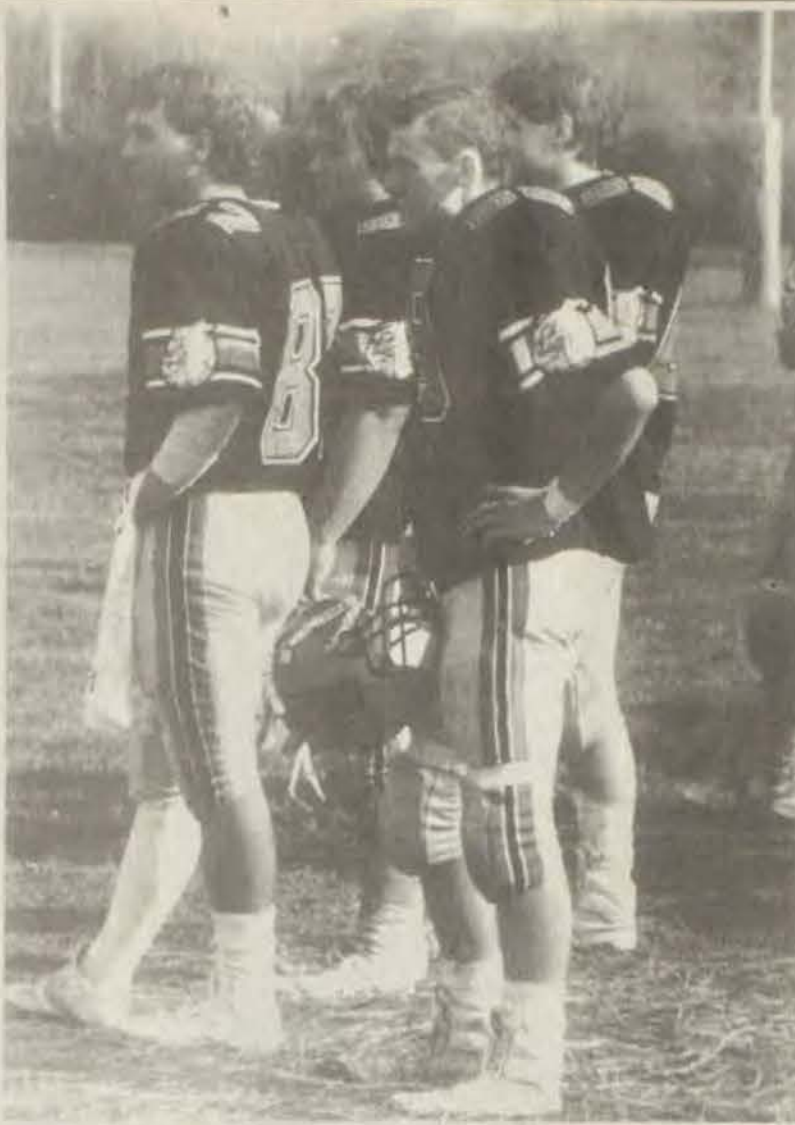

"This guy, who had only one eye, went out for the football team. They asked him 'What are you going to do if you get the other eye put out.' He said, 'I'll just quit playing and become an official.'"

That one tops all, especially when he came back minutes later to tell the same story.

Fan Of The Year: Last spring, following the baseball season, we had Goldie Hall as our fan of the year. Goldie found it a pleasure and a thrill. It made her day, she said. Making her happy made my day, so two people got happy with one single effort. Now I'm really ready to please. All of you from Wheelwright who drove to Raceland, pat yourselves on the backs. Oh yea, and those of you who made the trip to Millersburg shake your hand. Better yet, everyone who stood by their team this year deserves a big thank you.

Deserves Recognition: If you haven't been to Mile High Field at Betsy Layne recently, this is to tell you that those folks went to work and created one of the better facilities in the area. Some people were busy at Allen Central during late summer and early fall to build a sports facility for that school.

As you think about the season gone by, and the seniors we won't have next year, here is something else to ponder. A certain man was told he makes too much money for his wife to qualify for financial aid, but he makes too little to get credit through GMAC. He pays taxes on a car the government says is worth over $6,000, but he couldn't get the car companies to offer much over $4,000.

WAITING HIS TURN: Former Prestonsburg receiver Darrin Flannery (88) looks on as Union battles Urbana. Flannery, a freshman, has seen action in a reserve role this season.

defense) from last year's squad, but has developed raw talent into a winning team.

"We felt like we did have some talent, and thought we could be a pretty good team by about the middle of the season, but they improved faster than we had anticipated," Heywood said, then added, "I do think we can still show some improvement. I don't think we've reached our full potential yet, and hopefully we'll get to play long enough to do so."

Belfry is led by senior running back Mike Scott, described by Heywood as a tremendous athlete, who averaged well over 100 yards per game, and who is among the state's more successful backs.

Junior quarterback Grady Moore, 6' 155 pounds, is also ranked near the top among the state's better quarterbacks.

"He's really improved. He has thrown the ball real well in the past three or four games. He's ran the option real well, and done all the things we expect our quarterback to do."

In other games involving Eastern Kentucky schools, Hazard (8-3) plays at Beechwood (9-1) and Carroll County (9-1) takes on Raceland (9-2).

In 2A, Leslie County (6-4) plays at Corbin (9-1) and Somerset (8-2) travels to Whitesburg (10-1). Breathitt County, (4-6) plays at Russell (8-3) in 3A.

SHORT SPORTS

When the Murray State Blue Racers of the Ohio Valley Conference defeated North Carolina State and barely lost to eventual champion Kansas in last year's NCAA tournament, they may have been sending out a warning signal for this season.

Murray returns six of its top eight players, including one of the top offensive forwards in the nation from last year's team, and appears ready to make another late-winter run.

The Racers were recently voted as the team most likely to win an OVC title, and with the M&M combination of Jeff Martin and Don Mann, could go even farther than last season's near miss.

Martin, a 6-foot-7 forward, was named the conference's player of the year for 1987-88, and Mann, at 5'9", is one of the league's better point guards.

League coaches and sports information directors voted Murray number one as the Racers got twice as many first place votes as did second placed Middle Tennessee.

Eastern Kentucky University finished fifth, and Morehead State was once again selected as the team most likely to bring up the rear in the

On a Monday night in Indianapolis, the Denver Broncos looked like anything but a division contender and playoff hopeful, getting embarrassed in a lopsided affair.

The Los Angeles Raiders traded for Jay Schroeder, giving their best offensive lineman to Washington, then watched in anguish as Schroeder floundered and finally lost the first string job to a guy the Raiders already had on their roster.

But regardless of the problems at quarterback, and despite the obvious lack of consistency, both the Broncos and Raiders find themselves contenders as the NFL season readies itself for week 11.

Denver, with John Elway suffering through one of his worst campaigns ever, managed a 17-11 victory Sunday over Kansas City, and Los Angeles beat hapless San Diego later that day. The wins evened both teams' records at 5-5, and that is good enough for a tie in the AFC's Western Division.

The Broncos and Raiders have managed to hang around, not by their own doing, but because Seattle, the pre-season pick to win the division, hasn't played with consistent success.

The Seahawks lost regular quarterback Dave Kreig early in the season, and have gone with rookie Kelly Stouffer, who hasn't been a productive replacement.

Sunday, in a 13-3 loss to Buffalo, Stouffer hit on only 10 of 22 pass attempts, throwing for just over 100 yards and one touchdown. The Bills' defense, which hasn't allowed a touchdown in its last nine quarters, held Seattle to less than 200 total yards.

Buffalo, with the win, improved to 9-1, the best record in all of football this season, while Seattle slipped to 5-5, and into a three-way tie for first.

The AFC West, once the best in the NFL, is currently the weakest, possessing a combined 18-32-1 record.

Meanwhile, their counterparts in the NFC West are engaged in a heated three-way battle as well, but all three of these teams are in contention for a playoff spot. But it couldn't be told by the story they presented Sunday. All three—New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco—lost on the road.

Neil Lomax, who threw for 323 yards and three touchdowns, connected with Roy Green on a 9-yard touchdown pass with three seconds remaining in the game to give a come-from-behind win at home over San Francisco.

The Cardinals, stubbornly hanging on to a post-season hope, trailed 23-0 late in the third period, but Lomax got hot, rallied his troops, and allowed Phoenix to remain in a tie for second with defending Super Bowl champ Washington.

Phoenix, 6-2, trails NFC East leading New York by one game, and can wipe that one out Sunday when the two teams meet in Phoenix.

Philadelphia, desperate for a win, turned Jim Everett's dream season into a brief nightmare by intercepting the LA quarterback four times in the 30-24 win.

Everett came into the game with the league's fewest interceptions for regulars (four), while also leading the NFL in touchdowns thrown.

But this day belonged to Randall Cunningham and the Eagles. Cunningham threw for three scores, and the Eagle defense recorded three sacks, and held Greg Bell and Charles White to a combined 38 yards.

Doug Williams threw for 299 yards and one touchdown while running for another score to lead the Washington Redskins to a 27-24 win at home over New Orleans.

The Redskins trailed 24-17 in the final frame before coming from behind to nip New Orleans when Chip Lohmiller kicked a 23 yard field goal with 47 seconds remaining.

Washington kept pace with Phoenix and New York, maintaining their second place tie, one game behind the Giants.

Big Whipping: They came from every angle, scoring in just about every possible way. Cincinnati struck fast, and they struck often. When it was over, they still weren't finished.

Cincinnati, the leader in a much improved AFC Central, rolled up 559 yards in thumping struggling Pittsburgh 42-7.

James Brooks ran for three touchdowns, rookie fullback Ickey Woods ran for 110 yards, and wide receiver Eddie Brown established new standards for Bengal receivers, catching seven passes for 216 yards and two touchdowns.

Boomer Esiason, the NFL's top rated passer, threw for 318 yards and three touchdowns while hitting on 16 of 23 attempts.

Late in the game, with the Bengals up 35-7, Esiason kept throwing, and Brooks kept running as Cincinnati built on their lead with a fourth quarter touchdown.

Doing What It Takes: With a quick look at their record one would say the New York Giants are enjoying a solid season. But actually the Giants have barely beaten teams such as Atlanta, and thanks to an easy schedule they're managed to remain on top in the NFC East.

But Sunday they apparently put it all together, blowing out to a 26-0 lead before disposing of the Cowboys, 2-8, 29-21.

New York plays at Phoenix Sunday, and a loss there could drop them into a tie for first. It will be the first meeting between the two teams this season. They split their two games last season.

Monday Night Game: It was a game the Houston Oilers needed in order to remain in the chase for an AFC Central title. After Cleveland took a 3-0 lead, the Oilers proved just how much they wanted it.

Alonzo Highsmith scored his first touchdown of the season on a two-yard first quarter run, and Houston blew out to a 21-3 lead in the third period when Mike Rozier crossed the goal line from three yards away, following an earlier 11-yard pass from Warren Moon to Earnest Givins, accounting for the Oilers' second score.

Cleveland, 6-4, scored consecutive touchdowns, but eventually lost 21-17.

Games To Watch: The Cincinnati Bengals are doing what it takes to hold off Houston and Cleveland. They win while the Oilers and Browns face stiff competition.

Last week the Bengals destroyed Pittsburgh, and Houston played host to Cleveland. This week Cincinnati travels to Kansas City to face the Chiefs, winners of only one game.

Meanwhile Houston travels to Seattle for a rematch of last year's wildcard playoff game. The Oilers won that game 23-20, and the Seahawks have proved themselves venerable this year, particularly at home.

Cleveland will also head into the

Before I decided to go to Excel College, I checked out some schools and into the background of Excel. I decided on Excel because I could get the training in the field I wanted and not have to take a bunch of other stuff I wouldn't need. The teachers concentrated on what I needed to know. They took their time to explain and make sure everyone understood it. The hands-on training with computers and doing assignments that you would be doing on the job was excellent experience. After graduation the Job Search Assistance Officer was a God-send. She helped me find a job that I'm really happy with. When I was getting discouraged, she helped lift my spirits so I could continue looking. I would like to thank all the staff and faculty at Excel for their help and encouragement.

Deer Gun Season Scheduled November 12-21 In Kentucky

Approximately 170,000 hunters are preparing for the 1988 Kentucky deer gun season November 12-21. According to estimates by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, close to 70,000 deer will be harvested by gun hunters during this period.

There have been several changes in regulations this season. One of the most important concerns the use of the two deer tags included in a deer permit. How these tags may be used depends upon zone regulations, so read the deer hunting guide accompanying the permit carefully.

The season limit for deer is two, regardless of method. However, in some zones hunters are permitted to take two deer with a gun, while in others gun hunters are limited to only one deer. In those zones where two deer can be harvested by gun, both may be taken at the same time provided both deer are legal.

All deer, (including those taken by landowners), taken in Kentucky must be checked in at an official check station. Although landowners are not required to obtain a deer permit, they are required to attach a piece of paper to the harvested deer stating their name, address, the date when the animal was harvested and the county where the animal was harvested. Deer must be tagged or identified by landowners immediately after being taken and before the carcass is moved.

Any legal weapon may be used to take deer during the gun season. All hunters hunting during the gun season, or on hunts where firearms are permitted, must wear one article of completely hunter orange. A cap, vest, jacket or overall of entirely hunter orange is permissible. Hunters using rifles or shotguns may have a magazine capacity of no more than 10 rounds. Rifles must be .240 caliber or larger with a minimum cartridge case length of 1-1/2 inches. Only shotguns 10-20 gauge may be used with slugs. No buckshot or other shot is permitted to hunt deer.

Hunters who hunt on private lands must obtain either written or oral permission to hunt. Hunters should also be sure to carefully read the 1988 Deer Hunting Guide attached to each deer permit for complete information and regulations pertaining to the Kentucky deer season.

CHANGES IN HUNTING ON PEABODY COAL COMPANY LAND

Deer hunters should be aware that procedures for hunting on land owned by the Peabody Coal Company have changed, and that Peabody land is no longer open to public hunting first-come, first-served.

Only those hunters who applied in advance and were selected by random drawing by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will be permitted to gun hunt. Peabody Coal Company and the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources signed a cooperative wildlife management agreement last summer to manage the deer population on Peabody lands more efficiently through drawn gun hunts.

Also, due to its close proximity to Peabody lands, the White City Wildlife Management Area (WMA) located in Hopkins County will follow the same procedure for deer gun hunting this year. Bowhunters who wish to apply for a permit to hunt on Peabody lands may do so until November 30. Applications should be made to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Wildlife, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Bowhunters on White City WMA are not required to obtain a permit.

NEW SHOOTING HOURS IN EFFECT FOR 1988 WATERFOWL SEASON

The 1988 Kentucky waterfowl season will open November 24 with several changes from last year: Due to poor duck reproduction over the last few years, shooting hours and bag limits have been altered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to help protect waterfowl populations while still providing hunting opportunity.

Shooting hours for waterfowl this season are from sunrise to sunset, except in the Ballard Reporting Area where shooting hours for waterfowl during the Canada Goose season are from sunrise to 3 p.m.

The conventional bag limit in effect for ducks this season is three ducks, including no more than two mallards (only one of which may be a hen), one black duck, two wood ducks, one redhead and one pintail of either sex. Pintails may be taken ONLY during the first four-day segment of the season. No canvasbacks may be taken at any time.

The daily limit for geese is five, with no more than two Canada geese and two white-fronted geese. ### Melvin Students Create Art Masks

Melvin Grade School students are learning that art is fun to create, nice to look at, and useful too, by creating Halloween masks.

Fifth and sixth graders used vivid imaginations, and many mediums, such as yarn, paint, chenille, and construction paper, to produce traditional and modern masks, according to their teacher.

Thornsbury said she is very proud of the student's mask. "Art is a skill in making or doing that satisfies a desire to create form and beauty. Classroom art creates a special experience for students. It gives them a chance to express what they feel through the use of form and color," she said.

The masks were presented to students in the primary grades at the school to be used Halloween night.

Lowell Martin... 'Killer Teacher'!

Allen Central's Lowell Martin:

'Killer Teacher' Is Teacher Of Year

By Patricia Watson

If you were to walk into Lowell Martin's biology classroom at Allen Central High School, you would find a typical science room with things such as a human skeleton model, various bones, star charts, microscopes, current seasonal markers (which happened to be fall leaves and pumpkins at the time of this article), an aquarium with goldfish and various other miscellaneous items of interest displayed throughout the room.

While the similarity of the room may be equal to that of a science room almost any place, that's where the comparison ends.

"He's a killer teacher!" was the response of Chris Brown, a senior, when asked to describe Martin.

This sentiment is shared with the majority of the student body at ACHS, for Martin was elected to receive the "Teacher of the Year" award, which was presented by Student Council executive officers at the graduation ceremony, June 3, in response to a vote by the student body. This is the second consecutive year Martin has been selected for the award.

One criteria for receiving the award is to demonstrate outstanding teaching. There are few who approach teaching with the professional, business-like manner which hinges onto a "Bill Cosby personality," as one student described him. He seems to be able to accomplish learning when other teachers might become discouraged and give up.

His approach varies as he attempts to gain the students' attention and as the attempts to try to give the students' an association for their learning. He accomplishes this association by using a variety of facial expressions and by using body language. For example, during one class session, he was caught imitating a stalking monster when the principal walked into the room unannounced. Likewise, it's nothing unusual to see Martin do something like take his shoe off to have students associate that the term "poda" means "foot". In addition, during a class lecture, an attentive student is rewarded by some sly note of humor which could be missed if one really isn't tuned in.

Occasionally, there is a student who is reluctant to dissect a frog or a pig, however, Martin does not give up. Instead, he assumes a voice of a Cosby character which, in turn, persuades a reluctant student to perform the dissection and to almost enjoy it.

Having observed it firsthand, Angela Wood, a senior, stated: "Mr. Martin knows you're smart, and he knows you can do it, but he wants you to find it out."

Soon to graduate, Aaron Kidd said with genuine regret: "I wish I'd taken anatomy and physiology under Mr. Martin this year."

Likewise, an 1987 ACHS graduate, Serena Thornsby, who is a current sophomore at Alice Lloyd College, recently stated, "If it hadn't been for Mr. Martin's class, I'd have been lost in my college biology course."

Like Thornsby, other ACHS students reflect upon their years in Martin's classes with appreciation for what they learned and for the genuine care which was extended for their individual achievement.

Another criteria used for being chosen outstanding teacher was the overall contributions to improve the school. Martin is known for his "Rebel Spirit and School Pride" at ACHS and throughout the community. He is an enthusiast of sports and academics alike, always calling attention to achievements in each area and always being ready to lend a helping hand.

Many times, he has shed his shirt and tie to participate in school spirit "dress-up" events which sometimes result in a James Dean look with black leather jacket, black slacks which reveal white socks and loafers, and to complete the look, his hair is greased back (this is a favorite among students and faculty); at other times, a bright orange-red wig turns him into a clown; and on any ordinary day, you will not find him absent of a Rebel marker of some kind whether it's his tie, a peel-off patch, or a rebel hat!

Within the school, he has involved students, faculty, administration, staff and community in a variety of projects to enhance the physical environment while fostering unity and pride throughout the years. During the 1987-88 school year, a giant-sized unity circle mural was painted on the inside wall of the gymnasium which featured the four schools which were consolidating to make Allen Central: Wayland, Maytown, Garrett, and Martin. The painting was completed by Mack Martin, local artist and teacher at ACHS. Funds to do the art work were raised through the efforts of a Shoot-A-Thon fundraiser which was organized by Martin in which students gained sponsors who pledged money for each basket they made up to 100 shots. In addition to the unity mural, part of the funds were used to purchase a glass-cased announcement board which was mounted near the office and some outside shrubs were purchased to replace those which had died from earlier plantings.

Other recent projects have included construction of two mini-parks: "AC Shines," which is a giant limestone rock display which reads "ACHS". The second is a Teacher Retirement Park called "Leader's Lane," which contains commemorative plaques listing the names of the retired teachers and their number of years of service at ACHS. Another recent project was planting an eight-foot Colorado Blue Spruce in the center of the campus to be lighted each year at Christmas. Also, another project was the flags project which is located in the center of the campus.

Two projects are ongoing. One is the annual beautification of the campus through planting shrubs and flowers. The second is keeping a record of the perfect attendance awards within the school and recognizing students who have perfect attendance—six hours of school each day for a year.

These projects are "extra-curricular" responsibilities which Martin enjoys doing (in addition to teaching 150 students each day) because they contribute to the development of school spirit and unity.

After receiving the "Teacher of the Year" award, Martin expressed appreciation for the award, and humbly expressed that "he was one of many who made the system work."

In formal preparation for teaching, Martin attended Caney Junior College (now Alice Lloyd College) and graduated from the University of Kentucky with a double major in history and biology. In addition, he has studied at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, Mo. After his educational preparation, he taught one year in Lexington and eight years at Maytown prior to teaching at Allen Central when the school opened in 1972.

Presently, Martin resides at Langley with his wife, Patricia, who is also a teacher at Maytown Grade School, and his son, Kevin.

McDowell Students Attend KAF

McDowell Students Attend Youth Assembly In Louisville, Frankfort

Just recently, the McDowell TAG (Talented and Gifted Class) and academic team attended the Kentucky Youth Assembly for three days in Louisville and Frankfort.

During this assembly, they learned about the concept of self-government. They also studied local, state, and national problems, and how to provide a forum to create bills to correct situations, but most importantly, KYA trains young people in citizenship development by allowing debate and encouraging freedom of expression within certain guidelines established by the state's YMCA.

The following students attended this assembly:

Olivia Coleman, Stephanie Hall, Tiana Slone (candidate, Secretary of State, placed second); Kristy Mullins (author of bill); Michelle Hall; Courtney Cieslak (author); Doug Hall; Amy Martin (author); Jamie Short; Kimberly; Micheal Bekay (candidate, Lieutenant Governor, placed second); Scotty Hall; Angela Case; Lisa Hobson (author); Curtis Hall (author); Wesley Tuttle; and James Patton.

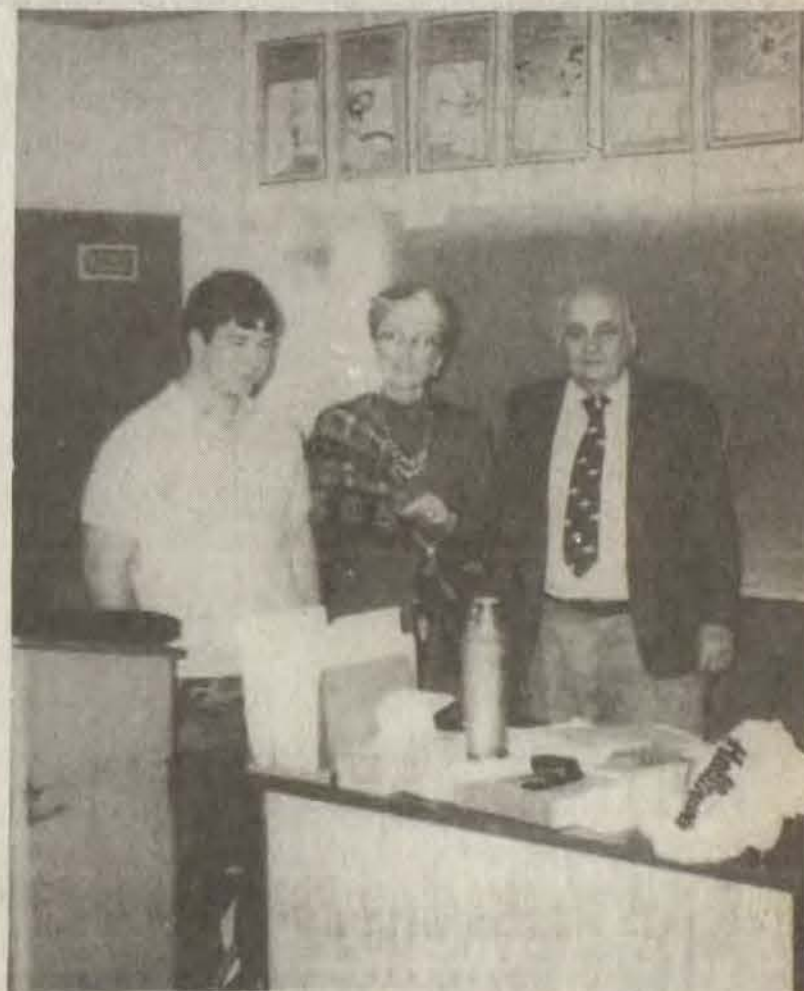

The co-ordinator of the KYA group was Mary Scutchfield (TAG teacher). Other advisors were Millie Martin (librarian), Terri Tackett (teacher and academic coach), and parent advisor Linda Mullins.

Kentucky Author James Still

Ky. Author James Still Speaks To Literature Class

By Dickie Jo Shannon

On Nov. 1, the students in Sally Millers' American literature classes had the opportunity to talk with and listen to the famous Kentucky poet and writer James Still.

Still, a resident of Knott County, has written many poems, short stories, and novels depicting the people of Kentucky. The most famous of these works is the novel River of Earth, which the students read and studied prior to Still's visit.

Still has also written several children's books, and the students in the third period class enjoyed hearing him read the story "Jack and The Wonder Beans," especially since it is written in the dialect of the hill people.

Still mostly told of his writing career and when his stories and novels began to be published. His first novel was published in 1940 by a company in New York. Still told the students he was better known in other states than in his own state of Kentucky. He added that he is just now getting recognition in Kentucky.

Although Still is in his 80s, he is very active. He talks to many groups and travels a great deal. He says he is "Young at heart."

Wins Contest

Ruby Damron's first grade class at McDowell Elementary took part in a coloring contest sponsored by Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin. The event was in celebration of Scrubby Bear's birthday. Minnie Tackett won first place in the 4 to 7 age category. She was presented a sweat-shirt and certificate by the hospital. The winners from all categories were treated to refreshments Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the hospital.

BLHS Students Study Democracy; Hold Elections To Learn First-Hand

After studying about the birthplace of democracy (Athens, Greece), Jackie Dillon's world civilization and world geography classes at Betsy Layne High have been experiencing the democratic process first-hand.

By role-playing, each class has been running a campaign representing the views of each candidate seeking the office of president, vice-president, and United States representative. Discussion of the Kentucky constitutional amendments #1 (the lottery), and #2 (the broad form deed), have also taken place.

The students researched each candidate's position on the issues and presented them to their fellow students by using student-made posters, professional literature from local campaign headquarters, daily newspaper articles, as well as major magazine articles.

The following students represented the candidates:

Dukakis—Christopher Newsome, Dale Hamilton, Gary Shortridge, Dennis Akers and Michael Romans. Bush—Lisa Gooch, Nikki Webb, Blaine DePoy, Joe Meade and Reggie Hamilton.

Bentsen—Chester Keathley, Patricia Meade, Iris Conn, Paula Charles and Russell Hamilton.

Quayle—Melissa Jacobs, Tina Tackett, John Davis, Randy Copely and Reevis Hamilton.

Perkins—Jeff Adkins, Jamie Smith, Adam Gearheart, Steve Newsome and Hershell Conley.

Scott—Clint Hunt, Melena Clark, Bernie Eplin, Greg Tackett and Della Innis.

Thursday was the big day for the final debate among the six candidates. Their fellow students played the media and, according to their teacher, asked very specific, well-researched questions.

The climax to the campaign came Friday with the election itself. Thanks to County Court Clerk Carla Bolton, the students and staff were able to cast their vote on a real voting machine. The students were extremely enthusiastic with their voting experience!

The results of the election were as follows:

Dukakis/Bentsen—66
Bush/Quayle—66
Perkins—73
Scott—58

Amendment #1—YES-96 NO-32
Amendment #2—YES-112 NO-16

The students and their teacher expressed appreciation to Bolton for the use of the voting machine and visiting classes to explain the new voting laws, and to Coal-Mac Inc., of Pikeville, for providing their classes with Courier-Journal newspapers daily this semester. This has allowed them to keep up with daily current events.

MARTY HARRIS

Marty Harris, a senior at BLHS, won the soloist award at the Murray State University band competition Oct. 8.

This award was given in overall competition among 23 bands in all classes.

Harris has two trumpet solos in this year's field show. The first is in the opening number, "Mac the Knife," and the second is in the last song, "Sweet, Sweet Lord."

He has been a member of the marching and concert bands for four years, All-County band for five years, and a member of the All-District band his junior year.

Former BLHS Teacher, Author Speak

By Roy Kidd Jr.

Chessie Cornette, former English teacher at Betsy Layne High School, returned Oct. 21 to share some poetry from her recently published book, He Gave Me A Rose, with the English composition classes.

Cornette gave the students advice on choosing topics, writing techniques and poetry structure.

The English classes at B.L.H.S. have been introduced to many new ways of writing by speakers such as Cornette, Larry Webster, writer of the newspaper article Red Dog and James Still, author of River of Earth.

Speakers were brought to the school by English teachers Mrs. Hall and Thelma Spears.

EKTN Home

Hindman Settlement School is the new home of the Eastern Kentucky Teachers Network. EKTN has 55 active members with on-going projects. Debby Bays, formerly of Appalshop, coordinates the network activities. The network has received funding from the Bingham Trust and the Appalachian Regional Commission to work with teachers. Becky Eller, wife of Ron Eller of the Appalachian Center at U.K., is currently doing research about the network and plans to do a book on it in the future.

Floyd County Teachers Attend EKTN Meeting At Hindman School

Two Floyd County teachers, Willie Elliot of McDowell High School and Bud Reynolds of Martin Elementary, attended the fall meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Teachers Network held at the Hindman Settlement School Oct. 28-30.

EKTN is composed of teachers who have attended the Foxfire workshop at Berea conducted by Eliot Wigginton. More than 40 teachers from different grade levels took part in the three-day workshop. Carol Elizabeth Reynolds, who works with the Foxfire program in Rabun Gap, Ga., joined the teachers for the meeting, as did three teachers from the Atlanta Network.

The Eastern Kentucky Network is one of the five networks that Foxfire has established across the country, and it has the distinction of being the oldest. Established in 1986, the purpose of the network is to provide encouragement and support for teachers as they begin to make use of the hands-on, experiential approach to learning that has become the hallmark of the Foxfire organization. Similar networks of teachers exist in the Finger Lakes region of New York, Idaho, North Georgia, and the Atlanta metropolitan area.

Bud Reynolds, who teaches eighth grade social studies at Martin Elementary, has submitted a proposal to the network for funding. He and his students are studying global interdependence by tracing the journey of coal and what happens to it once it leaves the hills of Kentucky. Members of the class have been conducting research, writing letters, and doing interviews about the subject since school began in August. The project will conclude in December with the creation of radio spots by the students.

Willie Elliott's class, along with Sally Miller's class at McDowell, is preparing a video dealing with the Old Regular Baptist Church. Students have been interviewing members of the church and also conducting research since the beginning of the school year.

Both teachers are members of the Writing Across the Curriculum program in Floyd county.

Beta Sigma Phi Christmas Bazaar Planned Nov. 19

Epsilon Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi of Pikeville will be having its third annual Christmas Bazaar Saturday, Nov. 19, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Blue Goose Gym on the Boulevard in Pikeville, according to Kim Carter, advertising chairman of Beta Sigma Phi.

Professional craftspeople will be there. Part of the proceeds will be going to the Big Sandy Spouse and Child Abuse Center. For more information, call 432-8709.

The first record featured inventor Thomas Edison singing "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Program Builds Support System, Recognizes Students Who Improve

The Touchdown Program is a pilot program for the students at Prestonsburg High School to build a school/community support system.

Its goals are to encourage the students to improve their grades, attendance, attitudes and encourage them to establish long term goals.

With the help of many businesses, organizations and individuals, several projects are underway. Each month, perfect attendance awards sponsored by the Prestonsburg Women's Club and Music-Carter Hughes are presented.

Christina Spears, Flo Jervis, Connie Hurd, and Lonnie Jervis were the winners this month. For having the best grade point averages, Ben Berdeil and Dreama Griffith received gifts.

At the end of each six weeks, those students in the program who have missed no more than one day are treated with a trip to Druthers for a free meal.

Forty-two students made the first trip. Five students—Bryan Prater, Zelma Quillen, Tracy Burchett, Crystal Smith and Garry Tackett—participated in the Jenny Wiley Festival by drawing a mural on a downtown window.

Many more projects are planned for the remainder of the school year, including art projects, crafts, trips, and a secret pal program.

Perfect Attendance For Third Month

Maytown Student Finds Balloon

Gary Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb of Langley, found a balloon falling from the sky Wednesday afternoon. The balloon was from the Lexington area and part of "Kentucky Kids are Drug Free Awareness Program." He and other classmates plan to send letters to the Lexington student. October 23-30, has been designated 1988 Kentucky Red Ribbon Campaign by Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson and wife Martha Wilkinson. Maytown students wore red clothing Wednesday in support of the program.

Books And Things:

PCC Offers 'Ky. Bicentennial Bookshelf'

By Trisha Morris,
PCC Librarian

The "Kentucky Bicentennial Bookshelf" is a series of small books sponsored by the Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission and published by the University of Kentucky Press to celebrate two centuries of the history and culture of the Commonwealth.

With subjects ranging from Indians to doctors and wooden plows to quilts, the series attempts to cover every aspect of the state's rich history, both famous and infamous, humble and spectacular.

The following selections are only a few of the titles that are available at the PCC library.

The Shawnee, by Jerry Clark. In 1768, a band of Shawnee warned Daniel Boone to leave the state, and until 1794 and the battle of Fallen Timbers, settlers did well to remember that warning. The bitter struggle between the whites and Shawnee for possession of Kentucky has left its mark in the legends of the area. Known as the "dark and bloody ground," Kentucky was claimed by many Indian tribes in the 18th century.

Clark describes the almost continual wanderings of the Shawnee from their home in Ohio to their hunting grounds in the Cumberland Valley. With their trails crisscrossing the state, they facilitated the settlement of the region and their own demise.

Kentucky's Age of Wood, by Kenneth Clarke. Kentucky's pioneers were not rich by today's consumer standards, but they were wealthy with the God-given gifts of nature, their own hard work and ingenuity. From standing timber, a frontiersman could house his family and stock, build fences around his boundaries, make a toy for a child, an egg basket for his wife, and a hundred other necessities and pleasures.

This book with its delicate line drawings and non-technical text, will leave the modern Kentuckian in awe. Without directions or sawmills, the pioneer carved out of the majestic forest of this land a life for himself and his family. He defended it against the natives and he raised enough food to survive. He was truly amazing.

Audubon, by L. Clark Keating. Although his years in Kentucky came long before publication of the monumental Birds of America, John James Audubon was already painting scenes from nature that were to make him famous.

Keating gives us a captivating account of Audubon's sojourn in Kentucky from his arrival in 1807 as a gregarious 22-year-old storekeeper to his departure in 1819. Although brief, the time Audubon spent in the Commonwealth was significant. It was here that his children were born, here that his avocation with bird painting developed and flourished, and here that he met the noted ornithologist Alexander Wilson who is credited with inspiring his life's work.

Old Burnside, by Harriette Arnow. Returning once again to an area she presented so vividly in Seedtime on the Cumberland and Flowering of the Cumberland, Arnow adds Old Burnside to her list of credits. In this latest regional study set against the backdrop of her own youth, she relates the history of the Pulaski County, community of Burnside from earliest settlement until the building of Lake Cumberland which inundated the lower part of the town.

Arnow gives a delightful account of what it was like to be a small town Kentucky child in the first quarter of the 20th century. She describes the fascination of river and railroad traffic, the excitement of school days, and the lure of the town's general stores along with the endless hardship of chores and errand running. Her portrayal is so charming and her style so graceful that one is apt to overlook the extensive regional information to found in this small volume and just enjoy a good story well told.

The Kentucky Thoroughbred, by Ken Hollingsworth. This is a chronicle of a few good horses, the people who raised them, and the state that nurtured them. From Saragen to Domino to Man O'War and Bold Ruler, Hollingsworth, the supremely knowledgeable editor of "The Bond Horse," presents a dramatic account of the development of the thoroughbred in Kentucky. From frontier days, when a horse race was conducted in open fields as a horse-to-horse challenge to the present day spectacular, the history of the Sport of Kings is narrated in the charming style of good storyteller.

The Kentucky Thoroughbred traces the bloodlines of eight outstanding stallions who were raised in the gently rolling pastures of the lush bluegrass of Kentucky.

A Brittle Sword, by Richard Slone. Kentucky has an unusually interesting military history. As an outpost of the advancing frontier, the state played a crucial military role in the history of the early Republic. Kentucky's state militia enrolled under federal law every able-bodied adult male who happened to live in what was then the westernmost part of Virginia. This militia helped secure the West for white settlement during the bloody Indian wars, suffered defeat in the War of 1812, and contributed to victories in the battles of the Thames and New Orleans.

With the Civil War, the once-strong state militia was sundered as members joined opposite sides of a war that was to disrupt the state's economic and social progress for more than 50 years. In A Brittle Sword, the author provides a lively interpretation of Kentucky's citizen-soldiers from the Indian Wars to the formation of the National Guard.

The Kentucky Shakers, by Julia Neal. In 1805, at the height of early religious excitement in Kentucky, three Shakers from New Lebanon, New York—John Meacham, Benjamin Youngs, and Issachar Bates—came to the new land seeking converts. Soon there were little communities of Believers at Pleasant Hill in Mercer County and at South Union in Logan County.

Neal uses detailed journals and other records kept by the communities to chronicle the Shakers' early struggles against poverty and persecution. Her account of these centers of ecstatic worship and communal life is simple and beautiful. It shows us a fascinating part of Kentucky's past.

Medicine in Kentucky, by Joh Ellis. The first settlers came to Kentucky with the hopes that it would be an Eden of Health. Instead the fevers and dysenteries they had fled from soon followed. Fortunately, the travelers brought with them a tradition of medicine that mingled European doctrines with the lore of medicinal herbs and folk remedies. This compact volume is an informed and entertaining essay describing the efforts of physicians and laymen to keep illness at bay during Kentucky's first 200 years.

Kentucky Quilts and Their Makers, by Mary Clark. Quilting has been a significant craft in Eastern Kentucky since its pioneer beginnings. The need for warmth led to the padding and layering of fabrics, the need to utilize fabric scraps led to piecing and patchwork, and finally, the need for artistic expression led to individual design and fine needlework. This little book is a sampling of Kentucky quilters and their work. Here are the traditional, the nontraditional, and the extraordinary along with the stories and folk lore that accompany the craft.

Kentucky Quilts offers a tribute to the women of the Commonwealth who for generations have created beautiful quilts, and to the museums and individuals who have taken the trouble to preserve them.

County Kettle

Is a new feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

County Kettle is a new weekly feature of the Times, offering kitchen recipes, tips, and requests we have received from our readers.

The Times recently received a request from Tennessee Platkus of Wayne, Mich., for a recipe for apple stack cake. Since apple stack cake represents the lip-smacking cuisine of Eastern Kentucky, the Times asks its readers to send their favorite recipe for publication. Don't delay; the mere mention of apple stack cake sends a taste-tingling sensation from the tip of the tongue to the hollow pit of the stomach.

Feel free to submit any other previously unpublished mouth-watering recipes, tips, tidbits, or requests to the Times for publication.

This week's recipes are provided by Bob Evans Farms in Columbus, Ohio.

TALKING TURKEY

The national Turkey Federation of Reston, Va., offers the following tips for handling and storing turkey:

Uncooked turkey, like any other perishable meat, should never be held at room temperature for more than two hours.

Thaw the whole bird or turkey parts or cuts in the refrigerator, never on kitchen countertops. To thaw a whole turkey, place unwrapped turkey on a tray in the refrigerator. Allow five hours per pound to completely thaw.

Do not partially cook turkey. Finish the cooking once it is started.

Stuff turkey just before cooking, or cook stuffing in a separate dish. Remove stuffing from turkey right after cooking and place in separate container before storing uneaten turkey in refrigerator.

Reheat leftovers thoroughly to at least 165°-degrees. Boil leftover gravy for one minute before serving.

Whole turkey may be stored frozen for 12 months. Leftover cooked turkey may be stored frozen for four months.

Leftover cooked turkey will keep one to two days in the refrigerator at 40°.

SAVORY CELERY AND ONION STUFFING

(Makes enough to stuff a 12-pound turkey, or 10 to 12 servings)

1/2 c. margarine or butter
1-1/2 c. celery, chopped
1-1/2 c. onion, chopped
10 c. dry bread cubes
3/4 c. chicken broth
1 egg, beaten
2 tsp. poultry seasoning
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

In large skillet, melt margarine. Add celery and onion; cook until tender. In large bowl, combine all ingredients with vegetable mixture; mix well. Stuff turkey with stuffing immediately before roasting. Roast turkey as directed on wrapper. Spoon remaining stuffing into greased baking dish.

Bake at 325 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

SPICY SOUTHWEST CORNBREAD STUFFING

(Makes enough to stuff a 12-pound turkey, or 10 to 12 servings)

1 lb. Bob Evans Farms Savory Sage or Original Roll Sausage
1/2 c. margarine or butter
2-1/2 c. white onion, chopped

1 c. chicken broth
8 oz. chopped green chilies
1 tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. oregano leaves
1 tsp. salt
In large skillet, crumble and brown sausage; remove from skillet, reserving drippings. In reserved drippings, melt margarine. Add onions and green peppers; cook until tender. In large bowl, combine all ingredients with sausage mixture; mix well. Stuff turkey loosely with stuffing immediately before roasting. Roast turkey as directed on wrapper. Spoon remaining stuffing into greased baking dish.

Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes or until heated through. Refrigerate leftovers.

OYSTER STUFFING

(Makes enough to stuff a 12-pound turkey, or 10 to 12 servings)

1 c. oysters (about 12 ounces), drained, reserving 1/4 cup liquid
1 c. water
1/2 c. margarine
1-1/2 c. onion, chopped
1 c. celery, chopped
8 c. dry bread cubes
3/4 c. chicken broth
1 egg, beaten
1-1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
In small saucepan, heat oysters in water until boiling. Reduce heat to low; simmer, covered 5 minutes or until oysters are set. Drain and chop coarsely; set aside. In large skillet, melt margarine; add onion and celery. Cook until tender. In large bowl, combine all ingredients with oysters; mix well. Stuff turkey loosely with stuffing immediately before roasting. Roast turkey as directed on wrapper. Spoon remaining stuffing into greased baking dish.

Bake at 325 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

Collins, Henderson Marry

Iona Collins of McDowell and Henry Henderson Jr. of David were united in marriage Saturday, Oct. 8. Baptist minister Vernon Slone presided over the ceremony, which took place in the Henderson living room. Bobby Henderson and Brenda Collins witnessed the marriage. Other friends and family members who attended were Frances Henderson, Mike Collins, Verline Collins, Jerry Collins, Dale Collins, Ralph Bailey and Ricky Trent. The Hendersons are presently residing in David.

Members of the executive board of the K.F.W.C./G.F.W.C. Prestonsburg Woman's Club met Thursday evening, Nov. 3, at 6:30, at the club's Arts and Crafts House, at Archer Park, with the president, Boots Adams, presiding.

Business to be presented during the club's regular meeting at 7:30 was discussed. Since the executive board is scheduled to host the annual Christmas party, which will be held at the home of Nancy Martin Thursday, Dec. 8, at 7:30, the menu for this event was planned.

Attending the board meeting were Mesdames Boots Adams, Phyllis Herrick, Linda McGuire, Judy Kittle, Joyce Allen, Elizabeth Ramey, Nan Arnett, and Docia Woods.

Mrs. Adams presided over the regular meeting at 7:30. She led the Pledge to the American Flag, which was said in unison.

The devotions were given by Lyde M. Howard, who read a prayer by St. Francis of Assisi.

The program chairman, Wonnell Godsey, introduced James Ratcliff of the Kentucky Power Company, who presented a film, "Balancing Needs—Coal and Environment," and fielded questions from the audience. On behalf of the club, Mrs. Godsey presented Ratcliff with a gift.

A candlelight invitation service was held by Nan Arnett, membership chairman, for new members: Mesdames Lillian Baldrige, Sandy Burchett, Erlene Daniels, Edie Greer, Beverly Hackworth, Betty Porter, and Helen Burke Wells, and for Mesdames Carol Martin, Lisa Parlier, and Bonnie Spencer, in absentia. Mrs. Arnett presented club key rings to new members in attendance.

Linda McGuire, distributed the 1988-89 woman's club yearbook.

Joyce Allen, secretary, read the minutes of the Oct. meeting, and the treasurer's report was given by Elizabeth Ramey, who reported that $573 was raised from the Woman's Club food booth, during the recent Jenny Wiley Festival.

In the absence of Maxine Bierman, corresponding secretary, letters pertaining to club matters were read by Joyce Allen.

Judy Kittle, gave the report on the progress of the birthday calendar, sponsored annually by the club.

The president announced Lyda M. Howard had been asked to serve as chairman of the call-a-cab committee, for the purpose of furnishing needed transportation to club meetings. Also serving on this committee will be Mesdames Dorothy Osborne and Dorothy Stover. Mrs. Howard asks that members needing rides to meetings please call 886-3050, days, or 886-2221, nights.

Sandy Burchett was asked to serve as chairman of a committee to assure that members of the club who are unable to attend meetings will be remembered. Also serving on this committee will be Docia B. Woods, with others to be added later.

Since a title of this committee has not been chosen, members were asked to submit their favorite titles by calling 886-8397 by Jan. 1. A prize will be given to the member with the winning title.

Burieta Gearhart gave a report on the recent cancer drive, of which she served as chairman. She also reported on the packaging of groceries at Food City, which some of the club members did to aid in this drive.

Mrs. Adams gave a report on the seventh district fall board meeting, which she and several members attended Thursday, Oct. 20, at Salyersville. Mrs. Adams said the 1989 meeting would be held here, with the Prestonsburg Woman's Club as hostesses.

Mrs. Adams also reported she had represented the club at a proposed Appalachian Spring Festival of the Arts, held at the Floyd County Library and was chosen as vice chairman of this proposed event.

The club unanimously agreed Mrs. Adams be selected as "An Outstanding Volunteer of the Prestonsburg Community," in the program sponsored by Wendy's Restaurant.

Barbara Dawson announced the Prestonsburg Honor Choir are selling poinsettias, now through Christmas and expressed the hope that club members would patronize this group.

Items needed for the club's Arts and Crafts House will be brought to the December meeting.

Hostesses for Thursday's event were: Mesdames Martha Johnson, Eve May, Lois George, Rebecca

Rasnick, Orella McGuire, Roslyn Burchett, and Myrtle Allen. A dessert course, coffee, and spiced tea were served to members of the executive board, new members, and members: Lee Boswell, Shirley Callihan, Barbara Dawson, Burieta Gearhart, Wonnell Godsey, Lyda M. Howard, Nancy Martin, Dorothy Osborne, Kathryn Poe, and Roberta Sloan.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party at the home of Nancy Martin, on Trimble Branch. Red and green balloons will mark the location of this event.

PREGNANT PAUSE

The public has become so used to the many benefits of aspirin that it often takes this drug for granted. While many people take one or two tablets of aspirin for pain relief without a moment's hesitation, pregnant women cannot afford an attitude so cavalier. Because aspirin is a blood-thinner as well as a painkiller, even normal doses taken during the final months of pregnancy can prolong labor and pregnancy, and cause heavy bleeding in the mother at birth. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration advises pregnant women not to use aspirin or its chemical cousins, the salicylates, during the final three months of pregnancy without the advice of a doctor.

PCC's Dr. Thomas Matijasic Studies European-Indian Views

In a recently published article entitled, "Reflected Values: 16th Century Europeans View The Indians of North America," Dr. Thomas Matijasic of Prestonsburg Community College has challenged the notion that all Europeans saw the Indians as savages during the early period of contact between the two races.

By examining the journals and letters of 16th century explorers, Dr. Matijasic discovered that Europeans made a great variety of observations about the natives of North America. Even though the explorers and missionaries judged Indian cultures by European standards, they found things to admire and to scorn in the way the natives lived, he found.

The article was published in the American Indian Culture and Research Journal, Volume 11, Number 2 (1987). Copies of the work can be obtained for $5 by writing to the American Indian Studies Center, 3220 Campbell Hall, University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024-1548.

All proceeds go to the American Indian Studies Center.

Scrubby Bear Distributes Soap

Parade-goers were surprised Oct. 15 when soap was distributed by Scrubby Bear on Our Lady of the Way Hospital's Red, White and Blue Day float. Children scrambled for the soap bars while adults reached for Scrubby Bear's handouts.

"Soap as a handout seemed much more consistent with our efforts to promote health in the community," said the hospital's public relations consultant Gwen Hall. "Fortunately, the community agreed and supported us in the cause. The Prestonsburg Holiday Inn donated 50 bars of soap. Colgate-Palmolive in Jeffersonville, Ind. donated nine cases of soap.

What began as an attempt to teach proper handwashing to youngsters hospitalized at the facility has also become a multi-faceted community education program. We've had a lot of fun and we've reached hundreds, maybe thousands, of individuals with this important infection control message," Hall said.

Scrubby Bear made his Red, White and Blue Day appearance in a decorated pickup truck owned and driven by PBX/ER clerk Kathy Triplett of Mousie. The sides of the float carried banners which read "Scrubby Bear says, 'Keep America healthy. Wash your hands.'" Sitting in the bed of the truck, Scrubby Bear was surrounded by hospital employees and their family members. All 698 bars of soap were distributed to the people watching the parade.

Kentucky Book Fair To Showcase Several Authors, Including Giardina

The 1988 Kentucky Book Fair on Saturday, Nov. 19, will showcase an array of prominent authors from around Kentucky and throughout the nation.

Among those on hand to autograph their books will be Denise Giardina of David, according to Molly Cone, spokesperson for the book fair.

The local writer will return with her nationally-acclaimed novel, Storming Heaven, which chronicles the turbulent turn-of-the-century mining wars in the Big Sandy region. The work, which won this year's W.D. Weatherford Award for outstanding writing about Appalachia, will be available in both hardback and paperback.

Giardina, who is also the author of Good King Harry, will join some 90 other writers at the seventh annual book fair, held at the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives in Frankfort.

This year's list of authors is highlighted by Washington columnist Jack Anderson, and award-winning Kentucky-born novelist Bobbie Ann Mason. The sports world will be well represented by former professional baseball player Joe Garagiola and Wimbledon tennis champion Tony Trabert.

Fiction, history, religion, romance, biography, mystery, instruction, food and juvenile books will be available.

The Kentucky Book Fair is a fund-raising event which provides grants to public, school and academic libraries for the purchase of books. In 1987, the Kentucky Book Fair Committee, the non-profit, volunteer organization which sponsors the event, awarded $11,000 in book grants to these institutions. This year the committee plans to distribute $12,000 for library book grants.

HOROSCOPE

November 13 through November 19

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Perseverance in the job search pays off. Being particularly impressionable, watch out for the trickery of others. Focus on appearance.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

A fabricated story brings more trouble than it's worth, honesty should prevail. Use caution in legal matters. Others try to take advantage.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

There seems to be no rhyme or reason to a flurry of madcap occurrences. High-energy actions could result in carelessness. Slow down the pace.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

Furnish others with the information requested, holding back will serve no purpose. Break boredom by taking part in a new activity or group.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

Stop the cycle of blotting out important events. Being oblivious to surroundings could be damaging later. Lend a hand to improve esteem.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

Instructions seem difficult to follow; focus on improving concentration skills. Efforts toward community awareness are far-reaching.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Consolidate efforts on the domestic scene. It may already be too late to begin preparing for an alteration in living environment.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Shared experiences bring you closer to a loved one. Speak your mind regarding personal needs. A short temper is aggravating.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Unexplained mood swings become more frequent. An interest in family history increases. Don't let a soft spot cloud your common sense.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Actions are spurred by an intuitive individual. A person from a foreign land makes an impact. An on-again, off-again relationship is on.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

The pinnacle of emotions is reached when a plan goes fiercely astray. Employment picture brightens. Seriously contemplate a move.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

Pace yourself. Carefully meter your output of work. As productivity increases, expectations do too, so tackle only realistic goals.

TV Q&A

Jimmy Stewart remembers pet with touching poem

By Diane Roberts

Q: I need a mailing address for Jimmy Stewart. On Johnny Carson's show he read a poem he wrote on the death of his precious dog Bo which is both beautiful and touching. I am currently going through that sorrow and desperately need a copy of the poem. —W.C. Martin, Anchorage, Alaska

A: Write to Jimmy Stewart c/o Chasin-Park-Citron Agency, 9255 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles Calif. 90069. I was sorry to read of your loss. I hope you receive the poem.

Jimmy Stewart.

Q: Could you please give me some information about George Michael? Where and when was he born? Does he have any brothers or sisters? Could you also send me his personal address. —Vickie in Bellville, Ohio

A: Georgios Panayiotou was born to Greek immigrant parents in London, England on June 26, 1963, the youngest of three children. By the time he was 22 years old he had changed his name to George Michael and had moved out of the family home to pursue his musical career. He has two sisters, Melanie, who has the "honor" of styling his hair; and sister Yiorda, who was given the job as a backup singer with Wham. I am sorry, I have no personal address for him.

Q: I love the show Wiseguy and would like to know if the star, Ken Wahl, has been on any other television series or movies. I would also like to know his age and birthday. —Diane Coberly, Montrose, W. Va.

A: Ken Wahl was born on Dec. 11, 1953 in Detroit, Mich. He starred with Billy Dee Williams in the short-lived series Double Dare. His feature film credits include: Fort Apache, The Bronx, Treasure of the Yankee Zephyr, Jinxed, The Soldier and Purple Hearts. He and his family live in New Mexico—far from the Hollywood scene.

Q: Could you tell us how old Katherine Ross and Sam Elliott are? Could you give us a list of Sam Elliott's movies? —C. Wessels, Cherokee, Okla.

A: Katherine Ross was born on Jan 29, 1942 in Los Angeles, Calif. Sam Elliott was born on Aug. 9, 1944, in Sacramento, Calif. Elliott's film credits include: The Games, Frogs, Molly and Lawless John, Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, Lifeguard, Mask, Fatal Beauty, The Legacy, Shakedown and Road House. Willie Nelson an outlaw in new comedy Western

Delta Burke stars with Nelson

By Anne Wheeler

Willie Nelson keeps his outlaw reputation going strong when he heads a star-studded cast in Where the Hell's That Gold???, a comedy Western airing Sunday, Nov. 13, on CBS.

Nelson stars as a crusty Confederate veteran named Cross, who's done some righteous outlawin' in his day, and is trying to get back across the Mexican border to Texas to dig up a cache of stolen gold buried in a spot known only to him. Accompanied by his longtime sidekick, Boone (Jack Elam), Cross soon runs into more trouble with the law.

Quickly apprehended by the Federales, the duo must choose between a firing squad or driving a train load of dynamite north through hordes of banditos. Along the way, Cross and Boone encounter a train car filled with stranded camp followers led by a resourceful woman named Germany (Delta Burke), who persuades the outlaws to let them tag along behind the train.

Also starring in Where the Hell's That Gold??? are Mexican film star Alfonso Arau, Gregory Sierra, who had been a regular on Barney Miller, and Gerald McRaney, who has starred for seven years as Rick Simon on Simon & Simon, and is Burke's real-life fiance.

Nelson, most noted for his music career, has also had a successful career in film. He made his debut in The Electric Horseman and has starred since in Honeysuckle Rose, Barbarosa and Songwriter.

Willie Nelson is an outlaw who tangles with a resourceful Old West woman (Delta Burke) in Where the Hell's That Gold???, Sunday, Nov. 13, on NBC.
